BEFORE BUYING BOOKS WRITE FOR QUOTATIONS.

An assortment of catalogues and special slips of books at reduced prices sent for 10-Cent stamp.

F. E. GRANT, Books, 23 W. 42d Street, N. Y.

Books at Auction.

The entire stock of rich standard books contained in store at 148 FULTON STREET, near Broadway, will be sold at public sale, beginning at 12 o'clock to-day, 6 o'clock this evening, and continuing every day next week until the entire stock is disposed of. Among other choice works are samples and remainders of the publications of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Appleton & Company, Harper & Brothers, Dodd, Mead & Co., and other leading book houses. Balzac, Hugo, Browning, Irving, Shakespeare, and many standards in choice editions. Encyclopedia Britannica, Dictionaries and Teachers' Bibles; Huxley, Darwin, Tilden, and Spencer; a few slightly damaged sets. Books now open for examination. Visitors invited. Sale positive and without reserve.

148 FULTON ST., NEW YORK.

Four New Books of Interest

A Summer Journey to Brazil
By ALICE R. HUMPHREY. Illustrated. $1.25.

A Soul's Meditations
Compiled by Mrs. J. H. ROOT. $1.25.

The Development of Art in the XVIth Century
By Mrs. A. B. STONE. Illustrated. $1.50.

The Calling of the Apostle
By ZEPHINE HUMPHREY. 35c.

For sale at Bookstores, or sent by mail upon receipt of price by the publishers Bonnell, Silver & Co., 24 West 22d St., N. Y.

500 COPIES
LIMITED EDITIONS

In Memoriam--Tennyson
With 140 Rubricated Initials, by Blanche McManus. Royal 8vo, Cloth, Gilt, $3.50 net.

The Book of Omar and Rubaiyat
A Miscellany for Omarians and Others, with Japan Paper Inserts.
Royal 8vo, Illustrated, Ant. Bds., $1.75 net.

Send for Complete Catalogue.

M. F. MANSFIELD, Publisher
14 West 22d Street, New York.

DAVIS'S BOOKSTORE, 1,535 B'WAY, NEAR 45th Street.—Dealers in Standard Works, Scientific and Medical Books. Single books and complete libraries bought at fair market prices. Call at residences free. We are always willing to make exchanges in books. Write for Catalogue of Books on hand. DAVIS'S BOOKSTORE, 1,535 B'dway.

NINE VOLS. OF SIR SAMUEL GARTH'S rare and beautiful edition of translations of the classics—Ovid, Virgil, and Homer—printed for Martin & Bain, A. D. 1735; also Curson's Compendium of Laws and Government of England and Dominions, printed A. D. 1699. Address, Mrs. A. POST, Waldorf-Astoria.

BOOKS.—Write to the oldest second-hand book stand in Toronto for our January catalogue, 1901. WILLIAM SUTHERLAND, 286 Yonge Street, Toronto, Canada.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL AND COMPANY'S NEW BOOKS.

Mrs. Browning's Complete Poetical Works

"Coxhoe" Edition. Edited by CHARLOTTE PORTER and HELEN A. CLARKE. Introductions, notes, line numbers, and photogravure frontispieces. Sold only in sets. 6 vols., 18mo, cloth, gilt top (cloth box), per set, $4.50; limp leather, $7.50; half calf, $13; full levant (leather box), $20.50.

The New Favorite Edition of the Poets

Printed on fine paper with photogravure frontispieces and rubricated title-pages, bound in new style, with flat back. An ideal library edition. 31 vols., 8vo, cloth, gilt top, per vol., $1.75. Send for list.

What is Worth While Series

24 new volumes. 35 cents per volume. A series of small volumes of about forty pages each which have a high educational value, and which are extremely profitable reading for all those who wish to know how to get the best and most out of life.

It has had a total sale of nearly a million volumes, and includes contributions by many of the most famous writers, college professors, college presidents and divines.

The Copley Series

Limp leather, round corners, full gilt edges, red under gold, silk bookmarks, boxed, 16 volumes, per volume, $2.00; also bound in cloth, gilt top, at $1.00 per volume.

A special feature of this series of standard favorites is the colored illustrations, of which there are four in each volume. These are printed by a new process, which is more successful than any hitherto used for book illustrations.

Burns' Complete Poetical Works

New edition from new plates. With introduction, notes, indexes and photogravure illustrations. 2 vols., 8vo, cloth, gilt top, per set, $4.00; 2 vols., 8vo, half calf, gilt top, per set, $7.50.

BALZAC'S WORKS.

TRENT EDITION.

NOT TO KNOW BALZAC IS THE LOSS OF ONE OF LIFE'S GREATEST PLEASURES.

This is a new and complete edition of Balzac's "Human Comedy," printed from new plates, with introductions by Prof. WM. P. TRENT, of Columbia University.

It is the best popular edition ever offered to the English-speaking people.

16 Volumes.
Prices, $16 to $40 per set, according to binding.

32 Volumes.
Prices, $40 in cloth, and $80 in half calf.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

The New Sunshine Library for Young People

A choice series by well-known authors, as JAMES OTIS, EVELYN RAYMOND, ANNA CHAPIN RAY, MARY F. LEONARD, HOMER REENE, etc. New cover designs in 6 colors. Illustrated. 25 vols., 8vo, per vol., 50 cents.

The New Children's Favorite Classics

A carefully selected list of the best books for young people, with colored frontispieces and eight half-tones in each volume. New cover designs in six colors, all different. 24 vols., 16mo, per vol., 60 cents

Chat-Wood

By PATTERSON DU BOIS, author of "Beckoninga from Little Hands" and "The Point of Contact in Teaching." 18mo, cloth, ornamental, 50 cents.

In Tune with the Infinite and What all the World's A-Seeking

By RALPH WALDO TRINE. Holiday Edition. 2 vols., 12mo, cloth, gilt top. Special style with photogravure portraits. Boxed, per set, $3.50. Volumes sold separately at $1.75 each.

At Dawn of Day

Compiled by JEANIE A. BATES GREENOUGH. And "BETWEEN THE LIGHTS." Compiled by FANNY B. BATES. Holiday Edition, with photogravure portraits. Cloth, gilt top, boxed, $1.50 each. Also bound in limp calf at $3.00 per vol.

Pushing to the Front; or, Success Under Difficulties

By ORISON SWETT MARDEN. New edition. Illustrated with portraits. 12mo, $1.50.

TOLSTOI'S WORKS.

COMPLETE EDITION.

Printed from new plates, containing all of Tolstoi's writings, including the authorized edition of "Resurrection," and much material hitherto untranslated, with introductions by NATHAN HASKELL DOLE, and 33 illustrations, comprising portraits, original illustrations, etc.

12 Volumes.
Prices, $12.00 to $30.00, according to binding.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

Dames and Daughters of Colonial Days

By GERALDINE BROOKS. Illustrated. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

The Poetry of the Psalms

By HENRY VAN DYKE, D. D. Printed at the Merrymount Press. With cover design by Goodhue. 12mo, gilt top, 60 cents.

Unto the Hills

By J. R. MILLER, D. D. Illustrated edition. 12mo, cloth, gilt top, 60 cents.

Rising in the World; or, Architects of Fate

By ORISON SWETT MARDEN, author of "Pushing to the Front." New edition. Illustrated with portraits, 12mo, $1.50.

The Golden Gate of Prayer

By the Rev. J. R. MILLER, D.D., author of "Making the Most of Life," "Silent Times," etc. Printed at the Merrymount Press. 16mo, plain edges, 75 cents; cloth, gilt top, $1.00.

The Valois Romances

By ALEXANDRE DUMAS. New and complete translations. Illustrated with 27 full-page illustrations by FRANK T. MERRILL. 3 vols., 8vo, cloth, gilt top, boxed, per set, $4.50.

Handy Volume Classics

Limp Circuit Edition. The novel and attractive style of cover in this series marks a new departure in bookmaking, and will commend itself to lovers of tasteful and appropriate bindings. 25 volumes, 18mo, per volume, $1.50.

Chaucer's Complete Works

New Edition from new plates. With introduction by Prof. THOMAS R. LOUNSBURY, Glossary and photogravure illustrations. 2 volumes, 8vo, cloth, gilt top, per set, $4.00, 2 volumes, 8vo, half calf, gilt top, per set, $7.50.

Helps for Ambitious Girls

By WILLIAM DRYSDALE, author of "Helps for Ambitious Boys." Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Tolstoi's Essays, Letters and Miscellanies

12mo. With portrait from latest photograph. $2.00.

The Religion of a Gentleman

By CHARLES F. DOLE, author of "The Coming People," "Theology of Civilization," etc. 16mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.00.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & COMPANY, 426 and 428 West Broadway, New York. SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

ventional particles have been inserted where Jones omitted them.

"Now with regard to the original offense under consideration, it might be said that the phrase 'rang de l'art militaire,' though awkward, is by no means unintelligible.

"The 'cela' instead of 'celui' is clearly one of those 'lapses of grammar' mentioned by Miss Edes-Herbert; and it was in the termination of words that Jones was most careless. The omission of the particle 'de' in a phrase of succession is common even now in rapid writing. 'Des anciens' instead of 'parmi les anciens' was simply an affair of terseness and might 'make sense' if translated literally, 'of the ancients.'

"As for 'du temps nouveau,' I cannot see that it is otherwise than interchangeable with 'du temps moderne.' In fact, Boyer, who was the standard lexicographer of the French language of the eighteenth century, gives 'temps nouveau' as the French idiom for the English 'modern times.'

"However, as this is not intended to be an exegesis of lexicography, I will say that while it is not necessary to enlarge upon the points raised by your correspondents, it may be fair to view their criticism as belonging to the kind tersely described as insectivorous.

"I thank H. E. Daboll of Plainfield for his correction as to Nathaniel Fleming, published in THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW of Oct. 27. The error was due to my assuming that Fleming was alive when his accounts were finally paid by the Treasury in 1842. It was, of course, a case of hasty and therefore imperfect investigation.

"Doubtless other errors of a similar character may be detected by those having personal or family knowledge of individual facts which were beyond my reach. In such cases I sincerely invite correction, which will be duly noted and credited in the text, should the book succeed to the extent of making a second edition worth while."

Dean Swift in Fiction.

J. M. W., Farmington, Conn., has discovered a point of resemblance between Jonathan Swift and the hero of Mrs. Ward's latest book, "Eleanor." He writes: "In the description of Manisty's personal appearance, we read that he had a magnificent head, fine, keen eyes, long nose, energetic mouth, and dark skin, but an awkward figure, and his height diminished by the extreme breadth of his shoulders—'a picturesque, ungainly form.' The final effect was an effect of power—of personality—of something that claimed and held attention.'

"This is a very suggestive picture of Swift himself, who, we learn from various sources, was tall, broad-shouldered, but of 'ungainly deportment'; in short, 'a rough young Titan.' His head was very fine, with handsome nose, olive skin, and expressive countenance. The Dean was extremely nice in his personal habits, almost finical. Manistry impresses one as such a man. It is said that no man could come in contact with Swift without feeling his strong, magnetic influence. The following extract from 'Eleanor' might almost be taken to illustrate Swift's own strange, distorted character: 'Beneath his outer controlling egotism, there were large and generous elements in his mixed nature.' While Manisty does not become insane, as the Dean did in his later years, yet he shows the touch of genius, which is akin to madness; and actual insanity appears in his family.

"The views of the two men on religion are much alike. Neither has a very earnest personal belief, but each feels the necessity of some strong bond for the people. Whatever the bond may be, 'Catholicism—more or less—and dogma—and ritual—and all the foolish ineffable things that bind mankind together.'

"Swift broke away from the Whigs—to receive no great reward from the Tories. Manisty is at odds with his party, and criticises it with the Dean's keen and ruthless tongue.

"Their ideas concerning matrimony are similar, allowing for their different positions in life. Each feels marriage to be burdensome and a check and fetter on his ambition. Swift, to be sure, had no prospects which warranted marriage, and Manisty implies that his property is hardly sufficient to support the dignity of a wife.

"And lastly, in their relations to women, we perceive the same suggestive correspondence. Lucy and Eleanor are surely Stella and Vanessa, and Manisty, like the Dean, accepts much from one, at least of the two women who are bound up in his life, and returns scant measure for the abundance of love and devotion poured out for him.

"Let me close these hints of what was in my mind, as I read 'Eleanor,' with one last quotation from the novel: 'He felt himself bound and pricked by a thousand delicate Lilliputian bonds. "The regiment of women" was complete.'

"Can all this be mere chance coincidence?"

Mrs. Turnbull's "Golden Book of Venice."

FLORENCE EARLE COATES, Philadelphia, commenting upon Mrs. Lawrence Turnbull's "The Golden Book of Venice," writes: "This is perhaps misleading, [illegible] of character, or analytic logical research, rather than a romance, but the story itself is as romantic as 'The Prisoner of Zenda' or a 'Monsieur Beaucaire,' although in a different way. 'The Golden Book of Venice,' founded upon the 'Libeo d'Oro,' containing the Venetian record of patrician birth, is, I believe, the second work of fiction published by Mrs. Turnbull of Baltimore, (Francese Litchfield Turnbull.) It may be remembered that it was Mrs. Turnbull's generous gift which endowed the Chair of Poetry at Johns Hopkins University, for which Edmund Clarence Stedman delivered the first and memorable course, on 'The Nature and Elements of Poetry.'

"Mrs. Turnbull was the friend of Sidney Lanier, and 'the fever called living over at last,' the poet was laid to rest in the Turnbull burial lot in Baltimore. But great as is her personal interest, it is of Mrs. Turnbull's novel that I desire to speak—a novel unlike any I have seen in recent years, seeming in its classic dignity and elevation to belong to some earlier day. Easily and naturally the history unfolds itself, and Venice is about us as we read, aglow with sensuous loveliness and radiant with life. It is the story of a bygone period, but that period is eloquently portrayed, and the characters are so vitally drawn that, like Hector's laughing babe and the Syracusan women in Theocritus, they seem of no single time, the human heart being, like its Creator, the same yesterday, to-day, and forever. Matthew Arnold tells us that 'the great sources of the interesting are distinction and beauty—that which is elevated and that which is beautiful.' In this sense, 'The Golden Book of Venice' is of deepest interest, for not only has it distinction, but, in an unusual degree, beauty, rarest and dearest of earthly attributes. As a description of a great city at the zenith of her pride, it may challenge comparison, and while there breathes from every page the purity and tenderness of a rare womanhood, the characters are nobly drawn, with mastery and with charm. It is, indeed, a 'golden book,' and those who read will receive from it both pleasure and inspiration."

When Mark Twain Introduced Himself.

To The New York Times Saturday Review:

In reading with great interest the account in THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW of Nov. 17 of the dinner given by the Lotos Club to Mark Twain, and of all the clever and amusing things said thereat, I was particularly struck by a remark of ex-Speaker Reed's: "I want it understood that I fully appreciate that this is a hopeless situation—the hopelessness of trying to say one's ideas of what we might to say about him. We can say nothing that will not seem to him absolutely inadequate. He will go home to-night and think over his invaluable services to mankind, and think how inadequate the words of his friends have been." I am sure you will agree with me that it is an amusing coincidence that Mr. Clemens should have expressed the same idea, though not just in the same words, in speaking of himself thirty-one years ago, long before the name of Mark Twain was known and loved by all the world as it is to-day.

It was in November or December of 1869, while I was living in Newark, N. J., that a gentleman who had lived for years in San Francisco, and had been connected with The Alta Californian, invited me to go to hear a lecture at the Opera House by Mark Twain, with whom he was well acquainted. I think it was probably the first course of lectures which Mr. Clemens delivered in the East. When the speaker appeared on the stage he was alone, and he advanced toward the footlights in such a hesitating manner, and stood there looking so embarrassed, that every one felt certain he was overcome with nervousness at the sight of so large an audience, and dreaded lest he should break down and not be able to speak at all. After shuffling his feet, rubbing his hands and looking thoroughly uncomfortable and making us feel so for fully a minute, Mr. Clemens began in a drawling, hesitating way, to say that it was usual for a lecturer before an audience of strangers to have some one to introduce him, but that he had no one. It was probable he could have found some one to perform that office had he made the effort, but the fact was, he preferred to introduce himself, "as he never yet found any one who could do him justice." The laugh which greeted this may well be imagined, and it was all the more hearty because the audience felt how completely it had been taken in by the clever acting of the speaker.

S. G. R.

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 26, 1900.

Rifle Fire.

From Blackwood.

When we had entered that spitting, humming zone of rifle fire, the like of which no living soldier had ever before witnessed, a bullet skimmed along the top of a man's head, just grazing the skin, and flicking off the hair in its course. Surely the time for a prayer, or even a shriek, if ever there were one. "I've just had a free 'air-cut, mates!" was the only observation heard by the officer who witnessed this ghastly feat of the Rifle Gun.

BOOKS.

Sale of Choice Sets of Books in Fine Bindings.

S. G. RAINS,

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

OLD, RARE and MODERN BOOKS,

389 FIFTH AVE., Cor. 36th Street

POE, 8 volumes, half blue morocco, with etchings on Japan paper.....$200.00
CHAUCER POEMS, 8 volumes, half blue levant. London, 1854.....$17.50
GIL BLAS, 4 volumes, half red morocco; 25 etchings on plate paper.....$10.00
H. W. MABIE'S WORKS, 9 volumes, half red morocco.....$20.00
MOLIERE WORKS, 3 volumes, half green levant. Translation by Henri van Laun. 19 steel illustrations.....$25.00
PARKMAN'S WORKS, 12 volumes, half blue levant.....$48.00
BALZAC, complete, 20 volumes, half yellow calf.....$30.00
WHITTIER'S WORKS, 9 volumes, half red levant. Subscription Standard Library Edition, with steel plates.....$38.00
LONGFELLOW, 14 volumes, half red levant. Same Edition.....$57.50
LOWELL, 11 volumes, half red levant. Same edition as Longfellow and Whittier.....$50.00
AINSWORTH, 16 volumes, half red morocco. Plates by Cruikshank.....$75.00
PLUTARCH LIVES AND MORALS, 10 vols., half brown morocco. Best library edition.....$48.00
BULWER, 40 volumes, half green morocco. Etchings throughout. Best Hendy Edition.....$90.00

ALL BOOKS IN PERFECT CONDITION.
YOUR INSPECTION INVITED.
LIBERAL DISCOUNT ON ALL NEW BOOKS.

S. G. RAINS,

389 FIFTH AVE.,

COR. 36TH STREET, NEW YORK.
CATALOGUE OF OLD BOOKS NOW READY.

CATHEDRALS OF FRANCE

A UNIQUE AND BEAUTIFUL BOOK.

POPULAR STUDIES OF THE MOST INTERESTING FRENCH CATHEDRALS.

Over Two Hundred Illustrations.

SIXTY-EIGHT FULL-PAGE ILLUSTRATIONS. (Page 10x14 inches.)
IN THE NUMBER AND SIZE OF THE ILLUSTRATIONS AND IN THE PERFECTION OF THE REPRODUCTIONS THIS BOOK IS UNIQUE.
BOUND IN RED LINEN AND STAMPED IN GOLD WITH THE ARMS OF THE SIX SPIRITUAL PEERS OF FRANCE IN RELIEF ON THE COVER. (PACKED IN BOXES.)
PRICE $3.00; EXPRESS, 30 CENTS. PUBLISHED AND FOR SALE BY

THE CHURCHMAN COMPANY,
No. 47 Laf. Pl., N. Y.

The Perfect Gift

It has been my endeavor to make a book that will fulfill the conditions implied in the above. It is with five illustrations and decorated boards by Sir Edward Burne-Jones. The text is arranged in the drama form by Fitzroy Carrington. There are three editions—one at $7.50 net, one at $4.50 net, one at $2.00 net.

THE SONG OF SONGS,

GEO. H. BROUGHTON, Jr.,
3 East 19th St., New York.

Old Ann St. Book Store.

STANDARD SETS FOR THE HOLIDAYS

STEVENSON, READE,
DICKENS, ENCYCLOPAEDIAS,
SCOTT, JESSE,
THACKERAY, POE,
BALZAC, DUMAS,
FIELDING, SMOLLET,
STERNE, BULWER, &c., &c.,
in fine binding.

ISAAC MENDOZA,
17 Ann St., N. Y. City.

NOVELS AT HALF PRICE.

The largest collection of Novels in the city—New and Second-hand—in Paper and Cloth Bindings. One-half price paid on return or exchange. French and German Books in the original and translations. Hand Books and School Books at all prices from one cent up.

H. R. P. ROWELL,
84 PARK ROW.

OLD BOOKS,
Old Theatrical Programmes, anything relating to old New York bought for cash. FOR SALE 6 VOLS. Real Estate and Insurance Atlas New York City. Send for catalogue. JOSEPH SILK, 147 6th Ave.

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS of FAMOUS PERSONS Bought and Sold. WALTER R. BENJAMIN, 1125 Broadway, New York. SEND FOR PRICE LISTS.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS.

MARGARET WEIR, 468 Summit Avenue, Newark, N. J.: "In THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW of Sept. 29, Page 733, you mention in an article referring to juvenile publications of a past date, Charles Lamb's poetry for children, published in 1809, in two volumes; also the same writer's poem of "Beauty and the Beast," published in 1811. It is a well-known fact to all students of literature that the French version of "La Belle et la Bête," published by Mme. Villeneuve in 1740, is the foundation from which all the translations both English and Italian have sprung, the most noteworthy of which, is Miss Thackeray's English one. The story is found in the mythologies of the Norsemen and Greeks as far back as the early Aryans. Would not the paragraph in question have read Charles Lamb's poem of "Beauty and the Beast," from the Villeneuve translation?"

Answering the above query, we would say certainly not, and for more than one reason. The paragraph in question referred to Charles Lamb's "Beauty and the Beast," as it pleased Ella and his publishers to issue it. It would hardly be claimed by the most enthusiastic Lamb-lover that this little poem, or his "Tales from Shakespeare," or "Prince Dorus," or his "Adventures of Ulysses" is to be classed among entirely original work. Indeed, subtitles in the long title pages so common at that time refer to "Beauty and the Beast," and "Prince Dorus," as "poetical versions of ancient tales," while his "Ulysses" is acknowledged to have been taken, or, rather, adapted, from Chapman's translation of the "Odyssey." But like FitzGerald's version of Omar Khayyam, these Lamb issues owe a great deal of their charm to having passed through Lamb's brain, and as such may surely be safely credited to him without reference to early authorities.

MARGARET H. FOOT, Tarrytown, N. Y.: "Can you tell me where I will find a complete list of the presses in America that print fine and limited editions, including all private presses?"

A list of presses in America which do fine work, but which cannot profess to be complete, is given below: The De Vinne Press, New York City; The Gilliss Press, New York City; The Marion Press, Jamaica, Queens Borough, N. Y.; The Merrymount Press, Boston, Mass.; The Riverside Press, Cambridge, Mass.; The University Press, Cambridge, Mass.; The Cranbrook Press, Detroit, Mich.; Douglas Taylor & Co., New York; Globe Printing Press, Philadelphia, Penn.; Shelburne Press, Cleveland, Ohio; Calumet Press, New York; The Heintzemann Press, Boston, Mass.; The Everett Press, Boston, Mass.; Edward Stern & Co., Philadelphia, Penn.; The Cadmus Press, New York; The Lakeside Press, Chicago, Ill.; The Knickerbocker Press, New Rochelle, N. Y.; The Norwood Press, Norwood, Mass.; The Bradley Press, Springfield, Mass.; The Ben Franklin Press, Chicago, Ill.; T. B. Mosher, Portland, Me.; The Trow Directory Printing Company, New York; The Barta Press, Boston, Mass.; The Adirondack Press, Gouverneur, N. Y.; The Elston Press, New York; The Caslon Press, New York; The Bankside Press, New York; The Roycroft Press, East Aurora, N. Y.; The Palmetto Press, Aiken, S. C.; The Nevernod Press, Boone, Iowa; The Philosopher Press, Wausau, Wis.; The Iroquois Press, Fayetteville, N. Y.; The Chepontue Press, Glens Falls, N. Y.; The Rain Drop Press, Trenton, N. J.

"M. C. M. C.," San Francisco, Cal.: "What is the accepted literary standing of 'The Reign of Law'? A friend of mine writes that he did not enjoy the book, and that he does not think Mr. Allen has any literary style, quoting the literary critic of Town Topics to strengthen his assertion. How can I answer him? I have only said that I enjoyed the book very much. It seems to me that there is promise of future real greatness in 'The Reign of Law': that God and Nature mean more to this man than to most of us, and though his 'style' is somewhat obscure, it is style nevertheless. Will you or your readers tell me how nearly right I am, and what I have missed?"

THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW would refer this questioner to its notice of Mr. Allen's book published on June 30, Page 423.

"E. M. S.," 142 East Eighteenth Street, New York: "Can THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW give me any idea of the value of an autograph letter of Ruskin?"

The value of an autograph letter of a great writer depends very much upon its contents. For example, a personal letter of Ruskin, written to an intimate friend, might be worth $10 or $15 or even more, while an ordinary letter would have a nominal value, say $2 or $3.

T. P. THOMPSON, New Orleans, La.: "I read with interest your replies to 'Philos' and Richard Graham about Adah Isaacs Menken, and inclose an article from The New Orleans Times-Democrat of Oct. 31, which states some new facts in reference to the actress. I should be glad to know in what book I can find any biographical mention of Menken."

The interesting article our correspondent incloses says that the account given of Menken by THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW of Oct. 27 was wholly wrong, as it "described her as a native of New Orleans, and gave her maiden name as Dolares Adlos Fuertes; nearly every other detail being more or less at variance with the facts, as the actress was born at Milneburg, and her name was originally Ada McCord." THE SATURDAY REVIEW'S account was based on Col. T. Allston Brown's description in his "History of the American Stage," 1870, and was substantially correct. The name of "Dolares Adlos Fuertes" is given in Oscar Fay Adams's "Dictionary of American Authors," though THE REVIEW does not know Mr. Adams's authority for the statement. Brown's account of Menken fills nearly a page in this book; there are also articles in Every Saturday, Sept. 12, 1868, a book entitled "Life and Remarkable Adventures of Adah Isaacs Menken, edited by G. L. Barclay," Philadelphia, 1868, and a pamphlet of later date written by Ed. James. An excellent account of her will also be found in the twenty-second chapter of H. P. Phelps's "Players of a Century: A Record of the Albany Stage."

"P. A. S.," 39 Cortlandt Street, New York City: "Permit me to add the following, which may be of interest: Some years ago while walking through the Pere la Chaise Cemetery in Paris and noticed the spot where rest the remains of Miss Menken, over whose grave was this very simple and touching inscription, 'Thou Knowest.'"

"A. S. C.," New York City: "John W. Madden, St. Thomas, Ontario, who asked about Ainsworth's 'Constable of the Tower,' can get it of Brentano's in the Tauchnitz Edition, (publisher's price, 2 francs.)"

TOWNSEND WANDELL, 49 Chambers Street, New York City: "In answer to W. Wade, who asks regarding the Rev. W. A. Day's version of the twenty-third Psalm, I would say that the verses attributed to the Rev. Joseph H. Martin—with music by W. D. Kirkpatrick—may be found on Page 136 of 'Temple Songs,' Seaside Edition, selected by Charles H. Yatman, published by John J. Hood, 1024 Arch Street, Philadelphia, at 30 cents. Also at Page 85 of 'The Quartet,' (and 'Songs of Redeeming Love,') by same publisher."

W. DOWLING, 200 South Oxford Street, Brooklyn: "You recently printed a request from W. L. Ghent for copies of THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW of Sept. 25 and Oct. 2, 1898. Mr. Ghent will have the same difficulty in procuring these as a coin collector will have in obtaining an 1815 cent of United States coinage, and for the same reason, viz., there were none issued of the dates named."

CHARLES MINER, Bloomfield, Conn.: "Please give me a sketch of Thoreau, also a list of his writings, as I have several and I would like to get the others."

Henry David Thoreau was born at Concord, Mass., July 12, 1817. In 1837 he was graduated at Harvard. When a boy he assisted his father in the making of lead-pencils, and for a long time he worked at intervals at this trade, but surveying finally became his profession, and in this he always had all the employment he wished. His especial business in the world, however, was to live up to his own ideals of life. He was always in close companionship with nature, and in 1845 he began his famous two years' residence in a hut on the shore of Walden Pond. He was an uncompromising opponent of slavery, and when John Brown was arrested he made a memorable address to the citizens of Concord in his defense. Concord remained his home until his death, May 8, 1862. He was the author of "A Week on the Concord and Merrimac Rivers," 1849; "Walden," 1854; "Excursions," 1863; "The Maine Woods," 1864; "Cape Cod," 1865; "Letters to Various Persons," 1865; "A Yankee in Canada, with Anti-Slavery and Reform Papers," 1866; "Early Spring in Massachusetts," 1881; "Summer," 1884; "Winter," 1888; "Autumn," 1892; "Miscellanies," 1894; "Familiar Letters," 1894, and "Poems of Nature," 1895. His collected works were published in ten volumes in 1894 by Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

"ANTHONY," Germantown, Md.: "Will you kindly inform me where I can get Anthony Trollope's novels, especially the Barsetshire series?"

Trollope's "Chronicles of Barsetshire," (including "The Warden," "Barchester Towers," "Dr. Thorne," "Framley Parsonage," "Small House at Allington," and "Lost Chronicle of Barset," in eight volumes, may be had from Charles Scribner's Sons for $18.

Wanted and to Exchange.

F. G. WRIGHT, Box 68, Succasunna, N. J.: "I will pay a good price for a first edition copy of Dr. Wolfe's 'Literary Shrines: The Haunts of Some Famous American Authors.' Must be in good condition. Write for particulars."

CHARLES W. CANFIELD, 2,532 Broadway, New York City: "I have a copy of Anthon's 'Horace,' New York, 1830, original sheep binding, somewhat worn. This is the first edition, unabridged, with very full notes; said to be rare, because a large part of the edition was burned while in the printers' hands. Autograph of Prof. J. S. Merrian (of Columbia College) on title. Also 'The New England Primer,' the fac simile of the 1777 edition, (published by Ira Webster, Hartford, Conn., 1843.) These I will sell or exchange for the best offer received."

C. D. LAY, 54 Perkins Hall, Cambridge, Mass.: "Wanted, two copies of 'The Formal Garden in England,' by Bloomfield & Thomas."

MAXWELL C. B. HART, 1,472 Madison Avenue, New York City: "To exchange for best offers, books, &c.: Rare collection of magazine and periodical covers, 1810 to 1885; rare collection of tile designs, many hundred of plates, some very early and rare; large collection of carpet, wallpaper, embroidery designs, very many rare plates and articles; superb collection of rare mosaic plates finely mounted, and a collection of rare maps; all formerly the property of a noted artist. Any offers for part considered. Also rare colored plate by I. R. and G. Cruikshank."

W. H. WALKER, Room 6, 80 Nassau Street, New York City: "I am anxious to buy the first volume of New York Graphic, Police Gazette, Frank Leslie's Weekly, Uncle Sam, bound or unbound, and will pay a good price for them. I have for sale at $20 700 volumes of standard medical works, including twenty curious atlases."

L. R. SANFORD, Senees Falls, N. Y.: "I wish to dispose of nine volumes, bound, of Hunt's Merchant's Magazine."

ANNIE J. G. LAW, 14 Olive Street, New Haven, Conn.: "I would like to purchase a copy of 'Mrs. Morrison's Company,' by Jane Barlow."

EDWIN H. FROST, 220 Broadway, St. Paul Building, New York: "I would like to exchange the following for historical works, biographical works, books of travel, genealogies, prints, or autographs of famous persons, viz.: Jubilee (1897) issues of London Times, Graphic, (also for 1887,) Illustrated London News, Standard, Mail, (in gold,) Black and White, London Guardian, July 19, 1821, with full account of the coronation of George IV.; London Illustrated News for 1861-2, American and English newspapers containing accounts of important events for over 125 years; New York World from May, 1860, to September, 1862; Harper's Weekly, 1862, and Harper's war publications and odd issues; Ballou's Pictorial for 1854, Frank Leslie's, 1865, and odd numbers; complete set of official specifications for the Chicago World's Fair. I have also a large amount of other old newspaper matter, cartoons for ten years, books, prints, and autographs which I would like to exchange."

JAMES G. SANFORD, Room 409, 93 Nassau Street, New York: "I would like to secure Bray's Iconoclast—complete volumes or otherwise; cash or books in exchange. State class of books wanted.

HILTON B. SONNEBORN, 1,014 Wool Exchange, New York City: "Have paid $41 on Century Dictionary bought from Wanamaker. There is still $46, due to be paid in monthly installments of $4. Will sacrifice my interest of $47 therein for $35 cash."

The Rev. J. A. OAKES, Highlands, N. J.: "I have 'The Confederate,' by a South Carolinian, Mobile; S. H. Goetzel & Co., 1863; Upham's 'Mental Philosophy,' three volumes; Dugald Stewart's 'Philosophy of the Human Mind,' Vol. II., leather, Edinburgh, 1814; Thomas Brown's 'Philosophy of the Human Mind,' two volumes, leather, and would like to exchange them for Lubbock's 'Pleasures of Life,' Part I.; J. T. Townsend's 'Art of Speech,' Part II.; Timayenis's 'History of Greece,' Vol. II.; Smith's 'Scriptural History'; or books on the Indians or the early settlers of New Jersey."

JOHN SKINNER, Albany, N. Y.: "I will pay high prices for Brodhead's 'History of New York,' Vol. I.; O'Callaghan's 'History of New Netherlands'; Morgan's 'League of the Iroquois,' Prime's 'Pottery and Porcelain,' Hepburn's 'Investigation on Railroads,' in five volumes."

CHARLES A. FELITTI, Ozone Park, L. I., New York: "I would like to dispose of or exchange Diossy's 'New York Code of Civil Procedure,' 1895-6; Mole's 'Dictionnaire de Poche,' and 'Inductive Latin Method,' by Harper & Burgess."

W. E. COLEMAN, 224 Phelan Building, San Francisco, Cal.: "I wish to procure the following books, either bound or in paper: Charles Lever's 'Tales of the Trains'; Anthony Trollope's 'Eustace Diamonds,' 'La Vendée,' 'Not If I Know It,' 'Thompson Hall,' 'Two Heroines of Plumplington'; Annie Thomas's 'Blotted Out,' 'Best for Her,' 'Cross of Honor,' 'Eyes of Blendon,' 'Friend and Lover,' 'A Girl's Folly,' 'London Season,' 'Laggard in Love,' 'Lance Urquhart's Loves,' 'Maud Mohun,' 'A Mystery,' 'No Alternative,' 'No Hero, but a Man,' 'On the Children,' 'Sir Victor's Choice,' 'Society Puppets,' 'Theodore Leigh,' 'That Affair,' 'Why Not'; John Esten Cooke's 'Canolles,' 'Doctor Vandyke,' 'Ellen Adair,' 'Elsie; or, the Human Comedy,' 'Fanchette,' 'Heir of Greymount,' 'Last of the Foresters,' 'Maurice Mystery,' 'My Lady Pokahontas,' 'Wearing of the Gray,' 'Virginia Bohemians,' 'Youth of Jefferson,' (Anon.); J. F. Smith's 'Alice Arran,' 'Amy Lawrence,' 'Fred Arden,' 'Marion Bernard,' 'Milly Moyne,' 'Philip Blanford,' 'Prince Charlie,' 'Redmond O'Neil,' 'Sir Bernard Gaston,' 'Stanfield Hall,' and 'Stepmother.'"

Short Stories by Mrs. Trask.*

"Lessons in Love" is a happy title for Mrs. Trask's group of short stories. Each is characterized by its author's well-known deftness and delicacy of touch, and epigrammatic flashes of insight. Each is read with a sense of aroused, perhaps of questioning, thought, with the desire to "talk it over" with the writer, rather than with that feeling of finality with which one usually lays aside the narrative of a romantic situation. In each an original and striking tale is dramatically told, but we recognize at once that its true value lies in its revelation of the psychic qualities of the persons involved.

In her previous work, notably in "Under King Constantine," and in "John Leighton, Jr.," Mrs. Trask's dominant thought is that "love is of God"; that purity and passion go hand in hand, burning base desire from the soul that truly loves and lifting it into the white radiance of unselfish devotion. She has considered love subjectively; that is, with special reference to the work wrought in the soul that loves. In this little volume she studies rather the mutual relation of lover and beloved. To her mind love is "the finest of the fine arts," and the yielding of one heart to the keeping of another is but the beginning of infinite possibilities; on the one hand, of those dissonances in little things that jar an ideal until its ultimate atoms quiver to disintegration; on the other, of finely poised relationships, of harmonies like those when the universe was young and "the morning stars sang together."

In "A Just Man" and "Evidence" one sees the danger of the shipwreck of love without perfect trust, and, we may add, without that plain speaking and clearing up of mysteries which, of all things, lovers, certainly the lovers of fiction, seem to abhor. In "Acts and Entr'actes," and "The Hall-Mark," the very startling of "the little rift within the lute" is made visible, a rift usually opened by the man's failure to understand and meet the woman's mood, whence come bitter words tossed to and fro, sarcasms, reproaches, speeches that fall like drops of vitriol upon hearts that love. Life goes on afterward, perhaps love goes on, but

"—violets dead, the sweetest showers
Can ne'er make grow again."

In "After All," it is the woman whose responsiveness seems to fail, although one perceives from the first that the man's egotism is at fault, and almost resents the woman's touching vindication. Did she die, "after all"? We have a savage feeling of "serves him right if she did."

"After a Year" and "Beyond" are fine in their recognition of the essentials of life as distinguished from its trappings. "After a Year" declares the dimly comprehended truth—if, indeed, it be at all grasped—that worldliness is an attitude, not an environment. The "worldly woman" of the story was quick to discern and to reward the manhood her carping critic missed, because of an unsatisfactory "clothes-philosophy." "Beyond" verily goes beyond—to our mind it is the best story of the group—showing that speech, manner, culture itself are but the soul-clothes, and that the fundamentals of life lie deeper still; that work is better than yearning, albeit the yearning may be for "the light that never was on sea or land." "S. P. Q. R." is a poetic sketch, rolling back the centuries and revealing the heart of woman and of man, as old and as young from the beginning as the unsounded sea.

No one can have read Mrs. Trask's books without acknowledging that she is endowed with a peculiar gift for imparting "lessons in love." Should lovers and friends follow the thoughts subtly suggested in this slender volume, less often would a rivulet of separation end in unclasped hands and a bridgeless river; less often would remorseful lips exclaim: "Be merciful to me—a fool!"

*LESSONS IN LOVE. By Katrina Trask. Author of "John Leighton, Jr." In one volume, 12mo, cloth. Pp. 128. Harper & Brothers. $1.25.

Mrs. Dodd's New Book

Falaise, the Town of the Conqueror

By ANNA BOWMAN DODD, author of "Three Normandy Inns," "Cathedral Days," etc. With full-page plates and other illustrations in half-tone from photographs. 12mo. Decorated cloth, $2.00.

The lovers of ANNA BOWMAN DODD'S charming "Three Normandy Inns," will welcome a new book from her pen about the quaint old town of Falaise. She describes a driving trip, starting from the famous Inn at Dives, across the Caen plain, and gives an account of the Falaise Fair, the famous Eleventh Century Horse Fair, the greatest of its kind in Europe, and still in full living. The second part of the work deals with the history of the town, William the Conqueror's birthplace, his great fortress, his sieges, and his starting forth for the conquest of England.

By the Author of "Quo Vadis"

The Judgment of Peter and Paul on Olympus

A Poem in Prose, to which is added "Be Thou Blessed." By HENRYK SIENKIEWICZ, author of "Quo Vadis," "With Fire and Sword," "The Knights of the Cross," etc. Authorized translation from the Polish by Jeremiah Curtin. Illustrated and printed in purple ink, with ornamental borders. Small 4to. 75 cents.

One of the daintiest books of the season.—DONAHOE'S MAGAZINE.

Two strange, beautiful poems in prose.—BOSTON ADVERTISER.

An exquisite booklet. — PROVIDENCE NEWS.

Helen Jackson's Famous Story Ramona

The Monterey Edition of Helen Jackson's exquisite story of Southern California, long since pronounced an American Classic, with the superb pictures of Henry Sandham, makes a delightful Christmas Gift.

From the following extracts it will be seen that the press awards unstinted praise to everything entering into this beautiful production.

"The new edition of 'Ramona' is in every respect worthy of the story's undying qualities as a work of literary art."—Chicago Tribune.

Ramona, The Book

Ramona and Alessandro are vital figures in literature.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Ramona is one of the few great American novels. Its appearance in a form that is well-nigh mechanically perfect entitles this elegant edition to the careful consideration of those who like to see genuine literary jewels preserved in fine settings.
—Boston Gazette.

It is a high mark, a very high mark, which Miss Woolsey gives the work, when she pronounces it "the most original and picturesque novel of American life, with the exception of Hawthorne's two greatest romances." but who will deny that it is a mark deserved?—Literary World.

The Ramona Pictures

Amply illustrated by Henry Sandham, who has shown remarkable sympathy or insight to the text. His heads of Ramona and Alessandro are truly ideal, and the photogravure of the Franciscan monk among flowers is a bit of as pretty and appealing illustration ever seen.—Boston Journal.

Pictures created under the guiding hand of the author herself. They give the finishing touch of reality to her words. These illustrations make the volumes doubly interesting and valuable.—San Francisco Call.

Beautifully illustrated—thoroughly artistic.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Glimpses of the old mission churches are here, ancient gateways under the palms which seem like the spiritual language of the crosses they overshadow. The faces of Ramona and Alessandro singing to Felipe move like shadows through the dusk of some half-remembered twilight.—Los Angeles Sunday Times.

The Ramona Introduction

A beautiful edition. A charming biographical sketch by Susan Coolidge brings the reader in touch with a rarely gracious and lovable personality.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The informative and sympathetic introduction is indeed welcome, as are the notes which Mr. Sandham publishes concerning his genuinely illustrative illustrations.—The Outlook.

RAMONA. A STORY. By HELEN JACKSON. Monterey Edition. With introduction by SARAH C. WOOLSEY (Susan Coolidge). Illustrated with 25 full-page photogravure plates and numerous chapter headings by HENRY SANDHAM. 2 vols., 8vo, printed on clear white wove paper, in new and beautiful type. Cloth extra, gilt top, in cloth wrappers and cloth box, with cover designs by Amy M. Sacker. $6.00.

Edition de Luxe. 300 copies printed on hand-made paper, with four water colors and a duplicate set of plates. 2 vols., 8vo, half morocco, gilt tops, ooze calf sides. $15.00 net.

All lovers of the New England Coast and of early American history should possess Edmund H. Garrett's new work

The Pilgrim Shore

With a colored frontispiece and numerous full-page plates and illustrations in the text from pen and ink drawings. 12mo. Illustrated, cloth, $2.00. [Second Edition Ready.]

A right pleasing little book is "The Pilgrim Shore," with its title page showing the Mayflower in full sail, and frontispiece, from which there smiles at us a dainty Puritan maid in hood and cape of snowy white. The author, Mr. Edmund H. Garrett, who is also his own illustrator, has sought with pen and pencil to render homage to the beauty of the historic south shore of Massachusetts Bay and to recall its traditions and history. And with pen and pencil he has been equally successful.—New York Sun.

What yet stands is caught by Mr. Garrett's skilful pencil to illumine his story. A magician in words as well, he recalls the stately elms, venerable pear trees, provincial homes and the old time that is past.—Chicago Evening Post.

Mr. Garrett has rare gifts as a traveller and historian. He can not only see the beautiful and picturesque, but he traces it in fascinating black and white.—Boston Advertiser.

I Go A-Marketing

By HENRIETTA SOWLE. 12mo, cloth, extra, $1.50. Suitable for all seasons, giving delicious things for every month in the year, with novel hints for their preparation.

The charm of the book is the pleasing, bright method of telling her facts.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Admirable in many ways. It gives suggestions, very delicate ones sometimes, and could be called on at any time to name an appetizing course.—Home Advocate.

Six Successful Books for the Young.

Phebe, Her Profession. By ANNA CHAPIN RAY, author of "Teddy, Her Book." Illustrated by Frank T. Merrill. 12mo, $1.50.

Not since Louisa Alcott's death has any writer filled her undisputed and enviable place so nearly as has Anna Chapin Ray.—New York Press.

Unrivalled since the days of Miss Alcott.—Rochester Herald.

Captivating—sure of a welcome.—Indianapolis Press.

A merry, joyous story, full of animation and spirit.—Free Press, Detroit.

Full of movement and sparkle. We have never seen a book in which the great influence of a bright, healthy girl over her boy friends was so well set forth. One of the very best young people's books of this or any other year.—Pilgrim Teacher, Boston.

Teddy, Her Book. A Story of Sweet Sixteen. ANNA CHAPIN RAY. Illustrated. 12mo, $1.50.

She is as full of fun as she can be, sympathetic, gentle and jolly, a perfect romp, yet thoroughly womanly and loyal.—Boston Herald.

Real boy and girl life.—Literary World.

Brenda, Her School and Her Club. By Helen Leah Reed, author of "Miss Theodora," etc. Illustrated by Jessie Willcox Smith. 12mo, $1.50.

A very natural story.—Outlook.

The author knows how to "hold the mirror up to nature" and does so with telling result.—Watchman, Boston.

A story that is improving as well as entertaining, and carries with it much wholesome thought.—Beacon, Boston.

Very delightful, especially the part that relates to the Harvard football game and the bazar which Brenda and her friends organized. Some valuable information about Boston and the old landmarks is introduced.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Young and Old Puritans of Hatfield. By Mary P. Wells Smith, author of "The Jolly Good Times Series," etc. Illustrated by Bertha C. Day. 16mo, $1.25.

A most vivid picture.—Toledo Blade.

The reader is brought in touch with the wonderful days of the early settlement of our country.—Denver Times.

This ringing tale will serve as inspiration.—Providence Telegram.

A Child of Glee and How She Saved the Queen. By A. G. PLYMPTON, author of "Dear Daughter Dorothy," etc. Illustrated by H. C. Edwards. 12mo, $1.50.

A delightful story.—Philadelphia Press.

Should be as popular as her charming story, "Dear Daughter Dorothy."—Worcester Spy.

The best little girl's story I have seen in many months. One even dares to mention it in the same breath with the almost incomparable "Alice in Wonderland."—Boston Budget.

Doris and Her Dog Rodney. By LILY F. WESSELHOEFT, author of "Sparrow, the Tramp," etc. Illustrated by H. C. Ireland. 12mo, $1.50.

A delightful story.—Boston Advertiser.

Mrs. Wesselhoeft stands in the front rank of writers who fascinate children by their birds or animals which talk and act like people and do it naturally. This is another of her delightful books.—Congregationalist, Boston.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals could not do better than help to circulate this story. Every young reader will fall in love with Rodney.—Woman's Journal, Boston.

LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY, Publishers, Boston, Mass., 254 Washington Street.

Do Children Read Children's Books?

M. A. W. of Albany, N. Y., quoting from Dr. Johnson, "Teach a boy to have entertainment out of books," continues to say, "and, to the teacher and the parent, that may be put down as the first and greatest of educational rules. Dr. Johnson further expresses his belief that it did not much matter what kind of books the boy derived his first entertainment from, for he would 'get better ones by and by.' On this same principle a woman of considerable culture and fastidious literary tastes gives an account of her earliest experience with literature at nine years old:

"'I grew to be nine years old without any definite direction having been given to my mental faculties. At that age we went to live in the home of a relative where there was a large and heterogeneous library. As a method of safely disposing of me I was turned loose in that room and allowed to forage for picture books.

"'The picture books that earliest appealed to my interest were a large edition of Shakespeare, illustrated with wood cuts that would be considered decidedly queer in these days of illustrated editions de luxe; a red-covered volume called "Fighting the Redskins," whose illustrations were of a much later date, finer execution, and of exciting interest, and a "History of the World" by Peter Parley, a fat little volume with pictures of all the gods and goddesses of early paganism, Adam and Eve, and Noah and the ark, Caesar and George Washington, all set forth on its fascinating pages. A volume with interesting pictures and clear, comfortable type called "The Old-Fashioned Girl" caught my attention, chiefly that the words were small and the simple ones I heard in everyday life, as I spelled out the first sentences, and that the people in it talked a great deal in quotation marks, which broke up the big wildernesses of type and did not discourage me in getting through long-involved sentences with words I did not understand. I don't know how I got through the book, but I did. It took me a whole Summer to do it. I used to take it up on a green hill near the house and spell out the words aloud, and I had great entertainment out of that story—a story dug from the pages that had to me much less meaning than a page of Greek has to me to-day, and I have never studied Greek. I had no further trouble in learning to read. It then seemed to have come to me as swimming or bicycle riding or other things come to people, in a flash of "knowing how." In that year, before I was ten years old, I read the "Fighting the Redskins" [illegible] a year has fallen [illegible] of "Beadle's Dime Novels" which I found carefully tucked away under a dark shelf, Zola's "Nana," "Abbe's Temptation," Ouida's "Tricotrin," "Bebe," George Sands's "Consuelo," Scott's "Talisman," "Kenilworth," Grimm's "Fairy Tales," Miss Alcott's "Pink and White Tyrrany," Shakespeare's play of "Cymbeline," all about the "Ancient Mythology of the Greeks" in Peter Parley's fat little history, Longfellow's "Evangeline" and "Hiawatha," and a section of poetry from a cyclopedia. Later came the rest of the Waverley Novels, "Arabian Nights," some of George Eliot's novels, "Robinson Crusoe," "Swiss Family Robinson," a great deal of poetry of every sort, a number of French detective novels by Gaboriau and others, some of Daudet and "The Wandering Jew" and "Les Misérables."

"'I do not think there was any harm for me in any of the books. I probably did not entirely comprehend them, but I got entertainment from them; I wept over them and laughed over them. I passed safely through the period when I wanted to go West and fight the Indians, and when I desired to join the New York detective force. When I was ten years old I was sent to school, and my mother first made the discovery that I had read a number of books of the sort not usual for children to read by any chance at the little reading in the third reader into which the teacher put me, while she vainly endeavored to explain to me how and why two and two made four and the interesting details connected with the formation of extremely scraggly pot hooks in place of my rough copies of printed letters. Having discovered that I had read several books and was interested in stories, my mother gave to me a number of children's books, including the standard juveniles, all of which I read politely, but finally explained to her that I did not care for them and that they were not of interest to me. I preferred the Waverley Novels or "David Copperfield."

"'In time the dime novel grew stale to me, and I began to have a realizing sense of the best to be found in literature, to take joy from the art of workmanship in certain descriptive chapters of Scott and character studies of Dickens, and to strive vaguely with pencil and paper to put down my own thoughts with that same deftness of touch that seemed so simple in the writings of the great ones.'

"While it might be a dangerous experiment to turn a child of nine loose in a library to learn the art of literature from its first principles, it is interesting to know the literary judgment of a child who has a world of books from which to choose. Moreover, the question arises, 'Do children read books for juveniles?'"

E. P. DUTTON & CO.'S

List of NEW BOOKS, Etc., for PRESENTS at CHRISTMAS

[PLEASE PRESERVE TO USE IN MAKING YOUR PURCHASES]

DUTCH PAINTERS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY

Third Series. Edited by [illegible]. With Biographical Notices. Illustrated by six Etchings, six Photogravure Plates, twelve Half-tone Full-page, and over 200 Illustrations. Large quarto, cloth, gilt, $15.00. The First and Second Series also at the same price each.

"A remarkably attractive collection of reproductions, showing modern Dutch art in many aspects. . . . It is worth preserving."

BURMA

By MAX and BERTHA FERRARS. Large quarto, cloth, gilt top, $15.00.

The life of the Burman is portrayed from the cradle to the grave. A series of nearly 450 consecutive photographs illustrates the characteristic situations in the life of the leading race, the aboriginal or hill races, the effects of scenery, the animals, and the vegetation. The portrayal of no people has yet been carried out with this degree of fullness and beauty.

NATIONAL WORTHIES

Being a Selection from the National Portrait Gallery

One hundred and fifty-four Full-page Plates, with a Historical Description of each personage, etc. Bound in full leather, gilt topled, in exact fac-simile of a binding by Roger Payne in the British Museum, $15.00.

"The illustrations are excellent. The importance of the book is seen at a glance. Here is a gallery of pictures of the men and women who made England's greatness in war and peace."

REPRESENTATIVE PAINTERS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY

By Mrs. ARTHUR BELL (N. d'Anvers). Illustrated by six Photogravures and forty-four Half-tone Reproductions from characteristic examples of the representative work of fifty of the greatest painters of the Nineteenth Century. Large quarto (8¼x11½), cloth, gilt, $12.00.

A TREASURY OF CANADIAN VERSE

With Bibliographical Notes, selected and edited by Dr. RAND. Crown 8vo, $2.00.

"Dr. Rand's collection is one that will delight the lover of poetry, whatever his nationality."—Literary World.

ALFRED LORD TENNYSON. A Saintly Life

By ROBERT F. HORTON, D. D. Formerly Fellow of New College, Oxford. 12mo, 336 pages, illustrated, gilt top, $2.00.

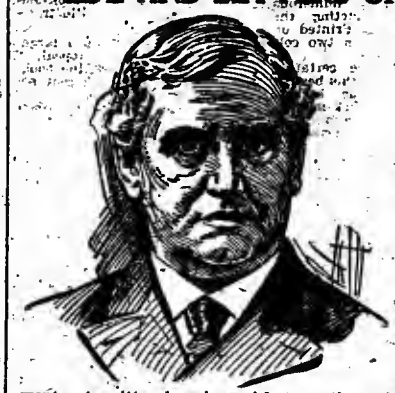
A careful study of Tennyson's career as poet and man. Especial emphasis is laid on the beauty of Tennyson's home and family life.

A GARNER OF SAINTS

Being a collection of the Legends and Emblems usually represented in Art. By ALLEN HINDS, M. A.; twenty-two Illustrations; cloth, 16mo, gilt top, 279 pages, $1.25.

"It is intended primarily for travellers, but the book will be welcome to many a stay-at-home body who is interested both in art and in the ancient legend-lore."

LIFE AND LETTERS OF PHILLIPS BROOKS



By ALEXANDER V. G. ALLEN, Professor in the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge. Two volumes, octavo some 650 pages each, with portraits and illustrations, cloth, gilt top, in box, $7.50 net.

It is hoped that this great work, which has been several years in preparation, may be ready for publication in December.

"The work will make two large volumes, and will possess a fascinating interest of the intensest sort by reason of its being made up so largely as it is of Brooks's own letters. Dr. Allen allows them freely to tell their own story of the great preacher's life and to expose his character, mental and spiritual, in their own unstudied way, and the effect is a marvelous picture of the man as he stood before us for a generation, 'head and shoulders above all the people.' These familiar letters were not written in a 'pose,' but are the natural and unaffected expression of as original and genuine a nature as the world has lately known."

Volume I. can be seen at the Bookstores, where subscriptions will be received for prompt delivery of the set as soon as published.

There will also be a

LARGE PAPER EDITION

Limited to 250 copies. Numbered.

4 volumes in box, $25.00 net.

WISDOM SERIES. 2 Volumes Now Ready.

MARCUS AURELIUS ANTONINUS

His Meditations Concerning Himself. Six full-page photogravure illustrations, initial letters in colors. Cloth, extra gilt, gilt top, $3.00.

Dean Farrar says: "I know not whether the whole of heathen antiquity, out of its gallery of stately and royal figures, can furnish a nobler, or purer, or more lovable picture than that of this crowned philosopher and laurelled hero, who was yet one of the humblest and one of the most enlightened of all ancient 'seekers after God.'"

THE ESSAYS OR COUNSELS

CIVIL AND MORAL. By FRANCIS BACON. First published in 1597, newly written in 1625, and now edited by WALTER WORRALL. Large 12mo, 344 pages, 6 full-page photogravures. Initial letters in red, extra gilt, gilt top, $3.00.

"This is the one book by which Francis Bacon lives for posterity. These Essays form one of the world's epoch-making books, and go to the heart of humanity."

LEAVES FROM THE GOLDEN LEGEND

Chosen by H. D. MADGE, LL. M. With illustrations by H. M. WATTS. 16mo, half vellum, 286 pages. $1.25.

"Few books have passed through so many or so famous editions. This consists of a judiciously made selection, exquisitely printed on exquisite paper."—Outlook.

For sale at the bookstores, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of prices.

E. P. DUTTON & CO., Publishers, 31 West Twenty-third Street, New York.

NEW BOOK OF VERSE.

Volumes by Lloyd Mifflin, Mrs. Dorr, A. S. Hardy, Henry Abbey and Others.*

In his "Ode to the Comic Spirit," Mr. George Meredith, if we read his puzzling phrases and paragraphs aright, appeals to humor as "the sword of common sense"—a weapon to set much store by by those who exploit a fervid imagination, or who embody warm emotion and loving fancies in rhythm and rhyme. Of it he says:

For thou
Art verily Keeper of the Muse's Key;
Thyself no vacant melodist;
On lower land elective even as she;
Holding, as she, all dissonance abhorred;
Advising to her measured steps in flow,
And teaching how for being subjected free
Past thought of freedom we may come to know
The music of the meaning of Accord.

Sanity and meaning are certainly as much the true foundations of poetry as granite is the upholder of the monument. There must be grace and beauty, and music besides; but without healthful and happy thinking the poet's utterances are a profitless array of trickery and void mumbling. The technic of verse, in our time, is so much studied and deferred to that those who are expert in it are apt to put it foremost, and think more of how they say things than they do of what is said. But imagination, tempered by the understanding, is always the necessary qualification for durable work in any department of art; and it is stringently so in the poet's art. He must know both the "music" and the "meaning" of his lines.

In Mr. Lloyd Mifflin's latest book of verse, as in the three which preceded it, the author preserves a high plane, and moves over it with an easy freedom. His preference for the sonnet form, even when he tells a reminiscent history, makes an arduous effort necessary to avoid anticlimaxes and to keep the strain lofty, in both of which efforts his success is noticeable. There is great danger in assuming a trial so daring of weak terminal lapses here and there. From these he happily escapes; and in his longest poem, "The Fields of Dawn," takes us through the months and seasons with tender touches of description from April to the next year's May—a more than rounded circuit. The following is the twenty-eighth sonnet of the forty-five sonnets in which the whole retrospect is given:

There is a legend the Algonquins tell
Of power and splendor of the Great White One:
The God of Light he is, and of the Sun,
And in their strange lore hath no parallel.
He, in the Summer from his citadel
Comes to the gates of his dominion,
And throws them open when the day's begun,
And shuts them in the evening. But a spell
Saps his puissance when the Autumn haze
Spreads its dim-shimmering silver on the rills;
Then to the mountain tops he slowly wends,
And, idly drowsing on the dreamy hills,
Puffs at his pipe, and as the smoke descends,
Behold our mellow Indian Summer days!

In a sonnet out of the leading series he expresses his exaltation of the gift of song. It is titled

THE SPIRIT OF POESY.

Not the close friendship of the closest friends;
Not wealth descending on her golden wings;
Titles nor honor—no ephemeral things—
Can for the lack of her e'er make amends.
She will not stoop to sublunary ends,
Nor touch the baubles which the base world brings;
Her song unpurchasable still she sings,
And all her soul upon the singing spends.
She treads her constellated paths alone,
Sandaled with starry aspirations bright,
Beyond the visions of this world how far!
Sadly she sits upon her dazzling throne
In fading splendor, like a lingering star
That pales at sunrise in the wastes of light.

Mrs. Dorr's "Afterglow" brings together her latest poems, and it signals a worthy achievement in form and expression. This author has written always with a high sense of the poet's gift, finishing her lines and stanzas with conscience and care, lest the message of a lyric be lessened or lost. Naturally, these verses in the retrospect of life are pensive and tinged with a blending of joyful thanks and sorrowful loss. They are all of them tender and hopeful and fruited with an uplifting philosophy of the high seriousness of life. In the sonnet which follows we see delineated the breadth of song:

THE DOWER.

The whole wide earth, O poet, is thy dower;
Claim thou its affluence as by right divine.
For thee suns rise and set, and clear stars shine,
Old ocean rolls, and far heights heavenward tower.
The thrush and nightingale, and every flower
Of every clime and every age, are thine;
All gods shall fill thy golden cup with wine,
All prophets please thee in the uplifted hour!
Thine are the mysteries of life and death;
All loves, all joys, all passion and all pain,
Temptations shared not, sins thou hast not known,
False hopes, frail raptures trembling at a breath,
The hero's ecstacy, the martyr's gain,
The high prayer soaring to the Great White Throne!

In the stanzas below there is the graphic statement of the sum of knowledge hinted at as condensedly as something like it is in Tennyson's "Flower in the Crannied Wall:"

LESSONS TWAIN.

Just two things you knew,
Little one who flew
Like a dove to heaven.
One fair Summer even;
Love and pain. These two
Held Life's lore for you!

Child, do we know more?
Earth for you is o'er;
All that it hath brought you,
All that it hath taught you;
Lessons twain for thee—
How much more know we?

"Songs of Two," by Mr. Arthur Sherburne Hardy, is titled from the longest poem, which is a prolonged lyric of devotion, and a delicate setting forth of the tenderness and all-embracing sufficiency of love. Delicacy of expression and happy fancies are characteristics of Mr. Hardy's work. There is everywhere in his lyrics a thoughtful restraint over too much verblage, and a feeling shown for the fit words. This he says, among other things, of Love:

We thought when Love at last should come,
The rose would lose its thorn,
And every lip but joy's be dumb
When Love, sweet Love was born;
That never tears should start to rise,
No night o'ertake our morn,
Nor any guest of grief surprise,
When Love, sweet Love, was born.
And when he came, O heart of mine!
And stood within our door,
No joy our dreaming could divine
Was missing from his store.
The thorns shall wound our hearts again,
But not the fear of yore,
For all the guests of grief and pain
Shall serve him evermore.

A few briefer lyrics follow the main poem, and among them are the following lines of characterization of Omar. They are written

ON THE FLY LEAF OF THE RUBAIYAT.

Deem not this book a creed, 'tis but the cry
Of one who fears not death, yet would not die;
Who at the table feigns with sorry jest
To love the wine the Master's hand has pressed,
The while he loves the absent Master best—
The bitter cry of Love for Love's reply.

Mr. Frederick Crowninshield's poems, with pictures, represent an endeavor to link the felicities of plastic art with those of song. The author's artistic experience and association with topics that are themselves half poems make a good start for poetic suggestion and fragrant fancy. In the sonnet form mostly he chooses to express himself, not always in a clarified way, and with lucidity, but always with an ambitious and lofty aim. He has a vocabulary somewhat formidable to handle or to encounter, but where the language is simplest the poetic achievement is most successful. He praises with critical insight, in one of his sonnets, the thought "garbed tersely," and

Not
In verbiage pedantic, oft designed
To cloak some stale idea in copious dress.

And the canon thus expressed will apply to the best and freshest thought as well. There are many lines in these sonnets that meet all the requirements of clear thought and an exacting form, while very many do not melt easily into a fluid coherence of either the thought or the melody. Most pleasing to meet is the style he illustrates in

A SONG OF THE GARDEN.

I.

Said the Rose to Strawberry,
"Of all flowers I'm the queen,
So, at least, the lovely women who are very Lovely say. And I wear the royal red,
While my orbs are garlanded
With the fittest shade of green.
And the pretty maids they bury
Their sweet faces in my bed
Of soft petals perfumed
With rich odors that I screen."

II.

Said the Strawberry to Rose,
"I'm the acknowledged king
Of all fruit that in the luscious garden grows,
And I, too, am imbued in royal red,
While my cones are garlanded
With a green of rhythmic ring.
And the fairest maids one knows
With warm lips on nectar fed
Taste with daintiness inbred
The high flavor that I bring."

Mr. Charles Keeler's poems, grouped under the title of "Idyls of El Dorado," come to us from the Pacific Coast. His topics, for the most part, treat of nature as there exemplified from the Sierras to the Alaskan glaciers. Certain myths which he titles "Woodland Tales Hesperian" are of Californian reference, but the lighter lyrics which precede them seem most spontaneous. If this author reaches no startling height, pleasing thoughts and jocund melody are not an entertainment to be banned. Of the nature lyrics, which the majority of these poems are, the following is fairly representative. It is named

JUNE IN THE WOODLAND.

Vireo on oak bough,
Swallow on the wing.
Sun upon the glist'ning stream,
Joy in everything.

Stirrings in the trout pool,
Whirr of wings above,
Insects humming in the trees,
Distant coo of dove.

Blossoms on the buckeye,
Perfuming the breeze,
Murmurs of the rippling brook,
Voices from the trees.

Love amid the treetops,
Love amid the vale,
Bill to bill, or lip to lip,
Tells the tender tale.

The ornaments of head and foot design in this volume are quite pronounced in conception and size.

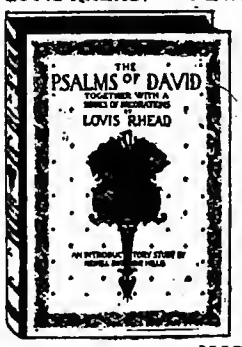
Verses and picturing are seldom more felicitously joined than we see them in the volume aptly titled "Idle Idyls." Its au-

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY'S HOLIDAY BOOKS

Fully recognizing our responsibility to those who have come to place absolute dependence upon our imprint, we are impelled to make each season's offering show marked improvement in the mechanical as well as literary excellence. We feel that we have this year eclipsed all previous effort. The attractive volumes here presented are but representative. A handsome list of all our Holiday books will be sent free upon application.

The Psalms of David

Illustrated by LOUIS RHEAD. Introductory Study by NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS.



8vo, finely decorated, cloth, boxed, $2.50. Edition de Luxe, $3.75.

Including 17 full-page illustrations and numerous Decorations Depicting the Life of David. Printed on superfine paper in two colors and tints.

"Revell's have certainly struck twelve in this beautiful setting. The highest standard of the book-making art."—Public Opinion.

"Dr. Hillis has presented something more than a mere sketch or introduction. . . . All the romance, tragedy, and pathos of David's career is graphically related."—N. Y. Times.

"A brilliant bit of writing is Dr. Hillis's introduction to David's text. The volume is striking from every standpoint."—Outlook.

Winsome Womanhood

Familiar Talks on Life and Conduct. By MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

Illustrated, 16mo, decorated cloth, gilt top, $1.25.

Mrs. Sangster talks delightfully and suggestively of the many problems girls and women must face. A sympathetic conception of life's highest ideals. The book is an exquisite specimen of modern book-making. Initials reproduced from lace handkerchiefs. Illustrated by studies from life by W. B. Dyer.

"Mrs. Sangster has a large audience, to whom this book will make a special appeal. The illustrations are sure to please the readers of the book."—The Critic.

"Planned on a different scheme from the usual volumes of talks with women. . . . Written for the everyday woman and girl, in the everyday walks of life."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Friendship 20th Thousand.

By HUGH BLACK, M.A.

With introduction by Robertson Nicoll. 16mo, cloth, $1.25. Persian morocco, $2.50.

"A gift-book that cannot be surpassed in appropriateness of sentiment and that is also a very beautiful specimen of bookmaking."—The Literary News. "Vigorous and incisive—fresh and vivacious—tender and winning."—The Outlook.

Chinese Mother Goose

Translated and Illustrated by ISAAC TAYLOR HEADLAND of Peking University.

Small quarto boards, fully illustrated, 160 pages, $1.25.

Over 150 Pictures, nearly 150 Rhymes. Text in English, also in original Chinese. Characteristically Printed and Bound.

"We have rarely seen a more charming book for children than this. Certainly it is in the fullest sense unique. . . . The covers show quaint and amusing conceits."—The Outlook.

"As full of sweets as a Canton jar of sugared ginger. It is perfectly delightful to look at, for within and without are rollicking tumbling, playing, Chinese little folks. These jolly jingles almost beat our Mother Goose."—S. S. Times.

ILLUSTRATED BY LOUIS RHEAD

RALPH CONNOR'S TALES

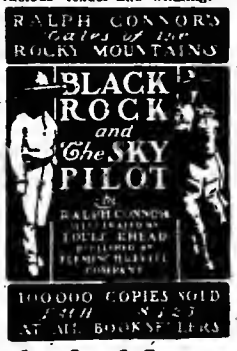
Each 12 mo, $1.25, the Set $2.50, boxed.

Black Rock A Tale of the Selkirks

"Ralph Connor uses a pen dipped in the very colors and tones of the canyon and uplift hills. His grasp of the characteristic slang is free and graphic, and his knowledge of the primitive vices and virtues is obviously no mere book-lore. . . . It touches just the chords which vibrate luxuriously in the popular heart."—Boston Transcript.

The Sky Pilot A Tale of the Foothills

"Ralph Connor's 'Black Rock' was good, but 'The Sky Pilot' is better. . . . It is real life; virile, true, tender, humorous, pathetic, wholesome. His style, fresh, crisp and terse, accords with the Western life, which he understands."—The Outlook.



Famous Chinese Studies

Each 8vo, $2.00, the Set $4.00, boxed.

DR. ARTHUR H. SMITH'S

Chinese Characteristics

"Dr. Arthur H. Smith, the author of Chinese Characteristics," one of the ablest presentations of the Chinese character ever made, is a man with the wit of Sydney Smith, the courage of Gordon and the devotion of Livingstone."—The Interior.

Village Life in China

"Will give the most complete knowledge and conception of real Chinese character. These are not only two of the very best books on China, but they are two of the very best books which have ever been published by any author on any country at any time."—Talcott Williams in Book News.

The D. L. Moody Year Book

A Living Daily Message from the Words of D. L. Moody. Selected by EMMA MOODY FITT. 16mo, cloth, $1.00.

Compiled from treasures of thought from Mr. Moody's publications. Next to the Bible itself, no better guide or companion for the Christian home.

Verbeck of Japan

A Citizen of No Country, by WILLIAM ELLIOT GRIFFIS. Illustrated 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"Dr. Griffis is eminently fitted by intimate association to be the biographer of this pioneer missionary and most influential agent in the making of the New Japan. . . . No foreigner has ever so won the confidence or received such honors from the Japanese as were accorded to Guido F. Verbeck. Essential to the understanding of recent Japanese history."—Christian Intelligencer.

Onesimus: Christ's Freedman

A tale of the Pauline Epistles. By CHARLES EDWARD CORWIN. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"A work of decided merit, not only in its plot and its working out, but also in the skill with which the author has availed himself of the meagre Biblical materials."—Outlook.

Of all booksellers, or post free from the publishers. Illustrated holiday list on application.

New York: 158 Fifth Ave. Chicago: 63 Washington St. Toronto: 154 Yonge St.

thor, whose magazine contributions have been frequent and creditable, has a vivacious fancy, a true sense of smooth and fluent rhythm, and a lightness of treatment that is particularly captivating. In all these poems, about eighty in number, there is either a generic conceit well worked out, a happy climax, or a group of humorous and witty observations that give delight. Of the illustrations by Oliver Herford it is only necessary to say that they have the best qualities of his well-known style. Representative of the verse, and for its brevity chiefly, I copy the lines titled

TIT FOR TAT.

Secure from observation,
A Bookworm made his home
And pursued his occupation
In a dry and dusty tome,

Made by some wise old sages
That lesser minds might learn,
The Bookworm turned the pages,
(For even a worm will turn.)

He said, "What prosy leaders!
And judging by its look,
This book has bored its readers,
Now I will bore the book."

Mr. Lewis V. F. Randolph writes a graceful apology as a preface to his book of poems, titled "Survivals," in which he says: "In a recent biography of the late John Mills, banker, reformer, and poet of Lancashire, we are informed that our own Emerson was one among Mills's many friends; and one day, hearing Alexander Ireland read some of Mills's poems, yet in manuscript, Emerson asked: 'Why does he not publish them?' When Ireland repeated this to Mills, the banker remarked: 'If I published a book of poetry there would be a run on the bank in no time.'" Our author, however, whose position as the President of the Atlantic Trust Company puts him in the financier's category, takes this poetic risk. The poems offered are descriptions of nature, verses for public occasions and lyrics of religious motive and import. A forcible reply to "The Man with the Hoe" philosophy, is among those that receive the most effective illustration. The illustrations are by Bryson Burroughs.

A strikingly delicate binding, with an artistic floral decoration, is at once noticeable as you pick up Mr. Frederic Lawrence Knowles's volume. His poems are thoughtful and restrained in expression—treating topics of nature and life with intelligent sympathy, while a few are put under the ruhric of "Steps Toward Faith." The opening poem, perhaps, represents quite well his sense of value in words. It is titled

NATURE: THE ARTIST.

Such hints as untaught Nature yields:
The calm disorder of the sea,
The straggling splendor of the fields,
The wind's gay incivility.

O, workman with your conscious plan,
Compass and square are little worth;
Copy (nay, only poets can,)
The lawless masonry of earth.
Go watch the windy spring's shrouds,
And mark the Winter wonders grow,
The graceful gracelessness of boughs,
The careless carpentry of snow.

Mr. Roy L. McCardell's volume, in unpretentious boards, offers a varied classification of the humorous skits and jingles that the papers devoted to humor and sentiment welcome and purvey. Several of these indeed have appeared in Puck and Truth. They touch and treat human nature and its whims and foibles in a distinctly clever way. Judged by the standard they appeal to, there seems nothing lacking in their achievement. A rather pretty device in brownish red sets the title page off happily.

In a modestly made volume, Mr. Henry Abbey, who cultivates with a noble sincerity a native gift for poetic expression, we find four stories in verse that are full of high impulse and imaginative fervor. The familiar myth of Phaeton and his disastrous ride in the chariot of Phoebus is rightfully given the first place, out of which he extracts, without impertinent projection, the moral of aiming at a high mark, even if you fall from the sky in your effort. There is always to be found in Mr. Abbey's poetic work an imaginative touch, a command of rhythm and word color, and a sense of captivating melody that uplift the reader. In his lyric of "Donald," which has been more than once set to music, he gave to English poetry a flawless and spirited love song. Following the Phaeton verse story is a unique tale, titled "Veera," together with "The Traitor" and "Mora," all being prefaced by a well-reasoned plea for the presence of a moral basis in art. In Phaeton the Greek thought and form lend themselves to an almost romantic purpose. The lines have a bold sweep—a somewhat Sophoclean cadence.

Quotation from these poems for isolated beauty of expression is—on account of their peculiar structure—not easy. But the following may give a taste of Mr. Abbey's style. When the Earth appealed to Jupiter to undo the rash charioteer's ravage:

The suppliant words up flew, like white-winged doves,
And nestled in the breast of Jupiter.

And of Jupiter there is this:

Amidst the synod of the gods he sat,
He of the far-borne voice, the sceptered god,
Enthroned upon the heights where he was wont
To spread the clouds above the spacious earth,
To roll his deep-voiced thunders and to hurl
His brandished lightnings crinkling down the sky.

Phaeton, as we all know, "finds his fate" "in a great attempt." And the author adds:

It is the attempt, the bravery to face
Defeat and death that shows the noble soul.
* * * * * * *
For proud and lofty deeds,
Which but for high ambition had not been,
Are stars that fight against oblivion.

The small volume titled "Around the Table" is composed of metre relating to the scenes that make Christmas memorable—one part being a translation from the French of Father Henri Perreyve's tales, "Octavious" and "Noemi"; and the second part poems having a similar interest. The first poem, titled "A Letter of One of the Magi," is touchingly schemed, and is made impressive by the sincerity and simplicity of its treatment. Not a little of the delicacy and pathos which this prettily bound book has to offer is due to the fact that its two young authors have been so early called from their chosen sphere of activity. Portraits and other illustrations supplement the diverse text.

Sonnets and sonnet sequences make the contents of "The Trophies," and the topics are in groups classical and mediaeval: of the Orient and the tropics, with some representing phases of nature and subjective thought. Their author, José Maria de Heredia, is "a son of the Cuban poet and historian of the same name." He was born in the Sierra Madre Mountains, in Santiago, Cuba, and educated in Paris and at the University of Havana. With Leconte de Lisle, he became in Paris one of the "Parnassiens" and obtained, among the few competent to judge, a considerable celebrity for his poetic work. Mr. Frank Sewall, who has rendered these poems in their present form, from the original French, says that he has retained their verse form, but purposely discarded rhyme in order to present better their exact substance. So far as one can see, he has done his work more than ordinarily well, though a few lines might have been more felicitious and rhythmical with certain slight permutations that the text itself suggests. The volume has been most charmingly printed.

These sonnets are full of poetic fancies, and have lines of notable strength. The one copied below is addressed to the Italian tragedian, Rossi, after

A RECITATION FROM DANTE.

I saw thee, Rossi, mantled all in black,
Break the frail heart of sad Ophelia;
And, like a tiger wild with love and madness,
Stifle in poisoned handkerchief thy sobs.
Lear and Macbeth I saw, and wept to see
Thee, supreme lover of old Italy,
Kiss thy pale Juliet in the nuptial tomb;
Yet once wast thou more grand, more terrible.
Horror I tasted and the joy sublime
For the first time in hearing the Three Rhymes,
Sound through thy golden voice their iron blast.
And red with reflex of the infernal flame,
I saw, and trembled to my soul's last depth,
Alighieri chanting the songs of hell.

JOEL BENTON.

*THE FIELDS OF DAWN AND LATER SONNETS. By Lloyd Mifflin. Pp. 105. 1900. Boston and New York: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. $1.

AFTERGLOW. Later Poems. By Julia C. R. Dorr. 1900. Pp. 84. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. $1.25.

SONGS OF TWO. By Arthur Sherburne Hardy. Pp. 86. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. $1.

PICTORIS CARMINA. By Frederic Crowninshield, with illustrations by the author. Pp. 139. New York: Dodd, Mead & Co.

IDYLS OF EL DORADO. By Charles Keeler. Pp. 95. San Francisco: A. M. Robertson. $1.25.

IDLE IDYLS. By Carolyn Wells. Pictured by Oliver Herford. 1900. Pp. 155. New York: Dodd, Mead & Co. $1.50.

SURVIVALS. By Lewis V. F. Randolph. Embellished by Bryson Burroughs. Pp. 89. New York and London: G. P. Putnam's Sons.

OLDE LOVE AND LAVENDER, AND OTHER VERSES. By Roy L. McCardell. 1900. Pp. 94. New York: Godfrey A. S. Weiners.

PHAETON. With Three Other Stories in Verse and a Prose Contention. Written by Henry Abbey. Pp. 126. Klogstoo, N. Y.; Styles & Kiersted. 75 cents.

THE TROPHIES. Sonnets by José Maria de Heredia. Translated by Frank Sewall. Boston: Small, Maynard & Co. MCM. Pp. 133. Limited edition. Price, $2.50.

French Wit.

From The Cornhill.

The Court of Louis XIV., even at the end of the seventeenth century, was already a synonym for that delicate epigrammatic cleverness essentially French. Wit was the mode, the supreme mode among the wittiest people in the world, and in an age which was pre-eminently the Age of Good Talk—and bad deeds. From the Sun King's golden youth to his sombre setting under the De Maintenon the Court Chronicle is but a chronicle of infinitely characteristic jests and aphorisms. It was a gorgeous Louis, flushed with confidence and victory, who uttered the familiar "L'état c'est moi." It was she who rose from pauperdom to govern France by the careful exercise of shrewd virtues, who is responsible for the saying that "nothing is so clever as irreproachable conduct." The heads, crowned or uncrowned, set the example, and the sincerest flattery was imitation. Even when the lesser stars outshone the sun himself, he was not offended.

"Monsieur," said Louis to a new Ambassador, "what I chiefly desire to impress upon you is that you follow a line of conduct entirely different from that of your predecessors."

"Sire," replied the Ambassador, "I intend to act so that your Majesty will not need to give such an instruction to my successor."

Here indeed one might be daring but not dull, and frank but not feeble. When Bassompierre, Ambassador to Madrid, related to the monarch how he had entered that city on a handsome mule, "Oh, oh!" said Louis, with a kingly wit, "what a fine thing to see an ass on a mule!"

"Very fine, sire," replied Bassompierre; 'I was representing you!"

Reminiscences.

Sir Wemyss Reid in The Anglo-Saxon Review.

As I sit here this morning I see once more the tall, manly figure of Thackeray, as he walks with rapid step along the path by the Row, homeward bound to his new house in Kensington. The West End of forty years ago belonged to him in a peculiar sense, and it is a joy, not to be easily parted with, to know that I have seen him treading its streets. And in Kensington Gardens I caught my last glimpse of Charles Dickens as a living man. It was only a week or two before his death, and he was strolling down one of the paths under the trees; his companion was a girl of tender years and manifestly humble circumstances, to whom the Master was talking with that animation of mood and manner which never failed him to the last. There is a seat here in Hyde Park that is always associated in my mind with the great name of Carlyle, for more than once I have seen the author of "Sartor Resartus" resting upon it, with sombre face and downcast eye, while the faithful William Allingham, like some silent watchdog, sat humbly at the other end of the bench, awaiting the great man's pleasure and keeping off all intruders.

BOOKS AND AUTHORS.

A writer who signs himself or herself S. D. McCormick has been contributing to The Bookman a series of articles entitled "Survivals in American Educated Speech." We do not know how persons born and educated in the various parts of this country may regard his deductions, but certainly it seems that the educated people of Boston whose "survivals" are described in the November number have cause for remonstrance. We were about to make a little remonstrance ourselves when we received a letter from Dr. Edward E. Hale, who is personally concerned in the matter. One passage in the article in question reads as follows:

Heerd, (heard,) to rhyme with feared, is a survival of the days of Addison and Dryden, when it passed as literary coin in the literary world and yet, after two centuries, refuses to quit the classic walks of Boston. When now, as occasionally heard from the lips of that grand old man, Edward Everett Hale, it pathetically suggests the passing glory of the Concord school.

Dr. Hale's remarks are brief but emphatic:

One or two friends of mine think I ought to write you about the absurd statement that I and other New Englanders are so archaic that we maintain the pronunciation of two centuries ago and say heerd where London says herd. Somebody sent this absurd statement to me two or three weeks ago, but it did not seem to me worth notice. I never said heerd in my life, unless it were in acting in a charade where I had to represent a poor Yankee from the forests. But it is of no consequence what I say or do not say. The writer who thinks I said so implies that Lowell, Emerson, Longfellow, and Holmes said so. I knew them all rather intimately, and I do not believe any of them ever used this pronunciation either in public address or conversation. One needs so much time and space in saying what is in this world that it seems a pity to waste one hundred and eighty-one words in saying what is not; but two sensible people advise me to do so.

Says The London Academy:

The ideal newspaper is as far to seek as the ideal friend or the ideal curry, but it seems that another attempt is to be made in New York. The "novel feature" of this ideal newspaper will be that it will tell the truth, will be free from political control, and will contain no sensational matter. To tell the truth about events that are happening 6,000 miles away, or even 6 miles away, is not easy.

John Strange Winter wonders why there should be a certain prejudice against books of short stories. She expresses her wonder in a preface to her Christmas annual, which happens to be a collection of stories. She stands up for these, saying, in so many words, "Believe me, they are better worth reading than if each had been spun out to a volume." This remark is incidental to a general defense of the short story. The subject that puzzles Mrs. Stannard must have made others wonder also. The book of short stories, as such, has practically passed out of existence. Of course, there are collections of short stories by eminent writers which sell widely, but it is nine times out of ten owing to the author's name that they achieve success. There is, too, a certain demand for short genre stories, but these stories, when they are not a series developing one idea, deal with at least the same central figure throughout. Mrs. Stannard would not imply, we trust, that short stories are no longer popular, for, to our personal knowledge, brief fiction has never been so well written and so widely read as it is to-day. But no longer is it attractive in its old collected form. The "certain prejudice against books of short stories," in this country at least, is not owing to the stories themselves, but because the 10-cent magazines, each of which usually contains half a dozen short stories, have pushed similar short stories, when presented in book form, out of the market.

In all probability a translation of "Ben-Hur" will shortly be brought out in modern Greek by a young, educated native of Athens, now residing in Constantinople. "Ben-Hur" has been translated into most European languages with varied success, but no one will deny that both its theme and treatment particularly lend themselves to a fine rendering in the language of modern Hellas. Negotiations for the translation are now pending. The would-be translator, who calls himself Sophocles A. Hudaverdoglu, first broached the subject in a letter to Gen. Lew Wallace, of which the following is a characteristic passage:

Excellency: (it will be recalled that Mr. Wallace was once United States Minister to Turkey) Please allow a Greek youth, although unknown to your Excellency, to address you the present letter for a favor which he dares to believe your Excellency will kindly grant. Some time ago a friend of mine gave me a German book, advising me to read it with attention. I never read novels, so I intended to give it back without having opened it. But then, one day being not occupied, I took it carelessly and began to read it. It impressed me so much that I read it again and again, and did not fail to translate parts of it to my father and relations. Needless to say, the book spoken of was "Ben-Hur," your Excellency's masterpiece. I looked everywhere for a Greek translation of it, but there is none; this pained me so much, as I read in the preface that "Ben-Hur" had been translated even into Turkish. From that time the idea haunts me to translate "Ben-Hur" into Greek.

We have, on more than one occasion, called the attention of our readers to the fact that good things in literature were being produced north of the St. Lawrence River, and that it was high time to penetrate with considerable enthusiasm the isolation which has been the fate of Canada. We are always glad to tell our readers about the work of certain Canadian novelists, poets, and historians, but we find the Canadian writer in general is rather loath to exploit himself beyond his own limited circle. There are exceptions, of course. There are many good books written, published, and laid away in Canada, which, if they were introduced among us, would certainly have a longer lease of life. We are glad to note that a book written by Mr. James L. Hughes, Inspector of Schools in Toronto, is being brought out simultaneously with a Canadian edition by D. Appleton & Co. of this city. "Dickens as an Educator" is the title of the book, and the writer claims for the author of "David Copperfield" a position which is quite likely to arouse lively discussion—"the greatest educational reformer that England has produced." This is part of his argument:

It will be admitted that he has done more than any one else to secure for the child a considerate treatment of his tender age. "It is a crime against a child to rob it of its childhood." This principle was announced by Dickens, and it has come to be generally recognized and adopted. Gradually it is changing the methods of primary instruction and bringing into vogue a milder form of discipline and a more stimulative teaching—arousing the child's self-activity instead of repressing it.

Doubleday, Page & Co. will publish simultaneously with John Murray, in London, next week, a volume called "An English Woman's Love Letters." There is said to be no question as to the genuineness of the letters, which reveal a most extraordinary domestic tragedy, full of human interest. It seems that some time ago a collection of letters written by a young Englishwoman to her lover was sent to Mr. Murray for examination. This girl had poured forth her soul (to use a rather hackneyed expression) to her lover with a passion and earnestness which is sure to remind one of Marie Bashkirtseff, and with a charm and grace which would be worthy of the author of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden." Mr. Murray refused to publish the book until he was told of the authority of the letters. No one else knows the author's identity. It seems that the young woman died when twenty-two years old. The letters themselves make an extraordinary story, and make it plain that some one came between the girl and her lover, so that the correspondence was broken off. The girl meanwhile kept on writing, and put the letters away with the idea that the lover should receive them after she died, all of which finally came about. It is also quite certain that she came of a distinguished family.

W. W. Blake of the City of Mexico is about to republish a very rare and important work. It is Mme. Calderon de la Barca's "Life in Mexico," first published in translation at Boston in 1843, with a preface by the historian, W. H. Prescott. Mme. Calderon was the wife of the first Spanish Minister to Mexico, and Mr. Prescott says of her work:

The present work is the result of observations made during a two years' residence in Mexico by a lady whose position there made her intimately acquainted with its society, and opened to her the best sources of information in regard to whatever could interest an enlightened foreigner. It consists of letters written to the members of her own family, and, really, not intended originally—however incredible the assertion—for publication. Feeling a regret that such rich stores of instruction and amusement from which I have so much profited myself, should be reserved for the eyes of a few friends only, I strongly recommended that they should be given to the world. This is now done, with a few such alterations and omissions as were necessary in a private correspondence, and although the work would derive more credit from the author's own name than from anything which I can say, yet as she declines prefixing it, I feel much pleasure in making this statement by way of introduction to the public.

The reprint, which will contain ample historical footnotes explaining many allusions purposely left obscure by the author, will be presented in two volumes of about 500 pages each. Only 500 copies will be printed, and sold by subscription. The price of the work, per copy, is $5 in American currency, or $10 in Mexican silver.

Mr. Hall Caine is leaving London for Rome. He will winter in "The Eternal City," and there complete his novel of that name.

The Bibliographical Society has lately issued a new illustrated monograph on Antoine Vérard, by John Macfarlane. The book, which is attractively bound in paper, is the work of the Chiswick Press, its typography, head and tail pieces, illustrations, paper, and all other details being most satisfactory. This volume is so perfect a specimen of good bibliography that it is a great pity its circulation should be confined to the members of that society. The introduction gives all known details of Vérard's career, nothing being known before the appearance of his first book in 1485. After this time, however, his career is closely followed, an account of his publications and especially of vellum copies being given. The question of Vérard's having been a printer as well as a publisher is fully discussed, as is his pretensions to authorship. His illustrations come in for a full share in the description, as well as his initials, printers' devices, &c. Vérard's Books of Hours were so important a portion of his output that a great deal of attention is paid to them. The first fifty-two pages are taken up by fine bibliographical descriptions of Vérard's dated books, 102 in number; over forty pages to fully described undated works, followed by a long section devoted to Books of Hours. Books the existence of which or connection with Vérard is doubtful are separately listed, the last sec-

GOOD HOLIDAY BOOKS

THE LOVE OF AN UNCROWNED QUEEN.
By W. H. WILKINS, M. A., author of "The Romance of Lady Isabel Burton." 2 vols. Over 50 illustrations. $7.50.
The unacknowledged queen was the Consort of George I., and her story and letters form a most attractive romance.

THE LIFE OF EDWARD FITZ GERALD.
By JOHN GLYDE. With a portrait frontispiece. $2.00.
This is the first detailed biography of Fitz Gerald, and it is intended to be definitive.

BETWEEN THE ANDES AND THE OCEAN.
By WILLIAM ELEROY CURTIS. Beautifully illustrated. $2.00.
An account of an interesting journey through the country of South America. Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State, writes: "I have had a happy hour over it already, and promise myself many more. You had a very large subject, and you seem to have covered it very thoroughly. If I could read and remember it all I should know more about South America than any South American I have ever met."

FAMOUS TRIALS OF THE CENTURY.
By J. B. ATLAY. Many illustrations. $1.75 net.
Graphic accounts of the most interesting trials of our time.

SOME PLAYERS.
By AMY LESLIE. With 35 portraits. $2.00.
Reminiscences of the principal contemporary actors.

SIR ARTHUR SULLIVAN.
By ARTHUR LAWRENCE. Fully illustrated. $3.50.
The authorized biography of the Great Composer. Prepared under his personal supervision, and revised by him in proof. It contains many of his letters and much intimate personal matter of great interest.

EDGAR ALLAN POE'S WORKS.
The only complete edition. Edited by Edmund Clarence Stedman and George Edward Woodberry. 10 volumes in a box, $15.00 net.

THE LIFE OF THACKERAY.
By LEWIS MELVILLE. With portraits, fac-simile of handwriting, and several drawings, many now printed for the first time. In two volumes, demy 8vo, $7.50. One hundred copies on plate paper, with illustrations on imperial Japanese vellum. 8vo, $15.00.

A CHILD OF THE SUN.
By CHARLES EUGENE BANKS. Beautifully illustrated in colors by Louis Betts. $1.50.
The life and adventures of a little Indian boy before the coming of the whites. The story will appeal to every child, and there is much that will instruct him as well.
"It is destined to become a children's classic."—CHICAGO JOURNAL.

These books are suitable holiday gifts because
They are good reading.
They are attractively made.
Cut out this advertisement and ask your dealer to show you the books.

STORIES FROM THE OLD TESTAMENT FOR CHILDREN.
By HARRIET BLAINE BEALE. $1.50
The stories are written in simple language and, unlike most similar books, the children are allowed to point out their own morals.

THE COUGAR TAMER.
By FRANK WILLIS CALKINS. Illustrated. $1.50.
ANIMAL STORIES FOR BOYS.

AFTER SUPPER SONGS.
Words and music by ELIZABETH COOLIDGE. Illustrated. $2.00.
A charming collection of songs for children.

ICKERY ANN AND OTHER GIRLS AND BOYS.
ELIA W. PEATTIE.
STORIES FOR THE YOUNG.

JUST ABOUT A BOY.
By W. S. PHILLIPS. $1.25.
A healthy book for healthy boys. The story of the work and pleasures of a country boy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY OF JANE AND JOHN.
By GERTRUDE SMITH, author of "Arabella and Araminta." Beautifully illustrated in colors. $1.50.
A splendid story for little children.

MORE FABLES BY GEORGE ADE.
Illustrated. $1.00.
A second volume of these inimitable Fables in Slang, which is being laughed over fully as much as its predecessor.
"You had best not read it if you do not want to laugh heartily and healthily."—New Orleans Picayune.

THE CONSCIENCE OF CORALIE.
By F. FRANKFORT MOORE, author of "The Jessamy Bride." $1.50.
"A novel which is a masterpiece of English fiction, and will be enjoyed more than "The Jessamy Bride."—BOSTON TIMES.

LOVE AMONG THE ARTISTS.
By G. BERNARD SHAW. $1.50.
A capital story of Bohemian life, written in Mr. Shaw's most amusing style.

LONG LIVE THE KING.
By GUY BOOTHBY. $1.50.
A thrilling story of love and adventures which cannot fail to interest the reader.

LITTLE LORDS OF CREATION.
By H. A. KEAYS. $1.25.
The story of a first boy and his bringing up. "A charming book."

THE INN OF THE SILVER MOON.
By HERMAN K. VIELE. $1.25.
As delightfully fantastic a story as one could wish: it is light, bright, romantic, and impossible. It deserves a place beside "March Hares."

GRISELDA.
A Novel. By BASIL KING. $1.25.
The story of an American girl who succeeds to the title of Countess of Lomond, and her love for young Lord Lomond.

THE IDLE BORN.
By C. H. CHATFIELD TAYLOR, in collaboration with REGINALD DE KOVEN. 16mo, cloth, $1.25.
That the story is remarkable there can be no question. The strong plot deals with New York society, and is in reality an exposition of the weaknesses and follies of the Smart Set.

THE MONK WINS.
A Novel. By EDWARD H. COOPER. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

NUDE SOULS.
By BENJAMIN SWIFT. Author of "The Tormentor," "The Destroyer," "Dartnell," etc. 12mo cloth, $1.50.

HERBERT S. STONE & CO., CHICAGO

EBEN HOLDEN

By IRVING BACHELLER

Greatest American Novel of Recent Years, say the Critics

125th THOUSAND

12mo, gold lettered on red cloth, gilt top, $1.50

"It is simple; it is natural; it is very charming; it will be widely read. The love story that runs through it is one of the prettiest we remember having read in recent fiction."—The Bookman.

"It is a forest-scented, fresh-aired, bracing and wholly American story of country and town life."—Edmund Clarence Stedman.

"'Eben Holden' is a noble creation. I have been wondering if I ever read so vivid and breathless a battle scene."—Harriet Prescott Spofford.

"'Eben Holden' is simply adorable. I have not read a book in many a day by an American author which has so pleased me."—Mary E. Wilkins.

"'Uncle Eb' is a character drawn by a loving and discriminating hand, and he grows upon the reader. He is one of those men whose acquaintance makes a man's state more gracious."—Brooklyn Eagle.

"You have got into your book a kind of life not in literature before."—William Dean Howells.

Lloyd Bryce, formerly Editor of the North American Review, says

"You sink into 'Eben Holden' as into the arms of an easy chair. . . . It rests you. The sun streams into your corner as you read. You hear the babble of brooks, the sigh of the wind, the soft wave of the standing grain, the whisper of leaves. . . . 'Eben Holden' has some of the essential elements of a great book. It appeals to the simple palate instead of the sated. It appeals to the weary and the jaded instead of to the frivolous. And there is underneath all a deep sympathy with nature in its various expressions which attunes humanity to it and spells the wider brotherhood of man. Irving Bacheller, in some ways, is to literature what Wagner is to music—I mean with all his power to portray nature. . . . In 'Eben Holden' he has written a book that will live."

THE ADVENTURES OF JOEL PEPPER

By Margaret Sidney.

The latest and jolliest of the famous "Five Little Peppers" Stories. $1.50.

"The Pepper books have all been good, moral, health-giving books, and the adventures of Joel are among the best."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Concerning Cats, By Helen M. Winslow $1.50
A helpful, entertaining book for all who love cats.
"This cat lore is put forth in a simple, attractive style and with it is revealed much shrewd knowledge of not only cats, but humans as well."—Harper's Bazar.

The Story of THE NINETEENTH CENTURY, by Elbridge S. Brooks $1.50
The only popular history of the wonderful century.
"A model of what a popular history should be."—The Outlook.

China's Open Door, by Consul General Wildman $1.50
The most readable and valuable of all books on China.
"One of the most valuable works on China and the Chinese that has been published within the last decade."—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Judges' Cave, by Margaret Sidney $1.50
A powerful romance of the New Haven "regicides."
"Dramatic in telling and absorbing in interest, and truthfully portraying a phase of colonial history of peculiar interest to all."—North American.

Winning Out, by Orison Swett Marden $1.00
"Wholesomely instructive and brilliantly entertaining."
Stories of men who have succeeded, by the editor of "Success."—Independent.

The Last of the Flatboats, by George Cary Eggleston $1.50
A grand story of adventure and profit on the Mississippi.
"We highly recommend this volume for young readers."—New York Times.

The Noank's Log, by William O. Stoddard $1.25
The stirring story of a Revolutionary privateer.
"No more faithful narrative of life on the audacious privateers of the Revolution has ever been written."—Boston Journal.

By Way of the Wilderness, by "Pansy" (Mrs. G. R. Alden) $1.50
A romance of conscience by a popular writer. "A romance of strength and force."—Cleveland World.

With Lawton and Roberts, by Elbridge S. Brooks $1.25
A story of daring and adventure under two heroes of today.
"Any live boy will take to this story as a cat takes to cream."—Chicago Evening Post.

In Defense of the Flag, by Elbridge S. Brooks $1.25
A thrilling story of adventure and action in Spain and Cuba in the war days of '98.
"Full of action and dramatic interest."—St. Louis Globe.

Mr. Trunnell, by T. Jenkins Hains $1.25
A realistic sea story, full of exciting adventure.
"A rattling good sea story."—Boston Globe.

The Forestman of Vimpek, by F. P. Kopta $1.25
"Hearty and healthy Bohemian stories."—Chicago Evening Post.

LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY, Boston

tion containing numerous beautifully made reproductions of illustrations, pages showing typography, printers' devices, &c., taken from Vérard's books.

John Lane has recently issued a little book of patriotic verse, "Britons and Boers," by Herbert Ives, with illustrations, both in black and white, and in colors, by Scotson-Clark, an English illustrator, who was formerly well-known in New York. This little oblong book, which is published at 1s. per copy, is bound in yellow boards, with a cover design in gay colors, running round the entire book, also the work of Scotson-Clark. The illustrations include the "Gay Gordons," "The British Fighting Man," "The Handy Man at Sea," who "fights on the ocean" and "fights on the land," showing these men in the rigging at work on the sails; the inevitable pictures of "Bobs" and of "Oom Paul," both of the latter in black and white, as well as others in the same medium showing illustrations of Tommy Atkins and Hans Boer, accompanying verses which give the opinion of each concerning the other in regard to courage and fighting ability. Best of all, however, is "The End," which shows Tommy, badly crippled, foot in sling, head and eye bandaged, and on crutches, but yet smiling, apparently happy, and much engrossed in his pipe, which hangs out of his mouth at the born smoker's angle. Mr. Ives's verse is bright and catchy; his "Oom Paul" begins:

"Oh, man of many moods and wily ways,
The strong arm of the Lord you swore you were;
I wonder if it ever really pays
To swear."

And Tommy's summing up of his adversary:

"Now the Boer's about the bravest and the slimest man I've met,
. . . . . .
Though we beat him, still the beggar made us pay."

These are fair samples of the text.

A portion of the value of series like the Beacon and Westminster Biographies lies in the fact that in well-written but brief sketches are presented the life story of a prominent man, and in such attractive guises as to win many readers. To Americans, the Westminster series is probably the more valuable, from the fact that the subjects chosen are less well-known to us. The life of Adam Duncan, by H. W. Wilson, brings to the present writer the added pleasure of entire novelty, and yet its author tells us that this "great commander can be ranked after only Nelson amongst his contemporaries." The engraved frontispiece shows a strong, pleasing face, which should lead to interest in his story, while considerable attention has been devoted not only to the social condition of the navy during Duncan's time, but also to the sanitary condition of this branch of the service, and especially in West Indian waters, which was such that only the young and healthy dared face these conditions—not always with impunity—which Mr. Wilson gives as the reason for Duncan's refusal to go on that station, resigning command of the Monarch in 1781, and of the Blenheim in 1782, on their being ordered there. The little sketch gives an interesting account of Adam Duncan, who was born in 1731, when George III. had been but four years on the throne. His active service covers a period of about fifty years—from his midshipman's days in 1746, through various promotions, Captain, Commander, Rear Admiral, Vice Admiral, and Admiral, until in 1797, after his defeat of the Dutch fleet at Camperdown, he was created Viscount Duncan of Camperdown. Typographically the volumes of these two series closely approach perfection, a reputation well seconded by the general interest of their texts.

Another issue in the Westminster series treats of a much more familiar subject—John Wesley, who, with Whitefield, with whom during his early career as a field preacher he was closely connected, was one of the most prominent men in the evangelical revival, though neither was the actual creator of the movement. John Wesley, who is often called the founder of Methodism, fills an important position in the evangelical history of the eighteenth century, having exerted a strong influence outside the religious organizations directly growing out of this revival, being, indeed, the herald of the great religious movement of the present century, which is commonly called the Oxford Movement. For this reason, and because Methodists, who still consider Wesley their doctrinal teacher, number many millions in the United States, and in England and her colonies, the life of this great man must be found of much interest by all; or, as its author, Mr. Frank Banfield, says, "He is plainly a man of whom every educated person should have some knowledge." In a compass of 225 small pages, its author closely and interestingly follows Wesley's career, from his early days in the rectory at Epworth, his father and mother being strongly attached to the English establishment, although the latter's father, Dr. Annersley, was an "ejected minister," in consequence of the Act of Uniformity of 1662. Wesley's grandfather and great-grandfather were also ejected ministers, so that he was descended on both sides from religious thinkers. John Wesley went up to Oxford from the Charterhouse in 1720, won many honors, Fellow of Lincoln, Greek lecturer, and moderator, finally becoming his father's curate and being ordained priest in 1729. For an interesting account of his early religious struggles, their final outcome, and an appreciation of his great influence, readers must seek the book itself, while a short selection of the best from the immense number of books concerning John and Charles Wesley will be found in a bibliography at the end of the volume.

South America Described.*

Frank G. Carpenter, who is well known to the reading public through his newspaper work and books of travel, some of which are used in their schools as reading books, has prepared another interesting volume, the outcome of a 25,000-mile journalistic expedition to South America in search of information for the American business man and general reader. In the course of his travels the author visited the Isthmus of Panama and the lands of the equator, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Chile, Terra del Fuego, the Falklands, Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay, Brazil, the Guianas, Venezuela, and the Orinoco Basin. The record of his journey includes information relative to the resources of the various countries visited, the life and customs of the people, their governments, business methods, and trade, and is more of a study of the commercial and social life of the cities and a description of how the people live and work, than a diary of travel and adventure. It describes the chief industries, notes the characteristic features of the inhabitants, and incidentally points out the chances for the investment of American capital and the increase of American trade. The volume is one of the most readable and most valuable on South America that has come under our notice for a long time. We will not attempt to follow the author in his descriptions of his experiences and observations in the countries visited, but will refer to a few of the unique and interesting facts contained in the volume, and these references will furnish our readers with an idea of the value and readability of the book.

The city of Guayaquil, with a population of 50,000, which in commercial importance is considered the New York of Ecuador, is, in the estimation of the author, one of the unhealthiest cities in the world. The streets are unpaved, and in the dry season the donkeys wear pantalets to keep the gadflies and mosquitoes from eating them. The city has no sewers, and its waterworks are pit holes sunk in the street into which pumps are inserted on the occasion of a fire. As a result, the city has burned down again and again, and a recent holocaust caused a loss of more than $30,000,000. Taxes are only three-tenths of one per cent., but the fire insurance rate is 7 per cent. per annum.

Lake Titicaca, almost as large as Lake Erie, and more than twice as high up in the air as the top of Mount Washington, is one of the most beautiful bodies of water in the world. The ports on the lake do a large business, and over $1,000,000 of imports annually enter Bolivia over Lake Titicaca. Alpacas, vicunas, and llamas live on the high lands about the lake, the llamas being domesticated and used as a beast of burden as well as shorn for their wool.

Terra del Fuego, which is usually pictured as a dreary land of snow and ice, of glaciers and rocky wastes, is according to the author not nearly as dismal a place as described. The archipelago is made up of hundreds of wooded islands, mostly mountainous, a few of which have valleys and plains covered with rich grass. Thousands of sheep graze on the rich grasses of the plains, or, rather such part as is left after the ravages of the ground rats, which burrow in the earth, and are so numerous as to make it impossible to drive over the plains with a wagon. The islands are chiefly inhabited by Indians, whose customs, dress, and mode of life are described at some length by Mr. Carpenter.

The Argentine Republic amazed the author. It has a population of 4,000,000, having trebled within thirty years, and more than one-third of all the people in the country are foreigners, and 70 per cent. of the foreigners are Italians. The inhabitants of Argentina are of almost pure European extraction. The country is cosmopolitan, which keeps Argentina up to date. Nearly all the large towns have electric lights, and there are almost 10,000 miles of railroads. Buenos Ayres, the largest city, is about the size of Boston. As laid out, it is eleven miles from end to end, has more ground within its boundaries than Paris, and is the largest Spanish-speaking city in the world.

*SOUTH AMERICA, SOCIAL, INDUSTRIAL AND POLITICAL. By Frank G. Carpenter. 8vo. Pp. 625. Fully illustrated. Akron, Ohio: The Saalfield Publishing Company.

The Dream of the Key.

From Longman's.

Some small article had been lost, I forget now what, let us say a key, belonging to one of two sisters who were traveling together. It could nowhere be found. But one night one of the sisters dreamed that she saw the key in the pocket of her traveling bag. She told this dream, on waking, to the other. "And have you looked in the pocket?" the sister asked. "No, I have not," said she, "for the very good reason that there is no pocket in my traveling bag." "Well," said the other, "there is a pocket in mine. I will just have a look there on the chance," and there the key was found. The inference is that the dreamer had seen (with the eye of sense, though not with the eye of observation,) the key put into the pocket. Even when the key was so found she had no recollection of seeing it placed there, but the brain had unconsciously recorded the sensation; in course of sleep it had stumbled on that record, and by good luck the sleeper on awaking chanced to remember the mental operation that had taken place during sleep. It is a singular and almost alarming reflection that our brains are stored with countless such records of which we know nothing, nor ever shall know, unless the association of ideas or some peculiar mental state brings them to our notice.

PHILIP WINWOOD 60,000 PHILIP WINWOOD 60,000 PHILIP WINWOOD 60,000

A Georgian Actress

By
PAULINE BRADFORD MACKIE
Author of
"Ye Little Salem Maide," "Mademoiselle de Berny," etc.
"MISS MACKIE'S BEST WORK."
Cloth, 12mo, $1.50.

Boston Experiences

By
MARGARET ALLSTON
(nom de plume).
Cloth, 16mo, $1.25.
"One of the cleverest books of the year."

Music Lovers' Series

THREE NEW VOLUMES
Contemporary American Composers
By RUPERT HUGHES
Famous Pianists of To-Day and Yesterday
By HENRY CLAHEE
Each volume, decorated cloth, $1.50
Shakespeare in Music
By LOUIS C. ELSON
1 volume, decorated cloth, $2.00.
SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE

Illustrated Gift Books

Captain Fracasse
By THEOPHILE GAUTIER
A new holiday edition, illustrated with eighteen full-page etchings from drawings by CHARLES DELORT, engraved by Mongan, sumptuously bound in silk cloth, with cover design in gold, cloth wrappers, boxed, 2 vols., crown 8vo, $8.00.

Paris
By GRANT ALLEN
A beautiful edition, illustrated with 80 full-page photogravure and half-tone plates. Printed on deckle edge paper. 2 vols., crown 16mo, cloth, $3.00.

The Garden of Persia
By LOUISA STUART COSTELLO
A collection of all the best in Persian literature, including such classics as the "Rubaiyat" and other works of Omar, and the works of Attar, Jami, Sadi, Hafiz, the Sufis, etc. This is one of the most beautiful gift books ever published.
With 12 full-page illuminated designs, in gold and colors, and with each text page in decorative rubricated borders, reprinted from the 1845 edition, with added matter and an essay by Joseph Jacobs.
Full crushed morocco cover design in gold, 16mo, $4.00.

ART LOVERS' SERIES

Eight volumes, beautifully illustrated in photogravure and half-tone reproductions from the great masters. Each volume contains from thirty to fifty full-page illustrations and is printed on deckle edge paper, bound in red, blue or white cloth, with decorative cover design in gold and color. Price, per volume, 12mo, $2.00. Boxed in two, four or eight volume sets as desired.

TWO NEW VOLUMES
SHAKESPEARE IN ART
By SADAKICHI HARTMANN
and
HEROINES OF THE BIBLE IN ART
By CLARA ERSKINE CLEMENT
PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED
MADONNA IN ART — By Estelle M. Hurll, M. A.
CHILD LIFE IN ART — By Mary Knight Potter
ANGELS IN ART — By Clara Erskine Clement.
LOVE IN ART — By Joseph Lewis French
SAINTS IN ART — By Clara Erskine Clement.
CHRIST IN ART — By Estelle M. Hurll, M. A.

READ
PHILIP WINWOOD
60,000
ALREADY SOLD

STAGE LOVERS' SERIES

Four volumes, beautifully illustrated, each with twenty-five full-page plates in photogravure and half tone. Printed on deckle-edge paper, bound in cloth, with cover design in gold. Crown 16mo, per volume, $1.50. Boxed in two or four volume sets if desired.

TWO NEW VOLUMES
PRIMA DONNAS AND SOUBRETTES
Of Light Opera and Musical Comedy in America
and
CELEBRATED COMEDIANS
Of Light Opera and Musical Comedy in America
By LEWIS C. STRANG
PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED
FAMOUS ACTRESSES OF THE DAY
By LEWIS C. STRANG

The Flame of Life

(Il Fuoco)
By GABRIELE D'ANNUNZIO.
Author of "The Triumph of Death."
Translated from the Italian by Kassandra Vivaria, author of "Via Lucis."
"The strongest work by this author."—Times
Decorative Cloth, 12mo, $1.25.

Dauntless

A Tale of a Lost Cause
By EWAN MARTIN
Author of "The Knight of Kings Guard."
1 vol., library 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Music Lovers' Series

PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED
Famous Singers of To-Day and Yesterday
AND
Famous Violinists of To-Day and Yesterday
By HENRY C. LAHEE
Great Composers and Their Work
AND
The National Music of America and Its Sources
By LOUIS C. ELSON
Each 1 Volume, decorative cloth, $1.50.
SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE.

Illustrated Gift Books

Amusements of Old London
By W. R. BOULTON
Being a survey of the sports and pastimes, tea gardens, and parks, playhouses, and other diversions of London from the seventeenth to the nineteenth centuries. Limited edition, with many illustrations, sixteen of which are colored by hand. 2 vols., imperial octavo, cloth, 400 pages, $12.00.

A History of Steeplechasing
By WILLIAM C. A. BLEW
With many illustrations, by Henry Aiken, twelve of which are colored by hand. Edition limited to two hundred copies. 1 vol., imperial octavo, cloth, 400 pages, $10.00.

"Old London" and "A History of Steeplechasing" are companion volumes and are exceedingly handsome books, the hand colored illustrations being of particular value and interest.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY, PUBLISHERS, BOSTON.

PHILIP WINWOOD 60,000 PHILIP WINWOOD 60,000 PHILIP WINWOOD 60,000

BOOKS RECEIVED.

Up to and including Thursday afternoon:

HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY.

OLD VIRGINIA AND HER NEIGHBORS. By John Fiske. Illustrated, with portraits, maps, fac similes, contemporary views, prints, and other historic material, in two volumes. 8vo. Pp. xxxi.-398. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. $8 for two volumes.

THE FAR EAST. Its History and Its Question. By Alexis Krausse. Eight maps and five plans. 8vo. Pp. xiv.-372. New York: E. P. Dutton & Co. $6.

THRILLING DAYS IN ARMY LIFE. By Gen. George A. Forsyth. Illustrations. 12mo. Pp. 196. New York: Harper & Brothers. $1.50.

A HISTORY OF BRITISH INDIA. By Sir William Wilson. Volume II: "To the Union of the Old and New Companies Under the Earl of Godolphin's Award." 8vo. Pp. 419. New York: Longmans, Green & Co. $5.

THE HISTORY OF COLONIZATION. From the earliest times to the present day. By Henry C. Morris. 8vo. Pp. xxiv.-259. In two volumes. New York: The Macmillan Company. $4 for two volumes.

THE TRANSIT OF CIVILIZATION FROM ENGLAND TO AMERICA IN THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY. By Edward Eggleston. 8vo. Pp. ix.-345. New York: D. Appleton & Co. $4.50.

FAMOUS AMERICAN BELLES OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY. By Virginia Tatnall Peacock. Illustrated. 8vo. Pp. xv.-296. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co. $3.

THOMAS SYDENHAM. By Joseph Frank Boyne. Masters of Medicine Series. 12mo. Pp. xvi.-284. New York: Longmans, Green & Co. $1.25.

THE WOMEN OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION. By Elizabeth F. Ellet. Introduction by Annie Hollingsworth Wharton. In two volumes. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. about 400. Philadelphia: George W. Jacobs & Co. $4.

WITH WASHINGTON IN BRADDOCK'S CAMPAIGN. By Edward Robins. 12mo. Pp. 253. Philadelphia: George W. Jacobs & Co. $1.25.

MACAULAY'S ESSAY ON ADDISON. Edited, with introduction, by Albert Perry Walker. 18mo. Pp. 102. Illustrated. Boston: D. C. Heath & Co. 25 cents.

MACAULAY'S ESSAY ON MILTON. Edited, with introduction, by Albert Perry Walker. Pp. 146. Illustrated. Boston: D. C. Heath & Co. 25 cents.

THE GREAT MASTERS IN PAINTING AND SCULPTURE. Edited by G. C. Williamson. Luca Della Robbia. By the Marchesa Burlamacchi. 12mo. Pp. xv.-126. London: George Bell & Son. New York: The Macmillan Company. $1.75.

MEMORIES OF THE TENNYSONS. By the Rev. H. D. Rawnsley. 12mo. Pp. xiv.-252. Glasgow: James MacLehose & Sons. New York: The Macmillan Company. $2.25.

NEW EDITIONS.

THE GOLDEN LEGEND; OR, THE LIVES OF THE SAINTS. As Englished by William Caxton. Vol. VII. The Temple Classics. 24mo. Pp. vi.-291. New York: The Macmillan Company. 50 cents.

DON QUIXOTE OF THE MANCHA. Retold by Judge Parry. Illustrated by Walter Crane. 8vo. Pp. xi.-243. New York: John Lane.

THE BOOK OF KING ARTHUR AND HIS NOBLE KNIGHTS. Stories from Sir Thomas Malory's Morte D'Arthur. By Mary Mcleod. Introduction by John W. Hales. Illustrated. 8vo. Pp. xxviii.-417 London: Wells Gardner, Darton & Co., Paternoster Buildings.

THE FRIENDLY YEAR. Chosen and rearranged from works of Henry Van Dyke. By George Sidney Webster. 18mo. Pp. viii.-184. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. $1.25.

THE TEMPTATION OF FRIAR CONSOL. A Story of the Devil, Two Saints, and a Booke. By Eugene Field. 12mo. Washington: Woodward & Lothrop.

SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER. A Comedy. By Oliver Goldsmith. With drawings by E. A. Abbey. 12mo. Pp. 222. New York: Harper & Brothers.

RELIGION AND SCIENCE.

JESUS CHRIST AND THE SOCIAL QUESTION. An Examination of the Teachings of Jesus in Its Relation to Some of the Problems of Modern Social Life. By Francis Greenwood Peabody. 12mo. Pp. viii.-373. New York: The Macmillan Company. $1.50.

A LIFE OF ST. JOHN FOR THE YOUNG. By George Ludington Weed. 12mo. Pp. 259. Philadelphia: George W. Jacobs & Co. 75 cents.

MAN AND THE SPIRITUAL WORLD. As Disclosed by the Bible. By the Rev. Arthur Chambers. 12mo. Pp. 289. Philadelphia: George W. Jacobs & Co. $1.25.

THE OXFORD BOOK OF ENGLISH VERSE. 1250-1900. Chosen and edited by A. T. Quiller-Couch. 12mo. Pp. xii.—1,034. New York and London: Henry Frowde.

THE AGE OF FAITH. By Amory H. Bradford. 12mo. Pp. viii.—306. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. $1.60.

THE CLERGY IN AMERICAN LIFE AND LETTERS. By Daniel Dulany Addison. 12mo. Pp. xi.—400. New York: The Macmillan Company. $1.25.

FAVORITE SCRIPTURE TEXTS OF FAMOUS PEOPLE. Including interesting facts and incidents concerning texts, with brief accounts of famous Bibles. By Frederick Barton. Isaiah, lv., 11. 12mo. Pp., 272. New York: F. M. Barton, publisher, 1,031 Temple Place.

SELECTIONS FROM THE BIBLE. For use in schools. Arranged by John G. Wight. 16mo. Pp., 293. New York, Cincinnati, and Chicago: American Book Company. 40 cents.

THE INFLUENCE OF CHRIST IN MODERN LIFE. Being a Study of the New Problems of the Church in American Society. By Newell Dwight Hillis. 12mo. Pp., xiv.—416. New York: The Macmillan Company.

FACTS AND FABLES IN PSYCHOLOGY. By Joseph Jastrow. 8vo. Pp., xvii.—375. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. $2.

FIRST PRINCIPLES. By Herbert Spencer. Sixth edition. 12mo. Pp., xviii.—550. New York: D. Appleton & Co. $2.

THE LIMITATIONS OF LEARNING AND OTHER SCIENCE PAPERS. By Albert Schneider. 12mo. Pp., 100. Chicago: Chicago Medical Book Company.

PEACH LEAF CURL: Its Nature and Treatment. By Newton B. Pierce. 8vo. Pp., 204. Washington: Government Printing Office.

FORWARD MOVEMENTS OF THE LAST HALF CENTURY. By Arthur T. Pierson, D. D. 12mo. Cloth. Pp. 439. New York and London: Funk & Wagnalls Company. $1.50.

PRINCIPLES OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION. A Course of Lectures Delivered under the Auspices of the Sunday School Commission of the Diocese of New York. Introductions by Right Rev. Henry C. Potter. 12mo. Pp. xx.-292. New York: Longmans, Green & Co.

ECHOES OF WISDOM; OR, TALMUDIC SAYINGS. With Classic, Especially Latin, Parallelisms. By G. Taubenhaus. Part I. 18mo. Pp. 100. Haedrich & Sons's Print. corner Jay and Johnson Streets, Brooklyn, N. Y.

HEROINES OF THE BIBLE IN ART. By Clara Erskine Clement. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. 361. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. $2.

SPRINGTIME FLOWERS. Easy Lessons in Botany. By Mae Ruth Norcross. With illustrations. Pp. 91. New York: Silver, Burdette & Co. 36 cents.

ELEMENTARY ANATOMY, PHYSIOLOGY, AND HYGIENE. For Higher Grammar Grades. By Winfield S. Hall. 12mo. Pp. 273. Illustrated. New York, Cincinnati, and Chicago: American Book Company. 75 cents.

TRAVEL AND DESCRIPTION.

TRAVELER TALES OF SOUTH AFRICA; or, Stories Which Picture Recent History. By Reseklah Butterworth. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. x.-328. Boston: Dana Estes & Co. $1.50.

RAMBLES IN COLONIAL BYWAYS. By Rufus Rockwell Wilson. In 2 vols. 16mo. Pp. about 240. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott Company. $2.

GLIMPSES OF THE GRAND CANYON OF ARIZONA. By Henry G. Peabody. Long 4to. Kansas City: Fred Harvey.

WOOINGS AND WEDDINGS IN MANY CLIMES. By Louise Jordan Miln. Illustrated. 8vo. Pp. xx.-317. Chicago: Herbert S. Stone & Co. $2.50.

MY INDIAN QUEEN. Being a Record of the Adventures of Sir Charles Verrinder, Baronet, in the East Indies. By Guy Boothby. 12mo. Pp. 322. New York: D. Appleton & Co. $1.

IN OLD ROSEAU. Reminiscences of Life as I Found It in the Island of Dominica and Among the Carib Indians. By William S. Birge. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. 105. New York: Isaac H. Blanchard Company.

ODD BITS OF TRAVEL WITH BRUSH AND CAMERA. By Charles M. Taylor. Illustrated by author. 12mo. Pp. 357. Philadelphia: George W. Jacobs & Co. $2.

PARIS IN ITS SPLENDOR. By E. A. Reynolds-Ball. In 2 vols. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. about x.-354 per vol. Boston: Dana Estes & Co.

POETRY.

MILTON'S MINOR POEMS. Edited, with introduction and suggestions for study, by Albert Perry Walker. 18mo. Pp. 196. Illustrated. Boston: D. C. Heath & Co. 25 cents.

AMONG THE FLOWERS. Selections from the standard poets. Illustrated in colors. 24mo. Pp. 105. Boston: Dana Estes & Co. 75 cents.

AMONG THE BIRDS. Selections from the standard poets. Illustrated in colors. 24mo. Pp. 119. Boston: Dana Estes & Co. 75 cents.

FICTION.

RITA. By Laura E. Richards. Illustrated. 16mo. Pp. 246. Boston: Dana, Estes & Co.

THE MILLS OF THE GODS. By Louise Snow Dorr. 12mo. Pp. ix.-369. New York: A. S. Barnes & Co. $1.

THE HOOSIERS. By Meredith Nicholson. 12mo. Pp. xi.-277. New York: The Macmillan Company. $1.25.

AT ODDS WITH THE REGENT. A Story of the Cellamare Conspiracy. By Burton Egbert Stevenson. 12mo. Pp. 364. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott Company.

A CHAMBERMAID'S DIARY. By Octave Mirbeau. Translated from the French by Benjamin R. Tucker. 12mo. Pp. 457. New York: Benjamin R. Tucker. $1.25.

A CAPTIVE OF WAR. By Solon Hyde. 12mo. Pp. 339. New York: McClure, Phillips & Co. $1.

THE DOGS OF WAR. A Romance of the Great Civil War. By Edgar Pickering. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. 343. London and New York: Frederick Warne & Co. $1.50.

LOVE OF COMRADES. A Romance. By Frank Mathew. 12mo. Pp. 242. New York and London: John Lane.

THE CARDINAL'S ROSE. A Novel. By Van Tassel Sutphen. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. iii.-271. New York: Harper & Brothers. $1.50.

LESSONS IN LOVE. By Katrina Trask. 12mo. Pp. 137. New York: Harper & Brothers.

LADY HANCOCK. A Story of the American Revolution. By Mary Elizabeth Springer. 12mo. Pp. vii.-267. New York: Isaac H. Blanchard & Co.

L'HASA AT LAST. By J. MacDonald Oxley. 12mo. Pp. 262. Philadelphia: American Baptist Publication Society. $1.25.

FOES IN LAW. By Rhoda Broughton. 12mo. Pp. 226. New York: The Macmillan Company. $1.50.

THE SUBSTITUTE QUARTERBACK. By Eustice Williams. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. 213. Boston: Dana Estes & Co. $1.25.

THE MANTLE OF ELIJAH. A Novel. By I. Zangwill. Illustrated by Louis Loeb. 12mo. Pp. 458. New York: Harper & Brothers. $1.50.

ST. KILDA. By Norman Heathcote. Illustrated. 8vo. Pp. xiii.-239. New York: Longmans, Green & Co.

IN THE ALAMO. By Opie Read. 12mo. Pp. 306. Chicago and New York: Rand, McNally & Co.

A PLUCKY GIRL. By Laura T. Meade. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. viii.-390. Philadelphia: George W. Jacobs & Co. $1.25.

LORDS OF THE NORTH. By A. C. Laut. 12mo. Pp. 442. New York: J. F. Taylor & Co. $1.50.

GRISELDA. By Basil King. 18mo. Pp. 333. Chicago: Herbert S. Stone & Co. $1.25.

THE INN OF THE SILVER MOON. By Herman K. Viele. 16mo. Pp. 198. Chicago: Herbert S. Stone & Co. $1.25.

BOOKS FOR YOUNG.

THE BOOK OF DRAGONS. By E. Nesbit. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. x.-290. London and New York: Harper & Brothers.

AN ALTERNATE FOURTH READER. Stickney. 12mo. Pp. vii.-374. Boston: Ginn & Co.

OUR TURN. Polio. Baltimore: H. L. Washburn & Co.

THE GIRLS OF BONNIE CASTLE. By Isola L. Forrester. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. vi.-277. Philadelphia: George W. Jacobs & Co. $1.25.

DIMPLE DALLAS. The Further Fortunes of a Sweet Little Maid. By Amy E. Blanchard. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. 12mo. Pp. 194. Philadelphia: George W. Jacobs & Co. $1.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE ENGLISH CONSTITUTION. The Central Figure of the New Under Sell. By Ira N. Hollis. 12mo. Pp. x.-263. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. $1.50.

MANUAL OF PATRIOTISM. For Use in the Public Schools of the State of New York. Authorized by act of the Legislature. Compiled, arranged, and edited under the direction of Charles R. Skinner, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Folio. xvi.-470. Published by editor, Albany, N. Y.

SEED THOUGHTS FOR PUBLIC SPEAKERS. By Arthur T. Pierson. 12mo. Pp. 361. New York and London: Funk & Wagnalls Company. $1.50.

MADAME THERESE. By Erckman-Chatrian. Edited for school use by C. Fontaine. 12mo. Pp. 191. With map. American Book Company, New York, Cincinnati, Chicago. 50 cents.

FORTUNE HUNTERS OF THE PHILIPPINES; or, The Treasure of the Burning Mountain. By Louis Charles. 12mo. Pp. iii.-214. New York: The Mershon Company. 50 cents.

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA. Being a List of Books, Maps, and Newspapers, including Articles in Magazines and Other Publications to 1898. Prepared for the Columbia Historical Society by Wilhelmus Bogart Bryan. 8vo. Pp. iii.-209. Washington: Government Printing Office. 1900. (Paper.)

ANGEL'S WICKEDNESS. A True Story. By Maria Cozelli. 16mo. Pp. 54. New York: Walter R. Beers. 75 cents.

OUR AMERICAN HASH. A Satire in Prose and Verse. By John M. Dagnall. Illustrated. 8vo. Pp. 11. New York: Published by the author.

LOVE IS IN THE STOMACH, NOT THE HEART. By John M. Dagnall. 16mo. Pp. 93. Brooklyn: Published by the author.

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED PROSPECTUS FOR 1901.

RUDYARD KIPLING'S

KIM

A Great Novel of Life in India
As Entertaining as Robinson Crusoe
A Literary Landmark of the XIX Century

BEGINS SERIAL PUBLICATION DECEMBER McCLURE'S

THIS is the matured fruit of the author's genius—the result of his life's observations and study. In it the mysterious East is brought before the Western mind as never before. It is rich in local color and in all respects an illumination of an old and picturesque land and people. The stage is crowded with all sorts and conditions of men and women. It is a story of adventure as entertaining as Robinson Crusoe. The wanderings of an Irish lad and an ancient Lama form the framework of the tale; but the Secret Service of India—the Great Game—furnishes the details of a most mysterious and fascinating narrative.

$1.00 a Year

S. S. McCLURE CO
197 East 25th Street
New York City

10 Cents a Copy

DECEMBER Number Contains Extraordinary Features.

AMERICAN WIT AND HUMOR. In Two Volumes. A Collection from Various Sources Classified Under Appropriate Object Headings. 18mo. Pp. about 240 per volume. Philadelphia: George W. Jacobs & Co. 50 cents per volume.

TAXPAYER'S ACTIONS. To Redress Municipal Wrongs Under the Laws of the State of New York. By John C. Thomson. 12mo. Pp. 200. Albany: H. B. Parsons, $2.

ROOF FRAMING MADE EASY. By Owen B. Maginnis. 8vo. Pp. 52. New York: Published by the author.

CONSTRUCTIVE WORK. A Sequence of Lessons in Paper and Cardboard. By F. Robert Bartsch. 8vo. Pp. 100. Normal School Publishing House. Chicago: F. R. Bartsch.

WHAT A NEW YORK TROOPER SAW OF THE WAR. By Charles Fuller. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. 39. Paper. New York: A. Mackel & Co. 25 cents.

THE BIOGRAPHY OF A BABY. By Milicent Washburn Shinn. 12mo. Pp. 247. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. $1.50.

THE MAJESTY OF CALMNESS. Individual Problems and Possibilities. By William George Jordan. 12mo. Pp. 54. New York: The Fleming H. Revell Company. 30 cents.

JOHN DREW AS RICHARD CARVEL. A Dramatization of Winston Churchill's novel of the same name. As produced at the Empire Theatre, New York. Folio. Published under the authorization of Mr. Charles Frohman. New York: R. H. Russell. Paper.

HARRIET HUBBARD AYER'S BOOK. A Complete and Authentic Treatise on the Laws of Health and Beauty. Including Many Carefully tested Formulas, &c. Illustrated. 8vo. Pp. 543. New York: The Home Topics Book Company.

STATE COMMISSION IN LUNACY. Eleventh Annual Report. Oct. 1, 1898, to Sept. 30, 1899. Transmitted to Legislature March 15, 1900. 8vo. Pp. x.-701. Albany: James B. Lyon.

THE SPIRITUAL SIGNIFICANCE: or Death As An Event in Life. By Lilian Whiting. 18mo. Pp. vii.-393. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.25.

CABOT BIBLIOGRAPHY. With An Introductory Essay on the Careers of the Cabots. By George Parker Winship. 8vo. Pp. iii.-180. New York: Dodd, Mead & Co.

SOCIETY OF MAYFLOWER DESCENDANTS IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK. Second Book. 8vo. Pp. 179. New York: The Society of Mayflower Descendants.

CHEFS D'OEUVRE OF THE EXPOSITION UNIVERSELLE. By Walter Saglio and Champlier. Folio. In five parts. Philadelphia: George Barrie & Son. $1 per part. Paper.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE FACTORY INSPECTOR OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK. For the year ended Nov. 30, 1899. 8vo. Pp. 888. Albany: James B. Lyon, State Printer.

THE DAY'S WORK SERIES. Ten Volumes. Dole's "Noble Womanhood," Sarah K. Bolton's "Every Day Living," "The Man Who Kept Himself in Repair," Fisher's "Principles of Colonial Government," Twing's "The Youth's Dream of Life," "God in His World," Jordan's "The Strength of Being Clean," Lucia M. Knowles's "If Ye Love Me," "Wells's "Done Every Day," Parton's "The Wisdom of Washington." 12mo. Pp. about 30 per volume. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. 56 cents per volume.

WHERE DWELLS THE SOUL SERENE. By Stanton Kirkham Davis. 12mo., Pp. 230. New York: Alliance Publishing Company.

HINTS FOR HOME READING. A Series of Papers on Books and Their Use. By C. D. Warner, H. W. Mabie, E. E. Hale, Lyman Abbott, Joseph Cook, J. B. Perkins, M. F. Sweetser, and others. Edited, with Introduction, by Lyman Abbott. With which is included a Book-Buyer's Guide and Book Record. 12mo. Pp. 230. New York: Charles L. Bowman.

INTERNATIONAL LAW. By F. E. Smith. The Temple Primers Edition. 24mo. Pp. xviii.-164. New York: The Macmillan Company. 40 cents.

STRAIGHT SHOTS AT YOUNG MEN. By Washington Gladden. 12mo. Pp. 51. New York: T. Y. Crowell & Co. 25 cents.

PRAKTISCHER LEHRGANG FUR DEN UNTERRICHT DER DEUTSCHEN SPRACHE. Von Hermann Schulze, vor. Direktor des Instituts fur Sprachen zu New York. 12mo. Cloth. Pp. 208. New York: William R. Jenkins. $1.

DOWN AMONG THE CRACKERS. By Rosa Pendleton Chiles. 8vo. Pp. vi.-328. Cincinnati: The Editor Publishing Company.

PROVERBS IMPROVED. In twenty-four colored pictures. By Grace A. May, with verses written round them by Fred Eric Chapman. Small oblong 4to. Pp. 203. New York: John Lane. 75 cents.

QUEEN FLORADINE OF FLOWER LAND. By Mrs. Cora Simmes Ives. 32mo. Pp. 46. New York: William H. Young & Co. 25 cents.

FRESH BAIT FOR FISHERS OF MEN. By Louis Albert Banks. Containing 600 illustrations from current events; suitable for sermons, &c. Mark 1, 17. 12mo. Pp. 251. Cleveland, Ohio: F. M. Barton.

PICCALILLI. By Edith Farmiloe. Oblong 4to. Pp. 127. New York: E. P. Dutton & Co. $3.

FARMER BROWN AND THE BIRDS. By Frances Margaret Fox. Illustrated. 12mo. Pp. 72. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. 50 cents.

Edward Bellamy's "Duke of Stockbridge."*

The "Duke of Stockbridge" was written by the late Edward Bellamy, well known as the author of "Looking Backward," which, on its publication many years ago, attracted considerable attention from its unique presentation of the practical results of the co-operative social system. Although the "Duke of Stockbridge" was already partly in manuscript before the publication of "Looking Backward," the author concluded to withhold its publication until he had given to the public the latter work, as the former was simply a novel, and its depth of meaning would only be perceived by the few. Meanwhile he died, leaving to other hands the final touches he had promised himself to bestow upon it.

While the "Duke of Stockbridge" possesses all the charm of romance under the hand of a skillful writer, it reveals in vivid colors the condition of the people and country in Northwestern Massachusetts, (now known as Berkshire,) subsequent to the conclusion of the War of the Revolution, until the adoption of the Constitution in 1787, and the trials and hardships to which the yeomanry of the country were subjected. Wild and extravagant notions of liberty, however, and the power of the people to oppose the action of the law, led to the assembling of large bodies of men from different towns, who, after voting their own constitutionality, and assuming the name of the people, arrayed themselves against the Legislature and detailed at great length grievances by which they claimed to be oppressed. The hostility was most active against taxes, the compensation promised the officers of the army, and the administration of justice by the courts of law. We cannot, however, better make clear the grievances under which these towns were suffering than by quoting a few paragraphs from the introduction, written by Francis Bellamy, the editor.

Trade had not revived. We were producing little that the outside world wanted. We were sending our gold abroad with ruinous balances, for our imports were three times greater than our exports, consequently the small amount of gold in the country had left the interior for the seaports, and from there it rapidly sailed away. The paper money was not worth anything. Most transactions were in the exchange medium of farm products; the editor of The Worcester Spy took subscriptions in salt pork; in Virginia tobacco was the chief medium, and in North Carolina whisky. When the ground was fertile and the forest almost free, families might not have to starve and shiver even under such conditions. But needs and tools had to be bought, and specie was the ultimate charge. Most of all, taxes had to be paid, and pork and hay could not be accepted by the Government. During these years the annual tax of Massachusetts amounted to $200 per family, more money than the average farmer or mechanic saw in two years. The chief industry, therefore, was the law; the courts were concerned in emptying farmers' houses under foreclosures, and in filling the jails with good men who could not pay their debts—unless, indeed, their creditors gave them the privilege of working out their debts on account, in virtual serfdom.

The people of the Berkshires upon whom this burden fell most heavily endured this condition of affairs until it could be borne no longer, then revolted, organizing to the number of several thousand, and defied the Constitutional powers. Northampton, Stockbridge, and the Barringtons were the first towns to act. Court proceedings were estopped, the jails opened, and their unfortunate inmates, who had been cast there chiefly for non-payment of balances due on foreclosed mortgages, were liberated.

The deliverers started back or stood transfixed before the ghastly withered figures which confronted them as they rose from their pallets of straw. So ghastly a travesty on their former hale and robust selves had sickness and sunless confinement made almost all the prisoners that not even brothers recognized their brothers.

The uprising, however, was soon quelled; Gov. Bowdoin raised 4,000 militia, placed them under command of Gens. Lincoln and Sheperd, and hotly pursued the insurgants; at length, with the loss of a few killed, and several prisoners, they were dispersed, their leaders driven out of the State, and this formidable rebellion of Shay was quelled.

It is this first rebellion that made the subject of Mr. Bellamy's charming romance, and so closely is it confined to historical facts, authenticated by personal research, that it may be received as a truthfully woven record not only of the rebellion, but of the condition of the people and country at the time of which he treats. Moreover, he has retained the names of the old settlers, the descendants of which are so well known to this generation, and the forcible and expressive dialect and pithy sayings of the farmers still to be heard in the back country add much to the quaintness of the romance. As this section of the country has now become one of fashionable homes for New Yorkers, the book under notice will be found of unusual interest. The book contains the usual love story of romances, but space forbids more than its mention. It is well printed on heavy paper, beautifully and tastefully bound, with four effective illustrations. To those familiar with the beautiful, historic lands of the Berkshires, "The Duke of Stockbridge" will be read with unfaltering interest and pleasure.

J. W. H.

*THE DUKE OF STOCKBRIDGE: A Romance of Shay's Rebellion. By Edward Bellamy, author of "Looking Backward." 18mo. 12mo. New York, Boston, Chicago: Silver, Burdett & Co. $1.25.

John Brown and the Slavery Question.

J. SOLOMON GAINES, Boston, writes:

"In a letter to THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW of Sept. 29, Eugene L. Didier of Baltimore seems nettled by my letter of Sept. 8. His reply was intemperate in tone, indiscreet in language, and illogical in reasoning. In the language of a well-known Boston author, I desire to tell E. L. Didier that this is a 'manhood country,' and that the cultured and progressive American honors manhood, by whomsoever it is displayed, with no thought of color. Since 1865 over 350 books have been published in which the 'sum of all villainies,' slavery, is denounced. To-day the enlightened public is informed of the blissful state and the unexampled 'good treatment' of the negro during his bondage. What England's political and legal giant (Burke) confessed his inability to do, Mr. Didier does with one stroke of his pen. He draws an indictment against all of the descendants of the former slaves, or, in other words, against the whole race. The modern negro feels that abstruse argumentation is not needed to refute such jargon, and leaves E. L. Didier to the mercy of his silence. Theodore Parker, Frederick Douglass, John Brown, and Gerrit Smith have so blended their personalities with the reform movements in this country that it is impossible for the cultured and catholic-minded American to think of the movements without thinking of these men. Didier's vilification and slander to the contrary notwithstanding. No human structure, however grand the same may be, can contain these noble specimens of humanity.

"When the 'halls of fame' shall have crumbled to decay, yea, when the slanderers of the honored dead shall have gone the way of all the earth, 'unwept, unhonored, and unsung,' the deeds of these men, stars of the first magnitude, will illumine the pathway of a grateful posterity."

The New English Government.

From The London Shipping World.

Lord Stowell was said to be so penurious and so fond of shows, says The Daily News, that he would go to any exhibition he could see for a shilling. Under these conditions he saw a blue snake and a yellow snake and tendered his coin at the door of a green snake. But the showman had a conscience, and this fidelity was too much for him. "My Lord," he said, I can't deceive so good a customer. It's only the yellow snake repainted." Lord Salisbury has no such compunction in dealing with that very old customer, the British public. He has given his Cabinet a new coat of paint.

LATEST BOOKS.

Another Illustrated Omar.*

In a volume the illustrations of which, including designs for cover, cover lining, borders, full-page drawings, and other decorations, are the work of a new illustrator, Florence Lundborg, who first became known to us by delightful poster work for the short-lived but famous little magazine, The Lark, comes another edition of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam.

Miss Lundborg, who is a California girl, has been for some time a student at the Whistler Academy in Paris, and is said to have given several years to a study of this great Persian poet and philosopher; the result of such work being shown in her illustrations and decorations to the present edition.

Miss Lundborg's illustrations are all in line drawings, her full-page pictures varying very much in their success. The caryatid borders to the lives of Edward FitzGerald and Omar Khayyam, as well as to the notes, are all very successful both in design and execution, as is her charming design for the cover lining, printed in black, on a rich but dark-brown paper. The occasional small vignettes and the vine and grape border surrounding the table of contents are also very good; but the volume's title-page is distinctly poor, both in its design and in its lettering. The cover design can hardly be called effective, while the book's greatest defect lies in its excessive weight, due probably to the heavy, glossy paper on which the volume is printed, doubtless with a view to the illustrations coming out well.

In the full-page drawing illustrating the quatrains, Miss Lundborg's work is very uneven. Leaving out of the question all beauty of design and execution, about which there may be a great difference of opinion, in so many instances the illustrations seem to have so little real connection with the quatrains printed on the same pages that they assume—no matter how well designed or executed—the character of mere decorations. Again, however, where the connection is close, such as the drawing illustrating quatrain lviii., "An angel shape bearing a vessel on his shoulder," the result is very good in every way; while best of all is "The angel of the darker Drink," which is fine in design and execution, as well as in its close connection with the text. The crouching figure illustrating "The moving finger writes" is not at all effective, the face entirely lacking the stern, sad dignity, the unalterableness, which we are accustomed to associate with this quatrain. On the whole, in fact, the book will be a great disappointment to those who had hoped much from it, the drawings being too much after the fashion of the Aubrey Beardsley school, while lacking the hall mark of his unmistakable genius and power.

The very fact that the present volume's chief claim to special attention lies in these illustrations, brings it into comparison with the only other illustrated edition of any importance, that containing Vedder's beautiful drawings illustrating his conception of these Rubaiyat. Indeed, the publishers challenge this comparison when they announce that Miss Lundborg's illustrations to the present edition bid fair to take a place not very far below Vedder's, whose work on the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam it would be extremely difficult to approach.

The typography of the book is the work of Messrs. John Wilson & Son, at the University Press of Cambridge, and is very good in every way, the type being pleasing and the effectiveness of the page, and especially of those on which the text is set within Miss Lundberg's charming caryatid borders, being unusually good. The paper, however, is entirely too thick and too highly calendared for beauty. The text is printed on one side of the pages only, which are bound double and not intended to be cut, the book being the heaviest one for its size, a small quarto, we have ever seen.

The volume contains, first of all, an interesting sketch of Edward FitzGerald, written by Michael Kerney, and first published in America in the Houghton & Mifflin edition of 1888. As is well known, Mr. Kerney was a well-known bibliographer, then in the employ of Bernard Quaritch, and this little sketch, although perfectly familiar to Omarians now, gave the world in general its first definite knowledge of FitzGerald, the man, the circumstances which led to his translation of the quatrains, their first publication, apparent failure, and subsequent strong growing popularity. This sketch is followed by Justin Huntly McCarthy's familiar poem to Omar Khayyam, "Omar, dear Sultan of the Persian Song," succeeded in turn by the far less well-known "Glose Upon a Ruba'iy," by Porter Garnett, written upon the quatrain, "A book of verses underneath the bough," both of which are in specially designed borders, not nearly so good, however, as Miss Lundberg's charming caryatid borders.

Next follow the quatrains themselves, in all but one or two instances three to a page, set in a central panel, which is on a much larger one containing the illustrations. The notes come next, followed by FitzGerald's sketch of Omar Khayyam, which completes the text of the present edition, there being no bibliography or new additional matter of any kind.

The volume contains about 125 pages and 41 full-page drawings, accompanying the text of the quatrains, as well as borders for the rest of the volume's contents. The book is published in two editions—the ordinary cloth-bound issue and an edition de luxe, limited to 250 impressions, printed on imperial Japan paper, each copy being numbered and bound in silk, subscribers' names being registered and numbers allotted as their orders are received, the price of this special edition being $10 per copy.

*RUBAIYAT OF OMAR KHAYYAM: The Astronomer Poet of Persia. Rendered into English Verse by Edward FitzGerald. With drawings by Florence Lundborg. New York: Duxey's. At the Sign of the Lark. 1900. $5

Eugene Field's "The Temptation of Friar Gonsol."*

The beautifully made edition of Eugene Field's "The Temptation of Friar Gonsol; A Story of the Devil, Two Saints, and a Booke," just issued by Woodward & Lothrop of Washington, D. C., must make a strong appeal not only to all Field collectors, but to bibliomaniacs generally, who alone can thoroughly appreciate the finely satiric but kindly humor that could make possible such a sketch. A sketch, too, which could only have been written by a man previously afflicted with the disease of bibliomania, a malady which usually is only increased by the efforts made to curb it. This little story is evidently written by the same hand that gave us "The Love Affairs of a Bibliomaniac," and, above all, "The Bibliomaniac's Prayer," wherein Field, after fervently praying to be kept from all temptation, adds that if he must fall, let it be for sake of a prize so rare that > Whereon when other men shall look,

> They'll wail to know I got it cheap.

This delightful little sketch was written for the "Sharps and Flats" column of The Chicago Daily News, but for some reason was never published. The "galley proof" of it, however, headed "Sharps and Flats," and bearing Field's corrections in pencil, passed in some way into the possession of a Washington bibliophile, Mr. Frank Hauvey, through whose courtesy the present book appears.

The sketch has already been issued in two editions, one of which bears the imprint of F. M. Morris, whose Chicago bookshop owes much of its fame to Field, and who also published the charming little edition of Field's "Auto-Analysis."

It is an open secret that the two friars are well-known clergymen, whose names are too familiar to us to need mention here, who, with others, including Field himself, made fameus the old "Saints and Sinners" corner of McClurg's. A great rivalry existed between these men for the possession of prizes great and small; Field, when in the depths of poverty, sometimes inserting a humorous verse, somewhere between the covers of a coveted edition, begging or ordering all book lovers to pass it by until he could "collect doubloons."

It is probable that most Field lovers possess this sketch in some form, but the present edition is particularly noteworthy for its typography and general appearance; its type, paper, and initials being extremely good, while the rubricated running titles and the very clever use of red lettering, standing alone, for the most striking phrase, or two or three words in each page, most of which are of bibliophilic import, should make this edition an essential feature of every Field collection.

The book contains a reprint of the original galley proof, with its many corrections, and several illustrations, including a most satisfactory portrait on Japan paper, from a crayon made by a member of Mr. Field's own family, and a two-page reproduction of a personal letter, written in 1882 by J. L. Schlanders, who represented The New York Herald in the Whitechapel murders and mysteriously disappeared. The letter was written at Munich, and contains clever sketches of the tourists, of which the city was full, and an interesting caricature of Field, "as I see him in my mind's eye," which its creator said was the result of two minutes' work.

The book is bound in white vellum, stringtied, hearing a clever cover design by Felix Mahoney, cartoonist of The Washington Star, and is issued in two editions, 300 numbered copies, at $3 net, and 10 on Japan vellum, with initials printed in water colors, at $10 per copy.

*THE TEMPTATION OF FRIAR GONSOL. A Story of the Devil, Two Saints, and a Booke. By Eugene Field. 12mo. Portraits and illustrations. Not paged. Washington, D. C.: Woodward & Lothrop. 1900. $3 net.

College Songs.*

Almost every American university and college has its own particular songs. Some of them are published in annual editions. A comparison between the various editions of the same institutions is interesting. We find that although there are new songs produced every year there is a constant sifting process going on, and a song must be very popular indeed and have genuine staying qualities that appeal to the student nature at all times in order to have the hall mark of permanency attached to it. A collection of songs which have stood the test at various colleges have been collected and published under the title of "Songs from All Colleges." It is a volume of the representative student songs of American educational life. The words and music are printed upon heavy half-tone paper, and the letter-press is all that could be desired. For the American man and woman who would again be brought into close touch with their student days this book forms a most inspiring companion. The editors are to be congratulated on their choice; they have left no chord in the student's life untouched that is capable of response.

*SONGS OF ALL COLLEGES. Words and Music. With cover design. Quarto. New York: Hinds & Noble, $1.50.

New Books For the Deep Thinker

Christianity in the 19th Century

By Geo. C. Lorimer, D.D., pastor of Tremont Temple, Boston. 12mo, 652 pages. Price, $1.70 net, postage extra. An impartial review of the leading events in the history of Christianity during the last hundred years.

"Dr. Lorimer is at his best in this inspiring and helpful volume."—Public Opinion.

Public Worship

By T. Harwood Pattison, D. D. 12mo, 205 pages. Price, 90 cents net, postage extra.

"We do not know any other book which discusses this lofty theme with such wisdom, earnestness and practical suggestiveness. * * * Inspiring not only to the preacher, but to every thoughtful reader."—The Examiner.

Christ in Creation

By Pres. Augustus H. Strong. 520 pages. Price, $1.90 net, postage extra. A number of important and suggestive papers, chief among which are the title article and that on "Ethical Monism."

"It is a quickening volume to have lying on the study table."—The Standard.

CHRISTMAS BOOKS

Dickey Downy

By Virginia S. Patterson. 192 pages. Price, 45 cents net, postage extra. Containing a great deal of information about our common birds. Beautifully illustrated with colored pictures of birds and studies in black and white.

"It will interest both old and young and make a delightful gift."—Presbyterian Journal.

A Wind Flower

By Caroline Atwater Mason. 290 pages. Price, 75 cents net, postage extra. Beautifully decorated, cloth binding, uncut edges, gilt top.

"One of the strongest stories of this or any other year. It is a story of great tenderness and extreme pathos, yet without one note of weakness."—Art Education.

A Prisoner in Buff

A New Historical Story

By the well-known writer, Everett T. Tomlinson. Author of the "Ward Hill Books." 12mo, 276 pages. Ten half-tone illustrations. Price, 90 cents net, postage extra.

"Of thrilling interest and real historic value, this splendidly illustrated volume will hold the reader's attention from beginning to the close."—New York Press.

All of the new books of all publishers advertised in this paper or elsewhere for sale at popular prices.

American Baptist Publication Society

Headquarters Philadelphia | New York House 182 Fifth Ave

Poor and Rich Jews.*

The story of modern Jewish life need not be dramatic. It is not in the character of the subject, if the writer of the romance be a Jew, that the idealistic will ever be found wanting. A certain spirituality always pervades the stories of Jewish existence. There are the higher and the purer lights which illumine this peculiar fiction. Mr. Samuel Gordon, in the "Sons of the Covenant," presents two Jewish mothers. Mrs. Lipcott, a poor widow, lives in the London slums. She has barely bread enough for her two sons, Leuw and Philip. Her own wants she forgets. On the other hand there is the well-to-do Mrs. Duveen, who is the most kindly and charitable of women. The fussy Mrs. Diamond, who is Mrs. Lipcott's neighbor, makes the widow's sad condition known to the wealthy woman. All the personages are Jews. Mrs. Lipcott has never made any appeal to charity. She is too proud for that. She is then astonished when Mrs. Duveen calls on her and proffers assistance. Finally Philip is adopted by Mrs. Duveen. The boy has an intense desire for learning. His adopted mother, who calls herself his aunt, sends him to school, and finally Philip enters Cambridge. His career has been a notable one. He has so far secured all the honors. The elder brother, Leuw, is of another disposition. He is a born fighter, anxious to struggle with the world. He is so straightforward and honest that he wins over the heart of an old man who is a London toy maker. Christopher Donaldson, who lost a leg in the Crimea, never forgets that he owes his life to the devotion of a Jewish comrade who bore him off wounded from the field of battle, and how this Jew, Syd Mitchell, faced death so as to save his comrade. Old Christopher has a kindly feeling toward all Jews, and even finds resemblances between the Scot and the Jew. In time the boy is taken into partnership by the old soldier. The business has improved very much through Leuw's energy and honesty. No son could be more loving than is Leuw, for Christopher is ailing. The senior of the firm of Donaldson & Lipcott, dies, and Leuw is the heir to the old man's small estate. Leuw having provided amply for his mother, retaining but a pittance for himself, goes to Africa, and entering into a land speculation there, amasses a large fortune. Then he returns to London. Where Mr. Gordon has shown his skill is where he dwells on the love of Philip's own mother and of Mrs. Duveen for the lad.

Philip has graduated with the highest honors. He has made up his mind to devote his attention to the amelioration of his people. The plan of an institute enters his mind. His brother Leuw, who has ample means, promises his help. Then Philip is offered the candidacy of a place in Parliament. His chances of success are good. He is near to accepting the candidacy, when the failure of a bank impoverishes Mrs. Duveen. Phil was to have married Effie Elkin, a wordly young lady, who was ambitious to have for husband an M. P. Leuw, who has entered body and soul into the plan of the institute, certainly regrets Philip's entrance into politics. Philip of his own accord gives up the chances of a seat in Parliament and returns to his institute. The author intertwines his text with two pretty love episodes. The moral inculcated in this romance is of the highest. These vital questions which occupy the attention of the Jews at the present moment are all treated in a philosophical manner. Irrespective of creed, Mr. Samuel Gordon's romance may be read with advantage. The hopefulness of the story is one of its strongest points.

*SONS OF THE COVENANT. A Tale of the London Jewry. By Samuel Gordon. Illustrated by Mark Zangwill. Philadelphia: The Jewish Publication Society.

Beautiful Gift Books.

THE FOUR EVANGELISTS. Illustrated in Classic Art. Edited by RACHAEL A. LA FONTAINE. With 135 illustrations. Crown Octavo, embellished cloth, $2.00; full gilt edges, $2.50; limp seal, $3.50.

This beautiful volume will appeal to Churchmen and all lovers of art. The text is a devotional and sympathetic sketch of the life of each Apostle. The illustrations are handsome reproductions of more than one hundred masterpieces which relate to the lives of the four Evangelists.

THE MADONNA IN LEGEND AND HISTORY.

By Mrs. ELIZABETH C. VINCENT. Illustrated with ten reproductions in half-tone of famous pictures depicting the life of the Virgin Mary. Small quarto, in beautiful white and gold, (boxed,) $1.50.

This handsome book is especially appropriate for the Christmas season. The Bible story of the Virgin Mary and the legendary lore of all Christian people concerning the Madonna are told in a way that is fascinating as well as helpful and instructive, while the beautiful illustrations crown the volume as a work of art.

HISTORIC CHURCHES OF PARIS.

By WALTER F. LONERGAN. Illustrated by Brinsley S. Le Fanu and from photographs. Quarto, (7½x10¼ inches,) combination cloth, gilt top, (in slip box,) $4.50 net.

"A splendid volume. * * * The text brings home vividly the most striking episodes in French history, and the book, while dealing with facts and replete with technical details, is as interesting as a romance."—The Guardian.

CATHEDRALS OF ENGLAND.

Edited by CANON FARRAR. 2 vols., octavo, bound in half vellum, purple and gold, with Florentine wrappers, (boxed,) $5.00.

The shapely form of the volumes, together with their literary and art value, make it a most desirable set for libraries or for presentation to cultured men and women at Christmas time.

THOMAS WHITTAKER,
2 & 3 Bible House. New York.

2 PHIL MAY NOS. 2 BEGINNERS' NOS. 2 MEISSONIER NOS. 1 XMAS NO. All for 50 Cents.
THE ART STUDENT,
132 W. 23d St.

A Romance of the East.*

As far as may be understandable, Mrs. Flora Annie Steel's "The Hosts of the Lord," is representative of the combat ever raging between the two "great supernaturalisms of the world; the one which has held the West, the one which has held the East." The action begins in the City of Esh-dwarra, some Indian centre of population under British control. There is to be the opening of a new canal planned by the English engineers. Two sacred rivers are to be joined, and this the natives think is an act of impiety. The author writes of dandy English staff officers, pretty women, and lordly Commissioners. Familiar as is the writer of this story with Hindu words in common usage in India, their comprehension by the ordinary reader is fairly difficult. The heroine is Miss Laila Bonaventura. She is of mixed origin. There is some mysterious connection between her and the Catholic priest Father Narayan, whose real name is Ninian Bruce. Vincent Dering is also a Catholic. In the British service there is the splendid Roshan Khan. Roshan Khan is in some respects almost an Englishman. He is well up in all the sports the officers indulge in. As a fencer he has no equal. It is Father Narayan who has taught him, for the old priest is still past master of the art of the foil. Still there are some feints and attacks which the priest has not imparted to his pupil, especially one, which the good father calls "L'Addio del Marito." Under the veneer of European manners Roshan is a savage. He is in some way related to Laila. The girl loves the airy Capt. Dering. In a fit of jealousy Roshan shoots Laila. Then the padre fights a duel with his pupil Roshan. The good father certainly has not taught his native pupil everything, for he runs through the murderer, by means of the famous "L'Addio del Marito." The romance describes the peculiar fanatics of the Far East and the constant strife between the natives of differing religions.

*THE HOSTS OF THE LORD. By Mrs. Flora Annis Steel. New York: The Macmillan Company. $1.50.

Irish Fairy Stories.*

As Seumas MacManus acts as mouthpiece for the old Gaelic shanachies, our sincerest thanks are due to the man of the moment and the story teller of the remotest past for so many delightful tales. And did you ever know what a "plaisham" was? There was Prince Connal, who got everything in reason he asked for, such as a grand castle, with gronnds and real birds and trees, and a river flowing past them all, but then he was not satisfied, but wanted a "plaisham," and to his sorrow he got that, too, and with it there was an end of the castle and its fine surroundings. "The Amadan of the Dough" is a fine and heroic story. That King's son is such a grand fighter! When Amadan falls to and faces the many giants, then they make "the rocks into pebbles and the pebbles into gravel and the gravel fell over the country like hailstones." Amadan's marriage "lasted nine days and nine nights. There were nine hundred fiddlers, nine hundred fluters, and nine hundred pipers, and the last day and night of the wedding were better than the first." "The Snow, the Crow, and the Blood" is a weird story, for the devil plays a part in it. The Princess of the East may be said to be fairly in love with the devil. However, Jack, the son of the King of Ireland, quite converts this somewhat benthenish Princess. Jack does it in orthodox manner. He breaks nine blackthorns over his wife's back, but the application of the tenth is not necessary, for all the devils that had held the Princess in their sway had been driven out. The story of the "Old Hag" teaches the necessity of kindness to animals. If only a bottle of "iochslainte" was obtainable today, what a panacea it would be for all troubles mental and physical!

The Realm of Nature.*

We entirely sympathize with the ornithologist who translated "Felix qui potuit rerum cognoscere causas," "Happy the man who knows the names of the birds." To possess exact knowledge of almost anything is agreeable, and to possess a knowledge of what we most inexactly term "nature" is peculiarly agreeable because it lends so much zest and interest to the time we spend out of doors, and also tends greatly to increase that time, thereby pumping additional ozone into us and freshening our bodies. The man with whom we do not sympathize is he who condescends to us with a "holier-than-thou" manner because he knows the habits of the stone chat and does not know how to play billiards. Still less engaging is the man who is complacent because he has been looking at a sunset or a lichen while we have been wasting our time at a theatre or in an art gallery. Mr. Abbott shows a slight tendency toward this disconcerting attitude of mind. He is sorry that he ever heard of a city, and he reflects that the croaking bullfrog of the marsh is better by far than the wordy ignoramus of the town.

He says he would rather know the reason the leaves of the skunk cabbage are mottled than know how to earn a dollar. He asks—anxiously, but not enviously—if the world is "always so much more wonderful elsewhere than at home?" He is impatient if not scornful of the tales of science. "Better fancy's wild ideal," he says, "than a too prosaic story," and he tells us that he has known a small gathering of the unimaginative to yawn more than they talked at the end of the hour. A really startling remark, he adds, "would have shaken the furniture as might an earthquake," but he does not tell us whether he tried it or not. In bold defiance of Shelley worshippers, he demands: "Who hath writ a worthy ode to a breath of fresh air?" He anticipates any possible criticism of the paucity of facts concerning the outdoor world to be found in his book by inquiring how we are to recognize facts as such, and how, when one is acquired, we are "to draw from it its full significance?"

Dickens and Thackeray in Small Volumes.*

There is something radically new in these little volumes, each of which is only 4¼ by 6¼ inches in size, and not thicker than an ordinary monthly magazine. The type is as large as that employed in the common library editions of standard works, but the paper is very thin, measuring about 1,000 pages to the inch. That is the secret; the texture of the paper is so fine that the letter-press does not show through the leaves. Each volume weighs less than eight ounces, and can be conveniently carried in a side pocket. Whether for the library or for constant usefulness and pleasure these editions should appeal to all book lovers. The works of Thackeray are divided as follows: "Vanity Fair," "Pendennis," "The Newcomes," "Henry Esmond," "The Paris Sketch Book," &c., "The Book of Snobs," &c., "Burlesques, The Fitzboodle Papers, The Fatal Boots," "Men's Wives, The Bedford Row Conspiracy," &c., "The Virginians," "The Adventures of Philip," "Catherine, Lovel the Widower," &c., "Barry Lyndon, Roundabout Papers," &c., "Miscellaneous Essays, Sketches, and Reviews," and "Contributions to Punch," &c.

Here is the arrangement of titles in the Dickens set: "Pickwick Papers," "Nicholas Nickleby," "Oliver Twist and Sketches by Boz," "Old Curiosity Shop," "Martin Chuzzlewit," "Barnaby Rudge," "Dombey and Son," "David Copperfield," "American Notes and A Child's History of England," "Bleak House," "Hard Times; Pictures from Italy and Christmas Books," and "Little Dorrit." It is interesting to add that the complete works of Sir Walter Scott will shortly be presented in the same form.

Australian Aborigines.*

The aborigines of Australia have received curiously little attention from ethnologists and linguists. In the other portions of the British Empire the natives have received much more consideration in every way than have the Australian savages. The Rev. John Mathew's book attempts to collect and make accessible in convenient form the knowledge now possessed of the life and civilization of these fast-disappearing tribes. Mr. Mathew first discusses the origin of the Australians and gives his views of this disputed question as follows: "Australia was first occupied by a people, a branch of the Papuan [Tasmanian] family, and closely related to the negroes. They came from the north. * * * Then followed one invasion, if not two, by hostile people. The un-Papuan element now discernible in the Australian race is not the trace of one pure race, but is composite, the constituents being Dravidian and Malay blood. Of these the Dravidian was the first to arrive, the Malay coming later, and in a desultory way by detachments at irregular intervals. * * * The different batches of invaders may have had different landing places. It will be conclusively shown in this volume that the main stream of population entered Australia on the northeast and crossed in a southwesterly direction." Mr. Mathew proves from facts of physiology, mythology, implements, customs, and language that the aborigines of Australia were Papuan, and that they were the ancestors of the Tasmanian race so recently extinct.

The manners and customs of the Australians as described by Mr. Mathew are most interesting, and often show parallel developments to similar habits in widely separated parts of the world. Marriage is sometimes by capture from neighboring tribes and sometimes by abduction. The latter form, which is practiced by uncivilized nations in many countries, consists in the man's carrying the girl off while her relatives pursue in crowds threatening the abductor with dire vengeance. The whole proceeding is, however, arranged by both parties beforehand, and the pursuit is in reality only feigned.

The chapter on "Art" among the natives of Australia is an important contribution to our knowledge of primitive art, and incidentally of the origin of writing. The sending of messages by means of sign writing on sticks is a custom which is very common among savages. The art of the Australians consists for the most part of rude imitations of the forms of men and of the more familiar animals. Some of them are executed in color. One of the most remarkable was found in Queensland. "The picture is seventy feet across. It is said to represent a lake of fire, out of which are stretched life-size dusky brown arms in hundreds, in every conceivable position, the muscles knotted, and the hands grasping convulsively, some pointing a weird finger upward, others clenched as if in the agonies of death."

But the most important, although not the most interesting part of the book is the second half on the Australian languages. This is by far the most noteworthy study of the subject which has been made, and the results are worthy of attention. The fundamental principle of word structure is agglutination, thus showing a relationship to the Turanian family of languages. Modifications are made by post-positions, preformatives, and sometimes by included particles. Genuine internal vowel inflection is not found. The phonic systems embraces all the pure vowels, and also "umlanted" vowels. Mr. Mathew appends to his work a valuable comparative table of words found in the various dialects of Australia.

Hans Christian Andersen.*

On general principles it is usually a good rule to skip introductions. Nine cases out of ten they either show the egotism of the author or that of a kind friend who suffers himself to be known as the introducer. A tenth case, however, is now before us. A new translation of Andersen's "Fairy Tales" is introduced by Mr. Edmund Gosse. Mr. Gosse achieves the honor with much grace and with a charming familiarity with his subject. He knew the author more or less intimately, and one of the most interesting features of the introduction is part of an interview had from the aged Danish conteur by the English littérateur. We learn that at a certain time Mr. Andersen did not sit down, as many other story tellers have, and write off tales that at once became popular. He probably spent as much time on a brief tale of 10,000 words or so as many authors spend upon an am-

*DONEGAL FAIRY STORIES. Collected and Told by Sumas MacManus. New York: McClure, Phillips & Co.

*IN NATURE'S REALMS. By Charles Conrad Abbott. With ninety drawings by Oliver Kemp. Trenton, N. J.: Albert Brandt. 1900. $2.50.

*THE NEW CENTURY CLASSICS. Works of William M. Thackeray in 14 volumes. Works of Charles Dickens in 12 volumes. New York: Thomas Nelson & Son. Cloth, gilt edge, per volume, $1; leather limp, gilt, frontispiece, book mark, $1.25; library edition, crushed levant boards, frontispiece, book mark, $1.50.

*EAGLEHAWK AND CROW. A Study of the Australian Aborigines, Including an Inquiry into Their Origin and a Survey of Australian Languages. By John Mathew, M. A., B. D. Pp. xvi.-288. London: D. Nutt. New York: New Amsterdam Book Company. 1900. $5.50.

*FAIRY TALES. By Hans Christian Andersen. With illustrations by Hans Tegner. Introduction by Edmund Gosse. Quarto. Pp. 500. New York: The Century Company. $5.

(Continued on Page 902.)

13 EXQUISITE HOLIDAY GIFTS

Payable 50 cents down and 50 cents per month for eleven months.

ALL FOR $6.00

In Easy Payments.

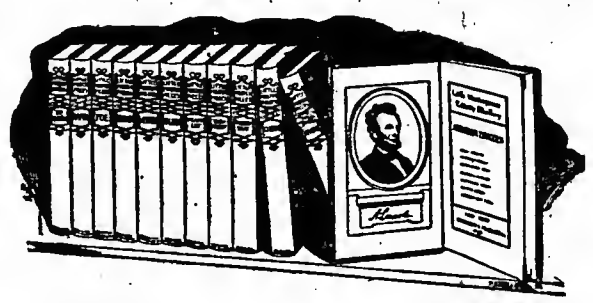
The REVIEW OF REVIEWS

FOR ONE YEAR, VALUE $2.50

TOGETHER WITH 12 EXQUISITE VOLUMES OF LITTLE MASTERPIECES, VALUE 8.00

$10.50

Any one of which makes a tasteful and charming gift for Christmas.



The Little Masterpiece Library is edited by PROFESSOR BLISS PERRY, formerly Professor of English Literature in Princeton University, now Editor of The Atlantic Monthly. It is no hastily selected compilation for an ephemeral sale. The Editor has chosen, with the greatest care and conscientiousness, those CHEFS D'OEUVRES of the greatest English-speaking writers which are of such beauty and value as to be at the foundation of English culture.

SELECTIONS

In the Masterpiece Library.

POE . . . . Fall of the House of Usher—Ligeia—The Cask of Amontillado—The Assignation—MS. Found in a Bottle—The Black Cat—The Gold Bug.

IRVING . . . Rip Van Winkle: Legend of Sleepy Hollow—The Devil and Tom Walker — The Voyage — Westminster Abbey — Stratford-on-Avon—The Stout Gentleman.

WEBSTER . . Adams and Jefferson—Reply to Hayne.

HAWTHORNE . . . . Dr. Heidegger's Experiment—The Birthmark—Ethan Brand—Wakefield—Drowne's Wooden Image—The Ambitious Guest—The Great Stone Face—The Gray Champion.

THACKERAY . . The Book of Snobs—Roundabout Papers—Ballads.

LINCOLN . . . Speeches — Letters — "Lincoln's Lost Speech."

FRANKLIN . . Autobiography — Poor Richard's Almanac—Selected Essays—Letters.

CARLYLE . . . Essays—Life of Sterling—The French Revolution—Cromwell. Letters and Speeches—Sartor Resartus—Past and Present.

MACAULAY . . Essays—History of England.

RUSKIN . . . . The Two Boyhoods—The Slave-Ship—The Mountain Gloom—The Mountain Glory—Venice: St. Mark's—Art and Morals—The Mystery of Life—Peace.

LAMB . . . . The Two Races of Men—New Year's Eve—Imperfect Sympathies—Dream Children: A Reverie—A Dissertation Upon Roast Pig—On Some of the Old Actors—Detached Thoughts on Books and Reading—The Superannuated Man—Old China—Letters.

DE QUINCEY . . The Affliction of Childhood—Confessions of an English Opium-Eater: The Pleasures of Opium, The Pains of Opium—On the Knocking at the Gate in Macbeth—The English Mail-Coach: Going Down With Victory, The Vision of Sudden Death—Levana and our Ladies of Sorrow.

Each volume has an Introduction by BLISS PERRY.

Yet how many people can say that they have thoroughly assimilated, or even hastily read, every one of these immortal works.

The binding and printing of the volumes are beautifully executed. The size and shape so convenient that the books fairly invite the reading that every intelligent American would want to have as a part of his or her intellectual culture. Each volume, bound in handsome red cloth, contains a really fine and artistic photogravure frontispiece of the celebrated writer whose masterpiece it contains.

A more charming addition to a library, one that will be REALLY READ, or a more tasteful Christmas gift—or twelve Christmas gifts, for the volumes are not numbered—could not be imagined

The publishers of the Masterpiece Library have sold it at the rate of $8.00 for the 12 volumes, and have claimed it was at that rate an exceptional bargain.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS.

Under Dr. Albert Shaw's editorship The Review of Reviews has come to be considered "indispensable" by thinking Americans. It has monthly—

1. Dr. Shaw's comprehensive, impartial history of the current month.
2. Important contributed articles to the amount of an ordinary magazine.
3. The gist of the other notable magazines and reviews of five continents.
4. "Current History in Caricature," "A Record of Current Events," "The New Books," and other always valuable departments.
5. An average of over a hundred timely pictures to the number.

The regular price for The Review of Reviews one year, and The Little Masterpiece Library, is $10.50, and it is an exceedingly low price. By cutting out the coupon below and sending it with 50 cents in stamps, postal note, money order, or currency you will receive The Little Masterpiece Library in its entirety at once, also The Review of Reviews throughout 1901, and the balance of the payment can be completed by sending 50 cents a month for eleven months.

If you desire to make a cash remittance, $5.75 will close the transaction.

REVIEW OF REVIEWS, 13 Astor Place, New York.

Gentlemen:—Please send The Review of Reviews for one year to

.....

.....

and 12 volumes of "Little Masterpieces" to

.....

.....

For which I enclose 50 cents and further agree to pay 50 cents per month for eleven consecutive months after receipt of same.

Address THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS CO., 13 Astor Place, New York

LATEST BOOKS.

(Continued from Page 901.)

bitious novel. His work as we have it today, in subject matter, form, and style, is the crowning achievement of many experiments, much deliberation, and not a few failures and half failures, which in literature are usually worse than failures.

Everybody is familiar with these stories told with so much human sympathy, but we wish to say a few words more about this particular edition, which is presented in large, handsome type and illustrated by the author's fellow-countryman, the well-known artist, Hans Tegner. The originals of the pictures, which represent eleven years of faithful labor, were exhibited last Summer at the Paris Exposition; possibly before the Winter is over they may be exhibited in New York. The pen-and-ink sketches are reproduced in half-tone fac similes, in the volume before us, while the wash-drawings are engraved on wood. Hans Christian Andersen's "Fairy Tales" is perhaps the most noteworthy children's classic in existence, and in the form in which it is now offered to the English-speaking public it has a new and charming meaning for its early readers, now grown old, while for the present generation of little ones it presents each old story in a setting that cannot fail to render child life brighter, happier, and more susceptible of refining influences.

A New Edition of Webster's.*

Dr. William T. Harris, United States Commissioner of Education, assisted by an able corps of specialists, has provided a supplement to Webster's International Dictionary consisting of 25,000 additional words, phrases, and definitions. Webster's is a practical work, and it has often been wondered why, as supplements have succeeded one another, new words have not at once found place in the body of the book. The reason is this: Before a word can permanently take its place in a language it must be submitted to several tests. Is it of general usage? Is it modern? Is it likely to endure? Is it English, or may it become so? Customs and thought, to say nothing of mechanical devices, are undergoing a constant change. Words disappear and new words take their place, and the word "permanency" in lexicography has many and varied phases. Hence the aim of the present supplement to Webster's International Dictionary has been to gather the verbal additions to the language during the past decade, and to set them forth in the same manner that words which have long since become permanent are set forth in the body of the book. According to the editor's scheme, as explained in the preface:

In the form and style of the supplement the body of the work has been strictly followed. It is believed that the definitions are clear and concise, and well worthy of the praise which it has been the good fortune of Noah Webster's definitions to merit and receive. Especial pains have been taken to avoid that besetting sin of lexicographers, the resorting to mere synonyms as definitions, with the omission of specific differences, in order to secure conciseness and save labor. But synonyms lead out from one word to all others, making every word the equivalent of all—just as every lane leads into some road and each road into all others.

His aims, we believe, have been faithfully carried out with infinite care by all concerned and with consummate scholarship, lending peculiar and emphatic confirmation of the words of Dr. J. A. H. Murray, the great English lexicographer: "Webster, the 'International,' is perhaps the best of one-volume dictionaries." In this statement is also indicated the idea, which very often is not fully appreciated by the student, that Webster's International Dictionary is not so American that the usages and attributes of the mother Anglo-Saxon tongue are readily dismissed simply because they have never gained a firm foothold on this side of the Atlantic. For, whatever else it is, this book is a faithful guide to those English-speaking communities throughout the world, whether they are sheltered beneath the Stars and Stripes or the Union Jack.

The Trent Edition of Balzac.*

As this is a complete edition of "The Comédie Humaine," but not of the works of Honoré de Balzac, one does not expect to find the disjecta membra, the short stories, and the fragments of the incomplete phases of the comedy, or the plays "Vautrin," "Les Ressources de Quinola," "Paméla Giraud," "La Marâtre," and "Mercadet," which, by the way, are very good reading even though, with one or two exceptions, they never obtained any standing as dramas; but enough of "The Comédie Humaine" is reproduced to show the general scope of this prodigious work as well as particularly to invite English readers to study some of the masterpieces of this great French writer, who, as some one has said, was "an artificer who builded like a giant and finished like a jeweler."

As is well known, what Buffon actually achieved in zoology Balzac sought to accomplish in contemporaneous sociology. His scheme was enormous, covering every phase of French life in every grade of society—urban, suburban, and rural. He had performed about two-thirds of his task when death took him. The edition before us is in many ways a worthy specimen of American bookmaking. The translations, although the work of separate minds, are uniformly good and in several cases elegant both in scholarship and accuracy. Of course, the special feature of the edition is the editing, with comprehensive introductions presented, by Prof. William P. Trent of Columbia University, which covers several important points. Each introduction is preceded by a bibliographical paragraph containing a résumé of the history of the story in the volume (most of Balzac's stories have very interesting chronicles outside of themselves) then follow all necessary data concerning the characters, and then comes a series of critical estimates, together with extracts from Balzac's own estimate of his work as it appeared in his lettera to Mme. Hanska, and finally the editor's own analysis of the story in hand. In the first volume is a long general introduction or biographical sketch. There are, too, a comprehensive bibliographical note setting forth the general and detailed scheme of the "Comedy" in all its departments and a "Note on the Order of Reading the Comedy." And so, taken all in all—translations, editing, illustrations, and letterpress—the edition before us gives a more thorough presentation of the "Comédie Humaine" and its meaning than has yet been made accessible to the larger part of the American reading public who are unacquainted with the author's own language.

Mr. Harben's Georgia Sketches.*

In glancing over the contents of a magazine there has always been pleasure in finding the title of a story by Mr. Harben, and those who have now and then had such an enjoyment will be glad to see ten tales gathered from various periodicals into a permanent and congenial association.

These brief sketches deal chiefly with the poorer whites, who are tenderly and sympathetically delineated, nor is the occasional negro less lovingly handled. There are glints of humor in the situations and the portraitures, but this quality is less conspicuous than the pathos, which, however, never culminates in tragedy.

Historically considered, "A Humble Abolitionist" is of peculiar interest, as giving the unique attitude of the "quality negro" to the poor white. We are not sure, however, that Mr. Harben has been equally successful in the converse of his portrayal, for, to this day, no people so cordially hate the negro as do those whites of the South who never owned any. In ante-bellum times it was from their ranks that the harshest overseers were obtained, and these are they who, generally speaking, compose the mobs of lynchers, and in whom race prejudice is always strongest. "A Humble Abolitionist" gives a very original situation, and might well have been expanded into a more elaborate study. There was room, too, for even more humor than Mr. Harben has put into this tale of a very black "white elephant."

The other stories we find more commonplace, although all are naturally and pleasantly told.

The dialect is not invariably written "as she is spoke," but the lapses into English will not raise an objection in the minds of a much-dialected public.

At any other period we might say that we see no imperious call for giving such slight sketches the importance of a cover and a criticism, but nowadays it is conceded that all wielders of the pen, save editors and reviewers, must collect their "works" into the form of a book; and this is certainly a kindly and a wholesome one, an agreeable companion for a solitary hour.

A Tramp's Story.*

The tramp of Mr. Crawford's book is not of the kind so thoroughly exploited by Mr. Flynt. He is the born vagrant, the child of homeless parents, born in a snowdrift, reared—if reared it can be called—like the birds and hares. The setting is English, and the story is told in the dialect of the English vagrant. It gives an almost incredible picture of hardships endured—a mother tramping in the snow with a babe of twelve hours in her arms, for example—and withal a tender portrayal of the unplumbed depths, the inextinguishable quality of mother love. It shows, too, another universal sentiment, its touch of romance.

The illustrations from photographs are of peculiar interest. If, however, these represent real vagrants, they are better dressed, in better physical condition, altogether more comely, than one would have supposed possible. The frontispiece is a reproduction of "The Vagrants," by Fred Walker. As one admires the touching and beautiful group, one affectionately recalls "little Billee"—too soon forgotten.

We must confess that the book fails to command the interest which it really seems to deserve. Perhaps its inevitable monotone of sadness makes it somewhat weary reading. It is one of the many books that would have gained greatly by compression.

With Mr. Flynt's tramps in mind, it is pleasant to read and to copy Mr. Crawford's dedication: "To a family of tramps, met with in a wild place, from whom I received more unselfish kindness than I have known before or since."

Paul Dunbar's New Romance.*

In "The Love of Landry" Mr. Dunbar takes a new departure, leaving his well-known Dixie folk of both races and introducing his readers to a young woman of New York society and her relatives, an aristocratic young Englishman, and college-bred cowboy. With these dramatis personæ, Mr. Dunbar has written a pretty little romance, fresh and healthful, with Colorado as its setting. The incidents and the conversations are alike interesting, and in the latter are to be found some mighty wise words on the vexed question of "expansion," and of the war in the Philippines. Among other good things, thus speaks the cowboy, when told that he would have made a fine soldier: "I don't know that I should want to be. I know it isn't heroic, but I don't know that those fellows, brave as they may be, who are out there fighting a lot of half-naked savages, are doing any more for ultimate good than we who are here, fighting the hard conditions of nature. I like a fight, but there are fights and fights, and I'd rather know that this irrigation ditch that I'm digging is going to make the land better, and a lot of people happier, than to feel that I was carrying a cartridge belt full of civilization to folks that didn't want it."

Upon the whole, however, the story is more conventional than Mr. Dunbar's former work; there are old well-worn situations, albeit cleverly handled, and it is to be hoped Mr. Dunbar will not forsake his own province for one which he must share with many other writers of romance.

Flynt's "Itinerant Policeman."*

The value of Mr. Flynt's data of sociology is well established. A thorough diagnosis of a disease must precede the remedy. It is pitiful to reflect upon the enormous waste of money and energy resulting from empirical methods in the treatment of the maladies of the body politic. We are slowly learning the lesson, greatly, divinely, taught nineteen hundred years ago, that to save man, or any class of men, there must be that knowledge of the need which comes from sharing the life of the humanity we fain would help. Mr. Flynt made himself a hobo with the hohoes, and revealed the tramp in all his phases. He cannot make himself a criminal with the criminals, but to be first a tramp and then an "itinerant policeman" is to come as near looking at the world through the criminal's eyes as an honest man may.

This little volume will be full of interest to the merely curious reader, taking him into a world more alien and strange than any created by imagination. To the student of criminology, to the man who has to deal practically with crime, it must needs be simply invaluable. It demolishes cant and sentiment with a ruthless hand. The lily-of-the-valley method of reformation would be singularly ineffective applied to the tramps and criminals with whom Mr. Flynt has associated. As Tolstoi discerned with the intuition of genius, and portrayed in "Resurrection" with his masterly touch, the fallen are not, as the virtuous fondly fancy, under a chronic "conviction of sin." They have a world, a society, a code of their own. They justify themselves in their own eyes, and, modeling their syndicates of crime upon the "trusts" of the commercial world, they are deluded enough to regard the one as moral as the other. Professional thieves are "the talent" to themselves, and there is an aristocracy of vice and of hegging. Moreover, the criminal and the tramp are born Iagos. "They are victims of the passion for indiscriminate criticism." What chance has the Church or any form of philanthrophy against such an attitude as this? The tramp, as well as the criminal, "considers himself a being apart from the rest of the world, so far as moral responsibility is concerned. He likes to ponder over the moral obligations of others, and to suggest schemes for a general social regeneration, but he finds it irksome and unpleasant to apply his advice and recommendations to his own existence"—in which, by the bye, he is very like all the rest of the world.

Over Grass-Grown Trails.*

"This, then," (Why "then"?) "is a little book of Western stories by Harry Graves Shedd, of which 500 were printed." Such is the modest "foreword" of the slender volume.

Before opening it one utters a silent thanksgiving for its plain brown array, such a relief from the "freak covers" that crowd our table—impressionist pictures for the most part—that there would be no sin in falling down and worshipping, for surely they represent nothing "that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth." We are grateful that this book has the distinction of an inspired abstinance from an attempt to illustrate its title by writhing "grass-grown trails."

Looking within, we find seven manly little tales set forth with excellent type and paper. We have a notion that they are the first essay of a very young man; and, as our heart has warmed to the cover, so it warms to the simple dedication, "To my mother."

The stories are of unequal merit, a few of them scarcely more than adumbrations of stories. All, however, are very well told. We find "At Dawn of Day," the narrative of a lynching that stopped a lynching, especially admirable. "The Coward" tells an episode of Sherman's march to the sea, and shows the varying points of view which war so tragically brings

*WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY. A New Edition, Containing a Supplement of 25,000 Additional Words, Phrases, and Definitions. Prepared under the supervision of William T. Harris. Pp. 2,364. Illustrated. Springfield, Mass.: G. C. Merriam Company.

*THE WORKS OF HONORE DE BALZAC. Illustrated. With introductions by Prof. William P. Trent. New York: Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. Popular edition in 16 volumes, cloth, $16; library edition, gilt top, cloth, $20; the same, half calf, $40; edition de luxe with 32 photogravures on Japan paper and 96 half-tones, rubricated title pages, 32 volumes, cloth, $40; the same, half calf, $80.

*NORTHERN GEORGIA SKETCHES. By Will N. Harben. In one volume. Pp. 292. 16mo, cloth. Chicago: A. C. McClurg & Co. $1.

*THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A TRAMP. By J. H. Crawford. Illustrated. In one volume. Pp. 328. 12mo. Cloth. London, New York, and Bombay: Longmans, Green & Co.

*THE LOVE OF LANDRY. By Paul Laurence Dunbar. Author of "Lyrics of Lowly Life," "Folks from Dixie," "Poems of Cabin and Field," &c. In one volume. Pp. 200. 16mo, cloth. New York: Dodd, Mead & Co. $1.25.

*NOTES OF AN ITINERANT POLICEMAN. By Josiah Flynt. Author of "Tramping with Tramps." In one vol. Pp. v.-252. 12mo. Cloth. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. $1.25.

*OVER GRASS-GROWN TRAILS. By Harry Graves Shedd. In one volume. Pp. 174. 12mo. Cloth. Lincoln, Neb.: The Klote Publishing Company. $1.

WILDE'S NEW BOOKS

A Daughter of Freedom.

By Amy E. Blanchard. 312 pp. Cloth $1.50.

This book, which completes Miss Blanchard's notable series of Revolutionary stories, equals, if not excels, all the others. It tells about the burning of Norfolk, the downfall of Savannah and Charleston, and the final series of American victories which lead up to the surrender at Yorktown.

The Godson of Lafayette.

By Elbridge S. Brooks. 333 pp. Cloth $1.50.

This latest book by Mr. Brooks treats of one of the most peculiar characters which has ever been noted on our historical pages—Rev. Eleazer Williams, who was possessed with the belief that he was the lost Dauphin of France, son of Louis XVI., and heir to the throne. The book is thrilling in every chapter and is historically accurate.

The Treasury Club.

By William Drysdale. 330 pp. Cloth $1.50.

This book tells how the vast daily business of the United States Treasury is conducted. The young hero of the story, a boy full of strength and determination, out of his own business experiences is able to learn many interesting facts concerning the inside workings of the department. It is a story full of action and stirring life.

The Prairie Schooner.

By W. E. Barton, D.D. 382 pp. Cloth $1.50.

The world-famous Black Hawk War which brought to public notice many men who afterward became famous, such as Abraham Lincoln, Jefferson Davis, and others, is spiritedly described in this splendid book, and one is thrilled by the spirit which pervaded the two young heroes of the tale.

The Pathfinders of the Revolution.

By William Elliott Griffis. 316 pp. Cloth $1.50.

This is a story based upon the famous march of Major General John Sullivan into the then wilderness about Lake Region of New York in 1779. It is a historical tale, rich in Iroquois Indian lore, and treats in picturesque language of one of the formulative periods in Revolutionary history.

With Preble at Tripoli.

By James Otis. 349 pp. Cloth $1.50.

This latest book of James Otis takes up in the most entertaining fashion the causes which led to the war with Tripoli, and recounts the part played by the old ship Constitution in Com. Perry's campaign against the pirates. The historical data are absolutely correct.

Reels and Spindles.

By Evelyn Raymond. 369 pp. Cloth $1.50.

The author in this, her latest book, pictures a young girl who, brought up in an aristocratic old mansion, was compelled to take her place in a mill of her home town. Every reader is greatly moved as he learns how she met her sudden trials but was finally brought to a large success.

The Great-Painters' Gospel.

By Prof. Henry Turner Bailey. Cloth. Price $2.00.

This is a classified collection of pictures on the life of our Lord, for Sunday school teachers and people who are interested in Bible study.

These pictures have been selected and arranged according to the harmony of the Gospels, and grouped in such a way as to facilitate comparisons between the works of various artists.

Select Notes.

By F. N. Peloubet, D. D. 384 pp. A Commentary on the International S. S. Lessons for 1901. Cloth. Price $1.25.

The twenty-seventh volume of this unequaled commentary exceis all the rest in its arrangement, its exposition of the lesson text, and its wealth of pictorial and other illustrations. Its eighteen open-faced clocks, with hands pointing to the exact hour when the greatest events of Passion Week transpired, furnish a striking illustration of the author's ingenuity. No matter whose Lesson Helps you use, you must have Peloubet's Select Notes besides. It stands alone, unequaled, unrivaled, unquestionably the greatest of all helps for studying the International S. S. Lessons.

The Roger Books.

Edited by Anna L. Burns. 10 Vols. Over 400 Illustrations. The Set, $2.50.

Artistic cover, pleasing pictures, clever stories, are all found in The Roger Books. The ten little volumes are attractive to the eye, and even better to read.

Our Illustrated Catalogue will be sent free upon application.

PUBLISHED BY

W. A. WILDE COMPANY, - BOSTON and CHICAGO.

but. "Ashley" is a tender little sketch of how father and son gave a tired mother "one good time." "Love for the People" portrays a much misunderstood President of a State university, and gives an excellent example of the cinp-trap oratory so often employed to turn the working classes against their best friends.

The "five hundred" who read "Over Grass-Grown Trails" will find therein entertainment for the present and good promise for the future.

The Creole Coast.*

Chance, which so often does things well, has put Maurice Thompsen's "Winter Garden" into the hands of at least one reviewer to whom every word of the descriptions is a memory. The low-lying Gulf Coast between New Orleans and Mobile is a region of a unique charm like that of a beautiful face in which gayety and pathos are mingled. Mr. Thompson has felt this "temperament" of the landscape and of the local traditions.

You enter it when, on your southward flight, your railroad train whisks round a sharp curve by the Gulf shore. The first hint of it is a dash of salt in the air; then you catch the shimmer flung from rollicking whitecaps; and presently, far away, in a turquois film, an island comes to view, with a lighthouse, a clump of palmettos, and some mossy live oaks behind its dazzling sand-spit, which cuts the haze and seems obtrusively real in the midst of a dream. * * * Sojourning in such a region one has a sense of vague records upon records stamped in the soil, making it a sort of palimpsest where the old-time roving Spaniard, the daring Frenchman, the buccaneer, the early colonist, and the lordly mid-century planter have each traced his aspirations, and finally his characteristic sign-manual to attest his good faith or his reckless defiance. The women, too, have sketched many a touching paragraph in this curious history. The pansies they lovingly tended so long ago are now found blowing in waste places, dwindled to mere specks of purple and yellow, hardy yet pathetic descendants of a royal ancestry. Nor should it be offensive to remark that somehow the Creoles themselves seem more beholden to the past than to the present for a certain fine charm of spirit and manner. There is, indeed, a mediaeval bouquet haunting the air in the vicinity of every French cottage in the warm, low country. Time works a truly artistic deception by touching with lines of age the roof and walls, the rude fences, and the rickety scuppernong arbors. Surely, you will think, this place, with its gnarled fig trees and its moss-tapestried orange orchard, dates back into the days of chain armor and carved crossbows."

It is neither a carved crossbow nor the long bow of imagination that Mr. Thompson carries with him, but a bow of "fine old yew, richly colored in grain and fibre by long use," as tried and seasoned as his literary gift, perhaps, and as fine as his sensitiveness to his environment. In the first three sketches of the book he mingles landscape, tradition, archery, and bird notes into such a living whole as takes one out of doors, giving, as he hopes in his too-apologetic preface, "a strong trace of the gentle exhilaration caught from exercise in the open air and from those indescribable explosions of freshness felt at sunrise, when the archer's boots are wet with dew and the shore birds are clamoring on a white beach line beyond the marsh." A more distinctly bookish note prevails in some of the succeeding sketches, but it is of books read in the open air and interpreted by the healthful commentaries of woods and sky and sea.

By Quiller-Couch.*

That ghosts might become of monetary value seems to be the dominant idea of certain writers of eerie tales and the holders of séances, when legendary lore and vivid imaginations are employed in literary pot boilers, and weird rappings in evolving entrance fees. But the history of ghosts profitable to humanity, has not yet been fully exploited, though in a clever volume of short stories Mr. Quiller-Couch talks of friendly spirits.

In "The Seventh Man," six sailors, Winter-bound within the Arctic circle, begin to lose heart in the one-roomed hut, where they exist during long weeks of darkness. Madness is creeping upon them when a seventh figure is seen kneeling in the hut as they pray. Immediately courage reanimates the little band; peace descends until the sun shines again, and the long night is over.

"A Pair of Hands" owe their existence to no gruesome murder, but to a sweet child's spirit that enacts a brownie's part, deftly filling vases with flowers, and silently attending upon the tenants of the house that sheltered her in life.

In "The Lady of the Ship" and the "Mystery of Joseph Laquedem," the author strikes a tragic note in relating romances founded upon historical legends.

Like a skilful sculptor, he manipulates a crude idea with a touch here and a pat there; this line deepened, that effaced; and lo! a life-like character stands revealed by the artist's hand.

Particularly charming is "The Lady of the Red Admirals," with the sketch of the willowy girl in a large-brimmed hat, declaiming nonsense on the top of a flight of broken steps of the garden terrace, butterflies (Red Admirals) circling around her in the sunshine.

When Mr. Couch treats of the sea and sea folk, he is a past master of his craft, original and realistic to a photographic degree. "Once Aboard the Lugger" pithily describes the passionate love of a fisherman's daughter for a young minister, and her rough and-ready wooing of him aboard the lugger, whither she has kidnapped him. The influence of the sea and the night envelops them. "When he glanced up, he saw the rime twinkling on her shoulders, and the star shine in her dark eyes; around them, heaven blazed with constellations up to its coping; never had the firmament seemed so alive to him; he could almost hear it breathe, and beneath the stars the little boat raced eastward with the reef points pattering on its tan sails."

"Elisha" and "Oceanus" touch upon sacred subjects, and are handled dramatically. These sketches alone would refute the prediction that the reign of short stories is at an end.

Told by a Lawyer.*

Technically correct and written with a fine appreciation of dramatic incident, Mr. Hill's little collection of stories fills a long-vacant niche in brief fiction. In them we find the whole romance of the law as observed from the sanctum sanctorum of a busy attorney in a large city, from the "desk room" of a young aspirant, and from the bench. Nobody but a lawyer of experience could have written these stories, not because of the firm grasp of material facts revealed, but because the construction of each piece from a literary point of view will bear analysis as to its form. Briefs might be made of them as of forensics. Of course the general public will read these stories for the amusement there is in them, but for the writer of short stories they possess special attraction. The author's method is well worth studying.

Take, for example, "The Finding of Fact." For years Grafton had been trying to have his suit, upon which depends a provision for his old age, brought to trial. But always something intervened. Eminent counsel is employed on both sides, but the plaintiff, in the form of the Milling Companies, always seems able to sway the bench. A young lawyer named Holden finally takes the case; he studies it from top to bottom; from the outside and inside, until he is complete master of the situation. "There was no suggestion of a defense which was not ferreted out and run down by question and answer—no technicality neglected." He at length was able to force the case to a trial. The day of the trial came; he was prepared at every point. It was about to begin when the counsel for the defense addressed the Court as follows:

"I think it only right to say to your Honor that I shall not interpose any defense in this action. The milling companies made an assignment last night, and I only represent the assignee. The gentleman will, of course, take our default, but I should hardly think he would occupy a whole day."

Holden stared silently at the speaker. The familiar scene darkened, faded, disappeared, and flared up in a new light completely transforming it—a strange room with strange people—a stage setting in the white unmasking light of day. A mocking face leered at him from a raised dais—mocking figures elbowed him with impatient scorn—mocking fingers pointed at him with derisive joy.

Sic transit gloria mundi, and after a little while the clerk of the opposing counsel sneered in his ear: "Give you a dime for your judgment!" Then Holden smashed him across the mouth "and was promptly adjudged guilty of contempt of court." The dramatic arrangement of this tale is perfect. But all are interesting, whether the motif be humor, tragedy, or pathos. The titles are suggestive, "Outside the Record," "A Conclusion of Law," "The Burden of Proof," "In His Own Behalf," "In the Name of the People," &c.

Songs of the Old South.*

Miss Howard Weeden, whose "Bandanna Ballads" made such a hit last year, has followed up her first success with a second volume of similar character, issued last week by Doubleday, Page & Co. "Bandanna Ballads" had a very large sale, and the same qualities that made it appeal so earnestly to the heart and imagination are not less evident throughout the present volume. Miss Weeden, in her prefatory note says "these modest songs and pictures, snatched from the fading remnant of a people now nearly passed away, are only valuable because the past is always precious, and only 'beautiful for being old and gone.' They are valuable for much more than that, however—for the pathetic sense that inheres in the fading away of the characters in the drama of the old South's long ago, but also for the transforming quality of Miss Weeden's imagination, which has rescued these survivals of the old plantation and preserved them in their quaint (as we now view it) environment for the benefit of those who will look in vain in the future among the children of emancipation for the qualities that distinguished the darkies of the old South. A tender feeling, sentiment, imagination, love of her land and people, devotion to the high ideals of their civilization, and a thorough comprehension of the quaint and oft-times wayward character of the old-time darky, form the distinguishing qualities of the author's work. She has given us what we have so long needed—the heart of Dixie interpreted by pen and brush working together in complete accord. The faces of her people look out from between her verses with the pathos, the humor, the thousand contradictory traits of the old-fashioned negro, and there is not one of them that does not seem to have stepped bodily out of the old plantation. "Old Watt" is as familiar a figure as his rabbits. "Left Behind," "A Toast," "At Ease," "Dancing in the Sun," "Hush," "Old Miss," "Sitting in the Sun," "Hard Worked," and "At Last" are all little gems, but for a

*MY WINTER GARDEN. A Nature Lover Under Southern Skies. By Maurice Thompson. 12mo. New York: The Century Company.

*OLD FIRES AND PROFITABLE GHOSTS. By A. T. Quiller-Couch. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. $1.25.

*THE CASE AND EXCEPTIONS. Being Stories of Counsel and Clients. By Frederick Trevor Hill. 12mo. Pp. 242. New York: Frederick A. Stokes Company. $1.25.

(Continued on Page 906.)

The Joy of Captain Ribot

BY

Armando Palacio Valdes

Translated from the Spanish by Minna Caroline Smith.

"The publication of this remarkable novel is a shining credit to American enterprise. . . . And it is indubitably one of the best books of the year." —Boston Journal.

"If we have any novelists to compare with theirs at their best I should be puzzled to think of them, and I should like to have any one else try." —W. D. Howells.

"It is full of the joy of life and at the same time one of the most wholesome and artistic stories of the year." —Philadelphia Ledger.

"Capt. Ribot—one of the most cleanly and natural heroes ever made to walk the conspicuous pages of a novel." —Boston Globe.

"In this Spanish novel there is an admirable account of a man's triumph over his possibilities for evil." —Town Topics.

"The ending is exquisitely touching and leaves the reader in a glow of enthusiasm." —Chicago Tribune.

"The charm of the work is indescribable." —Truth.

"It is a story that will charm all." —New York Press.

::: FOR SALE EVERYWHERE :::

12mo. Cloth, - - - - - - - - - - $1.25

Brentano's, 31 Union Square, New York.

A WELCOME GIFT IN ANY HOME

SONGS OF ALL THE COLLEGES

Everyone likes a college song, and this book is an ideal gift to place on the piano for one's friends to enjoy, even though one sings not at all himself.

CLOTH, IN TASTEFUL DESIGN FOR CHRISTMAS OR BIRTHDAY.

ALL the NEW songs—$1.50 postpaid—ALL the OLD songs

AT ALL BOOK STORES AND MUSIC DEALERS

or sent on approval by the Publishers

HINDS & NOBLE, 4-14 Cooper Institute, New York City

Schoolbooks of all publishers at one store

FLASHES OF WIT AND HUMOR

By ROBERT WATERS.

Brief study of best things of brightest minds, good as a comedy of the best sort; containing best repartees, most amusing and humorous utterances of brightest minds, all told in most genial and chatty way; may be taken up at any chapter, at any page; wherever you dip into it you are sure to be interested and amused. Here are the best, bright, brief utterances of Americans and Englishmen, of Irishmen and Scotchmen; of Frenchmen and Germans, of Kings, Queens, Ambassadors, diplomatists; of politicians, lawyers, orators, and authors; of women and children; of physicians and their patients, together with a bright, breesy chapter on after-dinner speaking and speakers.

Practical help for those giving postprandial speeches—suitable for a present.

Cloth, gilt top, 186 pp., price reduced to 75 cts. All bookstores or by mail, postpaid, of publishers.

EDGAR S. WERNER PUBLISHING & SUPPLY CO. (Incorporated.)

49 East 19th St., New York.

HOLIDAY BOOKS.

"Anthony Hope has not conceived a more thrilling or fantastic tale of adventure than

The Princess Ahmedée

(By Roland Champion,) and he has written none more entertaining. The story is full of life, action, and humor, and the interest from beginning to end is intense."
—Chicago Tribune.

Illustrated. $1.25.

"In all the world of art there is nothing as beautiful as good verse. In

Olde Love and Lavender

Roy L. McCardell, in some instances, has woven fabrics as fine and delicate as the dainty texture of old lace. Mr. McCardell's book will pay perusal amply, and no doubt will find its way into the homes of thousands who are fond of good verse."—N. Y. Press.

Decorated boards, $1.25.

GODFREY A. S. WIENERS, 662 Sixth Ave., New York.

LATEST BOOKS.

(Continued from Page 803.)

true picture of darky heaven commend us to "Resting."

No—slavery wasn't bad enough
To make my memory fret,
'Twas only dat I was so drove
I ain't got rested yet.

So when I hears you talk of heaben
An' wings—an' flyin' round—
I sighs an' says, "If het suits God
I'll take heaben sittin' down!

The author's verses are full of the melody of Southern breezes, and the untamed sweetness of the sugar cane flavors the simple, untrained emotions portrayed in them.

The illustrations, too, are truly significant of the race, and the patience, the gentleness, the ignorance, the sadness of these dark faces impress one deeply.

The song entitled "Arabian Nights" is particularly suggestive of the old negro harmonies and their quaint conceits:

De squirrel has a bushy tail,
De 'possum's tail am bare,
De raccoon's tail am ringed all round.
De old hare's tail ain't dere.

All through the book one finds this flow of half-natural, half-whimsical ideas, and you hear in imagination the droning guttural monotone of the old mammy as she rocks the tiny white bundle slowly up on her deep breast, or, after it has reached the girl or boy stage, amuses or overawes the round-eyed youngster with her strange low-voiced music. Still later, the "young missis" listens, half in smiles and half in tender regret, to the crooning of her old nurse—then, as she verges into "ole miss," sees the faithful old spirit of her mammy wing its flight heavenward and leave but a dear patient black shadow in her memory.

The old "mammys" are nearly all dead now. The old musk fragrance of the plantation is forgotten for newer and cheaper perfumes, but when we by accident chance upon a lavender leaf in an old-time garden we enjoy its fragrance far more than the rich perfume of the modern rose.

"Songs of the Old South" is a sunny, old-fashioned garden, of sweet-scented blossoms, through which we wander in happy forgetfulness of this modern work-aday world.

It is daintily bound in old Confederate gray, and Timrod's "cotton ball" upon the front cover welcomes us to the enjoyment of its pages.

Crockett's "Stickit Minister's Wooing."*

Mr. Crockett's fancy has gone far afield since the days of "The Stickit Minister," and, considering the quantity and the variety of his work, it has really been done wonderfully well. We always like him best, however, when he is among his own people, in that homely, everyday life that best exhibits character and characteristics. Such is the life portrayed in this new volume, which is, by the by, singularly misleading in its title, for the pathetic sequel of the stickit minister's denied life is told in a score of pages, the rest of the 367 being filled with more than a baker's dozen of short stories, supposedly told by our old friend, Alexander McQuhirr, M. D., of Cairn Edward, in Galloway, and all being the simple annals of a country community, what we have come to know as "kail-yard" romances.

Of course "de gustibus" holds good in everything, but for our own part, we greatly prefer the kail-yard to the swash-buckler adventure, or the great historic canvas. With all the flaws and limitations of our poor humanity, "real folks" are still the best, and we find "Jaimsie" worth all the Joans that ever boasted of "sword hands" or all the Lochinvars that ever came "out of the west."

Mr. Crockett has told his stories tenderly and well. They are enlivened by many gleams of humor, and by not a little shrewd insight into human nature. The bewildered masculine mind will find, incidentally, valuable light thrown upon certain ways of woman that may have seemed beyond its comprehension, and if the said mind be "gleg in the uptake" it will receive bits of wisdom to be stored for emergencies, and to be acted upon with advantage—see pages 110-111.

The stories are not well divided. It should be made more clear whether the reader is beginning a new chapter or a new tale, but since, having once begun, he is likely to go on and on, that is of the less moment. Each narration will command interest, and each introduces us to the same sort of people Dr. Watson and Mr. Barrie have made so familiar and so winning. Being Scotch, it is inevitable that the kirk and its "meenisters" should be prominent. The latter are sufficiently diverse, however, not to become tedious, ranging from "Gibby the Eel," who, despite his "holy orders," can scarcely be said to have "experienced religion," to the saintly Dr. Marcus Lawton, father as well as priest to his people.

The "Stickit Minister's Wooing" may be commended as very pleasant reading. Probabilities are sometimes a bit strained, but not outraged; the dialect is distinctive, but not excessive; the characters are sympathetically and clearly drawn; the pathos is tender, but not heartrending.

As Mr. Crockett's literary foot goes to and fro, and up and down in the earth, we hope it will often pause among these douce and canny homefolk, that he and his congehers have made ours as well as theirs.

*SONGS OF THE OLD SOUTH. Verses and Drawings by Howard Weeden. New York: Doubleday, Page & Co. $1.50.

*THE STICKIT MINISTER'S WOOING. By S. R. Crockett. New York: Doubleday & McClure Company. $1.50.

She Did and She Didn't.*

Might not "A Furnace of Earth" be called an experiment in emotions? Is not the heroine Margaret a prey to morbidity? Or, worse than that, is she not a young person with an aberration of mind? Self-torture the girl carries to its ultimate degree. Can an artificial civilisation have gone so far as to blunt nature? Has again the woman an imaginative and ideal side which is superior to man's? Miss Hallie Ermine Rives quotes Havelock Ellis, and he has said: "While a man may be said to live on a plane, a woman is more apt to live on the upward and downward slope of a curve." This, the dictum of a physiologist, may be explained in this way: That there are more and abrupt changes in the woman than in the man. Unnecessary is it to state why this is other than to insist that such is the will of God.

One might look askance at "A Furnace of Earth" and ask the reason for the production of such a romance. An unfortunate girl as is Margaret is, we think, of the rarest occurrence. The type is abnormal. Some one in the story advances the belief that it is not uncommon in the New England States. We question much whether this is so. If it be that women are taught "from childhood to regard the immensely human and emotional sensibilities as linked to sin," like all other lessons of life, the doctrine, if carried to an extreme, is a worthless one. When diluted on by the fanutical, it is capable of doing incalculable harm. The perfect woman is a mother, and that is the will of our Maker. To give the scant details of the romance is to tell of the misfortunes of Margaret, who at first loved Richard with all the passion of youth. Then, being not of a healthy state of mind, she goes back on herself. It may be the simplest of accidents that makes her unhappy. No matter whether the topic chosen by the author is one of an unnatural character, and because abnormal just a trifle unwholesome, yet the skill and literary ability of the writer of "A Furnace of Earth" are remarkable.

Chaos in Tennessee.*

Mr. Verne S. Pease's romance, "In the Wake of the War," has to do with conditions in Tennessee immediately after the collapse of the Confederacy. Two young officers who have fought under Gen. Lee return to their homes, near Kosciusko. Howard Mason and Manning Lewis are the sons of two well-bred gentlemen who had seen service in the Mexican war. The young men find desolation at their old homes. Armed forces have destroyed their plantations. They set about rebuilding their fortunes. The many difficulties they meet with are described. For a time after the conclusion of the strife there was chaos in Tennessee. The advent of the carpet-bagger, the curse he was to the State, are truthfully shown. Generally this carpet-bagger came for what he could make. The State was infested by lawless men hardly better than bushwhackers, who fleeced the blacks as they did the whites. The business of the Freedman's Bureau is particularly dwelt on. That institution certainly helped to make the negro useless. It did not render the blacks industrious, and it hampered the activities of those who were hard at work for the regeneration of the land. Types of the swashbucklers who were the satraps of Tennessee are represented by such characters as Smith, Wittan, and Brassley.

In the Oil Country.*

Pitvale is a great oil-producing centre in Pennsylvania. The Folgers rule the destinies of the place. They have amassed a large fortune. There are not all lucky ones in Pitvale. Witness the Meagleys. Old Meagley and his family are supported by the Folgers. Meagley is a monomaniac. Oil has ruined him, and he is bereft of his senses. Many are the benefits bestowed by Ralph Folger on the town. He has delegated his powers to John Bell, the rector, and to Dr. Egbert Dale. It is due to their care that there has been established at Pitvale a house of recreation for the workingmen, and it is called the Bachelor's Club. Here the oilmen can find honest amusement, and even beer. The most violent of the opponents of the club is Cotton Mather Welsh. He, too, preaches the Word, but flavors his speech with sulphur and brimstone. Welsh gives the reformers no peace. He tells them that "they are fighting hell with a jug of cream." There are some distinguishing qualities in Dr. Dale. He is highly educated, musical, yet shows every now and then signs of temper. There is the closest friendship between Bell and Dale. Bell brings to Pitvale his sister Myrtle. The doctor falls in love with her. Folger's sister Ruth is a cripple. The great oil well in Pitvale has been named "The Ruth." The flow of it has been checked. Ralph Folger, by the use of dynamite, makes the source of the oil more plentiful than ever. Old Meagley sets the well on fire and brings about the death of Ralph Folger. The Miss Meagleys, all jealous, plot the ruin of Dr. Dale, for he has refused to marry Miss Kate Meagley. Now comes the surprise. It is by no means a pleasant one. A woman has disappeared. When last seen she was in the company of Dr. Dale. The body of a woman is found. The collaborating authors manage it so that it seems impossible that Dr. Dale could have had anything to do with the crime, and yet at the last moment, by Dale's own confession, the woman was his wife and he had killed her. The final impression "Dr. Dale" leaves in the mind of the reader is by no means a pleasant one. A more sinister conclusion could not have been imagined.

*A FURNACE OF EARTH. By Hallie Ermine Rives. New York: The Camelot Company.

*IN THE WAKE OF THE WAR. A Tale of the South under Carpet-Bagger Administration. By Verne S. Pease. Chicago, New York: George M. Hill Company. $1.25.

*DR. DALE. A Story Without a Moral. By Marion Harland and Albert Payson Terhune. New York: Dodd, Mead & Co. $1.50.

When Mr. Dooley Cracks His Whip.*

It is a racial question of what may be wit, or what humor, and these differing with nationalities. Using the phraseology of the miner, there may be veins of humor, showing here and there occasional glints of good ore, but not always in sufficient quantity to merit the continuous working of them. To change the simile, it is only the choicest fun, and that administered in rather limited quantity, which can be taken with zest. "Mr. Dooley's Philosophy" would be more palatable were it used as an occasional condiment. When served as the sole dish, it is a bit mordant, even excoriating. The French have an expression, "Rien n'est sacré pour un sapeur." And this saying is fairly applicable to Mr. Dunne's method. In his verbal gambolings or word caperings, the audience stands the chance of receiving a kick which can smash "the face" of the looker-on. Mr. Dooley adopts the brogue of an Irishman. We all can testify that Pat is much given to pleasantry, but he never is ill-natured. Politics aside, why should Mr. Dunne have lampooned Theodore Roosevelt? Grant that the whip Mr. Dooley wields does crack, that is no reason why it should leave a scar. Where can the guffaw come in, when lyddite shells and dynamite explosions are hilariously described? If there are occasional notes that jar, nevertheless Mr. Dunne can hit the nail hard on the head. For instance, here is an expression of Mr. Dooley's, which, if not couched in the suave manner of Capt. Mahan, still has its merits: "Th' nation that fights with a couplin' pin extinds its borthers at th' cost iv th' nation that fights with a clothes pole." In the ethics of American humor there is hardly a place for a scarificator. The "castigat ridendo mores" business is never a castigation with nettles. For the better appreciation of "Mr. Dooley's Philosophy" the homeopathic dose would be preferable to the ton of it.

Bonaparte's Baboo English.

Lord Rosebery cites in his "Last Phase of Napoleon" the following letter written by the Emperor at St. Helena in English. Curious and faulty as it is, it is somewhat to the credit of a pupil after six weeks' study of the language:

"Since sixt wek, y learn the english and y do not any progress. Sixt week do fonrly and tuo day. If migit have learn fivty und for day, i could know it tuo thousands and tuo hundred. It is in the dictionary more of foorty thousand; even he could most twenty, but much of temps. For know it a hundred and twenty week which do more two years. After this you shall agree that the study one tongue is a great labour who it must do into the yony aged.—Logwood, this morning, the seven month thursday one thousand eight hundred sixteen after nativity the yors Lord Jesus Christ.

"To Count Cascares, chamberlan of the S. M. Logwood, in his polde, very press."

To speak a language very well, the thought or object to be spoken must be translated directly into the word by the brain. To speak it fairly well the word in the speaker's language must automatically call up the corresponding word in the language to be spoken. Some persons have an exceptional facility for learning a foreign language, but to speak one perfectly the generality of persons would not only have to study it for at least two years, but during that time to converse exclusively in it. The "fairly well" might be acquired perhaps in one year without exclusively talking in it. A knowledge of Latin would help a person to learn French, Spanish, or Italian, but would certainly not help him to speak his own language correctly, and I entirely agree with Lord Rosebery that the time devoted to the acquisition of Latin in English schools might be better employed. Generally, Latin is almost entirely forgotten by the pupil in a few years, and certainly the English is very rarely benefited. No school supported either directly or indirectly from public funds should teach Latin any more than Sanscrit. The State should spend money on education that may prove when acquired practically useful. What does the State or the individual benefit in the fight for material welfare by the latter having a smattering of Latin?

Some years ago the obligation to know Latin was eliminated from the army examination. It was reinserted by Lord George Hamilton when Secretary of State for War. I asked him in the House of Commons to give a reason for this, and he said that the great public schools taught Latin, and admitted his object was to give them an advantage in the competitive examinations for commissions. When such attempts are made to secure by indirect means an advantage in these examinations to youths whose parents can afford to pay heavily for the education of their children, is it very surprising that our officers are not up to the mark of those of other countries in the knowledge needed for their profession? I wonder how many of our officers found Latin useful to them in South Africa. A dozen or two words in Dutch would have been worth more to them than ability to repeat by heart all that Virgil and Horace ever wrote—though probably the majority of them could not repeat six lines from either of these poets.

*MR. DOOLEY'S PHILOSOPHY. Illustrated by William Nicholson, E. W. Kemble, and F. Opper. New York: R. H. Russell.

Important to Librarians and Art Book Lovers:

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON announce as now ready a limited new impression of the "History of ART in ANCIENT EGYPT," by Georges Perrot and Charles Chipiez, translated and edited by Sir Walter Armstrong, with over 600 ILLUSTRATIONS, (many full-page and colored), 2 vols., imperial octavo, cloth, gilt top, $15.50. The reprinting of "Art in Egypt," so long out of print, enables the publishers to complete a very limited number of sets of the Perrot & Chipiez "History of Ancient Art," 12 vols., imperial octavo, cloth. Terms and full list on application. Owing to the large expense of reprinting colored plates, etc., the work complete will soon be scarce. No more copies "Art in Chaldea and Assyria," 3 vols., can now be supplied except in the complete sets.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON, 51 E. 10th St. (near Broadway), New York

NOW READY.

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

COL. ROBERT G. INGERSOLL,

Known as the DRESDEN EDITION. In twelve octavo volumes. Illustrated with photogravures, etchings, half-tones, and fac-similes, containing nearly 7000 pages in all, of which 3000 pages are new material. There are four volumes of Lectures, three of Discussions, one volume Interviews, one vol. Political Speeches, one vol. LEGAL ARGUMENTS, one vol. MISCELLANY, and Vol. 12 contains PREFACES, AFTER-DINNER SPEECHES, TRIBUTES and Fragments. Each volume has a complete table of Contents, and Vol. 12 has an Index of 126 pages covering the complete work.

This edition is printed from large type, on fine rag paper, wide margins, uncut edges, gilt tops, bound in olive green silk cloth, price $25.00. Half calf or half crushed morocco, $50.00. Full English calf, $75.00. Full crushed morocco, $100.00. Full French crushed Levant, $125.00. Boxed and sent by Express prepaid to any part of the world upon receipt of price.

Send for full descriptive Circular. Address,

C. P. FARRELL, Publisher, 117 East 21st St., N. Y. City.

DR. DALE. A Novel.

Three Editions Printed in a Month.

By MARION HARLAND and ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE (mother and son). 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"So well have they wrought that it is well nigh impossible to distinguish the individual work. The story runs smoothly and the characterizations are as careful and unfalteringly sustained as though the work of a single hand."—N. Y. Evening World.

"A novel that would attract interest, if for no other reason, because it exploits a region until now singularly neglected. . . . Strange conditions are depicted here realistically and with a good deal of rugged power."—The Churchman.

"A vividly realistic novel, a thrilling and interesting story."—Boston Times.

AT ALL BOOK STORES.

DODD, MEAD & CO.,

Publishers, New York.

Onward, Christian Soldiers.

The Rev. James H. Ross in The Boston Watchman.

There is danger that the fame of the late Sir Arthur Sullivan, (1842-1900,) who died in London, Nov. 22, with a smile on his countenance, will be connected with comic operas, to the exclusion of due recognition of the fact that he was a great composer of sacred music, inclusive of fifty hymn tunes. The secular press, to a large extent, has rested his reputation upon the operas, and failed to note that he is known all over the English-speaking world as the composer of "St. Gertrude," the tune to which "Onward, Christian Soldiers," is ordinarily sung.

In itself, the tune is very significant. It has done for the hymn what the original tune to which it was set, composed by Haydn, failed to do, viz., float it into popularity and give it a world-wide history. The origin and history of the hymn are essential to the history of the hymn and tune. It was written by Mr., now Rev., S. Baring-Gould, when he was a curate in Yorkshire, without a thought of publication. Whit-Monday is a great day for school festivals in Yorkshire, and one Whit-Monday it was arranged that his school should join forces with that of a neighboring village. The children had to march many a long mile to take part in a school feast. Owing to the distance from the church to the scene of the festivities an early start was necessary, and marching in procession with banners waving, colors flying, and a cross preceding them, the little ones were accustomed to sing lustily all the way.

Mr. Baring-Gould could not think of a marching hymn quite suitable, so he sat up at night resolved to write something himself. "Onward, Christian Soldiers," was the result. It was written in great haste, and he said that some of the rhymes were faulty. Nothing has surprised him more than its great popularity. He does not remember how the hymn got printed first, but he knows that it very soon found its way into several collections.

It was first published in 1865, in The Church Times, an organ of the Church of England. It is a processional hymn in its history within the Church of England; it is a Christian Endeavor hymn by common consent and universal and incessant use. It is a famous tune for bands in street processions. The late Charles S. Robinson, D. D., said that "it has been taken up all over the world, and with either Haydn's or Sullivan's music set to it, it constitutes the best marching hymn for children or adults known to this generation. It meets the American ideal, mechanically speaking, in that it is simple, rhythmical, lyric, and has a refrain at the end of each stanza. That has given to it an extensive popularity and use."

SUNG FOR STANLEY IN AFRICA.

When Stanley was exploring in Africa, and his party had been in great danger, having had severe fighting, Frank Pocock, a member of it, broke into song, as follows:

> The true home-land! I long to meet
> Those who have gone before;
> The weeping eyes and weary feet
> Rest on that happy shore.

Mr. Stanley said: "Frank, you will make every boy cry with such tunes as that. Choose some heroic tune."

"All right, Sir," he replied, with a bright face, and stuck up—

> Brightly beams our banner,
> Pointing to the sky,
> Waving wanderers onward
> To their home on high.

"Ah, Frank," said Mr. Stanley, "it isn't the heavenward way you mean, is it? I should think you would prefer the homeward way. Frank, you are thinking too much of the poor fellows we have lately lost. Sing, my dear Frank, your best song."

He responded by singing—

> Onward, Christian soldiers.

Mr. Stanley saw that he was in a serious and religious frame of mind, and refrained from urging him further.

One of the most curious facts in the history of the hymn and tune is that during the troubles of the Armenians a few years ago it caused Government action, owing to the Turkish suspicion of hymns. The ignorant Moslems could not understand the martial spirit of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and interpreted the exhortation to "Christian soldiers" in the literal sense, as meaning to fight the Turk. Therefore it was regarded as revolutionary language and prohibited, after the manner of the Index Expurgatorius of the Pope.

OTHER HYMN TUNES BY SULLIVAN.

But Sir Arthur Sullivan was the author of fifty hymn tunes. From 1867, when he was only twenty-five, until his death, his services were available for the hymn-writers, the compilers, and publishers. He adapted tunes to many of the Latin hymns, to the early and the latest English hymns. Some of the latest hymnals, British and American, contain more than half of all the hymn tunes that he wrote. Hence they are successes, and some of them, like "St. Gertrude," were phenomenal successes, worthy of his name and fame as the composer of oratorios and of operas. One of his friends says that "it was in the domain of church art that he first displayed signs of a creative talent which was afterward to bear such rich fruit, and which has to a certain extent colored all his subsequent endeavors."

> Hallelujah! hallelujah!
> Hearts to heaven and voices raise,

is one of our most inspiring Easter hymns, by Bishop Wordsworth, (1807-1885,) and is sung with fine effect to Sullivan's "Lux Dei."

"Sir Edmund" (Hymn 35 in "The University Hymn Book" for Harvard) is his tune for the world-famous hymn,

> "Nearer, my God, to Thee."

It is adapted to "We Are but Strangers Here," written by T. R. Taylor in 1834.

"Hanford" is his tune for Charlotte Elliott's hymn of submission,

> "My God and Father, while I stray."

It was written for "The Hymnary," 1872, although it appeared in "The Musical Tunes," December, 1871.

"Audite Audientes Me" was written in 1875 for one of the best hymns by the Rev. Horatio Bonar, 1846:

> "I heard the voice of Jesus say."

"St. Luke" is a new tune (1897, No. 200, in "In Excelsis," Century Company) for William Cullen Bryant's hymn written for the semi-centennial of the Church of the Messiah, Boston, March 19, 1875:

> "As shadows cast by cloud and sun."

"Proprior Deo" is his tune, composed in 1867 for the hymn written by Mrs. E. P. Prentiss in 1869, whose first line is—

> "More love to Thee, O Christ."

Hymns and tunes apparently interested him wherever he went. He was accustomed in his earlier years to go to the church at Sandhurst, England, which was old and quaint in all respects. It had a gallery at one end for the musicians. It interested him to see the little ceremony that the clerk solemnly performed in regard to the hymns. After the clerk, from his desk underneath the pulpit, had given out the hymn, always selected from Tate and Brady's Psalter, he would walk slowly and solemnly to the other end of the church, mount to the large empty gallery by means of a ladder, and, picking up his clarinet, would lead the musical accompaniment, which consisted only of his own instrument, the clarinet, a bassoon, and a violoncello.

In the Summer of 1895, the composer was in Salt Lake City. His guide took him to the Mormon Tabernacle on the Sabbath. The hymn tune used was his own arrangement of "St. Ann's" tune. The Mormons had a very fine organ, and he played it for an hour on the previous day.

The Oldest Mummy.

From The London Telegraph.

A most interesting addition has been made to the contents of the mummy room at the British Museum in the form of a body which is believed to be the oldest extant, and of especial value as throwing some light on the doubtful origin of the ancient Egyptians. Some archaeologists have contended that the Egyptians originally inhabited mid-Africa, and were therefore negroes. Others have contended that they were a very low-class race like the aborigines of Australia; a third theory is that they were a North African tribe, while yet a fourth conclusion, based on a study of Egyptian literature, is that they were of Asiatic origin—a supposition largely supported by the results of excavations made by Mr. De Morgan and others in recent years on the sites of ancient settlements at Abydos and Nagada, among other places in Upper Egypt. Here graves were found which bore evidence of belonging to the paleolithic period, others which were declared of the neolithic age, and others traceable to the period immediately preceding the reigns of the historical Kings of Egypt. The bodies were invariably laid on the left side, with the face to the east, and the knees drawn up, so as to occupy as little space as possible. A strong smell of bitumen emanated from them, which is taken as an indication that even in that remote period, some thousands of years before Christ, there was a leaning toward mummification. Earthenware pots containing the remains of funeral offerings were also found in the graves, showing that a belief in a future existence even then existed.

Quite recently the authorities of the British Museum acquired a very fine specimen of one of these bodies, taken from a neolithic grave, which now occupies one of the cases in the Egyptian Room. The body is that of a man about 5 feet 9 inches in height, and of distinctly intellectual form of head. The single remaining lock of hair on the scalp declares him to have been fair-haired, and suggests also that his skin was fair. The hands and feet are small, and little doubt is felt that he was one of a by no means inferior race. There is necessarily a certain amount of surmise in tracing the origin of such an acquisition, but the best archaeologists believe that the mummy is that of an aborigine of Egypt, one of the race that was conquered during an Asiatic invasion, which some have fixed as late as 8000 B. C., and that mingled with the conquerors forming the ancestors of the Egyptians known to Egypt. The original grave was a mere oval hollow dug in the sandstone, and covered with roughhewn slabs of stone. This, of course, it was impossible to remove with the body, but an exact counterpart has been made from similar material, and the body is exposed in the precise position in which it was found, with the original flints and earthenware jars disposed around it. From a comparative archaeological point of view, the mummy is of invaluable interest.

Origin of "Hooligan."

From The London Telegraph.

According to Dagonet, in The Referee, the term Hooligan owes its origin to the indistinctness of a witness and the misapprehension of a police court reporter. The name arose in this way: In a well-known and busy centre of North London there has been for many years a family of flower sellers. One day some years ago pretty Polly L— was, in the language of the fraternity, "Coppered by the Bobber," for willful damage. One of the witnesses brought against her by the police was a young borough rough. While he was giving his evidence, Polly, according to the police report, shouted out: "Don't believe him, Sir; he's one of the Hooligans!" The reporter afterward frequently used the expression in his copy when he was describing cases of assault by the borough gangs. Gradually the word crept in, and presently it took deep root and blossomed, and became a permanent ornament of the English language. Now let us find Polly L—, who is still selling flowers at the old pitch, and ask her why she called the hostile witness a Hooligan. "Now, Polly, you've heard the story of your remark. Did you make it?" "Yes, Sir, I did, and it was true." "Why did you call the lad a Hooligan?" "A what, Sir?" "Let me write it down—so—look—'Hooligan.'" "No, Sir,; that's not what I said; I said 'Don't believe, him, Sir, he's one of the Hooley gangs.'" "Eh, not Hooligan?" "No, Sir; I dessay that's how they put it in the papers, but I said 'one o' the Hooley gangs,' 'cus he belonged to a lot of young chaps—mostly haddick smokers, they was—what used to go about in gangs, and was all under a chap what they called 'Captain,' which his name was Hooley. They was always called the Hooley gangs in the borough, and that's why I said the chap as spoke against me was one of 'em. And so he was, Sir, and one of the wust, though he did turn nark and try to put me away."

With Cynical Flavoring.

From The Cornhill.

The story of the noble French lady who, two days widowed, was discovered by a surprised friend cheerfully playing the harp and whose only excuse was, "Ah! you should have seen me yesterday!" belonged to a lighter age in whose jest was no deeper meaning. The mother who, praying at her daughter's sick bed, "Heaven give her back to me and take all my other children!" was interrupted by the husband of another of her daughters, "Do you include the cats in that?" is of the same category.

SOME NEW BOOKS FROM THE RAND-McNALLY PRESS.

Just Published. Advance Sale Has Reached Over 25,000.

IN THE ALAMO A new story of the South of to-day.

By OPIE READ

Author of "An Arkansas Planter," "Yankee from the West," etc., etc.

This popular author presents a romance in a new vein and incorporates a bit of history that is not as familiar to the American people as it should be. 12mo. Cloth only. Price, $1.25.

THE BEST BOOKS of the year FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

THE BANDIT MOUSE AND OTHER TALES.

ONE HUNDRED pages of COLORED Cartoon PICTURES, with rhymes for young and old. By "FRISBEE" and "BART." Bound in boards, cloth back, size 9x12½. Price $1.25.

TRUE BEAR STORIES By JOAQUIN MILLER.

Containing over twenty full-page illustrations, in Black and Colors, depicting the bear as it really lives. Special Cover Design in Colors. Large 12mo, cloth. Price $1.25.

A SPECIAL HOLIDAY EDITION OF WATER BABIES By CHAS. KINGSLEY.

With over 100 pages of illustrations specially drawn for this edition and executed in an entirely new style. Special cover design in blue, white, and gold. Large 12mo, cloth, boxed and wrapped. Price $1.25.

Illustrated Holiday Catalogue Sent on Application.

Chicago. RAND, McNALLY & CO., Publishers, New York

What Kris Kringle Will Do Downtown.

These for 95c

MASTER CHRISTIAN, publisher sells for	$1.50
EBEN HOLDEN, publisher sells for	$1.50
DAVID HARUM, publisher sells for	$1.50
TOMMY AND GRIZEL, publisher sells for	$1.50
IN THE PALACE OF THE KING, publisher sells for	$1.50
RICHARD CARVEL, publisher sells for	$1.50
And other $1.50 Novels,	.95

DUMAS' CELEBRATED CRIMES, Beautifully Illustrated Library Edition. 8 vols. Publisher's price, $24. Our price, $9.75

Beautiful sets of all standard novelists, poets and historians at 50 per cent. off publishers' prices.

Call it CUT RATE if you will—we are doing the business.

For Miss Murray-Hill, for instance, he will load himself up with all the smart novels of the past twelvemonth—

$1.50 Ones at 95 Cents.

He will get handsome EDITION DE LUXE volumes of classics and histories, for Mr. Rich Broker and the Judge and the Professor, from every publisher under the sun, at about 50 per cent. of their prices.

SAY YOU'RE GOING TO BUY $5 WORTH OF BOOKS. YOU WILL GET ABOUT $10.00 WORTH.

Something of an object, isn't it?

If you can't drop in, you had better send for a mail order list. Biggest in the country.

SOMETHING FOR THE SILK STOCKINGS, THE YARN STOCKINGS—YES, EVEN THE BAREFOOTS.

ROHDE & HASKINS, 7 and 9 Cortlandt Street, New York.

'Phone, 2736 Cort. (ON THE WAY TO THE FERRY.) Open Evenings.

The HALF-HEARTED

BY JOHN BUCHAN

"The next time we are asked 'But what is literature?' we shall point to 'The Half-Hearted.'"—London Literary World.

"The pages in which Lewis Haystoun thwarts the schemes of a Russian plotter, checks single-handed the advance of an invading army, and thereby saves India, make as pretty and spirited a tale of high courage and gallant adventure as any need care to read."—Blackwood's Magazine.

Cr. 8vo. $1.50.

At all Booksellers.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO., BOSTON, NEW YORK.

BOOKS—ALL OUT-OF-PRINT BOOKS supplied, no matter on what subject. Write me. I can get any book ever published. The most expert book finders extant. Please state wants. When in England call and inspect my 60,000 rare books. BAKER'S GREAT BOOKSHOP, John Bright St., Birmingham, England.

THIRD PRINTING.

The Romance of L'Aiglon

By CAROLUS

Authorized Translation from the French by J. PAUL WILSON

This must not be confused with Rostand's great play, but it will be of interest to those who anticipate seeing the performance.

It is a charming story, charmingly told. The central figure is that most pathetic character in history—the King of Rome, son of Napoleon I. Incidentally a graphic picture is presented of life at the Austrian Court in 1832. :: :: :: :: ::

16mo, Cloth. Price, 50 Cents.

BRENTANO'S,
31 Union Square, N. Y.

"MADAM! DINNER IS SERVED!"
That's what the servant says; but the question is, is it served right? Be sure of it! Get "Six Dinners," a little book just issued—thousands sold. It tells how to cook and serve lunches and simple and elaborate dinners in such plain terms that no one can make mistakes, how to send out your invitations, how to seat your guests, and how to "break the ice" and avoid awkward pauses; quotations for cards, menus, etc. Not a big treatise that confuses and bewilders, but something that can be read in 15 minutes and will save you days of anxiety. Free to any one sending one dollar for a year's subscription to WHAT TO EAT; to others, 25 cents, postpaid.
"'What to Eat' is unique in conception and artistic excellence."—Christian Intelligencer.
"Almost good enough to eat."—Phil. Call.
"Printed exquisitely—illustrated delightfully."—London Epicure.
"In every way superb."—Boston Globe.
Pierce Publishing Co., Chicago.

THE REWARD OF PRINCE CHEERFULNESS
BY
RUTH LEWINSON
A CHARMING FAIRY STORY.
"An allegory after the style of 'Pilgrims' Progress,' with Cheerfulness a grand conqueror over Temper and Error. The idea is admirable."—Boston Journal.
8vo. 47 pages. 75 cents.
WILLIAM R. JENKINS, Publisher,
851 & 853 SIXTH AVE., NEW YORK.

ALL $1.50 Books AT RECTOR STREET BOOK STORE 99c

Authors' Agency
CRITICISM, REVISION, DISPOSAL. Tenth Year.
Thorough Preparation for the Press.
All work between Author and Publisher.
REFERENCES: Noah Brooks, Mrs. Burton Harrison, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, W. D. Howells, Thos. Nelson Page, and many others.
For NEW BOOKLET send stamp to
WM. A. DRESSER, Director, 200 Pierce Bldg.
Please mention the N. Y. Times. Copley Sq., Boston, Mass.

FOR 128-PAGE CATALOGUE OF BARGAINS IN Scarce, Curious, and Valuable
BOOKS
ADDRESS THE
Franklin Head Book-Shop
Box 4037, Station B. PHILADELPHIA.

HENRY MILLER, Bookseller and Importer, 1 Barclay St., opposite Astor House.
We sell all new Books, except net ones, at 25 per cent. off publishers' prices.

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS BOUGHT AND SOLD.
SEND FOR NEW CATALOGUE JUST ISSUED.
W. E. BENJAMIN. 22 West 33d St., New York.

JUST OUT!
ANCIENT BRITAIN.
A HISTORY OF BRITAIN FROM THE EARLIEST TIMES, ESPECIALLY DURING THE ROMAN OCCUPATION, AND CONTAINING THE LATEST ARCHAEOLOGICAL DISCOVERIES. Hand composition, best cloth binding, fine paper, $2.

Text-Books on Elocution, Gesture and Physical Culture.
"Elocution and Action," }
"Steps to Oratory," }
By F. TOWNSEND SOUTHWICK.
"The Delsarte System of Expression," }
"System of Physical Culture," }
By GENEVIEVE STEBBINS.
For special terms to teachers address
The New York School of Expression,
318 W. 57th St.

Pocket Size Standard Novels.
Dickens's and Thackeray's Works. Thinnest printing paper in the world used. Large type, easy to read. Size 4¼ by 6¾ inches and not thicker than a monthly magazine. Prospectus mailed free on request, or books sent prepaid on receipt of price. THOS. NELSON & SONS, 37 East 18th St. New York

HARTLEY COLERIDGE.

The interesting article in a recent number of THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW, entitled "A Day at Grasmere," with its loving mention of Hartley Coleridge and the little church at Keswick of which he so sweetly sang, aroused in the mind of the present writer a flood of recollection of a long vacation spent in the company of that brilliant coterie which has been grouped under the pleasing title of the Lake Poets, and particularly with Hartley Coleridge—not at Grasmere, in the flesh, but in spirit and amid the lakes, groves, and fields among the mountains of our own glorious north woods; a delightful Summer of life in the open air, and in communion with nature in her various moods, the life which Hartley Coleridge loved so dearly, and the enjoyment of which was a well-spring of joy and happiness in an otherwise melancholy and unhappy life.

This first-born child of that remarkable genius Samuel Taylor Coleridge might well be called one of the "might-have-beens" of literature, and to this designation we may append with equal truth the words of our Quaker poet:

Of all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are these: "It might have been!"

Hartley Coleridge was certainly endowed with ten talents—talents which he did not bury in a napkin, but which, alas! he did not put to the best of use. The story of his life has been told by his brother, Derwent Coleridge, published as an introduction to the first volume of Hartley's poems. It is an admirable specimen of what a biography should be. It is brief, it is full of interest, and, above all, it is honest. He tells the truth about his unfortunate brother, extenuating nothing, but he tells it with that love and charity for the failings of others which is a marked distinction of the noblest minds always, and for which Scotland's greatest genius, and one of the world's best-beloved poets, has made an immortal plea in his "Address to the Unco' Guid," the conclusion of which cannot be printed too often:

Then gently scan your brother man,
Still gentler sister woman;
Though they may gang a kennin' wrang
To step aside is human;
One point must still be greatly dark,
The moving why they do it;
And just as lamely can ye mark
How far perhaps they rue it.

Who made the heart, 'tis He alone
Decidedly can try us;
He knows each chord—its various tone,
Each spring—its various bias.
Then at the balance let's be mute;
We never can adjust it;
What's done we partly may compute,
But know not what's resisted.

Hartley Coleridge was born at Clevedon, a small village near Bristol, of which his mother was a native, on Sept. 19, 1796, a few months after his father's first volume of poems had been published. He made his advent into the world a month before he was expected, and was born during his father's absence from home. The elder Coleridge, in two beautiful sonnets, has given us a record of his feelings when he first heard of the child's birth and when he first saw the infant, declaring that

For the mother's sake the child was dear,
And dearer was the mother for the child.

To his premature birth were attributed Hartley's singular appearance and his shortness of stature, both of which had a marked influence on the development of his character. As a child he was very pretty and engaging, and he displayed at an early age pronounced individuality and unusual reasoning powers. When about five years old he was asked a question concerning himself, being addressed as Hartley. "Which Hartley do you mean?" replied the child. "Why! is there more than one Hartley?" "Yes," he replied; "there's a deal of Hartleys." "How so?" he was asked. "Well," was the reply, "there's Picture Hartley [Hazlitt had painted a portrait of him] and Shadow Hartley, and there's Echo Hartley, and there's Catch-me-fast Hartley," at the same time seizing his own arm with his other hand eagerly—a conversation which his delighted father repeated with great gusto to a gathering of friends at Charles Lamb's home, and for which we are indebted to the diary of Henry Crabb Robinson.

All lovers of the elder Coleridge's works will recall the exquisite poem addressed to his sleeping "Babe so beautiful," and the lovely lines on "The Nightingale," which this same babe inspired. Wordsworth, around whose heart the little Hartley wove a thread of love in earliest infancy which the vagaries and disappointments of a blasted career and all that that entails, could not loosen, and by whose side he now sleeps in the pretty little churchyard at Grasmere, in a sonnet addressed to "H. C., Six Years Old," expressed his fears for the future of the brilliant child in words which to readers of to-day seem as remarkable for their prophetic insight as for their great beauty:

O blessed vision! happy child!
Thou art so exquisitely wild,
I think of thee with many fears
For what may be thy lot in future years.
I thought of times when Pain might be thy guest,
Lord of thy house and hospitality;
And Grief, uneasy lover! never rest,
But when she sat within touch of thee.
O too industrious folly!
O vain and causeless melancholy!
Nature will either end thee quite,
Or, lengthening out thy season of delight,
Preserve for thee, by individual right,
A young lamb's heart among the full-grown flocks.
What hast thou to do with sorrow,
Or the injuries of to-morrow?
Thou art a dewdrop, which the morning brings forth,
Ill-fitted to sustain unkindly shocks,
Or to be trailed along the soiling earth;
A gem that glitters while it lives,
And no forewarning gives;
But, at the touch of wrong, without a strife
Slips in a moment out of life.

In 1800, when Hartley was four years old, his parents removed to Greta Hall, Keswick, near which Wordsworth had already settled, and his childhood was spent among the beautiful lakes and mountains for which that region is noted. Here he imbibed that love of nature which became a predominant influence in his life, and here also his education was begun. His father prepared a Greek grammar for the lad which still survives, and which not only contains the details of elementary grammar, but abounds in homely illustrations, criticisms, philosophical theories, and quotations far above the child's capacity of understanding. When twelve years old, he and his younger brother, Derwent, were sent to school at Ambleside. Their instructor was a clergyman who proved a good disciplinarian, was thoroughly equipped mentally, and had a happy faculty for the education of youth. Both lads made excellent progress under his watchful eye. Although he took pride in having the poet's sons among his pupils, both declared he never bestowed one word of commendation on either in their own hearing. The educational foundations thus laid for young Hartley by his father and by the Principal of the school at Ambleside, the Rev. John Dawes, were supplemented by intercourse with some of the best minds of that day—by the living and loving voices of Wordsworth, Southey, Charles Lloyd, Prof. Wilson, and De Quincey—and when the elder Coleridge, with pride and joy, saw this lad of promise depart for Oxford to pursue his education at Merton College, it was only natural that the happy father and his many friends should have felt the utmost confidence that a brilliant career was sure to be the lot of one whose youth had been passed amid such happy intellectual surroundings.

The charm of manner and the intellectual qualities which had won all with whom he came in contact in his boyhood had the same effect on his new associates at Oxford. Alexander Dyce, who afterward won distinction as one of the best Shakespearean scholars, was one of Hartley's fellow-students, and has recorded the following impression of him:

His extraordinary powers as a converser (or, rather, a declaimer) procured for him numerous invitations to what are called at Oxford "wine parties." He knew that he was expected to talk, and talking was his delight. Leaning his head on one shoulder, turning up his dark, bright eyes, and swinging backward and forward in his chair, he would hold forth by the hour (for no one wished to interrupt him) on whatever subject might have been started—either of literature, politics, or religion—with an originality of thought, a force of illustration, and a facility and beauty of expression which I question if any man then living, except his father, could have surpassed.

In due time Hartley passed his examinations successfully, and stood for a Fellowship at Oriel. He won his Fellowship with high distinction, to the great joy of all his friends, who looked upon this important achievement as a long step toward the goal which they had set for him. But the wine parties which Mr. Dyce above refers to caused his downfall, and at the end of his probationary year he forfeited his Fellowship, the charge brought against him being that of intemperance. He went to London and made a vain effort to win his way with his pen. His brother tells us that:

The cause of his failure lay in himself, not in any want of literary power, of which he had always a ready command, and which he could have made to assume the most popular forms, but he had lost the power of will. His steadiness of purpose was gone, and the motives which he had for exertion, imperative as they appeared, were without force. Necessity acted upon him with the touch of a torpedo. He needed a more genial stimulus. Dreamy as he had always been, he had not hitherto neglected the call of duty. He had shown no want of energy or perserverance either at school or college. Now he gave way to a habit of procrastination, from which, except for short intervals and under favorable circumstances, he did not recover until it was too late. Thus, leaving undone what he wished and continually intended to do, he shrank from the bitterness of his reflections, which, notwithstanding, continually returned upon him and took the place of action; and, though he never deliberately sought relief in wine, yet he was a welcome guest at all societies, and when surprised by consequences against which he was not sufficiently on his guard, he shrank from the reproaches, and yet more from the uncomplaining forgiveness of his friends. This led to a habit of wandering and concealment, which returned upon him at uncertain intervals during the middle portion of his life, exposing him to many hardships, if not dangers, and his friends to sore anxiety.

This is the dark side of the picture. Meanwhile his conversation and manners preserved all their charm; his temper was most sweet and engaging; he retained not merely his love and admiration for moral beauty and excellence, but a high moral purpose and an enlightened creed. His letters were full of wit and wisdom and affection. He was still a pure-minded, single-hearted, childlike being. In every one felt an interest, over whom almost every one was ready to have a care, viewing his aberrations with a peculiar compassion. * * * But this did not secure him against self-reproach. In his own sight he was deeply humbled, and it was so to the end.

These words may well be followed by the following, from the pen of a lady, taunt of Caroline Fox, upon whom he made an equally good impression,) describing her first meeting with Hartley Coleridge, shortly after he left Oxford:

A numerous party had assembled one evening at Brathay Hall. Late in the evening I saw such a figure as I had never seen before glide noiselessly into the bright drawing room, small, dressed in black, with thick, long, raven hair almost on his shoulders, in such a manner as almost to fill up the space between, and to give this part of his form a peculiar preponderance over the lower. (A little later this raven hair turned prematurely white.) In his manner of approaching the lady of the house, his stiff, slow, silent bow, a sort of distressed shyness in his countenance, and a deprecating politeness, like that of the olden times, as I fancied it, and in his whole demeanor there was something strange and unusual. His humorous air of simplicity, his slow, measured words, and general eccentricity of manners and appearance were at first a signal for merriment. But that evening was the beginning of an affection which existed between us in uninterrupted continuance, as that of a brother for a young sister, and was on my part fed yet more by the beauties of his sacred nature than by the high appreciation of his intellect and genius.

The rest is soon told. Leaving London at the end of two years, he returned to Ambleside, where he received pupils whom he could not control, and at the end of five years the undertaking was abandoned, and he removed to Grasmere, four miles distant. Here he remained, passing the rest of his life amid the scenes of his happy childhood, greatly beloved by all the simple country folk, and especially by the children, for his gentle ways and the interest which he took in their homely lives. He lived in great seclusion, with the bitter consciousness—as he laments in one of his most beautiful sonnets—that he had lost the race he never ran. But his pen was not idle. He contributed poetry and essays to The London Magazine and to Blackwood's, and published "Biographia Borealis; or, Lives of Northern Worthies"—thirteen biographies, which were admirably written and became very popular. In 1839 his last work appeared, an elaborate and artistic "Life of Massinger." He died on Jan. 6, 1849, comforted and sustained at the last by the presence of Wordsworth, his lifelong friend, who had the body of him whom he loved so well brought to Grasmere and interred in the plot reserved for the Wordsworth family, where they now sleep side by side.

The claim of Hartley Coleridge for a niche in the temple of fame rests upon his poetry. It is not very well known in these days, but it deserves to be—far more so than the work of some who have had a greater vogue with the general public. Few who become acquainted with his poems will fail to become his warm admirers. Many of his sonnets are worthy of the highest praise, and some of the longer poems contain passages of great beauty.

My space is exhausted, but I must beg for room to commend especially the sonnets on the seasons, the series on "Birds, Insects, and Flowers," those on "Infancy and Childhood," the Scriptural and the meditative verses, many of those under the comprehensive heading of "Miscellaneous," and the keenly analytical "Sketches of the English Poets," written on the fly-leaves of his set of "Anderson's British Poets," where they were found after his death. His own life he summarized in the sonnet which follows, and it completely comprehends his sad biography:

Long time a child, and still a child, when years
Had painted manhood on my cheek, was I—
For yet I lived like one not born to die;
A thriftless prodigal of smiles and tears,
No hope I needed, and I knew no fears.
But sleep, though sweet, is only sleep, and waking,
I waked to sleep no more, at once o'ertaking
The vanguard of my age, with all arrears
Of duty on my back. Nor child, nor man,
Nor youth, nor sage, I find my head is gray,
For I have lost the race I never ran:
A rathe December blights my lagging May;
And still I am a child, though I be old,
Time is my debtor for my years untold.

Although he never dreamed that anything he wrote would survive his own day and generation, there is little doubt that Hartley Coleridge will remain a member of that noble choir of British singers which adds lustre to the Victorian era. To be sure, he only struck a minor note, and his voice may seem lost in the swell of the harmony and the grand chorus, but it is there none the less, and the attentive listener will not fail to hear it, and to him it will appear sweet, fresh, and penetrating.

J. FRANCIS.

Photographing a Grizzly.

E. Seton-Thompson in Scribner's.

I said to my cowboy friend, "Do you know this Bear?"

He replied, "Wall! I reckon I do. That's the old Grizzly. He's the biggest bar in the Park. He generally minds his own business, but he ain't scared o' nothin'; and to-day ye see he's been scrapping, so he's liable to be ugly."

"I would like to take his picture," said I. "And if you will help me I am willing to take some chances on it."

"All right," said he, with a grin. "I'll stand by on the horse, an' if he charges you I'll charge him, and I kin knock him down once, but I can't do it twice. You better have your tree picked out."

The Grizzly came on and I snapped him at forty yards, then again at twenty yards, and still he came quietly toward me. I sat down on the garbage and made ready—eighteen yards—sixteen yards—twelve yards—eight yards, and still he came—while the pitch of Johnny's protests kept rising proportionately. Finally at five yards he stopped, and swung his huge bearded head to one side, to see what was making that aggravating row in the tree top, giving me a profile view, and I snapped the camera. At the click he turned on me with a thunderous g-r-o-w-l and I sat still and trembling, wondering if my last moment had come. For a second he glared at me and I could note the little green electric lamp in each of his eyes. Then he slowly turned and picked up a large tomato-can.

"Goodness," I thought, "is he going to throw that at me?" But he deliberately licked it out, dropped it, and took another, paying thenceforth no heed whatever either to me or to Johnny, evidently considering us equally beneath his notice.

Smart Electors.

From Chambers's Journal.

At an open-air political meeting in the North of England a man cried, "Hurrah for Jackson!" to which a bystander replied sarcastically, "Hurrair for a jackass!" "All right, my friend," exclaimed the first speaker, "you can hurrah for your candidate, and I'll do the same for mine." All electors are not so gifted, as the following experience of a canvasser in Devonshire clearly indicates. "Whom are you voting for, my good fellow?" he asked. "I votes for the lady." "But there is no lady candidate standing." "Well," replied Hodge, "Poll Early's name comes on my voting paper before the names of the two men, and I thought I'd vote for her—see?"

THE WEEK IN ART.

The week that closes to-day has been a remarkably busy one in New York art circles for this time of the year. In addition to a number of small exhibitions at the dealers' galleries, there have been displays at the Salmagundi Club—the annual Autumn one of water colors by members—and the annual one of the Black and White Club at the Durand-Ruel galleries. Two sales, one of Oriental objects and carved furniture, and another of a fairly good collection of modern foreign and American pictures at the American Art Galleries, and another, also of modern American and foreign canvases and of black and whites, at the Fifth Avenue Art Galleries, have also enlisted the interest of collectors and dealers.

***

The most small exhibitions of the week, some of which are still continued, have been those of ten pictures by Ben Foster at the Crist-Delmonico gallery, of a number of pictures and sketches by Miss Saunders at the Clausen gallery, of eleven pictures by Douglas Volk at Knoedler's, of eight portraits by Augustus Frangen at the Oehme gallery, of twenty-two paintings by Walter L. Palmer at the Avery gallery, and of several paintings by Joseph Lindon Smith of Boston at the galleries of the Architectural League, in West Fifty-seventh Street.

***

Douglas Volk, who shows eleven pictures, nine of which are new to the New York public, at the Knoedler gallery, the other two, "The Woodland Maid" and "Colonial Youth," having been seen and noticed here before, has been for a number of years known as one of the most conscientious and forceful of modern American figure painters, and one of the ablest instructors in art in this country. It is a pleasure therefore to see and study this thoroughly representative collection of the later products of his not too prolific brush. Seen together, they emphasize the artist's characteristics of strong draughtsmanship, good modelling, and refinement of method and execution. However one may tire of Mr. Volk's Puritan subjects, one must admit that he strikes an individual and strong note, and that he is, best of all, original—remarkably so for one who had so much of foreign training. The best of the Puritan subjects shown is the well-known "Woodland Maid," "The Puritan Mother," owned by the Carnegie Institute, and which has richer color than is usual in his work, and "The Song of the Pines." There is little room for adverse criticism as to the art value of these canvases. They are technically almost flawless, but somehow to the writer, at least, they lack inspiration and soul. More satisfactory, because it has something of these qualities, is Mr. Volk's large full-length seated portrait of Mrs. Paul D. Cravath (Miss Agnes Huntington) and her little golden-haired daughter. This is a strong and convincing work, virile in execution, well drawn and posed, delightful in color, and a thoroughly good likeness of both mother and daughter. The artist should devote himself more to portraiture, for this canvas gives evidence of unsuspected powers in that line.

***

Ben Foster, who is now showing ten recent works at the Crist-Delmonico gallery, is distinctly a poetical painter. In his poetical interpretation of certain phases of the American landscape, particularly at late afternoon, in the gloaming of Summer evenings, or on misty moonlight nights, he ranks with D. W. Tryon, Leonard Ochtman, C. Melville Dewey, and with the water colorist Henry Farrer. Mr. Foster, however, who has had the advantage of foreign as well as home study, has an indefinable personal poetical sense that gives his work a charming individuality. To him, in his night pictures, "The moon's a mother moon, and all the stars are sisters." No more deserved award was ever made at an American exhibit than that which recently gave him the silver medal at the Carnegie Institute exhibition, at Pittsburg, for his "Misty Moonlight Night." The pictures that Mr. Foster now shows are varied in subject and give evidence of earnest and conscientious work during the Summer past. Some of them will be a surprise, even to those who are his greatest admirers, for they show a strength and quality which he has not evinced before. Notable in these attributes are the "In the Litchfield Hills," "The Last Gleam," and the "Early Twilight in Connecticut." The first landscape has for its foreground a spreading meadow of rich greens, a brook winding around a clump of trees in the middle distance, and a background of wooded hills all in the shadow of approaching night and under a soft grayish blue sky, save where the last ray of the setting sun gilds the highest treetops on the distant hills. The canvas is full of poetry and sentiment, dignified in treatment, and rich and sober in color. Almost as good is the "Early Twilight in Connecticut," soft and harmonious in tone, with rich and luscious greens and strong color quality. "The Charcoal Burners" is a not altogether successful attempt to paint a rocky mountainside. The pigment has been laid on in masses in the right-hand corner, making it too insistent. The general strength of the landscape, however, atones for this fault. There is delicious feeling and sentiment and characteristic mysteriousness in the painting of the night. The "Iridescent Morn" is delicate in color, but a little chromolike. Two still lifes—"The Pumpkin" and "Scotch Roses"—are painted broadly, particularly the first, which, although a little hard, has rich yellows. Art lovers, and particularly those who believe in the present and future of American art, should visit and study this little display of one of the strongest, most conscientious, and promising of modern American landscapists.

***

It is refreshing to have the opportunity to notice so good a display of portraits by a painter who, although born in Europe, has lived and worked here for so many years as to be properly considered an American, as that made by Augustus Franzen, at the Oehme gallery. Mr. Franzen attracted attention some years ago by an exhibition and sale of a number of European landscapes, which showed the influence of the French impressionists. Afterward he took to painting genres, well composed and drawn, but somewhat hard and cold in color. Last year he devoted himself to portraiture, and in this last line, if the present works are a criterion, he promises to be most successful. The artist has always been personal and sincere in his work, and these qualities he retains in his portraits. The best that he shows are those of William M. Evarts, Col. Joel B. Erhardt, both full lengths; a half length of a Swedish nobleman, Sir M. L. S., and the two bust portraits of Alexander Harrison, the painter, and John Malone. The portraits of Mr. Evarts and Col. Erhardt are admirable likenesses and exceedingly virile. Especially good is the modeling of the hands and the pose of the figures. The flesh-color in the portraits is also natural, cool, and fresh. The portraits of the Swedish nobleman and of Alexander Harrison are chiefly notable for their expression. Not so good is the portrait of John I. Waterbury. There is a little weakness in the modeling of the face, and the long slate-colored frock coat makes the work dull in color. Mr. Franzen's work compares favorably with that of some of the foreign portrait painters that have found America such a gold mine during the last few years. He is certainly an admirable painter of men, bringing out with rare sympathy the stronger masculine characteristics of expression and feature.

***

The exhibit of paintings by Joseph Lindon Smith of Boston at the Architectural League Gallery, and which is the first he has ever made in New York, comes too late for extended notice this week. Mr. Smith enjoys an enviable reputation in Boston, where he has recently copied for the Boston Museum the frescos on the so-called sarcophagus of Alexander in the Imperial Museum at Constantinople. The Turkish Government had never before allowed these to be copied.

***

Miss Ethel Wright, a young English artist who recently arrived in New York, and whose work is well and favorably known in London, has had a small display of her pictures at the Holland House during the past week. Among the paintings Miss Wright has shown were her two Royal Academy successes, "The Song of Ages" and the "Puritan Maiden." The first of these is well known through reproductions. It is a charmingly decorative work, well drawn and composed, and very delicate in color. "The Puritan Maiden" is a single-figure subject, also well drawn and exceedingly refined in treatment. The color scheme is one of light grays. But it is in portraiture that Miss Wright prefers to be known in this country. She showed a portrait of a young Englishwoman of title, which in drawing, pose, and color evidenced that in portraiture Miss Wright has intelligence, sympathy, and rare refinement of feeling and method. At a later day the artist will give another and larger exhibition in one of the dealers' galleries, and her work, which is more than usually good, can then be seen to better advantage.

***

For some time past the American Numismatic and Archaeological Society has been endeavoring to secure the foundation in this city of a school of die cutting and medal engraving. It is felt that there is room for much improvement for American work in this line. There are only a very few die cutters in this country who can execute really artistic work, and American medals are too often of a character to excite derision in other countries. Andrew C. Zabriskie, President of the society, has now appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions for the purpose of founding a school. This committee will act conjointly with a committee of members of the National Academy of Design. If sufficient funds are obtained, the school will be established in the new building of the academy.

***

An art dealer of Rome is about to be tried for having sent out of Italy a bronze bust by Benvenuto Cellini, which he sold to Colnaghi of London. This is the latest prosecution in connection with the Pacca law, in the enforcement of which the Italian authorities seem to be much more energetic than formerly. The bust formerly belonged to the Marchese Altoviti Avala. Whether it is really the work of Cellini may perhaps be doubted. The indisputable productions extant from the hand of the famous goldsmith may be counted on the fingers.

***

Walter L. Palmer has been for some years accustomed to give at this period of the year an exhibition of his work during the preceding twelve months at the Avery Galleries, in this city. He omitted the display last year, so that it is even more welcome than usual and is especially timely at this juncture, when the snow, which he knows so well how to paint, is about to fall. It would be idle to endeavor to adequately describe the American Winter landscapes of Walter L. Palmer. More succinctly and better than [illegible] can do any one [illegible] cessfully than any one of his fellows who have essayed the same, he has portrayed the snow on field and hill and brookside, flushed by the dawn or sunset, or lighted by the brighter rays of noontide in the crystal clear atmosphere of Central New York. Such play of color and such delicacy of tint, such tender and appreciative sentiment as are Mr. Palmer's need no praise. Perhaps of the snow pictures the best are "Under the Willows" and "Under the Silent Hill." With his snow pieces Mr. Palmer this year shows two delightful Autumn landscapes and several Venetian scenes. It would seem as if the artist had this year painted with a little more color depth, a little more strength, and, if possible, a little more artistic appreciation and sentiment than ever before. It is altogether a charming exhibition and could it be transferred in its entirety to, say, one of the Bond Street galleries during the London season, it would doubtless cause a sensation in that city. There is certainly no foreign painter who can be recalled who can paint snow as does Mr. Palmer, and the English certainly know not the glory of color of an American landscape at morning, noon, or evening on a crisp, clear midwinter day.

***

There will be shown at the Keppel Gallery in January in connection with a display of etchings, drawings, and woodcuts by Jean François Millet, a number of sepia drawings by Henry Brokman, a Scandinavian artist, to illustrate an edition of Marion Crawford's new work, "The Conquerors of the South." These drawings, reproductions of which have been shown to a favored few, show rare delicacy of touch and feeling and an evidently keen appreciation of those Southern lands of which Mr. Crawford writes so well. There is a treat in store for the lovers of black and white in the coming exhibition of these drawings.

***

Oliver H. Perry, the well-known portrait painter, recently finished a portrait of Mr. Louis Windmüller, which is now on exhibition at the Knoedler Galleries. The portrait is a bust one, and shows Mr. Windmüller in full face, with characteristic kindly expression. The flesh tones are exceedingly good, and it is evident that the artist has painted con amore. The portrait is to be presented to the Reform Club, of which Mr. Perry is a member and Mr. Windmüller is the Treasurer.

The Forest-Book-Lover.

He was a true book-lover, this stalwart woodsman and Swiss mountaineer who lived in a rude châlet in our Connecticut forest where he sometimes met scarcely a mate from one week's end to another. In clearing woods it is the fashion to build temporary shelters for the workmen, who provision and "find" themselves and sleep as work-folk did in the middle ages with a round log for a bolster, and lead hardy and resolute lives.

Let no one think meanly of the woodman's craft nor deem it a calling for a simpleton to follow. The skillful forester must mix brains with brawn, and be not merely sinewy and strong, but incredibly vigilant, crafty, brave, and stout of heart.

He wields with all his might, with the trained skill of many years, a weapon so deadly that a light stroke from it would cripple or cut him down. Alone in the forest, hour after hour, with desperate energy, he plies this terrible blade, perhaps standing in perilous places on slippery ground, his own vidette, on guard against interfering branches and glancing strokes and falling trees.

When these stand close in the forest diplomacy and craft must be used to get them down. The woodman fiercely attacking first the side on which he wishes the tree to fall, then swings around, and chipping away the other half, the mightiest oak or loftiest grand pine begins slowly to tremble and totter and take the line of least resistance, then in its majesty, and struggling like a thing of life, at last with a crash that reverberates far over the forest, it falls thundering to the ground, yet still upheld by its mighty branches that reach like living arms to the earth.

The fancy of poets has always been stirred by the drama of the falling forest, and our own poet, Hill, in spirited verses on "The Fall of the Oak," has caught delightfully the picturesque surroundings of our native woodman:

By wild thornbrake and brookmarge green,
Winding his way the woodman's seen,
Till lost in the dewy gloom
That shrouds the hill
Where few and chill
The struggling sunbeams come;
Where the last flower scents the frosty air
And hark! o'er height and hollow,
As the partridge whirrs from his leafy lair,
His strokes the echoes follow.

Where the Connecticut timber line comes down to the sea it breaks into romantic ravines, rocky gorges, and "devil's dens," the work of glacier and flood, affording here and there miniatures of extreme picturesqueness. Knowing well our forest trails, I set out one evening and soon found the forester's light gleaming from the window, and the smoke volleying into the sky. The "châlet," stood in one of those wild scenes near a pool with darkening hemlocks and oaks around where silence and gloom prevail, and the sad whippoorwill sings at nightfall. Here, like a Druid or hermit, lived the compatriot of Agassiz in a rough cabin whose whistling cracks were stuffed and its glimmering crevices "papered" to keep out the Winter cold. In and around the stove the wood was plentifully piled [illegible] by [illegible] and there, sure enough, was the round log for boleter.

His closest comrades were three sharp axes and a wooden maul. With these he clears broad swarths of trees through the forest, cuts and piles them up in measured lengths, and leaves them ready for market and fireside use. One evening, as the forester passed from the village, carrying stores to his Druid's grove, I invited him in to chat about the wonderful Swiss land, and before the blazing Franklin we wandered in the sweet vales of the Simmenthal, looked away to the dread Diablerets, then saw again the dark bent on Midi and the charming Vallois and the speeding Rhone. When, returning from this Alpine stroll, we entered our home library, a modest room stacked to the ceiling with books on all sides, my visitor threw up his arms with surprise, smote his forehead, and let fall a harmless sacre. The Swiss are great friends of the alphabet, and finding this son of the Alps fond of his letters I began forthwith to supply him with reading in his own tongue. It has been my pleasure in his absence with the maul and sharpest axe to play him an old-fashioned miracle, such as used to delight the Israelites in the wilderness, tying to his cabin door from time to time a packet of French books, which the weary man upon returning would discover and credit to the friendly thaumaturgist. When the Autumnal rains make roads impassable and the deep snows of midwinter hold the woods impenetrable for many days, then, to the imprisoned woodsman books are like living companions for solace and cheer. So it happens that in a period of some twenty months Paul has eagerly untied from the cabin door and read perhaps sixty volumes, including such old favorites as "Sous Les Toits," "Trois Mois," "Sous La Neige," "Les Trois Musquetaires," "L'Homme," "L'Oreille Cassée," "Les Miserables," "Gil Blas," "La Fontaine," "Florian," "Paul and Virginia," "Belisarius," "Emerik de Marauger," &c.

In the course of his readings he has hunted in the Rocky Mountains, visited China, and traveled all over the globe. He repeats with amusing comments the results of his observations and taps his forehead significantly to express the great profundity of an author. He declares that Gil Blas represents some of his own experiences in America, passing from the hands of one employer to another, and relates certain episodes in which the Gallic wits of Paul the woodsman have rescued him from oppression. One smart December day Paul arrived at our door, mounted upon a monstrous load of wood, which he asked permission to throw off in our yard. How could we deny a generous woodcutter, who put so practical an estimate upon the advantages of dealing with a study man?

Whenever I visit his "châlet" near the hemlock grove, which he styles variously the Hotel Bellevue, Hotel des Alps, &c., he receives me with a humor and grace that comes so much easier to the Celt than to the Saxon; his "Entree," "Excusez," or "Merci, Monsieur," expresses the essence of courtesy. He usually insists on a dark night upon escorting me out of the woods with a lantern, and as I walk along and note his tall, trim, muscular form and stanch, half-military march, I say to myself this is the kind of man, sure enough, that once made things mighty lively for his Majesty Julius Caesar. With his resolute mien and Helvetian flavor, he is indeed a worthy successor of our old school friend, Dumnorix. Paul finally has had to join Yale University to gratify his great zeal for learning, and after the students of Farnham and Vanderbilt Halls have finished with their books, he takes them and makes nothing of reading what costs the collegians much labor. Among these are works by Pierre Loti, Edmond About, Balzac, Lacombe, Diderot, Daudet, Georg Sand, Gautier, Zola, Jules Verne, Souvestre, Feuillet, Erckmann-Chatrian, Paul Bouchet, Guizot, De Stael, Dumas, with the stories, "Le Roi du Montagne" and "Le Roman d'un Jeune Homme Pauvre.

Nothing comes amiss to his net and nothing could exceed the care with which he uses the books, never cutting the leaves apart with a butter knife like the poet Wordsworth, to his shame, nor setting down coffee cups upon their fair pages like some fine gentlemen we read of, forgetting themselves in their restaurants.

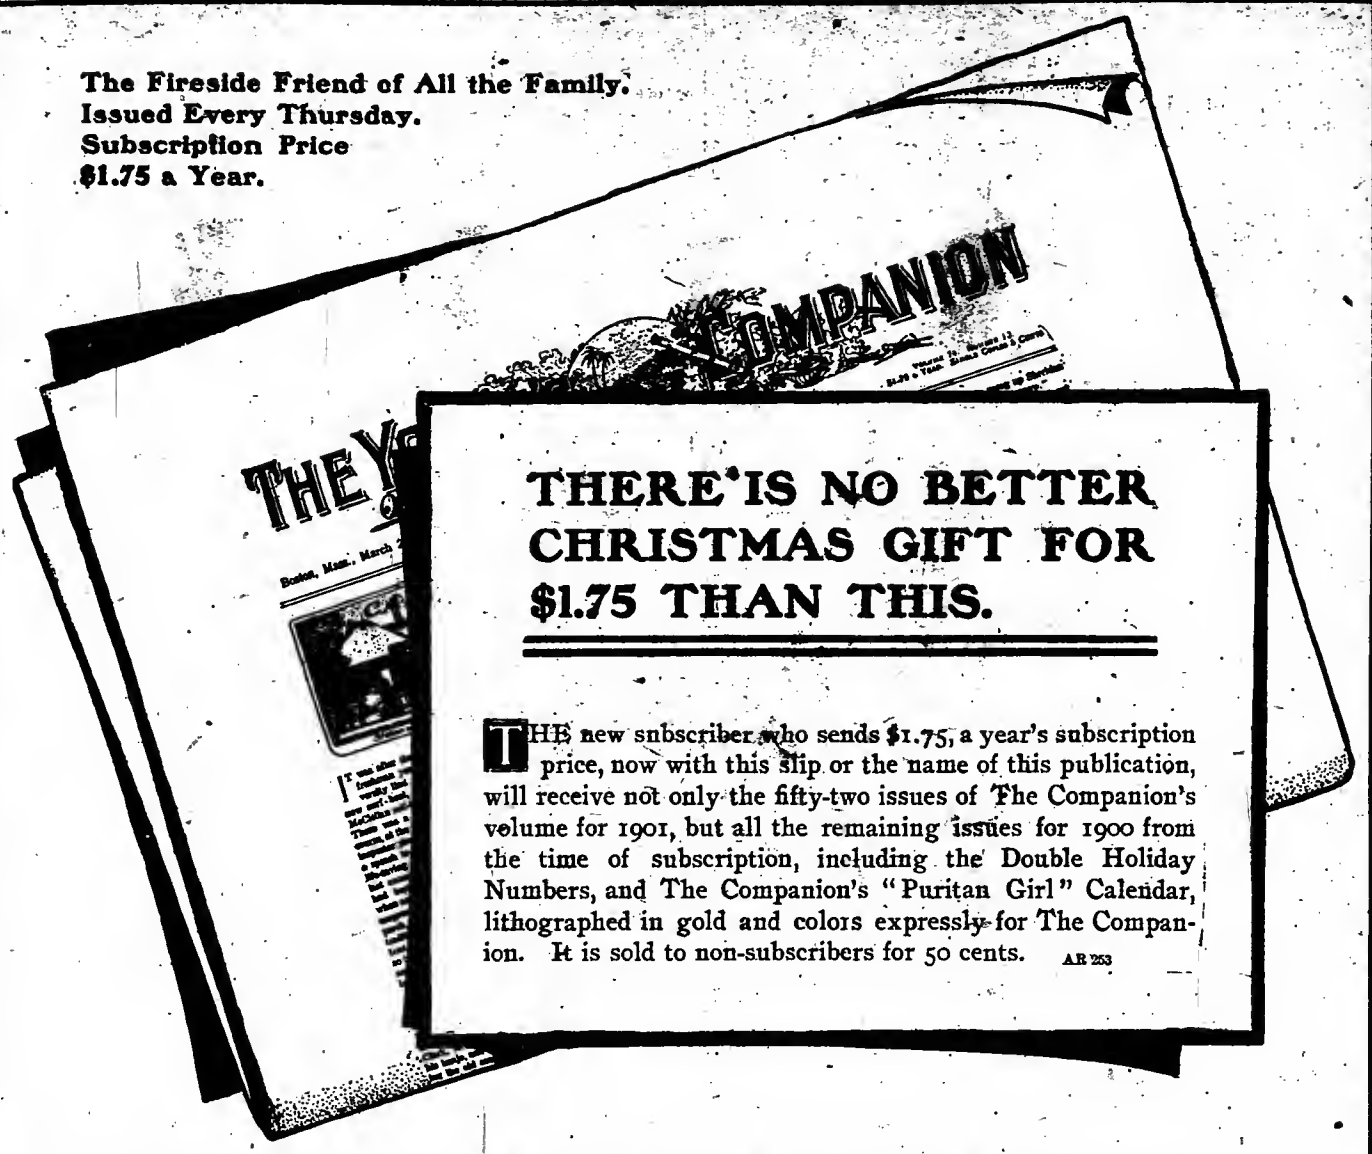
The last time I visited my forest booklover, after an interval of some months, he threw down his axe and maul, and declaring a half-holiday to all the cunning coons and foxes in the woods, accompanied me several miles homeward. A quaint author and booklover of an earlier day, the Rev. Jared Eliot, writing "Letters on Field Husbandry," near this very locality, has described the charms and pensive influences of groves and woods. Whatever merit there may further be in a sharp axe and a wooden maul as literary appetizers, I offer Paul of Neuchâtel, now felling a certain forest in Connecticut, as an example of a genuine reader and lover of books. I exalt him even as a pattern and encouragement to certain small towns that are in a quandary how to live up to their new public libraries.

HENRY N. ROBINSON.

"Fad" from "Faddle."

JOSEPH FITCH, New York, referring to the recent discussion in THE SATURDAY REVIEW regarding "fad," writes: "I regard it as highly improbable that the word 'fad' arose from the initials of 'for a day.' Its general use in a contemptuous sense seems rather to indicate its derivation from 'faddle,' a word in the vocabulary of Cockney thieves and crooks, meaning to trifle or toy with. The word 'faddle' itself is said to be a corruption of 'foldero,' meaning trash, nonsense, [illegible]

The Fireside Friend of All the Family.
Issued Every Thursday.
Subscription Price
$1.75 a Year.



THERE IS NO BETTER CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR $1.75 THAN THIS.

THE new subscriber who sends $1.75, a year's subscription price, now with this slip or the name of this publication, will receive not only the fifty-two issues of The Companion's volume for 1901, but all the remaining issues for 1900 from the time of subscription, including the Double Holiday Numbers, and The Companion's "Puritan Girl" Calendar, lithographed in gold and colors expressly for The Companion. It is sold to non-subscribers for 50 cents. AR 253

Three generations of Americans have been readers of The Youth's Companion. To-day in more than half a million homes it is welcomed by every member of the family. Strong in the assurance that every reader gained is a friend won, the publishers make the following Announcement of Special

ARTICLES AND STORIES

FOR THE 1901 VOLUME OF

The Youth's Companion.

The character of the two hundred and more contributions already engaged for 1901 by Statesmen, Diplomats, Travellers, Trappers, Men of Letters, Men of Science, Hunters of Big Game, Ranchmen and Story-Writers is indicated by the following:

The Idle Minute Book, Mary E. Wilkins.

In this absorbing story a girl whose Puritan parents disapprove of her dreamy idleness shows great heroism in a crisis.

The Essence of Heroism, Theodore Roosevelt.

Who is the brave man, and in what does his bravery really consist? These vital questions are vigorously answered by the famous Colonel of the Rough Riders, the Governor of New York.

Young Contributors and Editors, W. D. Howells.

This delightfully frank article, written in Mr. Howells's most attractive style, gives literary aspirants many valuable hints.

A Man, a Famine, and a Heathen Boy, Gilbert Parker.

This popular Canadian novelist relates a missionary's exciting adventures among famishing Indians in the far North.

A Costly Christmas Dinner, John D. Sherman.

One of a striking series of stories of American politics, showing what public-spirited young men can accomplish.

Chink: The Development of a Pup, E. Seton-Thompson.

This charming tale of a brave dog, unswervingly loyal in time of trial to an unworthy master, is a little masterpiece of pathos and humor.

The Lost Poacher, Jack London.

A capital story of the Mary Thomas, an American sealer, which, drifting into Russian waters, was unjustly suspected of poaching, but was saved from its captors by a plucky boy.

The Great Scoop: A Serial Story, Molly Elliott Seawell.

This stirring serial story presents memorable scenes from a world of strange interest for all—the world of newspapers. The dishonest wrecker of a great bank, the resourceful young reporter and his brave sister, the weak friend and the strong one—these are the chief characters in this picturesque and dashing tale.

Savage Kings I Have Known, Sir Henry M. Stanley.

The famous African explorer recalls in his picturesque manner the traits of the savage monarchs of Africa with whom he had dealings while exploring the Dark Continent.

She Would Be a Doctor, Dr. Mary P. Jacobi.

This absorbing article tells of a girl whose ambitions were centered in medicine, and who found her choice of a profession wise.

Saracita's Music Lesson, Harriet Prescott Spofford.

A shrewd and sympathetic character study of a cook with high and unusual ambitions.

Good Manners and Diplomacy, William R. Day.

Many entertaining and significant incidents of diplomatic intercourse, which illustrate the value of courtesy between sovereignties, are narrated in this admirable article by the ex-Secretary of State.

Nobody's Tim, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps.

The pathetic tale of an old soldier's gallant sacrifice of his own life for that of his beloved colonel's child.

The Largest Sunday-School, W. T. Stead.

A famous Sunday-school which has over four thousand pupils is described in this stimulating article by the well-known London editor.

The Man of the Dictionary, Paul Leicester Ford.

The present generation knows little of the great American lexicographer, Noah Webster. His descendant, Mr. Ford, has written a charming and authoritative sketch of him.

How Scouts Saved the Bridge, Capt. H. L. Wells, U.S.V.

A true account of the dashing heroism displayed by a handful of American soldiers in the recent campaign in Luzon.

The Green Bonnet, Sarah Orne Jewett.

A sympathetic and humorous story of a girl whose Easter bonnet was spoiled at the last moment, without rendering her any less bewitching.

'Tilda Jane: A Serial Story, Marshall Saunders.

This "Orphan in Search of a Home" is a genuine creation, and the multifarious adventures which she and her two captivating dogs meet in their wanderings are pathetic, diverting and exciting.

We will send to any address, FREE, Illustrated Announcement of the Volume for 1901 and Sample Copy of a recent issue of the Paper; containing Mary E. Wilkins's article, "When People Wrote Letters."

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 201 Columbus Avenue, BOSTON, MASS.

SUNDAY, THREE CENTS. DAILY, ONE CENT.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER. Fair; wind southeasterly, shifting to westerly.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. L...NO. 15,887. NEW YORK, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1900.—TWENTY-EIGHT PAGES. PRICE THREE CENTS.

SANTA FE RAILWAY TELEGRAPHERS STRIKE

Over 600 Operators Ordered to Quit Work.

They Go Out To Help Strikers on the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Division of the Road.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Over 600 telegraph operators on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad left their desks this afternoon and talked out on a strike. Advices late to-night from points along 5,000 miles of track in the system indicate that the freight traffic is practically tied up, and that passenger trains are running slowly with no further destination than the next division terminal.

The order that precipitated the walkout was sent to-day from headquarters in St. Louis by M. M. Dolphin, President of the Order of Railway Telegraphers. He estimated that 95 per cent. of the telegraph operators on the road had obeyed the order. The strike is purely sympathetic and has been called to support the demands of the three hundred operators who, since Thursday, have been out on strike on the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fé division of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad. The dispute there has been regarding wages and rules, and was called after the refusal of the railway officials to arbitrate.

Local operators, among those that walked out to-night, attributed most of the present troubles to what they described as the high-handed conduct of L. J. Polk of Galveston, General Manager of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fé division of the road. After the complaints had been brought to him and had been briefly discussed he passed the matter on to Vice President J. M. Barr of this city. Mr. Barr, however, sent back the dispute to Polk for settlement. With him it rested, while the officers of the telegraph operators tried in vain to bring matters to a head.

The Executive Committee of the railway telegraphers reported at the end of the two months that they were unable to get any satisfaction from Polk, and decided that the time had come for open war against their alleged oppressors. They were confirmed in that determination by the knowledge that for a month the company had been enlisting operators out of employment.

As a result of these preparations, the railway had collected in this city Friday night fifty-five operators whom they sent on to Texas to take the place of the strikers on the Galveston Division. All of these, except three, it was asserted by the men to-night, left the train before it reached Kansas City, and it was prophesied that the remaining trio would disappear before many miles.

The Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers, of Railway Trainmen, of Locomotive Firemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors, it is said, have promised to aid the operators.

J. M. Barr, Third Vice President of the Santa Fé system, to-night made the following statement regarding the strike:

"The telegraph operators of the Santa Fé system were called out on strike by order of M. M. Dolphin, President of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, at 4 o'clock this afternoon in support of the strike of operators on the Gulf Line of the Santa Fé system, inaugurated Dec. 6. As nearly as we now know, approximately 50 per cent. of the operators employed quit work in response to the order.

"There was no grievance existing between the company and the operators on any of the lines of the system other than the Gulf Line. The operators employed on the lines west of Albuquerque were working under an agreement made with the company Nov. 15, 1900; the operators employed on the lines east of Albuquerque, the Gulf line not included, were working under an agreement made Jan. 1, 1900. Under both of these agreements the company was entitled to thirty days' notice of a desire on the part of the operators to cancel them. No notice of a strike was served on the company.

"We expect to be able to move all passenger and through freight trains without interruption. Operators are being employed to replace the men who quit work."

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 8.—J. A. Newman, General Chairman of the Santa Fé Division of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, including the entire Santa Fé system, referring to the strike, said:

"We were compelled to take this step to see that justice is done to the members of our organization on the Gulf system, and as a matter of protection to ourselves. If the Santa Fé Company cut wages and imposed other burdens upon the operators on that system, what is to prevent them from doing the same thing here?

"Just how long the strike will continue is a hard matter for me to determine. Under no circumstances will we return to work until our grievances have been adjusted in a manner satisfactory to the members of the organization. The real grievance of the men on the Gulf system, as given to me in a special from National President Dolphin is a protest against a proposed elimination of twelve stations from the schedule and a proposed reduction in wages at nineteen other stations.

"To avoid the strike the committee agreed to accept Santa Fé rules, amended by providing for eight consecutive hours' rest in each twenty-four, excepting in cases of emergency. The clause depriving men of a hearing when discharged for insubordination was also to be eliminated. Another demand made was that there was not to be any reduction in wages at any of the stations for the present. We will stand by the men of the Gulf and fight this battle to a finish."

All the Santa Fé trains are said to be tied up in this division between Newton and Purcell. No operator was working after 6 o'clock, except two at Arkansas City and one at Perry, Oklahoma. Division Superintendent Tice is trying to bring the night train in, but it is not expected that he will succeed. Three freights and a passenger are tied up here, and a telephone message from Wellington says that everything is dead on the Pan Handle Division.

TOPEKA SHOPS TO CLOSE.

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 8.—The officials of the Santa Fé here take the situation very coolly. In speaking of the situation, General Manager Mudge said to-night: "About 75 per cent. of the operators have quit work. This means that about 600 men have walked out. We anticipate no special trouble in the operation of trains, as most of them are running on timetable schedules. We have secured a great many new men, and new men are applying for positions.

"It is our intention to lay off all men who are not absolutely necessary to the operation of the road. If it comes to the point that the strike interferes to any extent with the operation of the road, the shops of the company will be closed. If the business of the road is reduced, then it will be necessary to reduce expenses.

"The telegraph operators have gone out in sympathy with the strike, and have broken their agreement with the Santa Fé Company. The agreement was that no change should be made unless thirty days' notice were given. When the men leave their desks and walk out they break this agreement. The agreement was made in July.

"The strike is caused from trouble over rules and regulations. The wage scale was up for consideration, but the road agreed to arbitration on that point. The rules and regulations have been up, and were not settled. The road would not agree to the rules asked by the men, and the strike resulted."

Dispatches received here indicate that every office west of Topeka is closed. This includes the office on the branches west of Albuquerque. Four operators between here and Kansas City have not yet been reached by the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, but will be to-morrow, and the strike will be complete.

The officials of the Santa Fé decided in conference to-night that the shops here would be closed Monday morning until further orders. General Manager Mudge says the shops will be closed until the affairs of the road shall get back to their normal condition. The order throws more than 2,000 men out of employment. Another conference of officials will be held to-morrow.

Railroad Men Quit in Sympathy.

PUEBLO, Col., Dec. 8.—Many Santa Fé railroad men quit to-day here and at La Junta, in sympathy with the strike of the telegraphers. The number out is estimated at between 300 and 400 in this division, including all not absolutely necessary in the moving of trains, taking in the telegraphers, shopmen, machinists, station employes, and a number of trainmen and section men. The telephone is being used in running trains between here and Denver.

Officials Say Trains Are Moving.

GALVESTON, Dec. 8.—Officials of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fé claimed today that many of the striking telegraphers' positions have been filled, and that business is moving as usual.

WEAVERS TO GO ON STRIKE.

Matter of Stoppage Pay Is New Bedford Mill Hands' Grievance.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Dec. 8.—This city will have another strike of considerable magnitude on its hands, beginning Monday. A big mass meeting of weavers of the Acushnet and Hnthaway mills was held this afternoon, about 400 weavers being present. It was voted to strike. At the outset four persons, who it was claimed were present for the purpose of spying upon the actions of the weavers, were excluded from the meeting.

A circular issued by Treasurer Knowles to the weavers for two mills to-day was first discussed. The majority of the weavers claim that the statement in this circular, referring to stoppage pay, has not been lived up to. One weaver stated that the mills were supposed to pay so much per hour for the looms were stopped. In his case he had lost over $2.50 per week and had received but 50 cents stoppage pay. In most cases a male weaver can fix his looms if a simple defect is noticed, but a woman cannot, excepting in very few instances. Some of the women weavers claim that since the loom fixers' strike they have had their looms stopped for two days at a time and have been paid for only an hour or two.

The mills have tried to hire fixers to take the place of the strikers, but only with partial success, and the weavers decided that they can stand the present conditions no longer.

The South End business men heard the decision to strike with regret, as it will mean a hard Winter for them, for, with the weavers and the fixers on strike, it will not be long before the mills will have to close down, and this will mean over 2,000 idle operatives in that section of the city.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST DIES.

Miss Schmidt of Baltimore Insisted that She Wanted No Doctor.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8.—Considerable talk was caused in medical circles and among citizens generally to-day by the announcement that Miss Mary Josephine Schmidt, a Christian Scientist, died last night at her home on St. Paul Street without the attendance of a regular physician. She had been under the treatment of E. H. Hammond a science healer.

Upon investigation by the City Health Department it was learned that Dr. E. H. Holbrook, a regular physician, was called in two weeks ago and said the woman was afflicted with incurable heart disease. To-day he turned into the department a death certificate. He was not with the woman when she died. Dr. Holbrook says he has studied Christian Science, but does not practice it.

Hermann Herring of the publication of the Christian Science denomination in Maryland says:

"Miss Schmidt was taken ill with heart disease a few months ago, and being a firm believer in Christian Science she had his treatment, as she had known of its efficacy and experienced the benefits of its healing on former occasions. Although she was relieved somewhat, the disease was not checked, and when dropsy resulted a short time ago, a homeopathic physician was called in, Dr. Holbrook. He pronounced the case hopeless.

"Miss Schmidt insisted from the first that she wanted nothing but the Christian Science treatment, and she had a perfect right to have any form of treatment she desired."

A RECORD-BREAKING RUN.

Special Train Travels from Boston to New York in 4 Hours 25 Minutes.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 8.—A special train ran from Boston to New York on Thursday in four hours and twenty-five minutes. This is said to have been the fastest time ever made between these points on the Consolidated Road.

The occasion of the record-breaking trip was an urgent call sent to a New York lawyer connected with the Standard Oil Company, who was in Boston, to return to New York to attend an important meeting on Thursday at noon. The lawyer hired a special train of two cars, and left Boston at 6 A. M. over the Air Line. Changes of engines and cars were made at Willimantic and New Haven, and the entire trip was made without a mishap. Most of the running was at the rate of a mile a minute.

All the trainmen received handsome fees from the single passenger.

Train Makes Sixty-six Miles an Hour.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—The fast mail train on the Burlington Road made the run last night from Chicago to Galesburg, a distance of 162.5 miles, in 157 minutes. Allowing nine minutes for stops in Chicago yards, crossings, and for oil and water, the net time was 148 minutes, or an average rate of 66 miles an hour actual running time.

DEMAND ON MOROCCO DELAYED.

Festivals Will Prevent Transaction of Business in That Country.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—A combination of Oriental solemnity and the businesslike methods of the West have created a curious situation in the Morocco tangle. The United States has been on the point of sending a warship to Morocco to compel the Sultan to pay his debts. But for word which has just been received from Consul General Gummere, American guns would within a few days be menacing Morocco's coast. But in the nick of time Mr. Gummere has cabled the State Department that it would be discourteous to threaten Morocco at this time.

The great annual religious festival of the Moors is about to begin, and it will continue well into January. During this religious festival it is the height of impiety for any truly orthodox person to transact business. The Sultan could not, without risking his soul, pay any debts, or even receive an infidel who came on diplomatic business.

The United States has therefore called off the display of force against Morocco until the middle of February, by which time the religious celebration will be over and an outsider with guns will receive attention.

The Train for Pittsburg.

Only $9.00 first-class and $8.50 second-class, New York to Pittsburg via Baltimore and Ohio R. R. on "Pittsburg Limited." Leave New York, South Ferry, 6:55 P. M., and Liberty Street 7:00 P. M., arrive Pittsburg 8:56 A. M. Pullman Drawing-room Sleeping Cars.—Adv.

A Youth Who Bore Midst Snow & Ice—a banner with the sage advice—use Evans' Ale.—Adv.

GOVERNORS ISLAND EXTENSION BENEFITS

Deciding the Government's Rights to Reclaimed Shoal Lands.

ARMY BOARD OPPOSES MILES

Great Transport Facilities, It Still Insists, Should Be on the Island's North End.

Attorney General Griggs now has under consideration the rights of the United States Government in the shoals off Governors Island. If he decides that the cession of the island by the State to the Government included the shoals, the project for the extension of the island which has been fully matured by the War Department will be begun in the near future. If he decides that the Government's rights end at the present shore line of the island, the project will not be abandoned, but the State will be asked to make the necessary cession to the Government to permit the work contemplated to be undertaken. That the State will make the cession, if called upon to do so, army officials interested in the project have no doubt. The improvement contemplated, they say, will prove of immense benefit both to the City of New York and the State.

The improvement has for its ultimate object the transfer of the greater part of the transport service of the United States Government from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast.

When the improvement of Buttermilk Channel, to the east of Governors Island, was proposed, the engineer officers of the army, to whom was intrusted the work of making the preliminary survey, suggested that a good way to use the dirt dredged out of that channel would be to fill in the shoals off Governors Island. By doing this, the island, they figured, could be increased to about twice its present size. There are shoals off both the north and south ends of the island. The shoals on the north do not extend out very far into the bay, but the shoals on the south extend for a considerable distance. If the island were extended so as to cover all the shoals, it would have very much the appearance of a balloon, the big end of which would face the city.

The suggestion for the improvement of the island was favorably considered by the War Department, and a board, consisting of Major Gen. Brooke, Brig. Gen. Gillespie, and Col. Kimball, was appointed to go into the project fully and report to the department. This board, after an extended investigation, reported that the project was a good one, and ought to be undertaken. They made elaborate suggestions as to the manner in which it could best be carried out. Their plan was to fill in about ninety feet of the shoals off the north end of the island, and on the land thus acquired build docks and warehouses for the transports of the army. The land acquired by the filling in of the extensive shoals to the south of the island was to be used for parade and camping grounds, or permanent barracks, as the War Department might determine.

GEN. MILES'S SUGGESTIONS.

When the board's report reached the War Department it was turned over to Lieut. Gen. Miles for his opinion. Gen. Miles, while thoroughly approving of the general project for the enlargement of the island, differed radically with the board on the subject of the best disposition to be made of the land acquired by the filling in. Gen. Miles thought that the docks and warehouses for the transports ought not to be built on the north end of the island facing the city. He found many objections to this plan, one of which was that the view effect of the island from the city would be much impaired. He suggested that instead of the north end of the island being utilized for the docks and warehouses slips be cut in the land on the east side of the island.

The board was reconvened by the Secretary of War, and Gen. Miles's suggestions submitted to the members for their consideration. The board recently made a second report to the War Department, in which it set itself against the suggestions of Gen. Miles, and gave its reasons for adhering to its original recommendations, as opposed to Gen. Miles's plan. To build piers out into Buttermilk Channel was not to be thought of, it said, because the channel was only 1,200 feet wide, and the traffic in it was such that all of that width was needed. If slips were cut into the land, acquired by filling in also, they would have to be of such length that they would extend almost across the island. This would cut up the island too much to be desirable or practicable. The reason why the slips would have to be extended for a considerable distance would be to give a safe anchorage from the severe sorms which often come in off the Narrows. With the docks on the north end of the island, shipping, it is claimed by the board, would be less liable to damage.

Col. Kimball, who is a member of the board to prepare plans for the project, was seen yesterday at the Army Building and confirmed the information about the board's two reports, and also that the Attorney General was now considering the Government's rights to the shoal lands upon which it is proposed to build.

"If the Attorney General decides that the Government did not acquire right to the shoals in the cession of the present island by the State," said the Colonel, "then application will be made to the State for the cession of the shoals, and I have no doubt that it will be granted."

"The improvement will mean a great deal to New York, will it not?"

"Undoubtedly."

"When is the transport service of the army likely to be transferred from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast?"

"As long as there is a necessity for the saving of time in the transporting of troops to and from the Philippines, the transports will be kept on the Pacific Coast. A ship sailing from San Francisco to Manila can make the trip in thirty days. It takes a ship fifty days to make the trip from New York to Manila. Under the existing Army bill the service of provisional troops now in the Philippines expires in June. Those troops will have to be brought home by that time and other sent out to take their place. The question of time in the voyages of transports between the United States and the Philippines, therefore, will remain an important consideration during most of the present year. San Francisco will hold its advantage as a place of embarkation during the coming year."

"But after troops enlisted for three years' service have been sent to the Philippines, the chief question in connection with the transport service will be the question of freight, will it not?"

"Yes."

"And it is much cheaper to ship freight from New York to Manila than it is to ship it from San Francisco to Manila, is it not?"

DIFFERENCE IN FREIGHT RATES.

"It costs just one-half to ship freight from New York to Manila what it costs to transport it from New York to San Francisco."

"And most of the goods bought for the use of the army in the Philippines are bought in the Eastern market, are they not?"

"We contract for their delivery in San Francisco, but they are bought here, and the freight charges are, of course, added to the purchase price."

"Then the transports are all likely to be sent out from New York once the necessity for the quick transportation of troops has passed and the question of freight becomes the important one?"

"That is a matter for the War Department to determine. It would be economy to have them go out from here, unquestionably."

It is clear, from what was learned that the War Department has decided to make Governors Island a great Government shipping and receiving station. The only question now at issue is whether or not it would be better to have the docks and warehouses upon the north end of the island, facing the city, or, to cut slips on the east side of the island, as suggested by Lieut. Gen. Miles.

The transport service of the United States Army has grown to great dimensions since the acquisition of the Philippines, and the United States transports are admitted to be the finest in the world. To have them plying between New York and Manila would add greatly to the commerce of New York. A number of them do go out of New York harbor at present, docks being rented for them on the Brooklyn side of Buttermilk Channel at a large cost to the Government. From 1,000 to 4,000 tons of freight are shipped from New York to the Philippines, but the greater part of the service is now on the Pacific Coast for the reason explained by Col Kimball.

Secretary Root has already sent to Congress an estimate of $1,900,000 for the improvement of Buttermilk Channel. While the extension of Governora Island is contemplated as a part of the scheme for the improvement of the channel, the projects necessarily have to be separated, for the reason that the appropriation for the improvement of Buttermilk Channel would go into the River and Harbor bill, while the appropriation for the extension of the island would have to go in the Fortifications bill.

J. SLOAT FASSETT'S MISSION.

Gone to Mexico as the New York Central's Representative to Confer with President Diaz.

Special to The New York Times.

ELMIRA, Dec. 8.—Ex-Senator J. Sloat Fassett of this city is in Mexico to-day in conference with President Diaz of the republic. The Elmiran is on a most important mission and has affairs to transact that involve millions of dollars. Upon the result of his visit depend large commercial interests. Mr. Fassett represents the New York Central Railroad Company and Senator Chauncey M. Depew of the conipany.

An important railroad is in process of construction in Mexico, partially subsidized by the Mexican Government. The New York Central is interested financially and is doing much of the work of construction. Matters arose which required arbitration.

Mr. Fassett has recently returned from Korea, where he has amassed a fortune in his gold mines, obtained through concessions from the foreign Government. Because of this he was selected to go to Mexico and accepted. He left Elmira quietly last Saturday evening on the Chicago flier. At Chicago a magnificently fitted special car was waiting for him, and he was whirled off to Mexico. Mrs. Fassett accompanied him.

Nothing was said at the time of his departure as to his destination, but his personal representative here confirmed the news that leaked out to-day of his important mission. Mr. Fassett expects to be gone about three weeks.

A $3,500,000 BOND ISSUE.

Birmingham Street Railroad and Electric Company to Improve Property.

Special to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 8.—The stockholders of the Birmingham Railway Light and Power Company, a new corporation, which recently absorbed the Birmingham Railway and Electric Company, the Birmingham Traction Company, and the Birmingham and Powderly Railroad, thus getting control of all the street-car lines as well as all electric light and power of the city, to-day voted for an issue of $3,500,000 of fifty-year 5 per cent. bonds.

Half of the issue will be devoted to taking up or indemnifying present bond issues on the various absorbed companies and the remainder will be used in extending the company's lines and making other improvements.

BRIGANDS AT WORK IN MEXICO.

Attack Catholics on a Pilgrimage and Kill Three of Them.

Special to The New York Times.

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 8.—A dispatch from San Luis Potosi, Mexico, says: "A large party of devout Catholics left here recently on a pilgrimage to San Juan de Los Lagos. They were traveling overland, and had almost reached their destination, when they were attacked by a band of brigands and robbed of their valuables and the animals they were riding.

"Several of the travelers were armed, and they offered resistance to the robbers. In the fight that enaued three of the travelers were killed and several of the robbers are believed to have been wounded. The remainder of the party arrived at San Juan de Los Lagos in pitiable condition and reported the affair to the authorities.

"A force of Rurales has gone in pursuit of the bandits."

RECEIVER FOR IRON COMPANY.

Court Takes Charge of an Embarrassed Concern in Alabama.

Special to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 8.—T. H. Aldrich has been appointed receiver of the Jones Valley Iron Company, operators by lease of the Williamson furnace in this city. The Jones Valley Company became financially embarrassed and was unable to pay its labor and other employes to the amount of about $3,500. The laborers quit work and the furnace was banked.

The laborers filed the petition to throw the company into involuntary bankruptcy, and the receiver proceedings were then instituted by the Williamson Iron Company, owners of the furnace, in order to keep the furnace in operation. The furnace makes about seventy tons of pig iron a day, which are taken by Rogers, Brown & Co., under contract.

SUING HER FATHER'S ESTATE.

Mrs. Mary Woolsey Asks for Wages Earned During His Life.

Special to The New York Times.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Dec. 8.—Mrs. Mary Woolsey, daughter of the late Zachariah Freer, is compelled to fight for a claim of $900 against Mr. Freer's estate, as her brothers refuse to pay it. Mrs. Woolsey, who is the wife of John E. Woolsey, claims that her father induced her to abandon her intentions to leave home, promising her that he would amply reward her after his death. He told her that he had invested money for her benefit in bonds and mortgages in the West. He died leaving a will by which his two sons were named executors of the estate, which was worth $80,000.

When his affairs were examined into it was found that he had at one time invested money in bonds and mortgages in some of the Western States, but he had called in his loans, and there was nothing in his possessions standing in Mary's name.

She had worked for twenty-three years and had received nothing more than her board and clothing, and she presented a bill to her brothers as executors, for six years' service at $150 a year. The other seventeen years were barred by the statute of limitations. One of the brothers was in favor of paying the bill, but the other objected, claiming that his sister had enjoyed more privileges than a servant girl and that her father had paid her dressmakers' and milliners' bills, although she had dressed expensively.

Mrs. Woolsey, it is said, had many opportunities of marrying when a girl. Her beauty was known far and wide, and her presence was sought on all social occasions. Suitors were plentiful, but she refused them, her duty to her parents being more, in her opinion, than her duty to herself. She remained unmarried until after both parents had died, and until she was forty-four years of age.

New Postal Sub-Station for New York.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Postmaster General Smith has ordered the establishment, on Jan. 1, of a postal sub-station at Second Avenue and Forty-second Street, New York, to be known as Sub-Station No. 152.

Trumpet Tongued Fame Proclaims Evans' Ale!—Adv.

SISTERS SUMMONED FOR BROTHER'S SUICIDE

Philip Sondheim Told Relatives of the Day He Would Die.

ALL HAD DINNER TOGETHER

Test Shot Fired to Convince the Younger Sister Before the Lawyer Killed Himself.

Having summoned the members of his family from their homes outside the city, and after having informed his New York friends that his last week on earth ended with Saturday, Philip S. Sondheim, a young lawyer living at the Criterion Hotel, Broadway and Forty-first Street, last night killed himself with a revolver. He was not to be turned from his purpose even by the pleadings of his sisters nor by requests written by his brother and thrust into the room in which he at one time locked himself.

For the past week young Sondheim, who went to the Philippines as a member of the Astor Battery, had been telling his friends that life for him was soon to end. He had been left some money by his father and had no business cares, so his prophecies of death were laughed at. To the bellboys in the Criterion he gave his clothing and jewelry.

"Boys," he said, "this is Tuesday. On Saturday I die. Keep these things to remember me by."

Sondheim's two sisters, living in New Jersey, and his brother, a traveling salesman for a local piano house, received a cordial invitation from him to visit him at the Criterion. The postscript to each letter contained the line, "Come early, as Saturday I die." The brothers and sisters came, but did not let his Saturday death line worry them.

Some of the young lawyer's friends were beginning to be puzzled by his sayings. Two of them went to the West Thirtieth Street Station and told of Sondheim's threats of death. Sergt. Caison, to whom they talked, advised them to make complaint against the lawyer and have him cared for. But they were unwilling to do this.

Late yesterday afternoon rumors reached Capt. Thomas of the West Thirtieth Street Station. He sent a policeman to the Criterion to investigate. The latter reported that he thought Sondheim was not insane and was merely trying to get money out of his relatives. As no one wished to make a complaint, Capt. Thomas could take no action.

The brother, Sol Sondheim, and the sisters dined with Philip in the Criterion restaurant yesterday.

One of Sondheim's sisters said to him:

"But Phil, dear, what did you mean by writing that you would die to-day?"

Sondheim leaned far across the table.

"Come to my room and I'll show you," he whispered; "it won't harm you."

The young lawyer and his younger sister went to his apartments, 102-104, on the sixth floor. Philip locked the door. From a pocket he took a big revolver that the girl knew he had carried with his battery.

"I mean just what I say," he told her; "I'm going to kill myself with this. See all its chambers are loaded."

"But, Phil, you can't do such a thing as that," cried his sister.

"Oh, you think I can't shoot, do you?" returned her brother. "See here. Do you see that spot on the wall."

He fired a shot. His sister turned the key that was still in the lock and fled down stairs.

The shot besides alarming the hotel, had attracted Central Office Detectives Armstrong and Reidy on Broadway. They hurried into the hotel, and met the girl at the foot of the stairs.

The other sister and brother came out and a plan of action was prepared. All believed that the young lawyer was insane.

It was agreed that the two detectives should go up to Sondheim's room with Manager Amer of the hotel and the brother. They carried a letter from the brother to the young lawyer, begging him to come to his senses. They stood aside from the door for fear of shots, while Mr. Amer pushed the letter under the door. They waited anxiously, starting at the slightest sound, while attendants calmed the guests on other floors.

At last a note was thrust from out the lawyer's room. It read:

I want my brother to come up to see me.

The party went down stairs, where Sol Sondheim was. He declined to go to his brother's room. Instead another letter was written inviting Philip to come down stairs if he wished to see the brother. This was passed into the room, while the two detectives stood one on each side of the door to catch Philip when he came out.

There was a quick flash, then a spring, and Philip was half way down the corridor waving the revolver over his head and shouting:

"Come on anybody that wants to die!"

Nobody moved. Philip made for the elevator, and pointing his pistol at the colored boy, said:

"First floor at once."

The detectives followed by the stairway. On the ground floor Sondheim, still flourishing the pistol, passed by his frightened elevators and made for the street. The detectives were still a long way behind. Sondheim, curiously regarded by a big crowd, turned toward Sixth Avenue. In Forty-first Street, about half way to Sixth Avenue, he met a woman.

"Don't scream," he shouted, "I'm going to kill myself."

The woman ran to Broadway, where she told Policeman Link and in a moment two other officers of Sondheim's threat. They ran after the flying Sondheim. Just as the two detectives, who were in advance, came near to Sondheim, he put the big revolver to the left side of his head and fired. Before he could be touched he was dead.

Later, Sol Sondheim claimed the body of his brother at the Tenderloin police station, where it had been taken. It was removed to an undertaker's shop near by.

It was said in the Tenderloin last night that the young man had spent large sums of money which he had inherited from his father. In most of the resorts of Upper Broadway he was known.

DR. McLAREN'S ANNIVERSARY.

He Was Consecrated Bishop of Chicago Twenty-five Years Ago — High Church Rites Yesterday.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Ceremonies in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the consecration of Bishop William Edward McLaren as head of the Chicago Diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church were begun this morning in the Cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul. There was celebration of the Holy Communion, with High Church rites similar to those just a month ago in Fond-du-Lac, Wis., which caused so much discussion in Church circles.

Twenty years ago it would have been impossible for a service of this character to have been held in any Episcopal church in Chicago. At that time Bishop McLaren himself, according to one high in local church circles, opposed the very form of service which was so impressively observed this morning. The manner in which Bishop McLaren has conciliated the opposing elements of the diocese, which were at swords' points when he took up his duties, has won for him the love of the clergy and laity and the appellation of the "wise administrator."

Building Association Assigns.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 8.—The Missouri Guarantee Savings and Building Association made an assignment in the sum of $100,000 this afternoon to William H. Verity, trustee, for the benefit of the creditors and stockholders. All property, real, personal, and mixed was included in the assignment.

Christmas Holiday Rates South via Southern Ry. New York Offices, 271 and 1,185 Broadway.—Adv.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY PARK.

Residents of Rye and Other Towns Advocating a Bill for Funds to Build It.

Special to The New York Times.

RYE, N. Y., Dec. 8.—The plan to have a large public park for Westchester County has been revived. John A. Gwynne, a wealthy New York banker, who lives in Rye, and a number of other prominent residents of the county, are said to be drafting a bill which establishes a county park at Rye, and it will be presented to the Legislature if the approval of the Board of Supervisors can be obtained. Mr. Gwynne said to-day:

"The bill will provide for an issue of $500,000 of bonds, $300,000 of which will be used for the purchase of land at Rye and Oakland beaches and Edward Beach Hill, overlooking Long Island Sound. The remaining $200,000 will be spent for free bathing houses, pavilions, and for the setting out of trees and other improvements about the park. The park will contain 300 acres of the finest shore land on Long Island Sound.

"The park would be accessible by trolley roads to people on both sides of the county, and would be a great attraction to suburban and Summer residents."

TARIFF FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

Commission Frames a Bill Making Imports from Here Dutiable.

MANILA, Dec. 8.—The Philippine Commission has prepared a bill fixing the duties upon imports and exports. There will be a public discussion of the measure next week. Importations from the United States into the islands are dutiable. The importation of explosives, adulterated wines, articles under false trade marks, and apparatuses used in games of chance are prohibited. The rates of duty have not been perfected.

MARCUS DALY'S NEPHEW SHOT.

His Wife Tries to Kill Him on the Street in Missoula, Mon.

Special to The New York Times.

MISSOULA, Mon., Dec. 8.—James Shields, a bookkeeper, was shot in the back at 9 o'clock this morning by his wife. The bullet lodged in the muscles of the back, whence it was extracted by a surgeon, who said the wounded man was not dangerously injured. Mr. Shields is a nephew of the late Marcus Daly and Mrs. Shields is the daughter of respected parents residing in Bonner.

Mr. and Mrs. Shields for years have not been living together happily. Early this morning she went to a second-hand store, borrowed a revolver, and after purchasing cartridges, called at the store where Shields is employed, and asked him to come out. The parties walked up the street to their apartments, soon after reappearing on the street.

When Shields started to leave her she drew the revolver and fired two shots in rapid succession, one of which took effect as described. Shields ran over to the Higgins block for medical attention, while she continued down the avenue. She was arrested by Sheriff Vlolett and escorted to jail.

MAY INCREASE CAPITAL.

Chicago City Railway Company Wants $5,000,000 More Stock.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—At the annual meeting of the Chicago City Railway Company next month the stockholders will be asked to authorize an increase of $5,000,000 in the capital stock of that corporation. This move is taken with a view of putting the Directors in a position to retire the outstanding issue of 4½ per cent. bonds with the proceeds of a stock issue, if that plan should be decided upon.

If the recommendation with regard to an increase in the stock is adopted the total authorized issue of the company will be $19,000,000.

ARTISTS IN A HAUNTED HOUSE.

Four Men Defy Ghosts Which Are Said to Appear Nightly.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., Dec. 8.—Four artists are living in a haunted house at North Mianus, within sight of Henry O. Havemeyer's mansion, defying ghosts which are said to appear nightly. They are Louis Loeb and Albert Sterner, illustrators; Ernest Benson, water colorist, and W. G. Schneider, miniaturist. They have lived in the house for nearly six months, and yet their nerves are steady and the work they produce bears no suggestion of what the place of their toil is.

The house is a three-story farmhouse with a wing, with a stone wall in front, and near it an old-fashioned well sweep. The main house is double, with rooms on each side of a broad hall. In one of the rear rooms years ago a man named Carpenter cut his throat with a razor. He had become doubled up with rheumatism in his old age, and, being without relatives, committed suicide in despair. The blood stains remain on the floor to this day and no amount of scrubbing will remove them. After his death the house was unoccupied until the artists hired it last Summer and set up their studio therein. No ghost talk could scare them, they said, and from their silence since it is judged that they have not seen many spirits from the other world.

The story told by North Mianusites is that night after night at a certain hour there comes stealing across the threshold of the door the shadowy form of the old man, and that he re-enacts the gory scene, witnessed only by the moon peeping in at the windows. There are those who profess to have seen the ghostlike form, and others who express their doubts.

The artists have little company to annoy them, and so look upon the story of ghosts as a blessing in disguise.

TO STUDY MOVEMENT OF STARS.

D. O. Mills Will Defray Expenses of an Astronomical Expedition.

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 8.—D. O. Mills of New York, at the request of President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, has promised the University of California to defray the expenses, about $24,000, of a two years' astronomical expedition from the Lick Observatory to South America or Australia. The object of the expedition is to study the movement of stars in the line of sight. This work has already been done at the Lick Observatory over about three-fourths of the sky. Two years' work at an observing station south of the equator will complete the first general survey ever made of the heavens for this purpose.

By the use of the great spectrograph presented by D. O. Mills several years ago the Lick Observatory has done remarkable spectroscopic work. Acting Director W. W. Campbell will begin the preparations for the expedition at once.

DOESN'T LIKE HER POLITICS.

Boy Indignant at Teacher's References to Sinners and Publicans.

Little Harry Brown comes from a family of stanch Republicans, and is himself a strong supporter of the party cause. Last Sunday Harry returned from Sunday school to his Staten Island home very much incensed with his teacher, and informed his mother that he was not going to go to Sunday school any more.

"Why, what's the matter, Harry?" asked his mother. "I thought you liked to go to Sunday school."

"Well, mamma," said he, "Sunday school is all right, but I don't like the teacher. She's a Democrat, and is all the time talking about sinners and publicans, and I know that there are just as many Democrats sinners as Republicans."

Florida and the South.

Southern Ry. Popular Route. Perfect Dining and Sleeping Car Service. N. Y. Offices, 271 and 1,185 Broadway.—Adv.

DIVED TO HIS DEATH BEFORE THOUSANDS

Tragic End of a Bicyclist in an Amateur Circus.

HIS SISTER SAW HIM DIE

Twenty-second Regiment Armory the Scene of the Accident—Fall from an Inclined Plane.

Over 3,000 men, women, and children, witnessing an amateur circus performance at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory yesterday afternoon, saw Joseph C. Starck, a professional bicycle rider, dive to his death from an incline thirty feet high into a tank of water. Starck's head struck the side of the tank.

He sank in four feet of water, and was taken out a few seconds later by two members of the regiment, who carried him to a side room, where he died within half an hour without having recovered consciousness.

A peculiarly sad feature of the accident was the presence of the bicyclist's sister, Edith Starck. Miss Starck was in a box when her brother took the leap, and fell to the floor in a dead faint when she saw what had happened to him.

The performance was called "The Old Country Circus," and was being held for the benefit of the regiment. A number of professional performers had been engaged to aid the amateurs, but Starck's presence there was quite by chance.

He and Fred Farrell have for several years been touring the country in the specialty of aerial diving, and last week were playing at Proctor's Pleasure Palace. Farrell got permission from Mr. Proctor to take part in the circus, and successfully performed the leap on Friday night.

For some reason that could not be learned last night, Starck took his place at the matinee. Both men had given their act hundreds of times in various parts of the United States and Canada, and were as much at home diving from high places as riding a wheel on the street level.

In the drill room a long incline had been built from the east wall of the drill room, two hundred feet to the west, and inclining so that the west end is about thirty feet from the floor. Thirty-five feet still further west is the tank, about thirty feet long and fourteen feet wide.

Inside the wood frame had been placed a copper lining standing six feet from the floor, and with but a four-foot level of water. Starck's act was to roll down the incline and at the edge take the dive, leaving his wheel to fall into a net stretched below.

The act was to have come last yesterday afternoon, but was put forward three numbers. Cliff Dean, a vaudeville comedian and a friend of Starck, acted temporarily as announcer in the absence of the regular man. Dean took his place on the floor, and, raising a megaphone to his lips, called out to Starck, who was then high up on the incline:

"Joe, how do you feel?"

"Great," was Starck's reply; "never better."

The audience at this point followed Starck's every movement.

"All ready?" asked Dean.

Starck nodded and Dean fired the pistol. The bicycle shot down the two hundred feet of pathway, gathering speed at every turn. Contrary to his usual custom in the act

AGED CITY PRIEST DEAD

Father Everett of the Church of the Nativity Passes Away.

His Work for the Poor as Physician and Ministrant—His Hatred of Publicity.

The Rev. Father William Everett, the oldest Roman Catholic priest in the Archdiocese of New York and for more than a generation rector of the Church of the Nativity in Second Avenue, near Third Street, died at his residence, adoining the church, at 10:10 o'clock Friday evening. He also enjoyed the distinction of being one of the oldest practicing physicians in the city. He had, however, followed that profession for only a few years, leaving it to study for the Episcopal ministry. Before embracing the Catholic faith in early manhood he had filled several important positions in the Episcopalian Church in and around this city.

Father Everett had not said mass for three years owing to his advanced age, but assisted at mass until three weeks ago. His death was due principally to old age, though he had been ill with pneumonia for two weeks. His mind was clear almost to the moment of dissolution, and he conversed with the priests and members of his household about his bedside up to the last hour, bidding them all "Good-bye" at the end and saying:

"I have come to the close of my life. I have lived my life out and am only waiting until my Lord shall call."

Father Everett's career was distinguished by his retiring habits of life and his conservative ways. He dreaded publicity and loved old things, opposing innovations in his church and home. So great was the force of this habit that at the rectory last night they pointed out the one chair which he had always used in his dining room for forty-five years. The poor had frequent reason to remember him because of his many charities and his exercise of the physician's skill among his people.

Father Everett was born in Albany, Aug. 11, 1814, and came from an old New England family, his parents being Jesse Everett and Abigail Parker Everett. He came to this city when nine years old and received a diploma as a physician when but nineteen years old. In the same year he became a member of the Medical Society of the City and County of New York. After several years of practice in this city he entered the Episcopalian Seminary, in old Chelsea, where he was a classmate of the late Mgr. Preston, with whom he was ordained as a Protestant clergyman. He had charges in Islip, L. I., and New Canaan, Conn. Afterward he became the assistant of Dr. Howland in this city. He became a convert to Rome during the tractarian movement. He entered St. John's Seminary, at Fordham, and was ordained forty-seven years ago by Archbishop Hughes in old St. Patrick's Cathedral, in Mott Street. He was sent to St. Peter's, in Barclay Street, as an assistant. From there he went to St. Joseph's, at Sixth Avenue and Washington Place, and afterward to St. Ann's, now in East Twelfth Street, but then in Eighth Street. He then came to the Church of the Nativity, in 1855, as an assistant, succeeding the late Rev. George McCloskey as rector in 1862.

He married the grandparents of many of the children now in the Sunday school, though the great majority of the worshippers at the church have left the neighborhood. So great was his desire to avoid publicity that he would not permit his friends to celebrate his birthday. For years Archbishop Corrigan, who will take part in his obsequies, sent him a message of congratulation, generally accompanied with some token of esteem, on these anniversaries. It was perhaps out of regard for this peculiarity of the old clergyman that the Rev. Bernard J. Reilly, acting rector of the church, did not cause crape to be displayed on the rectory door until late yesterday, and few of the parishioners knew that Father Everett was dead until last evening. His nearest living relative is Horace Everett, formerly of Philadelphia, but now of Pasadena, Cal.

Father Everett's body will lie in state in the church to-morrow evening. The divine office will be said Tuesday at 9 A. M. by more than 150 priests, and solemn mass an hour later, at which the celebrant will be the Rev. Father Michael Salley of St. Patrick's Church, Newburg, N. Y., with the Rev. Father Michael J. Considine of Holy Trinity Church, in West Eighty-second Street, as deacon, and the Rev. Father Joseph F. Sheahan, rector of St. Mary Magdalene of Pocantico Hills, N. Y., as sub-deacon. All three have served as assistants to Father Everett. The Rev. Joseph H. McMahon, head of the Cathedral Library in this city, will be master of ceremonies, and the sermon will be by Mgr. Mooney, Vicar General of the archdiocese, while the absolution will be pronounced by Archbishop Corrigan. The interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

HORSE THIEVES AT STAMFORD.

Milk Man's Barn Raided and Animals and Wagons Taken.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., Dec. 8.—Horse thieves visited West Stamford last night and made a wholesale raid upon the barn of Harry K. Palmer, on Palmer's Hill. Three horses were taken, three sets of harness, three wagons, all of the blankets, rubber coats, and coverings which the thieves could lay their hands upon. The thieves—for it is quite evident it was the work of more than one—succeeded in getting away without disturbing anybody. Even the two dogs kept in the barn remained quiet.

Mr. Palmer visited the barn at 2 o'clock this morning to begin getting ready for to-day's milk route. Only one horse remained. It was quite evident, too, that an effort had been made to take this animal.

A saddle had been placed upon his back, as though one of the thieves intended to ride him. The animal is a kicker, however, and permits nobody to mount him except his owner.

WHITE CAPS DYNAMITE A HOUSE.

Dwelling Was Occupied by an Alabama Man Who Had Been Warned.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 8.—A special from New Decatur, Ala., says: The residence of A. J. Thomas, near Cluttsville, in this county, was wrecked last night by dynamite. The crime is believed to have been the work of White Caps. Thomas, who is a single man of about forty, had, it is alleged, as occupants of his house seven women.

He had been repeatedly asked to send the inmates of his house away and had recently received warnings from a so-called White Cap committee. One of the women was badly injured in the explosion.

INJURED IN A TRAIN WRECK.

Twenty Persons Hurt in a Collision in West Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—Twenty persons were more or less seriously injured to-day in an accident on the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad at Gray's Ferry station, in West Philadelphia. An empty box-car jumped the track and damaged several of the passenger coaches on the express train which leaves Washington at 11 o'clock A. M. for New York. Miss Emma Dougherty of Chester had both legs broken and is in a critical condition, and Miss Ella Little, also of Chester, was dangerously injured.

The express train was made up of three Pullman cars, a dining car, and six day coaches. The latter were filled with residents of Chester, Penn., and most of the injured were of their number. Among those hurt were F. S. Holloway and Clarence Pullen of New York. The injuries of the former are slight, but the latter was badly bruised. About thirty others were slightly injured by broken glass, but were not taken to the hospitals. The Pullman cars contained Washington and Baltimore passengers almost exclusively.

As the express approached the Gray's Ferry station an empty box car, which was being shifted, left the rails and fell against the passenger train. The parlor cars escaped injury, but one of the day coaches was almost wrecked, while three others were badly damaged.

The Alfred the Great Anniversary.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—The American tribute to the memory of King Alfred the Great, the one thousandth anniversary of whose death is to be commemorated by the English-speaking peoples next September, will be arranged by Philadelphians. Mrs. Charles Custis Harrison, wife of Provost Harrison of the University of Pennsylvania, who is in charge of the celebration, has announced an Executive Committee of representative Philadelphians, which will appoint committees in all the large cities to aid in the observance of the occasion.

THE HAY-PAUNCEFOTE TREATY.

British Sentiment Is Against Agreeing to Any Amendments.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—The Nicaragua Canal creates only mild interest in England. The long cable dispatches dealing with the probable action of the United States Senate and its deliberations are read by the general public with comparatively little interest and less understanding.

The report that the British Government has in any way indicated its willingness to accept the amended treaty is utterly false. In fact, the indications, such as they are, point to Great Britain refusing to consider any amendment to what the Foreign Office already believes to be a generous concession. To quote a high authority:

"We would not have abrogated the Clayton-Bulwer treaty for any other nation in the world. Unless all the traditions of British foreign policy are reversed, I fail to see how we can afford to give away any more advantages, even to America."

No official representation or inquiries have yet been made to the Foreign Office, where it is pointed out that it is impossible to form any final judgment until the Senate acts. That war, or even a serious misunderstanding, could ever result from such a cause receives no official or public credence.

J. B. MORRIS WEDS SECRETLY.

Was Married on Dec. 5 to Miss Violet L. Willing, Mrs. J. J. Astor's Only Sister.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8.—Announcement was made here to-night of the marriage last Wednesday of John B. Morris, formerly of this city, brother-in-law of Frederick Gebhard, to Miss Violet Lee Willing of Philadelphia, the only sister of Mrs. John Jacob Astor. The wedding took place in New York, the Rev. Dr. G. C. Houghton officiating. Nothing about it was known here until to-night, when Mrs. Morris, the mother of the bridegroom, received a telegraphic announcement from her son. She said she was not surprised, because she had known of her son's attentions to Miss Willing.

Mr. Morris has been living in New York for some time, being connected with the firm of Talbot J. Taylor & Co. He is well known in Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York society.

LIVE STOCK EXHIBITION CLOSES.

Chicago Affair, Patronized by Passholders, Ruu at a Loss.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—The International Live Stock Exposition is not a paying investment. A deficit of $12,000 exists that must be made up by the Union Stock Yards Company. A visitor to the grounds at any time since the exposition opened, a week ago, would be led to believe that the show was one of the best paying enterprises in Chicago. The crowds at all times were enormous; they came early and late; they were to be found everywhere.

Fully 50,000 persons on the average attended the exposition each day since last Sunday. But, in spite of that extraordinary interest, the exposition was run at a loss. The reason for this is manifest. The receipts at the gates did not exceed $4,000. Only one-fiftieth of those who saw the show were obliged to pay the entrance fee of 50 cents. The rest came in on passes and enjoyed the privileges of the exhibition without charge.

MORE HOYT ESTATE CLAIMANTS.

Relatives on the Playwright's Mother's Side Enter the Field.

Special to The New York Times.

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 8.—It seems that Mrs. Mary E. Green of this city is not to have a monopoly of contesting the will of her first cousin, Charles H. Hoyt. Joseph B. Hoyt of Nashua, another first cousin on the paternal side, has retained Wason & Moran of Nashua as counsel.

Now come the relatives of Mr. Hoyt on his mother's side, who have retained as counsel Hermon Holt of Claremont, who has already made application for administration of the estate in the office of the Judge of Probate for Sullivan County. These relatives are cousins and are M. H. Barstow of Lebanon, N. H.; Mrs. Harlet Barstow Brainerd of Chicago, Louise J. Barstow Burnham of Norwich, Vt., and Mrs. Anna Barstow Tarleton of Brooklyn. These are brother and sisters, and were first cousins of Mr. Hoyt's mother.

HERNE'S TRAIN IN COLLISION.

Accident to "Sag Harbor" Special Causes Six Hours' Delay.

Special to The New York Times.

TROY, N. Y., Dec. 8.—An accident happened on the Boston and Maine Railroad at Cemetery Avenue this morning that caused considerable damage and delayed all trains for several hours. A special train made up of a locomotive, Pullman sleeper, and baggage car, and having aboard James A. Herne's "Sag Harbor" company left North Adams at 1 A. M. The company was bound for Wilmington, Del. Local employes of the Boston and Maine were switching to make a freight train, and intended to go back for several cars left on the track. Before they did so the special came along and the collision occurred.

No one was hurt, but the members of the company were shaken up and badly scared. The platform cars were smashed into kindling wood, and the engine was completely demolished except the cab, one Pullman also being damaged. The engineer and fireman remained in the cab and escaped injury. The engineer stated that he was running at a rate of from twelve to fifteen miles an hour, and that he did not see the platform cars until it was too late to stop. Another engine was procured and the special started again for Wilmington six hours late.

SMALLPOX IN THE KLONDIKE.

Official Order Issued Requiring 15,000 Persons to be Vaccinated.

TACOMA, Washington, Dec. 8.—Mail advices say there are about thirty cases of smallpox at Dawson. Prompt measures have been taken for checking the spread of the disease.

Advices from Yukon say the Yukon Council has passed an ordinance requiring all persons in Yukon territory to be vaccinated. Fifteen thousand persons are affected by this order.

MORE SHIPS FOR THE NAVY.

Congress May Be Asked for Two Battleships and Two Cruisers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—It is expected that the forthcoming Naval Appropriation bill now being framed by the House Committee on Naval Affairs will contain provision for two more battleships and two armored cruisers, following the recommendations of Secretary Long. The item of new ships has not yet been reached or settled, but as a result of the discussion among members the belief was expressed by them to-day that there practically was no doubt the two battleships and two armored cruisers would be incorporated in the bill.

Admiral Hichborn, Chief of the Bureau of Construction, was before the committee to-day. His estimates are about $21,000,000 for the construction already authorized.

This is considerably more than ever before, and Admiral Hichborn explained that it was the necessary result of the large amount of naval shipbuilding which recent Congresses had authorized.

In view of the Admiral's retirement March 4 next, Chairman Foss and his associates on the committee united in informal expressions on the notable service he had given in the construction of the new navy.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Dec. 8.—Fire early to-day destroyed the main building of the Iowa State Agricultural College at Ames. Estimated loss, $100,000; uninsured.

DULUTH, Minn., Dec. 8.—Fire caught in the lumber piles of the Tower Lumber Company, at Tower, Minn., this afternoon, doing damage estimated at $80,000.

CANTON, Ohio, Dec. 8.—The Saxton block, one of the largest buildings here, was burned to-night, and the Opera House, adjoining; was badly damaged. The Saxton Building was occupied by Kenny Brothers, department store. The loss will be quite heavy.

FIRE ALARM BOX FAILED

Ten Minutes' Delay in Calling Engines to Greenwich Street.

Truck Breaks Down, Chief Croker Ignores the Police, and the Flames Eat Up $60,000.

Owing to the firm alarm box at the corner of Barclay and Greenwich Streets being out of order, a policeman last night had to turn in a "still alarm," and by the time the engines appeared a fire that had broken out in the three-story brick building at 241 Greenwich Street had gained strong headway, and three buildings were gutted before the flames were got under control.

The fire was discovered at 7:40 o'clock by Policeman Lockhart in the cellar of No. 241, occupied by the Mattson Rubber Company. Policemen McKinney, Jones, and Quirk as well as Lockhart turned in an alarm from the same box, but it did not work. Policeman Lockhart then ran to the house of Truck No. 10, at Fulton and Church Streets, and gave a "still alarm." Lockhart says he found the Foreman there reading a newspaper, and that the first alarm the company received came in after he reached there.

Meantime Policeman McKinney started to run to the house of Truck 1, on Murray Street. When he reached Murray Street the truck was on its way to the fire, but near West Broadway a wheel parted from the truck, the axle breaking near the hub. None of the firemen was injured.

The police say there was ten minutes delay before any fire apparatus arrived, and Policeman Lockhart declares that when he drew the attention of Chief Croker to the delay and to the defective fire box the Chief remarked:

"Mind your own business! I have no time to talk to you."

When questioned, Chief Croker said if there was any delay it was the fault of the police.

The fire was finally got under control at 8:30 o'clock, when damage to the amount of about $60,000 had been done. The premises at No. 243, occupied by the Straus Rubber and Tire Company, and at No. 239, occupied by William H. Woglom, were also gutted and the stock of all three concerns destroyed.

Dense clouds of smoke and fumes of burning rubber came from the buildings. A water tower was raised in Greenwich Street and the firemen also fought the flames from the down-town side of the Ninth Avenue elevated structure, traffic on which was stopped.

James A. Straus, manager of the rubber company at No. 243, said he was fully insured. It is believed that the other losses are covered by insurance.

HARVARD'S "GLASS FLOWERS."

Rare Botanical Specimens Reproduced by Secret Process Known Only to Rudolph Blaschka.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 8.—Every visitor to Harvard is sure to ask where he can see the "glass flowers." The Ware collection of Blaschka models of flowers, as it is called, was made by Leopold Blaschka and his son, Rudolph, in Germany, and secured to the university by the generosity of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Ware and Miss Mary L. Ware of this city, who have established it as a memorial of the late Dr. Charles E. Ware. The elder Blaschka died in 1895, leaving his son to continue the work alone. The process which they have used is a secret one, and Rudolph, as the last of his line, has said the process should die with him.

Some zoological work in glass, made by the Blaschkas, suggested to Dr. Goodale, the head of the Botanical Museum, that the same process might be used to make models from the living plant, which should be permanent and free from decay, and in which the color and bloom of the original, impossible to preserve in pressed or alcoholic specimens of plants, should be combined with complete scientific accuracy. Dr. Goodale's first overture to the Blaschkas in 1886 met with a downright refusal, but tact, perseverance, and the offer of terms which doubtless seemed princely, finally prevailed. This year the contract, which they entered into in 1890 to give their time exclusively to the Botanical Museum, has been renewed for an indefinite period.

With the first money secured from the university, the Blaschkas located in Hosterwitz. Not far away are the royal garden and greenhouses at Pillnitz, which, with the botanical gardens in Dresden, furnish such living material as is required in making the models. These at first were a little crude, but the work has steadily improved in quality, in exactness, and in beauty each succeeding year.

The models do not look like glass at all. The surface of the leaf of a water plant has the waxy effect of the real leaf. The very hairs, or tiny excrescences which grow on the stems of certain plants are reproduced with an accuracy which one would have thought beyond human skill. The color is naturally the most effective characteristic of the models—its freshness, its brilliancy, or tenderness, as the case may be, and its absolute portrayal to the natural flower. Another striking point is their seeming fragility and their real toughness and durability.

The cardboard on which they were originally fastened has been found liable to warp, and it is proposed to transfer the whole collection to tablets of white plaster of paris. The models are, of course, life size, ranging from the humblest and smallest field flower to such superb specimens as a great branch of the Eucalyptus, two and a half feet long. Remarkable as this collection now is, it is to be considered as only the beginning of the great and systematic exhibition which Harvard will have to show in coming years, if Rudolph Blaschka's life is prolonged. He is now forty-three years old, an artist possessing a unique and unequaled process of copying the most delicate and perishable of natural things, and a botanist of the keenest observation and the greatest love for his subject.

NEGROES GOING TO LIBERIA.

About 250 Will Ship at the Port of Savannah Jan. 1.

Special to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 8.—The Liberian Colonization Society of this city has arranged to ship its first lot of negro emigrants to Monrovia, Liberia, Africa, the first of the year, via the Port of Savannah. The negroes will be gathered here, and will be sent to Savannah by rail, and will leave that port in a vessel chartered for the express purpose of taking them to Africa. There will be two hundred and fifty negroes in the lot, and others are to follow at regular intervals.

They come mostly from the cotton belts of Arkansas, Mississippi, and Alabama, and have secured their passage by monthly payments to the society. The present society, which was organized several months ago, has no connection with the African Emigration Society, which two years ago left several hundred negroes en route to Liberia stranded in Jersey City.

TYPHOID IN SING SING PRISON.

Seventeen Convicts Down with the Disease—Drinking Water Blamed.

SING SING, N. Y., Dec. 8.—Warden Johnson announced to-day that typhoid had broken out among the convicts in Sing Sing prison, caused, it is supposed, by the drinking water. There are seventeen cases of the disease in the prison hospital. Dr. Irvine, the prison physician, held a conference with Warden Johnson to-day, and it was decided that a wing in the new State building shall be used as an emergency hospital. The supply of water to the prison comes from the Croton reservoir, and the water, before it is consumed in the prison, is boiled.

Warden Johnson said that relatives and friends of the inmates of the prison who visit the institution will be subjected to a rigid examination, and if they are from districts where there is any contagious disease they will not be admitted. Packages for the prisoners will only be received when they are shipped direct from the stores where purchased.

Part of Brussels Flooded.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 8.—Owing to recent heavy rains the River Senne has overflowed the suburbs and inundated a portion of the city. The Rue du Cercle is under water. The inhabitants are imprisoned in their houses, and some stock has been drowned.

STOLEN FURS RECOVERED

Former Jockey and His Actress Wife Held for Stealing Them.

Many Valuable Articles Were Taken from Kramer's Store—All but Two Pieces Found.

Through good detective work, Capt. Schmittberger of the West One Hundredth Street Station and Detective Walsh have recovered nearly $5,000 worth of furs belonging to many wealthy residents of the upper west side, which were stolen two weeks ago from Samuel Kramer, a furrier, at 612 Columbus Avenue, who had them for repair and storage. William Poth and his wife, Minnie, who lived on the upper floor of the flat at 828 Amsterdam Avenue, were held yesterday morning in the West Side Court by Magistrate Mayo, in default of $1,000 bail each, charged with the burglary. Many of the owners of the furs have called at the station to identity their property, and incidentally to compliment Capt. Schmittberger and his detectives.

The robbery was discovered on the night of Nov. 25 by the man on post. He found the front door of Kramer's store open, and saw that a large amount of stock was missing. He reported the theft to Capt. Schmittberger, and when the Kramers came to their store the next morning, they found the police in charge. The Kramers became frantic when they learned of the burglary. Kramer cried despairingly that he was ruined, and that if the goods were not found there was nothing left to him but suicide. His wife, in her frenzy, threw herself on the floor and wept.

When Capt. Schmittberger had a chance to look over the ground he pronounced it a "straight case," carrying some comfort to the Kramers. He hunted about for a clue, and found it. He and Detective Walsh learned that a man was going about the neighborhood trying to sell a horse and buggy, and was also offering a fine sealskin sacque for sale. The trail finally brought the police to Poth's flat. Detectives Walsh, Lohmeyer, and McManus called at the flat on Friday night, and asked for Poth. A woman, who said she was a friend, said Poth had gone to New Jersey to see his sick wife. She started to go out, but the detectives arrested her. The flat was then searched, and most of the furs found.

Mrs. Poth revealed her identity at the station. She told the police that a man named Johnson was the real thief, and that she and her husband had simply taken the furs to keep for him, not knowing that they had been stolen.

Poth returned to the flat at 3 o'clock in the morning. He was nearly paralyzed with fear by running into the detectives, who seized him as he stepped across the threshold. Poth had with him a sealskin sacque valued at $300, and a fur-lined cloak worth $500. He first gave his name as Johns, but later confessed to his right name.

The police learned that he had been trying to pawn the garments in the neighborhood, but the pawnbrokers in Capt. Schmittberger's precinct are shy of taking expensive goods and turned the burglar away.

When Kramer learned of the recovery of so many of the furs he ran to the One Hundredth Street Station. Throwing himself on the furs, he clasped them in his arms.

"I'm saved. I'm saved," he cried, smiling upon the policemen and detectives around him.

Poth formerly kept the road house at One Hundred and Sixty-ninth Street and Jerome Avenue, a resort for sporting men and a place where prizefighters used to train. The prisoner at one time was a jockey. His wife was at one time on the variety stage, and has traveled around the world as a variety actress.

Capt. Schmittberger said last night that he had recovered all the goods with the exception of two seal garments. Two tags that had evidently been cut from stolen garments were found. One is that of "Paul Dominick, 1383 Broadway," and the other "John Wanamaker, Philadelphia and New York."

Following is a list of those whose furs were recovered: Mrs. Laidlaw, 49 West Eighty-fifth Street, Persian lamb coat; Mrs. Cohn, 108 West Eighty-fourth Street, electric seal cape; Mrs. H. Arrington, 629 Columbus Avenue, Persian lamb cape; Miss Newman, 115 West Eighty-ninth Street, mink cape; Mrs. L. Brum, 348 Central Park West, mink cape; Mrs. Brissel, 158 West Eighty-eighth Street, fur-lined circular; Mrs. R. Thompson, 101 West Eighty-sixth Street, electric seal jacket; Mrs. Bixby, 552 Columbus Avenue, electric seal jacket; Mrs. Taylor, 73 West Eighty-eighth Street, sealskin coat and mink collar; Mrs. Anderson, San Remo Hotel, Persian lamb cape; Mrs. Weshler, 53 West Ninety-seventh Street, sealskin coat; Mrs. Kennedy, 50 West Ninety-fourth Street, mink cape.

PRESBYTERIAN REVISION.

Committee Finds Changes Are Demanded, but It Makes None.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—After two hours' deliberation to-day the Presbyterian Committee concluded its discussion of the revision of the Westminster Confession of Faith and adjourned. The committee finds on examination of the returns from the Presbyteries the following facts:

"1. That the returns plainly indicate that the Church desires some changes in its credal statment.

"2. These returns indicate plainly that no change is desired which would in any way impair the integrity of the system of doctrine contained in the Confession of Faith.

"3. These returns also indicate that a large plurality desire that changes should be made by some new statement of present doctrines.

"4. These returns also indicate a desire upon the part of many Presbyteries for some revision of the present Confession."

It was therefore unanimously agreed by the committee to recommend to the General Assembly that some revision or change be made in the confessional statements. Substantial but not final agreement was reached as to the method of preparing changes embodying both revision and supplemental statement, but the determination of the whole matter was deferred to a subsequent meeting.

The committee will convene in this city Feb. 12 next, to finally prepare its statemen to the General Assembly in May.

VIEWS OF DR. HENRY VAN DYKE.

Revision Will Surely Come, He Says—No Possibility of a Split.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 8.—The Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, who is a member of the Committee on Revision of the Presbyterian creed, made a statement to-day in which he said that revision must surely come.

"The idea that there was any misunderstanding at the meeting of the committee at Washington is an absolute mistake," said he. "The committee was appointed first of all to get light from the Church at large on the subject of amendment of the Presbyterian doctrine of standard and then to suggest the best mode by which such amendment could be accomplished.

"The committee unanimously found it evident beyond the shadow of a doubt that an overwhelming majority of the Church was in favor of some such amendment. They were united also in their judgment that the Church did not desire to supplant or set aside the Westminster Confession, but only to modify in some way some of its statements, and possibly to do this by the addition of a briefer statement containing those doctrines which are essential and vital to our system of faith.

"The committee, not being altogether idiotic, never imagined that work so important could be done in three days or a week, or a month. Their first task was to find the best line along which to move in meeting the desire of the Church for amendment, for submission to the assembly and to the churches. This is a work of immense importance, and cannot be done well unless it can be done slowly. The committee needs time and proposes to take it. All their meetings thus far have been characterized by a spirit of harmony and fraternal confidence.

"There is no possible danger that I can see of a split in the Presbyterian Church. Even if the work of revision should be delayed for months or years, it is sure to come, because the Church at large demands it."

Dewey's Mother-in-Law Critically Ill.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Washington McLean, mother of John R. McLean, proprietor of The Cincinnati Enquirer, and of Mrs. Dewey, wife of Admiral Dewey, is very seriously ill of heart complications at her home here. The attending physicians have little hope of her recovery.

M. Knoedler & Co.

invite attention to their carefully selected collection of

Paintings of Various Schools, Water Colors, Etchings, and Engravings.

355 FIFTH AVE., COR. 34TH ST., N. Y.

OLD-LINE DEMOCRATS STEEPED IN GLOOM

See No Chance of Winning Unless Bryanism Is Killed.

Senator Vest Says Even If Party Is Purged of Populism, Success Is Twelve Years Away.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Democratic reorganisation finds little favor among either the men who are personal followers of Mr. Bryan or simply Democrats who were Bryan men for the sake of maintaining the organization. Men of the temperament of Senator J. K. Jones, who are always buoyant between campaigns and not likely to be discouraged by defeat, have not given up the notion that on a fair trial the election of Bryan is still possible, and one persistent adherent of the Nebraska man suggested to-day that so strong a man, politically and physically, would still be a good candidate even at sixty years of age.

But there are other Democrats, men who were not of the following of Bryan, either in 1896 or 1900, who talk about the future in a gloomy manner. It is well known that Senator Vest disapproved of Bryan's nomination in 1896, and he has chided his party for its ingratitude and its cowardice in not naming Bland in that year because his wife was a Roman Catholic. Mr. Vest believes that the greatest injury done to the Democratic party was that inflicted by converting it into a Populist party. Recovery from defeat at the polls he considers a small matter. It is the reason for the defeat, and not the mere lack of a majority of votes, that should be regretted.

"Reorganization," he is reported to have said to a friend in a recent conversation, "will not be a sufficient remedy, unless it is a purge of great potency. What the Democratic Party needs to prepare it for victory, which can only be won after the confidence of the country has been restored to it, is to be purged thoroughly of Populism. It has poisoned the counsels of the party since 1896, and the reluctance to recognize the fact tends to prolong its stay in the wilderness.

"But purging will not at once assure victory to the Democrats. A large part of the organization is still infatuated with Populistic ideas and the notion that the prosperity of the party depends upon the candidacy of one man, an orator of engaging voice and specious argument. To get rid of the burden of blundering will take us at least twelve years. I do not expect to see a Democratic candidate for President elected sooner, unless some almost impossible blunder shall be committed by the Republicans."

The gentleman who heard this conversation said that Mr. Vest and some friends of his manner of thinking assumed that in the next campaign there would still be strength enough in Bryan to make him a candidate, but that his nomination would be supported only by Populists, and that the Democratic Party fused with the Populists, and that there would be a Democratic candidate besides. This would assure the election of a Republican, even with a reduced Republican vote. A third defeat of Mr. Bryan might perpetuate his candidacy, because it would not convince his personal admirers that the country was not mistaken in rejecting so gifted a President.

Whether Bryan ran after that or not, the determination of the party to be foolish rather than abandon its favorite would make it contemptible and guarantee the success of the Republicans. With a return of sense and the nomination of a Democrat free from "isms" the chance of success would revive, and the inevitable disgust at the Republican Party's policies would involve that party in defeat.

Senator Heitfeld of Idaho, in a little talk to-day about political conditions in his State, discussed the probable co-operation of the Populists and Democrats in Idaho to elect ex-Senator Dubois to his old place in the Senate. Without fusion the Democrats and Populists would be beaten in the Senatorial fight by the Republicans. Mr. Heitfeld is of the opinion that fusion will be adhered to in Idaho for some time to come.

BIG THEFTS OF CLOTHING.

Thousands of Dollars' Worth Taken from Broadway Merchants.

The arrest yesterday by Detectives Larkin and McCarthy of the Fifth Street Station of two men at Fifth Street and the Bowery, uncovered a systematic thieving among the smaller dealers in the jobbing district. Already the detectives have learned enough to declare that $5,000 worth of goods has been stolen.

Three men are under arrest at the Fifth Street Station. They describe themselves as John Herring, who says he is homeless, and whom the police believe to be Charles Dortman of 105 Broome Street; Henry Wassermann of 176 Delancey Street, and Edward Katzenberg of 395 East Fifty-seventh Street, who was employed as an elevator man in the building at 715 to 719 Broadway.

Herring and Wassermann were seen at Fifth Street and the Bowery yesterday morning with a small bundle. In the bundle was found four pairs of boys' trousers, and one of the men wore three extra vests, all new. During the afternoon the detectives started out to find an owner for these goods. They learned that Cohn, Brown & Co. of 715 Broadway was the firm from which the trousers had been stolen, and that J. Friedman & Co., in the same building, had lost the vests. Livingston & Co. have also been losing stuff. The firms said they had been systematically robbed for several years, but that they had never been able to catch the thief.

Herring was recognized as a former elevator man in the building. He confessed and implicated Katzenberg, the present elevator man, who, he said, was the man who really stole the goods, and turned the stuff over to himself and Wassermann, and they then disposed of it. Thousands of dollars' worth of goods were found in pawnshops whose addresses were given by Herring. Quantities of stuff they did not know had been stolen were identified. The goods consisted of whole bolts of valuable cloth and all kinds of clothing sold by wholesale dealers.

TO ATTEND THE CELEBRATION.

Gov. Roosevelt to be Present at the Capital's December Memorial.

ALBANY, Dec. 8.—Gov. Roosevelt will attend on Wednesday next the centennial celebration of the establishment of the seat of the National Government at Washington. The celebration will be National in its character, and it is expected that the Governor of every State and Territory will attend with members of his military staff.

Gov. Roosevelt will be accompanied by Gen. Hoffman, his Adjutant General, and by Col. George C. Treadwell, his Military Secretary.

Another Animal Show for Chicago.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Arrangements were completed to-day for the annual poultry, pigeon, cat, and dog show, to be given under the joint auspices of the National Fanciers' Association, the Chicago Pet Dog Club, and the Beresford Cat Club, Jan. 21 to 26, inclusive. More than $15,000 in cash prizes, in addition to many valuable specials, will be given for the exhibit, which will be held in the Coliseum. Many foreign exhibits are promised, besides the entries from all parts of the United States.

New York's Leading Fur Establishment!

Importer and Manufacturer. HALL Established 1856.

Fur Selling Extraordinary!

Low prices for the most Reliable Furs has been our motto for the past 44 years. By handling a very large quantity of raw skins, and by manufacturing and selling Furs and Fur Garments at the smallest possible profit, we can and DO control the greatest retail fur business in the world. We favor aggressive merchandising, not a waiting, happy-go-lucky policy, and accordingly apply strenuous trade measures NOW. Beginning to-morrow morning, we shall offer such Extraordinary Values in Furs as will make this sale one long to be remembered, both by trade and purchasers. We want all the business we can get—and purpose getting all we can, RIGHT NOW, by inaugurating a Fur Sale of phenomenal magnitude—great in quantities, qualities and low prices.

There is no need to enumerate in detail the thousands upon thousands of articles that are offered in this sale—a mere epitome will suffice.

Sealskin and Persian Coats,

Made in up-to-date styles, jaunty and fashionable, high flaring and rolling collars. Our Sealskins are the best London dye, and Our Persian Lamb garments genuine Leipzig dye.

Sealskin Coats,	$125 to $275
Persian Lamb Coats,	$75 to $200
Broadtail Persians,	$175 to $350
Electric Seal (Coney),	$25 to $50
Dark Eastern Mink Capes,	$175

Storm Collars

in a great variety of reliable and comfort-giving furs—the choicest selection from the world's markets. All new, natty, exclusive, and serviceable.

Dark Eastern Mink,	$35 to $75
Persian Lamb,	$20 to $40
Sealskin,	$25 to $75
Chinchilla,	$50 to $100
Beaver,	$15 to $35
Black Marten,	$15 to $35
Mink,	$16 to $25
Alaska sable (Skunk),	$15 to $35

Children's Furs.

Children's Fur Sets,	$3 to $5
Misses' Fur Sets, from	$5 to $15

Fur Lined Overcoats, best melton and kersey cloths, lined with mink, sable or muskrat, trimmed with otter, beaver, Persian lamb or sealskin,

$65 to $250

Sealskin Gloves,	$8 to $16
Sealskin Caps,	$5 to $18
Coachmen's Capes,	$9 to $75
Men's Mufflers,	$4 to $16

Fur Neckwear.

A profusion of charmingly attractive novelties, many of our own creation, and many imported. All exclusive and elegant clusters and animal effects.

Fur Scarfs.

Dark East'n Mink,	$19 to $100
Hudson Bay Sable,	$35 to $75
Chinchilla,	$32 to $50
Brown Fox, Double,	$15 to $60
Mink,	$5 to $25
Black Lynx,	$20 to $75
All Colors of Fox,	$10 to $30
Alaska Sable (Skunk),	$5 to $30
Electric Seal, (Coney),	$4 to $7
Black and Cinnamon Bear Boas,	$25 to $50

New Large Muffs.

The skins required for these muffs are alone worth these cut prices—allowing nothing for materials and making.

Dark East'n Mink,	$18 to $45
Chinchilla,	$25 to $35
Alaska Sable (Skunk),	$7 to $12
Mink,	$9 to $20
Sealskin,	$18 to $30
Persian Lamb,	$5 to $25
Black Lynx,	$15 to $30
Brown Fox,	$12 to $25
Beaver,	$12 to $18
Electric Seal (Coney),	$3 to $5

Fur Robes and Rugs.

of every description, Tiger, Leopard, Jaguar, White, Black, Brown, Cinnamon, and Grizzly Bear, Red, Gray and Cross Fox, Panther, Wild Cat, Tiger Cat and hundreds of other kinds mounted and unmounted at prices ranging from $5 to $200.

Garments in a complete line of sizes from 32 to 50 bust.

New Illustrated Catalogue, Just Out and Mailed Free.

W. H. HALL, 346 Sixth Av

(BETWEEN 21ST AND 22D STS.)

GOLFERS' WAR ON GOATS.

Richmond Health Board Takes a Hand to Aid Them.

STAPLETON, S. I., Dec. 8.—The Health Department in the Borough of Richmond is waging war against the goats that run at large and interfere with the pleasures of the golf players. In view of the many complaints that have been received at the Health Department from members of the Fox Hill Golf Club, which is situated at Fox Hill, Sergt. Shay yesterday appeared in the Stapleton Police Court and secured summonses for a number of goatowners to appear in court and explain why they are violating the Sanitary Code by keeping goats without a license.

The members of the golf club say that the goats from Goatville, a settlement near Rosebank, inhabited entirely by Italians, turn out on the links like a regiment of soldiers and frighten the women players, while in some instances the goats chase the balls and run away with them.

The Same Old Road or Not?

"I notice that the Democratic managers complain that they lack a leader."

"Oh, that all depends on which way they desire to be led. If they have no intention of changing the direction, Bryan is still as good a man as they can find."—Chicago Post.

Climate and Predictions.

"Does this climate agree with you?"

"Yes," answered the weather prophet. "It agrees with me, but not with my predictions."—Washington Star.

AT THE HOTELS.

WALDORF

ENVOYS AT PEKING TO CONDUCT NEGOTIATIONS

All Plans for Placing Them in Other Hands Abandoned.

Text of the Agreement Reached by the Ministers Reaches the State Department.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The text of the agreement reached between the foreign envoys at Peking has been received at the State Department, and is now in process of translation from the cipher code.

The long fight over the terms of the preliminary agreement with China seems now ended, and the powers will next have to consider the arrangement of the treaty. What the envoys have agreed upon is simply a notification to China of the terms upon which they will proceed to the consideration of a treaty. The final negotiations will be placed in the hands of the envoys at Peking, who will be made Peace Commissioners for the purpose. All plans for placing the matter in other hands have been laid aside. The reason for this is that there is very little opportunity for disagreement among the envoys in drawing up the treaty. The dangerous point was in connection with the preliminary negotiations. The United States Government was afraid that the envoys would not be able to reach an agreement, and for that reason it favored the appointment of a commission. Russia was also doubtful, and wanted the matter referred to The Hague arbitration court. The envoys have, as a matter of fact, found much difficulty in coming to an agreement, and several times there have been apparently irreparable breaks. But now that they have agreed, it is expected that the final negotiation will be plain sailing.

The envoys have been hitherto proceeding under varying instructions, and to some extent have made their own instructions. Each Government has had an idea somewhat different from the ideas of the others. But when the preliminary agreement, or protocol, is signed, the envoys will then be bound hand and foot by definite instructions. They cannot go outside the protocol, and are reduced to the position of Commissioners who are simply to carry out the terms of the agreement.

There are practically only two points which have not been covered by the protocol, and are therefore open to debate in arranging the final treaty.

One is the amount of the indemnity. At one time this would have appeared the point most likely to produce a break, but the State Department is satisfied that it will not now produce much bickering. It is stated that the various foreign offices have come to recognize the correctness of the position assumed by the United States and will not insist on an excessive indemnity.

The other question is that of punishment. By the terms of the protocol the offenders are to suffer the severest punishment possible under the circumstances. This leaves some opportunity for quarreling. Some of the powers may stick to the opinion that death is a practicable punishment. China will no doubt explain that it is impossible to decapitate persons of the rank of some of those named without disrupting the empire or upsetting the dynasty. While this question may produce trouble, it is not considered likely that it will be much more dangerous in the hands of the present envoys than in the hands of other persons who might be appointed.

The reports that China will make a counter-claim for indemnity do not affect the United States. If she makes it on the score of the punitive expeditions, she cannot make any such counter-claim to the claim of the United States, for this country has not instituted any punitive expeditions. If it is for the bombardment of the Taku forts, America is still safe, for Admiral Kempff took no part in that bombardment. It is considered here to be improbable that China can successfully maintain any claim for indemnity, but it is likely that in some shape the Taku question may come up to plague some of the powers.

A high official of the State Department said to-day that not enough credit had been given to Admiral Kempff for his admirable tact in managing affairs at Taku in the early days of the trouble. "He performed a great and valuable service to his country," said the official, "but through an unfortunate combination of circumstances the public has failed to recognize it. His supersession by Admiral Remey—an act which was determined upon long before any incident arose for which Kempff could be either criticised or praised—was spoken of as if Kempff had been recalled in disgrace. As a matter of fact, no one connected with American affairs in China has performed more admirable service than did Admiral Kempff."

MISSIONS STILL BESIEGED.

Chinese Troops Attacking Stations Under Orders from Authorities—More Foreigners Killed.

PEKING, Dec. 6.—Capts. Wingate and Ryder, who accompanied the expedition to Kalgan, returned to-day. They visited several places to which the Germans did not go, but they encountered no opposition. They learned that some twelve Europeans mostly Swedish and Norwegian missionaries, besides Capt. Watts-Jones, were massacred at Kwei-hua-Cheng by orders of the Taotai, and that 100 native Christians had also been put to death. The details of the outrages are most revolting.

Capts. Wingate and Ryder visited the Belgian station, where the priests in charge and 3,000 converts had sustained a prolonged siege by Boxers and imperial troops. They were informed that other stations further west were still besieged, not only by Boxers, but by Chinese troops acting under orders from the authorities, and this in spite of the assurances by the plenipotentiaries that the Government is doing its utmost to suppress outrages.

Chinese carrying concealed weapons are arrested daily in Peking. Natives allege that Dec. 19 has been fixed as the date of a rising against the foreigners in the capital. No alarm is felt, however, as the troops here are sufficiently numerous to deal with a rising should one occur.

POLICE BILL CONFERENCES.

Senator Platt Says the Measure Will Suit Nearly Everybody.

Senator Platt yesterday saw Judge Cohen and conferred with him about the police bill, but the Senator said there was nothing to add to what he gave out on the subject Friday night. The Senator also conferred with Gov.-elect Odell. The Senator and the Governor elect talked over various matters that will come before the Legislature, particularly about the police bill.

Senator Platt says the police measure, as finally drawn, will suit nearly everybody. The programme is to have it the first bill introduced and to put it through as quickly as possible.

NAVAL ORDER EXPLAINED.

The Iowa and Philadelphia Are Going on Usual Winter Cruise.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—It is announced at the Navy Department to-day that there is no emergency whatever requiring the hasty departure from San Francisco of the Iowa and Philadelphia. As already stated in Washington dispatches, the vessels simply are going on their usual Winter cruise to the southward. They will make their first stop at Magdalena Bay, where they will put in three weeks' time in target practice. After that they will work slowly along to the Isthmus, returning northward in about six weeks.

A cablegram from Admiral Remey announced the temporary transfer of his headquarters from Cavite to Iloilo. He sailed to-day with the flagship Brooklyn and the Zafiro for Iloilo, at which port the Don Juan de Austria arrived to-day. The Admiral's movement to the southward was explained at the Navy Department by the statement that he is engaged in an inspection of eligible sites for a naval station.

HOLLAND AND PORTUGAL.

Trouble More Serious than Supposed—No Doubt as to British-Portuguese Alliance.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Though the trouble between Holland and Portugal can scarcely result in war, it is far more serious and interesting than is generally supposed. Great Britain is concerned in the affair more deeply than appears on the surface, for it is now learned that it is due to a British protest to Portugal that the exequatur of Mynheer Pott, the Dutch Consul at Lorenzo Marques, was withdrawn.

The visit of the powerful British fleet to Portuguese waters is something more than a coincidence. The Lisbon press frankly declares it is intended as a warning demonstration to other nations to keep their hands off Portugal. The British officials also do not hesitate to admit their Government's readiness to back up the action which Portugal took at its request. Hence, Holland can do little more than gracefully make the best of a bad job, unless she receives the support of some of the great powers, which is a very remote contingency.

The temporary withdrawal of the Netherlands Minister at Lisbon and the Portuguese Minister at The Hague, though officially belittled, is the sequence of serious friction, the details of which were known to the British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the Marquis of Lansdowne, some weeks ago. The unusual action of sending the whole British Channel Squadron to Lisbon is regarded by those who have inside information, as being one of the boldest and most successful strokes of aggressive diplomacy in recent history.

With Great Britain showing such a strong hand the absent Ministers are likely to return to their posts shortly, and the incident will probably only produce an effective illustration of the fact that an alliance exists between Portugal and Great Britain. It was effected when the question of landing South African troops at Beira, Portuguese East Africa, came up, and was announced at the time in dispatches to America.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the French press regards the whole affair as a fresh menace to France, and that the Spanish papers interpret it similarly as regards their own country.

LISBON, Dec. 8.—King Carlos, Queen Marie Amelie, and Prince Royal Louis Philippe, accompanied by the members of the Cabinet and other dignitaries, were entertained at luncheon on board the British battleship Majestic by Vice Admiral Sir Harry Holdsworth Rawson to-day.

The Portuguese national hymn was sung and Admiral Rawson proposed a toast to the royal family. The King replied in English, thanking Admiral Rawson for the sentiments expressed. The royal visitors remained aboard the battleship three hours.

The officers of the British fleet later played football and lawn tennis. The King was among the tennis players.

This evening a banquet was given at the Naval Arsenal, at which 200 guests, mostly British and Portuguese naval officers, were present.

The British squadron will sail for home to-morrow.

DIPLOMAT KILLS HIMSELF.

Osakai, Secretary of Japanese Legation in Paris, a Suicide Under Mysterious Circumstances.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—Osakai, Secretary of the Japanese Legation here, committed suicide to-day. Mysterious circumstances surround the case.

At 9 o'clock this morning Osakai threw himself from the window of his room in the Luxembourg Hotel, where he was stopping. He was found upon the pavement by a passer-by with his skull fractured and his arms broken, and he died an hour later.

Osakai was about to return to Yokohama, where his family resides. He was thirty-five years of age, and was held in high esteem in diplomatic circles. The cause of his suicide has not been explained.

CHANGES IN THE PHILIPPINES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Mail advices from the Philippines show that several important changes have been made in the assignment of officers. Col. Charles W. Miner, Sixth Infantry, has been appointed by Gen. MacArthur as Military Governor of the island of Negros, vice Gen. James F. Smith, assigned to duty as Collector of Customs at Manila.

Col. Thomas MacGregor, Ninth Cavalry, has been assigned to the command of the Third District, Department of Southern Luzon, relieving Col. James Lockett, Eleventh Cavalry.

Col. Walter S. Schuyler, Forty-sixth Volunteer Infantry, has been assigned to the command of the First District, Department of Southern Luzon, vice Gen. L. R. Hare, who has been transferred to the command of the Fourth District, in the same department, relieving Col. E. E. Hardin, Twenty-ninth Infantry, who has been ordered to join his regiment.

TO PRESERVE HISTORIC PLACES.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Chicago citizens have become interested in the international movement for the preservation of places of historic interest and natural scenery in all parts of the world. At a meeting in the rooms of the Chicago Architectural Club in the Art Institute last night a branch of the National Trust for Places of Historic Interest or Natural Beauty was organized, and within the next week every association in this city that is interested in art will be called upon to join the Chicago branch of the trust.

Last night's meeting was attended by twenty-five persons who are prominent in art circles of the city, and after hearing a short address by C. R. Ashbee of England, who represents the National Trust, a resolution was unanimously adopted to join in the work of the international organization.

Mr. Ashbee explained that the object of the trust was to hold for the public good lands or buildings of beauty or historic interest and to preserve them from destruction. He said the organization desired the co-operation of all the English-speaking people of the world for the purpose of protecting and preserving historic scenes, whether they be in England, America, or other countries.

Deny Report About Miss Rockefeller.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Reports that Miss Alta Rockefeller, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, has been undergoing a remarkable operation for the relief of deafness said to have resulted from an attack of scarlet fever years ago were denied to-day by friends of E. Parmelee Prentice, whose engagement to Miss Rockefeller has been announced. Friends of the Rockefeller family, in Chicago, declared disclosures said to have been made in a letter written by a young medical student now in Vienna were without justification and wholly untrue.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL FORECAST—Fair, wind southeasterly shifting to westerly.

A disturbance of considerable intensity was moving over the extreme northern portion of the country, and was central last night over Eastern Lake Superior. It had not, as yet, caused any precipitation, except a little snow over the Lake Superior region, and it was followed by a marked high pressure area and a cold wave, the zero line extending into Northern North Dakota. The high pressure and low temperature area in the Northwest will move steadily eastward and southeastward, causing a cold wave from the eastern portion of the Dakotas eastward through the upper lake region, and also in Northern Illinois and Northeastern Iowa. It will be colder to-morrow from the West Gulf States northeastward through New England, with a cold wave in Vermont, Northern and Interior Western New York. There will be but little precipitation, except probably snow or rain to-day over Northern New York and Northern New England. On the New England and Middle Atlantic Coast winds will become brisk to high southeast, shifting to southwest and west to-night. On the South Atlantic Coast they will be fresh northerly.

Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic Coast from Sandy Hook to Eastport.

The record of temperature for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from THE NEW YORK TIMES'S thermometer and from the thermometer of the Weather Bureau is as follows:

	—Weather Bureau—		TIMES.
	1899.	1900.	1900.
3 A. M.	31	42	42
6 A. M.	30	41	40
9 A. M.	33	39	41
12 M.	40	43	44
3 P. M.	47	44	45
6 P. M.	44	44	44
9 P. M.	42	43	42
12 P. M.	37	42	41

THE TIMES'S thermometer is 6 feet above the street level; that of the Weather Bureau is 2-5 feet above the street level.

Average temperatures yesterday were as follows:

Printing House Square	42⅝
Weather Bureau	42
Corresponding date 1899	38
Corresponding date for last twenty years	37

At 8 A. M. the barometer registered 30.12, and at 8 P. M. it registered 29.98. The humidity was 69 at 8 A. M. and 66 at 8 P. M. The maximum temperature was 45 degrees at 3 P. M. and the minimum 38 degrees at 7:40 A. M.

DE WET IS HARD PRESSED

Gen. Knox Is Hot on His Trail and May at Last Catch Him.

HE ABANDONS 500 HORSES

British War Office Believes He Cannot Get More—Boers in Transvaal Capture 17,000 Sheep.

ALIWAL NORTH, Cape Colony, Dec. 7.—Gen. De Wet appears to be in a most dangerous position and to need all his strategy to extricate his force.

With strong British columns on three sides and two swollen rivers barring his front, the British commanders begin to be hopeful that the great chase by four columns, which has been one of the most exciting operations of the war, will result in the capture of De Wet.

Definite news of the Boer General's whereabouts was first received Dec. 2. The next morning Gen. Knox started in hot pursuit. Plicher's and Herbert's columns were detached to make a turning movement. After three hours' march Gen. Knox learned that during the night De Wet had doubled past the British right, necessitating a complete change of plans. During the night of Dec. 3 Gen. Knox encamped on the Carmel Farm, the site of the Boer laager, which had evidently been recently and hurriedly moved. Gen. Knox restarted at daylight, hoping to corner De Wet while crossing Karrepoort Drift, but he arrived too late.

The British experienced very great difficulty in following De Wet, owing to the rise in the river, but they succeeded, however, in crossing without the loss of a man or a beast. From that time on the pursuit of the Boers was taken up without baggage, the troops being supplied by foragers, enabling them to make more rapid movements, by which the British were able to keep in touch with the republicans.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The War Office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Bloemfontein, Dec. 8:

"Have just received news from Knox, at Rouxville, that De Wet's force, having failed to force Commassie Bridge, which we held, has trekked northeast, abandoning five hundred horses and many carts. His attempt on Cape Colony, therefore, has failed. He is being pressed on all sides."

The War Office officials believe that De Wet must soon be caught, or at least cease to be dangerous, owing to his inability to secure new horses. The War Office thinks he has been getting the bulk of his supplies from Cape Colony, and to prevent him from securing food, men, and horses orders have been issued that the Boer farmers be only allowed to buy small quantities of provisions—sufficient for their own immediate needs.

JOHANNESBURG, Dec. 8.—The Boers have captured 17,000 sheep from a small detachment of British troops in the vicinity of Krugersdorp.

CAPE TOWN GREETS ROBERTS.

CAPETOWN, Dec. 8.—Lord Roberts arrived here to-day from Port Elizabeth. A splendid reception was accorded to him.

The Mayor, Councillors, the Citizens' Committee, and thousands of sightseers met the Field Marshal at the docks and escorted him to Government House.

Functions in Canadians' Honor.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, Canadian High Commissioner in London, and Lady Strathcona, held a reception for the officers and men of the Canadian contingent, now in London on their way home from South Africa, at the Imperial Institute this afternoon. The Earl of Aberdeen was present. This evening Lord and Lady Tweedmouth gave a dinner in honor of the Canadian officers. The guests included Princess Louise, the Duke of Argyll, Lord Rosebery, the Marquis of Londonderry, Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, and the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen.

Gratuities to British Soldiers.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The War Office announces that a gratuity will be paid to every officer and man who has served in South Africa since Oct. 10, 1899. The least amount will be £5. It is roughly estimated that it will take £1,000,000 to complete the payment.

Kipling Off for South Africa Again.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Rudyard Kipling left Southampton this evening on board the steamer Tantalion Castle on their way to South Africa.

KRUEGER MAY SEE SALISBURY.

Report that the Boer Statesman Wants to Obtain a Conference—He Visits Queen Wilhelmina.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—A special dispatch from The Hague says it is reported that Mr. Krüger is seeking to obtain a conference with Lord Salisbury.

THE HAGUE, Dec. 8.—Queen Wilhelmina received Mr. Krüger in audience to-day. As the Boer statesman is traveling incognito the visit was not attended by the ceremony usually accompanying a visit by a Chief of State. A Court official proceeded to his hotel and accompanied Mr. Krüger to the Royal Palace in a state carriage.

Mr. Krüger wore a black coat, over which was a broad sash of the Transvaal colors, and the Grand Cross of the Netherlands lion. The visit lasted a quarter of an hour. The Queen, Queen Mother, and Mr. Krüger alone were present. Mr. Krüger thanked the Queen for placing the cruiser Gelderland at his disposal.

The crowds in the streets warmly cheered Mr. Krüger.

ANTWERP, Dec. 8.—A special dispatch from The Hague says Holland has no intention of attempting to secure arbitration in regard to the South African war.

PARIS, Dec. 9.—The correspondent of the Echo de Paris at The Hague says:

"The Queen said to Mr. Krüger to-day: 'Have confidence in God, who will protect you and yours. I will show my friendship when the moment arrives, but not now.'"

TO DISCUSS KAISER'S ACTION.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—Mr. Krüger's non-reception here and the reasons leading thereto will be made the subject of an interpellation in the Reichstag early in the coming week, on the first Budget debate. The Imperial Chancellor, Count von Bülow, will reply.

The excitement on the subject is still deep and far-reaching, as evidenced by to-day's Die Nation, which contains an article by Prof. Theodor Mommsen, who approves of Emperor William's decision not to receive the Boer statesman as being more dignified and more just than if he had received him, and then confessed his powerlessness to avert the South African tragedy, which is now nearing its final act.

The Vossische Zeitung takes a similar view, and says that "hypocritical France which is seeking to embroil Germany with England, would have left Germany in the lurch, probably confederating with England against Germany, after succeeding in rupturing the bonds of Anglo-German friendship."

Krueger Thanks American League.

The Consul General of the Orange Free State yesterday received the following reply to a cablegram of good wishes sent to Paul Krüger by the American Transvaal League:

I thank the Directors of the American Transvaal League and all sympathizing Americans for their greetings, and hope their kind wishes will be fulfilled.

Receiver Asked for a Chicago Railroad.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Emil A. Basener has filed a bill in the Circuit Court, setting out the liabilities and assets of the Chicago General Railway Company and asking the appointment of a receiver to collect the assets and pay the debts of the company. The Basener petition is in the form of a creditor's bill on a judgment of $12,900. It alleges that the company is insolvent, and in proof of the assertion submits to the court a table of assets and liabilities.

PLATT SAYS QUAY WILL WIN.

The Senator's Favorable View of the Chances of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty.

Senator Platt was asked last night whether the fact that he had taken Senator Quay's old seat in the Senate meant that he did not believe Senator Quay would be returned to the Senate by his State.

"Not at all, he replied. "On the contrary, I am confident that he will be returned. I have talked with Senator Quay about his prospects of re-election, and he assures me that he has enough votes to win. Those good and holy people over in Philadelphia, who have long been fighting him, have raised a fund of $150,000 with which to defeat him. But I do not believe they will be able to defeat him even by the use of such a large sum of money."

"What are the chances for the ratification of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty?"

"It will be ratified with an amendment which will make the canal an American canal. The Davis amendment, or one quite similar to it, will be adopted."

"Will the Nicaragua Canal bill pass at this session?"

"I think it will. The canal, too, will be built within the commission's estimate of $204,000,000. That estimate was carefully made and is not an under-estimate. The probability is that the canal can be completed for much less than that figure."

GOV.-ELECT DOCKERY TALKS.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Governor-elect A. M. Dockery of Missouri, who is still here looking over some of the details of work in the departments in which he became deeply interested while he was a member of the House of Representatives, asserts that the Republicans are to blame for the sweeping character of the Democratic victory in Missouri last November, their opposition having stimulated the Democrats to increased efforts, with the result that the Democratic majority in the Legislature was much increased.

Mr. Dockery is convinced that the Republicans in Congress mean to "do business" during the present session. He thinks that the Republicans will make a general settlement of their political obligations and carry out their entire legislative programme.

"I think they will pay their campaign debts," he said, "and that they will do all that they really want to do at this session. If any measure of legislation in the announced programme fails, it will be only because it is not seriously their intention to pass that particular measure. There may be a feint where action is not intended, but, in my judgment, the majority will accomplish all it sets out to do. I believe, however, that the reduction of revenue will be less than has been announced. I do not think other legislation contemplated will admit of so great a reduction.

"The Army bill is on its way to a speedy conclusion," Mr. Dockery continued. "The Ship Subsidy bill will be passed, and, unless there is some concealed reason why they do not want to do so, they will pass the Nicaragua Canal bill."

Working on River and Harbor Bill.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The River and Harbor Committee is holding daily executive sessions and is making such progress that there is fair prospect of completing the bill before the holiday recess. Owing to reports that a horizontal reduction was to be made on all estimates, the authoritative statement is made that no such reduction is contemplated. The committee is taking up each project on its merits and is applying such measure of economy and cut in the estimates as suits each case, in some cases only one fifth being allowed, while in others the allowance is much more.

Memorial Services in the House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Under a special order adopted at the last session the House devoted to-day after 1 o'clock to paying tribute to the memory of the late Representative Alfred C. Harmer of Pennsylvania. Eulogies were pronounced by Messrs. Bingham, (Rep., Penn.); Cummings, (Dem., N. Y.,) Grosvenor, (Rep., Ohio,) Adams, (Rep., Penn.,) McCleary, (Rep., Minn.,) White, (Rep., N. C.,) McAleer, (Dem., Penn.,) De Armond, (Dem., Mo.,) Otey, (Dem., Va.,) after which, as a further mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, the House adjourned.

Plan to Improve Arkansas River.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The Secretary of War to-day sent to the House of Representatives a plan for the permanent improvement of the Arkansas River, the total estimated cost for opening the river for navigation being $25,263,400. The river extends about 1,460 miles from its source in Colorado to its mouth, but the Board of Army Engineers recommends that the improvements be confined to the lower reaches, below Grand River. The usefulness of the improvement and its value to commerce are set forth.

Indians Give Up Their Reservation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The Secretary of the Interior has sent to the House of Representatives an agreement with the Klamath Indians relinquishing their reservation in Oregon.

Fourth-Class Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The following fourth-class Postmasters were appointed to-day:

Connecticut—Colebrook, R. S. Cooper.
New Jersey—Tranquility, I. L. Labar; Williamstown, E. R. Marsh.
New York—Hilburn, E. C. Ripley.

Damage to Torpedo Boat Craven.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Dec. 8.—The United States torpedo boat Craven, which was in collision recently in Newport Harbor with the Dahigren, was hauled out at the navy yard to-day, and upon examination was found to have sustained more serious damage than outward appearances would indicate. It is estimated that it will take $40,000 to fit her for sea.

Bids for Building Naval Storehouse.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Bids were opened at the Navy Department to-day for the construction of a workshop and storehouse for equipment at the League Island Navy Yard, Pennsylvania. The lowest bidder was Henderson & Co., Limited, of Philadelphia, at $84,100.

THE UNITED SERVICE.

Army.

The retirement from active service Dec. 7 of Lieut. Col. Lyster M. O'Brien, Seventeenth Infantry, by operation of law, is announced.

Capt. Samuel Reber, Signal Corps, will repair to Washington on official business pertaining to the Signal Corps.

Capt. Edward G. Beeson, Assistant Surgeon, Thirty-ninth Infantry, U. S. Volunteers, will join his regiment in the Philippine Islands.

Capt. Edward T. Winston, Nineteenth Infantry, will report to the commanding officer, Fort Wood, New York, for temporary duty at that post.

Navy.

Capt. John Lowe is detached from inspection duty at Hartford, Conn., Dec. 10, and ordered home to wait orders.

Assistant Paymaster C. J. Peoples is detached from the Mare Island Navy Yard and ordered to temporary duty at Puget Sound Naval Station.

Movements of Government Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The Wheeling arrived at Bremerton yesterday.

The collier Caesar has sailed from Colombo for Aden.

The Atlanta arrived at Bahia to-day.

The Alabama is expected to leave the League Island yard for New York on Dec. 13.

The training ship Buffalo will leave New York on Dec. 15.

The torpedo boat Farragut left Sausalito to-day for San Diego.

The training ship Essex has left San Juan for Hampton Roads.

The Eagle has sailed from Newport for Norfolk via New London.

The transports California and Algoa have arrived at Nagasaki.

The transport Buckingham has arrived at Kobe from Portland.

The Kentucky Going to Manila.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Secretary Long to-day cabled instructions to Capt. Chester at Constantinople, to proceed with his ship, the Kentucky, from Smyrna on his interrupted voyage to Manila to replace the Oregon on the Asiatic Station. It cannot be learned officially that the mission debts have been discharged, but it is said that the Kentucky's mission, which was one of courtesy, has been discharged.

Dinner to the Kentucky's Officers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 8.—The Russian Naval Attaché here gave a dinner last night in honor of the officers of the United States battleship Kentucky, now at Smyrna. Many distinguished persons were present.

In our Custom Department

The tailors who cut and the tailors who sew are master workmen. Years of experience have developed their natural ability into the highest possible skill. It is at your service—and at a cost far less than you expect. Our

Suits, $18 to $40,
Overcoats, $20 to $30,
Tuxedo & Full Dress, $30, are finer in material and work than these prices ordinarily bring.

Many desirable holiday gifts are to be found in our stock of Furnishings.

Brill Brothers
Outfitters to Men and Boys

FOUR STORES
279 Broadway, Near Chambers.
47 Cortlandt, Near Greenwich.
211 Sixth Av., Near 14th Street.
125th Street, Corner 3d Ave.

FAVORS THE ARMY CANTEEN.

Rev. Mr. Miller, ex-Chaplain, Before a Senate Committee Contradicts Temperance Advocates.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The Senate Committee on Military Affairs to-day continued its hearing upon the anti-canteen provision of the Military bill, hearing in addition to a number of short speeches in advocacy of the provision a protest against it from the Rev. Mr. Miller, who served fourteen months as an army Chaplain in the Philippines.

Speaking for the advocates of the measure, the Rev. W. F. Crafts gave the results of his own observations of the operation of the canteen at Newport after the close of the Cuban war. He said he had found it as low as the lowest saloon, and that a regular ordeal was in progress the day he was there, the result being that most of the soldiers at the post deserted that night. He quoted Gen. Sternberg as saying that the canteen causes many soldiers to contract the drink habit, and Gen. Miles as opposed to the use of intoxicants by the soldiers in the tropics. Mr. Crafts said he had received a statement from President Taft of the Philippine Commission, saying that he was greatly interested in the movement in behalf of the natives of the Pacific Islands.

Mrs. Thatcher of New Jersey appealed for the abolition of the canteen on financial grounds, saying that it caused soldiers to squander, not only their health and their time, but their money as well. Mrs. Kells of Mississippi spoke for the mothers of the soldiers, saying that all of them favored the suppression of the liquor traffic.

Miss Kearney of Mississippi said she had been informed that Gen. Eagan had been a notable exception among general army officers in favoring the canteen. Mrs. Allison, Woman's Christian Temperance Union Superintendent of Legislation, said that official statistics show that the liquor traffic is literally following the American flag in the tropics. She presented figures to show that the liquor exportations from the United States to Cuba for the first five months of 1899 had reached $472,200 as against $10,796 for the entire year of 1898. In the Philippines and Porto Rico there had been a corresponding increase.

Mr. Miller gave his unreserved indorsement to the canteen, and said that this view was the result of actual observation in the Philippines. He declared himself to be a temperance man, and said it was because he is such he took this position. In the Philippines the canteen is not, he said, the low grogshop that it has been described, but is entitled to be called a post exchange, as it is officially called. He was sure that these exchanges do much to restrict drunkenness. The reason for his position was found in the fact that if the soldiers could not get the beer and the light wines supplied at the canteens they would patronize the low groggeries kept by the natives, where only vino is sold. This liquor he described as especially harmful to health, and said its effect often was to almost cause insanity. Many vino houses had been destroyed by the establishment of the canteen.

Mr. Miller expressed the opinion that 98 per cent. of the officers of the army are favorable to the canteen, and also said that the enlisted men want it. He quoted written opinions from post commanders in the Philippines in support of his position.

MAINE PEOPLE IN A FIX.

Sheriff Seizes Individual Property to Satisfy Judgments Against the Town of Otis.

Special to The New York Times.

BANGOR, Dec. 8.—Pitiful scenes have been enacted this week in the little town of Otis, in Hancock County, where the personal property of the people is being seized by the Sheriff to satisfy judgments against the town. Otis is one of those poverty-stricken little Maine communities where everybody gets a living, or tries to do so, from rocky and worn-out farms. There are no manufactures, and the young people go away to the cities as soon as they are able, knowing that there is nothing for them at home.

Of late years the taxes turned into the town treasury have been insufficient to pay the expenses of the town, and as a result bills have accumulated. The creditors long ago became tired of waiting for their pay, and this week, being unable to collect from the town, they resorted to levying upon the property of the inhabitants. Under the Maine laws a creditor obtaining a judgment against a town may, if the town cannot pay, seize upon the property, real or personal, of the inhabitants, all actions against a town being brought, not against the town as a corporation, but against "the inhabitants thereof," a legal phrase not understood by most of the country people.

This action has been taken by several lawyers this week in behalf of creditors of Otis, and many cows, oxen, sheep, and other animals have been driven off by the Sheriff and sold at auction to satisfy claims, while several of the best farms have also been seized and are now advertised for sale.

From this method of collecting the debts of a town from the inhabitants curious and serious complications are likely to ensue, as the people thus despoiled have the right under the law to in turn seize upon the property of other inhabitants in satisfaction of judgments which they may obtain in actions against the town. Thus an endless chain of seizures will result, and hopeless confusion be added to corporate bankruptcy and individual poverty.

Mr. Rockefeller Promises More Money?

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—President W. H. Harper of the University of Chicago evidently accomplished his object while in New York, for he returned home to-day in high spirits and has hinted broadly that some good news would be forthcoming at the next convention, in January. Although Dr. Harper would not say whether or not he had seen John D. Rockefeller, Harry D. Hubbard, his secretary, admitted last week that it would be very strange if he did not. The President, when asked if he had any announcement to make, replied: "No. None at all. Just wait until convention."

BEST & CO

LILLIPUTIAN BAZAAR

Useful Presents for Children.

The holiday season is pre-eminently the children's season. We have everything serviceable and useful for their wants all the year round, but at this particular time many departments are more carefully and abundantly supplied than usual.

Boys' Bath Robes, various colors, made from blankets, fancy borders, $2.50 to $4.85

Baby Carriage Robes and Go-Cart Rugs, in lamb, goat and Thibet. Iceland Lamb Carriage Robes, $4.25.

Furs—Collarettes, Cluster Stoles, Muffs and Sets in fashionable furs, correct style and proper shapes for children and misses; Thibet Sets, stole and round muff, $4.25.

Boys' House Coats of appropriate materials, in bright plaids and checks, plain blue or brown, with plaid or check lining, cuffs and facing, silk bound or corded edges, $3.75 to $7.50.

Dress Suit Cases for boys, sole leather, finished with brass lock and rivets; colors, black, tan and green, also Texas steer, silk lined at prices from $3.00 to $7.25.

Rubber Boots, spring heels, extra high cut, $2.50 to $3.00.

House Slippers, fine felt, high cut, fur trimmed, $1.00 to $1.50.

Handkerchiefs, plain, hemstitched, embroidered and initial, for boys and girls; also in fancy boxes, 25c. to $1.00 a box.

Umbrellas in great variety, from strong school umbrellas to the dainty cardinal and Royal blue silk, with jeweled, Dresden and pearl heads, 65c. to $6.50.

Babies' Sacks, worsted, flannel, silk and silk tufted, in white, pink and blue, $1.50 to $8.00.

Babies' Eiderdown Wrappers, in white, pink and blue, sizes 1 and 2 years, $1.65 to $2.75.

Toy Department.

A large assortment of Toys and Games at popular prices.

Dolls in great variety, at prices from 25c. to $25.00.

Kid Dolls, 14 inches, full jointed, short haired, real teeth and full dressed as an infant, $2.65.

Books, specially selected for children, in large variety, bound and unbound.

Vienna Bent Wood Furniture, chairs and tables in a variety of designs, from $1.50 to $6.00.

60-62 West 23d Street.

MANAGER BURNAP A SUICIDE.

Shoots Himself, After Minute Preparations, at His Brooklyn Home.

While in a fit of melancholia, it is believed, resulting from continued ill-health, Urish C. Burnap, sixty-six years old, general manager of the wholesale dry goods firm of Faulkner, Page & Co. of 58 and 60 Worth Street, Manhattan, said to have been a close friend of the late ex-Mayor William L. Strong, committed suicide yesterday at his home, 116 Lafayette Avenue and Cumberland Street. About ten minutes after he returned home Amelia Everett, a colored cook employed by Burnap, rushed into the grocery and excitedly said that she believed the Burnap house was on fire. John Lichtburger, a clerk, went back to the house with the woman. A smell of burned powder was traced to the bathroom on the second floor, where Mr. Burnap was found kneeling on the floor. There was a wound from a bullet in the right temple. On the bottom of the bath tub was the pistol. Mr. Burnap had pulled down the window shade, taken off his hat and overcoat, and kneeling had bent his head over the tub that the blood from the wound he intended to inflict upon himself would not run down upon and stain the floor covering.

Dr. W. F. Swalm, Mr. Burnham's physician, and Dr. John E. Richardson, who were called in, thought he had died instantly after shooting himself. A piece of paper which Mr. Burnap had torn from a sheet in the grocery was found lying upon the table. On it had been written "Send me to 370 Fulton Street," the address of an undertaker.

About three weeks ago Mr. Burnap called at the grocery and gave Bookkeeper Sheldon a card on which was written the address of his son-in-law in Boston and asked that he be notified if anything happened to him.

SUFFRAGE BAZAAR A SUCCESS.

Closes with the Auction of an Automobile and Other Articles.

The National American Woman's Suffrage Association Bazaar was adjourned last night, to open again next week in Philadelphia. It will be continued there, in St. George's Hall, on Friday and Saturday. Little Miss McKinley, Miss Roosevelt, and Margaret Brent from Maryland, three of the blue ribbon dolls of the bazaar, will go on to Philadelphia. The week in New York has been successful beyond the highest hopes of those interested, and at least twice as much money has been made as was expected, it was said last night, though it was not known exactly what the amount was.

An auction sale closed the evening. An automobile, one of the largest articles of the bazaar, was knocked down to Frederick Hussey, 150 West Thirty-fifth Street, for $500. A number of other large articles were sold from the platform, and smaller ones from the different booths. Brooklyn sold a large coal range for $35. Little Miss Utah, the doll presented by the Governor of Utah and whose wardrobe represented the handiwork of "six women who voted in the last Presidential election," was sold into the arms of a small girl for $13. The wheat crop of the Kansas booth has grown so thriftily this past week that there was a premium on Kansas soil, and it was selling from the wheat crop boxes for 5 cents a quart.

Ill from Eating Canned Oysters.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Dec. 8.—A number of persons here have been taken violently ill from eating canned oysters. An acid used to preserve the oysters is said to have caused the illness.

YESTERDAY'S FIRES.

(From 12 o'clock Friday night until 12 o'clock Saturday night.)

12:40 A. M.—46 Bond Street; owner, S. H. Rosenbergh; damage, $1,500.

3:12 A. M.—2,027 Second Avenue; owner, Henry J. Cassidy; damage, $5.

6:45 A. M.—71 West Eighty-fifth Street; owner, Louis Seebold; damage, $50.

10:35 A. M.—1,522 Broadway; owner, New York Theatre; damage slight.

2:05 P. M.—221 West Forty-ninth Street; owner, J. T. McKingin; damage, $250.

2:40 P. M.—316 West Fourteenth Street; owner, M. Callahan; damage, $50.

3:45 P. M.—129 Mott Street; owner Maria Kluccule; damage, $5.

4:55 P. M.—157 Mott Street; owner Amoria Saiconi; damage slight.

5:07

CAMPAIGN AGAINST EVIL

First Meeting of the Committee of Fifteen Called.

Rumors that Members Will Not Serve —Bishop Potter Says Co-ordination Is Necessary.

The Committee of Fifteen appointed by Charles Stewart Smith in accordance with a resolution passed at a meeting of citizens at the Chamber of Commerce Nov. 27, when vicious conditions in the city were considered, will hold its first meeting to-morrow afternoon in one of the offices of George Foster Peabody. The notice for the meeting reads:

New York, Dec. 7, 1900.

Dear Sir: The first meeting of the Committee of Fifteen will be held on Monday next, Dec. 10, at 4 o'clock P. M., in Room 63, at 27 Pine Street.

You are urgently requested to be present, as it will be important to have your advice. Yours truly, GEORGE FOSTER PEABODY, Secretary of the Meeting.

The meeting will have interest for many who are watching the various endeavors to suppress or restrain vicious conditions because of various rumors in regard to the committee. One of them is that seven members of the committee will not serve because of business demands on their time or for other reasons. This was yesterday brought to the attention of Charles Stewart Smith. He declined to say if the rumor was true or false, or if there was a basis for it.

It is stated that among those who will not be able or will decline to serve on the committee are George Foster Peabody, Frederick D. Tappen, Adrian Iselin, and James C. Carter. Mr. Pebody said that he would have nothing to say on the subject of the Committee of Fifteen until to-morrow. Mr. Tappen was yesterday at Mobile, Ala., on an inspection of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, of which he is a Director. Mr. Iselin was at New Rochelle, and Mr. Carter at Boston. Mr. Smith made the statement that Mr. Carter would not accept the position on the committee if it was enlarged.

Bishop Potter in a letter that was read at the Chamber of Commerce meeting of Nov. 27, outlined the duty of the clergyman in a movement against vicious conditions. He was asked yesterday to state in a more definite way how a minister and his congregation could help on a battle against evil, such as the one contemplated in New York.

"This is a very large question," said the Bishop, "I could not possibly enter into it this morning. But I have gone very fully into the matter in my introduction to my book, 'The Scholar and the State,' which has been published by the Century Company."

"Several reform organizations have sprung up in this city of late, many of them with the intention to work for reform along independent lines. Would it not be of advantage to the movement if all such bodies placed themselves under the guidance of the Committee of Fifteen?" he was asked.

"Ah, that's it," the Bishop replied. "Co-ordination should be the watchword of this campaign. Co-ordination is a word that should be nailed in large letters in the sky, where every one taking part in this battle could behold it."

PUBLIC MORALS DEPARTMENT.

Rabbi Silverman's Suggestions for the Purification of the City—Government Must Act.

Rabbi Joseph Silverman preaching yesterday at the Bethel Emanu-El Temple, on the "Redemption of a Godless City," said that the officials of the City Government must take the initiative if there was to be any lasting good accomplished in cleansing New York of vice.

"In addition to other departments," said the rabbi, "I would suggest that a Department of Public Morals be established. This board of course should be non-partisan and should be composed of men of the most irreproachable character and who are learned on all sociological subjects and questions pertaining to political economy. It should be the duty of this board to inquire into the social conditions of the city and to devise ways and means for the elevation of the people socially and morally."

MR. DITNER HAS NO AUDIENCE.

East Side Women Reformers Ignore a Liberty Hall Meeting.

As a result of the failure on the part of women from the east side to respond to the call for a conference yesterday afternoon on ways and means of co-operating with the Committee of Fifteen for the purpose of suppressing vice, the meeting did not take place.

The meeting was called for the hour of 3. Long before that time the large Liberty Hall was in readiness to receive an audience. A large table for reporters had been placed in front of the rostrum from which the meeting was to be addressed. At 3 o'clock Leopold Ditner, the leader in the women's east side movement, and all the machinery for the meeting except the audience were there.

Mr. Ditner, one woman, one man, and a reporter were in evidence at 3:30. Shortly after that time a young man, who said he was a cousin of Assistant District Attorney Blumenthal, dropped in. He said he realized that it was necessary for the east side young men to fight vice, and had come there prepared to do so. At that time Mr. Ditner declared the meeting was postponed.

"I cannot understand, I cannot understand," he said, disconsolately, as he left the hall, accompanied by the audience. "This would have been a great meeting if only the people had not staid away."

Mr. Ditner said he would probably call another meeting, in Cooper Union, some time next week.

Watertown's Crusade Against Vice.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 8.—A crusade against vice is being waged by the police of Watertown. By injunction several notorious resorts have been cleared, and the bad characters ousted. This morning the police raided a house, capturing three women and three men inmates. The proprietor paid $50 fine, and the others were taxed $10 each.

LUNGS BLACK WITH SOOT.

Unhappy Condition of the Denizen of Chicago in His Smoky City.

From The Chicago Tribune.

Chicago's smoke and grime and soot and dirt as the specific cause of malformations in the lungs of every person who has breathed its atmosphere for any considerable period may be a revelation to most people outside of the medical profession. Yet there are thousands of men and women in Chicago's down-town streets whose lung tissues are as black from coal soot as soot will make them.

"So black," says Dr. A. R. Edwards, "that in a post-mortem examination, to lay the hand across the new-cut surface of a transverse section of the lung would blacken the palm almost as black as to put it wet into a pan of soot."

Dr. Edwards long has made the post-mortem examinations at the Cook County Hospital. With a considerable degree of certainty he can pick out the Chicago resident-subject by the blackened condition of his lung tissues, while, as compared to these, the lung of a farmer or villager is as day unto night.

"The effect of all this?" repeated Dr. Edwards in answer to a question. "In the more aggravated cases the physician finds a marked thickening of the lung tissues and a consequent lessening of air capacity. With a diminished lung capacity and an atmosphere weighted with the poisonous gases from the smoke and the gritty soot particles that accompany it, even a layman can make a good guess as to its effect on the system.

"There is marked irritation in the lung, of course; but with the purifying process of the blood interrupted there is a reaction on the heart itself, a loss of tone, and finally a possible lowering of vitality and general power of resistance that is greater than the mere local irritation in the bronchial tubes and in the air cells.

"It is not too much to say that the effect of the smoke and dirt of Chicago, in shortening and weakening the life of its people, is incomparably of more moment than are its effects upon every other material thing to be considered."

It's All Salmon.

Japan gets dog salmon from Alaska; Chicago gets "cat" salmon from Louisiana—and neither knows the difference.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

GIRL LEAPS FROM THIRD FLOOR

Lands on a Skylight, Then with Sprained Ankle, Climbs to Yard and Scales a Fence.

Laura Swenson, a Swedish girl of thirteen years, was accused of stealing a hat by one of the private detectives in the dry goods store of H. C. F. Koch & Co., in West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, yesterday evening. She strenuously denied the charge, whereupon some of the clerks took her up to the office of Edward Koch, on the third floor, and locked her in there to keep her safe until they could go out on the street and find a policeman. While they were gone she raised the window and leaped out.

Underneath the window there is a skylight just above the first floor. It is covered with a heavy wire netting. She fell upon this, but remained there only long enough to recover from the jar. Then she climbed into the yard of a private residence next door and began to scale the fence between there and the street. As she reached the top, the people who had gone to get the policeman returned to the office and, on looking out of the window, saw her on the fence. They hastened down and managed to catch her, as she had sprained her ankle in jumping to the wire net.

When taken to the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Police Station the girl said that she had not stolen the hat, but had bought it in a down-town store.

It was learned that she came here from Sweden two years ago, and that since that time had been employed as a nurse in the house of Mrs. Frommer, at 168 East One Hundred and Seventeenth Street. She seemed to regard her arrest in the light of a joke, and laughed loudly whenever her leap from the window was mentioned. She was sent to the Gerry Society.

THE MANCHESTERS' QUIET DAY.

Duke Plays Golf in Afternoon, and Accompanies the Duchess to a Cincinnati Riding Club in Evening.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 8.—The Duke and Duchess of Manchester, who arrived here from New York last night, were not at home to their friends during the greater part of to-day. They arose late, and the Duke was afterward seen amusing himself on the lawn of Mr. Zimmerman's house with his newly acquired Boston terriers. He seemed in good health and spirits.

In the afternoon the Duke and Duchess were driven to the Clifton golf links, where his Grace took part in a game while the Dutchess took a long drive through the suburbs.

To-night they were the guests of honor at the Mount Auburn Riding Club, a fashionable organization of which the Duchess, who is an enthusiastic and accomplished horsewoman, is a member. To-morrow they will attend the service at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of which church Mr. Zimmerman is an official.

Mr. Zimmerman, when seen at his office, where he did a busy day's work, said he had no knowledge of how the Duke and Duchess intended to spend the coming week, as no definite plans had been arranged. Mr. Zimmerman was quite chagrined at some adverse criticism about his son-in-law that appeared in a local paper, but finally took it philosophically, and said in a good-humored way:

"The Duke of Manchester is a thorough gentleman, and entitled to courtesy everywhere. I understand the situation, and as long as no malice is shown and the bounds of good taste are not passed I have nothing to say. Most of the stories sent out from New York were untrue. The reporters made them."

ADELINA PRIETO TO MARRY.

Girl Who Wanted to Become a Nun Will Wed in Cuba.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8.—Adelina Prieto, the Cuban girl, who attained wide prominence a few months ago by her efforts to remain in a New Orleans convent, and become a nun in opposition to the wishes of her mother, is to become the wife of Señor Juan Accste, the marriage to be held next Saturday in Cienfuegos, Cuba, where the rich mother of the girl resides.

At the age of seventeen Miss Prieto entered the convent as a novitiate. When the war in Cuba passed into history Mrs. Prieto came to New Orleans for the purpose of taking her daughter home. Miss Prieto, however, was not inclined to go, and the Sisters of Mercy refused to force her to leave the convent. They acted upon the theory that the girl was a free agent, and had the right to choose between her parent and the sisterhood. Mrs. Prieto carried the matter to the courts.

The lower court decided that Miss Prieto had the right to choose her own domicile. Mrs. Prieto, however, was firm in her determination to obtain possession of her daughter, and carried the case to the State Supreme Court. There the case was hotly contested by Miss Prieto and the convent on one side and Mrs. Prieto on the other, with the Catholics here aiding the convent and the girl in every way possible. The case went against the girl.

The news of the approaching wedding reached here to-day. It is asserted by the New Orleans friends of the girl that the match is one of the mother's making.

FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Lively Fight Over Linotype Machinists Expected To-morrow.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 8.—At to-day's session of the American Federation of Labor Convention an appeal was read from the Federation of Labor of Porto Rico for "freedom of speech, assembly, and press," and that a committee be sent to the island for the purpose of completing organization.

A resolution was adopted instructing the State branches of the Federation in each State to petition the Legislature for a change in the Constitution providing for the submission to the people of constitutional amendments on petition of voters.

A resolution was adopted in response to a greeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at Washington, that the Federation accept the good will of that body and "extend hearty co-operation in the good work in which they are engaged," and asking that the Women's Christian Temperance Union, in turn, manifest sympathy with organized labor by giving patronage to union labels in every trade.

A lively fight will be precipitated in the convention Monday between the machinists and printers. Some time ago the International Machinists' Union asked the machinists who work at the linotype machines to resign from the International Typographical Union and join the machinists. The Typographical Union had in the meantime passed a law compelling the machinists to join their union. They resisted the request of the machinists. The latter have now introduced a resolution demanding that the machinists affiliate with the regular machinists' union.

Other business transacted was of a routine nature.

PAYS PART OF HIS FINE.

Michigan Man Will Settle Balance If a Discount Is Allowed.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec. 8.—Gen. Arthur F. Marsh, who was convicted of complicity in the State military frauds, and pardoned on Tuesday by Gov. Pingree, conditional on his paying $5,000 fine in five installments, to-day telegraphed Treasurer Kingsbury of Ingham County, to whom the money was to be paid, that he had forwarded the first installment of $1,000. He also offered to pay immediately the remaining $4,000, which he has four years to pay, if it was discounted 5 per cent.

Negro Boy Beaten by White Caps.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 8.—White Caps almost killed a fourteen-year-old negro boy, living on the outskirts of Natchez, Miss., last night. The boy had rung up the telephone exchange and made obscene remarks to the young lady operator. A party of unknown white men went to the negro's house and nearly beat him to death.

Catholic Celebration at Dubuque.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Dec. 8.—To-day was a memorable one in the Roman Catholic Church of Dubuque, being the Feast of the Immaculate Conception. Archbishop Keane made it the occasion of celebrating his first pontifical high mass since his appointment. He also administered the right of confirmation to over six hundred children. At the conclusion he bestowed the pontifical blessing, to which is attached a plenary indulgence.

GOV. ROOSEVELT'S PLANS

Confers with Chairman Rives About Charter Revision.

Says He Has Done His Work When Asked About Proposed Canal Improvements.

Gov. Roosevelt spent a busy day yesterday. During the morning he received a large number of callers at the Union League Club. After he had lunched with Henry C. Payne, National Committeeman from Wisconsin, and they had indulged in campaign reminiscences, the Governor made a call upon Chairman George L. Rives of the Charter Revision Commission and discussed with him the commission's report. The Governor took this opportunity of conferring with Mr. Rives because he will be unable to attend the dinner to be given by Mr. Rives Wednesday night to Governor-elect Odell and the members of the commission. Later in the afternoon Gov. Roosevelt called at the Waldorf-Astoria to see Chairman Snyder of the State Republican Committee of Nebraska. In the evening he took dinner at the Union League Club with Gen. Joseph Wheeler.

The Governor was seen at the Union League Club during the afternoon. When he had told what his plans were for his stay in the city, he was asked whether he had any comment to make on the Charter Revision Commission's report.

"Not a word," he said.

"How about the recommendation for a single Police Commissioner. That was your original idea, was it not?"

"Not a word," he responded.

"Well, have you anything to say about canals?"

"Not a word." Then, significantly: "I have done my work. I will say just that much." The Governor accented the "my."

In announcing his intention to call upon Chairman Snyder of the State Republican Committee of Nebraska, the Governor remarked:

"You know they did pretty well out in Nebraska."

The Governor said he had intended to call on Senator Platt during the afternoon, but had concluded to postpone his conference with the Senator until Wednesday, when he would meet him in Washington and talk over the proposed police bill.

When asked about his intended hunting trip to Colorado, the Governor said:

"I expect to get away during the first week in January. I will go direct to Colorado, making no stops anywhere, and I will go from the station right into the mountains. I expect to have a few friends along with me, but the party has not yet been made up. It is my intention to remain in the mountains, hunting and riding, until within a week or so of the inauguration. I will, of course, return to New York before going to Washington."

"What do you expect to hunt?"

"Mountain lions and bob-cats are all we may hunt when I get out there, because the law against shooting antelope and elk will be in force at that time, and the bears will be in their dens."

"You don't expect to go gunning for some of those fellows down in Victor who made trouble for you during the campaign, do you?"

"Oh, no," he responded, laughing heartily. "I think we should regard them in the light of allies."

Gov. Roosevelt will return to Albany to-morrow night. Winston Churchill was one of the Governor's callers during the evening.

PLANS FOR BIG UNION STATION.

To Be Built at Savannah, Ga., at a Cost of $500,000.

Special to The New York Times.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 8.—President John Skelton Williams of the Seaboard Air Line says that the most important action of the meeting in New York Thursday of the Directors of his road was to arrange for the building in Savannah, Ga., of a half-million-dollar station. This structure is to be built and used jointly by the Seaboard Air Line, the Southern, and the Plant System. Plans for this station have already been prepared, and work, it is understood, is to be begun as soon as possible. The Southern and the Plant Systems have already agreed to this tripartite arrangement.

President Williams will not have anything to say about the rumors of a consolidation of the Southern and Seaboard. There are many interests, including some who are usually informed of Southern affairs, who believe there are negotiations of some kind pending having in view some better arrangements between these two systems.

THE PROPOSED TIN CAN TRUST.

Options on Plants Continued to April 1 of Next Year.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8.—The tin can manufacturers' combination, which will include several of the largest Baltimore plants, and also plants in Philadelphia and Delaware, and which was expected to be completed by the end of this year, has been postponed.

The options which expire on Dec. 31 have been renewed and extended to April next. Judge Moore of Chicago, who has the matter in charge, has informed the Tin Can Manufacturers that the time was too short in which to complete the deal, and on this ground he has asked for an extension of the operations.

In all instances the manufacturers have complied with his requests, so that there is no danger, it is said, of the deal being abandoned. Although there have been many reports afloat as to the nature of the consolidation, in which the names of many of the constituent concerns were given, nothing authentic has yet been given out. In a general way, it is officially learned that all the important tin can manufacturers will be combined.

The value of the output of the factories is estimated to be above $100,000,000. There is an additional large export business which will be controlled by the new combine, as most of the plants in the East are engaged in the export trade. If the combine is formed, it will be a strong ally of the American Tin Plate Company.

JOHN MACKELLAR'S FUNERAL.

High Police Officials and Friends of the Deputy Chief Present.

The funeral of Deputy Chief of Police John Mackellar, who died suddenly early on Thursday morning, was held last evening at the family residence, 367 Eleventh Street, Brooklyn. There was a very large attendance at the services, Police Commissioners York, Abell and Sexton, Chief Devery, the Deputy Chiefs, and many other high police officials being among those present. Besides these many men prominent in public life in Brooklyn were in attendance. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

The regular religious services were conducted by the Rev. John D. Lloyd, pastor of the Twelfth Street Reformed Church. Masonic services, conducted by Henry C. Brunton, Master, and Charles Cornder, Chaplain of Greenwood Lodge, followed. A brief service by the Masonic Veteran Association was also held. The burial will take place this morning in Greenwood Cemetery.

Brooklyn Police Headquarters were heavily draped in mourning yesterday, and resolutions upon the death of the Deputy Chief, adopted by the members of the local staff, are to be engrossed and presented to the family.

Promotion in the Post Office.

Otto Meyer, head clerk on the New Jersey letter case, Second Division, General Post Office, has been promoted by Postmaster Van Cott to the position of Assistant Superintendent of the Second Division. He succeeds Alexander Haff, who has been made Assistant Superintendent of Foreign Mails. The clerks Friday presented Mr. Meyer with a handsome floral horseshoe bearing the word "Success."

LIEUT. HOBSON MUCH BETTER.

At the Presbyterian Hospital it was said last night that Lieut. Hobson was much improved.

Actor Faversham Much Better.

Dr. John A. Burke, who is attending William Faversham, the actor, who is ill at his residence on West Fifty-second Street, said early this morning that Mr. Faversham was very much improved.

B. Altman & Co.

Direct attention to the large and varied assortments of articles suitable for now being displayed, among which are:

HOLIDAY GIFTS

ART OBJECTS, including Curio and Music Cabinets, Bronzes, Clocks and Clock Sets, Porcelains, Carved Ivories, Miniatures, etc.

FINE LEATHER GOODS, Traveling Bags fitted with toilet necessaries, Carriage and Chatelaine Bags, Pocket Books, Card Cases, Jewel Cases and Glove Boxes.

STATIONERY ARTICLES, Desk Sets, Inkstands, Letter Scales, Stationery Racks, Pen Trays, Paper Knives, etc.

JEWELRY, Comprising Brooches, Rings, Link, Buttons, Scarf Pins, Lorgnettes, Neck Chains, Silver Mesh Purses, etc.

FANCY ARTICLES and ART Needlework—Fancy Glove and Handkerchief Cases, Pin Cushions, Work Baskets, Scrap Baskets, and novelties in small decorative pieces.

STERLING SILVERWARE representing various decorative articles for the Buffet, also Silver mounted Toilet also Desk pieces.

GAS COMPANY'S TROUBLES

P. J. Brady Gets Receiver for the Bay State of New Jersey.

Injunction to Prevent Disposition of Its Property Applied For—Charges Against the Concern.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, Dec. 8.—Judge Kirkpatrick of the United States Circuit Court to-day appointed Henry C. Kelsey of Trenton receiver of the Bay State Gas Company of New Jersey. The appointment was made on the application of Chauncey G. Parker of this city, acting for Patrick J. Brady of New York, the holder of $10,000 worth of second mortgage bonds of the company. While the appointment is temporary, the order making it includes contingent clauses compelling the defendant to show cause why the receivership should not be continued, while there is pending a suit in equity, also instituted in the interest of Mr. Brady.

The defendant company was also to-day commanded to show cause why a preliminary injunction, restraining the disposition of the company's assets or property, should not be made permanent. A hearing has been set down for Dec. 24, at Trenton.

The Bay State Gas Company was organized Feb. 16, 1889, with a capital of $1,000,000. The bill of complaint, formally recorded to-day, sets forth at the outset that the defendant company "has ceased to be a going concern, in that it is no longer transacting the business for which it was incorporated, and is insolvent." It is further alleged that the company, with a view to securing ownership of stock in several Massachusetts gas companies, agreed to execute bonds to the amount of $12,000,000, designating the Merchants' Trust Company of New York as trustee. It was further agreed, according to the bill, that the trust company should take possession of the stocks to be acquired for the purpose of securing the bond issue, and should vote upon the stock for the Directors of the Massachusetts company.

The bill alleges that the company has defaulted in $90,000 in the sinking fund, provided for in the bond issue. It avers that the stocks of the Massachusetts companies were acquired by the Bay State Company of New Jersey by the issue, in March, 1899, of its entire capital stock, and that in the same month the Bay State Company of Delaware was organized and purchased 9,950, or all but fifty, shares of the New Jersey concern, paying for the same in $5,000 cash stock of the Delaware company to the amount of $1,995,000.

The bill then specifies various allegations of mismanagement and manipulation, and prays for the appointment of a receiver.

ACCUSES A POLICE JUSTICE.

Saloon Keeper Implicates a Police Captain on Charge of Extortion.

Joseph Kuntz, a well-known saloon keeper of Hoboken, threatens to sue Justice of the Peace Oscar Schlichting for extortion and to make charges before the Police Commissioners that Police Capt. Fanning aided him in the matter. Kuntz says that Schlichting threatened to cause his arrest unless he handed over $75, and that finally Schlichting took him to the Willow Avenue Police Station, where he was compelled to pay the money.

Capt. Fanning says it is true that the money was paid over at the police station, but that the police had nothing to do with it, nor did they know that Kuntz had been coerced in any way. When he learned this fact he sent for the two men and compelled Schlichting to refund the $75.

Schlichting denies the coercion. He says Kuntz owed the Eagle Brewing Company $75, and was finally arrested on a charge of assaulting one of the company's agents. Kuntz, he says, offered him $25 for procuring a bondsman and also agreed to give the bondsman $50. Subsequently Kuntz refused to pay this money, and he, believing Kuntz intended to "jump his bail," gave him into the custody of a policeman. It was then that Kuntz paid him the $75. He says he has no fear as to the result of any suit that Kuntz may bring.

CHASED BY WOMAN WITH SPADE.

Mrs. McMahon, Who Built Her House Herself, Drove Off Sidewalk Layers.

VINELAND, N. J., Dec. 8.—Mrs. Mary McMahon, Vineland's new woman carpenter, to-day made a vigorous fight against the City Council's sidewalk ordinance. When the workmen piled brick in front of the neat little house Mrs. McMahon erected without any assistance, she rushed out and after pulling up all the surveyor's stakes, said she would lay the sidewalk to suit herself.

According to the city plans Mrs. McMahon's fence was in the way of the new walk, and orders were given to set it back. The irate woman dropped her sidewalk work, and, picking up a spade, drove the workmen away after a brief struggle. A crowd gathered and cheered her.

Mrs. McMahon held her ground until the police arrived. She declares she will tear up the brick sidewalk after it is finished, and will test the City Council's ordinance in court.

Mother-in-Law Blamed for Divorce.

Chancellor Magie, on the report of Master in Chancery Charles J. Roe, yesterday granted a decree of divorce to Frank M. Soper against Matilda Soper on the ground of desertion. Mr. Roe, in his report, attributed the trouble between the couple to Mrs. Soper's mother. He believed from the evidence that the wife's determination to no longer regard Mr. Soper as her husband was solely due to the influence of her mother.

Judge Adams's Daughter an Actress.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, Dec. 8.—It was learned here to-day that Constance Adams, the eldest daughter of Judge Frederick Adams of the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals, had been playing a part all the week in "Hearts Are Trumps" at the Newark Theatre. Miss Adams acts the small part of Mrs. Baker with grace and tact. Her father, it is understood, was greatly opposed to her going on the stage, but at length consented.

ACCUSES ACTOR AND ACTRESS.

Warrant for Francis Carlyle and Miss Jessie Busley on a Queer Charge.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, Dec. 8.—E. M. Heaton of 35 Williams Street, this city, made complaint to-day before the Newark Overseer of the Poor against Francis Carlyle and Miss Jessie Busley, members of the "Hearts Are Trumps" company, now playing at the Newark Theatre. Heaton charges that the couple left a child with him and his wife ten years ago, and had since failed to support it. A warrant, issued by the Overseer, was made out for the arrest of James W. Randolph, the name, Heaton says, Carlyle went under when he first met him.

Heaton says that on April 6, 1890, his daughter Anna, then about thirteen years old, was met in the street by a woman who asked her if she wouldn't like to have a little brother. Anna brought the woman home. The stranger said she was "Cyrene, the Spanish dancer," and that her husband was James W. Randolph, an actor. "Cyrene" further explained that she had a six-year-old boy, for whom she wanted to find a home. The boy's name was Levi P. Morton Randolph. The mother said she would pay $5 a week board for the lad. The Heatons decided to keep him. Some months later, "Cyrene" appeared again and asked them to change the boy's name to Frederick Theodore Randolph. She then went away and has never returned. The Heatons, the husband says, never got any money for the boy's board, but kept him because they had become attached to him.

While passing the theatre a day or two ago, he explained, he glanced at the photographs there displayed, and immediately recognized the pictures labeled Jessie Busley and Francis Carlyle as portraits of the couple who had left the child at his home ten years ago.

The warrant was given to Detective Purcell of the First Precinct, who went to the theatre with it this afternoon. He was met by Manager Lee Ottilengin, who looked at the warrant and then told the detective he thought it would be a big mistake for him to arrest the wrong man. The detective then left to get advice.

Both Carlyle and Miss Busley took the affair as a good joke when they were informed of it. The other members of the company also laughed.

Heir to Share in $5,000,000 Fortune.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Dec. 8.—W. H. Forestal, a Plainfield florist of modest means, has received information from an uncle in the West that he is an heir to an estate valued at $5,000,000. The property was bequeathed to his grandmother by a bachelor brother, who left England in boyhood and settled in Austria. The only heirs are W. H. Forestal, Edward Forestal of Michigan, and Mrs. Lillie Kierney of Wisconsin.

Bridgeport Couple Arrested.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Dec. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards of Bridgeport, Conn., were arrested at Coytesville last night on instructions from the Bridgeport authorities, but without specific charges. They had in their possession eight vehicles and fourteen horses, which were found in a livery stable. It is alleged that the prisoners became financially involved with a Bridgeport firm named Peck & Long, and took the horses and vehicles away on Nov. 14. They claim there is nothing improper in their action.

RIVALS' DUEL ENDS FATALLY.

Italian Returns from Cuba to Find His Sweetheart False—Heart Stab Brings Revenge.

Pasquale Erico, a resident of "Little Italy," went to Cuba in the wake of the American troops, two years ago to seek his fortune. Behind, he left Philomena Faranza, pledged to patiently await his return with wealth and honor. Philomena waited until seven months ago, when Pasquale's letters ceased, whereupon the suit of Giuseppe Peroni of 325 East One Hundred and Twelfth Street, long Pasquale's rival, was looked upon with favor, and finally the two became engaged.

Erico returned to "Little Italy" unexpectedly last night, and asked immediately for Philomena. Reluctantly the neighbors told of her engagement to Giuseppe, and Pasquale enraged sought out the couple. On the third floor of Giuseppe's house he found the two dining together. Upbraiding Philomena, he reviled Giuseppe until the latter drew his stiletto. Pasquale was the more expert duellist, and Giuseppe, stabbed through the heart, fell dead. Pasquale, with Philomena, escaped down the fire escape. Later detectives found the woman hurriedly packing up next door, and placed her under arrest. Erico is still at large.

DEATH ENDED MISSION OF LOVE.

Miller Brothers Were Bound for Cuba to Fetch Another Brother's Body.

Hugh O. Driscoe of Milton, N. Y., an undertaker, called at the Morgue last night and identified the bodies of Henry and William Miller of that place, the two brothers who were found dead from gas asphyxiation at 210 West Street, where they had engaged a room for the night.

Mr. Driscoe said the two brothers were on their way to Santiago, where they were going after the remains of their brother, who died there during the Spanish war. The brother was a member of the New York volunteers, but Mr. Driscoe could not tell what regiment. He said he would take the bodies home for interment, and would also see what he could do toward getting their brother's body from Cuba.

Street Car Co. Pays Damage Claims.

TACOMA, Washington, Dec. 8.—All the damage claims have been settled arising from the street railway accident on the Fourth of July, when a loaded car plunged off the Delin Street Bridge forty feet into a gulch, killing 45 persons and injuring 105 others. The highest payment was $4,800 and the total settlement cost $100,000.

B. Altman & Co.

FUR DEPARTMENT.

Special attention is directed to the exceptional collection of Rich Furs and Fur Skins shown, which includes

Natural Black and Silver Fox Skins,

Russian and Hudson Bay Sable and Chinchilla Sets,

Broadtail, Persian Lamb and Alaska Sealskin Coats,

Muffs, Boas, Collarettes and Storm Collars in various fashionable furs.

Furs for Children, Fur Rugs, Sleigh Robes, etc.

DECORATIVE LINEN DEP'T.

(First Floor.)

Twelve Hundred Hand-made French Renaissance Pieces with Linen Centers,

Five Hundred Hand-made Cluny Lace Pieces with Linen Centers,

Five Hundred Irish Hand Embroidered Pieces,

The above include

Doylies, Center Pieces, Tea Cloths and Dresser Scarfs

ONE-THIRD to ONE-HALF LESS THAN FORMER PRICES.

SILK DEPARTMENT.

Advance Spring Styles of SILK and SATIN PRINTED FOULARDS

will be shown

First Floor. On Monday, December 10th.

HOUSE GOWN DEP'T.

This department contains a particularly well assorted selection, including Copies and Adaptations of the Season's French Models, which are exclusive, being made in workrooms on the premises.

For Monday, December 10th:

NEGLIGEES of Albatross, in Pink, Light Blue, Lavender and White, elaborately trimmed with Lace, $15.00

HOUSE GOWNS of figured French Flannel (several colors), Lace and Velvet Ribbon trimmed, $8.75

ROBES (Kimono shape) of Elderdown with border of Satin ribbon, $3.75

LOUNGING ROBES of Crêpe Elderdown, scalloped edge trimmed with Satin ribbon, $4.85

ORIENTAL DEPARTMENT.

Rooms furnished in Oriental effects. Sketches, designs and estimates submitted for Oriental Tents, Smoking Rooms, Corners, etc.

Special Offering for Monday, December 10th:

Fifty large pieces of Antique Embroideries, including some unusual examples in color effects,

Formerly $50.00 to $400.00, at $25.00 to $175.00

Fifty specimen pieces of Antique Persian Brasses (hand wrought), intricately chased and filigreed,

Formerly $16.00 to $100.00, at $8.50 to $50.00

Seventy Hand-Carved Folding Chairs inlaid with Pearl, $3.85

Fifty Bombay Rosewood Tables, hand carved, $4.50

One Hundred Damascus Hanging Lanterns, made of hand wrought brass,

Formerly $4.00 to $8.50, at $2.25 to $4.50

One Hundred French Gilt Lanterns, jewel studded, formerly $2.00, at $1.10

Eighteenth Street, Nineteenth Street and Sixth Avenue.

Grammar School Graduates' Dinner.

Graduates of Grammar School No. 77, who compose the Graduates' Dinner Club of that school, will have their third annual banquet at the Hotel Marlborough Feb. 2, 1901. Many graduates of the years from 1883 to 1895 are members, but a number have not been reached, their address being unknown. President J. I. Carroll of 110 East Eighty-fourth Street would like to get their addresses that invitations to the dinner may be sent to them.

Pennsylvania Society's Dinner.

The second annual dinner of the Pennsylvania Society of New York will be held in the Waldorf-Astoria on Wednesday evening, Dec. 12, at 7 o'clock. Bishop Potter will preside. Among the speakers will be Andrew Carnegie, ex-Gov. Hastings, S. W. Pennypacker, the Rev. Dr. John R. Paxton, James M. Beck, and, in addition to these, John Wanamaker and ex-Gov. Beaver are expected.

Warden and Vestrymen Chosen.

At the annual meeting of the Church of the Ascension, West New Brighton, S. I., held Tuesday, Dec. 4, the following Wardens and Vestrymen were elected: Wardens—T. L. Kennedy and G. M. Lawrence. Vestrymen—J. B. Pearson, J. R. Fairchild, A. O. Ford, Philip Hathaway, C. R. Parmele, W. L. Voorhis, G. C. Elton, G. M. Lillie, and T. J. Butler.

STECK

THIS NAME is generations old, signifying during all that time the very highest standard in piano making.

It is THE piano that appeals to the artist, critic, student and school, because of its superior tone quality, delightful touch and workmanship so perfect that its durability is astonishing.

No other piano is so generally reliable; no other so permanently satisfactory.

WAREROOMS, No. 11 E. 14TH ST.

Interesting Booklets sent for the asking.

CLAN CALLAMORE & CO.

Lovers of Fine China and Glass will find at our establishment the largest and most complete exhibit of choice articles in Porcelain and Crystal suitable for Gifts to be found anywhere

Fifth Avenue and 30th St.

TRADE —41— MARK.

EVERYBODY'S WHISKEY

A blend of absolutely pure whiskies, ripe and mellow with age. Bottled by

L. J. CALLANAN, 41 & 43 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK.

Send for copy of monthly price list.

H. N. SQUIRE'S SON.

Diamonds and Watches.

1 MAIDEN LANE, N. Y.

DAUGHTER KIDNAPPED A. ROSENTHAL SAYS

Found Her in Lewis Street After a Search of the World.

HIS CLAIMS TO HER DENIED

Girl Faints When Told of the Alleged Relationship and Snubs Rosenthal's Other Daughter.

For twelve years Abraham Rosenthal of 53 Stanton Street has mourned the loss of his eldest daughter, who was kidnapped when she was only five years of age from his home, in Russian Poland. In vain he searched for her after her disappearance, saving the greater part of his meagre wages and living in want to pursue his quest. No trace of her could be found, so he finally gave up in despair and came to regard the child as lost never to be recovered.

Now he claims to have found her. The young woman whom he declares to be his lost daughter lives at 100 Lewis Street, and is known as Bertha Luber Persky. The people with whom she makes her home, and who, as far as she can remember, have always taken care of her, are Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Persky. Rosenthal charges Mr. Persky and his wife with being the kidnappers of his girl. He says that Mrs. Persky is the sister of the first Mrs. Rosenthal, mother of Bertha. Mrs. Persky, on the other hand, tells the young woman that Rosenthal is only her uncle, which the girl naturally believes, as she never saw Rosenthal until last Tuesday, while she has regarded Mrs. Persky as her mother from early childhood.

Rosenthal tells this story of the kidnapping and circumstances following it:

"Until twelve years ago I lived in the village of Dennaburgh, Russian Poland. Five years before I left there I married a girl of the same place. She was very beautiful and her people had money. I was as poor then as I am now, but I managed to make a living, and we lived happily enough till a daughter was born to us, a little more than a year after our wedding. We named the baby Bertha. Not long after she was born her mother died.

"Three years passed and I was married again—to my present wife. Soon after that I decided to come to America to see if I could make a fortune, but when I sailed I left behind my new wife and Bertha, intending to send for them when I should have settled myself in my home on this side of the water. Within five months I had begun to prosper enough to have them come over, so I wrote to my wife telling her to sail with the little girl on the next steamship.

"When the vessel arrived I saw my wife coming out, but there was no Bertha with her. When I had greeted her I said:

"'Where is the baby?'

"'Wait till we get home and I will tell you,' she replied.

"Then we went to my room on the east side. After we were there she told me that Bertha had been kidnapped. She said that Mrs. Persky, my first wife's sister, had come to her one afternoon and asked permission to take the child out for a walk; that she had given her consent, and that she had never seen Bertha since. As soon as she told me all this, I sat down and wrote to some friends of mine at home and asked them to try to locate the baby for me. The answers that I received said that the Persky woman and her husband had gone to London.

"Then I wrote to people I knew in London. They replied that the objects of my search had gone thence to Paris. I wrote to Paris and got back word that all three had traveled to Spain. Now, I knew that Persky had plenty of money. He had inherited some, and had also made a lot in speculation. So I concluded at last that it was no use for me to continue my investigations further, as the kidnappers had means enough to go all over the earth and so dodge me at every turn. I came to regard the case as hopeless, and for the past nine or ten years I have stopped thinking about it any more than I could help, though the memory of the little girl has been with me all the time.

"On last Monday night I stepped into a saloon. While there two expressmen came in. I thought I recognized one as Alexander Persky, my sister-in-law's husband. When I asked the woman in the room what his name was she replied that it was as I thought.

"I followed him out into the street and pulled him by the sleeve. 'Don't you know me, Alex?' I said. He looked very much surprised at first, but then he pulled himself together and said that he believed he did. I asked him if he had my daughter. He denied it at the start, but finally owned up to the kidnapping and said that Bertha was with him in this city, where he had been living for the past four years. He told me, further, that he had lost all his money in traveling about to keep me from catching him.

"'Now that you have found me,' he added, 'it will be all right. Just don't raise a row, and I'll see that you get the girl back. I live at 100 Lewis Street. Come there to-morrow afternoon and you can see her and take her home with you.'

"After some further talk we parted. The next day, which was last Tuesday, I went to his house, and there I saw my sister-in-law, who received me very well, and said that I could have my girl whenever I wanted her. She told me, too, that they had given Bertha a fine education, that she could speak five different languages and could play on the piano like a past master. Then she said that they were so poor nowadays that they had to let Bertha work as a shop girl in a big department store uptown. When she named the store I was very much surprised, for it was the same one in which my daughter Mary, the child of my present wife, is now employed.

"We talked for a while, and then I asked where Bertha was, and Mrs. Persky replied: 'Oh, she hasn't gotten home from work yet. You must come back at 7 o'clock, and you will find her here.' So I went away and returned at 7. In the meantime I hadn't told my wife anything at all about meeting Persky.

"When I reached the home of my sister-in-law Bertha had not yet come from the store. In a few minutes, however, there was the sound of steps on the stairs, and Mrs. Persky said: 'There she is; I know her tread.' Meanwhile, during the time that we had been waiting for her, my sister-in-law had proposed to me that she introduce me to my daughter as an uncle, for fear that the sudden intelligence of a long-lost parent might be a shock that would injure the girl's health. To this I had consented, and so, when Bertha entered the room, she was told that I was her 'Uncle Abraham.' Rosenthal also seemed to think it peculiar when I embraced her and kissed her many times and said that she had never seen so affectionate an uncle.

"For an hour or two I staid at the house and talked to them. I was very happy. Bertha had grown up to be a great, tall girl, with pretty blonde hair, big blue eyes, and as fine a figure as I ever saw. They made her play on the piano for me, and she was as good at it as they had said before. Then she talked in several languages to show me how well she had been educated. I was completely delighted with her. When I took leave I intended to come back soon and tell her that I was her father, and that I wanted her to come and live with me.

"I went straight home and called my wife and my daughter Mary to tell them about it. When I was through with my story, Mary cried: 'Why, I know Bertha Persky. We have been chums for the last year and a half, and we take lunch together every day.' Then she nearly went wild over thinking that her friend had turned out to be her sister. We talked the matter over until bedtime, and all of us were very much excited.

"Mary arose early the next morning and went to the department store to work. She hastened to find Bertha where the latter worked in the packing room, and said to her: 'That man who went to your house yesterday afternoon was not your uncle at all. He was your father, and he's mine, too. We are sisters.' Thereupon Bertha fainted, and they had to send her home for the rest of the day. Mary, who is twelve years old, went with her, and then came around to tell me what had happened. I went to the Persky home. My sister-in-law had already told Bertha that I was an impostor, that I was only her uncle, and that she was to have nothing whatever to do with either me or Mary. I argued, and reminded Alex and his wife of their promises to give her back to me, but it was no use, and they finally drove me out of the house. Bertha believed everything they told her, for she had never, as far as she remembered, seen me before I called to see her on the previous day."

Rosenthal went to his friend, Benjamin Levy, who is a law clerk, and asked him what to do about it. Levy advised that a counsel be obtained to take action against the Perskys. So Rosenthal put the case in charge of Israel M. Lerner, attorney, of 203 Broadway. Mr. Lerner yesterday said: "Rosenthal's account is absolutely correct. I have investigated the whole story, and there is no doubt that Bertha Persky is really Bertha Rosenthal. She is of a marriageable age, and my client wants to have the privilege of letting her wed from his own house. On Monday I shall institute habeas corpus proceedings to regain the girl for him."

It was learned last night that Rosenthal had been besieging the home of the Perskys ever since Wednesday, but he has never again succeeded in gaining admission. When a reporter called there he found that the Perskys were in, but repeated knocks on the door failed to elicit any response.

Rosenthal's daughter Mary said her father's story was accurate, and that since the day when Bertha fainted the latter had not spoken to her. Bertha returned to her work on Thursday.

THE LANDING OF KOSSUTH.

Hungarians Celebrate the Anniversary of the Arrival of the Patriot.

Hungarians throughout the city will celebrate to-day the forty-ninth anniversary of the reception in this country of the great Magyar patriot and exile, Louis Kossuth, who came to America to seek intervention for his countrymen struggling against the dominion of the Austrians. He failed of his political objects, but his oratory and eloquence made a deep impression.

Kossuth's advent was heralded for many weeks prior to his arrival, which occurred in the early hours of Friday morning, Dec. 5, 1851. Kossuth was accompanied by his wife and members of his staff on the steamship Humboldt, which gave notice of his coming by firing salutes continuously after passing the Narrows. Shortly after midnight a rocket announced to Dr. A. Sidney Doane, Health Officer of the Port, the presence of the Humboldt, and, boarding the ship, welcomed the distinguished Hungarian, while the Governors Island ordnance boomed salutes. Kossuth was taken to Dr. Deane's Staten Island home, and later the same day was formally welcomed to New York by Mayor Kingsland and the Common Council in Castle Garden. The city was en fete, and Broadway was a mass of flags and bunting. Kossuth reviewed the escorting troops from a stand in City Hall Park. Great crowds thronged the Battery and the line of march.

"The entire route of the procession," says THE NEW YORK TIMES of Dec. 8, 1851, "was one continued scene of ovation. The scene at the Astor House and the American Museum was peculiarly interesting. The almost innumerable windows of these immense buildings were crowded with ladies and gentlemen. The arrival of Kossuth at this point was received with a tremendous burst of enthusiasm from the thousands in the buildings, the gentlemen huzzaing and waving their hats, while a cloud of snowy handkerchiefs waved the welcome of the ladies. This demonstration rather surprised him, and he gracefully bowed his acknowledgments again and again."

HARVESTING CHRISTMAS TREES

The People of Maine Realize $150,000 a Year from the Industry.

Special to The New York Times.

BANGOR, Dec. 8.—The Christmas tree industry is now at its height in Maine, many carloads and even vessel loads going forward every week to the large cities. Only a few years ago the fir tree was looked upon as a nuisance in Maine, because it grew as rankly as the burdock and crowded out better growths, while being of no value itself except as it might be considered an ornament to the landscape. Now the fir, no longer despised, is a source of considerable income to hundreds of Maine's rural people, and to the transportation companies as well, for its graceful proportions and balsamic odor have become known to the dwellers in cities, where it is regarded as the ideal tree whereon to display the lights and gifts of holiday time.

The beginning of the popularity of the fir was in 1892, when a party of sportsmen returning in a Boston steam yacht from Newfoundland, called at Sargentville, on Penobscot Bay, to enable some of the party to visit mines inland. Here the beauty of the firs attracted the attention of the owner of the yacht, who took 500 young trees to Boston and sold them at good prices in the Christmas market at Faneuil Hall. Up to that time pines and spruces had been used as Christmas trees, but since the day of the Boston yachtsman's speculation the fir has been the favorite. Now about 1,500,000 trees are annually shipped from Maine.

Men, women and children often work together in gathering the Christmas tree harvest, and in some localities the cutting of the greens is made the occasion of a general merrymaking, as at huskings and other farm festivals. The trees are bundled up, according to size, in lots of six or a dozens, conveyed on hayracks to the railroad station, and there either sold to traveling buyers or shipped direct to Boston or New York. The farmers get about 5 cents each for the smaller trees, 10 to 15 cents for those eight to ten feet tall. In all, Maine people realize about $150,000 a year from their crop of Christmas greens.

FORTUNATE MEYER'S ESCAPE.

He Falls Eight Stories and Lives—Fall from Curb Fatal.

That there is really something in a name was proved to the satisfaction of his fellows by Fortunate Meyer, a mason, of 930 Westchester Avenue, when he fell through the airshaft of a building at First Avenue and One Hundred and First Street, from the eighth floor to the basement, and was picked up, with only an arm broken and a slight scalp wound.

John N. Sullivan, who wasn't Fortunate, fell off the curb in front of 2,247 First Avenue later in the afternoon, fracturing his skull, as a result of which he is dying in the Harlem Hospital.

WESTERN RATE AGREEMENT.

A Committee to be Organized to See that It Is Observed.

Many and repeated pledges of Western railroad traffic officials to observe their agreement to maintain rates having proved ineffective, as demonstrated by the results of the first year's "observance," it has now been decided to try what can be done by a closer supervision of traffic officials by the representatives of the financial interests who control the roads. For this purpose a committee will be organized composed of such representatives, the presiding officer of which will be Aldace F. Walker Chairman of the Board of Directors of Santa Fé system.

The exact organization of this committee, its powers over traffic officials, and the details of the general plan have not, as yet, it is understood, been fully decided upon. The difference between this committee and the Presidents' conference, which will be continued, lies mainly in the fact that under the Presidents' agreement the same traffic officials, some of whom were responsible for the demoralization in rates, were charged with abolishing a situation which they themselves had created, and with punishing offenders against the agreement who frequently had their sanction to make the cuts they did. Under the new committee plan it is proposed to make the traffic officials responsible to that committee.

It is understood that this plan was proposed by Mr. Jeffery, Chairman of the Presidents' conference.

SHORT ROUTE TO THE OCEAN.

The Great Northern and Connections Form a New Line.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—United States Consul Henry, at Quebec, reports to the State Department the completion of the Great Northern Railroad from Quebec to Parry Sound, on Lake Huron. The line opens up a new Canadian grain route, and the promoters of the road claim that it is the shortest and cheapest route now existing for transfer of grain from the great lakes to Europe.

The road forms the connecting link between the Quebec and Lake St. John Road. Grain from Chicago and Duluth is brought in large steamers to Parry Sound, Georgian Bay, and thence by the Canada Atlantic via Ottawa, to Hawkesbury. Here the new road takes it up to Riviere a Pierre, fifty-eight miles from Quebec, where the largest ocean steamers can be loaded from a grain elevator of modern construction, which has just been completed.

The new line is said to reduce the distance to the markets at Liverpool, England, by 800 miles, in contrast with the route from Chicago and Duluth via New York.

Free Pass Question Postponed.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 8.—The Presidents of the railroads included in the Trunk Line Associations and the Central, Western, and Southwestern Traffic associations have decided to postpone further consideration of the proposition to do away with free transportation until next year.

New Rails for Vanderbilt Roads.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8.—The Vanderbilt interests have placed orders with three mills for 100,000 tons of steel rails at $28 per ton. This breaks up the organized effort of the railroads to force the price down to $22.

WEBER PIANOS

The distinguishing characteristic of the Weber Piano is its

Sympathetic Tone

"It is a beautiful instrument."
—Edward de Reszke.

"Perfect for accompanying the voice."
—Ernst Van Dyck.

"The Weber has given me the greatest satisfaction."
—Johanna Gadski.

"The quality and tone are exceedingly sympathetic."
—Milka Ternina.

Examine our beautiful Holiday Stock and obtain our prices and terms. Correspondence solicited. Old instruments taken in exchange.

WEBER WAREROOMS:
Fifth Avenue, Cor. 16th Street, New York.
605 Fulton Street, Brooklyn.

WE TRUST THE PUBLIC will not think us so lacking in business sense as to pay the distiller over thirty % more for than is paid for any other brand of bottling whiskey—unless for quality.

OLD CROW RYE

We know we have the best made in the U. S.

GOLD MEDAL, PARIS, 1900.

H. B. KIRK & CO., Sole Bottlers, N. Y.

PICTURES OF TUNNEL WORK

Official Illustrated Record Kept for Future Reference.

Over 500 Negatives of Excavations and Sewers Already Secured—Things the Tell-Tale Camera Reveals.

One of the features of rapid transit tunnel work which the public hears little of, is the photographs taken at each stage of the work and filed for future reference, one in the office of the Rapid Transit Subway Construction Company and the other in the office of the Rapid Transit Commissioners. These photographs are an illustrated record of rapid transit work and supplemental, but separate, from the mass of detail drawings. Should at any time complications arise between owners of private property or among the sub-contractors, here is a record that shows in one case the condition of private property that may be affected in one way or another along the route of the road, and in the other, the various stages of road construction.

Already the official photographer of the road, Mr. Pullis, has taken over 500 negatives of excavations and sewer work now in progress or completed, and where houses or buildings are concerned, a photograph is taken of the abutting foundations, sills, and side walls, showing their actual condition at the time trenches or excavations are opened.

A great deal of the work may be described as ordinary out-of-door photography, but there is another part of it that involves underground flashlight pictures, and negatives to be taken of sewers and supporting timbers and chains, where the photographer often has scant room and conditions require not a little ingenuity in finding foothold and placing his instrument.

Photography among other things has shown many of the old sewers to be and to have been in bad condition, others almost ready to fall apart, the records of which will henceforth be on file as an indictment against more than one contractor who built city work more for personal profit than municipal weal. Among the first photographs taken in the Bleecker Street sewer, the first one to be changed in connection with the subway, it is shown that the old sewer "in spots," failed to reach the requirements of the specifications. Some up-town sewers—in One Hundred and Eighth and One Hundred and Tenth Streets—gave similar revelations when the workmen's shovels threw away the earth about them. At Fifty-fourth Street and Broadway some of the sewer pipes were so badly worn that they were nearly ready to fall apart.

While engaged in some of the deeper sewers, the photographers found themselves at times greatly hampered by the presence of noxious gases, breeders of malaria. It was here that they found one of their greatest difficulties in getting pictures, for with the gases about in a confined space, flashlights cannot be used.

An interesting condition of affairs in respect to the Boulevard is revealed in these photographic records. A large part of the Boulevard, or Upper Broadway, is composed of solid rock, reaching in many instances almost to the asphalt paving. Photographs show the roots of many of the larger trees to have had a growing space of not over five vertical feet. They had spread out over the rock, growing without the added nourishment needed as the trees became larger. In other cases the roots spread out over the roadway, and many of these were of necessity cut when the Metropolitan Road's subway trolley was put down. These trees, in the course of a comparatively short time, would have died anyway, a fact that may be of some comfort to a great many persons who have protested that the trees should be saved at all hazards. In five of the blocks on the Boulevard—Sixty-second Street to Sixty-sixth Street—and at the Boulevard and One Hundred and Twenty-third Street, rock projected to within two feet of the surface.

Much attention has been paid to the shoring up of scaffolding along the route. A short time ago a negative was made of the big elevator shaft at One Hundred and Eighty-first Street, over 100 feet below the surface. To get this the photographer found it necessary to incase himself in oilskin and pack himself and his apparatus in one of the large steam buckets in order to reach the level. Here the negative was taken by flashlight. Some of the interesting work to come will be that in the 10,000 feet of rock drive from One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Street north to Fort George, and other sub-surface drives.

COAL DEPOSITS IN HUNGARY.

Recent Discovery Estimated to Contain 1,600,000,000 Tons.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Consul Hughes of Coburg, writing under date of Oct. 31, says he has been informed from reliable sources that a very large deposit of so-called "house coal" has been discovered at Barmocz, in Hungary. This deposit, estimated to contain at least 1,600,000,000 tons, is to be developed on scientific lines at once, arrangements having been made to deliver to the railroads from 400 to 500 truckloads per day at a very early date. The quality of this coal, of course, remains to be proved.

Another field is also said to have been discovered in Bohemia, but very much smaller in size and of poorer quality, which is, however, to be developed in the early part of next year if the necessary arrangements can be made.

THE BIG STORE. A CITY IN ITSELF

SIEGEL COOPER Co.

SIXTH AVE. MEET ME AT THE FOUNTAIN 18TH & 19TH STS.

The Choosing Is Greatest Here!

If you do not know just what you want—come here—inspiration and suggestion spring from every corner—and of any article you may think of we will show twenty styles to one shown elsewhere. We have prepared for this Xmas as we have never prepared before. From cellar to garret the store beams with beautiful, ornamental, useful and practical Holiday Gifts, and everything is priced lower here than elsewhere!

HAVE YOU SEEN OUR BEAUTIFUL XMAS WINDOWS AND STORE DECORATIONS? THEY ARE WORTH WHILE COMING TO SEE

Christmas Jewelry.

IF YOU INVEST IN DIAMONDS, WATCHES, JEWELRY OR SILVER

you will give a Christmas present that will last the recipient a lifetime, a perpetual reminder of your thoughtfulness. Nothing you could buy could be more acceptable to the average man or woman, nothing will represent even in years to come so large an intrinsic worth—for jewelry bought right is worth its price at any time. Our assortments are greater this year than ever before, our prices lower than anywhere else in New York—every sign points to THIS jewelry store as best able to serve you. We can, of course, quote here but a few of our leading values—enough, however, to convince any unbiased mind that we are emphatically headquarters for Xmas jewelry.

Diamonds.

DIAMOND BROOCHES, all the very latest designs, beautifully pearl set, enamelled, open work, Hearts, Wreaths, Sunbursts, and a number of other styles, from 8.25 to 140.00

DIAMOND CUFF LINKS, solid gold, Roman finish, new designs, set with large diamonds; exclusive jeweller's price would be $9.00; our price is 5.75

DIAMOND EARRINGS, in handsome cluster and single stone settings, from 8.50 to 125.00

LADIES' DIAMOND RINGS, handsome, brilliantly cut diamonds, in solid gold Tiffany setting, 10.00

LADIES' DIAMOND RINGS, good size stone, in plain or Belcher solid gold setting. 7.25

MISSES' DIAMOND RINGS, in fancy high setting of solid gold, with fine cut stone, 5.75

MISSES' and CHILDREN'S DIAMOND RINGS; would be considered cheap by exclusive jewellers at $4.00; choice to-morrow, 1.95

Solid Gold Jewelry.

MEN'S SOLID GOLD CHAIN, with handsome Intaglio charm, 9.50

Also a full line of other choice styles in 10 and 14 carat, from $6.00 to 28.50

LADIES' SOLID GOLD LORGNETTE CHAIN, with pearl set slide, 3.75

LADIES', MISSES' and CHILDREN'S SOLID GOLD BRACELETS, in 10 and 14 carat, in Chains and Nethersoles, 3.75 to 25.00

SOLID GOLD NECKLACES, with 3 heart pendants, 1.75

Others with and without pendants, from 2.25 to 6.25

LADIES' SOLID GOLD BROOCHES, in every conceivable style, from $1.75 to 12.00

SCARF OR STICK PINS, gold mountings, 50 or more styles to select from, at 98

LADIES' AND MISSES' SOLID GOLD RINGS, real pearl and doublet combinations, in handsome new settings, 2.50

CHILDREN'S SOLID GOLD CHASED BAND RINGS, also fancy stone settings; worth up to $1.60, choice to-morrow for 48

Plated Jewelry.

GOLD FILLED BROOCHES, with genuine opal setting, elsewhere priced at 2.25, here 1.25
Many others up to 5.00.

CUFF LINKS, gold filled, with genuine opal setting, 95c a pair, and others up to 5.00

HAT PINS, gold filled, plain and stone set, your choice of about 25 styles at 50

LORGNETTE CHAINS, gold filled, full length, with jewel set slides, 5.26

NOVELTY BELTS, gold tinsel, with very handsome buckles, 48

PEN AND PENCIL, in box, pearl handle, mounted in sterling silver, with gold pen, 75

Sterling Silver.

MANICURE AND DESK PIECES, sterling silver, heavy, embossed handles, choice at 48

NETHERSOLE BRACELETS of sterling silver, for the baby, 25

LADIES' AND MISSES' CHAIN BRACELETS, sterling silver, with lock and key, 98

STERLING SILVER PURSES, large size, extra heavily embossed top, with ring and chain attached, 2.75

STERLING SILVER CHATELAINE BAGS, large size, soldered links, with embossed tops, 6.75

OTHER CHATELAINE BAGS, in a great variety of styles, at prices ranging from $12.00 to 59.00

STERLING SILVER NAPKIN RINGS; handsomely engraved, 1.25
Others from 59c. to 6.00

STERLING SILVER CANDLESTICKS, very fine finish and extra heavy, 5.00
Others up to 18.00

STERLING SILVER SUGAR BOWL AND CREAM PITCHER, extra heavy, highly polished, 16.25
Other styles up to 135.00

CHEST OF 24 PIECES OF TABLE WARE, sterling silver, extra heavy, 6 knives, 6 forks, 6 tea and 6 table spoons, in heavy oak chest; complete set, 48.00

Silverware (Plated).

24-PIECE SET ROGERS A1 EXTRA PLATE, 6 knives, 6 forks, 6 tea and 6 table spoons, in fancy lined box, 5.50

TEA SET, 5 pieces, quadruple plated, extra large size coffee pot, tea pot, sugar bowl, cream pitcher, and spoonholder, satin engraved; complete set, 9.75
Others from 3.75 to 48.00

BISCUIT or BREAD TRAYS, quadruple plated, highly polished, 2.50
Other styles up to 6.75

COFFEE or CHOCOLATE POTS, quadruple plate, highly polished or satin engraved, from $2.25 to 4.75

CANDELABRA, 4 lights, quadruple plate, headed trimmings, $3.85; other styles up to 13.00

SHAVING SET, cup and brush, quadruple plate, $2.25; others up to 4.25

CHILD'S SET of ROGERS BEST PLATE, with pearl handle knife, choice of 4 fancy patterns; complete set $1.75; others from 50c to 4.00

CHILD'S CUP, quadruple plate, great assortment of patterns, all handsomely engraved or highly polished, 65c.; and others up to 10.50

EBONOID TOILET ARTICLES, with sterling silver mountings—MILITARY BRUSHES, HAIR BRUSHES, CLOTH or HAT BRUSHES, BONNET BRUSHES, MIRRORS, POLISHERS, SOAP BOXES, TRAYS and 3-piece MANICURE SETS on trays; choice to-morrow for 95

Watches.

LADIES' HANDSOME DIAMOND SET WATCH, hunting case, solid 14 carat gold and fitted with a fine DUEBER HAMPDEN movement. 22.00

OTHER DIAMOND SET WATCHES; in Fleur-de-Lis, Crescent and single stone styles, from 25.00 to 55.00

LADIES' SOLID GOLD HUNTING CASE WATCHES, engine turned and beautifully engraved, fitted with Waltham, Elgin or Dueber Hampden movements, 18.50

LADIES' 14-CARAT GOLD FILLED WATCH, hunting case, guaranteed for 25 years and fitted with a Dueber Hampden movement, 10.75

MEN'S SOLID GOLD 14-CARAT OPEN FACE WATCH, new thin model, "very stylish," plain polished case, fitted with Waltham or Elgin jewelled movements, 24.50

MEN'S, GOLD FILLED WATCHES; hunting case, guaranteed for 20 years, engine turned or fancy engraved and fitted with Waltham or Elgin movement. 11.50

MEN'S OPEN FACE WATCH of genuine gun metal, fitted with "The Corona," a fine American movement. 5.25

BOYS' GOLD FILLED WATCH AND CHAIN, open face, case guaranteed for 5 years, chain guaranteed for 10 years; the complete outfit Monday for 5.50

BOYS' NICKEL WATCHES; new, thin model, fitted with a fine American movement and warranted. 1.75

Plain Black Dress Silks

An extraordinary sale will be started here on Monday, and will last throughout the week. We have made a special effort to put before you goods that are suitable for holiday gifts, and will offer you Monday:—

Reversible Black Peau de Soie, composed of the purest of silk and sold with our guarantee for wear; considered good value at $1.25 a yard; our price 88

All Silk Satin Duchess, soft, pliable quality; with beautiful lustrous finish; the quality we usually sell at $1.25 a yard, for Monday for 98

All Silk Satin Duchess, 19 in. wide, rich, elegant finish; the quality we generally sell at 59c. a yard, for Monday, special, at 39

Black Silk Waist and Skirt Patterns, done up in pretty boxes for holiday gifts, at very attractive prices. 59

India Pongee, in a complete line of evening shades, suitable for fancy work, draperies or children's dresses; the regular price is 40c. a yard; Monday at 25

All Silk Japanese Habutai, full 27 inches wide; every color or shade you desire can be had here, and instead of 60c., the regular price, we say, for Monday, 39

Fancy Corded Taffeta for waists and entire dresses, 17 of the newest shades for evening and early spring wear, old rose, delft blue, gobelin blue, rose pink, turquoise, lavender, coral and also cream and white are to be had in this lot, and the price, instead of $1.00, will be only 59

Books for Holiday Gifts.

All things considered, good books are probably the most sensible, appropriate, acceptable and economical of gifts. Our holiday stock this year is remarkably fine, making it easy for you to select books to please the young or old of either sex, no matter what their literary tastes may be, and on every book we can save you something. Here's rich, nutritious brain food at prices that will make you wonder:—

Books in Fine Bindings.

DICKENS' COMPLETE WORKS, 15 volumes, bound in half morocco, gilt tops; published at $30.00, our price, 15.00

CARLYLE'S COMPLETE WORKS, 20 volumes, bound in half morocco; published at $75.00, our price, per set, 35.00

SCHILLER'S WORKS, 8 volumes, bound in half morocco; published at $24.00, our price, per set, 13.50

HAWTHORNE'S COMPLETE WORKS, 8 volumes, bound in half morocco, gilt tops; published at $25.00, our price, 15.00

DUMAS' ROMANCES, 10 volumes, in half calf and half morocco, gilt tops; published at $30.00, our price, per set, 13.50

LIFE OF WASHINGTON, by Irving, 3 volumes, bound in half calf, gilt tops; published at $6.00, our price, 4.00

Popular Edition of Books in Sets.

Cloth bound, good print and paper.

WAVERLEY NOVELS COMPLETE, 12 volumes; our price, 3.25

BRONTE'S WORKS, 6 volumes; our price, 1.50

WORKS OF MARIE CORELLI, 5 volumes; our price, 75

SHAKESPEARE'S COMPLETE WORKS, 5 volumes; our price, 95

MACAULAY'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND, 5 volumes; our price, 75

SEA TALES, by Cooper, 5 volumes; our price. 75

LEATHER STOCKING TALES, by Cooper, 5 volumes; our price, 75

NATIONAL STANDARD ATLAS of the WORLD, our price, 1.35

SCENIC AMERICA, illustrated, 55

GEMS OF MODERN ART, illustrated, 75

Books for Boys and Girls.

Bound in cloth, good print and paper. All well known authors. Thousands to choose from. They are published at from 75c. to $1.50.

For convenience of customers we have arranged them on separate tables at uniform prices:—

Table No. 1—18c. per volume.
Table No. 2—25c. per volume.
Table No. 3—35c. per volume.
Table No. 4—45c. per volume.

FIVE LITTLE PEPPERS; published at $1.50, our price, 75

FIVE LITTLE PEPPERS and HOW THEY GREW; published at $1.50, our price, 75

FIVE LITTLE PEPPERS MIDWAY; published at $1.50, our price, 75

PHRONSIE PEPPER; published at $1.50, our price, 75

CHATTERBOX 1900; our price, 60

But Two Weeks and a Day—and It Will Be Xmas.

We doubt if many of you realize how quickly these 13 shopping days will glide away—why, we can hardly realize it ourselves! If you want to do careful, economical, satisfactory shopping, do it this week. It will be your last opportunity to do so in comfort, for during the week following all the prominent stores will be crowded to the very doors.

And if you shop at The Big Store you need have no worry concerning your personal safety, FOR THE BIG STORE IS FIREPROOF—IN FACT THE ONLY FIREPROOF RETAIL STORE IN NEW YORK.

In the Cloak Dept.

"Special" for Monday, December 10.

Ladies' Oxford Jackets of heavy cloth over serge lining and satin lapel facing, short coat with wide front and close-fitting back; all sizes, at 5.50.

Ladies' Kersey Jackets extremely well tailored, with Skinner's best satin lining, a graceful and shapely garment, made by one of New York's foremost coat tailors; on sale to-morrow for the first time at 10.00.

Ladies' Stylish Newmarkets of middle-weight Oxford and black cheviot cloth, with box front and demi-fitted back; a very stylish garment; offered to-morrow at 19.75.

1,000 Flannel Waists, worth $2.90, $3.90, $4.50 and $5.00, to be closed out Monday at $1.90 each.

Come early if you would not be disappointed.
Bargains like this are snapped up quickly.

The Fur Sales

last week were enormous in spite of the fact that the weather was entirely too mild for the wearing of furs. Qualities and prices are what tempted the people to buy so freely—nothing else. Our recent purchase was so large, however, that, for a few days longer, we are able to continue to offer you the greatest fur bargains of the year. Here are some of them, for example:

$100 PERSIAN LAMB COATS for 57.00
$125 PERSIAN LAMB COATS, with chinchilla, for 75.00
$175 SEALSKIN JACKETS for 125.00
$50 NEARSEAL COATS, with Persian collars and fevers, for 32.50
$25 ELECTRIC SEAL JACKETS for 14.75
$5 ELECTRIC SEAL SCARFS, with six natural tails, for 2.90
$10 NEARSEAL SCARFS, XXXX quality, with six 12-inch sable tails, for 5.90
$10 RED FOX ANIMAL SCARFS, with natural head and large brush, for 4.90
$15 EASTERN MINK SCARFS, prime quality, with large fox tails, for 9.75
$15 ALASKA SABLE SCARFS, of finest grade selected fur, for 9.75
$10 JAPANESE FOX SCARFS, large cluster effects, for 5.90
$20 MINK STORM COLLARS, with natural mink tails, for 14.75
$17.50 ALASKA SABLE STORM COLLARS for 12.75
$5 NEARSEAL MUFFS, with fine down bed, for 2.90
$5 AMERICAN SABLE MUFFS for 2.90
$12 GENUINE BEAVER MUFFS for 6.75

Gloves.

Every possible glove want you may have we are prepared to supply to your perfect satisfaction and at prices that will save you money.

Women's Gloves.

THE ROUILLON, in glace or suede, black and colors, 2 clasp, French throughout, a pair, 1.65

THE DEFIANCE, in glace, 2 clasp, with the Paris embroidered back, has no equal at our price, a pair, 1.00

MISSES' KID GLACE GLOVES, in all the colors, all the sizes, at 65c. and 95

WOMEN'S MANNISH GLOVES, in the proper colors and stitchings, stylish and serviceable, 1.00

ADLER'S YUNO GLOVES, 1.50

DENT'S GLOVES for women, 1.85

MEN'S GLOVES, all kinds—Adler's, Myers', Dent's and Fownes', and other famous makes in well nigh endless assortment.

BOYS' GLOVES, lined and unlined, kid and mocha, 48c. to 1.25

BOYS' WOOL GLOVES, plain and Scotch, excellent values, Monday special at 25

A handsome Glove Box presented with each purchase of ½ dozen pairs of ladies' kid gloves.

Umbrellas.

Our counters and stock rooms are filled with the newest, the choicest and the handsomest Umbrellas that the domestic and foreign markets afforded, and such assortments! Everything is here, from the low-priced, sturdy English Gloria Umbrella to the finest examples of the silk weavers' and handle makers' art, and all so reasonably priced. For Monday we make this splendid special offer:—

500 ALL SILK SERGE AND UNION SILK UMBRELLAS, 26 and 28 inch sizes, close rollers; the women's umbrellas fitted with fashionable full length pearly and ivory handles, gun metal caps, sterling mounted and plain natural wood and horn handles; the men's umbrellas fitted with full-sized horn and natural wood handles, in assorted shapes, plain and silver mounted; regularly worth $3.75 apiece, a choice to-morrow for 2.50

Fancy Goods.

Suitable for Holiday Gifts. An enormous array of pretty and useful goods that will delight the hearts of men and women, and what is equally important, won't cost you much. The celluloid goods are particularly beautiful this season. Come and see the grand display we have arranged on the main floor.

CELLULOID COLLAR AND CUFF BOXES, satin lined, various colors, .98

CELLULOID COLLAR AND CUFF BOXES, satin lined, with handkerchief compartment attached. 1.25

CELLULOID HANDKERCHIEF AND GLOVE SETS, choice of pink, blue, tea, lavender, Nile and yellow satin linings, .98

GLOVE AND HANDKERCHIEF SETS; many very beautiful styles, ranging from $1.25 to 5.00

THREE PIECE TOILET SETS, brush, comb and mirror, in handsome satin lined case, 1.65

TOILET AND MANICURE COMBINATION SETS containing brush, comb, mirror, cuticle scissors, button hook, nail polisher and rouge pot, colored, satin linings, 2.50

ALSO MANICURE AND TOILET CASES, from 98c. to 25.00

CELLULOID WORKBOXES, at 50c. and up to 5.00

WE OFFER SPECIAL to-morrow a satin-lined Box, with all the useful utensils for the work table, at 1.50

CELLULOID PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS, beautifully designed fronts, holding 26 cabinets and 16 carte-de-visite size photos, for 1.50

CELLULOID PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS, oblong shape, square or long, all celluloid or plush and celluloid, hundreds of designs, holding 60 cabinet photos, at 2.90

CELLULOID MUSICAL ALBUMS, play two popular airs and hold 26 photos, at 3.50

ALBUMS of all kinds, small enough for the pocket and large enough for clubs and societies, all at very low prices.

Millinery.

The rapidly advancing season and the imperative demand for more room in which to display our holiday goods are responsible for these great price reductions. It's your opportunity. Miss it and you'll miss the greatest millinery bargains of the year.

TRIMMED HATS, that were formerly on sale at from $30.00 to $40.00, including some of the latest winter models from Paris, now reduced to 15.00

TRIMMED HATS, that were formerly on sale at from $18.00 to $25.00, now reduced to 10.00

TRIMMED HATS, that were formerly on sale at from $10.00 to $15.00, now reduced to 5.00 and 7.50

Millinery Buckles and Ornaments.

One of New York's most prominent millinery importers sold us his entire stock of Fine Buckles and Hat Ornaments, embracing the latest and most desirable effects in fine Rhinestone, gilt, cut steel, fine jet and novelty combinations, containing values up to $2. The low price at which we bought them enables us to offer them to you Monday at, each, 29 and 39

In Feather Boas

Black, White and Gray are the prevailing colors. One of the new features this season is the addition of long Chenille ends to Feather Boas, making a charming effect that leaped into quick popularity by sheer force of novelty and merit. We are excellently well prepared to furnish you superior Feather Boas at low cost, as the following will substantiate:—

OSTRICH FEATHER BOAS, 1¼ yards long, gray or gray and white, 8.90

OSTRICH FEATHER BOAS, 1½ yards long, gray or gray and white, 10.90

OSTRICH FEATHER BO

LAWSON'S YACHT ORDERED

Preliminary Details of Probable Cup Defender Completed.

MAY BECOME N. Y. Y. C. MEMBER

If Club Refuses to Consider Him He Will Yield His Boat to Any Eligible Party.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 8.—Thomas W. Lawson has decided to build, unassisted, a boat to represent Boston in the trial races for the defense of the America's Cup. Some days ago he said to a number of Boston yachtsmen that he would do whatever in their judgment was best; if they wished to form a modern racing syndicate they could count on him for any part of 40 per cent. of the total cost without his having any active voice in the management, but if they decided to go at it in the old-fashioned way, he would stand all the expense, own the boat, and manage the affair, depending upon them for advice and assistance.

They decided the latter course to be the better. "Therefore," said Mr. Lawson tonight, "I have to-day entered into arrangements to build a boat which will meet the conditions necessary for participation in the cup contests."

Mr. Lawson says that he estimates that the genius of one of our young naval architects, the experience and best efforts of one who has already constructed three successful cup defenders, the expenditure of $150,000 to $250,000, the earnest and enthusiastic hard work of half a dozen of our younger yachtsmen, and the best advice of two or three of our veterans, will enable us to go to the starting line and make a showing in a sport, which is dear to us all, in keeping with that by our townsmen in the past. That is all we intend to do, and I have this day perfected the arrangements. My part will be to own the boat, furnish the necessary money, and have a general supervision of the affairs. Bowdoin B. Crowninshield will design the boat. George F. Lawley will construct it, and Capt. "Nate" Watson will in all probability be the sailing master, although this has not as yet been definitely settled.

To procure the best and unhampered efforts of Mr. Lawley it will necessitate the subletting of one of his contracts for a large steamer. This Mr. Lawson is now endeavoring to arrange, but if it cannot be done he has in reserve the offer of the Fore River Engine Company to construct the hull.

An interesting possibility is suggested in this paragraph of Mr. Lawson's statement. "As our boat is to be owned, designed, built, and managed by Bostonians, we will, of course, endeavor to have our crew made up of local sailors, although we have under consideration the manning of her with young Harvard and Yale athletes, who are anxious to bring to our assistance their trained muscles and amateur enthusiasm."

Mr. Lawson further says, inasmuch as considerable has been said about the eligibility of his boat to compete inasmuch as he is not a member of the New York Yacht Club, that he will give no thought to that matter until his yacht is finished and manned. He has no doubt that his entry will be accepted; if it should not be accepted, he will, he says, meet conditions as they exist. Even though they necessitate his giving the boat to any member of any eligible club that the committee decide is a good enough fellow to have her, and personally withdraw from further participation.

WORK ON NEW CUP DEFENDER.

100 Extra Helpers Now Engaged in Herreshoff Shops.

Special to The New York Times.

BRISTOL, R. I., Dec. 8.—The lead for the new cup defender's keel, which went astray in transit, has been located. There was a deal of worry here about the delay while the search for the missing cars was being made, and there is great relief now that the lead can be forwarded.

Arrangements for the casting of the lead keel are to be, in a measure, different from those followed in running Columbia's keel in 1899. The stream of hot metal from the lead kettle to the mold will have a pitch of two inches, which will, as far as possible, eliminate the chance of accidents. In 1899 the fire under one of the lead melting kettles became too hot and cracked the kettle. The grade between the mold and the kettle was but an inch, so when the kettle collapsed the outside end of the lead conductor fell two inches, causing the molten lead to "freeze" in the wooden spout, rendering it necessary to postpone the job for three days.

Nearly one hundred mechanics and helpers have been hired within ten days for the important job to be done this Winter. The greater number of the new hands are steel workers. They are at present at work in various parts of the shops, making ready for the work on the hull of the new cup defender. The work on the seventy-footer Rainbow, in the berth where the defender will take shape, is gradually drawing to a close, and from present indications the boat ought to be finished up in two weeks.

The riveting of the plates is still going on, as well as the fastening of the wooden plates on the outside. Work on the wooden mold is progressing slowly, from the fact that room is at present limited in the shop and not many men can work upon it. The design, however, will be completed before the Rainbow is once more set afloat.

YACHT VERSUS STEAMER.

Judge Addison Brown's Decision in the Case of Vif and Crystal Stream.

Judge Addison Brown, in the United States Circuit Court, has returned a decision of unusual interest to yachtsmen in the suit of R. Floyd Clark to recover damages on his schooner yacht Vif, which was sunk in the East River near Hell Gate on July 16 as the result of a collision with the steamer Crystal Stream, owned by the Myers Excursion and Navigation Company. The decision is important as defining the rights of way of a sailing vessel as against a steamer.

The Vif was a fifty-foot keel schooner yacht, and had among her former owners the actor, William H. Crane, and Charles Stevenson, then the husband of Kate Claxton. She and the Crystal Stream sighted each other when the yacht was sailing north in the easterly channel of Blackwell's Island, nearer to the Blackwell's Island shore and about opposite the workhouse. The Crystal Stream, with an excursion barge lashed to each side of her, was then headed down stream, about 100 feet from the Astoria ferry. The collision occurred within three minutes, near the light, and about 100 feet from the shore of Blackwell's Island.

On the part of the yacht, the crew of three men, who were the only persons aboard, testified that they held their course and saw no side lights on the tow, but that it sagged across their bow and ran into them, the set of the tide forcing them to the westward after passing the bend of the island.

On the part of the Crystal Stream, it was claimed that after passing Astoria ferry slip she crossed the current, to avoid the flood tide and an eddy near the Blackwell's Island side, and that after she had straightened out down the stream the yacht ran into her.

The claim on the part of the yacht was that this crossing of her bow by the Crystal Stream and tow rendered the Crystal Stream liable for all damages, and that, at any rate, as there was a bend in the river at that point, each boat ought to have kept its own side.

Judge Brown held that the Crystal Stream was not liable for crossing the channel from eddy to eddy, as this was the usual course for incumbered tugs to pursue. The barges lashed at each side of the Crystal Stream projected some fifty feet ahead of her, and the side lights on the Crystal Stream could only be seen a point or so through the lane thus made, except where they might show across the decks of the barges. Judge Brown declared this arrangement of her colored lights was a gross violation of the rules of navigation and that the Crystal Stream was in fault. He, however, held that, as the collision occurred at 8 o'clock, when it was still light enough to make out the direction taken by the tow, and that, as the boats were nearly head to head when they first saw each other, the yacht should have passed to the right, the place of collision showing that she must have changed her course with the bend of the shore to the left. He therefore divided the damages.

Yachts at City Island.

Special to The New York Times.

CITY ISLAND, N. Y., Dec. 8.—The British-built cutter Jessica, New York Yacht Club, now lying in her Winter berth at the Woods yard, this place, has been sold by J. M. McDonough to Roosevelt Schuyler of Nyack, N. Y. The Jessica was built abroad in 1890 from Fife designs for Mr. McDonough's brother. The yacht is 61 feet over all, 45 feet water line, 10 feet beam, and 10 feet 6 inches draught. Mr. Schuyler intends to cut down the Jessica's rig for convenience in cruising, not desiring to enter the boat in her class races. Other alterations are being contemplated, including the cutting off of about twelve inches of the lead keel. Mr. McDonough, the previous owner, is seriously considering the building of a houseboat 127 feet over all and 20 feet beam.

Anson Phelps Stokes's new sloop, now under construction at the Woods yard, this place, from designs of Tams, Lemoine & Crane, is rapidly nearing completion. The hull has been planked, and the joiner work nearly finished. The deck house and setting up of inside fittings will be the next in order. The new boat has been named the Mermaid, and will be commanded by Capt. Rodstrom, sailing master of Francis H. Page's Narcissus this season, on her voyage south this Winter.

SPECIAL HONORS FOR OARSMEN

Members of the Vespers' Famous Eight Will Be Elected to Life Membership.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—At the annual meeting of the Vesper Boat Club of this city on Monday evening the members of its famous eight-oared shell crew, winners of the National and world's championships during the past season, will be elected to life membership in the club. The men who will receive this high honor are L. C. Abell, John O. Exley, Hary De Baecke, J. B. Juvenal, John Geiger, William Carr, Edwin Hedley, Edward Marsh, and R. C. Lockwood.

In order to reward its champions in this manner it was necessary to alter the constitution of the club, the following section being added:

"Any member who wins or assists to win a championship in an international regatta abroad is eligible to life membership."

The past season has been a remarkably successful one for the club, as it won honors on the Schuylkill, the Harlem, the Passaic, the Charles, and the Seine, and its pre-eminence was everywhere admitted.

At the meeting on Monday officers for the coming year will be elected. The nominations are as follows: President, H. J. Andrews; Vice President, Oscar Thorn; Treasurer, A. J. Cottingham; Recording Secretary, F. M. Fisher; Corresponding Secretary, Wright Kugler; Captain, W. E. Wark, jr.; Madden; First Lieutenant, Joseph Shane; Second Lieutenant, Richard Haggerty; Third Lieutenant, Charles Roehm; House Committee, George S. James, F. B. Schoettle; Finance Committee, C. P. Elliott, L. C. Abell, Wright Kugler; Inquiry Committee, John J. Quirk, W. E. Wark, Edward Farren; Naval Delegates (two to be elected,) H. M. Hughes, J. M. Patterson, F. B. Schoettle, Cornelius Haggarty, jr.

ACTIVITY IN UNION BOAT CLUB.

Oarsmen Keep In Condition by Playing Handball and Water Polo.

Handball and water polo are now occupying the attention of many members of the Union Boat Club, and in their clubhouse, on the Harlem River, near Lenox Avenue and One Hundred and Forty-ninth Street, many of the energetic oarsmen are to be found three or four days in the week playing these games, to keep their muscles in trim for future rowing contests. A handball tournament for singles has just been finished. Over thirty competitors took part, and the prize was won by Coll Kelly, the popular new Treasurer of the club, who in the annual election last week defeated his opponent by the narrow margin of one vote. J. P. Kemp, Captain of the club, secured second place.

A tournament for doubles will be started this week, which will have many competitors. It will be in progress about five weeks. Plans are now being arranged to form an interclub handball tournament among the Union, Metropolitan, Wyanoke, and Dauntless Boat Clubs. The Unions and Metropolitans played a series of games last year, and they aroused considerable interest among the members of the two clubs. Boatmen in other clubs became interested in the sport, and this has led to a desire to enlarge the field of interclub handball competitions this year.

The Union Boat Club will also have a water polo team this season, as it did last year. The team was entered in the Sportsmen's Show last year and got second place. It will try again this year. The chief water polo enthusiasts, from whom the team will be picked, are Coll Kelly, Al Luders, Dan Lenahan, George Nonenbacher, Herman Hjertberg, a brother of Ernie Hjertberg, the runner, and Charles Stevens. Capt. Kemp, in his interesting annual report, made special comment on water polo activity in the club, and predicted that no one need be surprised to see the Unions returned winners in the Sportsmen's Show contest this season.

The club navy contains ninety-one boats of all kinds, and there are fifteen private boats owned by members. Six men during the past year won four banners for the club, and, with the largest membership of any boating organization on the river, the Captain expressed the hope that more men would get out on the river next year and try to do effective and serious work. The active membership of the club at present is 148, an increase of 13 over last year. There are, in addition, 29 honorary members and 1 life member. The club is in a comfortable financial condition, and President Edward Connell was re-elected by a good majority to serve for another year.

REMSEN LED AT C. A. C. SHOOT.

Won the Second Competition for the December Cup.

J. S. S. Remsen won the second shoot for the December cup at the Crescent Athletic Club traps yesterday afternoon, making, with his handicap added, a perfect score of fifty kills. G. W. Hagedoun was second and F. B. Stephenson and W. G. McConville tied for third place.

The weekly shoot for a panel of mounted game was won by McConville, and the shoot for a stein resulted in a tie between Hagedoun and McConville, which will be shot off next Saturday. The scores:

Second weekly shoot for the December Cup; 25 birds expert trap and 25 Magau trap; handicap allowances added:

Name.	Expert Rules. H. K. T.	Magau Trap. H. K. T.	Grand Tot'l.
C. S. S. Remsen	2 23—25	1 25—26	50
E. Banks	0 22—22	0 24—24	46
A. M. Boucher	4 9—13	3 17—20	33
F. B. Stephenson	4 20—24	3 20—23	47
G. W. Hagedorn	3 20—23	2 24—25	48
W. G. McConville	11—28	10 14—24	47
D. G. Geddes	1 19—20	1 17—18	38
H. M. Brigham	2 20—22	2 23—25	47
W. W. Marshall	6 11—17	5 15—20	37
G. Stephenson, Sr.	10 8—18	8 14—22	40
L. C. Hopkins	9 9—18	8 19—27	42
Dr. H. L. O'Brien	5 0—14	4 13—17	31
Dr. H. L. Keyes	9 12—21	7 22—26	46
C. Kenyon, Jr.	5 19—24	4 17—21	45

Shoot for Panel, 15 Birds, Expert Rules, Handicap.—Hagedorn, 1—13—14; Boucher, 3—8—11; F. B. Stephenson, 2—11—13; Marshall, 4—7—11; Brigham, 1—11—12; McConville, 8—7—15; Banks, 0—12—12; Remsen, 1—13—14; G. S. Stephenson, Sr., 6—6—12; Dr. O'Brien, 8—4—7; Geddes, 0—13—13.

Shoot for Stein Trophy, 15 Single Birds and 10 Pairs, Magau Trap.—Banks, 0—23—23; F. B. Stephenson, 3—20—23; Hagedorn, 2—23—25; Boucher, 4—20—24; Brigham, 2—14—16; Kenyon, Jr., 4—17—21; Remsen, 0—19—19; Hopkins, 7—8—15; Marshall, 5—17—22; McConville, 10—15—25; Keyes, 4—17—21; Chapman, 10—6—16.

Sweepstake, 10 Pairs, Magau Trap.—Banks, 16; Hagedorn, 10; Kenyon, Jr., 10; Keyes, 8; F. B. Stephenson, 13; Chapman, 11.

Sweepstake, 10 Pairs, Magau Trap.—Banks, 16; Hagedorn, 14; Kenyon, Jr., 6; F. B. Stephenson, 10.

Sweepstake, 15 Birds, Expert Trap.—Marshall, 8; Boucher, 12; F. B. Stephenson, 10.

Sweepstake, 10 Birds, Magau Trap.—Hagedorn, 8; F. Stephenson, 9; Boucher, 7; Brigham, 6; McConville, 9; Townsend, 6.

Cornell's New Football Captain.

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 8.—W. J. Warner, '02, left guard of the 'Varsity football team, was elected this afternoon Captain of Cornell's 'Varsity eleven for next season. He is a brother of Glenn S. Warner, the Carlisle Indian coach. He is nineteen years old, weighs 200 pounds, and is 6 feet 2 inches in height. His home is in Springville, N. Y.

SOLDIERS' ATHLETIC GAMES

Members of Thirteenth and Seventh Regiments in Contests.

ARMORY RECORDS BROKEN

Maxey Long's Creditable Exhibition Run—Keen Rivalry for the Handsome Nesbitt Trophy.

Battery E won for the second year last night the inter-company athletic championship of the Thirteenth Regiment Heavy Artillery, at the Fall regimental games held in the big armory at the corner of Sumner and Jefferson Avenues, Brooklyn. An unusually large crowd of spectators turned out to witness the tussle of the military athletes for supremacy in a dozen or more events.

Ernest Hjertberg, the old-time champion runner, appeared on the track in a race against a bicycle. The latter was ridden by George W. Crook, the crack bicycle rider of the regiment. He rode two miles while Hjertberg ran one mile. Crook kept his wheel spinning, but Hjertberg showed that his old-time ability had not disappeared, and he won by 270 yards, leading at the finish by more than one of the 220-yard laps. He made the very good time of four minutes and thirty-six seconds, while the bicycle did the two miles in five minutes two and two-fifths seconds.

RACE IN MARCHING ORDER.

The heavy marching order half-mile race was one of the interesting features of the evening. It was a decided novelty, in one respect, to see a race with competitors fully clad, but at the finish every man got rid of some of his thirty pounds of additional weight as speedily as possible. Each artilleryman carried a twelve-pound gun, while his knapsack, overcoat, canteen, and a few smaller articles made a weight of fully thirty pounds.

One of the runners when he finished said that it seemed 100 pounds. Eight men started and the finish was as close as a half-mile race between record-breaking sprinters. C. Y. Beecher of Battery E sprinted like a deer in the last lap and won by less than three feet. J. J. Farrell of the same company was second, and R. M. Underwood of Company E was a close third. A ludicrous feature of the finish was a claim made by Farrell that he should be awarded first place because the winner lost his hat. The judges did not consider that the lack of a hat's weight aided Beecher materially in his victory, and he continued to stand as winner.

Another interesting feature of military drill put to competitive purposes was a wall-scaling contest. Four teams entered this event, seven men composing each team. Batteries A, E, G, and I being the representatives. A wooden skeleton section of a wall, slightly sloping on both sides, was placed in the middle of the armory floor. The competing teams had to scale the obstacle twice, running first from one end of the building and then from the other, after the first attempt drawing up in line about 50 yards from the wooden wall, aiming their guns at an imaginary fleeing foe, and firing.

As the seven attacking men ran to the base of the wall the guns were thrown down in a twinkling. Half of the men backed against the wall and acted as ladders for the others to scale the wall. The last man made a cat-like spring for the top, while one of his companions gave him an energetic pull. Meanwhile the guns had been passed up, and were instantly hurled to the floor on the opposite side, and the National Guardmen leaped over in a jiffy after them, picked them up, and ran to the finishing point.

The team from Battery G threw a veritable bombshell into the ranks of their opponents from E by doing the drill in 57 2-5 seconds, while E, which had previously done the work in 1 minute 14 seconds, had been congratulating its members over the fact that its record of last year had been broken by five seconds.

As a last resort, the disappointed team entered a protest because the G Battery team had two non-commissioned officers instead of one, although the rules simply stated that one non-commissioned officer should constitute a team. As no announcement was made that the protest was sustained, the attempt to belittle the well-deserved victory of the winners evidently failed.

SPILL IN THE BICYCLE RACE.

The one-mile bicycle race was characterized by a general spill all around, no less than five men going down in the melee. The accident occurred early in the race, and was due to E. O. Irish, who was second in the run, with the other competitors closely bunched. When he fell J. H. Karkella, Leo M. Allen, L. Missback, and G. J. Barrie tumbled over one another, making a bad mixup of riders and wheels. Missback quickly got out of the tangle and won the race. By an odd coincidence the second and third men, Karkella and Allen, respectively, were among those who lost several seconds of valuable time by the fall.

The games were admirably managed, and were run off in fast order. Battery E scored 73 points, far in advance of the other companies, for K got 6 points, C 5, L 5, G 5, A 4, and D 1. The summaries:

100-Yard Dash, Handicap.—First heat—Won by H. L. Hillmann, Battery E, 8 yards. Time—0:11. Second heat—Won by W. E. Sedley, Battery A, 3 yards. Time—0:11. Third heat—Won by G. W. Streeter, Battery M, 2 yards. Time—0:11 2-5. Fourth heat—Won by A. Zender, Battery E, 4 yards. Time—0:11 1-5. Fifth heat—Won by W. D. McCormack, Battery E, 2 yards. Time—0:11 1-5. Final heat—Won by H. L. Hillmann, Battery E, 2 yards; W. D. McCormack, Battery E, 2 yards, second; A. Zender, Battery E, 4 yards, third. Time—0:11.

One-Mile Run, Handicap.—Won by C. Y. Beecher, Battery E, 25 yards; R. M. Underwood, Battery E, 45 yards, second; J. J. Farrell, Battery F, scratch, third. Time—4:46 3-5.

One-Mile Interscholastic Team Relay Race; teams of four men, each man to run a quarter of a mile.—Won by the Brooklyn Boys' High School, R. R. Johnson, G. O. Kittle, C. Brinckerhoff, and R. P. Schoebjahn; Pratt Institute High School, W. L. L. White, E. C. White, J. E. Kirkman, and William Scott, second, and Polytechnic Preparatory School, H. M. Halsted, M. W. Henry, H. S. Roberts, and G. S. Whiting, third. Time—3:49.

One-Mile Bicycle Race, Handicap.—Won by L. Missbach, Battery K, (75 yards;) J. H. Karkella, Battery E, (20 yards,) second; Lew H. Allen, Battery C, (50 yards,) third. Time—2:47 4-5.

75-Yard Sack Race, Scratch.—Won by J. D. Nerrie, Battery L; R. S. Hubbell, Battery C, second; Frank B. Squires, Battery E, third. Time—0:17 1-5.

One-Furlong Novice Race, Scratch.—Won by D. Coger, Battery E; F. B. Squires, Battery E, second; W. S. McLeod, Battery E, third. Time—0:27 4-5.

Potato Race.—Won by W. H. Briton, Battery G; W. D. McCormack, Battery E, second; E. J. Carlton, Battery D, third. Time—0:31 4-5.

One-Half-Mile Run, in Heavy Marching Order.—Won by C. Y. Beecher, Battery E; J. J. Farrell, Battery E, second; R. M. Underwood, Battery E, third. Time—2:41 4-5.

One-quarter-Mile Run, Handicap.—Won by H. L. Hillmann, Battery E, (5 yards;) W. H. Rowan, Battery E, (scratch,) second; J. H. Roy, Battery E, (20 yards,) third. Time—0:54 2-5.

Wall-Scaling Contest.—Teams making best time to win; teams of seven-meh squads; to run twenty-five yards, scale a twelve-foot wall, under command of non-commissioned officer, then fire at an imaginary foe, and repeat back to starting line.—Won by Battery G's team, consisting of Corp. Jackeon, Private Case, Corp. Mills, Privates Bradt, Schwartz, Lewrey, Murrey, and Britton; Company E was second, breaking its last year's record, and Battery A was third. Time—0:57 2-5; 1:14; 1:47 2-5.

Special Professional Contest, Bicycle Versus Man.—Won by Ernest W. Hjertberg, who defeated George W. Crook, Battery L, by 1 lap and 50 yards. Time of winner—4:36. Crook's time—0:02.

Wheelbarrow Race.—Won by W. P. Beecher, Battery E; I. Bishop, Battery E, second. Time—0:12 2-5.

Obstacle Race, 220 Yards.—Won by C. Y. Beecher, Battery E; J. Doherty, Battery E, second; H. W. Brawerd, Battery C, third. Time—1:10 2-5.

One-Mile Regimental Relay Race.—Won by Battery E—W. D. McCormack, J. J. Farrell, H. L. Hillman, and W. H. Rowan; Battery A, second—W. E. Sedley, E. J. Schaldecker, M. H. Scheldecker, and H. Thomson; Battery K, third. Time—3:44 2-5.

NATIONAL SPORTING MEET.

Great Athletic Tournament Planned for the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.

The Committee on Sports appointed to plan and arrange for athletic competitions at the Pan-American Exposition to be held in Buffalo next Spring and Summer has submitted a report of the premilinary work accomplished, together with an outline of the sports to be scheduled, which gives excellent promise for the athletic feature at the great exhibition. The members of the committee are Jesse C. Dann, Chairman; Dr. Charles Cary, J. McC. Mitchell, John B. Olmstead, Charles M. Ransom, Seward A. Simons, and William Burnett Wright, Jr. By invitation of the members of this committee, Vice President-elect Theodore Roosevelt, C. C. Cuyler, Walter Camp, C. H. Sherrill, A. A. Stagg, Benjamin Ide Wheeler, and Caspar Whitney, and C. S. Hyman of Canada have assisted in the work on hand in the capacity of an Advisory Committee on Amateur Sports, and have contributed much to the arrangement of the general outline of the athletic programme.

The plan for the grounds to be devoted to sports has been completed. The stadium, which will have a seating capacity of 12,000, promises to be one of the most beautiful architectural creations of the exposition. It will surround a quarter-mile track with ground area ample for the requirements of all the events proposed. Particular attention has been paid to aisles, a large number leading to seats, in addition to the great main entrance on the west. The stadium is to be on the east side of the plaza, opposite the entrance to the midway, and near the entrance to the steam and trolley railway station, at the north end of the exposition grounds. Amateur sports of all kinds will be encouraged as representing the most desirable of athletic competitions, and it is hoped that college sports may be an especial feature. In the management of the various intercollegiate events, it is the desire of the committee that the various college associations be invited to undertake as far as possible the arrangement of all necessary details connected therewith. The committee, through its Chairman, will conduct all correspondence relating to college sports. Other amateur sports will, under the direction of the committee, come largely within the province of J. E. Sullivan, who has been engaged as athletic manager. Mr. Sullivan will maintain an office at No. 16 Park Place, New York City. It is proposed also to have such a number of professional events as will allow visitors an opportunity to witness the athletic skill of the best professionals. The character of prizes that will be offered has not yet been definitely determined. While the stadium will be largely devoted to sports, many other events will take place there, such as military drills, automobile races, the judging of live stock, firemen's tournaments, fireworks displays, and similar spectacles.

Although no definite engagements have been made, the following events have been tentatively planned by the committee, and are now the subject of correspondence.

College baseball and college football games will be arranged between elevens representing well known universities, the games to take place in late October. It is the desire of the committee to hold on the exposition grounds first the Eastern intercollegiate meeting, then the Western intercollegiate meeting, these to be followed by a Pan-American inter-collegiate meeting, open to winners in the previous meetings. Other college sports will include various intercollegiate sports, such as water polo, cycling, and lacrosse.

The Amateur Athletic Union will be invited to hold its annual track and field championship meet within the exposition grounds some time during the year. It is planned to devote two days to these events.

A lawn tennis tournament has been planned, in which it is expected that all the leading players of America will take part, and it is possible that foreign representatives may compete. A Marathan race will be planned, with start and finish in the stadium. It is proposed to have National cross-country running events for both juniors and seniors, and an endeavor will be made to hold the intercollegiate championship at the exposition.

World's championships at various sports are contemplated. It is probable that two days will be set aside for these events, and entries will be invited from all the countries in the world. A lacrosse competition will be arranged, in which leading Canadian and American teams will play as many preliminary matches as entries call for prior to the final event, when the winning teams will cross sticks for the championship. The building of a special bicycle track within the stadium is being considered, and it is hoped that an interesting competition may be planned which will include the leading cyclists of the world. The matter of building a swimming tank in the stadium grounds is being considered, and it is hoped that water sports may be made a leading feature of the programme either in the stadium or in the lake or bay on the grounds. Application will be made to the American Athletic Union for permission to hold a swimming and water polo championship contest. Several days will be devoted to basket-ball, trap, and target shooting competition has been planned. Valuable prizes will be offered in these competitions.

The National gymnastic championships, open to all gymnasts, may be held in the stadium, and for the New York State school athletes it is planned to have preliminary contests, and then to hold an interscholastic meet, open to all schools of the United States. Military manoeuvres will be made a special feature. Athletic competitions will be held open to athletes who are members of the National Guard, and representative turners of the United States will give an interesting exhibition of gymnastics. Cricket, bowling, and professional baseball will receive proper attention.

As many athletic governing bodies have not yet been appointed for 1901, a completed schedule of events cannot be announced until early Spring. In the meantime, the committee requests communications from the various athletic associations. All communications should be addressed to Jesse C. Dann, Chairman, 433 Ellicott Square, Buffalo, N. Y.

YALE DEFEATED DEAF-MUTES.

Basket Ball Team's Victory Was by 22 to 11 Points.

Handicapped by the absence of Sharpe, the Yale five nevertheless soundly trounced the team of deaf-mutes known as the Silent Five, in the opening game of intercollegiate basket ball in this city last evening. Dr. Savage's gymnasium, in West Fifty-ninth Street, was well crowded with spectators, who for the most part were sympathizers with the deaf-mutes. As many of the partisans were speechless, they had to confine their demonstrations of approval to handclapping. They were silently disgusted when their team was defeated by the Yale team by a score of 22—11.

While, with one exception, the mutes were individually the equals of the Yale players, the sons of Eli had passing and team work developed to a higher point than their opponents. While it was the Blue who won, it was Clark who won for her. The New Haven boys took the lead at the start, and by clever passing and good blocking rolled up a score of 9—3 by the end of the period. In the second half the Silent Five braced up, and by scoring four points more cut down Yale's lead. Things looked ominous for Eli for a while, but Clark began his splendid work, and the mutes did not get another point till Yale had netted thirteen more. The teams' line-up:

Yale, 22.	Position.	Silent Five, 11.
Hall	Forward	McVey
Colton	Forward	Rappold
Clark	Centre	Cook
Rogers	Guard	Meehling
Lockwood	Guard	Avers

Goals—Clark, 6; Colton, 2; Cook, 2; McVey, 1; Meehling, 1. Goals from fouls—Clark, 6; Cook, 3. Referee—Mr. Clausen. Umpire—Mr. Lincoln. Time of game—Twenty-minute halves.

Before the Yale game there wae another contest between the Alliance and Keystone basket ball fives. Science and playing skill were rather absent qualities, and both sides depended considerably on roughness and force. After two warmly contested halves the Alliance won by a score of 19 to 14.

Columbia Freshmen's Hockey Team.

A hockey team has been formed in the freshman class at Columbia. A. Akin has been elected Captain, and E. A. Stanfin manager. Manager Stanfin contemplates arranging a series of games with the freshman teams at Harvard, Yale, and Princeton. The men have begun work, and at present are practicing in the following formation: H. Hudson, W. H. Putnam, A. Akin, H. Benedict, and M. Pickering, forwards; A. E. Akin, cover; R. Von Bernuth, goal.

Madden Buys Nursery Fillies.

Special to The New York Times.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 8.—J. E. Madden of Hamburg Place, Lexington, has purchased from August Belmont, President of the New York Jockey Club, from the Nursery stud, Lexington, thirteen filly foals of 1900. Seven of them are by Henry of Navarre, and six by Hastings. Mr. Madden will develop them at Lexington, Madden, though spending half his time in Louisville, where he has twenty yearlings, among them the Hanover-Correction colt for which he paid $20,000 at Sheepshead Bay, says he has no intention whatever of disposing of Hamburg Place.

Follett Wins the Cuyler Cup.

W. I. Follett won the silver cup given by Theodore L. Cuyler to the golfing members of the Marine and Field Club yesterday in the final round played on the club links, near Bath Beach. It was a closely played match, Follett beating E. H. Kinney by the slim margin of one up.

For Christmas—
The standard after which others endeavor to pattern—

The Knabe

A Christmas remembrance of 1900 that will outlive the 20th Century.

5th Ave. and 20th St.

As an expression of our customers' satisfaction we are grateful for the many praises we get.

To test the value we give, you can order suit or overcoat, retain the same one week, with privilege of money back for the asking. Our sale this week consists of up-to-date double breasted frock coat and vest, fitting close in the back, silk lined and faced, $23. Imported English trouserings, in checks and stripes, $6. Business suit of imported fancy Cheviots, including blues and blacks, $16. Overcoats of Kerseys, Meltons and Velours, satin lined, $20. Special line of fancy silk vestings, $8. Cravenette rain proof coat, $25. Full dress and Tuxedo, silk lined throughout, $30.

Samples, Fashion Book, Measuring guide, sent anywhere.

For a Christmas present we can refer back for measurements 23 years.

ARNHEIM,

BROADWAY & 9TH STREET.

If your past experience with the transient beauty of Dolldom suggests the need of a

Dolls' Accident Insurance

buy a Metal Head and stop the breakage.

ONLY THE

"Minerva" METAL Dollheads

combine

BEAUTY OF BISQUE... with DURABILITY OF METAL AND CAN NOT BREAK.

Indispensable for old and new dolls! Can be adjusted to the shape of body and easily fitted in position without experience.

ALL SIZES! ALL STYLES!

FOR SALE AT ALL DEALERS IN TOYS.

Alfred Vischer & Co., Gen. Agts. 11 Warren St., N. Y.

THE

Choicer Persian and Turkish Rugs.

Oriental Antique Silver and Gold Jewelry, Ancient Iridescent Cypriote Glass, Rare Italian Velvets and Spanish Laces, Greek and Roman Gems, Coins, Seals, Scarabs, etc., at favorable prices. Especially suitable for presentation. Cannot be duplicated.

DANIEL Z. NOORIAN, 28 E. 20th St., N. Y.

COLUMBIA TEAM'S SMALL PROFIT.

Manager William Brock Shoemaker of the Columbia University football team completed an approximate report of the finances of the team yesterday. The report shows that the receipts from all sources for the year were about $40,800, while the expenses amount to $38,000. About $2,500 is still due the Association, while there are unpaid bills for the amount of $4,000. The following is Mr. Shoemaker's statement of the gate receipts and expenses of the different games played by the team during the season:

Game With—	Receipts.	Expenses.
Princeton	$18,500	$9,800
Yale	8,600	5,400
Pennsylvania	1,700	300
Carlisle	10,500	....
Harvard	800	1,000
Williams	600	500
Buffalo	700	700
Wesleyan	700	500
Other games	900	700

In addition to the receipts herein stated $2,700 was received from the sale of season tickets, while among the expenses there is to be counted, $15,000, the rental of Columbia Field, and $5,000, Sanford's salary as coach. Other expense items incurred in conducting the team are as follows:

Rent of football houses, $700; football goods, $1,000; salaries of trainers and rubbers, $880; house salaries, $300; advertising, $332; railroad fares, $106; printing, $127; gas, $50; stamps, $15; cab hire, $55; express charges, $80; general expenses, $1,200.

As this report is not exact in details, it will not be immediately presented to the General Athletic Committee. When all outstanding accounts have been closed and all detailed receipts and expenses calculated, it is probable that a balance of about $500 will be shown. This means that all other branches of sport at Columbia, which are not self-supporting will be hard put to it for funds this year. Football is the source from which other teams usually draw their support, and when the football season is not a profitable one the funds for the various branches of athletics have to be raised by contributions from undergraduates and alumni. This is especially true as regards the boat crew, which annually spends about $10,000.

ALL CARS TRANSFER TO

Bloomingdales

3rd Ave. 59th & 60th Sts.

A Stirring Event in Women's

Fine Flannel Waists, $2.59.

Regularly Retail at $3.50, $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00 Each—This is one of the greatest opportunities to purchase fine French Flannel Waists at much less than real worth that has ever been offered. Just the thing to make a handsome Xmas gift. (Put up in boxes.) There are about 20 styles in the lot; choice of hundreds of colors and designs. Are the best finished waists shown this season, and are retailing in other stores as high as $6.00. Sale for Monday and Tuesday only. We cannot accept C. O. D. or mail orders, for the lot will not last long at 2.59

Second Floor, 59th St. Section.

Holiday Sale of Books.

We will begin to-morrow one of the greatest Book Sales we have ever attempted. You will find the prices, by comparison, to be the lowest yet reached by any retail concern. At these prices we cannot fill C. O. D. or mail orders.

For Adults.

Mark Twain's $1.00 Book for 29c.—Mark Twain's most popular book, entitled Sketches New and Old, containing the funniest stories; The Jumping Frog, A Good and Bad Little Boy, A Visit to New York, Science and Luck, A True Story Just as I Heard It; Concerning Chambermaids, About Barbers, History Repeats Itself, Running for Governor, &c., beautifully bound in cloth and gold, printed from large type on fine paper, fully illustrated, published at $1.00.

The Three Musketeers, $2.48; illustrated Holiday edition, with numerous photographs and etchings, including original pictures by E. Abot, Felix Oudart, E. H. Garrett, etc. Very handsomely bound, 2 volumes, boxed, published at $3.50.

Ramona, $3.95. By Helen Hunt Jackson. A new illustrated Edition, with photogravure plates. A most artistic edition. Two volumes, boxed. Published at $6.00.

Their Silver Wedding Journey, $3.48. By William Dean Howells. Illustrated Holiday Edition, two volumes. Published at $5.00.

Cupid and the Footlights, 95c.; by James L. Ford, illustrated by Archie Gunn, published at $1.50.

The Original Letters, 95c.; illustrated by Rosalie Artbur, published at $1.50.

The Wedding Day in Literature and Art, $1.18; by B. C. Carter, published at $2.00.

The Ship, Her Story, $1.18; by Clarke Russell, 50 illustrations by H. C. Steppings Wright, published at $2.00.

For the Little People.

Some of the newest and most popular books for our youngest readers. Full of merriment and illustrated in colors and photogravures by the best artists of the day.

Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes, translated by Isaac T. Headland, of Peking University. A literary curiosity, charming alike for children and adults, artistically bound and beautifully illustrated with reproductions from Photographs of Chinese Child Life. Published at $1.25.

Mother Goose, 98c; with 250 pictures by F. Opper. Published at $1.75.

Father Goose, His Book, 68c. By Baum & Denslow. Published at $1.25.

The Songs of Father Goose, 58c. By Baum & Denslow. Publisher's price, $1.00.

Mother Wild Goose and Her Wild Beast Show, 95c. By L. D. Bridgeman. Published at $1.50.

The Wonderful Wizard of Oz, 78c., by Frank Baum, and illustrated by W. W. Denslow, published at $1.50.

Chinatown Stories

C. VANDERBILT'S ESTATE VALUED AT $72,500,000

Personalty $52,500,000 and Realty $20,000,000.

STATE TRANSFER TAX $520,000

A. G. Vanderbilt Inherits $44,500,000, Mrs. Whitney $8,500,000, Other Children $7,500,000 Each.

G. B. D. Hasbrouck, the legal representative of the State Controller, announces that the personalty of the estate of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt had been appraised at $52,500,000. The real estate left by the great financier, the lawyer said had been appraised at $20,000,000, thus fixing the total valuation at $72,500,000. On the basis of this appraisal, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, as residuary legatee and head of the house, inherits $44,500,000, Mrs Harry Payne Whitney $8,500,000, Reginald Vanderbilt $7,500,000, Miss Gladys Vanderbilt $7,500,000, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt $2,000,000, and Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr. $1,500,000.

According to State Appraiser O'Connell these figures may be open to slight change, as the final report to be turned over to the Surrogate requires several more days' work before it can be completed.

The appraisal of the estate was not made without difficulty. For some time there was a difference of opinion between the Controller's office and the lawyers for the estate, Anderson & Anderson. The difficulty was that the estate consisted largely of securities that fluctuated in value from day to day, and that depending on the rise and fall in the market, it was never twice the same. The executors for the estate held that the estate should not be taxed for more than $50,000,000. This would have made the aggregate transfer tax $499,000. Both sides finally came to the understanding that in order to estimate the estate on a stationary basis it should be appraised on the market value of the securities on the day of Mr. Vanderbilt's death. Under the appraisement made, the tax will be $520,000.

State Appraiser O'Connell, when seen in his office yesterday, said: "I have no statement to make until after my official report is in the hands of the Surrogate. To make a statement before that time would be, for me, improper. Mr. Hasbrouck is in a different position, and if he wants to make a statement, has no to consider himself, as I have to, in the position of a referee. My official report is not as yet complete, nor will it be ready for filing until a week or more. Whatever agreement the two attorneys came to, it was my affair only to examine the case, concur in the agreement, and file my report with the Surrogate. My report is not necessarily final. Both parties now have the right to appeal in open court."

At the office of Anderson & Anderson it was said that H. P. Anderson, who had the case in charge, was out of town. One of the firm, C. P. Anderson, made the following statement:

"The story printed in a morning paper that there was a 'deadlock' between the lawyers representing the opposing interests is untrue. From the very beginning all was harmony. The work connected with appraising so enormous an estate is of necessity long and tedious. There was no delay in coming to an understanding any more than the nature of the work required."

It was said that the comparatively small sum left to the elder son, Cornelius, Jr., was because the father was dissatisfied with the former's marriage to Miss Grace Wilson. Cornelius, however, is to receive $6,000,000 from the residuary estate.

Crouse Inheritance Tax $23,000.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 8.—The appraisal of the estate of Jacob Crouse, who left $4,000,000, indicates that the State will receive about $23,000 inheritance tax.

TWO MINISTERS RE-ELECTED.

Messrs. Wyndham and Hanbury Returned to Parliament Unopposed.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—George Wyndham, formerly Parliamentary Under Secretary of the War Office, has been re-elected to the House of Commons from Dover, without opposition. Mr. Wyndham was returned from Dover unopposed in the general election just held, but had to again appear before his constituents on his appointment as Chief Secretary for Ireland.

Robert William Hanbury has also been re-elected, without opposition, to represent Preston. In the late general election he defeated Keir-Hardie, the labor candidate. Mr. Hanbury previously held the post of Financial Secretary to the Treasury. He was appointed President of the Board of Agriculture in the new Cabinet, and was, therefore, compelled to again seek election to the House of Commons. He was first elected for Preston in 1885.

Agrarians Attack von Buelow.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—The first guns of the campaign of abuse against Count von Bülow were fired this week by the Agrarians of West Prussia, who referred to the Imperial Chancellor, as they did to Caprivi, as being a "man without an acre and without grain." The Agrarian leaders express strong suspicion of Count von Bülow as having "no heart for suffering German agriculture."

Cool Request to Ambassador White.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—Ambassador White has received from a Kansas woman a package containing crazy-quilt squares, with a letter asking him to obtain signatures of her defunct grandfather and grandmother, the late Prince Bismarck and the late Field Marshall von Moltke, as well as of Emperor William, Count von Bülow, &c., for a church fair raffle.

Czar Able to Leave His Bed.

LIVADIA, European Russia, Dec. 8.—The Czar's physicians issued the following bulletin this morning: "The Czar felt very well during the last twenty-four hours. He spends part of the day out of bed. His strength is visibly increasing, and his temperature and pulse are normal."

Kaiser to Buy Horses in America.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—It is learned that Emperor William will send a special envoy shortly to make a tour of the notable American stock farms, with the view to purchasing saddle and carriage horses for the imperial stables. Hitherto the Court has purchased exclusively in Hungary and England.

Five Killed by Collapse of Bridge.

COLOGNE, Dec. 8.—A bridge at Differdingen, in the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg, collapsed to-day as an express train was passing over it, and the train plunged into the stream. Five persons were killed and eight were badly injured.

Seven Killed by Collision in Spain.

MADRID, Dec. 8.—A collision occurred to-day between Oviedo and Vacar on the railroad from Cordova to Belmez. As a result of the accident seven persons are dead and twelve are injured.

Landslide in Norway.

CHRISTIANIA, Dec. 8.—A landslide occurred yesterday at Krogen causing an overflow of the river and considerable destruction of property. A large force of men is at work clearing away the débris.

Big Surplus in Norway.

CHRISTIANIA, Dec. 8.—The Norwegian Government has saved nearly 3,000,000 crowns (about $730,000) from the budget. The treasury now holds over 32,000,000 crowns surplus.

Disastrous Fire in Sweden.

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 8.—A fire at Borlaenge, near Falun, has rendered 150 persons homeless and has caused damage to the amount of half a million crowns.

Kaiser Fills Out His Census Form.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—The Emperor personally filled out his census form, saying his business was "German Emperor and King of Prussia."

RELATIONS WITH GERMANY.

Berlin Paper Says This Country Cannot Complain of High Tariff Against Its Exports.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—An editorial in The Kreuz-Zeitung on Mr. McKinley's recent message to Congress is significant as expressing the views and aims of the moderate German Agrarians. It says:

"It does not matter if the Americans lose the German meat trade, since American manufactured imports to Germany will enormously increase. If Germany, in the projected treaties, imitates the Dingley tariff, how can the Americans complain? It would only be an act of self-defense."

The article then proceeds to enumerate the many apparent unfairnesses in the tariff relations with the United States.

The Cologne Volks-Zeitung, the leading Centrist organ, acknowledges the ceaseless attempts of United States Ambassador White to keep the peace between the two countries, but claims that his efforts are pooh-poohed and frustrated by the Republican jingoes in America, who are particularly venomous against Germany.

PRUSSIA FEARS THE POLES.

There Is Said to be Danger of the Country Being Dominated by Them.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—The official Berlin Correspondenz, in a long series of articles headed "The Polish Danger," reviews the recent enormous progress of the Poles, politically and economically, and their numerical increase as showing imminent danger that the Provinces of Posen, West Prussia, East Prussia, and Upper Silesia will become entirely slavicized, in spite of all the Government measures taken against such a result.

The semi-official papers have taken up the subject, claiming that it is not only a danger for Prussia, but for all Germany.

In Government circles it is currently reported that Emperor William intends to inaugurate a systematic, carefully planned anti-Polish campaign, for which he wants a strong national supporting sentiment.

It is stated officially that the reports since 1897 show a uniform decrease of Germans in the Polish provinces, in spite of the German colonization fund of 200,000,000 marks and the strong Government influences.

WHY CONTRACTS CAME HERE.

British Firms Not Able to Supply Bridges for Uganda in Reasonable Time.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—With reference to the American contracts for bridges along the line of the Uganda Railroad, Sir Harry Hamilton Johnston, the Commissioner for Uganda, in a dispatch to the Foreign Office, declares the railroad officials were compelled to send orders to America owing to British firms being unable to supply their wants in reasonable time. The orders comprise not only bridges, but locomotives and other rolling stock.

"This and other troubles of the Railway Committee," adds Sir Harry, "in placing orders in Great Britain are the outcome of the disastrous engineers' strike, which has done so much to cripple this class of manufactures."

THE BERLIN POLICE SCANDAL.

Witness from New York Testifies in Favor of Accused Banker.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—At to-day's session of the trial of the wealthy Berlin banker, Sternberg, charged with an offense against morality, Margaret Fischer, who was summoned from New York, where she had become Mrs. Miller, testified at length. Her testimony was in favor of the defendant, but she admitted having received large sums of money from Sternberg.

The Berlin Bar Association gave formal notice to-day that it will take proceedings against Herr Sello, the leading lawyer for the defense, for suspicious doings in connection with the case.

TO SUE LONDON TUBE ROAD.

Householders Say the Vibration Annoys Them, and Want Damages.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Trouble threatens London's new tube road. Many residents under whose houses the electric trains run have combined to sue for damages alleged to be caused by the vibration. They have subscribed £10,000 for litigation in the courts. They maintain that though the tube is at an average of fifty feet below the surface, the windows of the houses are rattled, the occupants awakened, and ornaments shaken every time a train passes.

If any degree of success meets their efforts, it will seriously retard the attempt to give London decent rapid transit.

THE ST. PETERSBURG Y. M. C. A.

Phenomenal Success in the Short Time It Has Been in Existence.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 25.—The St. Petersburg Young Men's Christian Association is having a phenomenal success. The rooms were opened less than two months ago. There are now over 500 members or applicants for membership.

Classes in bookkeeping, English, French, German, correspondence, and shorthand are well attended. Over 100 men are ardent students of bookkeeping. Evenings one can usually find 250 members at the classes, in the reading rooms, playing games, or drinking tea. Alcoholic liquors and tobacco are barred from the rooms, though no pledges to abstain from their use are exacted from members. The Secretary, Franklin Gaylord, has succeeded in transplanting the American institution with only such modifications as the customs of the country require. The name "Society for Promoting the Physical and Moral Development of Young men" was adopted in deference to the wishes of the Government and in order to prevent orthodox Russians from suspecting it to be a proselytizing association.

THE PERCHENA GOLD FIELDS.

Lord Queensberry Expects to Find Them a Second California.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 25.—The Marquis of Queensberry is here making arrangements for beginning the active exploitation of the Perchena gold fields. He stated recently that his company, which has eight hundred shareholders and £1,000,000 capital, expects to find this field a second California.

He returned less than two months ago from Stretinsk, which is the starting point of the leased territory. The latter embraces six thousand square miles. It lies upon the Chilka River. The leasehold is on a basis of 10 per cent. royalty, and the company expects, with the aid of improved American machinery, to begin work early next year.

The property belongs to the Emperor and has been worked in a primitive fashion for forty years. The Russians appear to have the impression that the fields have been exhausted, but the Marquis says they have no idea of the wealth of their Asiatic possessions.

The Duke of York's Plans.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—It is said here that the Duke and Duchess of York will visit the United States on their return journey from Australia, via Canada.

STABLE PROPRIETOR ACCUSED.

Woman Says He Married Her While He Had a Wife Living.

William J. Thompson, proprietor of an exchange stable at 57 Irving Place, Manhattan, was locked up in Raymond Street Jail, Brooklyn, last evening on complaint of Marian Trayer Trompson, who says that Thompson married her in Brooklyn on April 14 last while he had an undivorced wife living. Thompson was arrested at the stable in Irving Place by Brooklyn detectives and taken to the Myrtle Avenue Police Court, in Brooklyn. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $2,000 bail for examination.

Mrs. Thompson, as she claims to be, alleges that since her marriage to Thompson she discovered that he had another wife living somewhere in this State. Recently, she says, she learned that Thompson was converting all of his property into cash, intending to leave for Porto Rico, and she took steps to have him placed under arrest. It is said that when the detectives went to the stable yesterday they found an auctioneer there selling the stock.

ST. PETERSBURG'S NEW "PALACE OF THE PEOPLE"

Immense Building for the Masses to be Opened Dec. 19.

DINING ROOM TO SEAT 2,000

Concert Hall, Opera House, and Other Attractions—The Work of the Committee of Temperance.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 27.—On an island in the Neva, nearly opposite the Winter palace, rise the sombre walls of the Citadel of St. Peter and St. Paul. In the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul, as any guidebook will inform the visitor, are buried the earthly remains of all the Czars of all the Russias, from Peter the Great down, with one exception. The gloomiest romances of 200 years envelop this fortress with a thousand terrors—for those credulous enough to believe all they are told. It is the fittest symbol of the Russia of the past.

Almost beneath the shadow of the slender cathedral minaret there is another building in course of erection which equally well typifies the new Russia, the Russia of to-day and to-morrow. It is barely separated from the fortress by a narrow canal and is situated on the edge of the Park of Alexander. The shouting, hallooing, and bustling of 300 workmen can be heard in the fortress precincts. This new structure is the Palace of the People. An imaginative person could easily believe that the spirit of the Carpenter-Czar stands behind the master builder, steadies the hand of the draughtsman, and inspires the workmen with enthusiasm.

The Palace of the People is to be opened on Dec. 6, (old style,) or six days before Christmas, according to the Gregorian calendar. It is to be accessible to every Ivan Ivanovich in Russia who may want to enjoy a warm room, a pot of tea, a concert, lecture, play, or opera, or who may wish to meet a friend. It is the work of the St. Petersburg Committee of Temperance, of which his Royal Highness the Prince of Oldenbourg is Chairman. This committee is, as the Vice Chairman the Conseil Privé M. Ivan Nicolaievich obligingly explained, a governmental body. It was a creation of the Excise Branch of the Ministry of Finance, and is operating under the direction of this Ministry. Its objects are to inculcate and encourage the practice of moderation in the use of alcohol. It has chosen to attempt this by offering to the people a substitute for the traktir, to give them something better than saloon.

The People's Palace is the latest attempt to solve this problem. It is the result of nearly three years' experience, the Committee of Temperance having begun its work at the same time that the State monopoly of alcoholics was introduced The great steel Fine Arts Palace of the Exposition of Nijni Novgerod was purchased and transported to St. Petersburg. The iron skeleton was clothed with stone and brick. Two wings in stone were added and the workmen are now engaged upon the interior. The cost will approach half a million dollars.

The building makes an agreeable and imposing appearance. It has a façade about 300 feet in length. In the centre there is a well-proportioned dome, under which is a promenade and a vestibule. With the view of combining profit with recreation, the committee will construct mechanical devices illustrating the movements of the solar system so that the dome will resemble the greater vault without. Another educational idea which has been adopted is a clock with many faces.

On one side of the dome there is being fitted up a large concert hall and opera house. It is designed to seat 2,000 people. Popular plays, operas, spectacles, pantomimes, stereopticon lectures, music, and other reunions are planned.

Opposite the theatre is the dining room, which will seat more than 2,000 people at tables. The dining room will be open day and night, and tea will be served every minute of the time.

The theatre wing will contain a number of halls of various sizes which can be used for many purposes. It is proposed to hold courses of lectures daily, to have art and art industry exhibitions, in fact to offer as wide and varied a range of entertainment and instruction as possible.

James Stokes of New York, to whom were shown the plans of the building, and to whom were explained the purposes to which it will be put, declared it was by far the best thing of the kind in the world. One or two features were adopted upon Mr. Stokes's suggestion.

This is only one of numerous undertakings of the committee. The neighboring island of Petrovsky has been turned into an amusement park. On Summer afternoons, especially on holidays and Sundays, immense crowds gather to witness and participate in the races and to enjoy open-air theatricals, pantomimes, and concerts. There are merry-go-rounds and a Ferris wheel for the children, young and old, and all the usual popular pastimes. More than 100,000 visitors have been counted in a single day. The Petrovsky divertisements are in Winter continued as long as the weather permits.

Anchored near the entrance to the island there is a popular floating restaurant, which in Summer is towed wherever the greatest crowds are expected to congregate. It accommodates several hundred persons. The tea, at half a cent a glass, or a cent and a half a pot, with unlimited supplies of hot water, is good. The cooking is appetizing and wholesome. For 3 cents one can have a plate of boiled meat, for 2 cents vegetables without meat, for 4 cents a dish of macaroni and butter for two, or for 5 cents, roast potatoes or an omelette of three eggs. The menu is fully as extensive as that of ordinary restaurants, and contains no prices above 7½ cents.

In other quarters of the city there are similar gardens and refectories, which accommodate at times from 20,000 to 40,000 persons each day.

The lecture courses of the Temperance Committee treat of history and popular science with the aid of living pictures and stereopticons. Popular libraries have been opened, usually small affairs, with do not repel the masses by unsuitable elegance. A workingman's hotel is operated for the benefit of translators, where a day's lodgings and entertainment cost 12½ cents, lodging alone being 2½ cents.

Efforts are also being made to attract the children from the streets into suitable playhouses, where they are amused, instructed, and kept warm.

The committee is giving its support to a proposition to establish a great sanitarium for alcoholic patients upon one of the islands of the Baltic.

There are similar committees at work throughout the empire, particularly in those Governments where the monopoly has been introduced. Only last week the Ministry of Finance set apart 230,000 rubles to build a popular theatre and lecture hall at Poltava.

The State monopoly will be introduced in another large section of Russia next Spring, notably in the city and government of Moscow. An association was formed at Moscow a few days ago to study the question in its local aspects and to recommend measures to be taken against drunkenness.

The theory upon which the Government is acting is that better results can be obtained by distributing the consumption of alcoholics over as many days as possible than by attempting to inculcate total abstinence. Statistics are cited to show that Russia is, largely on account of its poverty, a moderate consumer of alcohol compared to many other countries. It is asserted, however, that the Russians, in masses, drink to excess on holidays, of which there are a great many.

The committees are, therefore, making special efforts to attract the population away from drinking resorts on holidays. The fight is being waged with the greatest severity against public houses which sell on credit, barter liquors for agricultural products, and in other ways encourage intemperate habits. When the monopoly was introduced in St. Petersburg no less than 25,000 proprietors and employes of traktirs and saloons were thrown out of employment.

It may be stated briefly that the monopoly is operated in much the same manner as the dispensary system in South Carolina. Fermented and malt liquors are not included in the monopoly. They are not articles of consumption by the masses.

Bjoernsen's Sixty-eighth Birthday.

CHRISTIANA, Dec. 8.—The sixty-eighth birthday of Björnstjerne Björnsen, the Norwegian poet, dramatist, and novelist, who was born in 1832, was celebrated to-day throughout Norway.

Damage by Storms in France.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—Recent storms have caused great damage in the provinces.

SPRAGUE COLLECTION SALE.

The Total Realized in Five Afternoons Over $40,000—Low Prices for Carved Furniture.

The sale at the galleries of the American Art Association of the collection of art objects which belonged to the late Joseph W. Sprague of Louisville was concluded yesterday afternoon, when the most elaborate and costly objects in the collection were disposed of. These consisted of the wonderful carved furniture which was made for Mr. Sprague in Japan by the greatest masters of woodcarving in that country. There were also some specimens of furniture from Siena and Cairo, but it was the Japanese work which created by far the most interest and brought the best prices.

These prices in many instances did not, however, approach the sums paid in Japan by Mr. Sprague for the objects sold. Before the first lot of this description was offered, Mr. Kirby, the auctioneer, assured those present that the late owner had his entire collection, not in a museum, as many people supposed, but in an ordinary modern town house, and that the rooms were of the ordinary size. In spite of this, the size of the most important carved pieces apparently frightened a good many persons, for the bidding was by no means spirited.

The highest price of the afternoon's sale was $1,150, for the wonderful clock made by J. Numashima and other famous modern Japanese craftsmen. It is of cherry wood, lacquer, ivory, silver, gold, bronze, shibuichi, and ehakudo, the bell tower at the top being a miniature reproduction of the belfry at Kyoto.

An elaborately carved library table, the work of J. Numashima, was sold to Mr Lanthier for $200; a carved cherry wood wall cabinet went for $180; a carved fire screen was sold for $100, and the large gold lacquer cabinet, regarded as one of the chief treasures of Mr. Sprague's collection, was knocked down for only $455. This last named specimen was made by Shibata Jossay, and its decoration represents the fifty-two Japanese provinces. On the frames are over 300 different Daimio crests. The auctioneer stated that this cabinet ought to bring $3,000 or $4,000.

The remarkable carved bedstead from India, which was so much admired while the collection was on view, was sold for only $200, a fraction of its supposed value. The great revolving bookstand of bamboo, specially carved for Mr. Sprague by Iwamoto, carver to the Japanese imperial household, was knocked down for $335, and the bric-a-brac cabinet by Kawamuri brought $490. An antique Peruvian cabinet of tortoise shell and mother of pearl was sold for $300, and the magnificent mantel, 152 inches high, for $510.

The cabinet in which Mr. Sprague's collection of photographs was kept was bought by Mr. Kirby and some friends for $400, for presentation to Columbia University.

The proceeds of the entire sale, consisting of 1,026 lots disposed of in five afternoons, amounted to over $40,000

INSPECTOR THOMPSON'S GIFT.

It Frightened Sergt. Flood, but He Took It Home to the Children.

Police Inspector Thompson, who has been on his vacation, returned to New York yesterday morning and went to Police Headquarters to exchange greetings with his friends. He was accompanied by a lad, who brought several little wooden boxes into his office.

"I have been to Cuba," he said, "and had a splendid time. I stood on what I was told was the wreck of the Maine, and had my photograph taken in a picturesque attitude. I have not forgotten the boys, either. I have brought presents for everybody."

"You have remembered me, I hope," said Sergt. Flood of the staff of Chief Devery.

"Sure, Mike," said Inspector Thompson. "I've brought you a present you'll like. It's in a box in my office."

Flood went into the Inspector's office and saw a little deal box on the desk, which looked suspicious.

"Open it," said the Inspector cheerily.

Flood raised the lid cautiously, and started back as a living snake came out and began wriggling on the desk.

"Great snakes!" he said, clutching the Inspector's arm, while a group of policemen who had been looking on made for the door. Flood was about to follow them when the Inspector with a laugh called him back, saying the snake was tamed. When the Inspector began to handle the little snake Flood returned, still keeping at a safe distance. Inspector Thompson convinced Flood that the snake was harmless. Flood lost his timidity, put the snake in the box, and took it home, saying it would amuse the children. The Inspector had five more of these snakes with him, which he distributed among friends.

VAN RIPER MAY SURRENDER.

Missing Broker's Friends Say He Is Arranging His Affairs and Bail.

It was stated yesterday in Weehawken, the home of Louis Van Riper and Claude W. Turner, who are alleged to be implicated in the bucket shop transactions in New York, that Van Riper is at or not many miles from his own home. The reports also have it that it is probable that Van Riper will give himself up to the authorities. Friends say that Van Riper will present himself in court as soon as he arranges his affairs and bail. They also say he does not fear arrest.

Turner was one of the competing architects for the proposed $70,000 high school in Weehawken. He submitted his plans, which were of less expensive nature than his competitors, at the meeting of the Board of Education, when the various proposals were received. He explained his designs in detail, and it was commented upon after he had been put through the examination by members of the board and other architects, that he lacked knowledge of the craft he professed to know.

Louis Van Riper had extensive real estate in the Edgewood and Clifton Park sections of Weehawken, and erected many houses, which it is said were designed by Turner. It was Van Riper who sold the site on which the school in question is to be erected.

NEW THEATRE FOR BROOKLYN.

Mr. Huber Negotiating for the Old Knapp Mansion.

The Knapp mansion, at Ross Street and Bedford Avenue, Williamsburg, which is one of the fashionable residences in that section of Brooklyn, is to be turned, it is said, into a high-class vaudeville theatre.

The Knapp mansion has been the scene of many notable events. Ex-President Harrison and other distinguished men were entertained there before Mr. Knapp's death. When Mr. Knapp died it passed into the hands of Adams, the gum manufacturer, and yesterday it was learned that Mr. Huber of the museum in Fourteenth Street, this borough, was negotiating with Mr. Adams for the mansion.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY NOTES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Ex-President and Mrs. Harrison were the guests of honor at a dinner party this evening by Justice and Mrs. Brown. To meet them were the Secretary of War and Mrs. Root, Justice and Mrs. White, Senator and Mrs. McMillan, Senator Depew, Mr. and Mrs. Cropper, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Foster, Mrs. Lowndes, and the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Mackay-Smith.

Miss Hildegarde McKenna, third daughter of Justice and Mrs. McKenna, was presented to society to-day at one of the largest teas of the season. Mrs. Hitt, Miss Harlan, and Miss Patton did the honors of the tea room, while the young women assistants were Miss Griggs, daughter of the Attorney General; Miss Evelyn Stone of New York, Miss Gladys Foulke, Miss Julia Foraker, Miss Frances Newlands, and Miss Scanlen of St. Louis.

Miss Carolyn Poynter, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnston de Peyster, also made her début at a tea to-day at the family residence, 1,720 Connecticut Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Austin entertained at a tea to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Olmsted gave a dinner this evening in honor of Miss Texas Bates and Dunn McKee, whose engagement was recently announced.

Rathbone Getting Ready to Answer.

HAVANA, Dec. 8.—Former Director General of Posts Rathbone is preparing an answer to the report of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow and also an appeal to the Governor General from the decision regarding Assistant Auditor Lawshe's disallowances. The appeal is taken under the President's order of May 11, 1899.

NATIONAL GUARD MARKSMANSHIP.

Official Returns for the Year Show Improvement Over 1899.

The official returns of rifle practice in the New York National Guard for the present year, completed yesterday by Col. W. B. Thurston, Inspector of Small Arms Practice, show a great advance in marksmanship over the year 1899. The State has this year 9,559 trained riflemen, against 8,184 in 1899, a gain of 1,375.

The Fifth Brigade, commanded by Gen. George Moore Smith, has the largest aggregate number of marksmen, and the Seventh Regiment of this brigade leads all the regiments in the aggregate of riflemen qualified. The Twelfth Regiment of the First Brigade, commanded by Gen. McCoskry Butt, leads all the city regiments in the highest grade of marksmanship, that of "expert."

Taking the aggregate figures for the State, there are 375 "experts," who can make 40 or more points out of a possible 50 at 700 and 800 yards, and 923 sharpshooters, who can make 42 points or more out of a possible 50 at 500 and 600 yards.

The following are the figures in detail:

	Experts.	Sharpshooters.	Marksmen.	Total.
General Headquarters, S. N. Y.	1	0	2	3
Headquarters National Guard	1	3	11	15
Squadron A	6	26	228	260
First Signal Corps	0	2	37	39
Supernumerary officers	2	0	15	26
Total	10	40	293	343
FIRST BRIGADE.—Gen. Butt.
Headquarters	4	2	3	9
First Battery	0	0	49	49
Ninth Regiment	10	26	426	465
Twelfth Regiment	40	108	525	671
Twenty-second Regt	25	30	389	444
Total	79	167	1,392	1,638
SECOND BRIGADE.—Gen. McLeer.
Headquarters	1	0	5	6
Second Signal Corps	1	0	34	35
Troop C	1	11	78	90
Third Battery	0	0	46	46
Thirteenth Regiment	11	24	469	504
Fourteenth Regiment	11	22	409	442
Twenty-third Regt	22	32	520	604
Forty-seventh	5	14	304	323
Seventeenth Separate Company	2	4	49	55
Total	53	138	1,915	2,106
THIRD BRIGADE.—Gen. Oliver.
Headquarters	1	0	5	6
Third Signal Corps	0	3	6	9
Sixth Battery	0	0	24	24
First Regiment	39	47	479	565
Second Regiment	18	50	605	673
Fourth Battalion	8	19	191	218
Tenth Battalion	11	10	113	134
Total	77	129	1,423	1,629
FOURTH BRIGADE.—Gen. Doyle.
Headquarters	4	2	4	10
Fourth Signal Corps	0	0	16	16
Sixty-fifth Regiment	9	51	214	274
Seventy-fourth Regt	18	63	344	425
First Battalion	42	40	138	220
Second Battalion	10	15	211	245
Third Battalion	12	41	180	233
Total	105	241	1,137	1,483
FIFTH BRIGADE.—Gen. Smith.
Headquarters	1	0	8	9
Second Battery	0	0	39	39
Seventh Regiment	21	112	853	986
Eighth Regiment	0	17	349	366
Sixty-ninth Regiment	8	13	376	397
Seventy-first Regiment	21	66	476	563
Total	51	208	2,101	2,360
Grand total	375	923	8,261	9,559
1899	225	720	7,289	8,184
1898	142	323	2,957	3,422

A DAY'S WEDDINGS.

Bright—Shepard.

Special to The New York Times.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Dec. 8.—The marriage of Miss Johanna Hayes Shepard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus D. Shepard of The Gables, just east of this city, to Osborne Wyckoff Bright of New York took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, pastor of the church, and was witnessed by several hundred society people. A special train brought more than 150 persons from New York just before the hour of the wedding.

The interior of the church was beautifully trimmed, daisies and marguerites predominating among the flowers. The matron of honor was Mrs. John Doull Miller of Plainfield, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Miss Edith Hoadley Smalley of Netherwood, Miss Edith Hyde of Plainfield, Miss Eleanor Russell, Miss Ida Bayley, Miss Sarah Thompson, and Miss Esther Hoppin of New York. Burritt Hamilton Shepard, brother of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Arthur Pemberton Sturges, Robert Varnum, George Blagden, Jr., Prescott Slade of New York; Augustus Dennis Shepard and Rutherford Mead Shepard of The Gables.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at The Gables. The house was decorated with garlands of roses and greens, festooned with tiny electric lights. The couple received several hundred presents, among them being a diamond necklace for the bride from her aunt, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard of New York, and silver loving cups from Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Mrs. William Douglas Sloane. Mrs. Bright is a frequent visitor in New York society and is an enthusiastic horsewoman and golfer. She is a member of the Baltusrol Golf Club, the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, and the Park Golf Club.

The bridegroom is Secretary of the New York Security and Trust Company, a member of the Union League Club, and is a lover of field sports. The couple will live in New York.

An Engagement Announced.

Mrs. Alfred Henderson of 46 West Seventy-second Street has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Emily Henderson, to Walter B. Cowperthwait of this city.

TRACKING A WOUNDED BURGLAR.

Ohio Man Gives House Breakers a Warm Reception.

AKRON, Ohio, Dec. 8.—Two burglars were surprised by Dr. J. F. Detwiler in his home early to-day. The doctor seized a rifle and fired at the men repeatedly as they escaped through a window. A trail of blood showed that one of the shots took effect. As the men reached the street they fired back, but failed to hit any one.

A posse of 250 men quickly started after the burglars. Their capture has not yet been effected, but a farmer was found near Bozum who said a wounded man had applied to his house for aid. The posse continued to search the surrounding country.

DEATH LIST OF A DAY.

James Roosevelt.

James Roosevelt, a capitalist identified with many important corporations and a cousin of Gov. and Vice President-elect Theodore Roosevelt, died yesterday of endocarditis at the Hotel Renaissance. When he passed away his second wife, who was Miss Sara Delano, and their son, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and James Roosevelt Roosevelt, son of Mr. Roosevelt's first wife, who was Miss Rebecca Howland, and Dr. Albert H. Ely were with him. Mr. Roosevelt came to this city from his home, Springwood, Hyde Park, Poughkeepsie, a week ago. Funeral arrangements, so far as completed last night, were for services and burial at Poughkeepsie on Tuesday.

Mr. Roosevelt was born in New York. His father was James A. Roosevelt and his great-great-grandfather Isaac Roosevelt of the Continental Congress, and famous for his business enterprises and his charities. He was graduated from Union College in 1847 and from Harvard in 1852, and became active in business and corporate affairs. He is best known in his relation to the Delaware and Hudson Company, of which he was a Manager and Vice President, and he was President of that part of its system known as the New York and Canada Railroad Company. He was also a Director of the City Trust Company, President and Director of the Champlain Transportation Company, Trustee of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, and Chairman of the Executive Committee and Director of the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua. He was an Alternate Commissioner for the Chicago World's Fair and a manager of the State Hospital for the Insane, at Poughkeepsie.

Socially, Mr. Roosevelt was widely known. He was a member of the Union, University, Century, Metropolitan, Manhattan, and Seawanhaka-Corinthian Clubs of New York and the Metropolitan Club of Washington, and of the Holland, Delta Phi, and Huguenot Societies. At Hyda Park he had a large estate.

John W. Gebhardt.

John W. Gebhardt, a member of the staff of The New York Sun, died in Roosevelt Hospital yesterday of typhoid fever after a two weeks' illness. Mr. Gebhardt was not thought to be seriously ill until last Sunday, when his illness took a sudden change for the worse, and he sank rapidly until he died at 2:15 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mr. Gebhardt was born in Dayton, Ohio, in 1870. His father, John R. Gebhardt, is at the head of the linseed oil and lumber interests there. Graduating from the Wordenburg College at Springfield, Ohio, which was endowed by the Gebhardt family, young Gebhardt joined the staff of The Dayton Herald and subsequently became its city editor. He then purchased a paper known as The Spectator, devoted to social news.

He soon sold out his interests in Dayton, however, and removed to New York, where he became connected with The World. About a year later he went to the New York City News Association, where he staid until he joined the old United Press. When that organization disbanded, in 1897, he went to The Sun. His first service with the latter paper was the gathering of the news of the Criminal Court Building, where, during the two years he was stationed there, he obtained unusual popularity with the Judges and court officials. He rose through various positions on his paper until at the time of his death he was considered one of the most valuable men on the staff. He established and managed the election bureau of The Sun during the recent campaign.

Mr. Gebhardt married, in 1892, Miss Florence Lauer of Dayton. He leaves his wife, two sisters, and a younger brother, besides his mother, who was with him when he died. The body will be taken to Dayton for burial.

Charles McCaul.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Dec. 8.—Charles McCaul, one of the most prominent builders in this country, died at his home, here, to-day, of pneumonia, aged about fifty-five years. Mr. McCaul was born in Londonderry, Ireland, and was engaged in the building line from earliest boyhood. Mr. McCaul's attention was occupied most closely by the new United States Mint building, which he was pushing rapidly toward completion, and by preparations to erect the new Wanamaker building.

Among the more important buildings constructed by Mr. McCaul are the following: The Philadelphia and Reading Railway Station, in this city; the Union Trust Company's building, Pittsburg; United States Post Office and Custom House, Camden, N. J.; Continental Trust Company's building, Baltimore; Kent Memorial Library, Suffield, Conn.; buildings at Elizabeth, N. J., for the Singer Manufacturing Company; office and exchange building of the Delaware and Atlantic Telephone Company, Trenton, N. J.

Obituary Notes.

GEORGE H. PHILLIPS, President and manager of the Phillips & Clark Stove Works of Geneva, N. Y., is dead. He was eighty-four years old.

SEYMOUR V. D. PARKER, a retired member of the Broadway Squad, died at his home in Norwalk, Conn., Friday night, aged forty-nine. The cause of his death was rheumatism of the heart. He was a Mason of high degree.

Mrs. LOUISE SCHULZE, one of the refugees of the massacre of Beaver Creek during the Sioux Indian outbreak of 1862, died at her home in St. Paul yesterday. Mrs. Schulze narrowly escaped being butchered in the massacre when the Sioux rose against the scattered outposts of civilization.

Miss JENNIE ROGERS, who was a picturesque figure in financial circles during the boom of the early '90s, died at a hospital in Sioux City, Iowa, Friday. She made a great reputation as a real estate dealer, and handled thousands of dollars for Eastern agents, making a fortune for herself. At the Brooklyn Advertisements.

A LARGE SHIPMENT OF PIANOS

from our 3 factories enables us to offer unusual opportunities to those desiring thoroughly reliable pianos.

3 Distinct Kinds. 3 Distinct Grades.

A great variety of designs and sizes at tempting prices. Every piano is new and fully guaranteed.

$200. - - $225.
250. - - 275.
300. - - 325.
350. - - 375.
400. - - 425.
450. - - 500.

(Cash or Monthly Payments.)

40 Used Uprights

Including many prominent makes. Some are equal to new. All are perfectly repaired and newly finished.

Prices range from $110., $125., $150. and up.

SQUARE PIANOS at $35., $50., $65. and up.

ORGANS, good ones at $15., $25., $35. and up.

Open evenings until Christmas.

The STERLING Piano Co.,

MANUFACTURERS.
Wholesale and Retail Warerooms
(Entire Building, Four Floors).
536 FULTON ST., Brooklyn.
Look for the name STERLING.

ON LOCAL BOWLING ALLEYS

Five Leaders Change Places as a Result of Week's Games.

RECORD OF THE TOURNAMENTS

Philadelphos Council Finally Loses First Place in Brooklyn Arcanum League Series.

The bowling games of the last week changed the leaders in five of the local tournaments. In the Life Insurance League the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company displaced the Prudential Life Insurance Company, the Williamsburg Savings Bank went from second to first place in the Brooklyn Bank Clerks' League, and in the Brooklyn Royal Arcanum League Philadelphos Council was forced from first to second place by Bedford Council, which has the same number of games won, but a higher team score. Neither of the latter two teams has yet been scored against, and the East New York Council five, which moved up from fourth to third place, has lost but one game.

The other tournaments in which a change in the leader occurred were the competition of the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island, in which the Orient Wheelmen moved from third to first place in class A, and the Logan Wheelmen. The former leaders dropped from first to fourth place as a result of two lost games, and the Long Island League, in which the East New York club displaced the Prosperity club in the lead.

In the Brooklyn Inter-Club League the Crescent Athletic Club strengthened its lead by another victory, and the Carlton club, in consequence of a defeat by the Knickerbocker Field Club, dropped from second to fourth place.

The Fidelios lost two games in the National League tournament during the week, but still retain their lead. The Royal Arcanum Wheelmen dropped from third to sixth place in the Columbia League as a result of two lost games. The records of the principal tournaments follow:

NATIONAL LEAGUE TOURNAMENT.

	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Fidelia Bowling Club	19	5	977
Golden Rod Bowling Club	14	7	1,002
Oriental Bowling Club	13	8	986
Roseville Athletic Association	16	8	981
Metropolitan Bowling Club	12	8	1,011
New York Athletic Club	12	12	972
Berkeley Bowling Club	12	15	952
Corinthian Bowling Club	10	11	953
Spartan Bowling Club	7	8	987
Our Council, Royal Arcanum	9	12	948
America Bowling Club	3	15	880
Germania Bowling Club	5	21	925

AMERICAN NATIONAL TOURNAMENT.

	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Fidelio Bowling Club	12	2	999
Columbia Bowling Club	12	2	940
Metropolitan Bowling Club	10	2	1,010
Monarch Bowling Club	10	4	1,013
Corinthian Bowling Club	10	4	983
Manhattan Bowling Club	8	4	933
Spartan Bowling Club	8	6	977
Rosedale Bowling Club	8	6	964
Bleecker Bowling Club	6	6	918
American Owl Bowling Club	6	6	947
Arlington Bowling Club	7	7	898
Golden Rod Bowling Club	7	9	881
Orchard Bowling Club	6	8	951
Germain Bowling Club	5	7	861
Bank Clerks' Bowling Club	5	9	864
Central Bowling Club	4	8	921
Palace Bowling Club	4	8	909
Empire Bowling Club	4	10	930
Easy Meat Bowling Club	3	9	987
Surprise	3	15	939

COLUMBIA LEAGUE TOURNAMENT.

	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Corinthian Bowling Club	13	1	957
Dolando Bowling Club	12	2	939
Cyclone Bowling Club	10	4	962
Bank Clerks' Bowling Club	9	5	947
Belvidere Bowling Club	9	5	898
Royal Arcanum Wheelmen	9	5	887
Oriental Bowling Club	8	6	945
Lotus Bowling Club	8	6	930
Standard Bowling Club	7	7	959
Empire City Bowling Club	7	7	944
Phoenix Bowling Club	6	8	913
Yonkers Council Royal Arcanum	7	9	892
Rosedale Bowling Club	5	7	878
Grove Hill Bowling Club	4	8	854
Friendship Bowling Club	4	8	875
Audubon Bowling Club	4	8	844
Enterprise Bowling Club	3	9	845
Owl Bowling Club	3	9	841
Century Wheelmen	3	11	882
Linwood Bowling Club	3	11	811
Wang Bowling Club	2	10	832

HARLEM LEAGUE TOURNAMENT.

	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Empire Bowling Club	9	1	943
Knickerbocker Bowling Club	12	2	964
Belvidere Bowling Club	10	2	874
Morris Club Bowling Club	9	3	976
Lotus Bowling Club	8	4	970
Standard Bowling Club	8	4	925
Friendship Bowling Club	7	5	979
Corinthian Bowling Club	7	5	910
Lafayette Bowling Club	6	6	951
Audubon Bowling Club	5	5	948
Eclipse Bowling Club	6	6	928
Phoenix Bowling Club	5	6	915
Central Park Bowling Club	6	6	911
Century Wheelmen	5	5	870
Cyclone Bowling Club	4	8	884
Hyperion Bowling Club	3	7	865
Grove Hill Bowling Club	3	7	852
New Rochelle Bowling Club	3	7	845
Premier Bowling Club	2	10	898
Harlem Wheelmen	2	10	840
Colonial Bowling Club	0	12	842

NORTH SIDE LEAGUE TOURNAMENT.

	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Morris Wheelmen	10	2	959
Hooker Bowling Club	4	4	918
Bronxdale Bowling Club	10	5	932
Prospect Bowling Club	7	4	887
Knickerbocker Bowling Club	7	5	938
Hyperion Bowling Club	6	6	921
Clermont Bowling Club	6	9	865
Home City Bowling Club	5	10	853
Liberty Bowling Club	4	11	874
Tremont Bowling Club	3	12	824

BANK CLERKS' LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Bank of the Manhattan Co	4	0	829
Mercantile National Bank	5	1	794
Kountze Brothers	5	1	723
National Bank of the Republic	3	1	743
American Exchange National	4	2	823
United States Sub-Treasury	2	2	791
National Park Bank	2	2	775
Ladenberg, Thalmann & Co	2	2	768
Chase National Bank	1	1	763
Seaboard National Bank	2	2	736
Continental National Bank	1	1	734
J. P. Morgan & Co	2	2	763
Plaza Bank	2	4	736
Mechanics and Traders' National	1	3	834
Mount Morris Bank	1	3	762
Importers and Traders' Bank	1	3	748
Hanover National Bank	1	3	715
Hudson River Bank	0	4	692

FIRE INSURANCE LEAGUE.

Company.	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
German-American Fire Ins. Co	6	0	853
N. Y. Fire Underwriters' Agency	5	1	775
Norwich Union Fire Ins Co	4	2	809
Home Fire Insurance Co	4	2	774
Northern Fire Assurance Co	4	4	778
Lancashire Fire Insurance Co	3	3	765
Phenix Fire Insurance Co	3	5	685
Caledonian Fire Insurance Co	3	5	700
Lloyds Plate Glass Insurance Co	3	5	782
Greenwich Fire Insurance Co	3	5	769
Liverpool and London and Globe	2	4	819
Hanover Fire Insurance Co	2	6	725

LIFE INSURANCE LEAGUE.

Company.	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co	3	1	822
Prudential Life Insurance Co	5	3	850
Equitable Life Assurance Society	3	2	859
Fidelity and Casualty Co	4	4	868
Mutual Life Insurance Co	2	2	805
Metropolitan Life Insurance Co	2	3	809
Germania Life Insurance Co	0	3	723

ARCHDIOCESAN UNION LEAGUE TOURNAMENT.

Club.	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Cathedral Catholic Club No. 1	4	0	859
Spalding Literary Union No. 1	2	0	745
Cathedral Catholic Club No. 2	3	1	803
St. Monica Catholic Club	3	1	712
Columbus Catholic Club No. 1	1	1	873
Columbus Catholic Club No. 2	2	1	770
Holy Cross Catholic Club No. 1	1	1	770
Spalding Literary Union No. 2	2	2	755
Holy Cross Catholic Club No. 2	2	2	657
Loyola Catholic Club	3	3	707
Leo Catholic Club	0	4	710
Holy Rosary Catholic Club	0	4	658

ASSOCIATED CYCLING CLUBS OF LONG ISLAND TOURNAMENT.
CLASS A.

Club.	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Orient Wheelmen	4	0	941
Twenty-sixth Ward Wheelmen	2	0	899
Bushwick Wheelmen	3	1	933
Logan Wheelmen	2	2	872
Brooklyn Bicycle Club	2	2	820
Tamaqua Wheelmen	1	1	794
Mutual Wheelmen	1	3	808
Greater New York Wheelmen	0	2	809
Unknown Wheelmen	0	4	837

CLASS B.

Carroll Park Wheelmen	2	0	852
South Brooklyn Wheelmen	3	1	772
Royal Arcanum Wheelmen	2	1	694
Macon Wheelmen	1	1	700
Montauk Wheelmen	2	2	676
Oxford Wheelmen	2	3	682
Defender Wheelmen	1	3	607
Williamsburg Wheelmen	0	2	616

BROOKLYN BANK CLERKS' BOWLING LEAGUE.

Bank.	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Williamsburg Savings Bank	3	0	810
Franklin Trust Company	6	2	838
Manufacturers' Trust Company	5	3	821
People's Bank	6	4	787
Broadway Bank	6	4	774
Sprague National Bank	5	5	774
Manufacturers' National Bank	2	6	759
Hamilton Trust Company	2	8	717
Queens County Bank	2	8	693

BROOKLYN INTERCLUB LEAGUE.

Club.	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Crescent Athletic Club	5	0	5,106
Brooklyn Bicycle Club	3	2	5,123
Knickerbocker Field Club	3	2	5,046
Carleton Club	2	3	5,226
Columbian Club	1	4	4,805
Aurora Grata Club	1	4	4,783

GREATER NEW YORK TOURNAMENT.

Club.	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Queer Bowling Club	10	2	967
Monarch Bowling Club	8	2	994
Imperial Bowling Club	6	2	985
Manhattan Bowling Club	4	2	970
Bushwick Council, Royal Arcanum	4	2	938
Empire Bowling Club	4	2	921
East New York Bowling Club	7	5	976
Arlington Bowling Club	7	5	964
Palace	5	5	995
Pin Knights' Bowling Club	3	5	918
Metropolitan Bowling Club	4	6	934
Spartan Bowling Club	2	4	960
Echo Bowling Club	2	6	853
Pontiac Bowling Club	2	8	824
Amersfort Bowling Club	1	9	888

LONG ISLAND BOWLING LEAGUE.

Club.	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
East New York Bowling Club	10	2	1,004
Prosperity Bowling Club	8	2	970
Imperial Bowling Club	9	3	982
Manhattan Bowling Club	8	4	982
Kings County Wheelmen	6	4	949
Reinecke Bowling Club	7	5	979
South Paw Bowling Club	5	5	1,015
Pin Knight Bowling Club	6	6	1,011
Monarch Bowling Club	6	6	955
Echo Bowling Club	6	6	949
Atlantic Bowling Club	4	6	906
Bedford Bowling Club	4	6	959
Orient Bowling Club	8	7	870
Fort Greene Bowling Club	2	8	859
Greenwood Bowling Club	0	12	926

BROOKLYN ROYAL ARCANUM LEAGUE.

Council.	Won.	Lost.	High Score.
Bedford Council	10	0	994
Philadelphos Council	10	0	980
East New York Council	11	1	983
Bushwick Council	7	1	951
Justin F. Price Council	8	2	918
Nassau Council	11	3	885
Lefferts Council	6	2	916
Dauntless Council	7	3	953
Long Island Council	7	3	957
Gilbert Council	5	3	895
Fraternity Council	6	4	893
De Long Council	6	4	877
Brevoort Council	5	5	937
De Forest Council	8	6	868
Burnside Council	5	5	863
Washington Irving Council	5	5	837
Fulton Council	5	5	925
Fort Greene Council	5	5	952
Pro Patria Council	4	8	817
De Witt Clinton Council	3	9	793
Brooklyn Council	2	9	888
Adirondack Council	2	8	885
Gramercy Council	2	8	816
Commonwealth Council	2	10	817
Welcome Council	2	10	763
Fern Council	1	9	823
Morning Star Council	1	8	774
Iolanthe Council	0	8	780

Internal Revenue Tax in Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The Division of Customs and Insular Affairs of the War Department made public to-day a statement of the internal revenue collections for the Island of Cuba during the month of August, 1900. The total revenues were $59,469, of which $27,414 was derived from the conveyance and inheritance tax, and $23,874 from the industrial and commercial tax.

Brooklyn Advertisements.

ABRAHAM AND STRAUS

BOROKLYN.

Maude Adams Life Size in Gold.

A LIFE size statue of Maude Adams, cast in solid American gold, was one of the chief attractions of the Paris Exposition. This week, beginning probably on Wednesday morning, that statue will be on free exhibition here.

Seven years ago Abraham and Straus enterprise brought here directly from the World's Fair in Chicago the solid silver statue of Ada Rehan, the largest piece of silver ever cast in a mold. Most fitting is it, then, that similar enterprise should bring to the people of Brooklyn the first opportunity in America to see this still greater achievement of American art and American wealth. More than 400 pounds in solid gold is locked up in the statue which is now passing through the formalities of the Custom House—the largest amount of gold the world has ever seen in a single mass.

But the statue is more than a mass of money. It is an object of art—a gem of unparalleled beauty and worth. The dainty figure of Miss Adams in the simple stylish costume of an American girl was modeled by Miss Bessie Potter, an American sculptress. After the casting Tiffany experts refinished every inch of it; made it a gem as well as a marvel of sculpture.

Hundreds of thousands of visitors to the Paris Fair have stood before it and paid tribute to American genius. Now first will Americans generally on American soil have opportunity to see its beauty and its worth. It adds interest to this wonderfully interesting store this holiday season. Watch for announcement of its readiness.

"Bonnet" Black Silks---Bargains.

2,000 yards of $1.10 black Taffeta Brilliante, 79c.
3,000 yards of $1.38 double-faced black Peau de Soie, 99c.

Two hints of notable price offerings here in Bonnet Black Silks at this holiday need time. A dress pattern of black Silk makes a splendid gift—if it is of Bonnet Silk, it is the most elegant of silk presents possible. No need to tell about the merits of Bonnet Silks, of richness and beauty and durability no other Silks possess. No need to tell that Bonnet Silks may be found here only in Brooklyn. Now Bonnet Silks here make records of little pricing. Come to-morrow.

In addition this other bargain:

$1.50 Black Crepe de Chine, 79c.

Twelve hundred yards, 24 inches wide, a splendid quality and priced the lowest it has cost
Main floor, West Building.

Furs in New Fashions---Little.

A gift of Furs—even diamonds are not more elegant. And the Fur Store fairly thrills with the holiday readiness. Neck Pieces, Muffs, Jackets—the difference between fine Furs and anything else sets them on a high plane by themselves. Price savings, too—one's dollars are likely to be overworked this holiday time. Vast gatherings months ago make notable possibilities now.

Fur Neckwear. Imperial cluster Scarf of Japanese fox, trimmed with cluster of fine natural tails, at.....$15.00
Muffs of Japanese fox to match, full size, leather stuffed, at.....$12.00
Sable Fox Scarfs, 62 inches long, with brush and paws on each end.....$9.50
Sable Fox Scarfs (double), made of two full skins, natural brush and two paws.$14.50
Sable fox animal shape Scarf, with head and natural brush and paws.....$8.50
Black lynx Cluster Scarfs, trimmed with eight lynx tails, first quality.....$17.95
Black lynx Muffs to match, full size, feather stuffed, at.....$15.75
Alaska Sable Cluster Scarfs, trimmed with eight natural sable tails.....$6.95
Extra quality Alaska sable Scarfs, finished with cluster of eight natural sable tails, 10 in. long, at.....$10.45
Finest quality Alaska sable Scarfs, trimmed with eight extra quality of 12 in. Alaska sable tails.....$15.95

Fur Jackets. Persian Lamb Jackets, new semi-fitted model—made double breasted, perfect fitting, guaranteed satin lined.....$67.50
Nearseal Jacket, new model double breasted—with collar, revers and cuffs of Persian lamb, value $65.00, at.....$47.50
Electric Seal Jacket, 22 in. long—made double breasted with full large flare collar—wide revers—lined with guaranteed satin, at.....$24.50

Muffs. Fine Chinchilla Muffs, full size, made from 9 perfect skins, value $15.00, at.....$32.50
Sable dyed Opossum Muffs, full size, feather stuffed, value $5.00, at.....$3.45
Electric Seal Muffs, full size, feather stuffed, value $3.95, at.....$2.95
Mink Muffs, 3 striped, full size, feather stuffed.....$14.05

Fur Baby Robes. Robes of Iceland sheep (double), with pocket, sateen lined, value $6.50, at.....$4.95
Same, made expressly for Go-Carts, with pocket for limbs and feet, at.....$6.05
Go-Cart Robe, single, with pocket for feet and limbs.....$2.05

Second floor, front, Central Building.

Black Dress Fabrics--For Giving.

Want the widest variety to choose from? It is here. Want the very smallest prices? Here, too. Two reasons why the business in Black Dress Goods here keeps growing so fast. Dress and Skirt lengths if you want them that way—just as little in proportion. A glance at some:

English Brilliantine, 45 inches wide and all wool heavy Cheviots.....39c
44 inch all wool satin finished Henrietta, a rich jet black, a decided bargain, at....59c
48 inch sponged and shrunk Bison and Canvas Cheviots, Sicilians, Surah Serges and French Henriettas.....75c
Broadcloth, fine quality with satin surface, Venetian Cloth, Finetta Cloth, spot proof Satin Cloth.....98c
Hundreds of Dress and Skirt Lengths, including all the most desirable fabrics, attractively boxed for holiday gifts; from.....$2.34 to $10.00

Main floor, rear, Central Building.

Women's Box Calf Lace Shoes.

Eighty-five Cents a Pair Underpriced. The Shoe Store with all the good things it has done has done nothing better. These are strong and handsome Shoes—made for wear and for looks, too.

The leather is the heavy and plump box calf that is serviceable and popular, and the style the season's smartest, with heavy welted Goodyear extension soles, military heels and the flat fore part duplicated only in the highest class of footwear. Warm and comfortable Shoes for Winter weather.

Full $3.00 Value for $2.15.

Second floor, rear, West Building.

Slippers for Men and Boys.

Ready! Best Slipper Store as well as the best Shoe Store. Preparation has been bigger, wider than ever before—wide enough for all Brooklyn to take advantage. Some sorts that you may find elsewhere—for prices much higher than here. Many more sorts are here exclusively—priced just as low as the others. Hints:

Monkey skin is the newest leather for Slippers, used heretofore only for fine purses and card cases. These we speak of are in the opera shape, soft and pliable, almost everlasting in wear and a pretty dark brown in color. They are lined with soft chamois and fashioned with the best hand work possible. There are no finer Slippers made and the price is moderate at.....$3.08
Alligator leather is always the aristocracy in slipper making, and these are of the finest selected alligator skin, kid lined, hand made, in opera shape with turn soles. A medium round toe last and excellent value at $3.98
Faust Slippers in tan, with turn soles and kid lining, made of vici kid that is fine and soft.....$2.40
Alligator Opera Slippers, chamois lined, with patent leather trimmings, turn soles.....$1.98
Tan and Black vici kid Opera Slippers, with kid lining and turn soles.....$1.49
Boys' and Youth's tan Romeo Slippers, in same style as the men's sizes, 6 to 10½, no heels; 11 to 5½, with heels.....$1.49
Boys' tan Opera Slippers, kid lined with turn soles; sizes 2½ to 5½.....$1.49
Same in youth's sizes, 13½ to 2.....$1.24
Boys' black and tan Slippers, 2½ to 5½.....$1.35
Same in youth's sizes, 13 to 2.....$1.24

Second floor, rear, East Building.

A Wonderful Storeful of Toys

That Is Matchless in Very Little Pricing.

The jolliest, merriest Toy Store, the biggest and best Toy Store, the Toy Store where the dollar or the half dollar will go a long ways further than it will anywhere else. That is here. Come early and come again—you will find something new and interesting always. And much as we say, we cannot tell all that is good about this Toy Store. These price hints for to-morrow—values that are unheard of in Toydom.

Sleds. 100 Boys' Coasters, 36 inches long, steel bracer and runners, $1.75 value, for.....98c
Girls' Sleds, largest size, extra strong, attractively painted vermilion.....98c
Flexible Flyers, self steering, $1.98, $2.69 and upward
Baby Sleighs, Russian and American styles, $4.98, $7.49 and upward
Doll Carriages and Go-Carts. About 100 fine Go-Carts and Carriages slightly soiled from being used as samples. The former prices were $1.49, $1.98, $2.98 and $3.98, while they last.....98c
Wagons. "Daisy" Wagons, Paris make, with high back seat, high dasher, complete with whip socket and whip, regular price $1.39.....98c
Buckboards, the genuine "Paris," which has never been retailed at less than $3.49, now.....$2.49
Buckboards sold elsewhere at $2.49, for $1.98
Shoofflies, extra large size, regular $1.25 style, price.....98c
Sewing Machines. Guaranteed to sew satisfactorily, regular $1.49 kind.....$1.29
Spelling Boards. Regular price 69c., for.....49c
Parchesi. Regular price 69c., for.....49c
On Doll Row. Golf girls, in all the Scotch plaids, with Scotch Tam o'Shanters, and golf stockings.....$2.98
Sailor Girls, in navy blue and white outing flannel, trimmed with gilt braid.....$2.49
Jointed Dolls, good size, moving eyes..29c
Fine Dressed Dolls. Dressed in pretty colored lawn, with hats to match.....$2.79
Finest quality French and German Dolls, dressed in rich silk dresses, with lace insertion, Point d'Esprit hat, $5.69. Larger sizes and finer qualities, $5.98 to $20.00

Fourth floor, West Building.

Laces Less Than Half.

Same story the Lace Store has been telling—but new Laces to tell it about. Fresh from the makers—some of them get their earliest showing here and half prices will make the showing a short one. Now to the prices.

Fancy Chiffons, in black, white and colors, shirred, plaited, striped and hemstitched effects; value 69c., at.....29c. a yard
Allovers in white, ivory, butter and champagne shades, in various makes; values 59c. to $1.98 at 25c., 49c. and 98c., a yd
Black Spangled Allover Nets, pretty designs and well covered; value $3.98, $1.98 a yd
Laces for fancy work, in various makes and widths, values 10c. to 75c., at 5c. to 25c. a yard
Real Duchesse Lace Handkerchiefs, pretty designs, one in a box, at 75c, 98c, $1.49, $1.98 up to $20.00 ea

Main floor, centre, Central Building.

Holiday Books for Boys and Girls.

Sharp Price Cutting . . A Perfect Gathering.

The publishers have worked hard to make the children's books of this holiday time more in number and interest than ever before. Straight from the presses they have come to this Book Store, and publishers' prices have been cut most deeply here. Never was there such wide choice of beautiful holiday Books, never such price saving opportunity. And now is the time to choose.

This list of some:

	Pub. at	Our price
Boys' Books. Boys' Book of Explorations, by Tudor Jenks	$2.00	$1.44
For the Honor of the School, by Ralph Barbour	1.50	1.08
The Last of the Flatboats, by Geo. Cary Eggleston	1.50	.98
In the Irish Brigade, by G. A. Henty	1.50	.98
With Buller in Natal, by G. A. Henty	1.50	.98
With Garibaldi in Italy, by G. A. Henty	1.50	.98
Jack of all Trades, by D. C. Beard	2.00	1.44
In Defense of the Flag, by E. S. Brooks	1.25	.84
Under the Great Bear, by Kirk Munroe	1.25	.88
The Homestead on the St. Lawrence, by Everett T. Tomlinson	1 50	.98
Between Boer and Briton, by Edward Stratemeyer	1.25	.84
With Lawton and Roberts, by E. S. Brooks	1.25	.84
Jack Among the Indians, by George Bird Grinnell	1.25	.88
Carl the Trailer, by Harry Castlemon	1.00	.66
Brethren of the Coast, by Kirk Munroe	1.25	.88
The Young Gun Bearer, by G. Waldo Browne	1.00	.72
Scouting for Washington, by John P. True	1.50	1.08
In the Days of Jefferson, by Hezekiah Butterworth	1 50	1.08
For Boys and Girls. Wild Animal Play, by Ernest Seton-Thompson	50c	36c
The Dream Fox Story Book, by Mabel Osgood Wright, net	1.50	1.35
Stories from Dreamland, by William H. Pott	1.25	.88
Friends and Helpers, by Sarah J. Eddy	75	.54
The Grey Fairy Book, by Andrew Lang	2.00	1.44
The Road to Nowhere, by Livingston B. Morse	1.50	1.08
Wonder Stories from Herodotus, retold by G. H. Boden, illustrations by H. Granville Fell	2.50	1.81
Books for Girls. The Bennett Twins, by Grace Marguerite Hurd	1 50	1.08
Josey and the Chipmunks, by Sydney Reid	1.50	1.08
The Autobiography of a Tom Boy, by Jeannette L. Gilder	1.25	.88
Almost as Good as a Boy, by Amanda M. Douglas	1.25	.88
Pretty Polly Perkins, by Gabrielle E. Jackson	1.50	1.08
A Little American Girl in India, by Harriet A. Cheever	1.50	1.08
A Child of Glee, by A. G. Plympton	1.50	1.08
The Little Dreamer's Adventure, by Frank S. Child	1.25	.84
The House that Grew, by Mrs. Molesworth	1.25	.88
St. Nicholas Book of Plays and Operettas	1.00	.72
Sisters' Vocation, by Josephine Dodge Daskam	1.25	.88
Doris and Her Dog Rodney, by Lily F. Wesselhoeft	1.50	1.08
The Christmas Angel, by Katharine Pyle	1 25	.88
New Quarto for Boys and Girls. Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes, translated and arranged by Isaac Taylor Headland of Pekin University	1.25	.84
Nigger Baby and Nine Beasts, by Alma Florence Porter	2.00	1.34
The Wonderful Wizard of Oz, by L. Frank Baum	1.50	.98
The Roggie and Reggie Stories, by Gertrude Smith	1.50	1.08
The Adventures of Foxy Grandpa, by Bunny	.75	.42
The Songs of Father Goose, by L. Frank Baum	1.00	.72
The Bandit Mouse, by W. A. Frisbie	1.25	.68
Daddy Long Legs Fun Songs. Rhymes by Jas. O'Dea. Tunes by Alfred Solman. Pictures by Edgar Keller	1 25	.84
Father Tuck's Annual. Stories and Poems by Nora Hopper, E. Nesbit, Clifton Bingham and others. Illustrated by Louis Wain, M. Bowley, H. Cowham, Helena Maguire and others	1.50	.69
A large assortment of the Dutton Color Books, Push and Pull Books and also of the cheaper grade of Color Books.
Linen and paper Toy Books, in endless variety		5c. to 35c
Board Juveniles; all that can be had in the market you will find here from		5c. to 49c
Large Cloth Juveniles; comprising Santa Claus' Story Book, Chatterwell Stories, Grimm's Fairy Tales and so forth		69c
A Superb collection of Calendars for the new century from the best foreign and domestic manufacturers.
A new and superb line of Booklets, Christmas and New Year's Cards.

Book Store, Main Floor, East Building.

Brooklyn Advertisements.

H Batterman

Broadway, Graham and Flushing Avenues, Brooklyn.

SILVERWARE.

Only one kind in our stock—"The Best."

This department is crowded with a host of pretty and useful articles. Queer taste, indeed, that can't make a selection here.

EVERY ARTICLE QUADRUPLE PLATE.

BREAD TRAYS, 98c., $1.24, $1.98, $2.24, $3.24 and up to the more elaborate ones of beautiful pierced work, at $6.98.

SPOON TRAYS, an oblong tray is now the proper thing for spoons, $1.98, $2.98, $3.49.

CAKE BASKETS, an almost endless variety, $1.49, $1.74, $1.98, $2.24, $2.98, $3.98, $4.24, $4.49, $4.98, $5.49, $6.98, $7.49, $7.98 and $8.49.

NUT BOWLS, in a large range of patterns, $2.24, $2.74, $3.24, $4.98 and $6.49.

FRUIT STANDS, imported glass dishes in quadruple-plated frames, $1.49, $1.98, $2.74, $2.98, $3.98, $4.49, $4.98, $5.49, $6.98, $8.98.

FERN DISHES, in both plated and enamel linings, $2.74, $2.98, $3.74, $4.98.

Hand Painted "Wave Crest Ware," fine gilt linings, $2.49, $2.98, $3.49, $5.98, $6.49.

CRACKER JARS, in the same rich effects as the above, 98c., $1.24, $1.74, $1.98, $2.49, $3.24, $3.49, $4.98, $5.49, $7.98.

ABOUT THE DOLLS.

NOWHERE CAN BE FOUND SUCH AN ASSORTMENT OF DOLLS AND DOLLS' THINGS, AS ARE SHOWN HERE. ABSOLUTELY THE FINEST GRADES, AT LESS PRICES THAN ARE USUALLY ASKED FOR INFERIOR GRADES. WE HAVE THE EXCLUSIVE CONTROL OF THE FINEST PAPIER MACHE BALL-JOINTED DOLL EVER MADE. THESE DOLLS ARE FAR SUPERIOR TO ANY PREVIOUSLY SHOWN IN THIS COUNTRY. WE HAVE THEM IN EVERY SIZE, FROM THE REAL SMALL ONE UP TO THE VERY LARGEST MADE. WE CANNOT DESCRIBE THE BEAUTY OF THIS MAKE OF DOLL, BUT BY INSPECTION YOU WILL AGREE WITH US, THAT THEY ARE THE MOST BEAUTIFUL AND FINEST QUALITY EVER SHOWN, 75c. TO $12.00.

KID BODY DOLLS, 50 different kinds.

RAG DOLLS, 25 different kinds.

DRESSED DOLLS, 100 different kinds.

BISQUE DOLLS, 150 different kinds.

BABY DOLLS, 35 different kinds.

BOY DOLLS, 25 different kinds.

SOCKET HEADS, 10 different sizes.

METAL INDESTRUCTIBLE HEADS, 75 different kinds.

WORSTED DOLLS, 50 different kinds.

SPECIAL PRICES.

PRINTING PRESSES, with outfit, 65c.

PIANOS, upright style, $8.98 to 18c.

METALLAPHONES, 19c. to 60c.

SHOOTING GALLERIES, 89c. to $4.75.

WHEELBARROWS, Paris make, 25c. to $1.25.

TWO WHEEL CARTS, Paris make, 19c. to 39c.

EXPRESS WAGONS, Paris make, 50c. to $7.50.

PATROL WAGONS, Paris make, $4.98 to $13.50.

BUCKBOARDS, Paris make, $3.48 to $5.98.

DESKS, 75 styles, Paris make, 48c. to $17.00.

SLEDS, 65 styles, Paris make, 25c. to $9.50.

REAL SLATE BLACKBOARDS, $1.98 to $3.98.

TYPEWRITERS, 98c. to $4.98.

PEWTER TEA SETS, 19c. to $3.75.

SEWING MACHINES, 98c. to $3.98.

IRON TRAINS, best goods, 23c. to $3.50.

TEN-PINS, 10c. to 50c.

BAGATELLES, 25c. to $3.48.

WAR SHIPS, 19c. to 89c.

TOOL CHESTS, 19c. to $4.98.

CROKINOLE, 98c. to $1.89.

COMBINOLA, $2.48 to $4.19.

STEAM ENGINES, 39c. to $4.50.

ROCKING HORSES, $2.48 to $8.75.

VELOCIPEDES, $1.25 to $4.98.

FOOTBALLS, 48c. to $4.50.

RICHTER'S ANCHOR BLOCKS, 20c. to $7.00

TROTTERS GO TO EUROPE

Fast Harness Horses Shipped for Old World Raoing.

AMERICAN DRIVERS ABROAD

Trainer Ira Ryerson Talks of the Growing Popularity of Yankee Stock in Austria and Italy.

In quarters separated from the commoner live stock on the ocean transport Patricia, which sailed from New York for Hamburg yesterday morning, were about fifty head of carefully selected and high-bred American trotting horses, the property of half a dozen owners, several of whom accompanied the horses on the voyage. The most valuable consignment was that of Ruzicka & Morgenstein of Vienna, Austria, consisting of about twenty head, the best known of which are the champion four-year-old filly of last season, Contralto, record 2:10 in the fourth heat of a race; the black mare, five years old, Neeretta, record 2:09½, and the nine-year-old stallion Greenbrino, record 2:10¾. Another lot, the best known of which is the bay mare, eight years old, Hannabrinda, record 2:24¼, went under the personal care of the American trainer, Ira Ryerson, formerly of Goshen, N. Y., who bought and shipped the horses as agent for European owners, for whom he will train and drive next season. A third consignment, shipped by B. Tappaen, also an American, now racing in Austria, had the black mare, six years old, Bertha Lee, record 2:13¼, as the star of the collection. Henry Fleischmann, the well-known sportsman and patron of the light-harness horse, from Vienna, also sent a picked few young trotters, while other shipments were made by the Fasig-Tipton Company as agents for foreign purchasers.

Ira Ryerson, who will train for the American trotting turfman, Capt. Tuthill, in addition to handling the harness horses of Baron Walcher, departed with one of the commissions which brought him back to New York unaccomplished. That was the purchase of the sensational young stallion Charley Herr, for which Baron Walcher had authorized Ryerson to offer $25,000. "That figure would not touch Charley Herr," Ryerson said before he sailed, "and from the prompt style in which my bid was rejected I knew there was no use trying further, so I gave it up. Baron Walcher might have increased his offer had I communicated with him, but the peculiar way in which Charley Herr's owner proposes to sell the horse, which is by means of sealed bids, made the outcome so doubtful that I did not ask for permission to go higher. As a matter of fact, the European patrons of harness racing have not been educated up to very big prices as yet, and a first-class horse of championship quality will bring a bigger price here than abroad. I must say, though, that any European owner of a real good, race horse knows how to value him, and it is as hard to buy one in Europe as it is in America. The trotter has taken a strong hold in several European countries, and is steadily growing in favor, though I believe the harness horse flourishes better in Austria than anywhere else. In Vienna two tracks are almost constantly in use, and on Sunday, the popular day for racing there, it is a common thing for a crowd of 25,000 people to assemble at the better-patronized track to witness the sport.

"A place of excellent promise for the trotter is Italy, and a new track, to be opened at Milan in the Spring, has announced a meeting which will be a big thing. In all the trotting over there good clean sport is provided, and crookedness of any kind is but rarely heard of. The law exacts certain things from owners and trainers which keep the racing honest, and people of the highest position are interested in the sport. It is generally known that heat racing is not practiced there, but it would be hard for any one who had not seen it to imagine the beauty of the spectacle presented by one of the big races, where the field goes away, trotting on the smooth grass, up and down hill, with no dust or mud to interfere with the view or hamper the horses. The system of handicapping, which gives the slower horses so much start of the faster ones, also adds to the spectacular effects, and a handicap on that plan makes a wonderfully pretty contest. At first it is trying on the nerves of a driver accustomed to class racing as in America, but we soon became at home in it. A good knowledge of pace is needed in driving that sort of a race, but as that is something all American trainers have, they take to the new style of racing as if they had been at it all their lives. When it comes to driving, however, we have nothing on the Austrians, for they can do as much with a horse as any one can. They are a little backward in their training methods, but are quick to learn, and the Americans who are over there have to keep moving to stay with the procession."

Asked whether it was probable that Prince Potocki would send his champion trotter, Caid, to the United States to race in the twenty-thousand-dollar match made between A. H. Miller of Buffalo and Henry Fleischman of Vienna for an international race, Mr. Ryerson said he did not believe the Prince would ship Caid across the Atlantic even if he knew he would win the race. Caid, the American trainer said, is the best trotter in Europe, and his owner would not take the risk of the voyage. The match in question was made while the gentlemen interested were discussing the relative merits of the American trotter and the trotter bred from American stock in Austria. Mr. Miller backed the American horse, and a forfeit was put up for a race to take place next year on the Cleveland race track, two mile heats, best two in three, for $20,000 a side and such a purse as the association will add, the entries to be named at the post. It was said that Mr. Fleischman had Caid in mind when the match was made. Caid holds the world's record for two miles, 4:27 1-3, made in Vienna last Summer. The American record for the distance is 4:45, made by Monette, in 1894. In commenting on Caid's ability as a race horse Mr. Ryerson recalled the forty-thousand-franc race at the Paris Exposition, two and a half miles, which Caid won, with Nathenial, driven by Mr. Ryerson, second. Caid, he said, was jogging all the way and won easily, while the pace carried was at the rate of 2:18 to the mile all the way.

SPEEDWAY HONORS FOR TUSLA.

Pacing Newcomer Won Fast Trials with Noted Horses.

There were several new trotters and pacers on the Speedway yesterday afternoon that figured prominently in the recent Madison Square Garden sale. Most notable among them was the handsome pacing mare Tusla, with a mark of 2:10, who bids fair to become one of the most noted of the Speedway stars if she holds up her record of yesterday, when she had things about all her own way, winning every brush in which she started. The mare was purchased by David Lamar, who drove her to victory yesterday. She was formerly owned by C. G. K. Billings of Chicago, who drove her and Hontas Crooke to the pole in 2:12. The first speed tilt of importance that Tusla had was with the well-known pacer Spinx S., 2:09¾, driven by E. E. Smathers.

It was a horse race from start to finish, and the spectators applauded the pacers as they came down the stretch, nose and nose, but Tusla had a trifle too much speed for her opponent and won by a half length. While the speeding was at its height much excitement was caused by a runaway that would undoubtedly have caused damage had it not been for the prompt action of Mounted Policeman McKean. The accident occurred on the upper stretch, where W. G. Leland was driving his fast road team, Angelo and Diablo. They were near the quarter post, when one of the traces broke, causing the team to bolt. Mr. Leland tried in vain to hold the horses, and was swinging at the reins when a sudden lurch of the wagon threw him out into the road. He was unhurt and had hardly regained his feet before Officer McKean had caught the bridle of the horse whose trace had broken, and, after a short struggle, brought him to a standstill. The harness was then patched up and the team was driven home.

There was a very lively three-cornered brush between Spinx S., 2:09¾, driven by E. E. Smathers; Strathbelle, and Teddy Look, 2:20¼, driven by H. L. Stout. The start was a ragged one, Strathbelle having the advantage, but being unable to hold it against the speed of Spinx S., who passed her at the first quarter, and won by half a length. Strathbelle led Teddy Look by a head. The brown trotter Little Coaster, 2:21¼, driven by John Timmons proved herself in fine form by winning several hot brushes. David Lamar also had his recent purchase, Louis Victor, 2:10, on the road, and he gave Tusla one of the prettiest trials of the afternoon, honors being about even as the pair crossed the finish line. There is a promise of a fast brush this morning between the trotting favorite Alice Barnes, 2:11½, owned by E. E. Smathers, and Azote, owned by David Lamar. Among those on the road were H. O. Armour of Chicago, driving his team Windsor and Erin G.; J. W. Cornish, driving David B., 2:09; W. Clark of Yonkers driving Marion; George Coleman, driving Hattie Walters, 2:22½, and J. P. Rogers of Brooklyn, with Hindoo Boy, 2:18¾; John F. Cockerill, driving Honor Bright and Rival; H. L. Stout, driving Beacon Light, 2:26¾; Charles Riley, driving Belle Esprit, 2:12½, and Thomas Daly, driving Bessie Benton, 2:26¾.

LAST DAY AT BENNINGS.

Knight of the Garter, Favorite, Was Beaten in the Fourth Race by Rochester.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Get-away day was one of the most notable of the Washington Jockey Club's Fall meeting at Bennings. Despite the inclement weather—a raw wind and a threatening sky—the attendance was one of the largest of the meeting. Speculation was unusually brisk and heavy, and as three favorites and two strongly backed second choices won the talent had a good day. The feature of the day's sport, and perhaps the feature of the meeting, was the fourth race—the Maximum—for a purse of $1,500, at a distance of three miles. Knight of the Garter was 9 to 5 favorite at post time. He went right out and made all the running for two miles and a half, when Rochester closed up on him and galloped under the wire a winner by three lengths, First Whip leading Oneck Queen by half a length for the place. Summary:

FIRST RACE.—Purse, $300; all ages; five and a half furlongs—Velasquez, 97 pounds, (Brennan,) 7 to 5, won; Blarneystone, 115, (James,) 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Hophroook, 99, (J. Slack,) 6 to 1, third. Time—1:12. Red Spider, Impartial, Imperialist, Lady Has Been, Bannock, Dame, Inominatum, Staten Island, and Directum also ran.

SECOND RACE.—Purse, $300; maiden two-year-olds; five furlongs—Protege, 107 pounds, (J. Slack,) 8 to 5, won; Timothy Foley, 110, (T. Burns,) 7 to 2 and 6 to 5, second; James J. Corbett, 110, (Corbley,) 30 to 1, third. Time—1:05 2-5. Isaac Hopper, Bonverness, Dactyle, Blue Victor, Caltear, Fresnal, Craven, I Know, Gallimor, Cara, Flaneur, Woodspike, Waterton, and Grey Bill Higgins also ran.

THIRD RACE.—Handicap, steeplechase; about two and a half miles.—Old Tank, 150 pounds, (Barry,) 2 to 1, won; The Lost Chord, 163, (Farrell,) 7 to 1 and 5 to 2, second; Breach of Promise, 143, (Hueston,) 7 to 1, third. Time—5:29. Decameron, Wild Heather II., Bosphorus, Claroba, and Governor Budd also ran.

FOURTH RACE.—The Maximum; purse $1,500; three miles—Rochester, 97 pounds, (Brien,) 3 to 1, won; First Whip, 107, (Burns,) 2 to 1 and 3 to 5, second; Oneck Queen, 97, (J. Slack,) 5 to 2, third. Time—5:41. Knight of the Garter also ran.

FIFTH RACE.—Purse, $300; highweight handicap; seven furlongs—Aisike, 131 pounds, (Miles,) 12 to 1, won; Lexington Pirate, 128, (Hothersall,) 15 to 1 and 6 to 1, second; Sadie S., 130, (Burns,) 9 to 5, third. Time—1:33 3-5. Godfrey, Charley Moore, Beggar Lady, Charawind, Huitzilopochtli, San Luis, and Maribert also ran.

SIXTH RACE.—Purse, $300; selling; mile and 100 yards—Beau Ideal, 106 pounds, (T. Burns,) 7 to 10, won; Kirkwood, 104, (James,) 20 to 1 and 6 to 1, second; Lancewood, 93, (Brennan,) 20 to 1 third. Time—1:54. Bondman, Thermos, Lofter, Harry McCoun, Elsis Skip, and Miss Mitchell also ran.

Trainer Duke to Race in France.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—W. Duke, the American horse owner, who expects to transfer his training quarters to France, disposed of seven horses at Newmarket to-day for a total of 1,965 guineas, of which Egmont bought 850 guineas and Galveston 420 guineas.

Results at Other Tracks.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8.—Mile, selling: Horics, 105, (McJoynt,) 1; Belle Simpson, 92, 2; Tom Gilmore, 101, 3. Time—1:45. Six furlongs: Sackatuck, 108, (Mitchell,) 1; Midsummer, 98, 2; Meroni 110, 3. Time—1:16. Mile: Frank McConnell, 106, (Mitchell,) 1; Hood's Brigade, 99, 2; Free Hand, 101, 3. Time—1:44. Palmetto Handicap, One mile and a sixteenth: Knight Hammond, 102, (Walsh,) 1; Strangest, 107, 2; Sir Gatlan, 104, 3. Time—1:50. Six and a half furlongs: Georgie, 107, (T. Walsh,) 1; Jim Conway, 107, 2; Hardly, 107, 3. Time—1:23¼. Six furlongs: Gracious, 105, (McJoynt,) 1; Gray Daily, 106, 2; Scorpoletta, 99, 3. Time—1:17.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—Five and a half furlongs—May Gertrude, 109 pounds, (O'Connor,) 1; Gold Or, 117, 2; Gibraltar, 114, 3. Time—1:07. Six furlongs—Lost Girl, 119, (Turner,) 1; Maud Ferguson, 119, 2; Monrovia, 112, 3. Time—1:14½. Six furlongs—Jim Hale, 99, (J. Martin,) 1; Bard of Avon, 101, 2; Bab, 101, 3. Time—1:13¾. Emeryville handicap, mile—Tayon, 105, (Dominick,) 1; Canmore, 98, 2; Haviland, 91, 3. Time—1:39¾. Mile and a sixteenth—Vulcain, 106, (Coburn,) 1; Specific, 106, 2; Flush of Gold, 106, 3. Time—1:45¾. Mile and an eighth—Campus, 105, (Dominick,) 1; Dr. Bernays, 104, 2; Elmido, 102, 3. Time—1:52.

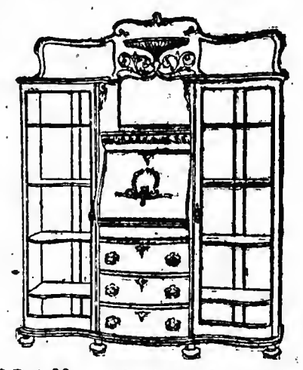
Brooklyn Advertisements.

BROOKLYN FURNITURE COMPANY SUBSTANTIAL PRESENTS.

We have a full line of Furniture suitable for holiday presents.

Elegance, Usefulness and Solidity are blended in every piece. All of our goods come from the best factories and are personally guaranteed by us. The superior quality of our stock cannot be excelled and our very low prices cannot be equaled anywhere.

$10.00—For this handsome Ladies' Desk in Fine Mahogany or Quartered Oak. Highly polished. This is an artistic design and equal to any at $15.00.



$24.00—Solid Quartered Oak, two-wing combination book case. This is a very handsome piece of furniture; it is finely carved, has plate glass mirror, double thick plate doors, and complete in every detail.

Turkish Arm Chair.

No chair can equal this for solid comfort; we are offering it for a few days at greatly reduced prices, as follows:

Price in leather, any shade, $32.00
" silk damask, " " $29.00
" velour, " " $20.00
" Denim, " " $15.00

This chair is made from the very best materials and guaranteed.

BROOKLYN FURNITURE COMPANY.
559 to 571 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

True Economy

And Discretion Always Dictate the

BEST,

But the price is sometimes in the way.
Not so with the

WISSNER

Pianos. They unite the HIGHEST STANDARD IN EXISTENCE with MODERATION IN PRICE and CONVENIENT TERMS.

SMALL GRANDS

Specially designed for

Holiday Trade.

Uprights in a Great Variety of Fancy Woods.
Great Values in Second Hand

PIANOS

Chickering, $135	Bradbury, $145
Steinway, $185	Wheelock, $125
Kranich & Bach, $155	Kroeger, $195

$4 to $6 Monthly.
15 Squares, $18 each.
OPEN EVENINGS.

BROOKLYN: Fulton and Flatbush Av.
NEW YORK: 25 East 14th St.
JERSEY CITY: 80 Montgomery St.
NEWARK: 599 Broad St.

Brooklyn Advertisements.

JOURNEAY & BURNHAM.

Flatbush Avenue, Junction Fulton Street.

Most Attractive Shopping Place in Brooklyn—Prices Always the Lowest.

SPECIAL HOLIDAY OFFERINGS.

A Great Offer.

Broadcloths for Ladies' Costumes, 68 Cts., instead of $1.25.

Three thousand yards of Broadcloth, 48 inches wide, in reds, garnets, Gobelins, navy, violets, tans, browns, greens, biscuit—in fact, all the desirable shades—the regular $1.25 goods, especially suitable for Ladies' Costumes, and fitting for holiday gifts—at 68 cts. per yard, for this sale.

Main Aisle, Center Table.

Dress Lengths in Boxes for Holiday Gifts.

All wool Homespun Suitings, gray and blue mixtures, 50 inches wide, 5 yards for $2.95; value, $4.25.

All wool Cheviots Serges, navy, tans and reds, 42 inches wide, 6½ yards for $2.90.; value, $3.75.

All wool Storm Serges, blue only, very fine material, 50 inches wide, all shrunk and sponged, 5 yards for $2.90; value $3.75; 6 yards for $3.45; value $4.50.

All wool mixed Venetians, 50 inches wide, 5 yards for $3.75; value, $5.00.

Panne Velvets Only 95 cts.

We offer a desirable lot of regular $2.00 Panne Velvets, in eighteen different colorings, at 95 cts. per yard.

Dress Lengths of Wash Fabrics.

Fine Percale, Gingham, Seersucker, etc., put up in dress lengths for presents, $1.25 per length.

All of our remnants of fine Wash Goods, including Percale, Madras, Domestic Ginghams, French Linons and Scotch Zephyrs, reduced to 6, 8 and 15 cts. per yard; have been 10 to 50 cts.

Like-Silk Lining Less Than Half Price.

Like-Silk is so near Silk in appearance that it takes the place of Silk for some purposes. We have it in all colors, including delicate tints, also in black. Tomorrow we will sell it at 11 cts. per yard; usual price, 25 cts.

Glove Specials for Monday

Ladies' black Silk Mittens, with fancy backs, one pair in box, 45 cts.

Men's white Worsted Gloves, from Fownes Bros., 45 cts.

Men's Dogskin Gloves, English red and tan, 59 cts.

Children's Worsted Mittens, 19c.

Lace Curtains Reduced.

Marie Antoinette Lace Curtains, reduced from $8.75 to $6.50, from $10.00 to $7.50, from $11.00 to $8.00 per pair.

Renaissance Lace Curtains, French goods, hand made, in handsome designs, reduced from $9.00 to $6.25, from $12.50 to $8.50, from $13.25 to $10.00, from $16.50 to $12.50, from $21.00 to $15.75.

Tambour Muslin Curtains, fine Swiss goods, effective patterns, reduced from $6.00 to $4.00.

Lace Bed Sets.

Renaissance Lace Bed Sets, made especially for Brass Bedsteads, $8.50, $10.00, $15.00 and $20.00.

Irish Point Lace Bed Sets, $5.00 and $6.75.

Tambour Muslin Bed Sets, $4.50 and $6.00; were $6.00 and $8.00.

Third Floor.

Fine Oriental Rugs.

Our stock of Eastern Rugs is very complete both as to quality and sizes. Attention is called to the following:

Bokharas, various sizes, at $7.50, $12.00, $15.00, $18.00.

Cashmeres, at $12.00, $18.00, $20.00, and $25.00.

Fine Kirmans and Serabends, average size 4.6x7.2, in rare colorings, at $50.00, $75.00, and $95.00.

Kazaks, heavy weight, glossy colorings, average size 4.3x7.4, at $15.00, $20.00, and $25.00.

Heavy quality Afghans, average size 7.6x10.8, at $70.00, $75.00, $80.00, and $85.00.

Third Floor.

Holiday Stationery.

An especially attractive line of fine Stationery from Geo. B. Hurd and other makers, in suitable boxes for the holidays.

Fancy Box, with one quire of Paper and Envelopes, 25 cts.

Christmas Holly, a very pretty box, 30 cts.

The Diamond, a beautiful box, useful also for gloves, 65 cts.; filled with stationery, 75 cts.

A special lot of large and attractive Boxes, tied with colored ribbons, 50 cts.

Rainy Day Suits.

Special Sale of Various Styles at $8.95 Each To-morrow.

We offer 60 Rainy Day Suits for ladies, in various styles of double-faced materials, different shades of Oxford, just from the manufacturer—made to sell for $12.50, $15.00, $18.00 and $20.00—at $8.95 each. The skirt alone is worth more than we ask for the whole suit.

Also 75 Ladies' Suits of Cheviot, Homespun and Zibeline Cloth, in colors and black, regular $15.00 and $18.00 Suits, at $10.00 each.

Silk Petticoats.

We are showing an unusually attractive line of Silk Petticoats for holiday gifts—plain and novelties, from $6.50 to $25.00.

Special to-morrow—50 Taffeta Petticoats, deep flounce, trimmed with three hemmed ruffles, our regular $6.50 Skirt, for $4.75.

Furs for the Neck.

In Alaska Sable, with cluster of tails, $6.00 to $20.00.

Men's Furnishings for the Holidays.

Silk Suspenders, some with buckles of sterling silver and 18-karat gold plate, usually sell for $2.50 to $4.00; our price, $1.50.

Very handsome Smoking Jackets of double-faced Vicuna Cloth, with plaid collars, cuffs and pocket welts, in mixtures of gray, green, brown, blue and black, bound with satin, and fastened with silk frogs, regular $10.00 Jacket for $7.00.

Smoking Jackets of silk finished Velveteen, Italian Cloth lined and self faced edges, bound with satin and fastened with silk frogs, regular $12.00 Jacket for $9.50.

Trimmed Millinery

at $7.00 to $10.00 Instead of $12.50 to $20.00.

Hats, Toques and Bonnets, suitable for all occasions, in choicest materials and styles—thoroughly up-to-date.

Half and dress garnitures for holiday gifts, at attractive prices.

Fine Irish Damask Table Linens for Holiday Gifts.

Fine quality of goods, in new designs, never shown before.

Table Cloths, 2 yards wide by 2 yards long, $2.50; 2x2½, $3.25; 2x3, $3.75; 2½x2½, $4.50; 2½x3, $5.25.

¾ Napkins to match, $3.50 per dozen.

Damask, 72 inches wide, $1.25 per yard.

A lot of ⅝ Napkins, reduced from $2.50 to $2.00 per dozen, and from $3.50 to $2.50 per dozen.

A large assortment of hand-embroidered Irish Linen Squares, Tray Cloths, Buffet Covers and Doylies, at popular prices. Main Floor, Annex.

Special Sale of Fine California Blankets.

White Blankets, 72x82 inches, weigh 5½ lbs., $7.50 per pair; regular price $9.00; 74x86 inches, weigh 6½ lbs., $10.00, regular price $15.00; 80x86, weigh 7 lbs., $12.50 per pair, regular price $17.50. All beautifully finished with wide silk binding.

Also rich Satin and Silk Down Comfortables, some with elaborately embroidered centres, at reduced prices.

Third Floor.

Holiday Engraving.

In order to have Engraving done in a proper manner and on time you should place orders early.

We will take orders to print 50 cards from your own plate for 35 cts., or make a new plate and print 50 cards for 75 cts.

A steel Die, any Monogram you may select for 50 cts.

Umbrellas for Holiday Gifts.

For Ladies—26-inch Umbrellas, fine Union Taffeta, with mother-of-pearl handles, sterling silver caps and collars, $2.25. Initial engraved without charge.

For Men—28-inch Umbrellas, all Silk Serge, with natural wood, crooked and bulb handles, paragon frame, steel rod, $2.00.

Chatelaine Bags.

A special lot of hand crochet, steel bead Chatelaine Bags, with sterling silver name plate (on which we will engrave initial free of charge), $2.85; value $4.00.

Brooklyn Advertisements.

A. D. Matthews Sons

Never Before Have We Made Such Elaborate Preparations for "The Yuletide" and the Effect is Truly Pleasing. We Cannot Enumerate the Many Values, but Invite Your Inspection.

Leather and Fancy Goods for Holiday Gifts.

Nothing more beautiful or appropriate than a writing tablet, music roll, pocket book, card case, cigar case, traveling, or dress suit case, chatelaine or traveling bag, when made of fine leather and finished by skilled workmen as ours are.

The Celluloid Boxes with Comb and Brush, Military Brushes, Manicure Sets, Shaving Sets, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Collar and Cuff Boxes, Albums, with and without music, Autograph Albums, Flasks, Pocket necessaries, Perfume Bottles, in nickel cases, are here in great variety, from French, German and Domestic manufacturers, of which we are justly proud. Style, durability and low prices are the chief characteristics of this grand collection.

Genuine Alligator Chatelaine Bag, outside pocket,

98c.

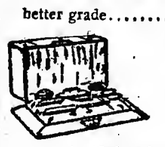
Genuine Leather Collar and Cuff Box, with draw, satin lined,

$2.25

Celluloid Photo Album, cabinet, tinted leaves,

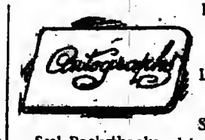
$2.48.

Genuine Leather Music Rolls, leather handle, 48c., better grade.....98c



Celluloid Manicure Set, Fine Satin lined; at

$1.25



Leather Writing Tablets from 48c. to 5.48

Leather or Plush Autographs 48c from, up..

Special lot of Real Seal Pocketbooks, plain and mounted, calf lined..... 98c

Genuine Seal, Alligator or Morocco Combination Book, large sterling silver corners, calf lined..... $1.48

Large assortment of Dress Suit Cases, Cabin Bags, Oxford Bags and Club Bags at prices that cannot be equaled.

Celluloid Shaving Sets, with Mug, Razor and Brush, satin lined,

$2.48 and $2.98

CELLULOID WORK BOX, satin lined, at . . . 48c

Celluloid Musical Photo Album, handsomely decorated, plays two tunes, at $4.48

Celluloid Combination Comb and brush set, satin lined.

$2.25.

Edison Phonograph Club.

One of the things from which you can derive much pleasure is a Phonograph! And we have now settled on a Plan whereby you can purchase one without the usually large outlay.

Our Gem Club membership fee $3.00—75c. for 14 weeks.
Our Standard Club membership fee $5.00—$1.00 for 20 weeks.
Our Home Club membership fee $8.00—$1.75 for 16 weeks.
Our Concert Club membership fee $15.00—$3.00 for 26 weeks.

For further particulars call at the Phonograph Dept., 3rd. Floor front, or we will mail circular upon request.

BOOKS.

2,000 Cloth-bound 12mos, stamped in gilt, 450 titles, such books as Lucile, by Meredith; Felix Holt, by Eliot; The Brownies, by Mrs. Ewing; John Halifax, Gentleman, by Mulock; The Cruise of the Cachalot, by Bullen; Bacon's Essays; Frederick the Great and His Court, by Muhlbach, etc., our price ..... 15c. each

Little Classics, unique designs in box, such titles as Marmion, by Scott; Emerson's Essays, Pleasures of Life, Snow Image, by Hawthorne, The Days of Ancient Rome, etc., our price 19c

Handy Volumes, in flexible green leather bindings, such books as Lady of the Lake, Imitation of Christ, Evangeline, Hiawatha, etc., our price..... 45c

Five-Volume Sets, cloth bindings, of Robert L. Stevenson, Conan Doyle, Cooper's Leather Stocking Tales, Hall Caine, Rosa Carey, Marie Corelli, and L. T. Meade's books, our price per set..... 1.25

Evangeline, illustrated, stamped in silver 25c

Episcopal Hymnals, on India paper, morocco and Persian calf binding, large and small sizes, usually sold for $1.00, $2.00 and $3.00; our price..... 39c

STATIONERY.

Fancy Boxes of Writing Paper for the Holidays.

Two-quire boxes, containing two colors, 49c. a box

Fancy Boxes, arranged with ribbon...25c

Correspondence Cards, with gold, 25c. and up

A handsome Sterling Silver Desk Set..$2.98

Dresden Letter Racks, special..... 75c

Sterling Silver Top Ink Bottles..... 25c

Gold-plated Pencils 25c

Sterling Silver Penholders..... 48c

Gold-plated Toothpicks 25c

Sterling Silver Pencils..... 25c

ENGRAVING.

This is the time to leave orders for Visiting Cards and Dies for stamping paper. We will show you the most correct styles and will guarantee satisfactory work.

Calendars, Diaries, and Christmas Cards for the Twentieth Century.

Musical Instruments.

If you want to make a useful as well as ornamental Holiday Gift, visit our Music Department, where we have on hand a large assortment of mandolins, violins, guitars, banjos, zithers, autoharps, accordions, and concertinas, at reduced prices.

Mandolins, at $1.98, $2.98, $3.98, $4.48 $8.00 and $10.00

Our Special 12-string Mandolin..... $6.00

Butterfly Mandolin, twenty-one ribbed, special $6.25

The Eureka Mandolin, twenty-one ribbed, special $15.00

Violins, $1.98, $2.98, $3.84, $4.94, $6.00, $8.50 and..... $10.48

The German Violin $8.50

Our Special Banjo $15.00

The S. S. Stewart Banjo, $4.98, $5.75, $8.00, $10.00, $12.00, $15.00 and $25.00

Guitars, $3.50, $6.00, $7.98, $8.00 and $12.00

Guitars, Bramer make..... $7.50

Concert Grand Guitar..... $8.75

Columbia Zither, including book, pick and key, No. 1, $1.59; No. 2, $2.35; No. 2½, $2.98, No. 3, $3.98, and No. 4..... $5.50

The Zimmerman Autoharp, No. 7..... $2.98

Accordions, 98c., $1.98, $2.50, $2.98, $3.98 and $4.50

Concertinas, $1.50, $2.98, 3.50 and $4.00

Music Portfolios, 79c., 98c., $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75

Cases for all kinds of instruments at special prices.

JEWELRY.

Special sale of FINE DIAMONDS and SOLID GOLD JEWELRY, GOLD and SILVER WATCHES, at very low prices for high-class goods. Articles selected can be reserved for the holidays by paying small deposit.

Women's Sterling Silver, Open Face Chatelaine Watch, good timekeeper, 2.98.

Women's Sterling Silver Hunting Case Watch; good time keepers, case handsomely engraved, 3.98.

Men's Sterling Silver Hunting Case Watch, good timekeepers, case handsomely engraved, $5.48.

Men's 14-kt. Gold filled Hunting Case Watch, American movement, case warranted for 15 years, $8.98.

Women's 14-karat Gold filled Hunting Case Watch, American movement, case warranted for fifteen years, $10.98.

Women's 14-karat Gold Ring, set with large fiery opal, surrounded with 20 genuine diamonds, 9 diamonds on each side of band.....$52.25

10-kt. Gold Wreath, pins, set with emeralds, garnets, pearls and turquoise,

$3.48.

Opera Glasses rose or smoked pearl nickel trimmed, fine lense....$8.98

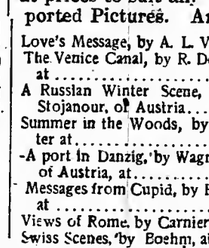
Pearl and Aluminum Opera Glasses with lorgnette attached $9.50 to $25.00

Sterling Silver Chain Bracelets, all size links, plain or chased, 98c

10-kt. Gold Lorgnette Chains, with set slide $5.98

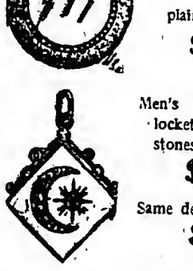
Women's Solid Gold Rings, 2, 3 and 4 stones,

48c.



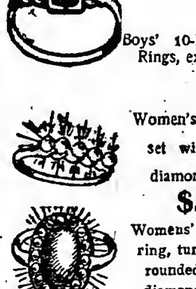
Women's 10-kt. Gold Marquise Rings, with five garnets or turquoise and sixteen pearls,

$1.48.



Women's Sterling Silver Open Face Chatelaine Watch, American movement, plain or engraved,

$4.98.

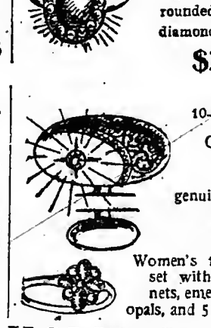


Men's 14-kt. gold filled locket, set with rhinestones,

$5.98.

Same design, gold plated,

$1.98.



Boys' Solid Gold Cameo Rings,

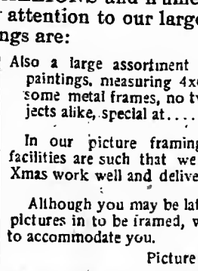
48c.

Boys' 10-kt. Gold Cameo Rings, extra heavy band,

98c.

Women's 14-kt. gold ring set with 5 pure white diamonds,

$53.98



Womens' 14-kt. gold elustes ring, turquoise centre, surrounded with 16 genuine diamonds,

$25.48

10-kt. GOLD LINK CUFF BUTTONS, set with genuine diamond,

$2.98.

Women's 10-kt. Gold Rings, set with 4 turquoise, garnets, emeralds or opals, and 5 pearls, $1.25

PICTURES for HOLIDAY GIFTS

OUR PICTURE GALLERY ON THE THIRD FLOOR is more attractive this year than ever before. A picture has always been a favorite holiday gift and we can supply you with PAINTINGS, WATER COLORS, PASTELS, ETCHINGS, MEDALLIONS and numerous novelties at prices to suit all. We call special attention to our large line of imported Pictures. Among the paintings are:

Love's Message, by A. L. Veron, at $225.00
The Venice Canal, by R. Domba, at $125.00
A Russian Winter Scene, by Stojanour, of Austria..... $68.00
Summer in the Woods, by F. Walter at..... $42.00
A port in Danzig, by Wagner, of Austria, at..... $66.00
Messages from Cupid, by Ronsard, at $67.50
Views of Rome, by Carnier, at..... $9.98
Swiss Scenes, by Boehm, at..... $26.50

Also a large assortment of small, choice paintings, measuring 4x6, framed in handsome metal frames, no two subjects alike, special at..... $1.98

In our picture framing department our facilities are such that we will be able to do Xmas work well and deliver it promptly.

Although you may be late in bringing your pictures in to be framed, we will do our best to accommodate you.

Picture Dept.—3d floor.

FULTON STREET, GALLATIN PLACE, LIVINGSTON & SMITH STS., BROOKLYN.

GOLF VICTORS FOR 1900

Walter J. Travis Wins Thirteen Important Trophies.

SUMMARY OF THE BIG EVENTS

Watson, Seeley, Hamilton, Hitchcock, and Hollins All Stand High Among Local Golfers.

Golf on Northern links for 1900 is at an end. There will, of course, be more or less desultory playing during the Winter, but the championships and club tournaments are over. Only one more big tournament remains to be played in which local golfers will take a prominent part, and that is the Atlantic City Country Club open tournament, which will take place on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this coming week.

A brief résumé of American golf for 1900 presents many interesting and instructive features. It shows that the metropolitan district has been the centre of activity, as has always been the case in the past. Philadelphia, Boston, and Chicago have all contributed a larger share of activity than ever before, while in all Summer resorts the game has been claimed as a favorite by a constantly increasing army of devotees.

One of the characteristic features of the year has been the larger number of sectional championships, and this healthy growth of divisional associations is chiefly due to the wise suggestions made by President W. B. Thomas when he assumed the head office of the United States Golf Association, nearly two years ago. Among the more important of these championships are: Metropolitan, won by Walter J. Travis; Western, won by William Waller; Connecticut, won by Dr. Carl Martin; New Jersey, won by Archibald Graham; Maine, won by W. C. Emerson of Portland; New Hampshire, won by Herbert W. Odlin of Concord; Cape Cod, won by Archie M. Reid of the St. Andrew's Golf Club; East Jersey, won by Howard Giffin of East Orange; North Jersey, won by C. H. Murphey of Deal Beach; Florida, won by Charles B. Cory of Boston.

The three National championships have in each case brought new title holders to the front. Walter J. Travis of the Garden City Golf Club, now holds the amateur championship, wrested from Herbert M. Harriman. Miss Frances C. Griscom of Philadelphia supersedes Miss Ruth Underhill as the premier of women golfers. In the open championship, Harry Vardon, the former three-year champion of Great Britin, has saddled the laurels that of the open championship of the United States, while Willie Smith of the Midlothian Club, Chicago, last year's champion, took fifth place in the competition this season.

Walter J. Travis has come worthily by his honors as the leading amateur golfer on this side of the Atlantic. He has won more open tournament and championship victories than any other golfer in the country. With one exception, the Oakland Club tournament, they have all been hard fought contests. The record of the year gives Travis thirteen first prizes, seven being the chief trophies won in the final of several match-play rounds, and the other six being low-score prizes in the qualifying round. These latter prizes were gained in the tournaments at Atlantic City, Oakland, Shinnecock, Tuxedo, Westchester, and in the amateur championship at Garden City. The seven more important prizes were the amateur and Metropolitan championships, and the chief trophies in the Atlantic City, Oakland, Shinnecock, Tuxedo, and Lakewood Fall tournaments.

PROMINENT FOR SECOND HONORS.

Charles H. Seeley, who was a schoolboy golfer last year, was runner-up for the Connecticut and interscholastic championship, won both the chief trophy and the handicap in the Knollwood Country Club tournament and the Consolation Cup in the Fall event at Lakewood. Charles Hitchcock, Jr., Yale's champion golfer last year, won both the Newport and Point Judith tournaments, was runner-up for the chief cup at Westbrook, and won the Handicap Cup at Shinnecock from scratch.

H. B. Hollins, Jr., who entered Harvard in September, won the interscholastic championship, the low score in that event, and the Consolation Cup in the Shinnecock tournament. Findlay Douglas, besides being runner-up three times to Travis, only got one first, and that the low score prize in the metropolitan championship. C. M. Hamilton, lately deposed from the Baltusrol championship, made the low score in the qualifying round in both Lakewood tournaments, and was runner-up for the chief prize to Watson in the Spring.

The following summary of tournaments for the season 1900 has been compiled chiefly for the purpose of showing the golfing exploits of the metropolitan golfers. Ten open cup tournaments were held in the metropolitan district, while in addition there were the National, metropolitan, and interscholastic championships, and several women's events. In each case the leader in the qualifying round is given, with the winner and runner-up for the chief trophy, with the winners of such other events as may have been given in the tournament:

April 3-7.—Atlantic City Open Tournament—First day, Vardon, exhibition against best ball of H. M. Harriman and Findlay S. Douglas, 36 holes. Vardon won 9 up and 8 to play. Qualifying round, 36 holes, low score prize won by Walter J. Travis, 150; H. M. Forrest second, 161. Atlantic City Country Club Cup won by Walter J. Travis, who beat Findlay S. Douglas 4 up and 2 to play. Consolation Cup won by James A. Tyng, Morris County; third cup won by W. D. Brownell, Providence; fourth cup by T. C. Enneuer, Montclair; foursomes won by H. M. Harriman and Findlay S. Douglas.

April 18-20.—Interscholastic (N. Y.) championship at Garden City—Qualifying round, low score by H. B. Hollins, Jr., Cutler, 82 strokes; championship final, 36 holes, Hollins beat C. H. Seeley, Berkeley, 6 up and 4 to play. Team championship won by Cutler School, represented by H. B. Hollins, Jr., J. Owen Winston, A. D. Holmes, and T. G. Douglas.

April 18-21.—Lakewood Open Tournament—Qualifying round, low score by C. M. Hamiltoo, Baltusrol, 171 strokes, 36 holes. Lakewood Cup won by R. C. Watson, Jr., Westbrook, who beat C. M. Hamilton 1 up, (19 holes.) Consolation Cup, A. E. Hedstrom, Buffalo. Third cup, Orier Hersh, Lakewood.

April 23-24.—Lakewood Open Tournament for Women—Qualifying round, low score by Mrs. E. A. Manice, Lenox, 97 strokes. Lakewood Cup, won by Miss I. C. Linton, Montreal, who beat Mrs. Manice by 2 up.

May 12.—Intercollegiate team competition at Laurence Harbor, won by Yale, represented by T. M. Robertson, M. Byers, Thomas Cheney, and Charles Hitchcock, Jr. Total strokes, 764. 36 holes. Princeton second, 763; Columbia third, 820.

May 23-26.—Metropolitan championship at Nassau County Club, Glen Cove, L. I.—Qualifying round, low score by Findlay S. Douglas, 162 strokes, 36 holes; Walter J. Travis, second, 168. Championship won by Walter J. Travis, who beat H. M. Harriman, 3 up and 2 to play, 36 holes. Best-ball foursome, James A. Tyng and C. M. Hamilton, 81 strokes. Open handicap, won by Allan Kennaday, Montclair, 170, 14, 102, 36 holes; best groes score, Findlay S. Douglas, 169 strokes.

June 6-8.—Baltusrol open tournament.—Qualifying round, low score by A. G. Lockwood, Boston, 167 strokes, 36 holes; Allan Kennaday, Montclair, second, 171 strokes. Governors' Cup, won by R. C. Watson, Jr., Westbrook, who beat James A. Tyng, 7 up and 5 to play, 36 holes. Watson making at the same time a new amateur record of 77 strokes for the links. Consolation Cup, T. T. Reid, Montclair. Blasted Hopes Cup, Orie Campbell, Baltusrol. Four-ball foursome, A. G. Lockwood and C. B. Cory, Boston, 80 strokes. Won after a tie at 81 strokes between the former and James A. Tyng and Louis P. Bayard, Jr. Open handicap, won by R. C. Watson, Jr., 77 strokes from scratch.

June 6-9.—Connecticut State championship, played at the Wee Burn golf links, Noroton, Conn.—Qualifying round, low score by Dr. Carl Martin, Fairfield, 84 strokes. Championship won by Dr. Carl Martin, who beat Charles H. Seeley, Wee Burn, 6 up and 5 to play, 36 holes. Consolation Cup, won by J. H. McKinley, Fairfield, who beat A. S. Pitt, Wee Burn, 4 up and 3 to play. Foursomes won by Edward Leavitt and George Jenkins, Hillandale. Team championship won by Wee Burn; Orford Club, second.

June 11-15.—Metropolitan women's championship of Morris County, Morristown, N. J.—Qualifying round, low score by Miss Maude K. Wetmore, Morris County, 102 strokes; Miss Beatrix Hoyt, Shinnecock, second, 103. Championship won by Miss Genevieve Hecker, Wee Burn, who beat Miss Ruth Underhill, Nassau, 9 up and 7 to play. Consolation Cup, Miss Marie G. Bryce, Morris County. Scratch foursomes—Miss Kip and Miss Elsa Huribut, Morris County, 102 strokes, making a new foursome record.

June 14-16.—Oakland open tournament, Bayside, L. I.—Qualifying round, low score by Walter J. Travis, 76 strokes. Oakland Cup, won by Walter J. Travis, who beat W. G. Bamwell, Oakland, 8 up and 6 to play. Consolation Cup, C. H. Robbins, Oakland open handicap; A. M. Rossiter, Oakland, 88, 10, 78.

June 21-23.—Knollwood Country Club open tournament, White Plains, N. Y.—Qualifying round, low score, C. M. Hamilton, Baltusrol, and A. De Witt Cochrane, Ardsley, tied at 78 strokes. President's Cup, won by Charles H. Seeley, Wee Burn, who beat Maturin Ballou, Apawamis, 10 up and 8 to play, 36 holes; handicap, won by Charles H. Seeley, 152 strokes, scratch, for 36 holes, making a new amateur record of 75 strokes for the eighteen-hole course. Consolation Cup, A. D. Compton, Westchester Golf.

July 2-7.—National amateur championship at Garden City—Qualifying round, low score by Walter J. Travis, 160 strokes, 36 holes; R. C. Watson, Jr., Westbrook, second, 169. Championship won by Walter J. Travis, who beat Findaly S. Douglas 2 up, 36 holes.

July 19-21.—Interscholastic open tournament at Meadow Brook—Qualifying round, low score, tie at 92 strokes between F. O. Reinhart, St. Paul's, Concord, and U. A. Murdock, St. Marks. Chief Cup, won by J. G. Douglas, Cutler, who beat F. O. Reinhart, 2 up, 36 holes. Consolation Cup, won by G. F. Snow, St. Marks, beat William Ewing, Pomfret, 2 up.

July 24-28.—Shinnecock open tournament—Qualifying round, low score, tie at 160 between Walter J. Travis, Garden City, and A. M. Brown, Shinnecock. Play off won by Travis, 163 to 171, 3d holes. President's Cup, won by Walter J. Travis, who beat Roderick Terry, Jr., Newport, 12 up and 11 to play, 36 holes, making a new record of 74 strokes for the course, and 150 strokes for a continuous 36-hole round. Peconic Cup, H. B. Hollins, Jr., Westbrook. Consolation Cup, Daniel Chauncey, Dyker Meadow. Open handicap, Charles Hitchcock, Jr., Yale, 156 strokes from scratch, 36 holes. Club pair foursome, R. C. Watson, Jr., and H. B. Hollins, Jr., Westbrook, 74 strokes. Walter J. Travis and Devereux Emmett second, 77 strokes.

Aug. 9-11.—Otsego, open tournament, Cooperstown, N. Y.—Qualifying round, low score by Devereux Emmett, Garden City, 86 strokes. Otsego Cup, won by D. Compton, Westchester Golf, who beat S. C. Clark, Otsego, 2 up and 1 to play. Bugy handicap, A. D. Holmes, Tuxedo.

Aug. 13-15.—Walontha Club's open tournament, Richfield Springs, N. Y.—Qualifying round, low score by F. B. Barrett, Englewood, 87 strokes; Richfield Springs Cup, won by A. D. Compton, Westchester Golf, who beat S. C. Clark, Otsego, 1 up, 19 holes.

Aug. 22.—Final round in women's tournament at Shinnecock for the Boardman Cup. Won by Mrs. Charles S. Brown, who beat Miss Julia Clarke, 5 up, and 3 to play. Mrs. Brown allowed two strokes handicap.

Aug. 21-25.—Waumbek Club, Jefferson, N. H., Jefferson Cup. Won by Judge S. O. Prentice, Hartford, who beat Henry A. Blair, Onwentsia, 2 up. Consolation Cup, Douglas Hartshorns, Waumbek.

Aug. 22-25.—Point Judith open tournament. Won by Charles Hitchcock, Jr., who beat Howard Hitchcock 11 up, and 10 to play, thirty-six holes.

Sept. 1.—International teams at Quebec. Won by United States, nineteen holes to fourteen. Winning team composed of John Reid, Jr., J. G. Averill, John H. Brookes, G. G. Hubbard, J. S. Moorhead, S. Hickney, C. S. Farnum, William Waller, Chester Griswold, Jr., William Morris.

Aug. 28-Sept. 1.—Women's championship at Shinnecock—Qualifying round, low score by Miss Beatrix Hoyt, 94 strikes. Championship won by Miss Frances C. Griscom, Philadelphia, who beat Miss Margaret Curtis, Boston, 6 up and 4 to play. First Consolation Cup, won by Miss Bessie C. Howe, Pittsburg; second Consolation Cup, won by Mrs. William Shippen. Consolation handicap, won by Miss E. W. Goffe, Point Judith. Women's foursome, won by Mrs. E. A. Manice and Miss C. Barnes, Lenox.

Aug. 28-Sept. 1.—Newport Open Tournament—Qualifying round, low score by R. C. Watson, Jr., Westbrook, 155 strokes, 36 holes. Newport Cup, won by Charles Hitchcock, Jr., Yale, who beat C. T. Richardson, Harvard, 4 up and 2 to play, 36 holes.

Sept. 11-15.—Lenox Invitation Tournament—Qualifying round, low score, tie at 162 for 36 holes between Granville Kane, Tuxedo, and W. W. Hoffman, Atlantic City. Lenox Cup, won by Samuel Frothingham, who beat H. W. Allen, Pittsfield.

Sept. 12-15.—Tuxedo Invitation Tournament—Qualifying round, low score by Walter J. Travis, 156 strokes, 36 holes. Tuxedo Cup, won by Walter J. Travis, who beat Louis Livingston, Jr., Westbrook, 5 up and 4 to play. Travis making a new amateur record of 71 strokes. Ramapo Cup, G. P. Snow, Tuxedo.

Wee Wah Cup.—L. V. Pulsifer, Orford. Open Handicap—L. L. Kellogg, Tuxedo, 167, 20, 147. Gross score prize, C. M. Hamilton, Baltusrol, 157. 36 holes.

Sept. 19-22.—Westbrook Invitation Tournament, Islip, L. I.—Qualifying round, low score by R. C. Watson, Jr., 155 strokes, 36 holes; Charles Hitchcock, Jr., Yale, 174. President's Cup, won by Louis Livingston, Jr., Westbrook, who beat Charles Hitchcock, Jr., Yale, 2 up and 1 to play, 36 holes. Consolation Cup, George E. Watson, Westbrook.

Sept. 20-22.—North Jersey Shore Championship, played at Deal Beach—Championship, won by C. H. Murphy, who beat Irving Brokaw, 3 up and 2 to play, 36 holes. Consolidation Cup, W. A. Clarke, Deal; handicap, Edward Frazer, Red Bank; best gross score, H. V. Croker, 92.

Sept. 27-29.—New Jersey Golf championship, played at Essex County, Orange.—Qualifying round, low score by Howard A. Colby, Essex, 82 strokes. Championship won by Archibald Graham, North Jersey, who beat James A. Tyng, Morris County, 5 up and 3 to play, 36 holes. Consolation Cup, Austin Colgate, Essex. Handicap, George B. Jenkinson, 2d, Essex. Team championship, won by Essex, represented by Howard A. Colby, C. F. Watson, Jr., C. F. Watson, and T. H. Powers Farr.

Oct. 3-6.—St. Andrew's open tournament—Qualifying round, 36 holes, low score by A. De Witt Cochrane, 167 strokes. St. Andrew's Cup, won by John Reid, Jr., St. Andrew's, who beat A. D. Cochrane, 1 up, 36 holes. Captain's Cup, won by Marc M. Michael, Yountokah. Governor's Cup, won by Maturin Ballou, Apawamis.

Oct. 3-6.—Ardsley, women's tournament—Qualifying round, low score by Mrs. A. De Witt Cochrane, 98 strokes. Ardsley Cup, won by Mrs. A. D. Cochrane, who beat Mrs. E. A. Manice, Lenox, 1 up. Consolation Cup, won by Miss Lilian Brooks, Ardsley.

Oct. 10-20.—Baltusrol, women's open tournament—Qualifying round, low score by Miss Beatrix Hoyt, Shinnecock, 97 strokes, 88 scores turned in. Baltusrol Cup, won by Miss Frances C. Griscom, Philadelphia, who beat Miss Georgiana Bishop, Brooklawn, 1 up. Consolation Cup, won by Miss Elsa Hulbut, Morris County. Consolables' Cup, won by Miss Marie G. Bryce, Morris County. Scotch foursomes, won by Miss Maude K. Wetmore and Miss Marion Oliver.

Nov. 1-3.—Westchester Golf Club, open tournament. Qualifying round—Low score by Walter J. Travis, 82 strokes. Chief cup won by W. L. Thompson, Baltusrol, who beat Travis 4 up and 2 to play. Consolation cup won by C. F. Watson, Jr., Essex County. Handicap won by W. L. Thompson. Mixed foursomes won by Miss Grace Jenkins and John Smith, Powelton.

Nov. 29-Dec. 1.—Lakewood open tournament. Qualifying round—Low score by C. M. Hamilton, Baltusrol, 78 strokes. Lakewood Cup won by Walter J. Travis, who beat Findlay S. Douglas, 3 up and 2 to play. Consolation Cup won by Charles H. Seeley, Wee Burn. Third Cup won by A. Mallouf, St. Paul's, Concord. Handicap won by Irving Brokaw.

Nov. 30-Dec. 1.—Baltusrol, East Jersey golf championship, won by Howard Giffin, East Orange, who beat P. C. Pulner, Newark A. C., 2 up.

Donor of Golf Prize Won.

At the Richmond Hill Golf Club yesterday a three-day mixed foursome competition, for cups presented by Mrs. A. W. Morse, was brought to an unexpected conclusion, for the giver of the prizes and her partner proved to be the winners. They at once put up the prizes again, to be played for this week. The summaries:

First Round.—Mrs. Nichols and Arthur Hinds, (handicap, 2,) beat Mrs. Marquand and W. H. Rachau, (scratch,) 2 up; Mrs. A. W. Morse and C. A. C. Blackburn, (handicap, 3,) beat Mr. and Mrs. Torrance, (handicap, 4,) 2 up; Miss Townsend and R. L. Harrison, (scratch,) beat Miss Lane and G. T. Donnell, (scratch,) 3 up, 2 to play; Miss Jones and William Parkin, (handicap, 5,) beat Miss Hudson and Arthur Smith, 3 up and 2 to play.

Second Round.—Miss Jones and William Parkin beat Mrs. Nichols and Mr. Hinds, 2 up, 1 to play; Mrs. Morse and Mr. Blackburn beat Miss Townsend and Mr. Harrison, 4 up, 3 to play.

Final Round.—Mrs. Morse and Mr. Blackburn beat Miss Jones and Mr. Parkin.

Golf Handicap at Lakewood.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Dec. 8.—A golfing party of fifteen competitors enjoyed the day at the Country Club of Lakewood in the first men's open handicap of the season on those links, and Clarence H. Robbins won the prizes offered for both actual and net scores. Summary:

	Country Club	Gross.	Hdcp.	Net.
Clarence H. Robbins,		93	8	85
N. B. Coles,	Country Club	106	16	90
Howard Maxwell,	Nassau	102	8	94
G. S. Daniels,	Apawamis	113	16	96
A. W. Black,	Lakewood Golf	105	8	97
A. P. Southerland,	Essex County	107	10	97
A. H. McKee,	Apawamis	109	10	99
C. S. Naething,	Country Club	119	15	104
I. A. Smith,	Country Club	134	18	116
Charles A. Smith,	Country Club	138	18	120

A Golf Ball Sweepstakes.

Out of twenty-four startera an even dozen finished in the golf ball sweepstakes yesterday at the Dyker Meadow Golf Club. There was a tie for first place, and the balls were divided. The cards:

	Gross.	H'c'p.	Net.
J. H. Merritt	96	12	84
J. D. Dithridge	107	23	84
W. Jarvie	106	17	89
F. H. Lovell, Jr.	110	21	89
J. L. Taylor	99	8	91
B. Clark	98	7	91
F. N. Doubleday	99	7	92
N. T. Pulsifer	108	15	93
F. C. Johnson	117	22	95
H. C. Duval	126	26	100
D. Chauncey	103	3	100
F. W. Blossom	128	22	106

A SUICIDE IN THE PARK.

Visitors in Central Park near the East Drive, opposite the One Hundred and Sixth Street entrance, last evening noticed a man sitting on a bench apparently asleep, but one, making a closer examination, found that the man was dead, and the lips were burned with carbolic acid, a strong odor of which was noticeable.

On the body was found a card, which read as follows:

To whom it may concern: Please notify my dear son Frank, but don't notify my wife, as she is ill and cannot stand it.

HENRY F. AIRD,
237 East Fifty-eighth Street.

Two sealed letters were addressed to the wife and son, respectively, the former bearing the address, 77 West One Hundred and First Street. There was also a badge that looked like a badge of the old Volunteer Fire Department. There was, however, no trace of the bottle which had contained the poison.

An ambulance surgeon from Harlem Hospital pronounced the man dead, and the body was then taken to the Harlem Morgue.

No information could be gained at the address given on the card last evening, except that Mrs. Aird was too ill to see any one. The only Henry F. Aird whose name appears in the City Directory is given as a restaurant keeper of 881 Sixth Avenue. The place is now in other hands, but neighbors said that Mr. Aird had given it up about a year ago, failing to find it profitable.

Brooklyn Advertisements.

PIANOS

Select your piano now; we will deliver it when wanted—over 150 bargains in stock.

Uprights and Squares.

$20	Stanbrough. . .	$2	monthly until paid.
30	Harrison. . . .	3	monthly until paid.
35	Bijou.	3	monthly until paid.
35	Dan'l Beatty. .	3	monthly until paid.
40	Hardman. . .	3	monthly until paid.
65	Steinway & Son.	3	monthly until paid.
70	Kranich & Bach.	3	monthly until paid.
90	Weber. . . .	4	monthly until paid.
99	Steinway & Son.	4	monthly until paid.
110	Waters. . . .	5	monthly until paid.
135	Schumann & Son.	5	monthly until paid.
150	Chickering. . .	6	monthly until paid.
175	Weber. . . .	6	monthly until paid.

Organs.

$20	Sterling. . .	$2	monthly until paid.
30	Bridgeport. . .	2	monthly until paid.
35	Estey.	2	monthly until paid.
45	Mason & Hamlin.	3	monthly until paid.

GOETZ & CO.,

81 to 87 Court St., Brooklyn.

ONE BLOCK FROM CITY HALL.

Open Evenings Until 10 o'Clock.

MICHAEL BEAT STINSON.

Indoor Cycling Season Opens on the Madison Square Track.

The indoor cycling racing season under the auspices of the American Cycle Racing Association was opened last night in the Madison Square Garden. The track on which the races were run is with one exception the steepest that has even been used in this country, and as a consequence there were a number of spills, although none of the riders was hurt. The time made during the evening was generally good, and the racers had to ride as hard as they could to get around the steep turns. The least deviation caused an upset.

The event of the night was the fifteen-mile motor-paced match between "Jimmy" Michael and W. C. Stinson, who holds the world's record for one hour with 40 miles 330 yards to his credit. But the match race between "Tom" Cooper and Major Taylor was followed with close interest, Taylor, who is a negro, being one of the most popular men on the track to-day. Taylor beat Cooper easily in both heats, the first unpaced and the second paced by Louis Gimm. There was much interest in the amateur races, the adherents of the various cyclers keeping up matters at a fever heat by their cries of encouragement.

It would need but a look at the Garden last night to make it evident that indoor cycling at least had lost none of its popularity. Nearly every seat in the vast amphitheatre was taken, and the ring inside the track was crowded with people. After counting, "Jim" Kennedy said there were over 8,000 people in the house, one-half of this number being women, who took quite as much interest in the event as did the men.

On the first attempt by Michael and Stinson to begin their fifteen-mile motor-paced race, Michael was hit by Stinson's pacing machine, and as the rules called for the race to begin over again should an accident occur to either rider during the first mile, the contest was started anew. Michael was cut on the left arm by his fall on the track, but the midget got on his wheel in a minute. They started again in less than two minutes, and Michael was the first to get in behind his pace, which was very fast.

In the first half mile Michael had an advantage of half a lap on Stinson, who failed to catch his pace, and it was not until the second mile that Stinson caught up. Michael's pace increased in the third mile, and in the fourth he lapped Stinson. The pace was terrific, and the little fellow seemed to fly around, his fourth mile being covered in 1:41 2-5. Michael kept shouting "More pace; go quicker!" while the crowd yelled, and the race was as good as won by the little Welshman from this point.

The time for five miles was 8.51 4-5, and this tells the story of the race as to speed. Stinson was unable to keep up with his pacing machine and lost it repeatedly. Michael gained another lap in the sixth mile. The pace was not so fast in the seventh mile, which was ridden in 1:50 clip, with Michael three laps ahead. At the tenth mile mark Michael was just behind the wheel of his opponent, and in the next lap the Welshman passed the New England rider for the fourth time.

In the fourteenth mile the chain on Michael's pacing machine broke, and he went on riding for a mile alone. Then he stole Stinson's pace until another pacing machine was put on for him. This also broke down, and Michael lost a lap in consequence, but he won the race sitting up by three laps. Stinson's time was 28:33 2-5.

SUMMARY.

Half-Mile National Indoor Amateur Championship, Winners to Qualify.—First Heat—Won by W. Smith, K. C. W., New York. Time—1:17. Second Heat—Won by T. Adometz, Passaic, N. J. Time—1:09 2-5. Third Heat—Won by Joseph Blanqui, R. W., New York. Time—1:10 3-5. Fourth Heat—Won by J. H. Hunter, H. W., Newark, N. J. Time—1:11 2-5. Fifth Heat—Won by W. S. Fenn, Bristol, Conn. Time—1:05. Sixth Heat—Won by Gus Wilsing, H. W., New York. Time—1:07 3-5. Seventh Heat—Won by George Scofield, K. C. W., Richmond Hill, L. I. Time—1:06. Eighth Heat—Won by F. J. Caldwell, New Milford, Conn. Time—1:06 2-5. Ninth Heat—Won by Edwin Billington, Yalisburg, N. J. Time—1:06 1-5. Tenth Heat—Won by R. A. Brooks, I. W. New York. Time—1:04 2-5. Eleventh Heat—Won by Pete Van Cott, N. W., New York. Time—1:03 2-5. Twelfth Heat—Won by G. C. Schreiber, H. W., New York. Time—1:05.

Final Heat—Won by H. Hunter; Pete Van Cott, second; Gus Wilsing, third. Time—1:13.

Professional Mile Heat Match Race.—Best two in three, paced, unpaced, and toss, between Tom Cooper and Major Taylor—First heat won by Taylor. Time—3:06 1-5. Second heat won by Taylor. Time—2:08 4-5.

Champion Fenn One Mile Amateur Handicap, first and second in each heat to qualify—First heat won by D. W. Sullivan, Dwight School, New York, (30 yards;) second, Walter Smith, K. W. C., Brooklyn. Time—2:23 4-5. Second heat won by W. S. Fenn, (scratch;) second, Lester Wilson, Pittsburg P. A. Time—2:14 3-5. Third heat won by W. H. Coyte, (45 yards;) George Schofield, (scratch,) second. Fourth heat won by M. A. Rutter, Newark, N. J., (30 yards;) Thomas Firth, Harrison, N. J., second. Time—2:11 4-5. Fifth heat won by George Summers, New York, (105 yards;) T. Amametz, Passaic, second. Time—2:12 2-5. Sixth heat won by Charles Schiee, Newark, N. J., (15 yards;) Harry Welsing, New York, (30 yards,) second. Time—2:17 4-5. Seventh heat won by Pete Van Cott, New York, (30 yards;) George Halshauer, (75 yards,) second. Time—2:13 2-5. Eighth heat won by J. H. Hunter Newark, N. J., (15 yards;) W. Losee, Brooklyn, (30 yards,) second. Time—2:09 4-5. Ninth heat won by J. R. Pilppen, New York, (60 yards;) William Dobbins, Orange, N. J., (45 yards,) second. Time—2:14 4-5. Tenth heat won by G. C. Schreiber, New York, (15 yards;) F. J. Cadwell, New Milford, Conn., (30 yards,) second. Time—2:09 1-5. Eleventh heat won by Ralph de Palma, Brooklyn, (90 yards;) J. Hersley, Brooklyn, (90 yards,) second. Time—2:15 4-5. Twelfth heat won by J. J. McKinnen, Dorchester, Mass., (105 yards;) L. A. Lake, Ambrose Park, (30 yards,) second. Time—1:55.

Final heat won by Lester Wilson, Pittsburg, (15 yards;) D. W. Sullivan, Dwight School, (30 yards,) second; G. C. Schreiber, H. W., New York, (15 yards,) third; W. L. Losee, Brooklyo, (30 yards,) fourth. Time—2:16.

Fifteen-mile motor paced match, between Jimmy Michael and W. C. Stinson:

Miles.	Leader.	Time.
1	Michael	1:54
2	Michael	3:39 1-5
3	Michael	5:19
4	Michael	7:00 2-5
5	Michael	8:51 4-5
6	Michael	10:41
7	Michael	12:31 4-5
8	Michael	14:22 1-5
9	Michael	16:13 2-5
10	Michael	18:06 3-5
11	Michael	19:51 4-5
12	Michael	21:46 2-5
13	Michael	23:41 4-5
14	Michael	25:38 4-5
15	Michael	27:56 2-5

Brooklyn Advertisements. Brooklyn Advertisements. Brooklyn Advertisements. Brooklyn Advertisements.

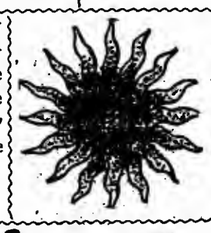
The Diamond, Jewelry & Watch House of America.

Our prices have never been equaled by any jewelry or department store in the United States. Our stock of Diamonds, Watches, Jewelry and Silverware for Holiday Gifts is the largest and most complete of the kind in the world. The prices we quote convince the public that we are correct in saying, "Reliable goods at lower prices than any jewelry or department store in the United States."

Any article now selected can be reserved for the holidays.

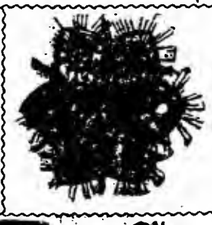
Diamonds. Diamonds. Diamonds.

Pendant or Brooch, 6½ carats of genuine Diamonds of the first quality; actual value $375.00; price $285.00.



Sunburst Pendant or Brooch, containing over 2½ carats of pure white and brilliant Diamonds, actual value $200.00; price, $87.50

Solid Gold Brooch or Pendant, set with 9 large and brilliant Diamonds, actual value $60.00; price $23.75.



Diamond Pendant or Brooch, set with 7 large white Diamonds (Oriental pearls; actual value $90.00; price, $48.75.

Genuine Diamond Ring, two perfect and white Diamonds weighing 1¾ carats, actual value $110.00; price, $57.50

Hoop Ring, set with five large and brilliant Diamonds(no chips), actual value $45.00; price, $23.50

Solitaire Ring, genuine Diamond, weighing ¾ carat, actual value $67.00; price, $31.50

Two genuine Diamonds and two Hungarian Opal Ring, value $25.00; price, $10.75

Cluster Ring, 20 large and brilliant Diamonds (no chips), turquoise centre, actual value $35.00; price, $18.75

Solitaire Ring, genuine Diamond, weighing ½ carat, actual value $40.00; price, $18.50

Hoop Ring, set with two large and brilliant Diamonds and three sapphires or rubies; actual value $20.00; price, $10.75

Cluster Ring, set with genuine Diamonds and Ruby, Turquoise or Emerald centre, actual value $12.00; price, $5.00

Men's Gypsy Ring, heavily carved and set with two large and brilliant Diamonds and Emerald or Ruby centre; actual value $25.00; price, $11.75

Solid Gold Snake Ring, head set with genuine Diamond and Ruby or Emerald, actual value $8.50; price $3.75

Genuine Diamond Ear Drops (or screw), weighing 5½ carats, actual value $750.00. $395.00.

Solid Gold Chain Bracelet, set with genuine Diamond (no chip), actual value $35.00; price, $18.00

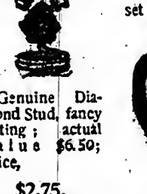
Solid Gold Brooch, genuine Diamond centre (no chip), actual value $15.00; price, $4.50

Solid Gold Locket, set with Star and Crescent of genuine Diamonds, actual value $25.00; price, $9.75

Genuine Diamond Ear Screws, Ruby, Emerald or Turquoise centre; actual value $10.00; price, $4.50

Solid Gold Locket, set with genuine Diamond in star setting; actual value $10.00; price, $4.75

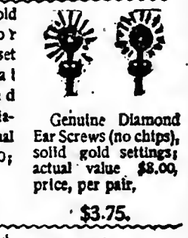
Solid Gold Link Buttons, set with genuine Diamond in star setting; actual value $5.00; price, per pair, $1.65.



Genuine Diamond Stud, fancy setting; actual value $6.50; price, $2.75.

Solid Gold Tie Clasp, set with genuine Diamond in star setting; actual value $3.50; price, $1.75.

Solid Gold Brooch or Pendant, set with real Pearls and genuine Diamond; actual value $12.00; price, $5.50.



Genuine Diamond Ear Screws (no chips), solid gold settings; actual value $8.00, price, per pair, $3.75.

SOLID GOLD JEWELRY.

Wreath Pins, set with pearls, garnets, turquoise, rubies and sapphires.....$1.45

Link Buttons, numerous designs, per pair, 95 cts.

Match Box, large size, $7.75

Set with genuine Diamond (no chip), $8.75

Cigar Cutters, plain, or fancy, $3.50. Set with genuine Diamond (no chip), $4.75.

Solid Gold Knot Scarf Pin, set with genuine Diamond (no chip).....$2.50

Knot Pin, with pearl center, $1.25.

Men's Gypsy Rings, heavily carved and set with garnets, emeralds or almandines, $3.75.

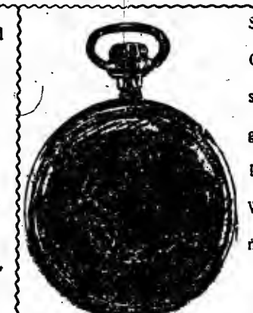
Solid Gold Signet Ring, $4.75.

Men's Initial Rings, raised Gold Initials, set with six genuine Diamonds.....$7.50
Men's Initial Rings, raised Gold Initials, $2r75.
Boy's Initial Rings, $1.75

Rings set in combinations of pearls, opals, sapphires and rubies.....$1.25
Coil Pins, with or without pearl.....$1.75
Scarf Pins, numerous designs.....85c.
Lorgnette Chains.....$5.75
Lockets (large size), plain or fancy.....$3.50
Misses' Rings, set with garnets, emeralds, sapphires.....$1.00
Chain Bracelets (large size), with lock and key.....$7.25
Thimbles (all sizes).....$1.75
Solid Gold Double Chains (for men).....$4.75
Baby Pins and Buttons, in sets of three, with chain.....$1.75
Hit Pins (numerous designs).....$1.85

WATCHES FOR WOMEN.

Solid Gold Case, set with genuine Diamond (no chip), Waltham movement, $14.75



Solid Gold Case, set with 5 genuine Diamonds, Waltham movement, $17.75

Solid 14-karat Gold Case, with 18-karat Gold Raised

SEVENTH REGIMENT GAMES.

Company E Won Point Prize for Fourth Consecutive Time.

Three armory records were broken at the thirty-eighth games of the Seventh Regiment in their armory, Sixty-sixth Street and Park Avenue, last night. In the 93-yard run, handicap, Samuel K. Thomas, Company E, won his heat from scratch in 0:09 4-5, lowering by one-fifth of a second the previous armory record of 0:10, made by R. C. Fisher, Company F, in April, 1892, and by himself in April, 1899, and in the pole vault he made a new record, 10 feet 7 inches, lowering the record of 10 feet 6 inches, made by I. K. Baxter last March, by one inch.

In the running high jump Irving K. Baxter of Company C made a new record from scratch of 5 feet 11 inches, beating his former record of 5 feet 10 inches, made in March, 1900, by 1 inch.

A fourth armory record was broken by M. W. Long of the New York Athletic Club, in an exhibition quarter-mile run, but as he is not a member of the regiment his performance cannot be accepted. Long made the quarter mile in 0:52, which is over a second better than the armory record of 0:54 4-5, made by L. Snedeker of Company F on April 11, 1896. Long was paced by Wenman of Company I, and his exhibition was one of the features of the evening's sport.

A sensational finish occurred in the half-mile run, which resulted in a dead heat between Charles R. Neidlinger of Company A and Lewis C. Cole of Company I. Cole led until the last turn, when Neidlinger passed him and seemed to have the race, but at the tape Cole plunged forward, breasted the tape, and fell headlong upon the floor, completely exhausted. The judges pronounced it a dead heat amid great applause. The heat was run off after the last regular event, and was won by Neidlinger by about two yards.

The summaries:

93-Yard Run.—First trial won by Charles R. Neidlinger, Company A; A. H. Tiemeyer, Company C, second. Time—0:10 2-5. Second trial won by Nelson R. Van Kleick, Company E; J. E. Engel, Company C, second. Time—0:10 3-5. Third trial won by David Darlington, Company H; John Barnes, Jr., Company B, second. Time—0:10 4-5. Race won by Neidlinger, Van Kleick second, Tiemeyer third. Time—0:10 2-5.

93-Yard Run, Handicap.—First trial won by H. L. La Fetra, Company C, (6½ yards;) F. C. Terry, Company B, (3 yards,) second. Time—0:10 1-5. Second trial won by Samuel K. Thomas, Company E, (scratch;) H. F. Jaeckel, Company G, (8 yards,) second. Time—0:09 4-5. Third trial won by Harry L. Stratton, Company I, (7½ yards;) F. P. Nichols, Jr., Company B, (7 yards,) second. Time—0:09 4-5. Fourth trial won by B. W. Wenman, Company I, (3 yards;) Donald Sicoli, Jr., Company A, (3 yards,) second. Time—0:10. Race won by Stratton, Wenman second, Thomas third. Time—0:09 3-5.

1,000-Yard Run, Handicap.—Won by G. B. Holbrook, Company E, (10 yards;) Charles P. Loeser, Company D, (15 yards,) second; Julian S. Saylrick, Company D, (20 yards,) third. Time—2:29.

One-Mile Bicycle Race, Handicap.—Won by F. M. Drake, Company H, (scratch;) J. H. Covell, Company F, (5 yards,) second; Carl Sandford, Jr., Company D, (scratch,) third. Time—2:38.

440-Yard Run.—Won by Charles R. Neidlinger, Company A; Charles L. McClave, Company B, second; H. P. Cornell, Company G, third. Time—1:03 1-5.

One-Lap Wheelbarrow Race, Handicap.—First trial—Won by Oscar Wuerz, Company C, 7 yards; F. P. Nichols, Jr., Company B, 6 yards, second. Time—0:38 2-5. Second trial—Won by John J. Storms, Jr., Company E, 3 yards; Charles P. Loeser, Company D, 2 yards, second. Time—0:26 1-5. Third trial—Won by T. G. Leonard, Company D, 7 yards; A. W. Taylor, Company H, 5 yards, second. Time—0:25 3-5. Race won by Storms, Wuerz second, Loeser third. Time—0:27 2-5.

220-Yard Run, Handicap.—Won by B. W. Wenman, Company I, 10 yards; M. J. Waters, Company E, 5 yards, second; F. C. Terry, Company B, 6 yards, third. Time—0:25 3-5.

One Lap Sack Race.—Won by Walter A. Hughes, Co. E; Charles P. Loeser, Co. D, second; Paul W. Doll, Co. E, third. Time—0:33 4-5.

440-Yard Run, Handicap.—Won by G. B. Holbrook, Co. E, (14 yards;) Harry P. Stratton, Co. I, (18 yards,) second; Ernest B. Merwin, Co. E, (17 yards,) third. Time—0:54 3-5.

Potato Race.—Won by M. J. Waters, Co. E; T. G. Leonard, Co. D, second; H. L. La Fetra, Co. G, third. Time—0:53 2-5.

220-Yards Hurdle Race.—Won by Walter A. Hughes, Co. E; Harry L. Stratton, Co. I, second; G. B. Holbrook, Co. E, third. Time—0:31 2-5.

220-Yard Hurdle Race, Handicap.—Won by S. K. Thomas, Company E, (scratch;) H. L. Naisawald, Company A, (12 yards,) second; Ernest R. Merwin, Company F, (6 yards,) third. Time—0:29 3-5.

One-half-Mile Run.—Dead heat between Charles R. Neidlinger, Company A, and Lewis G. Cole, Company I; Nelson R. Van Kleick, Company E, third. Second race won by Neidlinger, Cole second. Time—2:23.

Two-Mile Bicycle Race, Handicap.—Won by J. H. Covell, Company F, (scratch;) F. M. Drake, Company H, (scratch,) second; E. Gerry Douglas, Company C, (scratch,) third. Time—5:22 2-5.

Wall-Scaling Contest, Teams of Eight Men.—Won by Company K, Company F, second; Company E, third. Time—0:48; 0:49 2-5; 0:50 4-5.

Putting the 16-Pound Shot, Handicap.—Won by W. E. Schastey, Company A, 12 feet, with an actual put of 31 feet 6 inches; Frederick Gaisel, Company F, 13 feet, second, with an actual put of 29 feet 6 inches; Sam E. Lorendon, Company G, 10 feet, third, with an actual put of 32 feet 1 inch.

Running High Jump, Handicap.—Won by Paul Doll, Company E, 8 inches, with an actual jump of 5 feet 7 inches; Frederick Gaisel, Company F, 9 inches, second, with an actual jump of 5 feet 6 inches; Irving K. Baxter, scratch, third, with an actual jump of 5 feet 11 inches.

Pole Vault, Handicap.—Won by S. K. Thomas, Company E, scratch, with an actual vault of 10 feet 7 inches; I. K. Baxter, Company C, scratch, second, with an actual vault of 10 feet; Frederick Gaisel, third, with an actual vault of 8 feet 3 inches.

COMPANY	COMPETITION TROPHY.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Points.
Company F		9	2	7	58
Company A		4	1	..	23
Company I		2	4	1	22
Company F		4	1	1	18
Company D		..	3	3	12
Company C		..	2	3	9
Company H		1	1	..	8
Company K		1	..	1	5
Company B		..	1	1	4
Company F		..	..	3	3
Total		18	18	18	162

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Lively Week Closes with the Sale of 122 and 124 Fifth Avenue.

THE PRICE ABOUT $1,500,000

Latest News by Brokers—Small Properties Still Find Good Auction Market—This Week's Offerings.

The continuance of active dealing in many classes of property has served to sustain a lively interest in the realty market during the last week, and has caused representative brokers to express themselves as satisfied with present conditions and reasonably hopeful of still further improvement in the near future.

The sale of Henry Corn's building, 122 and 124 Fifth Avenue, regarding which additional particulars will be found below, is said to be purely an investment transaction. Effort is made to attach great importance to the trade—at last said to be an accomplished fact—by which J. Pierpont Morgan gives the Hotel Earlington, in West Twenty-seventh Street, in part payment for the Gill Building. As has already been pointed out, this deal probably means the investment of little or no new capital in real estate by Mr. Morgan, and much less that he is looking with any special favor upon real estate investment.

John Jacob Astor's decision to dispose of the block bounded by Avenue A, First Avenue, Fourth, and Fifth Streets, was in many ways the most interesting of the week's developments. The traditional "never-sell policy" of the Astors has suffered a number of severe shocks in recent years and has come to be regarded as more or less of a myth. New structures on Little West Twelfth and Thirteenth Streets, west of Ninth Avenue, new apartment houses on Upper Broadway and St. Nicholas Avenue and the projected improvement of two corners in Longacre Square certainly indicate that if the Astor policy ever was ultra-conservative, it has been modified until it is as progressive as that of any other large real estate interest in the city.

Many different sections figured in the week's dealings in vacant property. Isaac H. Clothier of Philadelphia, whose operations have heretofore been confined mostly to Upper Fifth Avenue, and who was among the first to take advantage of the advance in values caused by Andrew Carnegie's purchases at Fifth Avenue and Ninetieth Street, has caused something of a surprise by appearing as the buyer of two Broadway block fronts on Washington Heights, between One Hundred and Sixtieth and One Hundred and Sixty-second Streets, the sellers being Oppenheimer Brothers & Veith and Sonn Brothers. Flake & Dowling bought thirteen lots on the south side of Ninety-second Street, extending westerly from West End Avenue, while Charles Lowen has taken the corner at the Riverside Drive end of the same block. Other large transactions in unimproved property were F. J. Kilpatrick's purchase of the Morgan estate's seventeen lots on One Hundred and Seventh Street, between Amsterdam Avenue and Broadway and that of Max Danziger, involving a 200-foot frontage on One Hundred and Seventeenth Street, just west of Lenox Avenue.

Latest Sales by Brokers.

Holdridge & Ward have sold for Henry Corn, for about $1,500,000, the ten-story building 122 and 124 Fifth Avenue, with frontage at 3, 5, and 7 West Seventeenth Street and 2 and 4 West Eighteenth Street. It is said that the buyer is an investor, and that there is no element of trade in the transaction. There is a mortgage on the property of $850,000 at 4 per cent. The building is T-shaped, and covers about 15,000 square feet, or seven and a quarter lots—its frontages being 71.6 feet on Fifth Avenue, 50 feet on Seventeenth Street, and 60 feet on Eighteenth Street. This structure, which is one of the largest and most complete that Mr. Corn has ever erected, is fully tenanted by large mercantile firms, each occupying an entire loft under five and ten year leases. The annual income of the property is about $100,000. Holdridge & Ward have also sold for Mr. Corn within the last two years the twelve-story building at the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Twenty-second Street, and that a 258 and 260 Fifth Avenue, which, together with the property just sold, represent an aggregate value of $3,000,000.

Collins & Collins and Henry D. Winans & May have sold for William Hall's Sons to F. Burton Harrison the six-story dwelling 876 Fifth Avenue, 27.6 by 100. This is one of two dwellings recently erected by the sellers between Sixty-eighth and Sixty-ninth Streets and is one of the finest houses ever built in this city for sale in the open market. The price in the present transaction is reported at $315,000.

David Stewart has sold for Sonn Brothers to Isaac H. Clothier the block front on the east side of Broadway, between One Hundred and Sixty-first and One Hundred and Sixty-second Streets, 200 by 100.

Charles Lowen has bought from the Chisholm estate the plot of about five lots at the south corner of Riverside Drive and Ninety-second Street, adjoining the larger plot on Ninety-second Street, purchased a few days ago by Flake & Dowling.

Solomon Marcus has sold for Oppenheimer & Hirsh to David Rothschild the plot at the northeast corner of Madison Avenue and Eighty-ninth Street, 100 by 85.

Robert H. Spaulding has sold for a client to A. D. Palmer the six-story brick and stone-front apartment house 35 and 37 East Twenty-seventh Street, 50 by 100.

McVickar & Co. have sold for Mrs. Julia A. Low for $20,000 the four-story flat 318 Mott Avenue, 25 by 147; also, for the same seller, for about $40,000, the two five-story brick tenements, 50 and 52 Eleventh Avenue, 50 by 100.

Neiberg Brothers have sold the six-story brick tenement 21 and 23 Avenue C, 46 by 73.

A. E. & E. A. Karelsen have sold for Morris Sampter for $16,300 sixteen lots on Jerome Avenue, Arverne-by-the-Sea. Mr. Ernst will erect thereon four cottages costing $6,000 each.

The Auction Room.

The failure of the Farley estate to find buyers for its two valuable apartment houses, at Columbus Avenue and Seventy-second Street and Columbus Avenue and Seventy-seventh Street, was the only disappointing feature of the week at auction, but the outcome of an offering of such high-class holdings under the hammer is always uncertain, even under the most favorable market conditions. The smaller properties offered voluntarily, the number of which made last week's list one of unusual length, were well received, and, with few exceptions, found ready buyers. Foreclosure offerings were neither noticeably numerous nor valuable—in view of which, the fact that the total of last week's business shows an increase of nearly $1,000,000 over that of the corresponding week in 1899 is considered encouraging.

The disposition to hold over important offerings until after the holidays is already showing itself, but not to the entire exclusion of the next two weeks. Auctioneer Ryan announces for Wednesday an executors' sale which will include 812 Broadway, near Twelfth Street; 64 to 68½ Bowery, just north of Canal Street; 112 Franklin Street, and 147 West Tenth Street. Auctioneer Ryan will also sell, to-morrow, 162 Bowery, near Broome Street. On Tuesday the southwest corner of Sixth Avenue and Forty-sixth Street will be offered at voluntary sale by Harnett & Co., and on Wednesday the same auctioneers will put up 33 Bond Street, between Elm Street and the Bowery; the flats 302 and 304 West Fifty-first Street, and the dwelling 38 Riverside Drive, near Seventy-sixth Street.

There were recorded last week 331 mortgages, for $4,824,198, of which 101, for $1,542,410, were at 5 per cent.; 141, for $1,134,838, were at more, and 89, for $2,146,950, were at less. In the corresponding week last year there were recorded 372 mortgages, for $5,093,582, of which 135, for $1,525,440, were at 5 per cent.; 146, for $1,550,362, were at more, and 91, for $2,008,780, were at less.

AUCTION SALES THIS WEEK.

To Take Place at 111 Broadway, Unless Otherwise Specified.

MONDAY, DEC. 10.—By William M. Ryan, executor's sale, 162 Bowery, west side, 135.2 feet north of Broome Street, 25 by 100, three-story brick building, with store.

By William M. Ryan, foreclosure sale, C. Donohue, referee, 617 West One Hundred and Forty-second Street, north side, 245 feet west of Broadway, 15 by 99.10, three-story stone-front dwelling. On judgment, $9,227.

By William M. Ryan, foreclosure sale, Grosvenor S. Hubbard, referee, 22 Bradhurst Avenue, east side, 29.5 feet north of One Hundred and Forty-third Street, 26.5 by 83.6 by 20.3 by 80.7, five-story brick flat, with store. Due on judgment, $20,473.

By D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co., foreclosure sale, Augustus H. Vanderpoel, referee, 238 East Forty-eighth Street, south side, 219.4 feet west of Second Avenue, 18.8 by 100.5, four-story stone-front dwelling. Due on judgment, $10,827.

By D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co., foreclosure sale, Arthur D. Truax, referee, Park Avenue, formerly Railroad Avenue, east side, 25.11 feet south of One Hundred and Fiftieth Street, 77.7 by 71.8 by 74.0 by 91.2, vacant. Due on judgment, $4,214.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Rollin M. Morgan, referee, 3,310 Third Avenue, east side, 230 feet north of Boston Road, 16.5 by 84.9 by 16.9 by 89.8, one-story frame store; 997 Boston Road, west side, abutting on the foregoing, 16.9 by 50, two-story frame dwelling. Due on judgment, on 3,310 Third Avenue, $1,731; on 997 Boston Road, $3,826.

TUESDAY, DEC. 11.—By William M. Ryan, executor's sale, 626 West One Hundred and Forty-seventh Street, south side, 233 feet west of Broadway, 16.6 by 99.11, three-story brick and stone dwelling.

By William M. Ryan, foreclosure sale, George H. Hart, referee, 1,053 Park Avenue, southeast corner of Eighty-seventh Street, 19 by 102.9, five-story stone-front flat, with store. Due on judgment, $29,837.

By William M. Ryan, foreclosure sale, Gilbert M. Speir, referee, 236 West Eighty-eighth Street, south side, 420 feet west of West End Avenue, 21 by 100.8, four-story brick dwelling. Due on judgment, $8,755; subject to another mortgage for $20,000.

By Richard V. Harnett & Co., public auction sale, 513 Sixth Avenue, southwest corner of Forty-sixth Street, 20 by 80, four-story brick flat, with store.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, John Delebuatty, referee, 703 East One Hundred and Sixty-fourth Street, north side, 272.10 feet west of Washington Avenue, 20 by 100, two-story frame dwelling, together with rights in an alley, 10 by 100, adjoining on the east. Due on judgment, $2,161.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, W. Bennett, referee, 677 Dawson Street, north side, 117.7 feet east of Beach Avenue, 20 by 100, two-story frame dwelling. Due on judgment, $4,932.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, S. Kohn, referee, 104 West Seventy-eighth Street, south side, 106.3 feet west of Columbus Avenue, 23.9 by 100.1 by 26 by 100.6, four-story stone-front dwelling. Due on judgment, $32,717.

By Herbert A. Sherman, executors' sale, Sycamore Avenue, Plainfield, N. J., corner of Willow Avenue, plot 148 by 198, with dwelling; 330 and 332 Carlton Avenue, Plainfield, N. J., each 30 by 180, two two-story cottages.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 12.—By William M. Ryan, executor's sale, 812 Broadway, east side, 143.4 feet south of Twelfth Street, 25 by 116, five-story stone building, with store; 64, 64½, 66, 68, and 68½ Bowery, west side, 25 feet north of Canal Street, 14, 13.8, 16.9, 13.11, and 13.10, respectively, by 100, five three-story brick buildings, with stores; 112 Franklin Street, north side, 125.3 feet east of West Broadway, 25 by 100.6, five-story stone-front building; 147 West Tenth Street, north side 66 feet east of Waverley Place, 22 by 95 and irregular, three-story dwelling.

By William M. Ryan, foreclosure sale, Joseph McElroy, Jr., referee, 149, 151, and 153 Wooster Street, west side, 145.2 feet south of Houston Street, 74.6 by 100 by 74.7 by 100, eight-story brick building. Due on judgment, $208,821.

By Philip A. Smyth, foreclosure sale, Patrick H. Whalen, referee, 440 Washington Street, southwest corner of Desbrosses Street, 21.10 by 82.3 by 21.10 by 82.10, six-story brick building. Due on judgment, $35,269; subject to another mortgage for $15,000.

By James L. Wells, foreclosure sale, Phineas Lowinson, referee, Eagle Avenue, east side, 100 feet north of One Hundred and Sixty-first Street, 150 by 130, vacant. Due on judgment, $21,010.

By Richard V. Harnett & Co., public auction sale, 33 East Park Avenue, south side, between Elm Street and the Bowery, 25 by 119 by 25.7 by 114.2, three-story brick building, with one-story extension; 302 and 304 West Fifty-first Street, south side, 80 feet west of Eighth Avenue, each 20 by 100.5, two five-story brick flats.

By Richard V. Harnett & Co., public auction sale, 52 Oak Street, west side, 91 feet north of Oliver Street, 20 by 50.3, three-story brick building.

By Richard V. Harnett & Co., public auction sale, 38 Riverside Drive, about 25 feet south of Seventy-sixth Street, 16.9 by 94, four-story granite and limestone dwelling.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, George M. Van Hoesen, referee, 113 East One Hundred and Twenty-eighth Street, north side, 180 feet east of Fourth Avenue, 20 by 99.11, three-story stone-front dwelling. Due on judgment, $6,937.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, George C. Austin, referee, 621 Hudson Street, southwest corner of Jane Street, 19 by 55.3 and irregular; four-story brick tenement, with store. Due on judgment, $4,007; subject to another mortgage for $9,049.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Henry Thompson, referee, 785 and 797 St. Nicholas Avenue, southwest corner of One Hundred and Thirtieth Street, 51.1 by 75.10 and irregular, seven-story brick flat. Due on judgment, $125,842.

THURSDAY, DEC. 13.—By D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co., foreclosure sale, Edmund L. Mooney, referee, 226 East Ninety-seventh Street, south side, 200 feet west of Second Avenue, 25 by 100.11, four-story stonefront tenement. Due on judgment, $10,957.

By D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co., foreclosure sale, Adrian H. Larkin, referee, One Hundred and Fifty-second Street, north side, 100.11, feet west of St. Nicholas Avenue, 50 by 74.11, vacant. Due on judgment, $11,884.

By James L. Wells, foreclosure sale, Stanley H. Bevins, referee, 2,269 Bathgate Avenue, west side, 182.3 feet south of One Hundred and Eighty-third Street, 45.2 by 175, two-story frame dwelling. Due on judgment, $6,336.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Reginald H. Williams, referee, 211 East Seventeenth Street, north side, 421 feet west of Second Avenue, 16 by 92, four-story brick dwelling. Due on judgment, $8,478.

FRIDAY, DEC. 14.—By William M. Ryan, foreclosure sale, John H. Brewster, Jr., referee, 351 Broome Street, south side, 50 feet east of Mulberry Street, 25 by 123.3 by 50 by 121.6, three and five-story brick and frame buildings. Due on judgment, $5,385; subject to other mortgages for $25,000.

By D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co., foreclosure sale, Adrian H. Larkin, referee, 581 to 585 St. Ann's Avenue, west side, 190.4 feet south of Westchester Avenue, 81 by 124 by 80.8 by 83.3, three five-story brick flats. Due on judgment, $37,124; subject to prior liens for $19,096.

By James L. Wells, foreclosure sale, James B. Lockwood, referee, Evelyn Place, south side, 150 feet west of Jerome Avenue, 25 by 100, vacant. Due on judgment, $737.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, David McClure, referee, 2,077 to 2,085 Lexington Avenue and 142 and 144 East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Street, being the southeast corner of those streets, 99.11 by 60, seven-story brick flat, with stores. Due on judgment, $63,368.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, James R. Torrance, referee, 0, 11, and 13 Malden Lane, north 130.2 feet east of Broadway, runs east on Malden Lane 56.6 by north 78.5 by west 2.11 by north 9.8 by west 51.4 by south 9.9 by west 3.8 by south 77, fifteen-story building. Due on judgment, $233,000; subject to another mortgage for $600,000.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, John E. Brodsky, referee, One Hundred and Fifty-second Street, formerly Kelly Street, northwest corner of Wales Avenue, 25 by 58.6 by 49.6 by 100 by 101.5, four-story brick flat, with stores. Due on judgment, $159,169.

By Charles A. Berrian, receivers' sale, nine lots in the town of Pelham, Westchester County, situated on Pelhamdale Avenue and Manor Lane.

THE BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

List of Plans Filed for New Structures and Alterations.

Perry Avenue, east side, 250 feet south of Two Hundred and Ninth Street, for two two-story frame dwellings, each 21 by 32; Louis Eickwort of 849 Anthony Avenue, owner; W. C. Dickerson, architect; cost, $6,000.

Third Street, southwest corner of Macdougal Street, for a seven-story brick flat, with stores, 25 by 95; Leopold Kaufmann of 2,487 Second Avenue, owner; Schneider & Herter, Bible House, architects; cost, $30,000.

Nos. 27 and 29 Beach Avenue, for two three-story brick tenements, each 21 by 57; Bozza & Capodiupo of 792 East One Hundred and Forty-fifth Street, owners; U. S. Baudesson of 705 Cauldwell Avenue, architect; cost, $14,000.

Mosholu Lane, south side, 150 feet east of Mosholu Avenue, for two two-and-one-half-story frame dwellings, 38 by 18 and 68 by 16; Charlotte M. Goodridge, Riverdale, owner; J. J. Lawlor of 360 West Twenty-third Street, architect; cost, $12,000.

Timberson Place, west side, 210 feet south of One Hundred and Forty-ninth Street, for three three-story frame dwellings, 15.8 by 53 and 15.11 by 55; Antonio Gallo of 471 East One Hundred and Fiftieth Street, owner; U. S. Baudesson, architect; cost, $12,000.

Alterations.

No. 189 Hester Street, to a five-story brick tenement; John Strodel, West Hoboken, N. J., owner; Horenburger & Straub, architects; cost, $100.

No. 49 West Thirty-second Street, to a five-story brick tenement; W. R. H. Martin of 659 Broadway, owner; H. T. Hardenbergh of 10 West Twenty-third Street, architect; cost, $3,000.

No. 237 Rivington Street, to a six-story and basement brick shop and store; L. Schoffierr, premises, owner; M. Bernstein of 245 Broadway, architect; cost, $500.

No. 832 to 836 East Seventy-fifth Street, to a three-story brick bakery and storage house; George Droste, premises, owner; Charles Stegmayer, architect; cost, $2,500.

Broadway, southeast corner of Thirty-third Street, and 62 West Thirty-third Street, to two four-story brick stores and lofts; Mary E. Heusberg, owner; R. H. Taylor, architect; cost, $250.

No. 346 Broadway, to a twelve-story brick and stone office building; New York Life Insurance Company, owner; A. O. Hoddick, architect; cost, $15,000.

No. 1,358 Clinton Street, to a five-story brick tenement; Catharine E. Syms of 477 Fifth Avenue, owner; Bannister & Schell of 69 Wall Street, architects; cost, $1,500.

No. 237 East One Hundred and Twenty-third Street, to a three-story stone and frame dwelling and meeting room; Church of Harlem Marragian Lutheran, premises, owner; A. Ericson, architect; cost, $500.

Nos. 47 and 49 Broadway, to a five-story brick office building; Jones & Kromson of 47 Broadway, owners; William Strom of 39 Cordlandt Street, architect; cost, $100.

Filmore Street, east side, 176 feet north of Columbus Avenue, to a two-story frame dwelling; Charles Ringlestein, owner; Thomas Scott, architect; cost, $100.

No. 49 West Eighty-third Street, to a three-story brick dwelling; J. A. Farley of 503 Fifth Avenue, owner; Janes & Lee, architects; cost, $500.

No. 65 East Seventy-seventh Street, to a three-story and basement brick dwelling; Julia Benjamin, Garrison N. Y., owner; C. A. Dutch of 35 Nassau Street, architect; cost, $8,000.

Liens Against Builder Kight.

Two mechanics' liens, aggregating $24,997, were filed yesterday at the County Clerk's office against the apartment house property of Builder Alonzo B. Kight by Jackson & Sharp for materials and labor furnished. One of the claims, for $23,360, affects the apartment house at the southwest corner of Central Park West and Seventy-first Street, and the other, for $1,637, is against the property on the west side of Central Park West, 59 feet north of Sixty-ninth Street.

Receiver of Rents of Five Houses.

Judge Blanchard has appointed Wilmore Anway receiver of the rents of five flat houses 1,157 to 1,163 Jackson Avenue, and 870 Heme Street, Bronx, in a suit brought by George Stark against Robert E. Smith and others to foreclose a mortgage on which there is due $4,255. There are seven prior mortgages on the property, which, it is stated, aggregate, with interest, about $112,000. Mr. Smith is the maker of the mortgage, and the owners of the property now are Pauline Glassman and Rosie Schwartz.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

In the following list "mtg" stands for mortgage and "R S" for revenue stamps. The war revenue law provides that stamps shall be placed on all conveyances at the rate of 50 cents for each $500 of consideration. This "consideration" has been held to mean only the equity above the mortgage, except in the rare cases where the purchaser assumes payment of the mortgage. The amount of the mortgage plus 1,000 times the value of the revenue stamps on the conveyances should therefore show the true consideration:

Saturday, December 8.

BOWERY, w s, 223.3 ft s of Houston St, 32.10x98.2x irregular; Jacob Rosman to Samuel Bookman, ½ part, (R S $1).... Gift

KING'S BRIDGE ROAD, n s, 25 ft w of Hawthorne St, 75x100; Peter J. McCoy to Solomon Moses, (R S $7, mtg $5,000). 100

MADISON AV, s w s, 39.11 ft s of 127th St, 20x85; Ernst-Marx-Nathan Company to Caroline Ruilman, (R S $2, mtg $10,000) 100

MADISON AV, w s, 39.11 ft s of 127th St, 20x85; Caroline Ruilman to Harry Overington, (R S $2, mtg $18,000)..... 100

SETON AV, e s, 250 ft s of Randall Av, 25x100; Hanna Olmberg to John J. English 400

TINTON AV, w s, 147.10 ft n of 168th St, 184x110; Robert W. Tod to Thomas Farley, (R S $2.50, mtg $20,000)..... 1

WASHINGTON AV, w s, new line, 134.8 ft n of 163d St, 48.5x149.5x irregular; Henry Ruhl to Max Danzies, (R S $8).... 100

11TH AV, e s, 50.2 ft s of 65th St, 50.2x100; William J. Nicklas to Louis Richard, (R S $13)..... 12,750

10TH ST, 256 and 258 East, 43.4x92.3x44x92.3; Levy Minsky to Louis Gordon and others, (R S $27, mtg $48,000)..... 100

57TH ST, n s, 550 ft w of 6th Av, 25x100.5; Abraham Wolff to Clara Wolff... Gift

65TH ST, s s, 302 ft e of Amsterdam Av, 19x100.5; Samuel G. Stewart to Amy D. Cole, (R S $6, mtg $14,000)..... 1

90TH ST, n s, 64 ft w of West End Av, 24x01.10x irregular; John T. Farley to Marie T. Farley, (R S $1, mtg $27,000). 1

124TH ST, s s, 325 ft w of Columbus Av, 50x100.11; Salvatore Spallone to M. J. Sullivan, (R S $2, mtg $54,800)..... 100

126TH ST, s s, 230 ft e of 5th Av, 20x100.4; Maria Magee to Martha C. Timpson, (R S $2.50)..... 1

155TH ST, n s, 100 ft w of Washington Av, 45x100; Harry Overington to Moses Bachman, (R S $2, mtg $6,000)..... 1

160TH ST, 514 West, 25x99.11; Ernst-Marx-Nathan Company to Peter J. McCoy, (R S $7)..... 100

Recorded Leases.

BOWERY, 99; E. M. Shepard, trustee, to Samuel Goldberg, 10 5-12 years..... $2,100

4TH ST, 35 East; Maria Kramer to Wilhelm Bennekamper, 2 5-12 years..... 1,500

Recorded Mortgages.

Interest is at 5 per cent., unless otherwise specified.

DANZIS, Max, to Annie C. Ruhl; Washington Av, widened, w s, 134.3 ft n of 163d St, 4 years, 4½ per cent..... 7,000

HANOVER, Sarah, to Amelia Schellenger; 115th St, n s, 150 ft e of 5th Av, 1 year, 6 per cent..... 2,000

LIGGIO, Leonorda, to George H. Fletcher; Clinton Av, s e corner of 175th St, new lines, due Jan. 1, 1901, 6 per cent... 20,000

MARSHALL, William C., Jr., and Charles Hillebrand to Andrew A. Bibby; 151st St, n s, 200 ft w of Amsterdam Av, secures advances, &c., 6 per cent.. 15,000

McCANN, Sarah M., to the Alberene Stone Company; 24th St, 405 East, secures payment of judgment..... 638

RICHARD, Louis, and wife to Bradley & Currier Company; 11th Av, e s, 50.2 ft s of 65th St; also 11th Av, e s, 75.3 ft n of 66th St, 5 years, 4½ per cent.... 11,750

RULLMAN, Caroline, to Marcus Nathan; Madison Av, w s, 39.11 ft s of 127th St, 1 year, 6 per cent..... 2,000

SPROESSER, Charles H., and wife to Louisa Trost; 170th St, s s, 51.11 ft w of Bristow St, 3 months, 6 per cent.... 3,700

WALLACE, Robert, to Joseph Hamersley; 101st St, s s, 100 ft w of West End Av, 225x100.11, 1 month, 6 per cent..... 15,000

Assignments of Mortgages.

ASHER, Ida, to Abraham H. Feuchtwanger $2,550

BOSTWICK, George W., to Daniel J. Carroll ..... Nom.

BRUNN, Julius W., to Freda M. Brunn.. Nom.

GUTWILLIG, Alois, to Seymour S. Guggenheimer ..... Nom.

HAGEMEYER, Garetta P., individually and as administratrix, to Julius W. Brunn, all title..... Nom.

HUDSON RIVER BANK to Joanna H. Purdy ....

NOTMAN, John, and another, executors, &c., to Thomas E. Stillman and another, executors, &c 20,000

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY to St. Luke's Home and Hospital of Newburg and New Windsor..... 5,000

Mechanics' Liens.

BROOK AV, w s, 195.3 ft s of Wendover Av, 100x30; Raritan Hollow and Porous Brick Company against Therese Goldstein, owner; Frank Mezzer, owner and contractor 199

CENTRAL PARK WEST, w s, 50 ft n of 69th St, 50x100; Jackson & Sharp against Alonzo B. Kight, owner and contractor. 1,637

CENTRAL PARK WEST, s w corner of 71st St, 95x125; Jackson & Sharp against Alonzo B. Kight, owner and contractor. 23,360

COLUMBUS AV, 875; Sigmund Adler against James Cryan, owner and contractor; McCracken & Dagnall & Co., contractors 71

MORRIS AV, 647; Henry G. Silleck, Jr., against Michaelangelo Spallone and another, owners; Salvatore Spallone and another, contractors 1,310

WEBSTER AV, n e corner of 174th St, 50 x100; Charles E. Johnstone against Charles Darmstadt, owner; James O'Hare, contractor 16

8TH AV, 2,067; also 530 to 536 West 125th St; Jacob Saron against Stefano Greco, owner; Philip S. Saitta, lessee; United Realty and Construction Company, contractor 580

1197TH ST, s s, 225 ft e of Amsterdam Av, 50x100.11; Sigmund Adler against James Brown, owner and contractor..... 1,200

BUILDING LOAN CONTRACT UNDER CHAPTER 78, LAWS OF 1900.

CENTRAL PARK WEST, s w corner of 91st St, 50.8x100; Edward Hirsh and Edward Oppenheimer with Niels Hansen, 14 payments..... $55,000

Lis Pendens.

JACKSON AV, n w corner of Home St, runs n 135.6x w 42.4 to Boston Av or Road, x s w 157.9 to Home St, x s 101.6 to beginning; George Stark against Robert E. Smith and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorneys, Olin & Prentiger.

MANHATTAN AV, n w corner of 119th St, 17.7 x82; William E. Thorn, as guardian, &c., against Catharine McLean and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, A. G. McLaughlin.

SOUTH OAK DRIVE, n e s, Lot 55, map of Bronxwood Park, 75x118.11x75x121; Mary E. Gugel, guardian, &c., against Allan G. MacDonnell and another, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorneys, Dexter, Osborn & Gillespie.

7TH AV, 2,067; also 530 to 536 West 125th St; Jacob Saron against Stefano Greco, owner; Philip S. Saitta, lessee; United Realty and Construction Company, contractor; Charles Ringlestein, owner; Thomas Scott, architect; cost, $100.

No. 49 West Eighty-third Street, to a three-story brick dwelling; J. A. Farley of 503 Fifth Avenue, owner; Janes & Lee, architects; cost, $500.

No. 65 East Seventy-seventh Street, to a three-story and basement brick dwelling; Julia Benjamin, Garrison N. Y., owner; C. A. Dutch of 35 Nassau Street, architect; cost, $8,000.

Liens Against Builder Kight.

Two mechanics' liens, aggregating $24,997, were filed yesterday at the County Clerk's office against the apartment house property of Builder Alonzo B. Kight by Jackson & Sharp for materials and labor furnished. One of the claims, for $23,360, affects the apartment house at the southwest corner of Central Park West and Seventy-first Street, and the other, for $1,637, is against the property on the west side of Central Park West, 59 feet north of Sixty-ninth Street.

Receiver of Rents of Five Houses.

Judge Blanchard has appointed Wilmore Anway receiver of the rents of five flat houses 1,157 to 1,163 Jackson Avenue, and 870 Heme Street, Bronx, in a suit brought by George Stark against Robert E. Smith and others to foreclose a mortgage on which there is due $4,255. There are seven prior mortgages on the property, which, it is stated, aggregate, with interest, about $112,000. Mr. Smith is the maker of the mortgage, and the owners of the property now are Pauline Glassman and Rosie Schwartz.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

In the following list "mtg" stands for mortgage and "R S" for revenue stamps. The war revenue law provides that stamps shall be placed on all conveyances at the rate of 50 cents for each $500 of consideration. This "consideration" has been held to mean only the equity above the mortgage, except in the rare cases where the purchaser assumes payment of the mortgage. The amount of the mortgage plus 1,000 times the value of the revenue stamps on the conveyances should therefore show the true consideration:

Saturday, December 8.

BOWERY, w s, 223.3 ft s of Houston St, 32.10x98.2x irregular; Jacob Rosman to Samuel Bookman, ½ part, (R S $1).... Gift

KING'S BRIDGE ROAD, n s, 25

Real Estate at Auction.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

RICHARD V. HARNETT & CO., Auctioneers, will sell at auction, Tuesday, Dec. 11, at 12 o'clock noon, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, 111 Broadway,

SIXTH AVENUE,
S. W. Corner 46th St.,
4-story and basement brick flat, with store, 20x75; one-story extension covering balance of lot. Lot 20x80 ft.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 12.

33 BOND ST.,
3-story and basement brick building and lot, 25x114.2x119.

302 AND 304 WEST 51ST ST.,
Two 5-story and basement brick flats and lots, 20x90x100.5. Steam heat, hot water, &c. Hardwood finish.

38 RIVERSIDE DRIVE,
NEAR 76TH ST.
4-story and basement granite dwelling with limestone trimmings, and lot 18.9x83x94. Electric lighting, bells, hardwood finish, and decorated throughout; butler's pantry and two bathrooms.

52 OAK STREET.
3-story and basement brick building and lot. Size 20x40x50.3 feet.

TUESDAY, DEC. 18.

Executor's and public auction Sale,
20 EAST 12TH ST.,
5-story and basement brick flat and lot 19.9x80x102.6.
3d Avenue, east side, 75 feet south of 136TH ST., and running through to Lincoln Avenue. Plot 50x117.8?8.
3D AVENUE, N. E. CORNER 141ST ST.,
5-story and cellar brick flat, with stores, and lot 28 on Avenue 92.8½ on street.
SAMUEL KEELER, Attorney for the Estate, 4 Warren St. SACKETT & LANG, Attorneys for Executor, 99 Nassau St.
Maps at Auctioneers', 71 and 73 Liberty St.

WILLIAM M. RYAN, Auctioneer, will sell at auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, 111 Broadway, at 12 o'clock noon,
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 12TH, 1900,
SALE BY ORDER OF THE EXECUTOR OF THE ESTATE OF MAX WEIL, DECEASED.

812 BROADWAY,
NEAR WANAMAKER'S AND DIRECTLY OPPOSITE McCREERY'S, substantial 5-story cellar and sub-cellar stone building, with store; size, 25x116.

64, 64½, 66, 68 & 68½ BOWERY,
ADJOINING THE N. W. CORNER CANAL ST.,
Valuable plot, 75.2x100, with 3-story brick buildings thereon.

112 FRANKLIN ST.,
BETWEEN WEST BROADWAY & CHURCH ST.,
5-story and cellar stone-front building; size, 25x100.6.

147 WEST 10TH ST.,
NEAR 6TH AVENUE.
3-story and basement cellar high-stoop private dwelling; size, 22x65.
$66 2-3% may remain on bond and mortgage at 4%.
Maps and particulars at Auctioneer's office, 149 Broadway, N. Y.

McVICKAR & CO.,
AUCTIONEERS,
will sell at auction,
Monday, Dec. 17, 1900,
at 12 o'clock noon,
at the New York Real Estate Salesroom,
111 Broadway,
by order of the Liquidating Committee of the TRADESMENS NATIONAL BANK of the City of New York,
Wm. H. Woolverton, David H. Bates, Julius Kaufmann,
The Choice Investment Property KNOWN AS THE FLORENCE BUILDING,
N. E. Cor. 2d Ave. & 1st St.
Six-story and basement iron-front building; on lot 81x81.3½x irregular. Lodge-room furniture complete for seven rooms; carpets, etc. Court-room fittings. Well rented.
Title guaranteed by Title Guarantee & Trust Co.
Maps and further particulars at Wool Exchange Building, or the Auctioneers, 24 Nassau, 1,368 Broadway, 246 East Houston St., 111 West 125th St.

JAMES L. WELLS, Auctioneer.
TRUSTEE'S SALE, by order of Supreme Court, at 111 Broadway, N. Y. Real Estate Salesroom, TUESDAY, DEC. 18, NOON.
3 CHOICE BUSINESS LOTS
(Belonging to estate of Montagnie Ward, dec'd.)
Near 138th St. Station,
BRONX, NEW YORK CITY.
PARK AV., east side, about 778 feet north of 138th St., two lots, each 25x111.9 feet.
CANAL PLACE, (formerly Mott Haven Canal,) one lot, 25x111.9 feet, adjoining above.
Maps and particulars with GEORGE W. VAN SLYCK, Attorney for Trustee, 120 Broadway, and JAMES L. WELLS, Auctioneer, 141 Broadway.

PETER F. MEYER, Auctioneer,
will sell at auction, on
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 20TH, 1900,
at 12 o'clock, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, 111 Broadway,
SUPREME COURT, PARTITION SALE.
DAVID McCLURE, ESQ., REFEREE.
5-story brick store and apartments, with lot,
NO. 384 GRAND STREET,
between Norfolk and Suffolk Streets.
For maps, etc., apply to Henry B. Wesselman, Esq., Plaintiff's Attorney, 115 Broadway, and at the Auctioneer's, 111 Broadway.

McVICKAR & COMPANY, Auct'rs
Will sell at auction, at the Real Estate Salesroom, 111 Broadway, at 12 o'clock noon,
TUESDAY, DECEMBER 18TH, 1900.
Absolute, without reserve.
451 Lenox Avenue,
between 132d and 133d Streets.
3-story and basement high-stoop brownstone dwelling, containing 10 rooms and bath; lot, 16.8x74. Title guaranteed by Lawyers' Title Guarantee Co. Photographs and further particulars at offices of auctioneers, 24 Nassau St., 111 West 125th St., 1,368 Broadway, 246 East Houston

CHAS. A. BERRIAN, AUCT'R,
will sell at auction, on
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1900,
at 12 o'clock noon, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, by order of the Supreme Court, under the direction of Wm. J. A. McKim, Esq., Referee, BEDFORD PARK,
24TH WARD NEW YORK CITY.
DECATUR AVENUE, east side, 252.8 ft. north of Southern Boulevard, two-story attic and cellar frame house, with plot of ground 50x120 feet.
Maps and full particulars with ABEL CROOK, Plaintiff's Attorney, No. 95 Nassau Street, or Auctioneer, No. 141 Broadway.

City Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

24TH WARD.—Several tracts of desirably located acreage, for sale or exchange. OWNER, 29 Broad St., Room 1,002.

DESIRABLE LOT IN 125TH ST., 5TH AND Lenox Avs., near rapid transit. 85 West 128th St.

AT $27,000.—Four-story basement brownstone dwelling; 21st St., near 5th Av. S. B. GOODALE & SON, 6 West 24th, (Fifth Avenue Hotel.)

MANY DESIRABLE CITY AND COUNTRY residences, business property, farms; sale, lease. LA MONT & MORAN, 165 Broadway.

5TH AV., NEAR 128TH ST.; PLOT 50x110. Ready for improvement.
Firm of L. J. CARPENTER, 41 Liberty St.

BLEECKER ST. CORNER; ONE TENANT, long lease; excellent income; good order; offer wanted. E. A. TREDWELL, 41 Park Row.

ATTRACTIVE RESIDENCES IN MURRAY Hill section; prices ranging from $13,000 to $75,000. FOLSOM BROTHERS, 835 Broadway.

BUILDERS!—Plot, 25x87, Allen St., near Stanton; bargain. Address CHAS. GALENSKI, 35 Nassau St.

FOUR-STORY ENGLISH BASEMENT HOUSE in West 22d St.; only $1,000 cash; bargain. ATWATER, 156 Broadway.

DWELLING, MODERN, 128TH ST., NEAR 7TH Av.; must be sold at once. JACOB KING, 81 East 125th St.

BUILDERS—EXTRA WIDE CORNER LOT near "L" Station, with loan. SHARROTT & THOM, 3,855 Third Av.

$6,000 BUYS TWO FOUR-STORY, DOUBLE, cold water flats, near 161st St. SHARROTT & THOM, 3,855 Third Av.

8TH AV., near 116th St.—Modern three-family flat; possession of store March 1. CRANE, 187 Broadway.

BARGAIN.—Pearl, near Centre; 3,000 square feet; 4-story lofts; $30,000; easy terms. SNEDEKER, 309 Broadway.

WEST 50TH ST., NEAR 7TH AV.—50x100: 3 brownstone houses; bargain; $40,000. SNEDEKER, 309 Broadway.

7 LOTS.—25x100; East 72d St., near Avenue A; must be sold. SNEDEKER, 309 Broadway.

BARGAIN.—Easy terms; three-story single flat. GOELLER, 3d Av., and 134th St.

City Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

A full-width dwelling in the vicinity of 79TH ST. AND 5TH AVE.
Recently built, exceedingly well arranged, very roomy, has eight bathrooms. Handsomely decorated, and appointments perfect in every detail.
For full particulars and arrangements to view, address (8348)
GEO. R. READ,
1 Madison Avenue and 60 Cedar Street.

69th Street, near Madison Ave.
Full width house; large rooms.
Offering good opportunity for modernizing.
A special list of selected dwellings, for rent or sale, will be sent on application. (8339)
GEO. R. READ,
1 Madison Av., near 23d St., or No. 60 Cedar St.

64th St., N. W. Cor. Madison Ave.
Very desirable corner house, 20 feet wide, 3 rooms deep; sanitary plumbing. Newly decorated. Permits and particulars (8338)
GEO. R. READ,
1 Madison Ave., cor. 23d St., Or 60 Cedar Street.

FIFTY-SEVENTH STREET,
BETWEEN 6TH AND 7TH AVES.
A very attractive medium-priced house, in thorough order. Can be bought at a very reasonable figure. (8353)
GEO. R. READ.
1 Madison Ave., at 23d St., Or 60 Cedar Street.

$6 PER WEEK TOTAL COST.—A modal house, meeting every requirement for refined people; splendid neighborhood, in the city; with all conveniences; but above all, low in price and offered on terms which will interest you, costing to carry less than rent; these are new; eight or ten rooms; gas, electricity, running water; only 30 minutes from Manhattan business centre; they are one of the common and worthy of consideration. Write for particulars to L., P. O. Box 2,678, N. Y. City.

88th St., near Riverside Drive.
Choice 20-foot-front house, in most perfect order throughout; extension; excellent light; hardwood finish throughout. A bargain; small payment necessary.
JOHN N. GOLDING,
9 Pine St. 570 Fifth Ave.

CORNERS.—Very choice, well-located corner properties for sale at bargain prices:
Willis Av. $45,000
Amsterdam Av. 50,000
Columbus Av. 150,000
Eleventh Av. 25,000
For prime investments call on
THOMAS F. PAYNE, 96 Broadway.

A BARGAIN—Two modern five-story double apartment houses on West 137th St., near 7th Av., in complete order and fully rented; income over 10 per cent. on price asked; two blocks from subway. Firm of L. J. CARPENTER, 41 Liberty St.

49TH ST., BROADWAY & 8TH AVE.
3 stories, 20 feet wide.
Price reasonable.
ASHFORTH & CO., 1,509 Broadway.

$1,500 CASH—MADISON AV., NEAR 125TH ST.—Four-story and basement private house; 20 feet front; balance 5 per cent. mortgage; price, $21,500, worth $26,000. Apply to HARRY OVERINGTON, owner, 144th St. and 3d Av.

A 28-FOOT FRONT, FIVE-STORY, TWENTY-family apartment house, fully rented, in 100th St., near Amsterdam Av., can be bought at a bargain. Firm of L. J. CARPENTER, 41 Liberty St.

A.—PARK AV., IN THE EIGHTIES.—Three apartment houses, with 81 feet frontage, excellent condition, can be bought at nearly the land value. Firm of L. J. CARPENTER, 41 Liberty St.

A.— SINGLE FLAT,
7th Av. Drive, (Near 112th St.)
Five-stories, new, and in A1 order; rented to leased tenants; bargain, for cash only. J. C. PICKEN, 1,831 7th Av.

LARGE MODERN HOUSE, ALL IMPROVEments, on Long Island, twenty miles from city; stable, barns, and fine grounds. CARSON Z., Box 106 Times Office.

PRIVATE HOUSE, (4-STORY,) IN THE WEST Seventies; leased one tenant; price $30,000; exchange for country residence. GEORGE NINER, 20 Broad St.

PLOT OF SIX LOTS, WITH OLD BUILDINGS, on West Side, near 23d St.; desirable factory site; reasonable figure. Firm of L. J. CARPENTER, 41 Liberty St.

BARGAINS.—Bronx lots; Woodycrest Av. corner; Fordham Heights plot; three Woodlawn corners; others. GEORGE PURVIS, 156 Broadway.

$7,750.—RARE BARGAIN! EXAMINE 315 East 53d St.; choice 2-story and basement dwelling; must be sold. THOMAS P. PAYNE, 96 Broadway.

AN AVENUE CORNER, FIVE-STORY TRIPLE flat, with store, L station street, savings bank mortgage 4½%, great bargain to quick buyer. SHARROTT & THOM, No. 3,855 Third Av.

$500 CASH—4-story with store brick flat; rent, $800; price, $8,500; balance instalments; mortgage to suit. Apply HARRY OVERINGTON, owner, 144th St. and 3d Av.

NO. 130 WEST 86TH ST.—Elegant four-story 20-foot dwelling; 100-foot park restricted street; underground station; inquire on premises; asking $40,000; would rent.

BUILDERS, THE BEST LOCATED AND cheapest lot in the Bronx, ripe for building large 4-family flat. SHARROTT & THOM, No. 3,855 Third Av.

302 WEST 77TH ST., WEST END AV.—Choice, private; two baths; sell cheap or exchange; city or free country; select neighborhood. PERRY, 309 Broadway.

BROADWAY, (LONG ACRE SQUARE.)—A choice plot for sale, or will lease for term of years. J. ROMAINE BROWN & CO., 53 West 33d St.

LOTS NEAR BRONX AND PELHAM PARK, fronting Eastern Boulevard and Pelham Road. Coming speculative section. Bargains. S. CONE, owner, 115 Broadway, Room 48.

GREAT BARGAIN.—Two new double flats, Washington Av.; savings bank's mortgage, $14,000; price, $13,500 each to quick buyer RANDRUP & SIEKER, 3,608 3d Av.

BARGAIN.—Must be sold; five-story apartment house, 20 families, in the Seventies, east of 3d Av.; equity, $8,000; rents, $2,100. WOODHULL, 290 3d Av.

ADJOINING FRANKFORT, $9,000; BUILDING, including lands, $2,500 required; Hanover Square neighborhood, $19,500; $4,000 required. "ADMINISTRATORSHIPS," Times.

ATTENTION, BUILDERS! PLOTS NEAR Broadway, 14th to 46th St., with loans. THEO. ROGERS BRILL, 551 West 59th St.

CHOICE CORNER, WITH STORES; FINE avenue tenement; also good business property; reasonable. Room 3, 1,931 B'way.

B'WAY LOTS, NEAR 72D, LOAN, PLANS; B'way, cor. 144th, 11 lots, $100,000. Room 3, 1,931 B'way.

FINE FIVE-STORY DOUBLE FLAT FOR sale at a bargain; best neighborhood in Harlem; owner leaving city. J. W., 96 Spring St.

WEST SIDE TENEMENTS PAYING 10 PER cent. on investment. HILLERY, 242 West 11th St

DESIRABLE LOT IN 128TH ST., 5TH AND Lenox Av., near rapid transit. 85 West 128th St.

11-STORY, BASEMENT AND SUB.—Broadway, near Astor Place; rentals, $23,200; safe investment. SNEDEKER, 309 Broadway.

BOULEVARD, SOUTHEAST CORNER, BELOW 93d St.—116 feet Boulevard, 144 on street. SNEDEKER, 309 Broadway.

Country Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

Poultry Farm; Largest, Most Elegantly Complete Plant on Continent.

36,000 broilers one season; includes poultry food business, yielding $8,000 yearly; fine residence, improvements, furnished; 35 minutes New Haven Railroad; owner compelled to go to South America; offers everything less than value property, or exchange for good city income, with cash; extraordinary opportunity. PERRY, 309 Broadway.

PROPERTY SUITABLE FOR SANITARIUM for sale or exchange; large house, 21 rooms, all improvements; gardener's house, 6 rooms; 13 acres in lawn, garden, fruit, and grove; never-failing spring piped to house and barn; everything in first-class order; will sell on easy terms or exchange for property in any live village in Central or Western New York. Address LOCK-BOX 323, Lodi, N. Y.

$3,750, BARGAIN, COUNTRY RESIDENCE; 10 acres, 10-room house; all kinds of fruit; Northern New Jersey; ¾ mile station; very high elevation; no mosquitoes or malaria; $2,250 cash. D. E. GROFF, Montvale, N. J.

FARM, 126 ACRES, 10 TIMBER; 18-ROOM house, 2 barns; farmhouse; plenty fruit; productive soil; 1 hour from city; cost, $35,000; must sell to close estate; price, $10,000. ATWATER, 156 Broadway.

FLORIDA HOTEL OR SANITARIUM.—Desirable either business; 60 guests' rooms; furnished; modern conveniences; elevated pine forest; attractive location. J. W. ATWATER, 52 Liberty St.

GREENWICH.—Large acreage property, on the ridge, finest elevation, overlooking the Sound; choice site for large country seat. J. W. ATWATER, 55 Liberty St.

A PRETTY SIX-ROOM COTTAGE IN STATEN Island, near depot, for sale, $1,500, or rent $150 a year. OWNER, 7 Pine Street, Room 41.

FOR SALE—Cottages, hotels, farms, 6 to 160 acres; $3,000, $7,000, $18,000. WILLIAM LANE, Long Branch.

Staten Island Property.

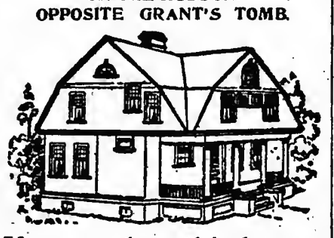
$1,000 REQUIRED, REMAINDER TEN YEARS; $2,600, $25 monthly; five-acre residential property; stable, outbuildings. "AUSTRALASIAN," Times.

Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

GRANTWOOD

ON-THE-HUDSON.
OPPOSITE GRANT'S TOMB.



You can buy this house for $40.00 per month,

If there is any finer, more accessible, more healthful homesite than Grantwood, any place promising quicker appreciation of property values, any place more liberally equipped with public improvements or better conducted in any respect, you will do well to find it. But see Grantwood before you make a bargain.

$40.00 a Month

covering principal and interest; or we will build for you in any style on similar terms. Size of plot, 50x100. House has nine rooms and bath, with butler's pantry extension; large full-width porch, finished in oak, cypress, or whitewood; polished oak staircases, nickel open plumbing, porcelain bathtub, handsome mantels, laundry tubs, furnace, &c.

Grantwood is directly on the Hudson opposite Grant's Tomb, 20 minutes via either 14th street or 42d street Ferries and Hudson Traction Co.'s R. R. and 15 minutes from 125th street Ferry and Trolley.

Write or call for photographic views and maps of picturesque Grantwood and full particulars.

Free Tickets to visit the property.

Columbia Invest. & Real Estate Co.
1,135 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Telephone 1087 Madison Sq.

Brooklyn Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

Beautiful, Artistic Homes
30 MINUTES FROM PARK ROW.

2 and 3 Story Houses	Near Prospect Park; Midwood Street, just off Flatbush Ave.; neighborhood restricted; stone houses of various colors and designs. Swell and square fronts. Box stoops.	Prices Low. Terms to Suit.

70 HOUSES TO SELECT FROM. 40 ALREADY SOLD.
These houses are modern in every particular. The rooms are arranged with a view to comfort. Foyer or saloon parlors. Hardwood trim throughout; open plumbing, large closets, tiled bathroom, dumb waiters, etc. Can be seen any day.
W. A. A. BROWN, Owner.
Brooklyn office, corner Flatbush Ave. and Midwood St. New York office, 149 B'way. Open evenings until 9. Sundays and holidays all day.
SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET.

NEW HOUSES ON BROOKLYN HEIGHTS.
The most artistic swell front, limestone, box stoops, private dwellings, four rooms deep on the parlor floor; front and rear stairs; two bathrooms; open nickel-plated plumbing and tiled side walls; solid hardwood throughout; bookcases built in and cozy seats; Dutch fireplaces and foyer halls; located on south side of Pierrepont St., between Hicks St. and Columbia Heights, what has been fitly expressed in an editoral in The Brooklyn Life recently to be the millionaires' block of Brooklyn.
This is a rare opportunity to secure a model home on The Heights, within five minutes' walk from Wall Street Ferry and Fulton Ferry and the Bridge. Must be seen to be appreciated. Inquire on the premises or at the office of Vennette F. Pelletreau, 180 Remsen St., Brooklyn, N. Y. Telephone, 900 Main. Can be bought on easy terms and will take other houses in exchange at honest valuations.

QUEENSBOROUGH IS THE MOST VALUAble from an investment point, and the cheapest in price of any of the Boroughs of New York City. We have the best and cheapest. Let us prove it to you. A single lot or one hundred acres, a five dollar bill or a half million, can be invested with us and bring the best results. Let us prove it to you. WHEELER BROTHERS, 16 Court St., Brooklyn.

FOR SALE—HOUSE—OR TO LET—MONROE St., near Marcy Av.; substantial 3-story and basement frame dwelling, 12 rooms, in good condition, all improvements; immediate possession; suitable for a good-sized family or two small, congenial families; price, $5,500; easy terms; rent, $45. Apply to JOHN R. KUHN, 26 Court St.

$750 CASH, PRICE $4,500, PAYS 16 PER CENT. clear on investment; actually worth $5,500; three-story single Philadelphia brick flat, 12 rooms, all improvements, newly decorated, halls carpeted; situated on Park Slope, block from elevated and trolley. C. N. MOODY & CO., 189 Montague St., Brooklyn.

212 CORNELIA ST.—Full 2-family 2-story and basement frame house; examine it and make offer; no reasonable offer refused. KETCHAM BROS., 1,565 Broadway, Brooklyn.

GREAT BARGAIN. Three-story and basement 12-room house, $3,500; easy terms. Brownstone house, Park Slope, $5,600. BEARDALL, 11 Willoughby St., Brooklyn.

FOR SALE—Good modern 3-story brownstone dwelling; fine condition; Park Slope; desirable location; easy terms. L. H. POTTER & BRO., 31 Flatbush Av.

STUYVESANT HEIGHTS SECTION.—Modern 2-story basement light stone; cost $8,000; this week only for $6,300. WM. H. H. PINCKNEY, 342 Sumner Av., Brooklyn.

BIG INVESTMENT—3-story brick flat; will pay for itself. JOHN PERRY & CO., 373 Fulton St.

New Jersey Property for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

LITTLE HOUSES WITH BARNS NEAR DEpot and trolley at Hackensack, N. J.; a few minutes out; one for $800, $900, $950; one fine new house, 8-rooms, large plot, with barn, $1,500; two good building lots, $150 each. WILLIAM E. TAYLOR, 123 Liberty St., N. Y.

FOR ALL NEW JERSEY BUILDING AND real estate news, for sale and exchange list, write for free sample copy to N. J. CONTRACTOR, Room 10, Builders' Exchange, Newark.

Westchester Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

BRONXVILLE, HARLEM RAILROAD, 28 minutes from 42d. Lots near station; $100 upward; city improvements; no assessments. Title insured. Easy payments. OFFENBACH, 97 East 116th St.

ALL-THE-YEAR HOMES AT FAIRVIEW, Yonkers; delightful suburban location; very accessible; high ground; modern homes; hardwood floors; electric lighting, &c.; large lots, $5,000 up; send for booklet. GORDON, 20 East 42d St.

Real Estate for Exchange.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

EIGHT-ROOM PRIVATE HOUSE AND LARGE stable, North 7th St., Brooklyn; value, $5,000; mtge., $1,800; must sell at sacrifice; will take $1,000 cash and exchange for acreage, Long Island only; also tenement paying 11 per cent., to close estate. Call or write, TREAD, 202 East 23d St.; open evenings.

THOMAS P. PAYNE, 96 BROADWAY, ESTABlished 1868, has many parcels, large and small, of the finest city and country property for sale and exchange; also, flats, tenements, apartment houses; free and clear lots and country places. It will pay to call or write for full particulars.

DESIRABLE EXCHANGES.—Beekman Hill dwelling; Orange residence; Washington Heights dwelling; Dutchess County farm; income-paying tenements; Brooklyn dwelling; exchanges negotiated. GEORGE PURVIS, 156 Broadway.

FOR EXCHANGE.—Near Ronkonkoma, L. I., 13 acres, 8 room dwelling, barn and carriage house; chicken house, etc.; buildings, new, $2,500; mortgage, $1,000; want city property. CLARENCE B. SMITH, 1,422 Fulton St., Brooklyn.

FOR EXCHANGE.—Corner store, flat property, 2-story double, two stores, flats above, $5,000; mortgage, $1,900; want farm. CLARENCE B. SMITH, 1422 Fulton St., Brooklyn.

EQUITIES IN SEVERAL PIECES GOOD INcome property in all sections of Brooklyn for lots or unincumbered private house. FORMAN & WHITLOCK, 1,258 Broadway, Brooklyn.

EXCHANGING OUR SPECIALTY; SEND PARticulars of what you have; quick results. GHAMES & LOSERE, 871 Brook Av.

FREE AND CLEAR, MANHATTAN, BROOKlyn, "vacant" for farms, income, and country residences. JOHN DONNELLY, 59 Liberty St.

SEVERAL WEST SIDE DWELLINGS FOR free and clear country or city equities. FINN, 115 Broadway.

Long Island Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

FOR SALE—ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL properties on North Shore of Long Island. 55 acres, 1,800 ft. of fine shore front; good bathing and safe anchorage. No nuisances near. Large springs of fresh water. Many fine old trees. Forty-five minutes from 34th St. Ferry. Suitable for both Summer and Winter home. Can be divided into two or more parts. Prices $2,000 to $3,000 per acre. Address F. N. WRIGHT, Manhasset, L. I.

55 ACRES, $1,400.
The biggest bargain, the greatest speculation on Long Island; 9-room house, barn, 2 orchards; land all cleared and tillable; half cash, balance mortgage. OWNER, Box A 174, Times.

Real Estate.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

NEW HOUSES IN OLD FLUSHING.
Best neighborhood; only 20 minutes to Manhattan's business centres. These are finely built, low, in price, and offered on EXCEPTIONAL TERMS. Are homes for conservative people of refinement who at a moderate monthly cost desire something out of the common run. Call or write for full particulars. Rock-Top 60 and 62 Liberty St.

IF YOU WANT A HOME WE WILL BUY A lot and build you a house anywhere satisfactory without any money down; simply $7.50 monthly per thousand, interest included, after you take possession. Address 309 Broadway, Room 904.

Real Estate Wanted.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

CORNERS WANTED.
We have buyers desirous of investing in corner property in all parts of the city at market prices. Send full particulars.
HALL J. HOW CO.,
171 BROADWAY.

ATTRACTIVE SUMMER HOME WANTED (high altitude) by invalid client in exchange for modern suburban residence; thirty minutes from city. GEORGE B. DOWLING, 189 Broadway.

OWNERS.—Personal attention and larger income obtained by placing your property in my charge. Write or call at office, THEO. ROGERS BRILL, 351 West 59th St.

ATTRACTIVE PROPERTY (CITY OR COUNtry) wanted; waiting customers; unusual selling, exchanging facilities. GEORGE B. BOWLING, 189 Broadway.

SEND FULL PARTICULARS OF 12TH WARD east side property for sale, exchange, or to rent; have buyers. KEHOE, 246 East 116th St.

WANTED—PLOT IN MURRAY HILL SECTION for improvement; immediate possession if possible. FOLSOM BROTHERS, 835 Broadway.

WANTED—Choice sound shore residence, between Greenwich and city; $150,000; have cash buyer. PERRY, 309 Broadway.

WANTED—Choice Sound shore residence, between Greenwich and city; $150,000; have cash buyer. PERRY, 309 Broadway.

To Let for Business Purposes.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

BUILDINGS, STORES, LOFTS, AND OFFICES to let on Ann, Beekman, Barclay, Bond, Chambers, City Hall Place, Church, Cliff, Dey, Duane, Elm, Perry, Frankfort, Front, Fulton, Gold, Greenwich, Hudson, John, Leonard, Madison Lane, Moore, Nassau, New Chambers, Park Place, Pearl, Reade, Rose, Spruce, South, Vesey, Water, West, White, William, and Worth Sts. RULAND & WHITING, 5 Beekman St.

A.—A.—A.— A.—A.—A.—
41 Bowery, Store, basement, cellar with baker's oven.
268 Bowery, large Store and Basement, 33x100.
164-166 E. 110th St., Stores and Rooms.
858 1st Av., Stores and Rooms.
CYRILLE CARREAU, Agent, Grand, near Bowery, under Oriental Bank.

UNION SQUARE NORTH,
ADJOINING BROADWAY.
LOFT 164 FEET DEEP.
Building has entrances on two streets.
Inquire at 81 East 17th St., or
J. EDGAR LEAYCRAFT & CO., B'way, cor. 44th.

144 PARK ROW.
THREE-STORY BUILDING, $1,500.
ASHFORTH & CO., 1,509 Broadway.

FACTORIES AND MILLS.
50 Entire Buildings, 100 Lofts, with or without power. D. W. HAYNES, 235 Broadway, N. Y.

715 7TH AVENUE.
Store and basement, $720.
ASHFORTH & CO., 1,509 Broadway.

DESK ROOM, $5 MONTHLY; ROLLER TOP furnished; open evenings until 8. (Sundays and holidays included.) 25 East 14th St., Rooms 2 and 3, between Broadway and Fifth Av.

A.—EXCEPTIONALLY FINE LIST OF Stores, Lofts, and Buildings, for February rentals. FOLSOM BROTHERS, 835 Broadway.

STORES, LOFTS, AND OFFICES
TO LET AT LOWEST RATES.
JACOB A. KING, 491 BROADWAY.

DESK ROOM, WITH OR WITHOUT DESK; good location; window for sign; good service. WOODHULL, 290 3d Av.

6TH AV., 233.—Large floor; six rooms; modern improvements; elevator; showcase; steam heat. Ring janitor's bell.

FULTON ST., 142, EAST OF BROADWAY.—Four story, rear building; fine light; rent, $1,000. A. K. MACKAY, 6 Wall St.

FACTORY, POWER, RAILROAD SWITCH, Sprinklers, cheap labor, low freights. W. LAWTON, Kingston, N. Y.

TO RENT.—Rubbing bed; also second floor loft, with power, elevator. CHELSEA MARBLE WORKS, 516 West 20th St.

40TH ST., 438 AND 440 WEST.—Large stores with plate glass fronts; two rooms; decorated; $15.

16TH ST., 423 WEST.—Large store with three rooms and plate-glass front; newly decorated; $18.

Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, 368 HICKS ST.—Large store, with dwelling rooms; will decorate to suit; $16.

HAMILTON ST., 16½.—Large store, with plate glass front and three dwelling rooms; $15; cheap

Stables to Let.

STABLE TO LET.—35 stalls; on two lots. KEHOE, 246 East 116th St.

Apartments to Let—Furnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

WEST END AV.—Apartment, six fine, light rooms and bath, to rent, furnished or unfurnished, at low figure. R. W. ROUSE, 888 West End Av.

ARTISTICALLY FURNISHED APARTMENTS of seven large, sunny rooms. Apply to RUTLAND OFFICE, Broadway and 57th St.

159 WEST 102D.—Clean, finely furnished, complete for housekeeping; six rooms and bath; hot water. WILLIAMS.

Brooklyn Apartments to Let—Unfurnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

SINGLE FLAT, SIX ROOMS AND BATH, ALL improvements, $16. Inquire 854 4th Av., near 31st St.

Apartments Wanted.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

WANTED—Furnished corner apartment about Jan. 1, by a gentleman, for his family residence; masters and 3 servants' bedrooms; highest recommendations given and required; answer giving full description and lowest rent, cash, monthly. Address E., Box 102 Times Office.

WANTED—By two adults, from January to May, completely furnished apartment for housekeeping, of eight or nine rooms, at about $150 per month; accommodation for two maids; good references given. H., 1,265 Broadway.

City Houses to Let—Unfurnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

64TH ST., 188 WEST.—Four stories and extension; two bathrooms; open plumbing; prime condition; rent, $1,500; caretaker; examine. FINN, 115 Broadway.

142D ST., 508 W.—8 rooms, bath, handsomely decorated; buffet, steam heat, hot water, gas range, stationary icebox, laundry; finest location; rent moderate.

City Houses to Let—Furnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

PARTY WILL RENT WHOLE OR PART OF completely furnished residence on Lenox Avenue corner; very desirable for physician or dentist; reasonable rent. OPPORTUNITY, 2,025 6th Av.

HANDSOMELY FURNISHED 8-STORY, BAY window, brownstone; private family only. Owner, 246 West 104th St.

Brooklyn Houses to Let—Unfurnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

HOUSES TO RENT.—Submit offers.
Milford St., 2-story and extension frame, 7 r., $18
Albany Av., 3-story and basement stone, 10 r., 35
Herkimer St., 3-story and basement frame, 11 r., 3
Bainbridge St., 3-story & basement stone, 12 r., 40
FRY & LYLE, 1,550 Fulton St.

Country Houses to Let—Unfurnished.

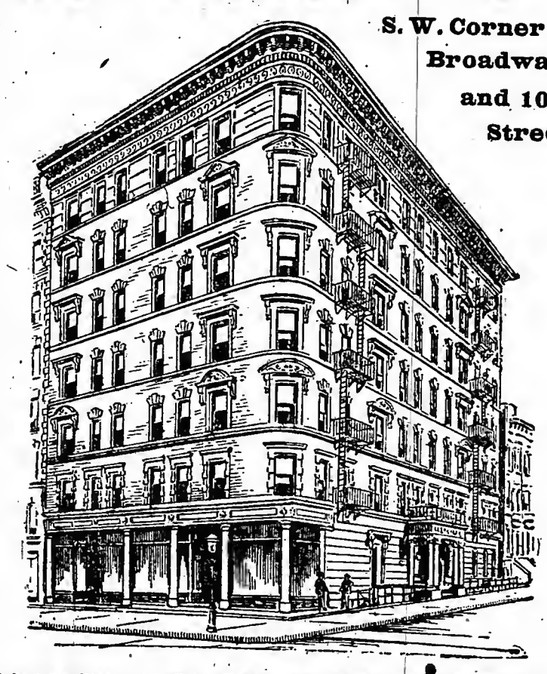
AT RUTHERFORD, nearest suburb to New York; elegant eight-room house, with all improvements, to rent at $20 per month. A. W. VAN WINKLE, 1 and 2 Station Square, Rutherford, N. J.

Apartments to Let—Unfurnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

The BROADWAY

S. W. Corner Broadway and 101st Street.



Select families, with first-class references, are respectfully invited to inspect the above premises.

SUITES OF SEVEN ROOMS AND BATH
with all the latest improvements; electric light, telephone; elevator all night. Rent $800 per annum. Renting office on premises.

Apartments To Let Irvington & Rockland
136 TO 142 WEST 16TH ST.
Seven rooms and bath; steam heated and hall service; rents, $55 and $60 per month.

St. John, Wavecrest and Cedarhurst,
35 TO 41 EAST 50TH ST.
Seven and eight rooms and bath; steam heated and hall service; rents, $60 per month.

The Berwick,
315 TO 319 WEST 58TH ST.
Seven rooms and bath; steam heated; rents from $45 to $50 per month.

269 West 136th St.
Gas ranges; seven rooms and bath; rents, $44 per month.

267 West 139th St.
Seven rooms and bath; steam heated; rents, $47.50 and $50.

272 West 139th St.
Corner apartments; all large, light, airy rooms; handsomely decorated, steam heated; 6 and 7 rooms and bath; rents, $42.50.

Janitor on Premises.

HAPPINESS
Is the sum total of human existence. It is the condition for which we are all striving, and the one which we find most difficult to attain. To be happy one must possess congenial surroundings.
It is only a short walk from innumerable car lines to the truly commodious, light, airy, beautifully decorated 5, 6, and 7 rooms and bath apartments in the Kiamesha, Placid and Saranac,
At Nos. 22-24 Lenox Avenue and No 57 West 111th Street, one block from Central Park. Steam heat, electric light, elevators, hall boy service, all at a moderate rental.
The bugbear of human existence has been vanquished at last.

FAIRFAX,
Madison Av., S. W. Cor. 94th St.
Fire-proof, seven-story Apartment House; choicest location on Carnegie Hill; highest altitude; seven and eight rooms and bath;
very attractive entrance;
reception room off main hall;
expensive decorations; parquet floors throughout; separate laundry and drying room in basement;
telephone each apartment;
all-night elevator service.
Can be seen evenings.
ERNEST TRIBELHORN, Agent,
cor. 91st St. and Madison Av. Telephone 1,602 79th.

A.— Broadway,
Corner, six rooms and bath, steam heat; $30.
150 West 64th St.,
Seven rooms and bath, steam heat, hot water; $38.
206 West 20th St.,
Single 7 rooms and bath; Janitor, 3d floor; $24.
206 8th Av., (20th St.,)
Rooms, comfortable, single; Janitor; $30.
Single seven rooms and bath; Janitor; $28.
227 West 59th St.,
P. S. TREACY, 1,929 Broadway, (65th St.)

BACHELOR AP'TS.
112 West 44th St.
2 large light rooms and bath.
ASHFORTH & CO., 1,509 Broadway.

43D ST., 225 WEST, near BROADWAY—Elegant single apartment, eight rooms and bath; modern improvements; steam heat; good light; very neat; rent, $45-$70

Instruction.

20c. per line $4.50 per line for 30 times.

WINTER TERM

THE WINTER TERM OF THE

Clavier Company Piano School.

BEGINS THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1901.

ENROLMENT AND EXAMINATION DAY JANUARY 2.

EVENING CLASSES IF DESIRED.

THE ONLY WAY PUPILS CAN GET THE FULL BENEFITS OF THE SUPERIOR ADVANTAGES AND LOW TUITION RATES WHICH THIS SCHOOL OFFERS IN TECHNICAL AND MUSICAL TRAINING IS TO ENROLL AT THE PROPER TIME AND ENTER CLASSES AT THE BEGINNING OF A TERM. FURTHER INFORMATION GIVEN ON APPLICATION IN PERSON OR BY LETTER.

THE CLAVIER COMPANY SCHOOL,

26 WEST 15TH ST., NEW YORK.

ORATORICAL DEPARTMENT

OF THE

LAWRENCE SCHOOL,

(Established 1869.)

106 West 42d St., New York.

EDWIN GORDON LAWRENCE, Director

The speaking voice thoroughly trained and developed, expressive gesticulation taught, and general oratorical instruction for MINISTERS, LAWYERS, and all PUBLIC SPEAKERS. Send for circular.

CAPABLE and EFFICIENT stenographers win the admiration of their employers by knowing how to handle all details of a responsible position; by our practical method of instruction we can teach you how to win the admiration of your employer and an

INCREASED SALARY.

Three days' trial FREE. Write for descriptive pamphlet to

MANHATTAN REPORTING CO.

PATRICK J. SWEENEY, Proprietor,

150 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

LEGAL TRAINING—COUNSEL. A skillful, practical lawyer, (Columbia LL.B.,) successful instructor, trains students privately in any branch of law, (for bar or non-professional use;) also gives advice in management of property and affairs, (particularly for avoidance of litigation;) time and place suiting client's convenience. Dealings with best New York people; unquestionable references. Single hour, $1; ten hours, $15. RESPONSIBLE. Box 108 Times Office.

NEW YORK COLLEGE OF MUSIC, 128-130 E. 58th St., ALEXANDER LAMBERT, Director.—Private instruction in piano, singing, violin, cello, organ, and all branches of music to beginners and advanced students. Terms from $15 upward per quarter, including free of charge harmony counterpoint, sight singing, lectures, and concerts. Students received daily.

SEILTMANN'S PRIVATE SCHOOL STENOGRAPHY, TYPEWRITING AND BOOKKEEPING.

624 Madison Av., corner 59th St.

Private instruction only.

COLLEGE PREPARATION; REGENTS' EXAMINATIONS; private lessons, Sec.; languages, classics, mathematics. Prof. CHASE, 137 West 44th St.

PRACTICAL FRENCH LESSONS BY HIGHLY educated French lady. Academy graduate (Sorbonne literature); Parisian, $1.00; class of five, $3.00. MADAME F., 44 West 17th St.

MISS LE BARON DRUMM'S BOARDING AND Day School for Girls; college preparation; boys in kindergarten and primary classes; reopened Oct. 4th. 40 West 72d St.

HEIDEMANN'S INSTITUTE OF LANGUAGES, 146 West 14th.—Latin, German, English classes of two; ten lessons, $4; Spanish, French; rapid, thorough instruction. Careful translations.

ELOCUTION, PUBLIC SPEAKING, RECITing; rapid, thorough training. Write for booklet, GRENVILLE KLEISER, 28 West 23d St.

HILL'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND and typewriting; thorough and practical individual instruction. Address 513 Temple Court.

STENOGRAPHY.—Individual instruction, 25 cents lesson; complete course; three months, 453 West 57th St. MRS. E. M. RUGGLES.

METHOD TEACHING FRENCH—SAMPLE 42c (half price.) Prof. BERGER, 106 East 23d St. French lessons; trial.

NO. 53 WEST 45TH STREET.

MISS EVERDELL'S CLASSES FOR GIRLS.

Musical.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

The National Conservatory of Music of America Founded by Mrs. Jeannette M. Thurber, 128 E. 17th St., N.Y.

ARTISTIC FACULTY—Rafael Joseffy, Adele Margulies, Leopold Lichtenberg, Augustus Vinnesi, Leo Schulz, Henry T. Finck, Max Spicker, and others.

Semi-Annual Entrance Examinations.

VIOLIN, VIOLA, 'CELLO, CONTRABASS, HARP AND ALL OTHER ORCHESTRAL INSTRUMENTS—Dec. 20, (Wednesday,) 10 A. M. to 12 M.; 2 to 4 P. M.

SINGING—Dec. 27, (Thursday,) 10 A. M. to 12 M.; 2 to 3 P. M.; 8 to 10 P. M.

PIANO AND ORGAN—Dec. 28, (Friday,) 10 A. M. to 12 M.; 2 to 4 P. M.

M. L. PINKHAM

MUSICAL BUREAU,

87-88 Decker Bldg., 33 Union Sq., New York.

Management of Eminent Artists Season of 1900-1901.

Send for Lists, Dates, and Prices.

THE SOIREE MUSICALE GIVEN BY HANS Dreher, the violinist and pianist, with his pupils, at his studio, 370 West 118th St., Dec. 4th, 1900, was an interesting affair. There was much promising talent among his pupils, and Mr. Dreher showed that he is not only an artist of great ability, but also a very successful teacher.

CARLTON CONSERVATORY, 128 WEST 23D St. Violin, piano, singing, mandolin, banjo, guitar; lessons 50c., 75c., $1.00; beginners and advanced; instruments furnished; piano practice hour, 10c.

VICTOR SORLIN, VIOLONCELLIST, CAN BE engaged for concerts, recitals, musicales, receptions, &c. A limited number of pupils received. Studio 162 West 44th St.

MRS. EDWIN DUSTIN RUGGLES, ACCOMpanist for concerts and musicales. Apply to MME. CAROLINE, 2 West 31st St.

VIOLIN PLAYING ARTISTICALLY TAUGHT pupil's residence or J. CHADOVITZ, Dumont Av., corner Osborn St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

GRIFFITH E. GRIFFITH, TEACHER OF singing, director, and baritone soloist; studios, 120 West 97th St., 132 East 23d St.

GENUINE FRANCESCO RUGGERI $750 VIOlin; strings, bows, and cases. HANS TIETGEN, 32 Union Square.

PIANO.—Experienced teacher, graduate Berlin Conservatory, desires pupils; best references. Address Miss A., 1,260 3d Av.

SOMETHING NEW—PIANO TAUGHT WITHout notes in 3 months; accompaniments specialty. PROMONTORY, 150 West 14th St.

ANDREW BYRNE, MUSICAL DIRECTOR.—Violin and piano instruction; coaching for opera, oratorio, and concerts. 141 West 23d St.

MISS EDITH ROBERTS, VIOLINIST, PUPIL of Shradieck. Address Box 1, 132 E. 23d St., for concerts and musicales.

MRS. CAROLIN'S MUSICAL BUREAU, ARtists for social functions, 2 West 33d St.

RESPIRATORIUM—Best thing for singers. Call and interview. 132 East 23d St.

FRANZ X. ARENS, 305 FIFTH AV., COACHing for opera, concert, and oratorio.

REMINGTON SQUIRE, MANAGER FOR LEADing musical artists, 127 East 24th St.

Dancing.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

T. GEORGE DODWORTH,

NOS. 12 AND 14 EAST 58TH STREET.

Classes and private lessons.

SEASON NOW OPEN.

GEORGE W. WALLACE,

Leslie Rooms, 230 West 83d Street;

Ellerslie Rooms, 50-52 West 126th St.

Class and private tuition. Send for circular.

MACDONALD'S KNICKERBOCKER SCHOOL for Dancing, 44 East 14th St., Near Broadway. —Private and class lessons daily; send for circular; receptions every Wednesday and Saturday.

PROF. D. C. LESTER—Dancing and polite department Colonial Hall, 104 E. 23d and Columbus Av. Offices-hours, 2 to 10 P. M.

PROF. PAUL'S SCHOOL FOR DANCING, 111 East 125th St., open afternoons and evenings; terms, $1 monthly.

STAGE DANCING.—NEW ACTS; LADIES' AND children's fancy dances; classes open. DARK, 1,474 Broadway, 42d St.

BRADY'S 1,409 Amsterdam Av. 125-127 West 125th St. WALTZ

Clothing.

HIGHEST PRICES PAID FOR LADIES', GENtlemen's, and children's fine discarded clothing, jewelry, furs, bric-a-brac, furniture, carpets. MR. or MRS. NAFTAL, 744 6th Av.

MADAME BLUM.—ABSOLUTELY HIGHEST prices for ladies' cast-off evening and street costumes; also furs. 750 6th Av.

Billiards.

BILLIARD, POOL, COMBINATION TABLES, supplies; prices low; honest goods. LAHR, manufacturer, 61 4th Av.

Business Opportunities.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

50 PER CENT. DIVIDEND.

Manufacturing stock, new electric lamp, most perfect ever invented; economical, 98 per cent. efficiency; interchangeable for use on all current wires; of universal use; will have enormous sales and profits; in manufacture for unlimited demand; factory now fitting up in city; light on exhibition; capital, $1,000,000. Will sell limited number of $50 shares at ground-floor price, $10 each. Fullest investigation solicited. Call on or address THOMAS P. PAYNE, 96 Broadway.

ADDITIONAL CAPITAL SUPPLIED.

Stock Companies Organized.
Business Sold Privately.
Stocks and Bonds Placed.
Meritorious Inventions Financed.
DANIELS & COMPANY,
Bankers, 6 Wall St.

PATENTS Secured and sold all over the WORLD

If you have an invention send for our HINTS TO INVENTORS.

This book may help you to make MONEY.

CLARK, DEEMER & CO.,

235 BROADWAY, N. Y.

WOULD LIKE TO MEET A GENTLEMAN WHO CAN INVEST $25,000 IN A LEGITIMATE BUSINESS ENTERPRISE WHICH WILL YIELD A NET PROFIT OF AT LEAST $50,000 PER YEAR. THE BUSINESS WILL BEAR THE STRICTEST INVESTIGATION; NO SCHEMERS OR AGENTS NEED ANSWER. K., BOX 117 TIMES.

HIGH-CLASS, WELL RATED, EVERY CITY, town, hamlet; ornamental, attractive money maker; tells time 15 parts world; Calendar, Thermometer, Barometer, 100 tunes; Mammoth Automatic Clocks, 14 feet high, 8 feet wide, 240 moving picture advertisements 24x36 inches, $780 per month income to agents. AUTOMATIC PICTORIAL CLOCK CO., 88 Wall St.

LADY PARTNER, SILENT, $700, TO INcrease good established, profitable business; half interest given; no services required; money secured; no possible risk; closest investigation invited by those meaning business; references. LEGITIMATE, 377, 1,269 Broadway.

FOR SALE—Established coal business, fully equipped, trestle, stables, building to handle hay, grain, and feed; easy terms. For particulars apply to E. C. QUACKENBUSH, Newark Av. and 7th St., Jersey City.

UNUSUAL CHANCE; INVEST $1,000; CORporation; with or without services; experience not necessary; act as manager; legitimate growing business. Call and see for yourself, 2,534 Atlantic Av., Brooklyn.

WHOLESALE MERCANTILE BUSINESS WITH Government; best clubs and institutions; wants good office man with $5,000 to $10,000; investor control capital. CONSERVATIVE, Z Box 103 Times Office.

FOR SALE.—Hotel San Carlos, in Durango, Mexico; lease and furniture on American house; large, first-class; going and paying. For particulars, call or write M. MACDONALD, 20 Broad St., Room 1,001.

FOR SALE—Billiard parlor paying $5,000 or more yearly; good location; steady business; 14 tables; small expenses; asked, $3,000. LAMONT & MORAN, 165 Broadway.

$5,000 FOR QUARTER WORKING INTEREST; sure, growing business; necessity; good salary, with management, if capable. Particulars E. D. CHILDS, 371 Fulton St., Brooklyn.

ACETYLENE GAS GENERATORS, LANCASter's latest supersedes everything for lighting houses, factories, villages. LANCASTER, 95 Liberty St.

FOR SALE.—Several large tracts of land suitable for colonization in Mexico and in the United States. M. MACDONALD, 20 Broad St., Room 1,001.

DESK ROOM, OR PART OF LARGE REAL estate office to let; telephone service. REID, 1,673 Lexington Av.

WANTED—Restaurant or paying cigar stand or share for one. Write VANZANDT, 150 Nassau St., Room 638.

IF SECURED, WILL LOAN ANY PART OF $100,000, and wanted suitable invention. 80 Stockholm Street, Brooklyn.

PARTNER.—Young man; $300; office, manufacturing business; guaranteed $50 weekly profits. Room 4, 25 East 14th St.

I PAY 25% MORE FOR ALL KINDS OF MERchandise; city or country; business strictly confidential. I. ALDERMAN, 917 East 52d St.

THREE EXCELLENT INVESTMENTS FOR capital; particulars on application to principals only. MURRY, 309 Broadway, Room 101.

WE CAN SELL YOUR BUSINESS QUICKLY, privately; no charge unless successful. Call MANHATTAN REGISTRY, 245 Broadway.

ATTENTION.—Insurance agents can make big money selling my policies; largest commissions paid. KING, 81 East 125th St.

GROCERY AND FEED BUSINESS FOR SALE; 21 miles out; clean stock; good trade. LAWRENCE, Norwood, N. J.

SACRIFICE.—Established millinery; refined trade; big profits; retiring from business; no reasonable offer refused. 1,374 Lexington Av.

PARTNER WANTED WITH $600; STOCK brokerage business. Call, between 10 and 12, TALISMAN, 6 Wall St.

FOR SALE—Three automatic engines, 40 to 100 H. P. FOGARTY & CO., 84 Sedgwick St., Brooklyn.

BOARDING HOUSE; GOOD LOCALITY; house full of steady boarders; sacrifice. 161 East 122d St.

CALA.—Oil lands for sale, and dividend paying oil stock, M. MACDONALD, 20 Broad St., Room 1,001.

STATIONERY, CIGAR, CANDY STORE; GOOD business; only store in block. 62 East 115th St.

For Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

Eye Glasses Free

THIS WEEK our opticians will examine your eyes and sell you a pair of our $2.50 gold spring eye glasses for $1, and give you a gold plated eyeglass chain with a safety hook, also leather case, "absolutely free," for $3.50 cuttle for $1. Spectacles at the same price. KEENE'S OPTICAL CO., 140 Fulton St., New York, (near Nassau St.) Hours 8 to 6.

TYPEWRITERS.—Remingtons, Smith Premiers, and all standard makes rented, kept in repair; stencils and ribbons free. Sold 25% to 75% less than manufacturer's prices. No relics of past ages carried in stock. Every machine sold kept in repair for one year free. F. S. WEBSTER CO., 317 Broadway. Telephone, 1,338 Franklin.

THE LATEST.—Indestructible Records, 50c each; Talking Machines and Supplies, cut rates; Graphophone Grand, $40.00; A. T., $15.00; Eagle, $4.00; Concert Grand Records, 75c; Good Toy Machines, $1.00; Edison or Columbia Records, $2.50 doz. J. McILLYNNE, 202 B'way, Room 4.

A.—ON WEEKLY PAYMENTS.—Fine diamonds, watches; no trash; delivered on first payment; lowest prices; business confidential. Call or address WATCH SUPPLY CO., 3 Maiden Lane, Room 52. All goods guaranteed.

WATCHES AND DIAMONDS ON SMALL weekly or monthly payments; lowest prices; goods guaranteed; holiday goods a specialty. NATIONAL DIAMOND AND WATCH CO., 177 Broadway.

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, SILVER NOVELTIES, oil paintings; weekly payments; lowest prices; goods selected now will be reserved until the holidays. MANHATTAN DIAMOND CO., 37 Maiden Lane.

FOR SALE.—At half price; two exquisite miniatures by best French artist; small, $25; large, $50. Address letters, A., Advertising Bureau, 29 East 9th St.

TYPEWRITER, (NEW,) $40; REMODELED (remington, Smiths, $35; rentals reduced; repairing, (telephone.) CONSOLIDATED TYPEWRITER EXCHANGE, No. 241 Broadway.

EDISON GRAND CONCERT PHONOGRAPH cheap; must sell. NEWBERGER'S TICKET AGENCY, 237 Broadway, corner Park Place, N. Y.

AT 344 6TH AV. AND 172 WEST 23D ST.—Foot Knitting Co.; stocking refooted; underwear repaired.

WALTHAM WATCHES, DIAMONDS, JEWELry, $1 weekly; article delivered on first payment. EXCHANGE WATCH CO., 187 Broadway.

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, JEWELRY; WEEKly payments; reasonable prices; all goods guaranteed. JAMES BERGMAN, 37 Maiden Lane.

ANTIQUE CLAWFOOT SOFAS, TABLES, Bureaus, Chairs, China Closets, Brass, real old. DI SALVO, 225 East 42d St.

SAFES.—Fire and burglar proof safes; lowest prices and best goods. GROSS & SONS, 332 Canal St.

TYPEWRITERS RENTED, BOUGHT, SOLD; expert repairing. R. & G. TYPEWRITER CO., 202 Broadway. Telephone, 939 Cortlandt.

PHONOGRAPHS, GRAPHOPHONES BOUGHT, exchanged, sold, cash or $1 week; gramophone plates $2.50 dozen. 148 East 58th St.

TYPEWRITERS RENTED, SOLD; LOWEST prices; ribbons, stands free; expert repairing. DURANT McLEAN & CO., 205 Broadway.

TYPEWRITERS SOLD AT $2.00 A MONTH; rented 75c. a week. GAY, 121 West 125th St.

3 FOX TERRIER PUPS 6 WEEKS OLD; $10 each. Advertisement office, 140 Columbus Av.

Good Will and Interest for Sale.

Quick Buyer of stores, stocks, clothing, shoes, dry goods, &c., city, country. WEISZ, 11 Lispenard St. Tel. 2837 Franklin.

SPOT CASH PAID

For stores and stocks of merchandise of every description; city or country. F. JACOBS, 384 Grand St.

Horses, Carriages, &c.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

A GENTLEMAN WILL SACRIFICE FOR $150 his HANDSOME HACKNEY BRED COB; he is absolutely fearless of everything; has superb style and extra HIGH KNEE action; very attractive in appearance in fact, a PRIZE for any one wanting a perfect saddle and harness horse combined, as he has been ridden and driven constantly by owner's wife; also at less than QUARTER VALUE, ELEGANT, NEARLY NEW STIVERS RUNABOUT, (rubber tires,) CUTUNDER SURREY, (seats four,) BICYCLE RUNABOUT, BREWSTER BROUGHAM, (rubber tires,) VICTORIA, (RUBBER TIRES,) Ladies' Basket Phaeton, with Rumble; Covert Cart, light and heavy single and double Harness, IMPORTED ladies' and gents' riding Saddle and Bridle, FUR and CLOTH ROBES, BLANKETS. OWNER'S PRIVATE STABLE, 65 Madison Av., near 27th St.

RUNABOUT WAGONS

with pneumatic and cushion tires; steel tubular and solid gears; wire and wood wheels; highest grade of materials and workmanship at half price. We are manufacturers and building for the trade, and desire to close out a few on hand. It will pay you to buy now and store till Spring, as you will then pay double our price. Everything guaranteed the best. Call and examine. Dealers invited. DAMON & PEETS, 44 Beekman St.

The only reliable invention for preventing accidents from RUNAWAYS is the "DETACHER." Thoroughly tested at MADISON SQUARE GARDEN and AMERICAN HORSE EXCHANGE. On exhibition, 13-15 West 28th St. THE STEERABLE SHAFT DETACHER CO.

J. B. BREWSTER & CO.,
OLD GUARD BUILDING, BROADWAY AND 49TH ST.

AN UNEQUALED ASSORTMENT OF HIGH-CLASS CARRIAGES IN EVERY STYLE. BARGAINS IN SECOND-HAND VEHICLES.

PHYSICIAN'S BUGGY, FIRST-CLASS MAKE, cost $395 last April; is almost new; will sell for low price; also first-class coupe Rockaway; has rubber tires; light and stylish. 45 West 44th St.

GREGORY'S BOARDING AND LIVERY STABle. Care of road and saddle horses a specialty; coaches, coupes, victorias, at all hours. 207, 209 West 120th St.

HORSE, TOP WAGON, AND HARNESS FOR sale; suitable for any business. Call 493 Monroe St., Brooklyn.

Auction Sales.

BOOKS AT AUCTION.

The entire stock of 2,000 standard books contained in store at 148 FULTON STREET, near Broadway, will be sold at public sale, beginning at 12 o'clock every day, except Sunday, 0 o'clock evenings, and continuing every day next week until the entire stock is disposed of. Among other choice works are samples and remainders of the publications of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Appleton & Company, Harper & Brothers, Dodd, Mead & Co., and other leading book houses. Balzac, Hugo, Browning, Irving, Shakespeare," and many standards in choice editions. Encyclopaedia Britannica, Dictionaries, and Teachers' Bibles. Huxley, Darwin, Tyndall, and Spencer; a few slightly damaged sets. Books now open for examination. Visitors invited. Sale positive and without reserve.

A. SANDERS, Auctioneer.
148 FULTON ST., NEW YORK.

HERBERT GREY, AUCTIONEER, SELLS AT 1 and 7 P. M., Japanese art and paintings. 79 East 125th St.

Purchase and Exchange.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

COMPLETE FURNISHINGS, HOUSES, APARTments, restaurants, pianos, merchandise, every description; cash. BRINK, 3d Av., 117th St. Telephone 132 Harlem.

A.—CONTENTS HOUSES, FLATS, PIANOS, Mirrors, Bronzes, Antiques, Carpets bought, spot cash. MURRAY, 155 East 125th St. Telephone 1299 Harlem.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY, SELL, OR EXchange your house, lots, farms quickly, write or call personally. S. BIBER & CO., 204 East 19th St.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE, CONTENTS OF houses and flats, pianos, carpets, &c. J. L., 118 University Place.

BEST PRICES PAID FOR OLD CLOTHING. Address SAMUEL SOLOMON, 70 Division St.

Dentistry.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH OF CONTINUOUS GUM Highly Improved.—These teeth represent the highest art in dentistry. They restore form and expression to the face. The gums and roof of mouth, without seam or crevice, (all one piece, porcelain or platinum,) are a perfect reproduction of nature, even in color. Dr. DEANE, Dentist, 454 Lexington Av., cor. 45th St., received highest award Columbian Exposition.

Storage.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

AT MORGAN & BROTHER'S STORAGE WAREHOUSE, 232, 234, & 236 WEST 47TH ST., near Broadway, separate rooms for furniture, pianos, baggage, &c. PADDED VANS FOR REMOVAL OF FURNITURE, &c. Boxing, shipping promptly attended to; estimates furnished. Telephone, 113-38th.

THE NEW CENTURY VAN CO., OFFICE, 69 Columbus Av., Branch 203 10th Av.—Furniture removed with utmost care; stored, boxed, and shipped; city or country; estimates furnished. Telephone, 451 Columbus; best trade solicited; prompt attention given. J. T. BLAIR.

UNIVERSAL STORAGE WAREHOUSE COMPany, 202-208 East 33th St., near 3d Av.—Storage of furniture, pianos, &c.; separate compartments; estimates given for packing, shipping, moving, city or country. Telephone, 28-79th.

Dogs and Birds.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

ATTENTION! WOODSIDE BOARDING KENnels, Woodside, Long Island; 15 minutes from 34th St. Ferry; house breaking and conditioning; satisfaction guaranteed; unlimited exercising grounds; references. For sale, brindle and white Boston terrier four months old; guaranteed over distemper; screw tail and bat ears; something that Boston terrier fanciers are trying hard to get; this pup is up to date; at stud, champion cocker spaniels, also French bulldogs.

ROTHSCHILD'S EUREKA VERMIFUGE, A sure cure for worms for dogs and cats. Price reasonable. For sale at all druggists', or ROTHSCHILD, No 1,555 3d Av.

JAPANESE SPANIELS, ORANGE AND white, black and white; choice collection. BURKHART, Elite Kennels, 1,301 Broadway, Brooklyn.

RICHARDS'S FINE CANARY SONG BIRDS, home raised. 221 East 121st St. Bargains for buyers. Open evenings.

ALL CHOICE BREEDS OF DOGS FOR SALE; Foster dog remedies: FOSTER, 491 7th Av., near 37th St.

DR. STEPHEN MULVEY.—Forty years' experience. Doctor and surgeon. 1770 Broadway.

Millinery and Dressmaking.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

A.—A.—A.—A.—COMPETENT DESIGNER OF ladies' gowns wishes customers; all the latest styles; perfect fit; samples; reference; at home or out by day; at home preferred. Francis, 152 West 85th St.

DRESSCUTTING, LADIES' TAILORING, MILlinery, thoroughly taught; $5 starts you; perfect fitting Paris patterns. McDOWELL SCHOOL, 310-318 6th Av. Evening school Monday, Wednesday, Friday.

LATEST MODELS FROM PARIS.—Moderate prices and high class custom solicited. MISS DIERKES, 233 West 49th St.

SARAH MARKS, 1,133 B'WAY, SHOPPING agent; purchasing done in every line; no charge; special attention holiday goods.

S. SMITH, LADIES' TAILOR AND FURRIER. —Suits from mine or your materials; best workmanship; fit guaranteed. 144 East 58th St.

MARY JUSTUS, 148 EAST 123D., FASHIONable dressmaker and ladies' tailor. Latest styles. Perfect fit guaranteed. Cheapest prices.

51ST ST., 302 WEST.—HIGH-CLASS CUSTOMers solicited; prices moderate; fashionable gowns and robes a specialty. MISS BOWEN.

HAVE JUST STARTED MY DRESSMAKING business and solicit best of trade. MISS J. BOWEN, 302 West 51st St.

DRESSMAKER.—By dressmaker; will work out for $1.25 per day. Address Miss Louise, 254 5th Av.

SEAMSTRESS, ETC.—By competent seamstress, or will assist with other work. 404 West 47th St.

MADAM WHEELER, MODISTE.—Latest Parisian styles. 128 West 63d St.

Lawyers.

DIVORCE $50 entire expense. Lawyer GEO. ROBINSON, 99 Nassau St.

Miscellaneous.

RESPIRATORIUM—Take inhalations for hoarseness. Call and interview. 132 East 23d St.

Europe.

NAPLES, (Italy.)

PARKER'S HOTEL.

English sanitation. Electric light. Lift. Inclusive terms.

Automobiles.

FOR SALE.—STEAM WAGON, "MOBILE;" FINE condition; many valuable improvements. Call or address Room 859, Carnegie Studio Building, corner 7th Av. and 57th St.

Boarders Wanted.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

14TH ST., 343 WEST.—Well-furnished, sunny front room; also hall room; conveniences; good table; moderate.

17TH ST., 116 EAST.—Exceptionally clean house, comfortably furnished single rooms; first-class table; table board; references.

24TH ST., 262½ WEST.—French table board; nicely furnished rooms, with or without board.

29TH ST., 13 EAST, NEAR 5TH AV.—Sunny large rooms; also adjoining hall room; exceptional table; references.

30TH ST., 10 EAST, NEAR 5TH AV.—Handsomely furnished parlor floor, suitable for physician or family; also, second floor; private table; reference.

35 WEST 32D ST.—New French grill room; breakfast, business men's lunch, 30c.; dinner de Luxe, 50c.

46TH ST., 222 WEST.—Second and third floor suites, private baths; excellent table; single rooms; reasonable; references.

50TH ST., 63 WEST.—With board; handsome back parlor suite and extension, with bath; superior accommodations.

52D ST., 231 WEST, NEAR BROADWAY.—Back parlor and single room; good table; moderate prices; Americans.

62D ST., 155 EAST, NEAR LEXINGTON AV.—Private family has nice large and small rooms; superior table.

72D ST., 168 EAST.—Attractively furnished rooms, bath connecting; homelike surroundings; house and appointments first class; references.

82D ST., 171 EAST.—Comfortable furnished room with board; private Jewish family; home comforts; reasonable terms.

84TH ST., 53 WEST.—Handsome newly furnished second-story front room; large dressing room connected; hot and cold water; parlor dining room; excellent table; reference.

94TH ST., 73 WEST.—Large and small handsome connecting rooms, private bath, in select house; reference required.

95TH ST., 65 WEST.—Beautiful large, light second floor; private house; steam heat; excellent board; private table if desired.

96TH ST., 63 WEST.—Handsome second floor, parlor dining room; excellent table and attendance; select house; references.

121ST ST., 129 EAST.—Large and small furnished rooms; excellent board; refined private family.

126TH ST., 182 WEST.—Second story, front, with board, for two; excellent table; every convenience.

127TH ST., 55 WEST.—Large front room, with board; references.

128TH ST., 66 WEST.—One or more gentlemen can find good home in private family.

134TH ST., 83 WEST.—Large, well-furnished room in private family; with or without board. LEE.

136TH ST., 143 WEST.—Large front room, second floor, private house, suitable for 3 gentlemen; references.

A LADY HAVING TWO NICELY FURnished rooms in a modern apartment house (second floor) would like to take two or three parties to board; good table and homelike conveniences. E. F. F., 1,269 Broadway.

ATTRACTIVE SUITE, WITH PRIVATE BATH, with or without board; single rooms; all desirable locations; highest references given. LELAND BOARD DIRECTORY, 2 West 33d St.

LEXINGTON AV., 822, Corner 53d St.—Nicely furnished rooms; good board; moderate.

THE HOMESTEAD, FANWOOD, N. J.—One hour from City Hall, Jersey Central Railroad; five minutes' walk from station; delightful location for Winter; piazzas, (inclosed with glass in Winter,) 125 feet long; steam heat, electric lights; Netherwood water.

SUNDAY DINNER.

TILLY HAYNES, proprietor BROADWAY CENTRAL HOTEL, is introducing a system of SUNDAY and HOLIDAY DINNERS, the same as has proved such a success at the UNITED STATES HOTEL IN BOSTON for the past twenty years and has made this hotel famous. Dinner from 5:30 to 8 o'clock. Price, 75 cents.

Brooklyn.

EVERGREEN AV., 548.—Excellent board and all home comforts in private house; convenient to all cars.

GRAHAM AV., 368 BROOKLYN.—Widow would like child to board; mother's care given. Mrs. Maguire.

GREENE AV., 39.—First-class board for one or two young people in private German family; $5.

Furnished Rooms.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

1.—ELEGANT FRONT AND BACK PARLORS, newly furnished; also other rooms; running water, bath; every convenience; board if desired; references. STOLTZ, 180 East 72d St.

2D AV., 234, BETWEEN 14TH AND 15TH STS. —Handsomely furnished rooms; private family; running water.

7TH AV., 214, BETWEEN 22D AND 23D.—Small parlor with one or two bedrooms; two flights; sunny; bath; very cheap; seen to-day or evening. Noyes.

9TH ST., 39 WEST.—Handsome large rooms, second floor; every convenience; house very select; references.

11TH ST., 121 WEST.—Steam-heated large room, hallrooms, furnished; conveniences; private family; gentleman; references.

13TH ST., 131 WEST.—Square, also hall room; refined gentlemen; improvements; heated; running water; choice neighborhood; reference.

22D ST., 406 WEST.—Elegantly furnished parlor; also large square room; southern exposure; all accommodations; heated house.

22D ST., 141 WEST.—Back parlor, hot and cold water; also double room.

23D ST., 315 WEST.—Large and small handsomely furnished rooms; excellent board; steam-heated house; reasonable.

23D ST., 227 WEST.—Nicely furnished large and small rooms.

26TH ST., 54 WEST.—Large, newly decorated rooms, with board, for family; rooms, with or without board. French cooking; table board; piano. RISS & LAFRENTZ.

33D ST., 321 WEST.—Large and small rooms; house well heated; would serve breakfast; gentlemen preferred.

35 WEST 32D ST.—New French grill room; breakfast, business men's lunch, 30c; dinner de Luxe, 50c.

39TH ST., 243 WEST.—Neatly furnished rooms; large, small, sunny; running water, bath; price moderate; private.

48 WEST 128TH ST.—Large front room; closets; running water; all conveniences; also hall room; moderate; private family.

48TH ST., 154 EAST.—Suite of 2 or 3 rooms; nicely furnished; private bath; all conveniences.

55TH ST., 252 WEST.—Handsome back parlor; very pleasant, large rooms on other floors, furnished; board optional.

55TH ST., 314 WEST.—Parties desiring well-furnished rooms in nice house, convenient location, will be pleased; terms reasonable.

57TH ST., 324 WEST.—Handsomely furnished bedroom, sitting room adjoining; private family; gentlemen only; references.

61ST ST., 102 WEST.—Second floor front parlor and bedroom, newly furnished; reasonable; references exchanged. Gearhart.

63D ST., 147 WEST.—Elegantly furnished rooms to let; breakfast optional.

64TH ST., 116 WEST.—Exceptionally handsome furnished large room; first-class private house; fine neighborhood; reference.

65TH ST., 160 WEST.—Large and small furnished rooms in private house; board optional.

67TH ST., 140 WEST.—Nicely furnished room, bath; all conveniences; running water; references required. Schmidt.

68TH ST., 70 WEST.—Newly, handsomely furnished large and small rooms; breakfast if desired; physician's office.

71ST ST., 263 WEST.—A sunny front room, with conveniences; private family.

76TH ST., 117 EAST.—Furnished rooms; use of telephone; trained nurse preferred. Miss Lang.

78TH ST., 154 EAST.—Furnished room for gentleman; private family; reference required.

82D ST., 124 WEST.—Gentleman can secure handsomely furnished room with private family; select neighborhood; satisfactory references required.

82D ST., 64 WEST.—Handsomely furnished rooms in modern private house; gentlemen only.

83D ST., 124 WEST.—Comfortably furnished rooms in clean flat; references. Keller, (ring Rivington's bell) fourth floor.

83D ST., 46 WEST.—In a private house; two desirable rooms; bath for each and modern conveniences.

83D ST., 64 WEST.—Large room, with conveniences; private family.

84TH ST., 66 WEST.—Beautiful heated rooms, singly or en suite; bachelors preferred; modern conveniences; reasonable.

88TH ST., 175 WEST.—Nicely furnished suite of rooms, second floor; private house; every convenience; breakfast optional.

93D ST., 134 WEST.—Nicely furnished large and small rooms; all conveniences; references.

96TH ST., 174 WEST.—Large, light, steam-heated, sunny rooms; all improvements. Healy's bell, 2 flights, south.

98TH ST., 174 WEST.—Large front room, suitable for two persons; references. TRACY.

99TH ST., 145 EAST, LEXINGTON AV.—Neat front room and bedrooms; conveniences; private. Darling.

97TH ST., 67 WEST.—Large, sunny room, suitable for one or two gentlemen; references; moderate.

98TH ST., 200 WEST.—Large, heated room, neatly furnished; gentlemen only; breakfast if desired; reference. Clark.

100TH ST., 200 WEST.—Large, light, pleasant room; one or two persons; private family; reference. Price.

103D ST., 144 WEST.—Cozy suite of rooms; steam; running water; convenient location; small private family; reasonable. Lupher.

114TH ST., 301 WEST.—Cozy front parlor; all improvements; near Morningside Park; private family; reasonable. BROWER.

115TH ST., 118 EAST.—Furnished rooms to let; handsomely furnished; with or without board; southerly exposure.

116TH ST., 356 EAST.—Handsomely furnished front rooms; private house; all conveniences; gentlemen or light housekeeping; moderate.

117TH ST., 21 EAST.—Pleasant light room; corner apartment; bath; use kitchen if desired.

120TH ST., 303 WEST.—Heated side room; bath; in small private family; single man; privileges. ROSE.

122 WEST 132D ST.—Choice rooms, single and suite; private house; gentlemen preferred; also back parlor.

123D ST., 347 WEST.—Newly furnished single, double rooms; heated; running water; private house; elegant location.

A LENOX AVENUE CORNER PARLOR TO rent to physician or dentist; none in the neighborhood; very reasonable; will rent whole house furnished, if desired. OWNER, 2,025 5th Av.

CENTRAL PARK WEST, 383.—Nicely furnished large room; electric light, &c.; meals optional; terms moderate. WELLS,

IRVING PLACE, 14.—Heated front rooms; tiled baths; absolute cleanliness; next block Academy Music; corner building.

LENOX AV., 273, (123d St.)—Beautiful rooms; gentlemen only; references. Call before 8:30 P. M.

MANHATTAN AV., 17.—One or two rooms; water, heat, bath; convenient; board optional. Dorner.

MANHATTAN AV., 109, ONE BLOCK FROM 104th "L."—Cheerful, sunny rooms in private house; gentlemen; reasonable.

THE JULIEN, 15 W. 20TH. First-class rooms. Board optional. Luncheon 12 to 3. Table d'hote, 5 to 8. Transients. Telephone 3008—18th.

TWO BEAUTIFULLY FURNISHED ROOMS, private home, corner house, upper West End Av.; an ideal place for exacting person; new in all oppointments; every convenience. LUXURIOUS, Times Up-town Office, 1,269 Broadway.

Brooklyn.

393 QUINCY ST.—Sunny, square room, second floor; hot and cold water; every convenience; also sunny hallroom; terms moderate.

DIVISION AV., 77, BROOKLYN.—Sunny square room, second floor;

Horner's Furniture.

THE useful and the beautiful are in nothing more strikingly combined than in Furniture—that is, in Horner's Furniture. A fact of special import to all contemplating the purchase of

HOLIDAY GIFTS.

Greater choice here than elsewhere, and best value at every price in Writing Desks.	Lounges.

Dressing Tables.	Work Tables.
Toilet Tables.	Easy Chairs.
Cheval Glasses.	Gilt Chairs.
Parlor Cabinets.	Inlaid Chairs.
Music Cabinets.	Rockers.
Curio Cabinets.	Shaving Stands.
Bookcases.	Pedestals.
Leather Screens.	Jardinieres.

Everything in Vernis-Martin Furniture.

High-Class Art Ware.

French Timepieces.

The Elliott Chime Clocks.

All in all, a veritable Exposition of everything that is new and meritorious in Furniture, with its accessories as above specified, at specially attractive prices.

R. J. HORNER & CO.,
Furniture Makers and Importers,
61, 63, 65 West 23d Street
(Adjoining Eden Musee.)

S. Koch & Sons

West 23d Street.

Clearing Sale
HIGH-CLASS Trimmed Hats

$8.50 Each.

Heretofore
$12.50 to $20.00

These Hats are selected from our stock and comprise about 150 handsome winter models.

In addition to the great reduction at which they are offered, the variety of shapes and trimmings affords a wide range of choice.

S. KOCH & SONS,
West 23d Street.

Le Boutillier Brothers

Invite attention to large and carefully selected assortments of articles suitable for

HOLIDAY PRESENTS

in Laces, Handkerchiefs, China, Glass and Sterling Silver Articles, Silk and Flannel Waists, Silk Petticoats, Dress Patterns, Rugs, Furs, Men's Furnishings, Leather Goods, Umbrellas, Stationery, &c., &c., all new goods at

VERY ATTRACTIVE PRICES.

Le Boutillier Brothers

West Twenty-third Street.

SIMPSON, CRAWFORD & SIMPSON

A SALE OF SWORDS.

Relics of the great war of the Rebellion, now, after a lapse of three decades, ready for conversion to decorative uses—Dens, Cosey Corners, Smoking Rooms, etc.

These Swords Are in Good Preservation and Their Prices Absurdly Low.

500 Elegantly Finished Officers' Swords, blades 32 inches long, made from finely tempered steel, solid brass hilt and guard, gold wired grip, black enamelled leather scabbard, brass ornamentations, each $1.25

500 Steel Cavalry Sabres, 42 inches long, with steel and brass hilts and guards, steel scabbards, each . . . $1.00

Nineteenth St. 6th Ave. Twentieth St.

Vantine's

ORIENTALISTS & JEWELLERS,
BROADWAY & 18TH ST.

Send for the new booklet "Objects of Art and Utility from the Far Away East." Free.
Goods purchased now, reserved and delivered later if desired.

Gifts from Oriental Lands.

Japanese Screens	Kimonos	Oriental Jewelry
Superb Embroideries	Teakwood Furniture	Divan Cushions
Porcelains	Rare Ivories	Vantine Scarfs
Bronzes	Rugs and Carpets	Silk Shawls
Lacquer Ware	Solid Silverware	Linen Drawnwork

Second Floor.

Silk Dress Patterns

Printed Habutai Dress Patterns—colors and black, $5.00 to $12.50

Second Floor.

Turkish Satin Cushions,

Heavily Embroidered in Gold, Pure down filled. $3.00

Third Floor.

Oriental Rugs

Exceptionally Beautiful Specimens of Shirvan Weaves. $12.50 & $15

Values $15 and $20.

Recent importations make the Vantine Oriental Rug collection remarkable in completeness and variety.

Fourth Floor.

Japanese Screens

Four fold, 5 ft. cloth screens at $7.50
floss and gold embroidery

Hundreds of others—$4.50 up to $200.

Stern Brothers

will offer to-morrow a number of

Ladies' Costumes
For Street and Carriage Wear

Entirely new styles in a variety of materials and colors, at $39.50 & ~~$49.50~~

Formerly from $50.00 to $82.00

Ladies' Cloak Dep'ts

In addition to further reductions of prices on the remainder of their

Imported Garments

will place on sale

Tailored Coats of Kerseys, Cheviots and Oxfords, Silk lined $9.85

English Box Coats, Tan and Black Kerseys, Coverts and Oxfords, Silk lined $16.25

Velour Jackets & Blouses Fancy and Plain Silk Linings $24.75

Fur Departments

Special Values in Ladies' Neck Scarfs

Alaska Sable with tails	$9.85	Mink with tails	$18.50
Pointed Brown Fox with animal heads	$14.75	Black Lynx with tails	$19.85
Blue Lynx with animal heads	$18.50	Blue Lynx with tails	$21.00

Ladies' Muffs

Alaska Sable or Persian	$7.50	Black Lynx	$13.50
Mink	$9.75	Blue Lynx	$15.00
Cloth Capes	Lined with White and Grey Squirrel, Fur Collar and Edging		$18.50

Misses' & Girls' Apparel

Misses' Box Coats & Jackets English Kerseys and Oxfords, 14 to 18 yrs., Heretofore $11.50 to $16.50 $9.75

Girls' Three-quarter Coats English Kerseys or Cheviots, satin lined, 4 to 14 yrs., Value $13.50 $9.85

Girls' Long Cloaks, Empire and Russian Effects, of blue, red or brown cheviots, stitched velvet bands and collars, 4 to 14 yrs., Value $11.50 to $15.75 $8.90

Misses' Tailor-made Cloth Suits Blouse, Eton & Reefer Effects, 14 & 16 yrs., Heretofore $16.75 to $19.75 $10.90

Men's Smoking Jackets,
House Coats and Lounging Robes.

Smoking Jackets, of Tricot Cloth, quilted satin facings, Value $6.50 $4.95 of Velveteen, satin binding and cord edge Value $11.50 $8.90

Tuxedo House Coats of English Reversible Cloths. Value $7.50 & $9.75 $4.95, $7.95

Blanket Robes of California Jacquard Blankets, Value $7.50 $4.95

of fine Polka dot blankets, sailor collar, Watteau back, bound with satin, Value $13.50 $9.75

All-wool Dress Goods

Put up in Lengths for Holiday Gifts.

Plain Colors, Fancy Mixtures and Novelty Effects, Per Dress Length $2.35, 2.75, 3.15

Black Fabrics, Plain & Fancy Weaves, Per Dress Length $2.75, 3.10, 3.50

3500 Yds. Broadcloths in colors and Black Venetian Cloths, Value $1.10 68c yd.

Suggestions for Holiday Presents.

Bric-a-Brac & Art Objects.

Curio, Parlor and Music Cabinets, Desks, Tea Tables, Pedestals in Wood. Onyx, Marble and Terra Cotta, Electric Light Bronzes, Limoges, Enamels, Dutch Silver, Sevres and Vienna Vases, German and Japanese Ivories, Clock Sets and French Regulators.

Rich Cut Glass	Water Pitchers	$4.75
	Vases	$1.45, 1.95, 2.95
	Nappies	$1.75, 1.95, 2.75
	Decanters	$2.95, 3.95, 5.95
	Bowls	$3.25, 3.95, 4.95
	Cream & Sugar Sets	$3.95, 4.75
Ceramic Art Vases	10 in. Value $4.95	$3.95
	13 " " $8.50	$5.95
	18 " " $10.95	$8.50

Sterling Silver.

Toilet Sets in new and artistic designs, Bon Bon Dishes, Flasks, Vases, Trays, Novelties in Smokers' Requisites.

Special Values.

Scissors, Assorted Blades	75c	Vinaigrettes	95c
Cloth Brushes	$2.25	Ink Wells	$1.95
Military "	$2.25	Hair Receivers	$2.00
Hand Mirrors	$4.95	Cigar Jars	$2.25
Hat Brushes	95c, $1.25	Cologne Bottles	$1.95
Whisk Brooms	$1.60	Puff Boxes	$2.25, 2.75
Hair Brushes	$2.00, 2.95	Cream Boxes	25c, 35, 75

West Twenty-third Street.

John Daniell Sons & Sons
DRY GOODS HOUSE.

Over forty years ago this house was founded. Its location has never been changed; from small beginning it has reached its present proportions. Its founder is still

AN ACTIVE OLD MAN,

assisted by sons and grandsons. Our patrons of earlier times have many of them passed away, but their posterity, their children and children's children, continue their patronage to this day, knowing they can rely on getting their full value in return for their money. Tricks of trade or misrepresentation has no abiding place here, but

HONESTY AND FAIR DEALING

is the paramount principle. For many years this house has been known as one of the

GREAT HOLIDAY HOUSES OF THE TOWN.

This year its ancient reputation will suffer no abatement, but will be found more attractive than ever before.

ALL SUMMER LONG

buyers have been active in carefully selecting the very choicest novelties of American and European manufacture for this season's special

CHRISTMAS OFFERING.

More than half a million dollars are invested in useful and ornamental merchandise, at prices within the scope of a poor man's pocket, as well as those who desire more pretentious gifts.

The following departments are replete with every novelty of modern invention suitable for

MAN, WOMAN OR CHILD:

Finest Gold Jewelry of Every Description.

Diamonds and other precious stones set in Rings, Brooches, Watches, Cuff Links, Lockets, Scarf Pins, Hat Pins, etc. Gold Lorgnettes, Gold Watch Chains, Gold Thimbles, Opera Glasses, Gold Spectacles, and Eye Glasses.

Hundred of beautiful Gold Brooches from $1.75 to $175.00 each
Fine Gold Rings from . . . . . 50c to $15.00 each
Solid Gold Scarf Pins from . . . . . 50c to $75.00 each
Gold Watches from . . . . . $10.00 to $75.00 each
Silver Watches from . . . . . $2.50 to $15.00 each
Gold Cuff Links from . . . . . $1.50 to $45.00 pair
Fans from . . . . . 25c to $25.00 each

French Shell and Rhinestone Combs and Hair Ornaments.

Gold and Silver Match Safes, Cigarette Holders and Cigar Cutters; Pipes, Cigar Cases, Cigar Boxes, Smoking Sets, Dressing Cases.

Leather Goods, Pocketbooks and Card Cases, beautifully mounted, from . . 75c to $10.00 each.

Jewel Boxes, Work Boxes, etc.

Everything in sterling silver articles for the Dining Table.

All sorts of Table Toilet Requisites in sterling silver.

Whatever is needed for the Desk in Sterling Silver.

Magnificent variety of Bric-a-Brac, Cut Glass and Fine China Articles, Lamps and Clocks.

Umbrellas, with exquisite handles, from $1.00 to $15.00 each.
Dolls for every little girl from . . . . 25c to $10.00 each.

Very large dept. of fine Stationery articles in endless variety.

Finest perfumery in lovely boxes for dainty gifts.

Smoking Jackets and House Coats. Silver Mounted Suspenders, Dress Shirts, Neckwear, Travelling Rugs, Underwear and Hosiery; Silk Hdkfs. and Mufflers, Lace and Linen Hdkfs. etc.

A Million Calendars from . . . . . 3c to $3.00 each.
Thousands of Christmas Cards . . . . . 1c to 50c each.

Broadway. 8 and 9 Sts.

Great Oriental Rug Sale

On Monday, Dec. 10th, we begin the sale of an exceptional consignment of fine old ANTIQUE IRANS, DAGHESTANS, SHIRAZ, KAZAKS, SHIRVANS, and ANATOLIANS, in fine, rich and rare colorings, illuminated with a brilliant sheen.

We have arranged them into two lots at the uniform price of $18.50 and $24.50 each.

In addition, a large collection of

Hall and Stair Strips, single and in pairs to match, (ranging from 3 ft. wide to 20 ft in length).

Also a few very choice ole pieces at proportionately low prices.

This sale, coming at this particular time, furnishes a grand opportunity for holiday purchasers.

SHEPPARD KNAPP & CO.,

SIXTH AVE., 13TH AND 14TH STS.

POLICE ARE EXONERATED

President York Holds Them Guiltless of Clubbing Negroes.

West Side Race Riot Charges Not Proved, He Says—Lawyer Moss Will Call a Mass Meeting In Protest.

Bernard J. York, President of the Board of Police Commissioners, who conducted the investigation made by the Police Board into the charges made against policemen in connection with the negro troubles on the west side last August, made public yesterday a report on his investigation. The report fails to fix the blame for the clubbings on any policeman. It goes into details in several cases, and states in substance that the police did no more than their duty during the days of the race riots. The report was made at the instance of Mayor Van Wyck, who sent a communication to Commissioner York recently intimating that it was high time that a report on his investigation was forthcoming.

Lawyer Frank Moss, counsel for the citizens' Protective League, who represented the negroes who claimed to have been clubbed, said that the report was unfair, and he could not let the matter rest until the negroes were vindicated. He announced that a mass meeting would be held in Cooper Union to arouse public feeling.

Mr. York, in his report, says he can entertain no charge of assault against any of the patrolmen who were in the station house at the time it was alleged prisoners were clubbed there by the policemen.

Acting Capt. Cooney, continues the report, swears positively that no assault was committed in his presence or to his knowledge, and he would have seen it had it occurred. He is corroborated in this by a number of witnesses. An officer who would commit an assault on a prisoner in a station house or permit such an assault is a coward, and unfit to wear the uniform of the force.

The committee has had submitted reports of the means taken for the protection of the public during the existence of the disorder in the district, and while it is apparent that the officers on duty used their clubs in their efforts to restore order, there is nothing in the evidence which will justify the preferment of charges against any officer for the use of his club, as in the specific cases where the officer has been identified by a complaint the evidence taken is of such a contradictory character and the bias of the complainant is so apparent that the facts of clubbing would not on a trial of the charges be so proved as to justify a conviction.

Mr. York sums up the whole investigation as follows: "It may be that some innocent people, both colored and white, were injured during the progress of the trouble, but it should be borne in mind that a portion of the district in which the trouble occurred is thickly populated with a mixed class; that it calls for, at all times, extra vigilance on the part of the police. That it is the duty of the police to preserve the peace, and in unusual and extreme conditions they are required to act vigorously, and in so doing much must be left to the good judgment of the officer in immediate command at the place of disturbance."

New Immigrant Station Ready.

Commissioner of Immigration Thomas Fitchie inspected the new station on Ellis Island yesterday. On his return to the Barge Office he said the buildings were ready for occupancy, and notified the steamship companies that on Sunday next immigrants would not be taken off incoming steamships, owing to the fact that the removal from the present quarters on the Battery to the new station would occur on that date.

SUPT. SOPER DISMISSED.

Refused to Obey Orders of the Aqueduct Commissioners.

The Aqueduct Commissioners announced yesterday the dismissal of John R. Soper, Superintendent of Dam Construction. On Oct. 29 last Superintendent Soper was ordered, according to the records of the Aqueduct Commissioners, to take charge of another part of inspection work than the masonry work to which he had been assigned. Chief Engineer Hill reported that Superintendent Soper refused to comply with the order.

Then Superintendent Soper was ordered to report to Division Engineer Charles S. Garvin for duty. This Superintendent Soper refused to do and left his work. The Aqueduct Commissioners were notified of this fact, and Superintendent Soper was directed to appear before the board on Dec. 4. He did not appear, and resolutions dismissing him from the service were passed.

CHILD MURDERESS CAPTURED.

Alice O'Donnell Expresses Little Concern—Believed to be Insane.

Alice O'Donnell, the nurse who killed the eighteen-months' old child of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones at the parents' home, 127 Palmetto Street, Brooklyn, Friday night, was arrested at 4 o'clock yesterday morning by Detectives Price, Becker, and French of the Brooklyn Central Office. The woman was found at 26 North Portland Avenue. The home is that of Mrs. McSorley, a friend.

The nurse took her arrest coolly, and when asked why she had taken the child's life, replied that she was jealous of Mrs. Jones because of her happiness with her husband and offspring. The woman has a child eight months old, which is now in an orphan asylum in Manhattan. She is believed to be insane.

When arraigned in the Lee Avenue Police Court the nurse expressed little concern as to her act. She admitted the crime, and was committed pending the Coroner's inquest.

Police Captain Gaus of the Hamburg Avenue Station yesterday went to Bayonne, N. J., and conversed with a brother of the woman. Detective Miller accompanied the Captain. Upon their return they expressed the belief, based upon what they had learned, that there was no doubt that Alice O'Donnell is demented.

SHOT WIFE AND HER MOTHER.

James Reid's Act Caused by Jealous Rage—The Younger Woman Will Probably Die.

James J. Reid, forty-two years old, was locked up in the Butler Street Police Station, Brooklyn, last night, charged with shooting his wife, Elizabeth, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Reid. The two women are in the Long Island College Hospital, and the wife, it is feared, may die as a result of the shooting.

Reid, who is an engineer, lived at 505 Clinton Street, a boarding house, conducted by the wife. Mrs. Mary Reid lives at 10½ West Ninety-ninth Street, Manhattan. She was visiting her daughter at the time of the shooting.

Reid came home at 6:30 o'clock last night, and soon afterward became involved in a quarrel with his wife. It is claimed that jealousy was at the bottom of the trouble. During the quarrel, it is alleged, Reid drew a revolver and fired a shot at his wife. The bullet struck her behind the left ear and lodged near the base of the skull. Her mother, who was in the room, tried to interfere when she saw the revolver drawn, and it is alleged that Reid, after shooting his wife, turned the weapon upon his mother-in-law, shoting her in the left shoulder.

Policemen Geoghan and McCarthy of the Butler Street Station were attracted to the house by the shots and the screams of the women. They called an ambulance, and had the woman removed to the hospital. Reid was then placed under arrest and locked up. At the hospital late last night it was said the younger Mrs. Reid's wound was a dangerous one, and that there was a probability that she would die. Her mother was less seriously wounded.

Parcels Post to Venezuela.

Superintendent of Foreign Mails N. M. Brooks announced yesterday that a parcels post convention having been concluded between the United States and Venezuela, packages addressed for delivery at destinations in the latter country will be admitted to the Venezuelan mails outgoing from this country after the first of January next. Parcels exchanged between this country and Venezuela must not weigh over eleven pounds, be more than 3 feet 6 inches long, nor more than 6 feet in length and girth combined. Postage rates will be 12 cents for each pound or fraction thereof.

PLANTS FOR BOTANICAL GARDEN.

Columbia's Herbarium Transferred to It—Advantage to Students.

The union between the Department of Botany at Columbia and the New York Botanical Garden has been completed. The herbarium and the collection of plants belonging to the university have been removed to the Bronx, and the university conservatory has been torn down.

Research instruction has been begun at the park, where the work is conducted for three days of the week. All major work is being done at the garden and some of the minor work. By the new arrangement Columbia gains the advantage of the use of the extensive library and laboratories at the Bronx.

Roentgen Society's Annual Meeting.

The first annual meeting of the Röntgen Society of the United States will be held in the Grand Central Palace Thursday and Friday next. This society is composed of scientists who are investigating the medical and surgical possibilities of the X rays. The convention has for its main purpose, says Dr. S. H. Monell, the standardization of improved methods of producing and using X rays so that the utmost benefits may be obtained by humanity.

It's like the story of the horseshoe nail. The "slight cold" lays the foundation for the serious one. Cure it with Jayne's Expectorant.—Adv.

WORK IN THE SWEATSHOPS.

Factory Inspector Williams Tells of His Bureau—Evils Exposed.

John Williams, State Factory Inspector, came from Albany yesterday to testify before a conference called by the Church Association for the Advancement of the Interests of Labor, held yesterday afternoon in the Church Mission House, Twenty-second Street and Fourth Avenue. The conference was called to consider the best methods of enforcing the Factory law in the east side shops. The meeting was attended by representatives of the Consumers' League, the Women's Industrial Alliance, the University Settlement Society, the Cloakmakers' Union, and the United Garment Workers of America.

The Rev. Francis J. Clay Moran presided and Factory Inspector Williams answered questions regarding the workings of his department. He said that it was better equipped and did much more effective work than any other department of the same kind in the United States. In Massachusetts the Deputy Factory Inspectors had to do their own clerical work, but here people were specially employed for the purpose.

Mr. Williams said that the Consumers' League had not been able to accomplish so much with its label as it had expected, because so many women wished to have a foreign label on their garments; that the big retail houses were compelled to gratify them, even though the garments were made within five minutes' walk of the Bowery, and of course a label stating that the factory had been inspected by an officer of the New York Consumers' League was hardly consistent.

Mr. Williams thought that in three-fourths of the cases where a license was refused for tenement house work, the attempt to do business was given up. This statement was controverted by Walter Chuck of the United Garment Workers.

Herman Grossman, President of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union of America, said that he had learned of a case recently where a man was working on a lot of women's clothes for one of the largest retail houses in the city, while two of his children were ill in the same apartment of scarlet fever. It was explained that the merchant never lets out work to go to such places, but a sub-contractor gave it out. Mr. Grossman also told of work given out lately at rates which would pay a grown woman only 3½ cents an hour.

A resolution was passed appointing a committee of seven to examine the licensing laws for factories. Another committee was appointed to petition the Legislature to investigate the conditions in the sweatshops in this city.

MOLINEUX CASE APPEAL.

Recorder Goff Confers with the Condemned Man's Counsel and Mr. Osborne.

Recorder Goff yesterday held the first of a series of conferences with Bartow S. Weekes and George Gordon Battle, counsel for Roland B. Molineux, and Assistant District Attorney Osborne, in relation to the final preparation for submission to the Court of Appeals, of the transcript of the trial of Molineux for the alleged poisoning of Mrs. Kate J. Adams. Gen. E. L. Molineux was also present.

There are 4,000 pages of manuscript to go over, and about 900 objections of counsel and District Attorney to be ruled on by the Recorder. Assistant District Attorney Osborne has submitted suggestions that all controversies between counsel be omitted from the record and only the testimony and rulings of the Court be incorporated in the transcript. Weekes & Battle will endeavor to have all wrangles between the District Attorney and Molineux's lawyers, together with the remarks of the Court, many of which were objected to by Mr. Weekes, included in the record as it is presented to the higher court.

The case will probably reach the Court of Appeals in the early part of next year.

COLUMBIA'S NEW HALL.

Building Contract Let and Work to Begin in a Few Days.

The contract for the new students' hall at Columbia University has been let to Norcross Brothers, the builders of Schermerhorn and Fayerweather Halls, University Hall, and the library. Work will be begun in the course of a few days, and the building will be ready for use when college opens next Fall. The new building will occupy the site southeast of Engineering Hall, and now partially occupied by West Hall, which will be moved to make room for it.

Several changes have been made in the plans as originally drawn. Instead of there being four small domes at the corners of the structure, there will be one central dome, and the window space on the first story has been increased.

Sunday
December 9, 1900

Daily, 1 Cent.

The New York Times.

Sunday, 3 Cents.

Part Two
Pages 15-28

"Buy China and Glass Right"

HIGGINS & SEITER.

FINE CHINA
RICH CUT GLASS.

The Great and Growing Popularity of the Most Famous Present Store in New York Is Easily Accounted For.

I. Glass and China make the most acceptable gifts for Christmas or any other time.

II. The largest and most varied and interesting assortment of China and Glass to be found in the United States is on exhibition and sale right here and now.

III. The prices as usual are ¼ less than elsewhere. For instance:

RAREBIT PLATES. A unique novelty which we are manufacturing is a Welsh Rarebit Plate, six different styles of rabbit decoration, selling at..... $4.50 per dozen

CUT GLASS SUGAR AND CREAM. A special offering in the cut glass department is a really good sugar and cream, special price..... $1.75

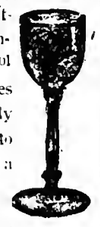
PUNCH CUPS AND PLATES.

Special offering in Bohemian Glass department are punch cups and plates, raised gold decoration, colored glass. You would expect to pay from $18 to $20 a dozen. Select one or one dozen at..... $1.00 each

CRACKER JARS. Cracker jars, with combination decoration in green and Dresden flowers, gold work throughout, gold handles, at $1.25 each

CONDENSED MILK JAR AND PLATE. Cambinations of Dresden flowers, with pink and gold, $1.00 each

RHINE WINE GLASSES. An interesting and important lot of Rhine Wine or Hock glasses at special prices. Ordinarily you would pay from $18 to $20 a dozen. Select one or a dozen at



$1.00 each

SPECIAL TABLES. Many people wish to have their gift represented by a certain price. For the convenience of advantageous purchasing we have arranged special sections and special tables upon which we will display from now until Christmas a special line of goods. We have arranged as follows:

One at 25c., one at 50c., one at 75c., one at $1.00, special table at $5.00 and one at $10.00.

We believe that this will be convenient as well as a saving in time and money.

CANDELABRA. Candlesticks and candelabra in Dresden decoration, some decorated with raised flowers and cupids on base. An important lot now ready at the following prices:

1 Light, 25c
2 " 75c
3 " $1.00
4 " 3.75

DINNER SETS. For those desiring to have their present useful you would be interested in a special lot of 100 dinner sets, with different flower decorations, gold traced handles. Service for 12..... $19.00

We have also the more expensive English sets, as well as the intermediate priced sets, ranging anywhere from $19.00 to $400.00 per set. Never before have we been able to call to your attention as complete a collection of fine pieces in Bric-a-Brac as now. We call your attention to one only. This is a Royal Vienna vase, oval shape; the body is rich maroon, has magnificent portrait painted on one side and cupid and woodland scene on the reverse side, two handles, price..... $325.00

BRIC-A-BRAC.

TETE-A-TETE SETS. We direct your special attention to an assorted lot of Tete-a-Tete and Five O'Clock Tea sets. Some in Dresden, others in Limoges china. Assorted rich decorations. These are moderately priced at the present time from $25.00 upwards. You may take your choice of the entire lot at..... $18.00 a set

All Brooklyn deliveries and calls are attended to by our own wagons, thus insuring entire satisfaction to our Brooklyn patrons.

WINE, CORDIAL & WATER SETS.

A present that is both unique and useful is a Wine, Cordial or Water Set. We have them in Bohemian glass with raised gold, in plain glass, cut glass, and engraved and gold glass. One especially good one is a Port Wine set of imported etched glass with gold decoration. 6 Glasses, 1 Decanter complete, on handled mirror tray, $10.30.

Commencing Monday, December 10th, our stores will be open evenings until Christmas.

50=54 WEST 22D STREET.

Arnold, Constable & Co

Handkerchiefs.

Real Lace, Embroidered and Lace Trimmed Handkerchiefs.
Initialed and Hemstitched Handkerchiefs.

Laces.

Duchesse, Point Applique and Brussels Laces.

Bridal Veils.

Metal and Lace Novelties.

Spanish Scarfs and Fichues, Neckwear for Women.

Feather Boas.

Gloves.

Broadway & 19th Street.

TEST YOUR KIDNEYS.

For one dollar we will send an outfit with which in a few moments can be determined whether any one is the victim of Bright's or other kidney disease; directions very simple. THE AMERICAN KIDNEY TESTER CO., 214 Bridge St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

DESKS FOR OFFICES. All Styles, Lowest Prices. B. H. MASON, 19 Warren St., near B'way.

International Armor Brand
BOND 3 in.
HELENA 2¾in.
BOULEVARD 2½in.
NEW CREATIONS
Shirts, Collars, Cuffs.

SIMPSON, CRAWFORD & SIMPSON.

Christmas Considerations.

BOOKS—In a full, explicit previous announcement we launched this Book Store upon its new season, telling, so far as it was possible, of its vast resources. To-day we skim the cream of values, a handful numerically, but fully worthy to speak for this most popular department.

Dickens, 15 Volumes. Half Calf 13.90—Cloth	3.95
Thackeray, 10 volumes. Half Calf 10.50—Cloth	2.85
Scott, in 12 volumes. Half Calf 14.90—Cloth	3.60
Eliot, in 6 volumes. Half Calf 8.75—Cloth	1.65
American Wit and Humor, 2 vol.	85c
Gibson's Americans, published at 5.00, here	2.65
Eben Holden, Eleanor, Master Christian, Tommy and Grizel, each	79c
Universal Educator	1.29
Webster's Unabridged Dictionary	1.29
Famous Classics, padded leather binding	60c
Poets in presentation bindings	1.25
Poets in Louis XIV. bindings	49c

Reduction Sale of Silk Waists.

Balance of the season's importations and adaptations, to make room for new spring models.

Highest Class Imported Models, each a single specimen, individual and distinctive, real lace and hand embroidered trimmings, the smartest of all	50.00
Another line of imported models for tailor suits and semi-dress occasions, one of a kind	25.00
Dress Silk Waists, copies of imported	15.00
White Satin Waists, handsomely hemstitched	12.50
Model Waists in new shades and effects	5.95
Hemstitched and Tucked Silk Waists	3.98
Odd sizes and colors in Taffeta Waists	1.98

Our Notable Tailor Suit, 25.00, commands admiration for its smartness and consistent choiceness. The finest Cheviots, black, blue and brown, double-breasted, tight-fitting, peau de soie faced or with stitched peau de soie bodice. Skirts are on a mercerized foundation, and we lay particular stress on the workmanship.

Rainy Day Suits, plaid back Oxford, double breasted Coat	8.75
Golf Capes—New plaid back effects—10.50, 8.75, 6.75 and	5.00
Velour Jackets—White satin lined, braid or Persian trimmed	22.50
TAILOR-MADE COATS AT DECISIVE PRICE REDUCTIONS.
In Kersey, black and colors, satin and silk lined	7.50
In Black Cheviots, all wool, silk lined, peau de soie faced	12.00
In Kersey, 27-inch semi-fitting back, satin lined	12.00
Fur Trimmed, in tan kersey, full collar and revers of beaver	19.75
Fur Trimmed, in black kersey, Persian or Alaska sable trimming	19.75

Fur Neck Pieces and Muffs.

Alaska Sable Scarf (8 tails)	5.00	Alaska Sable Muff	7.50
Sable Fox Scarf, natural head	7.50	Persian Lamb Muff	10.50
Mink Scarf, extra black, eight tails	10.00	Blue Lynx Muff	15.00
Sable Fox Scarf brush tail	12.00	Mink Muff, four stripes	18.00
Stone Marten Cluster Scarf	19.75	Chinchilla Muffs	25.00

The "I. & R. Morley" Silk Underwear.

HALF PRICES—AND LOWER!

The avalanche of buying that followed our first announcement broke up the sizes of Men's Silk Shirts. However, all of the various weights are left in some sizes, while the sizes on Drawers for men are nearly complete.

This Opportunity Can Never Reoccur, Nor Can the Sale Last Much Longer.

All garments show one uniform quality of PURE SPUN SILK, full fashioned, made by the foremost English manufacturer.

Women's Vests and Pants.		True Value.	Men's Shirts and Drawers.		True Value.
Gauze Silk,	2.25	each. 5.00	Gauze Silk,	2.75	each. 6.00
Super weight Silk,	2.50	each. 5.75	Super weight Silk,	3.50	each. 7.00
3-thread Silk,	2.75	each. 6.25	3 and 5 thread Silk,	3.95	each. 7.50
6-thread Silk,	3.25	each. 7.50	6 and 8 thread Silk,	4.75	each. 8.75
9-thread Silk,	3.75	each. 8.25	9-thread Silk,	5.50	each. 10.50
12-thread Silk,	4.25	each. 9.50	12-thread Silk,	6.50	each. 13.50

Men's—16 thread Silk, 7.50. Previous price 14.50.

Examination of price lists published by the importer will prove that values are, if anything, understated.

Toilet Specialties of Gelle Freres.

Refinement, permanence, distinctiveness are attributes of these preparations—Extracts, Soaps, Powders alike, characteristic. As factors in the Christmas giving, we display them prominently in the new Toilet location—New Building, to left of archway.

HANDKERCHIEFS.

Boxed in Half Dozens.

In place of special values on single Handkerchiefs, the interest is multiplied six-fold. These Half-Dozen Prices set a new pace.

Women's plain linen Hemstitched, fine cloth, in box,	6 for 70c
Women's Lace Edged and Embroidered Handkerchiefs, all linen, assorted styles, in box,	6 for 1.40
Women's all linen Initialed, hand embroidered, latest designs, in box,	6 for 1.00
Men's fine linen Hemstitched, in box,	6 for 1.00
Men's extra linen Hemstitched, in box,	6 for 1.35
Men's Initial all linen Hemstitched, in box,	6 for 1.00
Men's Jap. Silk Initialed, excellent silk, in box,	6 for 2.50
Children's Initialed Handkerchiefs. 3 in box	25c and 48c

ART EMBROIDERY DEPT.

Novelty Pincushions, Satin Boxes, Stamped and Embroidered Photo Frames, Wool Boxes and Needle Books, Flower and Scrap Baskets.

RENAISSANCE GOODS.

(Neatly boxed)

9-inch Linen and Lace Renaissance Doylies	29c
20-inch Lace and Linen Centres	75c
20-inch Linen and Lace Centrepieces	89c
All Lace and Lace and Linen Renaissance Scarfs, 20x54	2.48

SPECIAL—RUGS.

Best grade Wilton Rugs, new patterns, bright attractive colorings; size 9 ft. by 12 ft	27.50
High-grade Smyrna Rugs, strictly all wool, 9 ft. by 12 ft., at	21.45
Best Quality Ingrain Art Squares, extra heavy, new colorings and designs, 9 ft. by 12 ft	7.45
50 choice carefully selected Turkish Rugs, including Kasaks, Guendjes, Mussouls, Persians and Anatolians; average size about 3 ft. 8 in. by 7 ft.; value $22.50, at	16.95

HOUSE COATS

At 3.95

In mixed, checked and plaid cheviots, medium and light colorings, finished with a cord edge, unlined; also plain blue, brown and garnet tricot cord and satin edge, lined.

At 4.95

In plaid back cheviot, all the new and stylish combinations of blues, browns, Oxfords and tans. All plaids made to combine in coloring with body of jacket.

BATH ROBES

3.95

Imported blanket, in new bright colorings, handsome borders. Also new designs in striped eiderdown.

Men's Turkish Toweling Robes, high colors, in stripes and plaids, made full and long, all fast washing colors..... 2.98

Men's Cravenette Rain Coats, in Oxford gray and tan, cut Raglan style and tailored by first-class tailors; only "Priestley's Cravenette" cloth used..... 15.00

LEATHER GOODS.

A roomful of Suit Cases and Bags, another of smaller leather things, and each article, small or great, with a direct bearing upon, and special fitness for presentation. To itemize shortly:

Large Writing Tablets, seal and monkey grain, black and colors.... 1.25

A most select showing of Novelty Pocketbooks, ranging through the finest leathers, and many richly sterling mounted..... 98c

We mention a couple of Suit Cases—$6.00 (sole leather) $4.25 (in real cowhide). Both cover every modern feature, and are incomparable values.

Real Alligator Hand Bags, leather lined, 10 to 18 inch..... 2.00 to 4.50

STATIONERY.

Specials make pleasanter reading than dry details of stock. Take the Stock for granted (it is at it's best and fullest).

Sterling Ink Bottles	39c & 68c
Sterling Roll Blotters	30c & 65c
Sterling Rocker Blotters	1.45
Sterling Mounted Memo. Books	25c & 48c
Sterling and Pearl Paper Knives	25c & 48c
Sterling Mounted Mucilage Pots	48c
Sterling Penholders	48c
Gold Pens, pearl handles	1.00

14-Karat Fountain Pens, fully guaranteed;

Plain Barrel	85c
Gold Mounted	1.25

Stationery Cabinets are always welcome—we show them in higher grade and popular priced lines; specials at..... 25c & 48c widely diversified are the unique productions in sterling, gun metal, oxidized and gilt effects. Prices vary from $3.85 to $30.00. Here are two striking values:

METAL BAGS.

Mesh Side Bags, oxidized or silver (new gray finish) tops, kid lined 3.85

Very fine gray topped Mesh Bags..... 4.25

JEWELRY.

10 and 14 karat Rings set with diamonds, turquoise, opals, rubies and other precious stones, 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 gem settings..... 2.00 to 100.00

10 and 14 karat Gold Links..... 1.50 to 50.00

Solid Gold Brooches, 1.75 to 98.00

Ladies' Solid Gold Watches, open face and hunting, finest American movements..... 11.50 to 50.00

Men's Solid Gold Watches..... 25.00 to 75.00

Gun Metal and Enameled Novelty Chatelaine Watches..... 3.50 to 25.00

Plated jewelry and gun metal novelties—sterling silver gifts—and the larger costlier pieces for table use—have amplest representation. Everything in Silver—Teaspoons to Tureens.

3-Piece Sterling Mounted Carvers..... 2.25

Ivory handled Corkscrews, sterling mounts..... 1.98

Pearl Handled Fruit Knives, 5.00 per dozen.

DOLLS.

The child who comes face to face with this newly-built Dolls' Bazaar will hardly know where first to look. They hang in midair, cluster on sides and crosspieces. It is orderly disorder, and the whole Doll Family participates.

The 25c. and 50c. lots are mentioned; others run high as $10.

NECKWEAR.

Ready for any Holiday Emergency.

All articles will be neatly boxed.

Boas of Chenille, with Liberty, Taffeta or Mousseline combinations, 8 chenille strands to a side. Highly special 1.85

Lace Collars, with revers, assorted shapes..... 1.25

Fancy Jabots, in crinkled liberty chiffon, trimmed with lace and silk, blended colors..... 65c

Stocks with jabot, tie or bow, regular $1.68 lines, special..... 1.25

New Foulard Silks for 1901.

We open and shall display Monday, for the first time, our advance Foulards, in all combinations, colorings and styles destined to be most fashionable.

POSTSCRIPT—Thousands of Silk patterns in varying lengths for gift purposes. Great Price Reductions.

Nineteenth Street Sixth Avenue Twentieth Street

HEARN

West Fourteenth Street.

Facts and Figures for Christmas Buyers

Some Things You Can Buy Here and the Prices.

Handkerchiefs—5 cents to 2.98

SPECIALS—
LADIES'
Sheer Linen—emb'd.....worth .39 .25
Extra fine—elaborate styles..worth .75 .49
Large variety—still finer..worth 1.50 .98
Sheer Linen—full lace trim..... .25
All Linen Hemstitch.....worth .25 .17
All Linen Hemstitch.....worth .15 .12½
Hemstitch with Initial..12½.. .25 .39
Emb'y and Lace trim....worth .17 .12½
Fancy Silk—emb'd scallops .12½ to 1.69
Special Lot Silk emb'd....worth .69 .39

MEN'S
All Linen H. S.. .12½.. .17.. .25 .39
All Linen H. S. initial .12½.. .25 .49
Japanese Silk—H. S..... .25 to 1.39
Japanese Silk—initial.. .25.. .39 to .79
Fine Linen—tape borders.. .12½ to .39

CHILDREN'S
Colored Hemstitch..... .5 to .12½
Fancy borders—3 in a box..... .25
Initial—white or col'd H. S.—
3 in a box..... .25

Holiday Silks

White Hemstitch and Corded Taffetas. .79
3½ yd. Waist Pattern....2.77
Brocaded Satins—evening shades..... .39
3½ yd. Waist Pattern....1.37
All Silk Satin Liberty—evening shades .59
3½ yd. Waist Pattern....2.07
All Silk Taffetas—braided stripes—light, medium and dark shades..... .59
3½ yd. Waist Patterns....2.07
Fancy Lace and Corded Stripe Taffetas—street and evening shades..... .98
3½ yd. Waist Pattern....3.43
China and Taffeta Silks—for fancy work, linings, waists, etc.—thirty shades..... .29
27 inch Taffeta Silks—value .75.... .49

Ladies' Cloth Jackets....4.98 to 29.98

SPECIALS—
Kersey—finely tailored—worth 7.50....5.98
Automobile Coats—were 15.98..... 9.98
Oxford and Black—Short or Medium—deep tailor stitching—extra fine finish. 15.98

Ladies' Moreen Skirts....1.79 to 6.98

SPECIALS—
Wool Moreen—double umbrella flounce—velveteen binding..... 1.79
Silk Moreen, with deep Taffeta Silk flounce—6 heavy cords—felled seams. 3.29
Silk Moreen—corded umbrella flounce—deep knife pleating—dust ruffle..... 4.98

Shrewd Buyers Come Here.
They know
where assortments are large,
where money goes farthest.

Men's Bath Robes....1.29 to 6.98

SPECIALS—
Flannelette—full size—were 1.98..... 1.29
Eiderdown, Terry and Blanket..... 2.98
Extra quality—special styles..... 4.98

Centre Carpets....1.48 to 39.98

SPECIALS—
Ingrain—Wool filled—3x2½ yards..... 2.19
Ingrain—All wool—3x4 yards..... 7.98
Smyrna—Oriental designs—6x9 feet... 4.98
7½x10 ft..... 7.49 9x12 ft..... 9.98
Finest Oriental Wiltons—9 by 12 ft. 27.49

Fancy Curtains.....98 to 6.98

SPECIALS—
Snowflake—3 yds. long—all colors.... .98
Silk Cross Stripes—all colors..... 1.98
Fancy Satin Cross Stripes and Egyptian Yarn..... 4.98
Col'd Satin—Florentine lace edge—Rich Novelties—were 15.98..... 11.98

White Bed Spreads.....69 to 4.98

SPECIALS—
Full size Crochet—Marseilles designs. .89
Full size Novelty Crochet..... 1.25
Satin Marseilles..... 1.98
Extra large size Marseilles..... 2.98

Linen Table Sets....1.59 to 22.98

SPECIALS—
Hemstich Lunch Sets—2½ yd. cloth—dozen doylies to match..... 2.98
Finer quality—openwork centres..... 4.98
Satin Damask Pattern Cloths—dozen Napkins to match..... 3.77

Christmas air inspires to generosity.
Our Moderate Prices inspire to quick and cheerful buying.

Desk Novelties....29 to 6.98

The majority silver mounted.
SPECIALS—
Letter Openers and Paper Cutters... .29
Penholders and Pencils..... .49
Rolling Blotters..... .98
Inkstands and Ink Wells..... 1.49
Mucilage Bottles..... .98
Letter Seals and Pincushions..... 1.19
Stamp Boxes..... .98
Erasers and Stamp Moisteners..... .98
Pen Wipers..... 1.39

Satin Pin Cushions....19 to 5.49

SPECIALS
Hand painted and elaborately trim'd with laces or Ribbons—all colors—square and long.....2.49.. 1.79.. .98

Atomizer and Toilet Sets....69 to 11.49

SPECIALS—
Atomizer Sets in Boxes—value .89.... .69
3 piece Sets—pretty shapes and colors 1.98
Nail and Tooth Brush Sets in box—Dresden handles..... .98
Brush and Comb Sets—sterling mounted—Genuine Ebony Backs..... .98
7 piece Manicure Sets—oxidize finish. 2.98

Drapery Scarfs....39 to 3.69

SPECIALS—
Japanese Silk—hand painted..... .39
Finer Novelties—Hand painted..... .98
With Gold and Floss Emb'y..... 1.98

Dressed Dolls—.25 to 29.98

SPECIALS—
Silk dressed—15 inch..... .49
17 to 19 inch—various styles..... .98
Baby Dolls—removable clothes..... 1.98
21 inch—Handsome costumes..... 1.98
Special lot fine large jointed Dolls, dressed in wh't and col'd organdy. 3.98
Beautiful Dolls—26 inch—handsomely dressed—worth $7.50..... 5.98

Undressed Dolls—.25 to 7.49

SPECIALS—
Three great lots of fine jointed and kid body Dolls—closing eyes, curly wigs, showing teeth—17 to 21 inch—worth .75 to 1.50.....49.. .69.. .98
The famous Handwerck Dolls—20 to 27 inch....1.10..1.98..2.98..3.98
Life size Dolls of finest workmanship—worth $6.00 to $12.00.....4.25 to 6.49

Games....12½ to 1.25

Blocks.....17 to .67

Iron Toys.....19 to 2.98

Remember Those Who Have Least.
A trifling gift,
let cost be never so little,
will cheer some one
and make them feel this world is not all work and worry.

Pocket Knives....19 cents to 1.79

SPECIALS
Thousands of Buffalo, Pearl, Bone and Stag Handled Knives—
Two blades—value .39..... .25
3 and 4 blades—value .69..... .49
Genuine Stag and Pearl Handles—4 blades—high grade steel—20 styles—value .98 to 1.98.. .69 and .98

Young Folks' Furs....1.98 to 7.98

SPECIALS.
Misses' Gray Krimmer Muffs and Collar Sets—Mouffion tails..... 7.98
Misses' and Children's Sets—Collars or Scarfs—a variety of fancy furs..... 4.98
Children's Fancy Sets..... 1.49

Silk Mufflers....49 to 2.98

SPECIALS.
Handsome Fancy Stripes—24 inch..... .98
White Satin Brocades—24 inch..... 1.39
Extra heavy White Brocades..... 1.98

Leather Chatelaine Bags....25 to 6.98

SPECIALS.
Genuine Seal—nickel trim—2 sizes..... .95
Suede—French gray and oxidized tops. 1.98
Rococo Alligator and Walrus, also Velvet—massive fancy Silver tops..... 3.69
Extra Size—fine leathers—fancy mounts..... 1.98

Beaded Chatelaines....1.24 to 15.00

SPECIALS.
Cut Jet—Satin lined..... 1.24
Cut Steel or Jet—Chamois lined..... 3.69
Elaborate Styles—rich mountings.... 5.69

Holiday Writing Papers....10 to 3.49

SPECIALS.
Children's Decorated Paper; also larger sizes—in boxes..... .25
Hand-painted Boxes and other Cabinets, of paper—2 sizes—5 tints.....1.29 each
Fancy Boxes—suitable for gloves and hdkfs boxes, filled with fine stationery.... .98

Bathroom Fixtures....29 to 2.69

SPECIALS
Nickel Soap Cups..... .29
Nickel Towel Racks..... .39
Nickel Toilet Paper Holders..... .39

'TIS A JUBILANT TIME!
Come join the merry buying throngs
And share in Spirit of Christmas joys!

Babies' Short Dresses....29 to 9.98

SPECIALS—
Ex. quality Lawn—waist and yoke effects .98
Wool Cashmere—light colors..... 1.69
China Silk Dresses—dainty styles..... 2.98
Fancy Organdy and Point d'Esprit. 4.98

Men's Gloves....29 to 1.69

SPECIALS—
All Wool Ringwood—white, grey, black and blue..... .49
Dogskin—one clasp—English tan shades .69
Mocha—one clasp—tan and New Greys. .98

Men's Night Shirts....39 to 85

SPECIALS—
Good heavy Muslin—fast color emb'y extra long—well finished..... .39
Domet Flannel—stripes and plaids.... .49

Boys' Clothing

Immense Assortments for the Holidays.
Waists..... .19 to .98
Blouses..... .49 to 4.98
Shirts..... .39 to 1.29
Knee Trousers..... .49 to .98
Suits—2 and 3 pc.....1.98 to 9.98
Reefers—3 to 15 years.....3.98 to 7.98
Overcoats—3 to 15 years.....2.98 to 8.75
Hats and Caps..... .29 to 2.49

Nurses' and Maids' Aprons....19 to 2.69

SPECIALS.
Lawn—full size—tucks..... .24
With emb'd bib and shoulder ruffles.. .39
Fine Lawns—emb'y and tucks..... .69

Shawls....39 to 5.98

SPECIALS—
Honeycomb Shawls—all colors..... .79
Silk and Zephyer—twisted fringes.... 1.98
Double Cashmere—full size..... 5.98

Other Facts and Figures in To-day's Herald and Journal.

LONDON TOPICS OF THE WEEK

Not Much Expected from Debates Over the Contract Scandals.

GOVERNMENT LIKELY TO WIN

Cost of the Boer War Compared with that of the Abyssinian Campaign.

Latest Figures Show that £4,000,000 Are Being Expended Monthly—Signs that England Is Tired of War—Threatened Scandal in High Life.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
Copyright, 1900.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Unless prolonged wrangle occurs over the supplementary estimate of £16,000,000 to be dealt with next week the Government will win easily, and the present session of Parliament may end Thursday or Friday. We have had two days of debate, the first consisting of preliminary flourishes on the part of the Government and the Opposition; and the second of the efforts through amendment to the address from the Throne to force a declaration of policy from the Government. It was expected on Thursday that the Opposition would be able to maintain a discussion on this amendment over last night and carry it on, perhaps throughout Monday evening. It collapsed miserably soon after a sugar-candied speech from Mr. Chamberlain and in good time to allow perfunctory and inconclusive talk about Chinese affairs.

There is no small anger among the Forward section of the Opposition at this failure, and it has been laid at the door of Sir Henry Fowler, Sir Edward Gray, and other members of the imperialist wing of the Liberal Party, who as usual, such is the phrase, "coerced" Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman into surrender. I doubt very much whether the attack could have been continued much longer with profit to anybody, even had the Opposition leader stood fast, but this does not alter the fact that a blow has been given his chiefship that may involve his early supercession.

We still have to stumble through the discussion on the contract scandals I have mentioned to you, before the estimates are reached, and other amendments productive of debate are being concocted; but I believe that most of them will be ruled out of order and I do not expect much to come even from the contracts discussion.

Lord Rosebery went over the ground in the House of Lords Thursday in a speech of no small power and brilliancy; its only effect, however, was to wake up the sleepy Duke of Devonshire into something like combativeness, and with the country the oration has fallen perfectly flat. This also is usual, because Lord Rosebery is not taken seriously. "Look how he gambles on the Stock Exchange himself!" is the remark one constantly hears, when he assumes an ultra-virtuous attitude.

***

J. AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN'S SUIT.

More play will be made by the combatants over the various connections of the Chamberlain family with the companies serving the Government, but very few members, I fear, have a sufficient grasp of facts or a sufficient liberty to cast stones in order to make the debate of much educational value to the country. One of the Chamberlains, moreover, has sprung an action for libel against the proprietors of The Morning Leader and The Star, and although that step cannot legally in the slightest degree restrain the House of Commons from speaking its mind, it will probably be used by Mr. Chamberlain and his friends as a reason for deprecating public discussion on the matter now referred to the law courts. The opponents of the Chamberlains hint that J. Austen's libel action is a mere move in the game, and it looks so, for the alleged libel was perpetrated about two months ago, at least what I take to be the libel, for I then read in the papers now brought to book statements equivalent to an accusation that J. Austen Chamberlain was a common swindler and company wrecker. I, however, am informed that the preliminaries to this action began quite a month ago, so it is unfair to assume that the move is merely a political dodge.

Sir William V. Harcourt is reserving himself for a discussion over the new supplementary estimate and his speech will doubtless be effective criticism. It is, however, doubtful whether Parliament really grasps the main facts surrounding our enormous war expenditure at the present time.

THE COST OF THE WAR.

***

I have been looking into the history and cost of some of our past wars, notably the short conflict with Abyssinia when Lord Napier marched 12,000 men, mostly Indian soldiers, up to Magdala and back again. That campaign lasted considerably under eight months, as far as actual operations in the field were concerned, for the whole expedition from the time it left India until the time it went home again occupied little more than eight months. The expense to the British Exchequer exceeded £8,000,000, that is to say surpassed a million a month, and the charges paid by India brought the grand total to above £9,000,000. The Parliamentary return issued yesterday indicates that at the present time we have 210,000 troops under arms in South Africa, over 30,000 of them colonials of various kinds serving at exceptionally high rates of pay. The highest number we have had in the campaign was about 267,000. Taking the average for the past year at only 200,000 for all arms, and weighing against the comparatively short ocean transport of the Abyssinian expedition the long sea voyage demanded by the South African war, the enormous waste of animals of all descriptions, the heavy expense of long-distance land transport and so on, it does not seem unreasonable to put the expenditure per thousand men per month, at the same rate as in the Abyssinian war. This would give an outlay of roughly £4,000,000 per month, and the Government is not making provision for half that sum.

Even into the denser regions of Conservatism this fact is beginning to penetrate, but the Government only asks for £16,000,000 more to the end of March, dividing the items in a perfunctory way that throws not the slightest light upon the actual state of the war outlay. I shall be surprised if this aspect of the subject attracts much Parliamentary attention, because a serious discussion upon the various items in the bill would be contrary to anything Parliament has ever done. We shall have petty grievances aired in any number, and the Speaker of the House may permit criticisms upon the small points and abundant general declamation, but not much else. Nevertheless, even on these lines the wrangle may last over Wednesday afternoon, but the vote is sure and the members will probably get home for the Christmas holidays on Friday.

***

BRITISH OPINION CHANGING.

Is the nation satisfied with this kind of display? I more and more doubt it. Every week increases the numbers of those who oppose a prolongation of this war, and the stories of farm burning and of women and children deportation is laying hold of the popular imagination. So greatly has the feeling changed in the provinces that it was possible this week to hold a large, enthusiastic public meeting in Newcastle-on-Tyne to listen to Charles Molteno, a member of the Cape Parliament, speaking on South African troubles and grievances. Less than six months ago Conwright Schreiner was almost literally stoned out of the country for attempting to do the same thing. In London itself the tone is so changed that a leading agitator declared to me only yesterday that he could guarantee the peaceable holding of a meeting of 10,000 people—all enthusiastic opponents of the war—could he get the meeting place. And on Wednesday a meeting of members of Parliament and others quietly assembled by letter was so largely attended that the room first hired in the Westminster Palace Hotel could not contain those who attended, and the largest hall available had to be migrated to.

***

ALLEGED BRITISH ATROCITIES.

You have little idea seemingly of the kind of stories that are finding their way into print here, not from irresponsible individuals, but from officers in the field, whose feelings have been outraged by the work they have been set to do. I have before me a broad sheet, consisting of a letter from an officer in good standing, now in South Africa, which is filled with tales quite ghastly in description. "I cannot," he says, "keep from my ears the cries of the victims," and he goes on to describe how Gen. X, (I know the General's name but perhaps had better keep it back,) after destroying a number of farms in the region lying east of Pretoria, collected the homeless people in a church and gave them a week's provisions. Having done this he marched away and when the food was exhausted the starving people sent a petition for help. The reply was, "You will not be given food of any sort by us until the men fighting surrender," the said men being far away. Is it any wonder that to-day's newspapers should contain an appeal backed by Church dignitaries and responsible politicians and their wives asking the nation to come forward and relieve the starving population in the two annexed States? Also, any wonder that there should be a large minority of citizens, not by any means specially humanitarian, who feel that our good name is being smudged by these proceedings? An old banker said to me yesterday that when he read the tale he wept like a child.

***

THE KAISER AND MR. KRUEGER.

A little consolation to our wounded self-love has been administered by the snub Kaiser William gave Mr. Kruger, and we try to think of it as a snub to France likewise. I am not sure, but agree with the cynics who aver that the Emperor, though he may not, as some say, have obeyed his grandmother in taking the course he did, has carefully looked after the payment for services rendered. We have given him a free hand in China, and he is to have Walfish Bay, about the only place on the west coast of his South African territory capable of being made a decent port. It is with the Emperor, as with the proverbial Scotsman: "Nothing for nothing, and very little for sixpence."

Lots of things have been happening this week and always are, but somehow they do not interest us, because we are as badly worried over this South African business as is the army in the field by De Wet, whose capture is again declared to be imminent. An officer recently home from the seat of war tells me that his duties in the signalling department put him in possession of scores of telegrams from Lord Roberts to his various subordinates sent out to try to crush this daring leader, and every one of them wound up with the expression of a devout hope that these measures might prove effectual in destroying De Wet, capturing De Wet, or annihilating his force. The man has got on the nerves of the troops to an extent to which no other South African commander has ever approached, and the news of his capture would cause shouts of joy in the army, so my informant says, far greater than anything the news of the relief of Ladysmith evoked.

We are in precisely the same mood regarding the war as a whole, and sorry we ever began it, yet, dogged, as the Boers themselves continue it, we are willing to follow Lord Salisbury and are also sighing that the plausible glamour of conciliation which Chamberlain threw over the House last night might become a realization in politics. Public opinion is in the condition of fluidity capable of being swept in one direction or another, but above all is anxious to see the way out.

***

THE MERCIER EPISODE.

Other matters may emerge again when Parliament disperses, but just now South Africa is so all-absorbing that we have hardly spared a minute even to laugh over Gen. Mercier's escapade in the French Senate. If that vain creature thought to stir up an ill-feeling in England by his tirade about invading us he made a childish miscalculation. Neither in his own country nor here has he been taken the least bit seriously. "Why, he has an English wife," people remark and laugh.

Terrible scandals, I am told, are about to reach the surface in high life in consequence of the dissolution of a club called The Souls' Club, "Composed," as one put it to me, "of men and women of both sexes," who assemble together to seek soull affinities. The wives of politicians, noblemen, and society butterflies generally, with a selection of male swells were the members, and now dissolution has come because other affinities than those of the soul have manifest themselves. I dare say there will be some little noise over the thing, but we cannot as much as stop to talk scandal just now.

From your side we have heard this week, and we never get much news from any other quarter, that the powers have modified their demands upon China so that a universal agreement now has been reached. Perhaps we do not much care. The extent of public interest in the Far Eastern question may be measured by the miserable little debate which closed last evening's sitting in the House of Commons. Lord Salisbury himself remains, I believe, quite ignorant of the intricacies of Chinese diplomacy and is loftily indifferent to the indications of Chinese opinion. This is not pleasant to think and say, but, outside the circles concerned in the Chinese business, the Prime Minister only reflects the indifference and ignorance of the nation. I doubt myself whether diplomacy is going to do much substantial work in making things better as long as German-led soldiers march about the country rifling the tombs and wreaking vengeance generally.

A. J. W.

"Pinkeye" Epidemic in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—A new disease which attacks the eyes and in many respects resembles "pinkeye" is said to be epidemic in the city. It is infectious, and is not confined to any particular part of the city or class of people. One explanation offered for the origin of the malady is that it is due to the clouds of dust which have driven about the streets since the windy season set in. An eye specialist said to-day: "The disease has reached the point where it may be called epidemic."

GALA DAY FOR WASHINGTON

The City Is Getting Ready to Celebrate on Wednesday.

PLANS FOR THE INAUGURATION

John J. Edson Chosen Chairman of the Committee—Crusade Against Army Canteen May Work Evil.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Wednesday next will be a great day in Washington. The people of the city, including committees representing the executive, legislative, and judicial branches, together with permanent residents, will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the occupation of the city as the seat of Government. The actual anniversary was Dec. 1, but it was found to be inconvenient to arrange the celebration for that day, as it came on Saturday, and thus happened two days before the meeting of Congress. A very creditable programme has been arranged for the celebration, including a military procession and exercises at the White House and the Capitol. There will be decorations on the line of march of the parade, and the President will review the procession at the Capitol.

The outdoor part of the celebration will be enjoyable to thousands, but the exercises at the White House and in the Hall of Representatives will be enjoyed only by as many as can be provided with tickets, that number to be limited by the issue of tickets of admission to the Capitol. The earliest proceedings of the day will be at the White House, where addresses appropriate to the occasion are to be delivered in the presence of as many persons as can be invited to the East Room. This gathering will be privileged to see a model in plaster of the proposed extension of the White House on a plan in harmony with the architecture of the existing edifice.

The Capitol exercises will be similar to those at the White House, but will not be unduly prolonged, to mar the legal holiday declared by Congress to prevail in the District on the day of the celebration. To induce strangers to witness its enjoyment of the centennial distinction to which it has arrived, Washington has arranged with the railroad companies to bring people here at a one-fare rate from any distance inside of 400 miles. The centennial observances are to be crowded into one day, and those who come to see them will find Congress and all the departments running next day in their usual fashion.

***

One effect of the preparation for this anniversary celebration has been the publication of a great deal of interesting history about old Washington, including some very odd pictures of the little town or hamlet that stood here in 1800, and the beginnings of the capital city a few years later. Much attention has been devoted to the early records about the White House, which did not become the White House in name for several years after it was built. It was still an unpainted house of Virginia sandstone, very ugly in its severe outlines and freedom from ornamentation, when Gen. Washington and Mrs. Martha Washington came up from Alexandria one afternoon to walk through it. Some of the papers published as relating to this event of the removal from Philadelphia, give one the impression that Gen. Washington, besides expressing full confidence in the future prosperity of Washington by purchases of real estate, contributed to its proper development, to the extent of his ability, by personally directing some of the improvements planned by his skillful engineer officer, Major Pierre L'Enfant.

The representation of the White House as Washington and his wife saw it, shows it without the overhanging porch that now adorns it. At that time, it is learned by visitors here, the south front of the building, facing the open area extending down to the Potomac, was the entrance side, and the road led along the line described by the street that crosses in front of the Treasury building. At the time of the occupation of Washington by the Government, John Adams was President, and for a short time, quite as long, perhaps, as Mrs. Adams cared to linger in what was then a very raw, unwholesome and unattractive village. The tradition about the use of the East Room as a drying place for the washing of the Presidential household was made by her, and it is often alluded to by visitors to the spacious and comfortably furnished state room, now about the only apartment of the building that is freely shown to visitors.

***

Even before the centennial celebration has been reached the Washingtonians are preparing for another great occasion, that may be depended upon to have a larger interest for outsiders even than this very important anniversary of the occupation of the city as the seat of Government. The Chairman of the Inauguration Committee has been chosen in John Joy Edson, a gentleman who began his career in one of the departments and is now in the front rank of business men, enjoying a large share of public confidence and possessed of marked executive ability. There is always a considerable number of aspirants for this honor, but it is remarkable that whoever is chosen is at once declared to possess in marvelous degree just the qualities demanded for the successful management of the ceremonies attending the inauguration of a President.

It will be Mr. Edson's duty to set in motion the collection of money, the drumming up of lodgings for the vast crowd of strangers, the invitation of Governors to lead the detachments of troops from their States, the selection and decoration of a ballroom, the provision of fireworks, and a vast number of other details that have to be worked out by hundreds of men in committees that devote themselves for weeks to the task of getting as many people here on March 4 as the railroads can bring.

While the inaugural observances will unquestionably be striking and attractive, it is not expected that they will attract so great a crowd as came to see Mr. McKinley take the place of President Cleveland. One feature of the procession to the Capitol on inauguration day that will be unusual will be the sight of Mr. McKinley attended only by members of the Senate and House committees. Usually the President-elect rides with the ex-President to the Capital and back to the White House in the same carriage, their places in the vehicle having been changed by the ceremony at the east front. Since Gen. Grant was elected to be his own successor, the common course has been observed until now. A very interesting variation from it was when, in 1892, President Harrison rode to the Capitol to become ex-President alongside of Mr. Cleveland, who had four years before gone up to the Capitol in company with Mr. Harrison to see him sworn in as his successor.

***

Those persons who talk candidly about Representative Boutelle admit that they do not expect to see him again in the House of Representatives. Hopeful remarks have been made about him, but the confession of his serious illness was made in the proposition of Representative Burleigh to make him a Captain in the navy, and then put him on the retired list. The reason for extending this honor to him is that he will never be able to perform any service in Congress, or other labor, and that he should receive some substantial recognition for devoted service in war and peace.

A naval officer of much longer service than Mr. Boutelle makes private objection to the method proposed for honoring Mr. Boutelle. The particular event for which he is to be rewarded was the fight between the Sassacus and the Albemarle during the civil war. Boutelle was a master's mate on the Sassacus, which was commanded by Lieut. Commander Roe. It was under Roe's orders that Boutelle distinguished himself, and for his service he was advanced to the grade of master—acting master, it was then called. Roe was advanced five numbers, or one-twenty-eighth of a grade.

Boutelle's services since have been those of a civilian, and the proposition to give him a captaincy in the navy in recognition of his services in the war of the rebellion is to lift him almost as high as he would have been if he had remained in the service and waited for promotion. His commander, who was responsible for the good behavior of the Sassacus, which resulted in the permanent disability of the dreaded Albemarle, a vessel that inspired scarcely less terror than the Merrimac, just managed to get his retirement with the grade of Rear Admiral.

***

The members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union went away from Washington rejoicing, after their convention, because the House of Representatives had decreed that there should be no more beer or wine sold at army posts under army regulations. If army officers who have studied the operation of the canteen system are fair judges of the matter, the temperance women are mistaken, and should be regretting rather than rejoicing. These army officers declare that the satisfaction of the women is only exceeded by that of the men who formerly made money out of the soldiers by selling them drinks of all kinds, at high prices and of commonly bad quality, and by women who resorted to unregulated soldier resorts to prey upon them. The canteens, or post exchanges, furnished the soldiers with beer and wines at a slight advance on cost, and the consumption of stimulating beverages was carefully regulated.

The prohibition of the sale of light drinks in camp or post will not stop drinking, but it will promote the excessive use of liquors, the consequent relaxation of deportment, increase of courts-martial, and add to the expense of maintaining misdemeanor subjects in prison. Without intended to do so, the advocates of temperance have played into the hands of the liquor dealers. It remains to be seen if this prohibition is ratified in the Senate what will be the effect upon the army in another year.

Just now another case of co-operation between temperance advocates and liquor dealers is cropping up in Washington. The Anti-Saloon League is devoting its energies to complete prohibition of Sunday liquor selling. The retail liquor dealers, who are willing to have the law enforced because they desire a day of rest, and who resent the illicit selling of liquors as an unfair enjoyment of forbidden profits, are working in the same direction, for reasons quite different from those that animate the people who would be satisfied only with the closing of liquor saloons every day of the week, believing that there is no "properest day to drink." E. G. D.

LEGAL NOTES.

QUESTION OF MARKETABLE TITLE.—The Appellate Division in this city has affirmed a judgment obtained by Hannah M. Corbin, as executrix of Austin Corbin, and others, directing John O. Baker, the defendant, to specifically perform a contract he entered into last April to purchase for $400,000 certain real estate owned in his lifetime by the late James Gordon Bennett. Mr. Baker paid $10,000 down, but two months later, when the balance was to be paid, refused to accept the deed tendered, claiming that it did not convey a good and marketable title. Mr. Bennett, who died in 1872, by his will gave one-half of the real estate to his son, James Gordon Bennett, and the other half to him in trust for his sister, Jeannette, now Mrs. Isaac Bell. Her half, upon her death, was to go absolutely to her surviving children and the issue of deceased children. Mrs. Bell's two children, a son and daughter, are now living, one being a minor. Mr. Baker's objection to the title was that James Gordon Bennett, who purchased the property at a sale ordered in a partition action which he instituted in 1881, did not acquire a good title, in that as he was at the time acting as trustee for his sister to the extent of a one-half interest in the property directed to be sold he could not become a purchaser, and for that reason the purchase made by him was voidable, and could be set aside at the instance of the cestui que trust. Justice McLaughlin, giving the unanimous opinion of the court, says there is no doubt about the general rule that the purchase by a trustee, unauthorized by the Court, was voidable at the instance of the cestui que trust; but there was a well-recognized exception to it that where a trustee had a personal interest to protect he could, by leave of the Court, make a purchase which was valid upon all the parties interested. Mr. Bennett, for the protection of his personal interest in the estate, had the right, having been previously authorized to make the purchase, and he acquired a marketable title, which he subsequently conveyed to Austin Corbin, whose executor, under a power of sale contained in his will, contracted to sell to Mr. Baker.

***

TITLE TO INSURANCE POLICY.—J. Charles Burton, who had an insurance policy of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, payable in twenty years or upon his death, assigned it in May, 1888, to F. H. Wittrock, and the latter on the same day assigned it to Mr. Burton's wife, Lizzie J. Burton, if living. Mrs. Burton died, intestate, nine years ago, leaving two children. J. Charles Burton, who died in September, 1899, by his will made Charlotte S. Burton, his second wife, his executrix and residuary legatee of all his property, including the life insurance policies. The Appellate Division in this city, on submission of the controversy upon facts admitted, in a suit by Thomas J. Burton, as administrator, against Charlotte S. Burton as executrix, has now unanimously decided, in an opinion by Justice O'Brien, that the defendant is entitled to judgment. The single question, Justice O'Brien says, was whether the words "if living" in the assignment of the policy to Lizzie J. Burton, had reference to the time when the policy became payable. "Had it appeared," Justice O'Brien adds, "that the husband had no knowledge of the whereabouts of his wife at the time of the assignment, there might be a question as to whether, by the words used, it was not intended to make an assignment of all interest in the policy to Mrs. Burton, 'if living'; if not living then to Mr. Burton. In the absence of any such evidence, however, we must presume that Mr. and Mrs. Burton were living together, from which the inference naturally flows that the words 'if living' were intended to give Mrs. Burton the benefit of the policy 'if living' when it matured, either at the end of twenty years or upon her husband's death."

***

SUFFICIENCY OF SURETY COMPANIES AS SURETIES.—J. Kennedy Tod and James G. Leiper, on appealing to the Court of Appeals from a judgment recovered against them by the Industrial and General Trust, Limited, for $377,476.65, gave an undertaking in $450,000 to stay the enforcement of the judgment, with the Lawyers' Surety Company as sole surety. The sufficiency of the surety was excepted to, on the ground that the surety company, being an insurance company, had exceeded its powers in assuming to execute an undertaking in a sum which exposed it to a loss on one risk, or hazard, exceeding 10 per cent. of its capital and surplus. It appeared, on justification of the surety, that the capital stock and surplus of the surety company aggregated $707,000, and that Tod and Leiper had deposited with it certain collaterals as security; but it did not appear what the collaterals were, or their value. An order approving the undertaking has now been reversed by the Appellate Division in this city, which holds that the surety company does come within the provisions of the general insurance law. Justice McLaughlin, giving the Court's opinion, said it was impossible to ascertain from the record before them whether the surety company had exposed itself to a loss by executing an undertaking exceeding 10 per cent. of its capital and surplus. Before this could be determined it was necessary to ascertain of what the collaterals consisted, as well as their value. The question is remitted to the Special Term to determine their value, and when that is ascertained, to make such order concerning the sufficiency of the surety as the proofs may warrant.

***

TRIALS OF FIREMEN AND THEIR RECORD.—The dismissal of Fireman Patrick McCollum from the Fire Department in October, 1899, upon being found guilty of being intoxicated to such an extent that he was unable to perform his duties, and that he disobeyed orders at a fire two weeks previously, has been affirmed by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court on writ of certiorari. McCollum did not deny on his trial before the Commissioner that he had been drinking, but claimed he did the best he could at the fire, and could not go any further than he did; and it was argued that the Commissioner erroneously considered McCollum's record in determining the question of his guilt. The Court, in an opinion by Justice McLaughlin, said a sufficient answer to that suggestion was that the petition on which the writ was issued nowhere assigned that as one of the errors relied upon for reversal. Besides, it did not affirmatively appear that the record was improperly used in determining the relator's guilt.

Chicago Civil Service Official Out.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Mayor Harrison today accepted the resignation of John W. Ludwig, one of the three members of the Chicago Civil Service Commission. Joseph Powell was appointed as Ludwig's successor. The changes grow out of the recent scandal over the examination for police Lieutenants.

UNITED STATES AT PARIS

Capt. A. H. Mattox Tells of American Exposition Successes.

This Country, He Says, Has Conquered Europe, and It Is an Industrial Victory.

Capt. A. H. Mattox, press representative of the United States Commission, Paris Exposition, recently returned from Paris after the close of the exposition. Speaking to a reporter for THE NEW YORK TIMES about the exposition, he said:

"Americans can well feel proud of the great success which American exhibitors have made in this the greatest international exposition the world has ever seen. Without exaggeration, America at the Paris Exposition has conquered Europe! This may strike imperialists as a broad statement, but the conquest has been made without acquisition of territory and belongs purely to the industrial, artistic, and commercial order of things.

"This conquest is demonstrated by the statistical analysis which gives the exact proportion of prizes, honors, and awards of all kinds which the United States secured at the exposition.

"All the nations of the earth brought their products to Paris to compete for the prizes and awards offered by the French Government, and the accurate statistics at the close of the exposition show that the United States carried off a grand total of 2,476 awards, coming next to France. No other nation had to collect its exhibits extending over such a vast territory, a distance of 3,000 miles, from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and then ship them 3,000 miles across the ocean.

"The awards, according to the last statement, made at the close of the exposition, were, in part, as follows:

United States	2,476
Italy	1,983
Austria-Hungary	1,948
Germany	1,828
Great Britain	1,724
Russia	1,402
Japan	1,275

"The United States received 239 grand prizes, 593 gold medals, 776 silver medals, 546 bronze medals, and 370 honorable mentions.

"In Group 1, 'Educational,' the total awards to the United States were 170. It was a surprise to many to find that Italy led in the awards in this department, with a total of 246, Russia coming second, with 188 awards, and the United States third, with 170 prizes.

"In the electrical department, Group 5, the United States led the world, receiving 94 awards, of which 6 were grand prizes. Germany came next in this section, but received only 49 prizes.

"In transportation the United States led, receiving 130 awards, with Germany next, 123 prizes, and Great Britain third, having 119 prizes. There were many surprises when the final awards were made, and none more so than in the Department of Foodstuffs, Group 10, in which Italy surpassed all other nations, with 306 awards. The United States came fifth, with 177 awards.

MINING AND METALLURGY.

"In Group 11, 'Mining and Metallurgy,' the United States surpassed all nations. This American display was a magnificent one, commanding the admiration of every visitor, and the awards were 133, of which 34 were grand prizes.

"In 'Diversified Industries,' Japan was a surprise, leading the world and carrying off 371 prizes. Germany came next in this line, with 242 awards, and the United States third, with 128 honors.

"In 'Social Economy,' Group 16, the United States achieved a great victory. In this group the exhibit showing the progress of the negro race in the United States attracted the attention of every intelligent visitor and was closely studied. The prizes given the United States in Social Economy were 355.

"The 'Forestry and Lumber' display from the United States was not only installed in a most artistic and picturesque way, but it had great commercial value and received close attention from foreign lumbermen. In this exhibit the United States led all other countries, carrying off 90 prizes. In 'Horticulture' the United States also came first, with 36 honors.

"In 'Machinery' Germany was magnificent. A special effort was made by that country, under the instruction and direction of the Emperor, to surpass all nations in this line of industry. But, great as was Germany in the exhibit of machinery, carrying away 319 awards, the United States was not left behind and astonished the world, receiving 253.

"No exhibit at the Paris Exposition from the United States commanded more attention or received more praise than the daily publication of the Paris Edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES. This paper, issued every afternoon, was printed on a Goss patent straight-line web-perfecting press, which had the capacity of 24,000 papers an hour, printed, pasted, and folded. Every afternoon at 4 o'clock the United States Publishers' Building in the exposition grounds was crowded with visitors waiting to see THE TIMES 'go to press'—the American visitor eager, hungry to get it to read the news from home; the foreigner watching the press with eyes and mouth wide open with astonishment. The Paris Edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES was absolutely an American paper, printed on an American press, with American pressmen in charge. The type was set by American printers on American typesetting machines, and the Paris staff, editorial, reportorial, and business, was composed entirely of Americans.

"The cable news, from America and Europe, was gathered by American reporters. Americans, not only in Paris, but all over Europe, hailed THE TIMES with delight, and one and all deeply regretted the discontinuance of the paper. It was the first American newspaper plant and the first American newspaper ever installed and printed in a foreign exposition, and was an undertaking of difficulties, as well as one unique in journalism. THE TIMES gave the latest news of all kinds from America, and was rich in foreign news.

A GREAT OBJECT LESSON.

"The standard of the paper was high. It was a great object lesson to the foreigner as well as a great educator and a living monument to the spirit and enterprise and progress which marks THE NEW YORK TIMES.

"The massive Goss press on which the Paris NEW YORK TIMES was printed was a marvel in printing machinery to the foreigner, especially to the Paris newspaper man and publisher. When the four large rolls of paper, weighing 3,000 kilos and measuring twenty miles in length, were placed in position by the power hoist and the vast piece of machinery, with its intricate sets of cylinders, commenced to move, printing THE TIMES on both sides, pasting and folding the pages, and turning out the copies like falling snowflakes, in packages of 100 at a time, ready for delivery, there was almost daily a cheer from the crowd and people crowded over each other to secure a copy of the paper.

"The height of the Goss press, on which THE TIMES was printed, is 13 feet 2 inches; length, 18 feet 8 inches; width, 6 feet. As no Paris newspaper press has a capacity of more than 10,000 copies of a four-page paper an hour, it is readily seen that the Goss press and THE NEW YORK TIMES were wonders to the Parisian.

"Another exhibit from the United States which not only excited the wonder of foreigners, and was an educator as well as being of great value to the American exhibitor and the American tourist, was the United States Post Office. It was established by the Postmaster General of the United States under the direction of Commissioner General Peck, and was situated in the United States Pavilion on the Rue des Nations, on the bank of the Seine.

"It consisted of an entire Post Office equipment, ranging from twine to lock boxes; also pigeonholes for letters, canceling machines, desks, and general delivery furniture. There were five different kinds of canceling machines, one having a maximum speed of 40,000 an hour. This exhibit will be displayed at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.

"In fine arts the United States also gave a surprise to the 'Old World.' In this department Austria-Hungary took the lead, receiving 189 awards, with Germany next, getting 179 prizes, Great Britain third, with 167 honors, the United States following with 157 awards, of which six were grand prizes.

"One of the most striking and interesting United States exhibits in the Palace of Civil Engineering was the map of Greater New York, prepared by Louis A. Risse, Chief Engineer of New York City. It is the largest map of any city ever made, 31 feet long, 28 feet wide, and drawn on a scale of 600 feet to one inch, covering an area representing nearly one thousand square miles.

"In the fresh fruit display New York took a prominent part, especially in apples. They were carefully selected specimens, wrapped, each apple, in tissue paper, and shipped across the ocean in refrigerators.

NEW YORK APPLES.

"They arrived in Paris fresh and perfect, and when displayed in the Horticulture Palace were tempting to the eye as well as the palate. In this fruit display a competition was held every two weeks, and in nearly every concourse the United States took the grand prize, Canada coming next. A great deal of the fruit came from far off Colorado, Washington, Idaho, and California.

"The State of California made a wonderful exhibit of fruit, wine, and of farm and mine, and of nearly every product, natural and artificial. Onyx pedestals, rich carvings, statuary, and a fine series of photographs illustrative of California life, social, commercial, and industrial, made a great display for the Pacific Coast, the furthest point distant in the United States from Paris.

"But to tell of the part the United States took at the Paris Exposition, and the successes America has achieved there, would fill a big book. The display of our country at the 1900 Paris Exposition was a wonderful exhibition in itself, representing, as it did, over 4,000 corporations, nearly 7,000 exhibitors, and employing about 10,000 Americans in installing and working the exhibits.

"The Paris Exposition of 1900 surpassed all others in the number of nations exhibiting, in the number of exhibitors, in the area, and in the duration, a period of nearly seven months, or about 204 days. The attendance did not reach the 65,000,000 expected, but it was over 50,000,000.

"The cost of the exposition is estimated at about $28,000,000. As this sum was covered by the issue and sale of bonds, with entrance coupons attached, and by money voted by the State and by the Municipal Council of Paris, the State voting a sum of $4,000,000 and Paris voting a further $4,000,000, the exposition has not lost money.

"The visitor to the great exposition, if he investigated it seriously, could see nothing in it to complain of, and everything to admire. The exposition proved itself a wondrous show. From far and near every nation contributed of its rarest and best, and in its magnificent buildings and palaces, so soon to disappear, were gathered the largest, the finest, and the most representative collection of the industries of the earth that has ever been seen."

REBELS STOP A STEAMER.

Refuse to Allow The Hathor to Go to Buenaventura, Colombia.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 8.—The Kosmos steamer Hathor, which has arrived here, was threatened with bombardment in Colombian waters if the Captain persisted in making for Buenaventura, for which port the steamer had freight. Buenaventura is situated some distance up a river, and while steaming along this waterway the officers and crew were surprised to hear a cannonball whiz across the bows. The vessel was stopped, and three revolutionists came aboard with the statement that a blockade had been declared of the Port of Buenaventura and that the Hathor would have to turn back.

When asked what would happen if they kept on up the river, the reply was that the vessel would certainly be shelled from shore. The Hathor put about and discharged her freight at Corinto.

The Rice Will Photographed.

The will of the late William M. Rice in which Albert T. Patrick figures as the chief beneficiary was photographed in the Surrogates' Court yesterday, under the direction of E. J. Lederle, who also directed the photographing of the documents in the Molineux case. The order for the photographing of the will was issued by Surrogate Fitzgerald, on an application of Hornblower, Byrne, Miller & Potter, attorneys for the beneficiaries of the first will filed. Each page was photographed, the plates being 14 by 17 inches, while the signatures to the document were enlarged to four times the size of the originals.

Killed Himself in His Van.

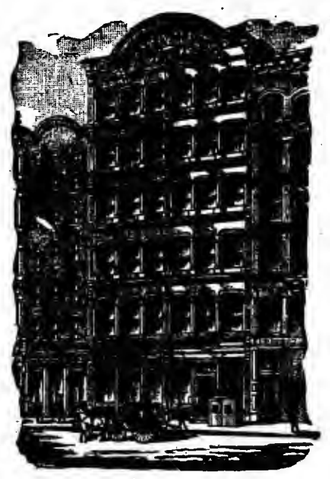
William Silbe, once a prosperous owner of express and moving vans, but of recent years forced to be content to drive a van for another expressman, became disgusted with the whole business and killed himself. He was found yesterday by a policeman lying dead on the floor of his van, which had been stored for the night at 206 West One Hundred and Forty-first Street. A large bottle which had contained carbolic acid was found beside him.

RUSZITS FURS

Their Entire Wholesale STOCK AT RETAIL

73=75=77 Mercer St.

Three doors above Broome St.



73=75=77 Mercer St.

Three doors abov Broome St.

PRIOR TO REORGANIZATION

WE OFFER AT RETAIL

OUR ENTIRE STOCK

OF FINE MANUFACTURED FURS

Comprising Everything Made for Women, Men and Children, also Rugs and Sleigh Robes.

John Ruszits Fur Company,

ESTABLISHED 1851.

Accessible by Broadway Cable at Broome St.; 6th Ave. "L" at Grand St.

FIREMAN FALLS FIVE STORIES.

Is Picked Up by Companions in Baltimore with Comparatively Slight Injuries.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8.—During a fire which destroyed the Baltimore Bargain House, 212 and 220 West Baltimore Street, this morning, Fireman John Flynn fell five stories from the roof of the building. He will recover. His companions who saw him topple backward felt sure that every bone in his body would be broken. In his fall the fireman struck three different times on a zig-zag arrangement of rain spouts.

As he struck the piece of rain spout nearest the ground his fireman's helmet of aluminium fell off and beneath him. He struck upon the helmet, mashing it as flat as a piece of pasteboard. When his companions picked him up he was unconscious, but soon revived, when it was discovered that the only injuries he had received were a number of bruises on his shoulders and a broken ankle.

The stock and building of Grotjan, Lobe & Co., which adjoins the Baltimore Bargain House, were considerably damaged. The Baltimore Bargain House, of which David Epstein is the head, is one of the largest concerns of the kind in the city and had a large holiday stock on hand.

Mr. Epstein is as yet unable to give an accurate estimate of the loss on stock, but roughly places it at $150,000. Grotjan, Lobe & Co. estimate their loss at $5,000, while the loss on the buildings will probably swell the total to $300,000, all being fully covered by insurance.

EMPLOYES HAVE A LIEN.

Referee Holds Dolge Workmen Entitled to Withheld Profits.

UTICA, Dec. 8.—One of the principal features of the business formerly conducted by Alfred Dolge and the firm of Dolge & Son was a profit-sharing or insurance system with the employes. When the failure came about three years ago, there were many thousands of dollars due the employes, who had consented to work for certain wages with the understanding that a share of the profits was to be credited to them each year.

The question arose as to whether these claims were legitimate liens upon the property, and it was finally referred to Hadley Jones of Little Falls. Mr. Jones has filed a report in which he holds that all credits for endowment or deposits made in behalf of any workman are valid and legitimate claims for wages and are to be placed in the preferred class.

GUARD AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS.

Germany Makes Rules to Prevent Spread of the Disease.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The German Department of the Interior has issued a set of instructions conveying compulsory precautions to be taken against the spread of tuberculosis in the empire, a copy of which has been sent to the Department of State by United States Consul Monaghan, at Chemnitz.

The instructions consist of seven articles, providing that doctors under all circumstances where their patients have lung or larynx tuberculosis must give written notice to the police as soon as the case in question has been diagnosed; that immediately after the death of a person from this form of disease the deceased's room and effects must be thoroughly disinfected; that professional women who lay out the dead must report at once in writing to the police authorities whether the disease was of the lungs or larynx, and that keepers of hotels, lodging houses, asylums, or other public institutions shall report immediately the appearance of the disease in the establishment under their control.

Non-compliance with these regulations is subject to a fine of $35.70 or six weeks' imprisonment.

Negro Lynched in Georgia.

ROME, Ga., Dec. 8.—"Bud" Rufus, a negro, who yesterday assaulted and fatally wounded Mrs. Joseph White, wife of a farmer living twenty miles from Rome, was lynched near here to-day. Rufus was taken from the county officers at midnight by a mob. Mrs. White identified the prisoner, who was hurried to a railroad bridge near by. A rope was placed about his neck and he was forced to jump from the bridge. His body was then riddled with bullets.

Died While Attending Dying Wife.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Dec. 8.—Isaac H. White, aged eighty-two, while watching at the bedside of his dying wife, was stricken with apoplex

TENEMENT PROBLEMS IN THE BIG CITIES

Boston, Cincinnati, and Hartford as Bad as New York.

PHILADELPHIA AS A MODEL

Provisions for Wide Air Shafts for High Buildings—Buffalo and Washington Also Have Good Sanitary Regulations.

A comparison of the tenement house conditions in twenty-seven of the largest American cities reveal the fact that, after New York, Boston has the worst conditions of any American city. Hartford, taking into consideration its population, has some very bad housing conditions, in many respects similar to those in Boston.

The comparison is made in the third report of the Tenement House Commission, prepared by Laurence Veiller, the Secretary, and just issued in a book of some sixty pages.

It appears that none of the large American cities, excepting Boston, Cincinnati, Jersey City, and Hartford, have a tenement house problem such as exists in New York. In most of them the poor and working people live generally in small one or two story houses, containing one, or, at most, two families.

With a population of 560,892, Boston has in certain parts of the North End and West End a number of tall tenement houses fronting on narrow alleyways, in which large number of poor foreigners reside. The six and seven story tenements are not so common in that city as in New York, the majority of the buildings not being over four stories high. In the South End the special problem is with the regulation and sanitary inspection of small two and three story houses occupied by several families.

TENEMENT HOUSE LAWS.

The laws in Boston in relation to tenements in many respects resemble the New York statutes, but in several particulars have improved upon them. In 1889 the law passed seven years before, which required that all tenement houses erected thereafter should be fireproof throughout, was so changed as to require that no building thereafter erected should be occupied above the second floor by more than one family, unless it was a first or second class building; a first-class building being defined as one fireproof throughout, and a second-class building being one in which the external or party walls were of brick, stone, or iron, or other equally substantial and incombustible material. The act contained a provision limiting the height of buildings so that they could not exceed two and a half times the width of the street on which they stand.

Cincinnati, with a population of 325,902, after New York and Boston, has the worst conditions of any city. It resembles New York in that it possesses nearly all kinds of bad housings from the large block buildings, with hundreds of occupants, to the small, dilapidated wooden house, occupied by two or three families. As far as can be ascertained, the majority of the poor and working classes live in tenement houses arranged for more than three families each, a considerable number living in large brick tenements similar to those here, but not so high, and in many ways better. Others live in old private dwellings converted into tenements, and many live in ramshackle, dilapidated buildings. The houseboats shelter others. Little has been done to remedy the conditions, a statistical inquiry in 1894 by the Ohio Commissioner of Labor resulting in no practical changes.

IN THE SMALLER CITIES.

Hartford, Conn., with a population of only 79,850, has many of the evils. Not only are there old, dilapidated, wooden, and brick buildings, which were formerly private residences, now occupied by several families, but there are also numerous tenement houses erected for the special purpose of housing a number of people. Lately there have been erected some flats and tenements on the "double-decker, dumbbell" plan, with small air shafts, as in New York. Hartford has practically no special laws on the subject, beyond the general requirements of the Board of Health in regard to light and ventilation.

Pittsburg, with a population of 321,616, is one of the few cities where bad housing conditions have been gradually increasing in recent years. There is a considerable foreign population, and overcrowding has become evident in certain sections, although there are few large tenement buildings. In certain parts of the city there are dark and damp cellar dwellings, and a small part of the population occupies wooden shanties on the outskirts of the city. There are practically no laws in relation to tenement houses.

Although Chicago has no "tenement house problem," it has a number of ordinances on the subject, looking to the sanitary conditions. They are modeled, generally, on those of New York and Boston. Kansas City is one of the cities where housing conditions are gradually assuming a phase which will necessitate legislative action. There are a number of cases where persons are lodged in rooms partly underground, in damp basements, and many persons live in tumbledown shanties.

Philadelphia, with a population of a million and a quarter; St. Louis, with a population of over half a million; Baltimore, with a population of over half a million, and Cleveland, Buffalo, San Francisco, New Orleans, Detroit, Milwaukee, and Washington, each of which cities has a population of over a quarter of a million, have no tenement house problem.

MODEL TENEMENT LAWS.

It is pointed out the laws of Buffalo, Philadelphia, and Washington might well serve as a model for New York in many respects, especially in regard to provision for light and air. The Buffalo law provides that "no court or shaft shall be less than six feet wide for one-story and two-story buildings, and at least eight feet wide for three-story and four-story buildings, and one foot wider for each additional story above the fourth story." The Philadelphia law provides that "no shaft or court shall be less than eight feet wide in any part, and that any court or shaft between the wings of a tenement house or between two tenement houses shall not be less in width than twelve feet; and all such shafts and courts shall be open on one side from the ground to the sky."

The present provisions of the New York law permits, instead of wide shafts, mere slits twenty-eight inches wide and sixty feet long, and closed in on all four sides.

A TRADE UNION'S SCHOOLS.

Young Painters and Decorators to Learn the Higher Branches of the Business.

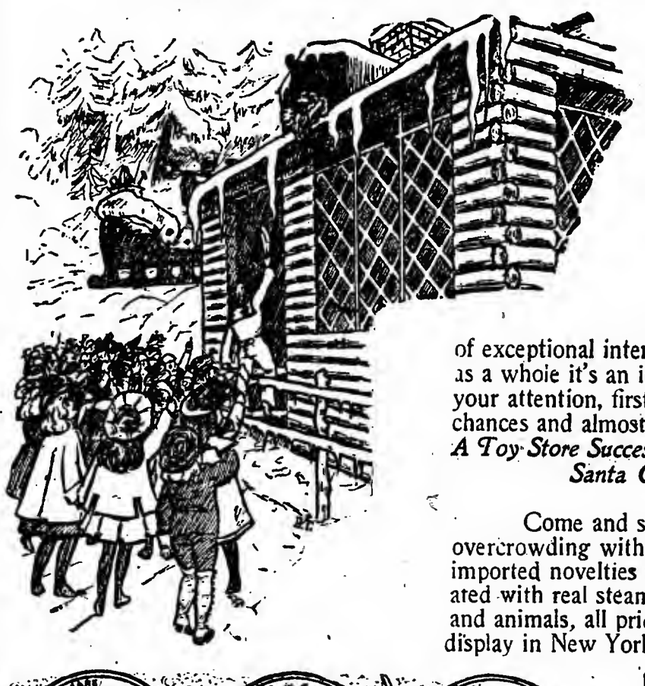
The Amalgamated Society of Painters and Decorators, which has 6,000 members, with branches in the Boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, and Richmond, decided last week to open libraries in all five boroughs for members of the society. The New York branch has a library at present containing 1,000 volumes at its headquarters, Fifty-seventh Street and Third Avenue, and a library will be opened this week for the Brooklyn branch at 407 Bridge Street, Brooklyn.

J. Callanan, business agent for the New York branch, said yesterday that trade schools would also be opened to elevate the trade and teach apprentices and young members the higher branches of the business. One of these training schools has been already established at 147 East Forty-second Street. It is paid for by the locals of the union.

"Experts who have done decorative work in Rome, Italy; Germany, France, and England, where decorative work is cultivated more than here, will give lessons," said Delegate Callanan. "We can by this means educate young members in artistic work and generally raise the standard of the trade here. By educating the tastes of the people up to European standards we can also advance the material prosperity of the workers, as the work of decorative painters will then command higher wages."

Ehrich Bros. Ehrich Bros. Ehrich Bros.

Though Our Store is Crowded at This Season, You are Surrounded by Refined People. It is a Pleasure to Shop Here.



The Greatest of All Holiday Successes.

The Most Elaborate Toy Display in America.

Beautiful Assortments of All Good Sorts of Holiday Gifts.

In every nook and corner of these five extensive floors there are gift things of exceptional interest. Rarest beauty is here from every centre of industry known to the world. Taken as a whole it's an industrial exposition rarely equalled anywhere, and never surpassed. The showing merits your attention, first, because it is instructive and entertaining; secondly, because it offers rarest economy chances and almost endless variation for the selection and purchase of Christmas remembrances.

A Toy Store Success Beyond all Precedent.

Santa Claus Gives Toys and Sleds to Children Accompanied by Parents or Guardians.

Enjoyable Concerts from 10 A. M. to 12 M., and from 3 to 5 P. M.

Come and see this new Toy Store. Nearly three-fourths of the entire floor space filled almost to overcrowding with the most perfect art and mechanical effects from home and foreign markets. We have imported novelties that will be found in no other store in America. Engines, mills and toy vessels operated with real steam or spring mechanism. Hill-climbing automobiles, mechanical dancers, clowns, birds and animals, all priced remarkably low. And don't forget the doll section—the largest, most beautiful display in New York. Anywhere from 5c. to $25 you can buy artistic effects that will bring joy to the hearts of young mothers.

Best Books for Young and Old.

New Book Store, South Aisle, Main Floor.

Important Monday Special.

SPECIAL SALE on Monday of Handy Classics, comprising 140 standard and select books by the world's greatest authors. Printed from large, clear type, bound in art linen cloth, stamped in silver from attractive designs; sale price . . . 7c

Here are a few of the titles:

Abbe Constantin.
Barrack Room Ballads. Rudyard Kipling.
Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush. Ian Maclaren.
Bird of Passage, A. Beatrice Harraden.
Black Beauty. Anna Sewall.
Browning's Poems. Robert Browning.
Burns's Poems. Robert Burns.
Change of Air. A. Anthony Hope.
Coming Race, The. Lord Lytton.
Cranford. Mrs. Gaskell.
Crown of Wild Olive. John Ruskin.
Dickens's Story Teller. Chas. Dickens.
Hiawatha. H. W. Longfellow.
Imitation of Christ. Thomas a Kempis.
John Halifax. Miss Mulock.
Lalla Rookh. Thomas Moore.

$1.00 Volumes at 29c.

Berkeley Library, printed on fine laid paper, illustrated with photogravure frontispieces and other illustrations, bound in different colors of English cloth, gilt top, ribbon marker, illuminated title page in two colors. Regular price $1 per volume. Monday's sale price 29c. Here are a few of the titles:

Adam Bede.	Romola.
Alhambra.	Peter Simple.
The Bondman.	Rienzi.
David Copperfield.	Rob Roy.
Faust.	Scarlet Letter.
Ivanhoe.	Twenty Years After.
Kipling's Poems.	Tennyson's Poems.
Lady of the Lake.	Vanity Fair.
Longfellow's Poems.	Wormwood.

Gift Books.

WATER BABIES. By Charles Kinsley. Illustrated. Special holiday issue of one of the most charming stories for children; eight full-page half-tone pictures . . . 78c

BECAUSE I LOVE YOU. Edited by Anna E. Mack. A choice collection of love poems, black, white, and gilt boxes. For sweetheart or friend. Publisher's price $1.50; our price . . . 98c

LAST DAYS OF POMPEII. By Bulwer Lytton. Fifty-eight full page monogravure illustrations. Special cloth Library edition. Two volumes, boxed. Publisher's price, $3.00; our price . . . 1.99

THE UNCHANGING EAST. By Robert Barr. 2 vols., cloth, gilt top, decorative cover design . . . 2.19

FitzGerald's RUBAIYAT OF OMAR KHAYYAM . . . 39c

Great Composers, by Louis C. Elson . . .
Famous Singers, by Henry C. Lahn . . .
Famous Violinists, by Henry C. Lahn . . .
Famous Pianists, by Henry C. Lahn . . .
Contemporary American Composers, by Rupert Hughes . . . } 2 vols. each, cloth, ornamented cover. 2.19

SHAKESPEARE IN MUSIC—A collection of the chief musical allusions in the plays of Shakespeare, with an attempt at their explanations and derivation, together with much of the original music. By Louis C. Elson. Illustrated. Price . . . 1.48

THE LADY OF THE LAKE, by Walter Scott; illustrated.

CRANFORD, by Mrs. Gaskell; illustrated.

A PRINCESS OF THULE, by William Black; illustrated.

A SENTIMENTAL JOURNEY, by Laurence Sterne, illustrated.

Printed on clean, soft paper, rich and artistic bindings; gold stampings; especially designed cover for each volume, price . . . 1.08

MRS. RORER'S COOK BOOK, A manual for Home Economies. By Mrs. S. T. Rorer. Price . . . 1.19

HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES. By John Clark Ridpath. Revised and enlarged edition . . . 1.35

THE ANIMAL WORLD.—A pictorial encyclopedia of all the marvelous creatures of the kingdom of nature. Edited by Mrs. Frank Leslie; 440 pages; price . . . 89c

For Boys and Girls.

The best assortment of Boys' and Girls' Books at the lowest prices. Of the large variety we mention the following at random:

TRUE BEAR STORIES, by Joaquin Miller. Illustrated. The author tries to show in this book the bear as he is, not the traditional bear of the story-books . . . 89c

KIPLING BOY STORIES, by Rudyard Kipling. A carefully selected collection of stories of interesting literature for the young mind . . . 59c

Sophie May's Stories for Young Folks, Dottie Dimple Series, Little Prudy Series . . . 48c

THE LITTLE DREAMER'S ADVENTURE, by Frank Samuel Child.

THE HOUSE WITH SIXTY CLOSETS, by Frank Samuel Child.

WITH LAWTON AND ROBERTS, by Elbridge S. Brooks.

IN DEFENSE OF THE FLAG, by Elbridge S. Brooks.

THE NOANK'S LOG, by W. O. Stoddard.

BULLY, FAG, AND HERO, by Chas. I. Mansford.

TOLD UNDER THE CHERRY TREE, by Grace Le Baron.

TWO LITTLE STREET SINGERS, by Nora A. M. Roe.

These are but a few. All the well-known authors are represented. As far as price is concerned, you may rest assured a visit to the book department will pay you—for the prices are right.

Wood's Natural History.
The Swiss Family Robinson,
Robinson Crusoe,
Pilgrim's Progress,
Aesop's Fables,
Andersen's Fairy Tales, } 23c each.

Notes from Toy Land.

Fourth Floor.

The Doll Section.

12-INCH JOINTED DOLLS, nicely dressed in various styles and colors of gowns, each . . . 25c

13-INCH JOINTED DOLLS, nicely dressed, cap to match . . . 49c

13-INCH JOINTED DOLLS, closing eyes, organdie dresses, each . . . 59c

12-IN. JOINTED DOLL, Red Riding hood costume . . . 75c

16-IN. JOINTED DOLL, closing eyes, prettily dressed in plaids of various colors, each . . . 1.25

18-IN. JOINTED DOLL, closing eyes, organdie dress, trimmed with ribbon . . . 1.69

BABY DOLLS, long dresses, worsted sacque and cap, closing eyes, 1.98

19-IN. JOINTED DOLL, organdie dress, yoke trimmed with flowers and lace, tucked skirt, cap to match . . . 1.98

21-inch JOINTED DOLL, dressed in satin of various colors with trimmings in contrasting colors, large white lace trimmed bonnet . . . 3.98

20-inch JOINTED DOLLS, handsome silk and chiffon dress and hat, elaborately made, ribbon trimmed . . . 12.50

24-IN. JOINTED BABY DOLL, richly dressed in long silk, lace trimmed, silk coat trimmed with baby fur, yoke of dress trimmed with lace and insertion, long satin ribbons, pretty lace cap . . . 17.00

Scores of beauties at intermediate prices. Complete outfits in all sizes. Undressed dolls remarkably low.

Games for Young and Old.

MAGNETIC FISH POND, fascinating for every one, suitable for eight players . . . 1.25

PARLOR GOLF, decidedly new, suitable for lawn or parlor, same rules as regular game, suitable for three players . . . 1.39

COMBINOLA BOARD, 20 games combined in one outfit, complete . . . 2.00

KING'S QUOITS, highly entertaining, on the order of tiddledewinks, for two or four players, pin board and rings complete . . . 75c

POST OFFICE GAME, on plan of delivery system in Manhattan, very instructive; three can play . . . 1.25

KELB, a new Arabian game, somewhat like checkers, two players . . . 39c

BEN HUR, or the chariot race, played with dice and small chariots, 2 to 4 players . . . 75c

Other games, almost innumerable, all entertaining, many highly instructive; prices 5c. to 5.00

Toy Horses and Wagons.

REAL SKIN HORSE, 15 in. high, 18 in. long, with saddle, bridle and stirrups, mounted on platform and wheels . . . 2.19

WOODEN HOBBY HORSE, mounted on standard, swing motion, 2½ ft. high, 3 ft. long 2.45

FIRE APPARATUS, strongly made, handsomely finished, will carry 3 to 5 boys.

HOOK AND LADDER TRUCK, extension ladder . . . 15.00

FIRE PATROL, police and drivers' seats, rear step . . . 7.25

SAME PATROL, without cushions. 6.00

LADDER TRUCK, ladder in 4 sections, 2 seats . . . 3.49

EXPRESS WAGONS, strongly made, carefully finished, various sizes, from 1.19 to . . . 49c

ENGLISH DOG-CART, with real skin galloping horse, harness, whip and cushions complete, strongly made, richly finished, at . . . 25.00

Smaller size, equally handsome, at . . . 20.00

Doll Houses, Toy Stores.

Here's a three-story square COTTAGE, almost large enough to house the child herself; 4 rooms and attic all uniquely furnished; glass doors and windows, sliding front, complete, at . . . 30.00

Other sizes in a score or more of different architectures, at prices ranging down to . . . 98c

TOY STORES of all kinds, completely outfitted, up from . . . 69c

Mechanical Toys.

MECHANICAL TORPEDO BOATS, screw propeller, each . . . 98c

TOY AUTOMOBILES, spring mechanism, each . . . 98c

WAR VESSELS, completely outfitted, double and single propellors, modeled after well-known war ships, one at $30.00, another . . . 15.00

MECHANICAL TRAINS, with track, engine, tender and one car . . . 1.19

ELECTRIC CARS, spring mechanism . . . 75c

LARGER, "hill climber" . . . 98c

Miscellaneous.

All sorts of sporting and gymnasium goods.

Musical Instruments.

Iron Toys, indestructible.

Parlor Pool and Billiard Tables.

Blackboards, Desks, Childs' and Dolls' Furniture.

Art Embroidery.

Dainty presents here at half what you'd expect to pay; all designed and executed in most artistic manner.

HAND EMBROIDERED SATIN CUSHION TOPS, handsome designs, sold elsewhere at $3.00, our price . . . 1.49

IRISH POINT SCARFS and SHAMS, embroidered, in the newest openwork designs, with double edges, 75c. and $1.00 grade, at . . . 49c

HAND-EMBROIDERED IRISH POINT CENTRE PIECES and Scarf Goods, which we have sold at $3.00 and $4.00, special at . . . 1.98

SILK AND SATIN LAMBREQUINS, with hand embroidery of silk and tinsel, the same grade we have sold at $10.00 and $15.00, for this sale . . . 7.75

PIN CUSHIONS, trimmed with satin ruffle and lace, hand-painted, neat designs, special at $1.25 and . . . 1.98

SILK AND SATIN HANDKERCHIEF RECEIVERS, hand painted and trimmed with laces, regularly $3.00 to $4.00, now at . . . 2.25

6th Ave. and 23rd St. 6th Ave. and 23rd St. 6th Ave. and 23rd St.

"MOHTAL PAHT OF GLORY"

Uncle Eph Explains Why the Arch Came Down.

"Mistah" Admiral Dewey Owned the House, but Some One Else Held the String.

Uncle Eph and the little boy were strolling down Broadway very slowly. It was raining, but as the little fellow had on his rubbers and was well wrapped up, Eph felt that he was secure against the elements. And to the boy a little thing like a cold seemed a small price to pay for the marvelous descriptions of the points of interest along the way.

"Oh, Uncle Eph," said the lad suddenly, "look at that!"

"I been a-lookin' at it foh a long time," was the answer. "Dat's why I ain't done say much. Kindah mek ole Eph do some tall thinkun."

"What is it!" asked the child.

"Mos'ly rubbish. Dat's what 'tis."

"But up there—look—those figures. Why, they're soldiers and guns. What is it, Uncle Eph?"

"Well, sence you so resistent, guess I'll hat to tell you. But I doan't 'spec' you'll know any mo' 'bout it when I git froo."

"Why not? Don't I always like your stories?"

"Yep. But dis ain't a stohy. Leastways, not 'zactly. You jes only a boy, so how you gwine undahstan."

The boy said that he would try to, anyhow, and after a promise of no interruptions had been exacted, Eph pointed a long skinny finger at the object and stood silent for several minutes. Finally, with deep solemnity and an elocution that had been caught from one of the brethren at a late revival meeting, he began:

"Dat," he said, "am de mohtal paht ob glohy. Dat am de skin and bones and flesh ob grateness. Dat am de last po' fragmunt of de devoshun ob de people to dey idol. And it only go to show dat dis yeah thing ob bein' a hero ain't all it cracked up to be."

The boy's eyes dilated, and he remarked timidly that he didn't exactly understand.

"Cose not," said Eph; "I tole you you wouldn't. Did you ebah heah tell ob Mistah Adm'al Dewey?"

"Of course," shouted the child, "he's the one papa had the picture of all decorated with flags."

"Dat's him. But I notice you say de pictuah papa had. You doan say de pictuah papa got. Whah dat pictuah now?"

"Come to think of it, Uncle Eph, I haven't seen it lately."

"Dat pictuah am turn to de wall, boy. An' dat thing ovah yondah am de Mistah Adm'al Dewey ahch on it way to de dump."

"O," said the boy, "what a pity!"

"Well, maybe, an' maybe not. What de use of de flesh and de bones widout de soul and de sperrit? And dat gone out ob it long ago. Listen, I gwine tell you all 'bout it."

The boy assented readily, and the pair stood watching the loading of the débris. Several cart horses and a mule were stamping restlessly.

"You 'membah how Mistah Ad'mal Dewey done filmfiam de Spangers in de Vanilla ha'bah, doan you? Well, aftah dat, evahbody done want him to cum right home an' be de Praisident. But Mistah Ad'mal Dewey he say he got little busfness to tend to fust. Den he cum back home."

"That was when they had the big parade, wasn't it?"

"Yes. Dat de time. And aftah dat he ride in a kerridge, undah de ahch and de people dey act loonie. De parade last most a whole day.

"And wahn't nuffin' too good, 'bout then, foh Mistah Adm'al Dewey. Dey say he got to hab a house all to hisself, and dey goin' buy it foh him.

"But Mistah Adm'al Dewey he think what de use ob a house ef dey ain't somebody in it to tub and do de mendin'.

"And he says he goin' to get mahried, and hab some one to take kyah ob de house."

"Of course," said the boy; "just like mother."

"Not meanin' no disre'pec' to yo' pa, sellin' lard and bein' a hero ain't de same. Yo' pa he done got de right to mahry yo' ma. But evahbody say it diffunt wid Mistah Ad'mal Dewey.

"An' when he say to de lady dat as she goin' to haf to wash de windahs and keep de frun' do' bell polish, dey bettah jes play dat de house belongs to her, dah was de worst row you ebah hear tell of.

"De people say dey want dem presents back."

"Wusn't it his house?"

"Well, he had de house, but some one else done hab hold ob de string. Anyhow, bout dat time it war noticed at de Post Office dat dey wa'nt such a rush to de Money Ohdah Pahtment, and de men what was tryin' to get money nuff to make ovah dis yeah ahch in mahbie find dat dey had plenty time to go out foh lunch between openin' ob envelopes.

"Dey done dey best. But you can't put bref in a dead body."

Just then the refractory mule gave a kick and a large section of staff was shattered into fragments.

"Po' Mistah Ad'mal," remarked Eph, shaking his head gravely, "I thought all de mules done had dey shy at him. But it looks like dere's some left waitin' foh a chance."

NEW RED STAR LINER COMING.

The Vaderland Sails from Antwerp—Will Call at Southampton.

The new transatlantic liner Vaderland of the Red Star Line service of the International Navigation Company sailed from Antwerp for New York on her maiden passage yesterday. She is said to be the largest vessel that ever left that port. A cablegram received by the company reports that the vessel had an enthusiastic send-off. She will call at Southampton and will be retained in the Southampton service while the St. Paul is being repaired at the Cramp yards, in Philadelphia.

The Vaderland is a twin-screw steamship with a length of 580 feet, breadth, 60 feet; depth, 42 feet, and a gross tonnage of 12,000. Her passenger accommodations are fitted with the latest improvements, with special attention to artificial ventilation, being the Sturtevant system, similar to that on the St. Louis and St. Paul.

The Vaderland is the first of the four new steamships building for the International Navigation Company to run on the Red Star Line between New York and Antwerp, and was launched on the Clyde on July 12, 1900. The Zeeland is building at the same yard. The other two—the Kroonland and Finland—are being built by the Cramps, at Philadelphia.

WOMAN SUES A POLICEMAN

Margaret Lynch Says McCormick Promised to Marry Her.

Romance Which Lasted for Twenty-one Years Ends Abruptly — Policeman's Mind Weak After a Trip Abroad.

Love's young dream turned to rude hatred in the awakening after twenty-one years, is the story brought out by a breach of promise suit instituted yesterday in the City Court by Miss Margaret M. Lynch against Thomas McCormick, who was a roundsman on the harbor police.

When Margaret was a pretty girl of seventeen she met McCormick, who was forty years old, in her father's hat store, on Houston Street, near Orchard. The romance begun there was continued, and, according to an affidavit made by the woman, the policeman asked her to be his wife. She was willing, but her irate father stepped on the scene.

"My daughter marry a policeman," he is alleged to have said; "no, I have higher ambitions for her."

But McCormick, it is alleged, was not discouraged, and promised to marry the girl when the father, who was old and feeble, died.

According to the woman's story, McCormick daily asserted his love for her and "daily" asked her to be his bride. She said that "daily" she renewed her promise to become his wife after her father's death. McCormick later became a boarder in the Lynch home.

On Aug. 1, 1896, Mr. Lynch died. After the funeral, Miss Lynch asserts that McCormick said: "Now, Maggie, we will be married. Get ready for our wedding during the coming Christmas holidays." But, much to Miss Lynch's surprise, a day or two before the wedding McCormick came to her and said: "Maggie, the wedding's off. I'm too old to get married."

From that time on, she says, she waited and hoped, but McCormick was obdurate. She had an affidavit drawn up, as she feared he would carry out an allege threat to draw his savings from various banks and go to Ireland to live. McCormick was arrested on an order issued by Judge McCarthy. He furnished bail in the sum of $500 and was released.

Last August McCormick went to Ireland to visit his family, and his comrades on the force told some interesting stories about him yesterday.

"You see, it's this way," said one; "Mack made up his mind to go home for a spell and see his folks. That was last Summer. It was about that time that 'Skin the Goat,' who was implicated in the Phoenix Park murders, came over here and was detained at the Barge Office. Before he was sent back Mack met him and took a fancy to him. 'I'll meet you in Dublin,' he says to 'Skin the Goat,' and so it was arranged. Now, I don't know whether he met 'Skin the Goat,' but I do know that the next we heard Mack had been picked up on the streets daffy. He had on one black shoe and one tan one; all his money, some $500, was gone."

When a reporter called at McCormick's flat, at 233 Fifth Street, the policeman came into the room to talk to him. A young woman, who was present, told him that it would not be necessary for him to talk and he retired meekly. "He's mentally unbalanced," she said, "and I can tell you anything you want to know."

From her it was learned that McCormick was about to be relieved from duty because of his ill-health.

In his own behalf McCormick, who was called into the room, said that he had never asked the woman to marry him, and never thought of such a thing.

"Her old man and I were good friends," he said, "and I used to go into the hat store to talk to him. A few years ago I went to the Lynchs to live. The mother is paralyzed, and I wanted to help them out. So I lived there to help them keep up their home."

Miss Lynch indignantly refused to discuss the case.

COLER BUYS SAINT'S LETTER.

Acquires an Epistle of St. Vincent de Paul as a Gift for New York Priest.

Controller Coler yesterday received a valuable package from London. It contained a letter written by St. Vincent de Paul in 1659. Controller Coler is a collector of valuable literary and historic relics. A few months ago he found advertised in the catalogue of a London dealer the letter printed below.

A well-known Catholic priest in New York has during the past three years been of great assistance to Controller Coler in certain public matters connected with charitable institutions. Controller Coler thought it would be a present for the priest which would be highly prized, and so he cabled to Brown Brothers & Co., the London bankers, to buy the letter. The price is said to be about $150. The following is a translation of the letter:

From Paris, this 19th of September, 1659.

Sir: The grace of Our Lord be with you forever. I have received your letter of the 29th of August, and have much joy at the good account which you give of the Missions of Loretto. God be praised for the graces which he sends to the laborers and poor people. I cannot enough thank Him for the fact that you have taken possession of the house of Monseigneur the Cardinal Bagny. There is reason to hope that God will bless those who shall inhabit it, through the merit of the kind Sir (Seigneur) who has ceded it to you, and for the sake of him who has procured it for you. I mean Monseigneur the Cardinal of Gency, who is admirable in his goodness as well as for the confidence which he has in that of his Lord. There is, therefore, nothing left for us but to admire him in all his virtues, and find ourselves confused in the thought of our having gone away from him and his benefits in consequence of our unworthy folly. May it please our Lord to crown his apostolic life with immortal glory, and to be Himself our virtue, in order that we may respond to the expectations of this Holy Cardinal.

We expect the last decision of Monseigneur, the Cardinal Antholne, regarding the execution of the foundation which he approved for Loretto, since he did not wish to see him at his last visit.

I send you a letter and memorandum which have been sent me by M. Rignouv, doctor, who has the direction of the priests of the Grand Hospital for the rehabilitation of an apostate who has returned to the Church. I beg of you to work for him.

We have had M. Soudier sick for the past two months, and M. Perraud having been near his end, is better since a few days ago, but dropsy followed the fever, so that we have reason to fear that he will be taken from us. I am in the love of Our Lord, Monseigneur, (Sir,) your very humble servant, VINCENT DE PAUL.

STANDARD OIL SHIP LAUNCHED.

The Astral Is the Largest Sailing Ship Afloat.

BATH, Me., Dec. 8.—The big four-masted steel ship Astral, built for the Standard Oil Company of New York, was successfully launched from the Arthur Sewall Company's yard here to-day. The Astral is 332 feet long, 45.3 feet beam, 26 feet depth of hold, with gross tonnage of 3,206.47, and a carrying capacity of 1,500,000 gallons. The Astral will be the first of the Standard Oil Company's fleet of sailing ships to fly the American flag. She will be commanded by Capt. J. W. Denham of Salem, Mass., formerly a commander of the ship Paramita. The Astral will ply between New York, Japan, and China, carrying oil to the foreign ports and returning with hemp and sugar.

The launching was made an important event, aside from the fact that the Astral is the largest sailing ship in the world, as it was the one-hundredth craft launched by the Sewalls since the family began shipbuilding in 1823. The vessel was christened by Miss Fanny Rucrecht of New York, a daughter of Philip Rucrecht, manager of the foreign shipping department of the company for which the Astral was built.

DOMESTIC SERVANT QUESTION.

Miss Laughlin of the Industrial Commission to Make Special Report.

An investigation of the wages, hours of work, and conditions generally of domestic servants is being started by Miss Gail Laughlin, expert on labor matters of the Industrial Commission at Washington, for the purpose of preparing a special report. Though this investigation has no reference to the attempt being made by Mrs. St Justin Beale to form a union of servant girls. Miss Laughlin has applied to Mrs. Beale for a list of one hundred names and addresses of servant girls in this city. She will send to each of these girls a circular containing questions as to their wages, hours of labor and conditions of work, with a request to fill in the answers and return the circular.

Miss Laughlin was more or less noncommittal as to the expediency or practicability of a regular trades union of servant girls when asked about it yesterday in her New York office. There is at present a flourishing union of servant girls in Syracuse, of which Miss Elizabeth Burns is President, but it has not the aggressive features of a trades union such as Mrs. Beale proposes to organize. Miss Laughlin thought it possible to establish some uniformity of conditions, and that such a union as the one formed in Syracuse was possible provided it was not formed for offensive and defensive purposes.

"As to a regular trades union," she continued, "though I cannot speak positively on the subject, I hardly think it would be practicable or successful. Competent servants need no organization of this kind anyway. The demand for competent servants is greater than the supply, and competent servants can always find good homes, good wages, and good treatment. I have been trying to find out the grievances of servants, but, as a rule, good servants have few complaints to make."

Old Eli.

Miss Babystare—And who was old Eli?

Mr. Undergrad—Why—a—I think he organized Yale's first football team.—Brooklyn Life.

LOAN COMPANY'S TROUBLES

Mr. Kilburn Says He Indorsed Its Relief Plan.

Receivership and Forced Sale of Its Property Disastrous—Again Condemns Real Estate Speculation.

Frederick D. Kilburn, State Superintendent of Banks, was at the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night, and was asked about the affairs of the Anglo-American Mutual Loan and Savings Association, whose plan to turn over all its real estate holdings to a real estate company in order to protect its shareholders from loss, Mr. Kilburn indorsed. He said:

"I authorized the officers and Directors of the association to make the statement that their plan of forming a real estate company to handle their assets had my approval; and, in my opinion, it is the only way in which the association's assets can be protected. If a receiver is appointed the real estate of the association will have to be disposed of for what it will bring, and it will unquestionably be sacrificed.

"The association has good real estate, and, if handled properly, I believe it will bring enough to permit the association to fulfill its obligations to its shareholders. The trouble with the association is that its real estate is subject to prior mortgages. These prior mortgages amount to over $2,000,000, and if there should be a foreclosure under them it would mean disaster to the association's interests. It is for these reasons that I believe the formation of a real estate company to handle the association's holdings is the wisest and safest course."

"How about your report in 1899 severely criticising mutual loan and building associations which speculate in real estate?"

"I do not withdraw a word of it. I think they are bad. I never did believe any money could be made by such associations for their shareholders, and the more I have investigated the subject the firmer has become my opinion. The building and loan association organized in a small town and conducted on the principle of taking first mortgage loans on the property of shareholders is a good thing, but these National associations are bad. They acquire property and make loans all over the country, and it stands to reason that they will get a lot of bad securities. I knew one of these associations which had loans in twenty-one States. Then, too, the expense of conducting these National associations is very great.

"The officers of the Anglo-American Association are all men of high standing, and if allowed to carry out their plan will, I believe, rescue it from its present difficulties. But I repeat that, as a general proposition, I have little faith in such associations."

EMPRESS PLAYED AND LOST

Chinese Ruler's Fatal Mistake in Not Restraining the Boxers.

PLANNED ORGANIZED RISING

Imperial Edicts Worthless — Probable Dethronement—Evidence that She Actuated the Anti-Foreign Movement.

Foreign Correspondence NEW YORK TIMES.

PEKING, Oct. 13.—Chinese diplomacy stops at nothing, under one reading of the imperial edict, decreeing the punishment of the anti-foreign leaders. If read another way the edict means that the Dowager Empress sees an opportunity, which she is glad to embrace, to rid herself of a member of her household, in Prince Tuan, who could soon compass her own downfall.

Royal secrets are not yet sufficiently disclosed to explain the dominant influence of this man. Perhaps the Empress needed no prompting in the anti-foreign movement. There is reason to believe that she initiated it. But when she named Prince Tuan's son as the next Emperor she had a prompter. Since then Tuan has outgrown every figure at court. If the Empress felt herself dwindling beside him, she might well have feared that next year, when the lad will be old enough to be crowned, her career would end, if Tuan were about. She has not played at politics all her life to so little purpose as to be eased by that prospect. Tuan's exile might bar the succession, or install the new Emperor as her tool, whichever suited her.

To what lengths the present military policy of the allies may lead no one predicts. It would seem to point to the dethronement of the Dowager Empress, if nothing more serious befalls her; to the restoration of the Emperor, with a liberal Cabinet of advisers, and to severe punishment, probably by death, of the leaders in the anti-foreign movement. If the military forces be unhampered, as practically they have been so far, they will force those demands to some conclusion.

Suggestions from the Ministers, while civilly received, get little encouragement, except as they fall in with military notions. While it is commonly recognized that civil authority may at any time become supreme, it has been so far unmistakably subordinate, as if the commanders had been given to understand from home that there would be no interference with them until further notice. That understanding suits them so well that they scout propositions to stop short of the plans outlined as a pretense for inviting further trouble in order that another expedition may be sent here, to make two jobs, when one should be sufficient.

When the negotiators, now here and trying to appear industrious, can positively report progress, pending the execution of the military plans, it will be time to believe that the home Governments have directed another course in Chinese affairs than that followed, unvaryingly and consistently up to this time. Appearances may mislead, because in a few weeks the weather will forbid large military movements, while rumor is as impervious to cold in China elsewhere. Hence things accomplished rather than proposed should alone be accepted without reserve.

ORIGIN OF THE RISING.

The dethronement of the Empress is forecast on the ground that she actuated the anti-foreign movement. Evidence in that line is cumulative and seems not to lack plausibility. She has held upon power a grasp too firm to make it conceivable that such a movement could have advanced against her will. The story is that after the seizure of Kiao-chau by the Germans, three years ago, and the subsequent demands resulting in the lease of Port Arthur and Ta-lien-wan to Russia—which was also sending garrisons into Manchuria—Wei-hai-wei to Engl and, and the Bay of Kwang-chau-wan, both its islands, to France, she concluded that the foreigners were taking advantage of China's weakened condition, following the Japanese war, and that these leases were the beginning of territorial encroachments designed to leave her without an empire.

She summoned her Generals in the northern provinces, and through them took vigorous measures to strengthen the defenses and to improve the efficiency of the army with the primary view of resisting the invasion which she feared, and in the hope that she might be prepared to carry this policy as far as circumstances required, even to the expulsion of all foreigners from China. Her Generals took measures in accordance with her instructions, and fresh orders for arms and ammunition went forward to Europe on a large scale.

The Loxer society was one of many patriotic bodies, comething on the Boer-Afrikander order, but not distinctively so until the widespread military activity and the leakage of imperial wishes vitalized it for the purposes that afterward made it notorious. Responsibility for the leakage may not be assigned to individual betrayal, but rather to the waste of military preparation which charged the atmosphere with anti-foreign sentiment. There could hardly have been distinct avowal to the Boxer leaders that the Empress favored the policy of exclusion, but they understood without being told that they might safely develop their principles along practical lines.

Something like a craze for the thing was started. It appealed not only to fanaticism, prevalent in the northwest among the Mohammedans, but a mystic quality which invested it made it specially attractive to thousands. The creed that devotees of Boxer rites became invulnerable found believers among the multitudes, and even natives who rank as highly intelligent subscribed to it; evidence to the contrary proving to the native mind merely that the victims lacked faith or were not sufficiently advanced in the order to enjoy its full benefits.

This society was not discouraged, because it suited the general plan of exclusion, its activities, manifested first in Shan-Tung, when Yu-Hsien was Viceroy, furnished the designation for a movement much broader in its inception than the work of a non-official society could have become. Army preparations had not advanced to the point of readiness for aggression when the Shan-Tung murders occurred, and of course the Empress had excuses ready and a basket of regrets for every foreign complaint regarding them. The demand for Yu-Hsien's removal from office, however, was met in a different way. The Empress sent him from Shan-Tung, where he had done about as much mischief as was possible, to govern Shan-Si, where many helpless foreigners resided. He spared upon whom he could kill, boasted of his work, was continued in power, and if the Empress did not thank him by official promulgation, she could hardly have omitted later to express in person her pleasure over what he had done, for she was his guest when she passed through his province on her recent trip westward.

Boxer depredations might well have excited imperial displeasure, because the zeal shown in them and the extent to which they were carried on, brought a foreign fleet to the north coast in advance of the readiness of the army for the work mapped out for it. Capture of the Taku forts and Admiral Seymour's advance precipitated an official movement. It was imperial troops who drove him back, who afterward made such hot work for the allies at Tien-Tsin, and who, in such numbers as could be spared from escort duty in the imperial flight, opposed the march to this city and its occupation. Boxers were along, but the regular army men did the hard fighting.

Had the Boxers been restrained long enough for the completion of imperial plans, foreign losses, considerable as they were, must have been much greater. If the Boxers had waited for the Chinese troops to make the first attack at Tien-Tsin, the foreign settlement could not have been saved, or any one in it. The Boxers warned the foreigners that they were coming by first setting fire to foreign churches in the native city. When they had finished gloating over this destruction and made their raid, the foreigners were ready for them. Troops must certainly have had sense enough to let the churches wait until after the massacre, which would have taken the foreign settlement unawares and have been easily accomplished. This would have added to the mortality list 800 whites and from 1,000 to 1,500 friendly natives quartered there

FOREIGNERS BLIND TO DANGER.

Of all the marvelous happenings hereabout in late Spring and early Summer the failure to appreciate the situation by those who should have been well informed is most amazing. Even the British Minister, on the eve of the legation siege, when murders had become common and missionaries were seeking safety in flight, laid the troubles to a dry season, and saw no reason why rains should not end them. The Ministers generally held similar views. Intelligent Chinese, whose friendliness and sincerity were undoubted, could not believe that anything graver than an insurrection was possible. Yet all this time the common, ignorant coolies knew what was coming. House servants with families out of the settlements gave up their employment to go home and look after them. Both of these classes warned the foreigners and no one believed them.

With this hold on the credulity of people here and personally observant of affairs, the Empress may well have counted on befooling the outside world, with telegrams declaring that she was protecting the legations, when there were sharpshooters in every vantage point watching for chances to pick off foreigners; guns throwing shells into the legation quarter which destroyed scores of buildings; men prowling about at night to apply the torch, and men digging underground so that the explosion of mines might make certain work where other agencies fell short. All this time she was assuring Europe of her protecting care over the legations, possibly in the hope that the powers might trust the Ministers to her guardianship and not send troops to relieve them. As despatches have reported, provisions and ammunition were nearly exhausted when the troops arrived. Attack could have been resisted only a few days longer.

Diplomatic and military opinion agrees almost without dissent that when the Empress failed to restrain the Boxers, she lost the stake for which she was playing, and exhibited herself as an opportunist rather than as a strategist. Since her troops were to be engaged, she missed it in not taking care that they held others back until they were ready, for then the work might have been thorough. In this view, she was so set on foreign extermination that every life taken or every bit of property destroyed was a move toward the object sought, unmindful of the major plays necessary to win the game. Had she felt that the army was not prepared to resist invasion, but might become so, she might have lulled suspicion everywhere by letting her troops escort and pilot the way here instead of opposing it, and have remained herself to welcome the relief column and bid it godspeed on its early departure, leaving to diplomatic or special agents the indemnity settlements. That course might have left her hope of a renewal of preparations to get rid of foreigners, while now, it is asserted, she has lost that chance forever, unless the troops withdraw from her declared programme unfinished.

Those who urge extreme measures with her have no faith in her edicts. They believe that she will do what may seem to her to be to her personal or immediate advantage and nothing else. Some believe her so heedless of every other consideration that rather than comply with all that is demanded, she will hold the capital at Sian-Foo and let the powers do with Northeastern China as they like, perhaps hoping that they may get into a fight among themselves over it. Her own safety and continuance in power are thought so much to outweigh everything else with her, that she is believed to be willing to chance the resignation of the Viceroys of Nanking, Hankow, Shan-Tung, and the loss of revenue from those rich sources, as are threatened unless the Court is re-established here.

It is upon these grounds that the demands rest. Those who persist in them declare that only in this way can foreign lives or property have any future assurance of safety in China. Indemnity settlements are held to be quite apart from the effective punishment of those responsible for what has occurred. The Boxer rabble cuts small figure in this calculation. Things known to be accomplished will alone be believed, and edicts pass as mere words, which, if authentic, should be placed in parallel columns with the earlier professions regarding the safety of the Ministers.

FREDERICK W. EDDY.

A VERY COSTLY PUN.

Alleged Joke in The Daily Chronicle of London Led to Libel Action and £1,900 Damages.

Foreign Correspondence NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—There is a humorist on the staff of The Daily Chronicle who will probably consider matters carefully from various points of view hereafter before he succumbs to the temptation to make puns on current litigation, since his last lapse in this direction has just cost his paper $9,500.

In the Queen's Bench Division of the High Courts of Justice, Farquhar, North & Co., a firm that deals in canned goods, sued The Chronicle for damages for libel. The editorial paragraph to which the firm objected, and in which the humorist's pun was concealed, was as follows:

The duties of a County Court Judge are fairly extensive, and include the fitting of ladies' bolices and the determination of all manner of intimate questions. But even Judge Emden can hardly be expected to verify by tasting the quality of certain jars of potted salmon and shrimp which a grocer finds too bad to pay for. Shrinking a personal experiment, Judge Emden inquired for the traveler who had booked the order, and, learning that he had left for the front, asked if he had taken any of these jars with him. "They are more deadly than Boer shells," replied the grocer. The answer opens a welcome prospect of supplies in case our ammunition runs low. There seems to be a never-failing supply of very imperfectly preserved food upon which inspectors can lay their hands, and if we draw on the stock of the meat preservers of the Old Kent Road, who lost their case at Lambeth yesterday, we should be certain of giving the Boers a nasty jar.

The jury was informed by the plaintiff's counsel that this article was based upon a case in the Lambeth County Court, tried last February, in which Farquhar, North & Co. had sued a grocer for the price of several cans of potted salmon and shrimp and had lost their case, the grocer claiming that the articles supplied to him were imperfect. Counsel further stated that the firm's output amounted to more than 500,000 cans of preserved meats a year; and that, while every precaution to prevent deterioration was taken, it was impossible always to effect this result, though the food that was returned as bad only amounted to between a quarter and a half of 1 per cent. A member of the firm testified that the article in The Chronicle had caused a considerable falling off in their trade, and that, though he had requested the newspaper to publish an apology, it had failed to do so.

The Daily Chronicle's defense was that its article was not actuated by malice, and was only fair comment on a case heard in court; but, though the man whose delight in his pun led him to perpetrate the objectionable paragraph, swore to his good faith in the matter, Judge and jury decided that the plaintiffs had been libeled, and the proprietors of The Chronicle were ordered to pay £1,900 damages and the costs of the action.

ARRESTED FOR OBEYING ORDERS.

Trial of Trooper for Killing a Native in South Africa.

Foreign Correspondence NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Dispatches to the English newspapers this week from Cape Town bring out the curious fact that the question how far a private soldier is protected in carrying out the orders of his superior officer has never been decided in an English court of law.

At the first sitting of the Special Treason Court in Cape Town the first case on the calendar, by a strange irony, so far from being one of treason, was that of a British soldier who had killed a native while engaged in the "quelling of rebellion." The circumstances were as follows:

In November of last year Capt. Cox of the New South Wales Lancers was sent with a small patrol to seize horses and stock on a rebel farm near Colesberg. One of the patrol was the soldier mentioned, a private named Smith. The bridle, of one of the horses taken was missing, and Capt. Cox ordered Smith to compel the native servant belonging to the farm to get it without delay, as there was imminent danger of the enemy swooping down on the little patrol.

"If he refuses to get it at once," the Captain added, "drill a hole through him."

The native, according to the dispatches, "behaved in a very dilatory way, and refused to hurry, though continually ordered to do so," whereupon Smith shot the man through the head. The justification for this act set up by counsel for the defense was that Smith was obeying the orders of his superior officer, and it was then that the discovery was made that the point as to how far a soldier is protected in obeying orders had never been decided by the English courts.

The Cape Town Judge, however, laid it down as a safe rule that a soldier, honestly believing that he was doing his duty in carrying out orders, was entitled to protection, and this protection the Court accorded to the accused trooper, who was acquitted amid loud applause.

New Foreign Mail Station Open.

The new foreign station which the Post Office Department has established at Morton and West Streets was put in operation yesterday afternoon. The new station, whose establishment has withdrawn about 400 men from the General Post Office, is under the supervision of Richard Van Cott, Superintendent of City Delivery.

IN FOREIGN LANDS.

IMPORTANT COMMERCIAL ARRANGEMENT BETWEEN TURKEY AND BULGARIA.—A commercial compact was recently signed at Sofia by M. Ivantcoff, the Bulgarian Prime Minister, and Nejib Effendi Melheme, the Ottoman Commissioner, which is the initial step in forming a new basis of relations between the suzerain of Turkey and her vassal States. It is rumored, however, that the foreign powers may object should the arrangement be developed so as to create new political conditions among other States nominally within the limits of the Ottoman Empire.

Article I. lays down the general principle of reciprocal free trade between the two countries.

Article II. provides that small cattle, cereals, and flour will continue to pay 8 per cent. ad valorem on entering Turkey, while soap, tow, prepared hides, and cotton yarns will pay the same duty on entering Bulgaria.

Article III. excludes salt, tobacco, and spirituous drinks from the arrangement, the revenue derived from them being affected by the Ottoman debt.

Article IV. pledges Bulgaria to impose no excise on sweetmeats, edible oil, fish, soap, and numerous other commodities.

Article V. establishes reciprocity as regards manufactured articles.

Article VI. provides that certificates of origin shall be issued on both sides, with the purpose of preventing the fraudulent introduction of foreign goods through either country. Both States further stipulate that no new tax or augmentation of duty on merchandise shall be imposed on either side.

Article VII. fixes Dec. 28, 1900, as the date on which the new arrangement takes effect. It will continue in force until nine months after it has been denounced by either party.

***

PICTURE POSTAL CARDS PROHIBITED IN TURKEY.—Last Summer the illustrated postal card craze extended to Constantinople, and the cards containing photographic and pen-drawn reproductions of Government buildings, mosques, street scenes, and types of Mussulman life became very popular among tourists in the Levant. Recently, by virtue of an Imperial Irade, the Sublime Porte has forbidden the introduction into the Ottoman Empire or the manufacture threin of picture postal cards bearing or signifying the names of God and His prophet Mahomed, reproductions of the Kaaba, and all other Mussulman religious buildings, as well as portraits of Mahommedan women. This decision of the Council of Ministers has been transmitted to the foreign legations in Constantinople, with the request that it be communicated to all whom it may concern.

Soon after the publication of the Irade the police seized all such cards found in the possession of salesmen of Turkish nationality in Constantinople and bought up at cost price all they could find in the possession of citizens of other States.

It is said that this interdiction is founded upon the prohibition in the Koran forbidding the use among the Faithful of the representation of all animal and even vegetable life in any picture or decoration. It is estimated by foreign merchants in Constantinople that the Irade will prove a severe blow to a perfectly legitimate, artistic industry, and it is pointed out by the manufacturers of these cards in Paris and Brussels, as well as in Constantinople, that the tourists would be obliged to give up a very pleasant amusement, as the little pictures of mosques, open-air religious ceremonies, pilgrimages, as well as pictures of Turkish women in costume presented a fruthful and interesting panorama of life in the Levant. The Turkish Post Office has received orders to refuse to accept these cards for transmission out of Turkey, while the customs officials have instructions to seize any that may be sent into the country.

***

ALLEGED PERSECUTION OF MAHOMEDANS IN BOSNIA.—Owing to the complaints that have been addressed by the Porte to the Hungarian Government concerning the alleged persecution of the Mahomedan population of Bosnia, the Hungarian Prime Minister was interpellated in the Reichstag the other day. The Minister, M. Szell, defended the Bosnian authorities, and denied the charges made by the leading Mohamedans in the province.

He said that whatever cause for complaint there might have been in the past, owing to the unequal treatment of the different creeds, that had been put an end to by the present administration. For instance, strangers are not now allowed to enter Mahomedan dwellings, and notice must be given of domiciliary visits in order to enable the females to retire, while women can only be unveiled in presence of the Cadi. The customary prayers and abolitions are permitted both in the army and the schools. The Mahomedan civil code and law of inheritance are in force, and are administered by Mahomedan Judges. The minarets are illuminated on Mahomedan festivals, when the usual festivities are observed. The inhabitants were also allowed to celebrate the Sultan's jubilee.

In 1882 a Mahomedan consistory was created which is maintained, not by the population, but at the cost of the Government. Of the sixteen municipalities in Bosnia, no fewer than sixty have Mahomedan burgomasters. As to the alleged Catholic proselytism, the Prime Minister observed that only two cases had been reported, and that had occurred in Dalmatia. During the past twenty years thirty-three Mahomedans in all had changed their religion. On the other hand, there had been within the same period twenty converts to the Mahomedan faith.

***

THE NEW SPANISH BUDGET.—According to the report of the Spanish Minister of Finance, recently presented to the Cortes, the Budget scheme for 1901 shows an increase of expenditure amounting to 21,046,329 pesetas, as compared with that for 1900. But it is estimated that there will be an increase of revenue amounting to 48,438,166 pesetas, which is expected to be derived from the following sources: Direct taxation, 16,506,940 pesetas, (almost equal to the war loan direct taxation of 1898-99;) indirect taxation, 21,500,000 pesetas; state monopolies, 7,050,000 pesetas; state dues, 3,126,226 pesetas, and miscellaneous receipts, 250,000 pesetas.

The expenditure for 1900 amounts to 920,498,150 pesetas, and the receipts to 934,428,380 pesetas, which leaves a surplus of 7,930,230 pesetas, which will be employed for the purchase of rapid-fire guns. There is also a scheme outlined in the report for the consolidation of the debts incurred during the colonial wars, and two other bills are announced bearing upon the spirit tax and retiring pensions.

***

AMERICAN PETROLEUM TRADE WITH GERMANY SAID TO BE THREATENED.—According to advices from Stuttgart, the German acetylene gas industry has so developed as to be a question of great economic importance, having a direct influence upon a great American industry. Germany annually pays the United States $25,000,000 for petroleum used for purposes of light and fuel. As a direct result, the American manufacturers of petroleum implements, novelty lamps, stoves, &c., find in Germany a large market. According to the British Consul in Stuttgart the growth of the acetylene gas industry will shortly reduce this trade in petroleum to a very small item.

In his report to his superiors in London, which is a very elaborate document in comparison with the usual reports of British consuls, he points out that five years ago calcium carbide was known only to trained chemists as an interesting chemical compound, and was quite unknown to the public. Now its production is one of the most important chemical industries. Germany was foremost to recognize the new illuminant, and it has secured the principal place in its production.

At present there are at least 200,000 jets of acetylene gas in use in the country, and it is, the British Consul says, impossible to predict the result of the competition between it and its rival illuminants. Probably petroleum will suffer most; coal gas will be superseded to a great extent, especially in lighting small towns, but electricity will not be appreciably affected, and he concludes: "No other branch of industry can point to such a large and steady increase in the number of patents, showing that it has encouraged great fertility of invention. Besides producing it at home, German capital has gone abroad to produce carbide, especially to Norway and Switzerland. One of the greatest successes of the industry has been its application to the lighting of railway carriages on German Government linea.

"During the current year the consumption of carbides in Germany is estimated at 17,000 tons, equal in illuminating power to about 7,000,000 gallons of petroleum. Thirty-two small towns, with populations up to 5,000, are lighted by acetylene, and many more contemplate its adoption, and the progress of the system of lighting," says the Consul, "is another striking instance of the manner in which the magnificent system of technical education has prepared the way for the introduction of new scientific achievements."

THE VIRGINIA CONVENTION

Negro Disfranchisement Will Be Main Question Before It.

SENATOR DANIEL'S NEW PLAN

It Is to Exempt from Disfranchisement All Illiterate War Veterans.

Special to The New York Times.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 8.—Of the many important subjects which the Virginia Constitutional Convention will be called upon to consider, the franchise question will be the overshadowing one. The Democrats of this State have committed themselves to the policy of disfranchising the illiterate negroes without including the whites of that class. How to accomplish this object in a way that will pass the Federal Supreme Court is the question which confronts the party in Virginia. The "grandfathers" clause, recently engrafted upon the organic laws of Louisiana and North Carolina, is not regarded with favor in this State. In the first place, there are grave doubts about the constitutionality of this provision, and there are very many here who object to it on principle.

The question, then, is to find a solution of the problem of eliminating the illiterate colored voters from politics, without touching the same class of whites, which will run the gantlet of the court of last resort Senator Daniel is at work on a plan which, it is thought, will meet the demands of this situation. This is, in brief, to exempt from disfranchisement all persons who rendered military service in times of war. This would embrace veterans of the civil, Mexican, and the Indian and the late Spanish-American wars. This provision would, of course, let in the few negroes from this State who served in the Federal Army during the war between the States. The number of these, however, would be insignificant—probably 200 or 300.

This plan was first suggested about two years ago by the editor of The Richmond Dispatch. The fact that one or more States in the West during the war between the States enacted a law permitting all those who were disfranchised to vote, on the condition that they volunteered in the Federal Army, suggested the adoption of this plan for Virginia. The British Government many years ago pursued a similar policy toward a race at that time proscribed and not permitted to take part in the country's affairs. These precedents, it is thought, will go far toward furnishing a reason for believing that the Supreme Court would give its sanction to the plan under consideration. It is by long odds the most feasible yet advanced in this State for carrying out the pledge which the dominant party has made to its followers.

That the negro is doomed to be removed as a factor in Virginia politics all concede. It is only a question as to the method to be adopted. Not only is the idea approved by Democrats, but many conservative Republican leaders give it their sanction.

It is a remarkable condition of affairs which makes the adoption of this policy necessary. It is not so much because the illiterate negro is not competent to have a vote, but because he is a menace to white government. To prevent the possibility of negro domination wholesale election frauds have been committed in Virginia. These have not been confined to the black, but have often occurred in the large white districts of the State. So far had this condition of corruption gone that conservative Democrats demanded a halt. The leaders in the black belts gave notice that they would no longer continue the manipulation of the ballots, and that a remedy must be found by disfranchising the negroes. Some of the most prominent leaders in the party at first manifested a disposition to refuse to give their support to a policy which contemplated such a radical change. It has, however, been made so plain that the leaders in the black belts will not continue to give their support or encouragement to the measures resorted to in the past to bring about victory for their party that there is no alternative but to find a means for removing the negro as a political factor.

Next to the suffrage question, that of cutting down the appropriation for the colored schools is the most important which will come up before the convention. For years past there has been some demand for scaling down the colored schools only the amount of taxes paid by that race. The result of this course, should it be adopted, would be to practically destroy the public school system so far as it applies to the negroes. There is strong opposition to yielding to this demand. It is contended that the people are morally and legally bound to see that the colored people are educated. That the money given the colored schools could be better applied in educating negroes along industrial lines some of the ablest educators in the country admit. The Superintendent of Public Instruction and many others who have given years to the study of the question of educating the colored children hold that the true policy of the State is not to curtail the amount allowed the race for education, but to use what is now given in fitting the children for mechanical pursuits. This policy will no doubt be pressed before the convention.

The time at which the convention will assemble and the membership of that body will be determined by the Legislature, which meets here in extra session on Jan. 23. It is probable that the convention will meet early next year, and that it will sit for six months. The membership will probably be about one hundred. Senator Daniel and other leading Democrats will be included among the members. The Republicans will no doubt have a fair minority in the body.

CHICAGO NEWS AND NOTES.

Further Appropriations for the "Big Ditch" Opposed—Successful Season at the Theatres.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—At the meeting of the County Democracy this week a resolution was offered opposing any further appropriation for the sanitary district. It was claimed that the $33,000,000 already expended by taxpayers upon the drainage canal was enough for them to bear, and it was proposed that the district should turn the canal over to the Government, which, by spending upon it the $22,000,000 still required, could fit it for the commerce of the whole country.

A curious religious census is being taken by the Chicago Avenue Church, which is endeavoring to reform the city from within rather than from without. A house to house canvass is being made with the purpose of learning the number of churchgoing and non-churchgoing persons. The revival which is now in progress is intended particularly for the non-churchgoing. A morning paper, which prints this fact, has in another column a list of wine rooms frequented by boys, girls, and men.

The Chicago Federation of Labor has invited the negro trades unions to join it, not so much, perhaps, from a desire to unite interests with the negro, as because of the frequency with which "unscrupulous employers" of labor hire negro mechanics and laborers at times when the union men are on strike.

This news comes at the same time as that of vigorous dissent on the part of a large minority of the Chicago Woman's Club to the admission of colored clubs to the General Federation. The Chicago Club is one of the largest and most influential in the country. The conviction that the admission of negro clubs to organizations which are fundamentally social, would be a serious affront, and, indeed, a cruelty to the Southern white clubs, is the chief cause of objection, though many feel that even were that not the case it would be better for the negro clubs and federations to work by themselves, both for their own sakes and for the good of the white clubs.

The Building Department has begun a fight upon theatres the proprietors of which allow the aisles to become crowded in violation of the law. It is considered somewhat singular that the officials first attacked the new Illinois Theatre, which has only been open a few weeks, instead of making examples of some other houses which have been violating the law for years and are still doing so.

There has never been a season in Chicago when the playhousea have done so well, commercially, as this. Considering the fact that many of the attractions have been here before this is all the more remarkable. Gillette in "Sherlock Holmes," Miss Rehan as Sweet Nell, Mrs. Fiske as Becky, and all the other stars are playing to remarkably big houses, and the advance sales indicate a continuance of good business.

R. B. P.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

Handlers of metals are deeply interested in experiments now in progress to discover the permanency of a method for plating aluminium which has been discovered by a Connecticut genius. With its remarkable lightness, its ductility, the ease and economy of working it, and the ability to place the crude metal on the market in commercial quantities at a low price, there has always seemed to be a wide field for the use of aluminium. Its lightness makes it specially suitable for kitchen utensils, though its affinity for chlorine has detracted somewhat from its value, as salt will corrode and eat through it. Heat or long exposure to the air makes it lose its brilliant polish and assume a zincy character. A plating process which will remedy these troubles has been found by which the metal can be covered with a film of gold, silver, copper, or brass, and possibly with nickel. How long and under what conditions aluminium will hold the plating is now the question to be settled. This is a matter that only time will determine. Its solution is useful principally as a determination of ways in which aluminium may be further utilized in both practical and decorative lines. But back of this there is a question of much more importance. A great drawback in the use of the metal has been that it could not be perfectly soldered. All shapes for its use have had to be confined to those that could be pressed, spun, rolled, or stamped. No method by which the metal could be soldered without leaving a black seam of foreign substance has been devised. If, however, the metal may be permanently plated, as the Yankee inventor is now trying to satisfactorily demonstrate, there will come with that demonstration an easy way out of the soldering problem. All of the metals used in the plating baths can be soldered without the seam showing in a cheapening and inartistic fashion. So if the plating can be made permanent there is every hope that the puzzle of the aluminium worker may be solved, and a greater field for usefulness for this lightest of all the metals may be found. It is for this latter reason that metalworkers are awaiting anxiously the results of the experiments now making, and which it is reported, where such matters are of interest, give promise of success.

***

"Speaking of fads," remarked the Observant Man, "there are two that seem destined never to wear out. They are the opera and roses. No one in society ever dares say a word against either, whether he or she likes them or not. They are fixtures. Yet there are fashionable women who do not care for flowers, for they have told me so. But they will never go to the theatre or opera, and will never give a dinner without the inevitable lot of roses. Of the people who do not care for music, but who always go to the opera, they are myriads."

***

Here is a puzzle for the investigator who has idle time on his hands. Why is it that of the thousands and thousands of smokers, nine in every ten carry their cigars in the left corner of their mouths? It is a fact, as any observant person will see if he notices the peculiarities of his fellowman at all. There must be a reason for it, but no one seems to be able to give it.

***

Now that the craze for old pewter in all shapes and forms is at its height the markets are filled with imitations that will fool even the very elect at this fad. Imitations of old pewter can be found on Sixth Avenue at some bargain counters, and in the little shops there and on Fourth Avenue, where a specialty is made of "antiques," Britanniaware and white metal, both products of Connecticut factories, appear in old pewter shapes. When properly dulled and aged, they are sold as the real thing, probably properly attested as genuine old pewter if one takes the trouble to ask for such an attestation. The new "antiques" have found their way to some auction sales, where family heirlooms from Virginia or other early English settlements in America are disposed of. There seems to be no sure way of detecting the deceit. One man well versed in such ware was badly taken in at a recent sale, buying four pieces that seemed antique, only to find ample proof later on that they were replicas experimentally made at a shop in Meriden, Conn., where a lot of that sort of stuff was turned out a quarter of a century ago, in a futile attempt to then create a craze for old pewter forms such as now exists.

***

One of the recent unusual sights of the city was the large attendance of Chinese at the funeral of the wife of a railroad man, whose business brings him into very close contact with the Celestials. Funeral services were held in a Roman Catholic church, of which the deceased lady was a member. Of the great throng of sincere mourners none seemed more impressed by the services than a Chinese merchant and his wife and little daughter. The presence of so many Chinese within the portals of a Catholic church at one time was without a precedent in local annals, in all probability, and was a matter of comment by all the Americans in attendance.

***

Patrons of the vaudevilles have probably been deprived of a portion of a monologue that some one of those who "do a turn" had worked out with a vast amount of care and thought, under the impression that it was funny. There is in it just about the sort of wit indulged by fillers-in at these shows. Whoever owned it dropped it in one of the big department stores of the town. It was found by another shopper, who has turned it over to THE TIMES, so that the mental effort may not be wholly lost. Here it is:

"A TALE OF PANTS.

"Pants are made for men and not for women. Women are made for men, and not for pants. When a man pants for a woman, and a woman pants for a man, they are a pair of pants. Such pants don't last. Pants are like molasses—they are thinner in hot weather and thicker in cold. Men are often mistaken in pants; such mistakes are breeches of promises. There has been much discussion as to whether pants is singular or plural. Seems to us when men wear pants it is plural, and when they don't wear any pants it is singular. Men go on a tear in their pants, and it is all right; when the pants go to a tear it is all wrong. If you want to make pants last make the coat and vest first."

***

Those strings of advertising kites now flown in the air have become a disturbing element. People whose eyesight is not of the best are constantly mistaking the kites for flocks of wild geese. Worthy citizens who have looked on flights of such birds as weather omens have been puzzled by their frequent appearance. No one of them apparently ever sees the advertising banner attached to the tail of the string, though careful observers have discovered a bit of white bunting with marks on it that are said to be letters advertising some patent medicine or other. So indefinite is the lettering that it is hard to make it out unless one has a field glass. That they are an advertising scheme does not readily penetrate the mind of the average man. When these do grasp the meaning of these apparent strings of wild geese there is a sudden protest against "the defilement of the blue sky of New York for advertising purposes." As there is a free field for all comers who care for advertising of that sort, these people seem to fear that the entire sky will be given over to this kite advertising. Any one who wishes to go to the expense of buying the kites can fly advertising kites in the blue skies to his heart's content, there being no law to prevent it. So there really does seem a danger that the whole sky line of New York may soon be defaced with these seemingly farfetched attempts to get a little sensational advertising at a trifling expense.

***

San Franciscans have decided that New York is not the proper climate for the health of the obelisk in Central Park. In that far Western city, so report has it, the Chamber of Commerce has actually taken steps, by appointing a committee, to arrange for the removal of the obelisk from here to some spot near the Golden Gate and the Seal Rocks. The hustlers in that city have actually adopted a series of resolutions with the appropriate whereases calling attention to what they believe is the fact that the big monolith is rapidly crumbling away in the trying climate of Central Park, and asserting that the only way in which the big stone and its inscriptions can be saved to posterity is by transplanting it to the glorious climate of California. There it is assumed the atone and its hieroglypha will take on a new lease of life. They treat the whole scheme seriously out there, and talk of it as if the removal was a possibility. Probably the Californians have forgotten that New York City accepted the big stone as a gift from the late W. H. Vanderbilt with all that that implies, and has taken steps to preserve the monolith and its picture writings from any injury from wind, weather, climate, or prowling vandals. San Franciscans might read the Tenth Commandment with profit.

HOLIDAY PRESENTS.

Suggestions by C. C. Shayne.

From now until the holidays, most men are too busy to "shop" in a vague search for an appropriate gift, and many are forced to realize that our hearts are bigger than our purses at this particular time of year, when all regard it as a duty and a pleasure to remember, in some substantial way, those who are dear to us.

Few there are, however—and very few—who have not the time and means to gratify to some extent, at least, the sentiment which possesses us and grows as the holidays approach. But the real perplexity of the question presents itself: What shall it be? What article will be the most expressive of the sentiment, and, at the same time, come within the range of our purse strings?

Furs naturally suggest themselves to the minds of the thoughtful.

$5 Will buy a Muff or Boa; Mink Scarf; Collar or Foot Muffs.

$10 Will buy a Muff of Beaver, Persian Lamb, or Japan Fox; Sealskin Gloves, Sleighing Hood or Goat Robe.

$15 Will buy a Sealskin Cap or pair of Gloves; Alaska Sable (Skunk), Stone Marten or Mink Muff, or Boas to match, Neckpiece, etc.

$20, $25, $35, $50, $75 to $100

will buy the choice of numerous Fur Articles, handsome in design and extremely useful for gifts.

$125, $150, $200 to $400

will buy a Persian Lamb Jacket or Coat, Sealskin Jacket or Coat of finest quality.

$500 to $7,500

will buy a choice of articles in the finest furs—From Sealskin, Persian Lamb, Baby Lamb Jacket or Coats, trimmed with Hudson Bay or Russian Sable; Hudson Bay Sable lined and trimmed Overcoats, to our finest Imperial Crown Russian Sable Boas, Collarettes, Victorines or Mantles.

NOTE.—The last week before Christmas is the busiest in the year; the express companies are always rushed at this season. If goods are to be shipped out of town, I suggest shipment at least one week before Christmas.

Store Open Until 9 o'Clock Evenings Until Christmas.

C. C. SHAYNE,

MANUFACTURING FUR MERCHANT,

42d Street, bet. Broadway and 6th Ave.

Around the World Nearly 5 Times Daily WITH INCREASING MOMENTUM

IF

the wheat shreds of all the rolls in the machines of the Shredded Wheat Company's factory for one day's run were joined together end to end the length would be 116,297 miles, a light, porous shred that would reach about five times around the globe at the equator, and the wonder is who eats these millions upon millions of Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit?

The answer is that thousands of families eat no other bread, and while the Biscuits are used to a great extent as a breakfast cereal and as a basis in the preparation of innumerable other dishes, they are also split in halves, slightly toasted and served cold with butter in place of sliced loaf bread.

No yeast germs, no baking powder gases, no greasy shortening, yet a light, short bread, already baked.

For 260 ways of serving, address

THE SHREDDED WHEAT CO.
62 Jackson Street,
WORCESTER, MASS.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit Overcome Indigestion and Constipation.

DR. E. A. ALLEN, of Randolph, Mass., the oldest practising physician in Norfolk County, writes as follows concerning the Shredded Wheat Biscuit:—"I have practiced medicine more than fifty-three years and am the oldest practising physician in Norfolk County. After eating a breakfast of Shredded Wheat Biscuit, I find myself in better condition for my forenoon's driving, and have less desire for food for five or six hours than when eating a hearty meat breakfast. They assimilate perfectly and keep my bowels in good order."

Speaking of Shredded Wheat Biscuit, REV. DR. EDWARD EVERETT HALE says there is nothing he more enjoys for his breakfast.

REV. DR. JOHN LINDSAY WITHROW says: "Our table is constantly supplied with your delicious biscuit."

BOUGHT STOCKS IN DREAMLAND

How Mr. Bonds Furnished Entertainment for His Wife and a Joke for His Friends.

Broker S. Toxan Bonds, the junior member of a well-known Stock Exchange firm, who looks after the interests of his customers in the outside market, appears much embarrassed of late, and hastily extends an invitation to adjourn to the nearest café, whenever any of his associates jokingly refer to "Amalgamated Copper."

Broker Bonds has been very active in the recent bull movement of the market, and for several days subsequent to the election he was exceedingly busy executing buying orders, particularly of Amalgamated Copper and other copper stocks, before the former left the curb. In addition to dealings in securities and stocks, Mr. Bonds, who but recently took unto himself a helpmeet, holds nightly conferences with young Mrs. Bonds anent the market price of butter, eggs, and other necessary table supplies, offered for sale by the upper west side merchants.

Some few nights after the election Mr. Bonds, who had been executing orders from the opening of the curb market until its close, returned to his home, tired out mentally and physically. After the usual nightly domestic conference, this time about the contemplated purchase of butter on the morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Bonds retired.

About midnight Mrs. Bonds was awakened by the violent tossings of her husband and his excited loud-toned cries of:

"'

SOME HAPPENINGS IN GOOD SOCIETY

Congratulations may be extended this week on the anniversaries of their weddings to—

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Seton, (Miss Eleanor E. Schmidt,) Dec. 14, 1854.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Newbold Morris, (Miss Eleanor C. Jones,) Dec. 10, 1862.

Dr. Stuyvesant Fish Morris and Mrs. Morris, (Miss Ellen J. Van Buren,) Dec. 10, 1868.

Gen. Frederic Pierson and Mrs. Pierson, (Miss Susan A. Rhoades of Providence, R. I.,) Dec. 9, 1869.

Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas Sloane, (Miss Emily T. Vanderbilt,) Dec. 10, 1872.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Edgar Kissel, (Miss Caroline Thorn,) Dec. 9, 1884.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Paton, (Miss Rawle of Philadelphia,) Dec. 9, 1886.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Trevor, (Miss Margaret Schieffelin,) their tin wedding, Dec. 11, 1890.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Dahlgren, (Miss Lucy Drexel,) their tin wedding, Dec. 11, 1890.

Mr. and Mrs. De Lancey Nicoll, (Miss Churchill,) their tin wedding, Dec. 11, 1890.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., (Miss Jessie Grew of Boston,) their tin wedding, Dec. 11, 1890.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Minturn Betts, (Miss Jessica Watkins,) Dec. 14, 1898.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kidder Davis, (Miss Helen Dawson Gallatin,) Dec. 14, 1898.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Livermore, (Miss Josephine Brooks,) Dec. 14, 1898.

Mr. and Mrs. Allson Wright Post, (Miss Katharine Beeckman Hopplin,) Dec. 15, 1898.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ralston Crosby, (Miss Emily Petit,) Dec. 12, 1898.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coppell, (Miss Mary S. Bowers,) Dec. 12, 1899.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Van Rensselaer, (Miss Caroline Fitzgerald of Boston,) Dec. 12, 1899.

⁂

Christmas will fall only a fortnight from next Tuesday, and the influence of the coming Christmastide begins to be felt in the social life of New York. The large element which spends Christmas in the country or comes to town only a day or two before the festival, finds the time all too short for the necessary shopping and preparations. The programme for the next ten days is so full of events that the fact that the opera does not begin until next week is rather a relief. As Christmas and New Year's will this year fall on Tuesday, there will be virtually two successive holiday periods of three days, within a week of each other. The children and younger people have already figured this out for themselves, and the anticipatory rejoicings in many households are already marked. As last year the young men and maidens from New York who are now at out-of-town schools and colleges, are to have lively Christmas holidays. There are enough invitations already out for a succession of young people's and children's parties to keep the younger element in the community on the go from Christmas Eve until after New Year's.

⁂

As for some years past, the largest and most important of the Christmastide entertainments for the younger set will be the annual Junior Ball of Columbia University, which will take place at Sherry's on Friday evening, Dec. 21. The ballroom will be decorated with Christmas greens, college flags, and trophies. The junior class of the college, under whose auspices the ball will be held, has chosen as usual an Executive Committee. There is the usual long list of patronesses.

⁂

The most important wedding of the week, and one of the most important of the season, will be that of James Lawrence Van Alen, only son of James J. Van Alen, and a brother of the Misses May and Sara Van Alen, and Miss Daisy Post, daughter of the late William Post, and niece of Mrs. Frederick Vanderbilt. This wedding will be celebrated at the residence of Mrs. Post, 100 East Thirty-ninth Street, in the drawing room at noon. Bishop Potter will officiate. The bridesmaids are to be the Misses Sara Van Alen and Mabel Gerry, M. Orme Wilson is to be Mr. Van Alen's best man, and he has selected Robert L. Gerry, Lawrence L. Gillespie, Frank W. Andrews, Jr., and George Griswold, second, for his ushers. As the bride is in mourning for her father, who died a year or so ago, the wedding will be a small one, and not over 80 or 100 guests will be invited. Soon after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Van Alen will sail for Europe, where they will spend the Winter.

⁂

James G. Oxnard and Miss Caroline M. Thornton, daughter of Mrs. John Calhoun Thornton of 150 West Fifty-ninth Street, will be married at the residence of the bride's mother to-morrow afternoon. Mr. Oxnard is the youngest of the four sons of the late Thomas Oxnard, for many years a prominent resident of Brooklyn, and who was interested with the Havemeyers in the sugar business. Henry T. Oxnard, who was married last month abroad, returned from Europe with his bride on the Deutschland for the wedding. Mr. Oxnard's other brothers, Benjamin A. and Robert Oxnard live in New Orleans and San Francisco respectively. His sisters, the Misses Oxnard, have lived chiefly in Europe and California.

⁂

Other weddings of the week will be those of Carleton Macy and Miss Helen Lefferts, daughter of the late Oscar Lefferts, in the Church of the Heavenly Rest on Tuesday afternoon; of Henry McKeen Ferriday and Miss Elise Mitchell, daughter of Edward Mitchell, at St. Thomas's Church on Wednesday, and of John Lawrence Riker, second, and Miss Caroline Duncan Leverich, daughter of Charles Duncan Leverich, at the country residence of the bride's parents, at Corona, L. I., on Wednesday.

⁂

The wedding of William V. B. Kip and Miss Elisa Strong, as announced in this column on Tuesday last, is to be celebrated at the residence of Miss Strong's cousin, Mrs. Samuel J. Penniman, 8 East Seventy-seventh Street, on Tuesday, Jan. 15. The Rev. Dr. Vibbert of Trinity Chapel is to officiate. Miss Strong's maid of honor is to be her cousin, Miss Constance Knower, and her bridesmaids will be the Misses Cornelia Brady Harris, a cousin of Mr Kip, and Marie Ceballos Hewitt. Mr. Kip's best man will be Matthew Astor Wilkes, and his ushers are to be Philip Rhinelander, a brother-in-law; Leonard W. Kip, Gerald H. Gray, and Cecil Landale.

⁂

The dates of several important weddings which are also to be celebrated in January were announced during the week. That of Miss Addie Pierson, daughter of Gen. Frederic Pierson, Newport and New York, and whose mother was formerly Miss Susan Rhoades of Providence, R. I., and Edward Scott, Jr., of Virginia, is to take place, as announced in this column on Friday, at the residence of Miss Pierson's parents, 20 West Fifty-second Street on Jan. 9. Miss Pierson's sister, Miss Daisy Pierson, will probably be her maid of honor.

⁂

The wedding of Miss Mary Alice Van Nest, daughter of Mrs. Alexander T. Van Nest, and niece of Mrs. Giraud Foster, Mrs. C. Richard Gambrill, and Mrs. Charles Carroll Jackson, and J. Stewart Barney is to be solemnized on Tuesday, Jan. 22, in Trinity Chapel, West Twenty-fifth Street, by the Rev. Dr. Vibbert, rector of the church. Mr. Barney has selected James De Wolf Cutting for his best man, and Miss Helen Storer of Boston, a cousin of Miss Van Nest, is to be the maid of honor. There will be no bridesmaids, and the reception at Mrs. Van Nest's residence, 31 West Thirty-seventh Street, which is to follow the ceremony, will be for relatives and a few intimate friends only.

⁂

The most fashionably important event of the week will be the First Assembly Ball, which will take place on Thursday evening in the Astoria ballroom. There is little that is new to be said this morning regarding the ball. It will be the usual beautiful affair, and will be attended by a larger number of débutantes than for many years past. There will be many dinners given on Thursday evening, and these dinner guests will later attend the ball. Some of the dinner givers will be Mrs. Lewis Quentin Jones, Mrs. Luther Kountze, Mrs. Duncan Cryder, Mrs. A. B. Boardman, Mrs. Frederic Gallatin, Mrs. John Hone, Mrs. Woodbury G. Langdon, Mrs. Charles R. Henderson, Mrs. Ogden Goelet, Mrs. Charles A. Post, Mrs. John Jacob Astor, and Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin will receive the guests.

⁂

Coming-out receptions, such a marked feature of the past ten days, will now rapidly decrease in number. There are comparatively few scheduled for this week, and still less for the following. Mrs. Spotswood Schenck will give to-morrow afternoon the second of two receptions to introduce her daughter, Miss Nathalie Schenck. On Tuesday Mrs. Woodbury Gersdorf Langdon will also give the second of two receptions to introduce her daughter, Miss Sophie Langdon. On Wednesday Dr. Octavius A. White and Mrs. White will give at their Madison Avenue residence a larger reception to introduce their granddaughter, Miss Helen White Stevens, daughter of Mrs. Berkeley Mostyn, and on Thursday a large number of girls will make their début at the first Assembly ball. The Misses Ethal, Edith, and Elsie Cryder, Miss Helen L. Kountze, Miss Helen Roosevelt, Miss Rosamond Street, and a number of others make their first formal appearance at this affair. On Saturday Mrs. James A. Scrymser of 107 East Twenty-first Street will give a reception, at which her niece, Miss Charlotte H. Prime, is to be introduced.

⁂

On Dec. 14 will come the first meeting at Sherry's of the popular Friday Evening Dances, more familiarly called Mrs. Church's. The patronesses this year are the same as last, with the exception of one or two. Mrs. Henry Walcott Robbins has been added, but Mrs. Arthur Peabody and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish Morris are no longer serving. A number of new people have been admitted this year, and the dance of next Friday will undoubtedly be largely attended.

⁂

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Guthrie, (Mrs. Lehmann—Miss Frances Lamson,) whose wedding occurred on Oct. 22 last, expect to take possession to-morrow of the house they have leased at 36 West Thirty-seventh Street. Since their return from their bridal trip Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie have been staying at the Hotel Netherland.

⁂

Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor will return to-morrow from Ferncliff, at Rhinebeck, to their town house, 840 Fifth Avenue. Here they will remain until they go South to Aiken. Young Mrs. Astor will give a ball on Jan. 14 at her residence.

⁂

Mrs. John C. Jay has sent out cards for a reception at her residence, 155 West Fifty-eighth Street, on Friday, Dec. 21. Mrs. Faneuil D. S. Bethune of 13 West Eighth Street will be "at home" Fridays until Lent. Burr William McIntosh has sent out cards for four receptions on Fridays, Dec. 14 and 21, and Jan. 4 and 11, at 18 West Thirty-third Street. Mr. and Mrs. George Burroughs Torrey will be "at home" at Mr. Torrey's studio, 391 Fifth Avenue, on Mondays after 4.

⁂

The first meeting of the Thursday Evening Club was held last week, and the dates for future meetings are Jan. 3, Feb. 4, and March 7 and 28.

⁂

Miss Leary has issued cards for a reception at her residence, 2 Fifth Avenue, on Tuesday afternoon next, in honor of Archbishop Corrigan.

⁂

Dr. Octavius A. White and Mrs. White are to give a large reception at their residence on Wednesday next to introduce their granddaughter, Miss Helen White Stevens, a daughter of Mrs. Berkeley Mostyn. Miss Stevens will be assisted in receiving by a number of young girls, among whom will be Miss Charlotte H. Prime, Miss Dorothy Edwards, Miss Helen Olyphant, Miss Anita Boulton, Miss Molly Lefferts, Miss Sibyl Kane, Miss Chloise Hatch, Miss Nellie Ward, and Miss Helena R. Ely.

⁂

Mrs. George Fear England of Galveston, Texas, a survivor of the Galveston tragedy, in which her home was swept away, will give a recital at the Astoria on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. England will be assisted by Myron Whitney, Jr., and Mr. Stasi Ischindl. Mrs. England will render selections from Piernee, Massenet, McDowell, and Chadwick, and is to be accompanied by Charles E. Wark.

⁂

To-morrow Mrs. George Kidd will give a luncheon at her residence, 855 Fifth Avenue, for her daughter, Miss Georgette Kidd. Mrs. and Miss Kidd were abroad all Summer. Miss Della Gurnee is to give a luncheon at her residence, 626 Fifth Avenue on Tuesday.

⁂

On the evening of Christmas Day Mrs. William Rhinelander will give at Sherry's a large family dinner, and on Dec. 27 Mrs. Philip Rhinelander will give a large dinner in honor of Elisa Strong and William V. B. Kip, who are to be married on Jan. 15.

⁂

Mrs. Dallas Bache Pratt will give at the Metropolitan Club to-morrow evening the second of two dances in honor of her daughter, Miss Katharine Griswold Pratt.

⁂

The first of the receptions given in their new home at 114 East Sixty-fifth Street yesterday afternoon by Dr. Glover C. Arnold, Mrs. Arnold, and Miss Arnold, was largely attended. Mrs. Arnold and her daughter were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Thomas H. Grinke and Mrs. H. T. Wright, and the Misses Amelia M. Radno, Sophie Marshall, Mabel Cleveland Goley, and Arnold. Miss Arnold was gowned in pale green taffeta silk trimmed with white lace.

⁂

Mrs. Leo Everett, (Miss Caroline Kane Mills,) a niece of Mrs. Moses Goddard of Providence, R. I., give a reception yesterday afternoon at her residence, 152 West Thirty-fourth Street. Mrs. Everett received alone, and Mrs. Egerton Winthrop, Jr., and Mrs. Mills, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Everett, poured tea. Several of Mrs. Everett's recently finished pastel portraits, including among others those of Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, Mrs. Castlin de Rham, Mrs. Egerton Winthrop, Jr., Mrs. William Pierson Hamilton, Jr., Lloyd Griscom, Dr. Hitchcock, and Miss Alice Ward, were shown, and much admired. These portraits are to be exhibited at Sherry's this week. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Coudert, Jr., Miss Anita Lawrence, Miss Cuyler, Miss Morgan, Miss Rhett, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hamilton, Jr., Mrs. Moses Goddard, Mrs. Lawrence Mills, Mr. and Mrs. S. Frederic Mills, and Mrs. Oscar L. Richard.

⁂

Mrs. James Betts Metcalf of 34 East Sixtieth Street gave a reception at her residence yesterday afternoon to introduce her niece, Miss Hildegarde Beste of Summit, N. J. The débutante, who was gowned in accordion plaited white chiffon, trimmed with encrustations of white chiffon roses, was assisted in receiving by a number of girls. Mrs. Metcalf was gowned in light green satin, covered with Irish point, and Mrs. Henry Beste was in black lace, spangled with steel. The decorations were all of green, palms, and vines, and the débutante carried a bouquet of tiny pink rosebuds.

⁂

The ballroom of the Astoria is to be decorated in white and pink for the Assembly Ball. Pink and white flowers are to be arranged in garlands about the boxes and mirrors. The foyer is to be decorated with palms, ferns, and vines, and a conservatory effect is to be given. Ropes of pink and white roses are to be draped through the rotunda from the ceiling, so as to form a canopy, and it is here that Mrs. Ogden Goelet, Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin, and Mrs. Charles A. Post will receive. Supper is to be served in the Astor Gallery at small tables, and these will be decorated with pink roses.

⁂

Mrs. John A. Robinson gave a dinner last evening at her residence, 15 East Twenty-second Street, in honor of Miss Gladys Whitin and her fiancé, Thomas E. Peters. Mr. Peters and Miss Whitin are having a series of dinners given in their honor, and there are several down for this week, including one at the Metropolitan Club on Wednesday, to be given by Miss Charlotte Stillwell, who is to be one of Miss Whitin's bridesmaids at the wedding.

⁂

The first of the Saturday evening dances for this season took place at Delmonico's last evening. The guests were received by Mrs. Charles R. Huntington, who has charge of the class; Mrs. John C. Jay, and other patronesses. The cotillion, which was led by Stowe Phelps, was started about 10 and ended before 12 o'clock. The favors were in vari-colored ribbons and bells. A buffet supper was served. The patronesses, most of whom were present, are Mmes. John Erving, Leopold Francke, Frederic Goodridge, James J. Higginson, John C. Jay, Edward King, James J. King, Sackett M. Barclay, Walter C. Taylor, and Charles R. Huntington. This class is a large one, and numbers among its members Mr. and Mrs. William Brevoort Potts, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Parrish, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Landon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goodhue, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Fahnestock, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Delafield, Mr. and Mrs. Ridley Watts, Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Francke, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McVickar, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Townsend, the Misses Erving, the Misses Bertha Bartlet, Louise Gallatin, Greenough, Edith Hollins, Frances Hoppin, Mary Harriman, Mabel I. Jones, Margaret Iselin, Marvin of Troy, Katherine G. Pratt, Helen M. Peabody, May Sands, Mathilde Van Rensselaer, Margaret Beaman, Angelica S. Church, Belknap, Jessie J. Fanshawe, Heloise Beekman, and Messrs. Richard Dana, Gordon Gordon, William Grinnell, Robert Gilmer, Bryce Metcalf, Richard Morris, Benjamin W. Morris, Jr., Benjamin Apthorpe Gould, Raleigh Gildersleeve, Frederic Hoppin, John Hubbard, Reginald Jevons, Augustus F. Juilliard, De Courcy Ireland, Rupert King, Edward Kirkland, McCrea Livingston, James F. Lewis, Frederick W. Longfellow, Dr. B. Lee, Stephen Pell, Charles F. Ayer of Boston, Schuyler Schieffelin, Philip Benkard, Dr. Harold Barclay, Robert Barclay, Wilmerding Biddle, Dexter Blagden, George Blagden, Jr., Harry and George Batcheller, William C. Cammann, Banyer Clarkson, and J. Ashton de Peyster.

⁂

Mrs. Henry Russell Morris (Miss Anna Russell) gave a large reception at her residence, 12 West Fifty-third Street, yesterday afternoon to introduce her daughter, Miss Eleanor Russell Morris. The Misses Katherine G. Pratt, Margaret Robison, Nellie Hard, Hester G. Hone, May Gallatin, Eleanor Jay, Rosamond Street, Helen Kountze, Mary Lee, and Nathalie Schenck, and Mrs. Newbold Morris assisted in receiving. The débutante wore a frock of liberty satin and chiffon. Mr. and Mrs. Russell will give at the Metropolitan Club Annex on Tuesday evening a dance to about sixty young people in honor of Miss Morris, at which Goelet Gallatin will lead the cotillion. A second dance is to be given for Miss Morris on Jan. 17, at which Alexander Hadden is to lead the cotillion.

⁂

Mrs. John R. Harris of 14 East Fortieth Street gave a reception at her residence yesterday afternoon, at which her daughter, Miss Cornelia Brady Harris, was introduced. The guests were received by Mrs. Harris, who wore a gown of cloth of gold and delicate blue trimmed with antique lace; by Miss Harris, who was gowned in white liberty silk with whit lace, and the Misses Elle de Peyster, Eliza Strong, and Katherine McClure. The reception was a large one. In the evening Mrs. Harris gave a dinner of eighteen covers in honor of her daughter. Mrs. Harris and Miss Harris will also receive on the four Tuesdays in January after the first, and the debutante is to have a large dinner party given her by Mr. and Mrs. Harris in January.

⁂

Another large débutante reception of yesterday was that given by Mrs. Cyrus W. Field (Miss Susie M. Andrews) in the east room of the Astoria to introduce her daughter, Miss Mary Stone Field. Mrs. Field, who wore a gown of light gray crêpe de chine, trimmed with appliques of black lace, with touches of turquoise blue and black velvet, and the débutante, who wore a frock of white silk covered with mousseline de sole, tucked and trimmed with narrow bands of white velvet, were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Margaret White, Mrs. Joseph Lucas of St. Louis, Mrs. Thomas Russell, Mrs. Nelson of Kentucky, Mrs. Clarence W. Hillyer, (Miss Nelson, a descendant of Lord Nelson;) Miss Calhoun of St. Louis, a granddaughter of John C. Calhoun; Miss Martha W. Graves of Hartford, Mrs. Hilles K. Tinker of Massachusetts, Mrs. Rogert E. Porter, Miss Lelia W. Hackett of Easton, Penn.; Miss Maude Potter, Miss Elizabeth Hyne of Youngstown, Penn., and Miss Zaide Williams of New Rochelle. Among the guests invited to the reception were Mr. and Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Roosevelt Schuyler, Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Steers, Count Ademar de Castellane, Lady Cunard, Count de Grammant, Mrs. Frederic Neilson, Miss Kathleen Neilson, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gould, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Hawthorne, Dr. W. H. Draper and Mrs. Draper, Dr. Edmund L. Keyes and Mrs. Keyes, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Parker, Rev. Henry M. Field and Mrs. Field, Mrs. L. B. Atterbury and the Misses Atterbury, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McVickar, Mrs. L. Jacqueline Smith and Miss Gladys Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Satterlee, Mrs. R. T. Wilson, W. C. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. Ireland, Dr. and Mrs. Holbrook Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, and Mrs. Burke-Roche. The reception was followed by a dinner in the Astor apartment for the receiving party and to-day Mrs. Field gives a luncheon of ten covers at her apartment, 45 Fifth Avenue.

⁂

William Greenough of 32 West Ninth Street gave a reception yesterday afternoon at his residence to introduce his daughter, Miss Edith Greenough. Receiving with the débutante were the Misses Nathalie Henderson, Edith Post, Margaret Robinson, Helen T. Barney, Dorothy N. Draper, Mary Weston, and Dorothy Edwards. The débutante wore a gown of yellow crêpe de chine.

⁂

There is much anticipation felt and expressed in amateur musical circles anent the first performance of the new operetta, "Old King Sol," for which Mrs. Albert Hendricks has composed the music and V. Sydney Rothschild has written the words. The music is said to be both original and bright. Mrs. Hendricks has already won deserved reputation for her musical compositions. There is to be a chorus of fifty voices, and the principal parts are to be taken by well-known singers. The operetta will be produced at the Harmony Club on Saturday evening, Dec. 22.

⁂

Tea-time on Sundays in London sees both Niagara and Prince's very full indeed. At Niagara on a recent Sunday it was difficult to get a place at the tables round the ice, and those present included Lady Coke, who is a graceful skater; Mrs. Ellis, and a number of men, among others Lord Clanricarde. Prince's, too, was very full. Count Deym was there, as well as the Spanish Ambassador, Lady Evelyn James, and her husband, Lady Wallscourt, and the Maharajah of Kuch-Behar, and Col. Maxse, just back from the front, was the centre of interest.

⁂

The Prince and Princess of Wales have been at Sandringham, where they entertained a succession of house parties. Lord and Lady Saville have been among their guests and the Duke of Cambridge, Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar, and Lord James of Hereford were included in last week's party, while at the end of the week for the Princess's birthday there were among the guests Lord and Lady Gosford. Lord and Lady De Gray, Mr. and Mrs. William James, and Mrs. George Keppel. The suite which will accompany the Duke and Duchess of York when they go to Australia includes the Duke of Roxburghe, Lady Mary Lygon, Mr. and Mrs. Derek Keppel Sir Charles Cust, and Sir Donald Wallace.

⁂

There has been a great demand in London for tickets for the ball which is to be given to aid the Charing Cross Hospital on the 13th. The hospital has always been a favorite charity, and this entertainment is not the only one in its aid which has been so splendidly supported. The prizes for the best dresses representing flowers are quite a novelty, and with the promise of good music and a beautifully decorated ballroom the affair ought to be a great success. There appears to be a number of county balls also happening this Winter, and the dates of some of them are already fixed. The Wiltshire will take place on Jan. 7, the Old Berkeley Hunt at Beaconsfield on the 11th, the Craven Hunt ball at Newbury on the 15th, on which day also is the Worcester, while the Malvern is fixed for Jan. 17.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Miss Nora Maynard Green will give a musicale to-morrow evening, at which Miss Florence Boese and others will sing.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Marie B. Smith, granddaughter of William F. Howe, to Ernest Tribehorn. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Sidney J. Marx of 36 West Ninety-seventh Street will be at home on second Tuesday afternoons and first Sunday evenings of the month during the Winter.

The marriage of Leo A. Levy and Hettie Schlesinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schlesinger, will take place Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 12, at the bride's home, 1,001 Madison Avenue.

The marriage of Joseph Mayer and Miss Mildred Frank of 48 East Eightieth Street took place at Delmonico's last Monday night. Jesse Mayer, the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

Among recently announced engagements is that of Miss Dorette Ballin, daughter of Mrs. Adelaide Ballin of 1,234 Madison Avenue, to Mr. Simon L. Nuabaum of Albany, N. Y. They will be at home to their friends on Dec. 16.

The marriage of Dr. Ernest Auscher and Miss Lucy Blum took place at the bride's home, 5 East Seventy-third Street, last week. Dr. and Mrs. Auscher sailed for Europe last Wednesday. They will make Paris their future home.

Isabella Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peverley, and Lieut. Arthur Penrhyn Stanley Hyde of the Seventh Regiment of Artillery, United States Army, are to be married on the afternoon of Thursday, Dec. 20, at 4 o'clock, at All Angels' Church, in this city.

The Jolly Twelve Whist Club will play its next games on Dec. 9 at the home of Miss Selma Englander, 5 West Ninety-first Street. Handsome prizes will be awarded to the best players. The following are the jolly twelve: Miss Florence Rosenberg, Miss Hortense Levy, Miss Low, Miss Morris, Miss Schattman, Miss Englander, and the Messrs. Low, Hertz, Schattman, Lowy, Davidson, and Englander.

An afternoon euchre will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria on Friday, Dec. 14, at 2:30, for the benefit of the Hahnemann Hospital Charity Fund. There will be many valuable prizes. The committee in charge are: Mrs. Arthur L. Root, Chairman; Mrs. Samuel J. Drake, Mrs. Clinton L. Bagg, Mrs. Samuel D. Miller, and Mrs. Gardner Wetherbee of 241 West Seventy-second Street, Treasurer, from whom tickets can be secured.

The Cinderella Cotillions will begin their fifth season with a dance to be given at Dodsworth's, 12 East Forty-ninth Street, on Thursday evening, Dec. 20, 1900. Informal dancing begins at 8:30, followed by a cotillion at 11:30, which is to last till 1 o'clock. Among the patronesses are Mesdames Horace S. Ely, S. Charles Welsh, George P. Johnson, Arthur L. Root, Frederick F. Lockwood, James Baird, D. Olyphant Haynes, E. Sturges Mason, Thomas Dimond, William A. Parke, and James K. O. Sherwood.

THE NEWS OF NEWPORT.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, Dec. 8.—The report that Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs has sold her place on the Cliffs is generally discredited. No record of any such transaction is on file here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster have gone to New York to get their residence there ready for occupancy. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster will settle in New York for the Winter on Dec. 18.

Miss Elsie French went to New York this morning.

AMERICANS IN BERLIN.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—Frank H. Mason, the United States Consul General here, and Mrs. Mason gave a dinner on Tuesday to prominent members of the American colony. The distinguished violinist Windust and his sister played.

Major John B. Kerr, the United States Military Attaché, was presented to Emperor William at a special audience at Potsdam to-day.

Mrs. Frank W. Mahin, wife of United States Consul Mahin, and her daughter are here for the Winter.

Prof. E. S. Pettyjohn of Chicago is here.

Mr. Van Brunt, the architect, with his family, has been here for some weeks.

MEMORIAL FOR REV. DR. STORRS

Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences Arranging for a Meeting.

A memorial meeting in honor of the Rev. Richard S. Storrs, D. D., will be held by the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences on Tuesday evening, Dec. 18. In 1848, Augustus Graham—the first benefactor of the institute in a large sum—gave a fund, the interest of which should be used in providing for addresses on Washington's Birthday, and at other times, on American citizens who had rendered distinguished service to their country. Washington, Jefferson, Samuel Adams, Patrick Henry, Webster, Clay, Sumner, Lincoln, Emerson, Bryant, Curtis, and Beecher, are a few whose lives have been portrayed to the citizens of Brooklyn in these addresses, and among the orators have been Ralph Waldo Emerson, Wendell Phillips, Charles Sumner, Henry Ward Beecher, the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Hall, George William Curtis, and Charles Dudley Warner.

The memorial meeting on Tuesday evening, Dec. 18, will partake of the nature of a public and National gathering. The institute has selected as the orator of the memorial the Rev. Washington Gladden, D. D., of Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Gladden will review the intellectual and moral qualities which enabled Dr. Storrs to wield so great an influence on his day and generation. Seth Low, LL. D., President of Columbia University, will speak of Dr. Storrs's personal characteristics as a neighbor, friend, and citizen, and especially on the great influence of Dr. Storrs on the educational institutions of Brooklyn, of New York, and of the country at large.

A. Augustus Healy, President of the Board of Trustees of the institute, will preside. The Rev. Albert J. Lyman, D. D., now the clergyman longest in Brooklyn, President of the Council of the institute, will offer the opening prayer, and will pronounce the benediction.

Invitations will be extended to the clergy of every denomination, to the officers and Trustees of many educational institutions, to the representatives of many bodies of citizens, to the members of the churches where Dr. Storrs was most heard, to the members of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, and to close personal friends of Dr. Storrs.

Collections for Catholic Missions.

In all the Roman Catholic churches in this city a circular letter from Archbishop Corrigan will be read this morning ordering that collections be taken up for the benefit of Catholic missions throughout the world. These missions are supported by the Association for the Propagation of the Faith, and all the funds collected will be forwarded to that organization's headquarters in France. The Archbishop, in his letter, refers to the trials of the Catholic missions in China.

Fair for St. Joseph's Parish.

The fair now being held by the ladies of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Parish, in Farrell Hall, 109 and 111 Washington Place, to help pay off the floating debt contracted in building and furnishing the new school, is still open. It will close on Wednesday or Thursday evening of this week. Entertainments are being arranged for nearly every night of the fair.

Old Guard Ball and Reception.

The Old Guard's annual reception and ball will occur at the Metropolitan Opera House on Thursday night, Jan. 24. The music will be by two famous Old Guard bands of 200 pieces. Officers of the army and navy and of the National Guard will attend.

Big Ballet for the French Ball.

The thirty-sixth annual ball of the Cercle Français de l'Harmonie will take place Jan. 8 at Madison Square Garden. A ballet of 300, with some novel and recent Parisian sensations, will aid in the funmaking. The decorations, it is promised, will be lavish.

Ceres Sewing Circle Ball.

Owing to an error in printing, the tickets issued for the fourteenth annual ball of the Ceres Sewing Circle announced the date of the ball as Thursday, Dec. 27. The ball will be held at the Lexington Opera House on Wednesday, Dec. 26.

A. Simonson

933 Broadway. 21st and 22d Streets.

When making your list of Christmas gifts, remember that nothing gives more pleasure than fine

HAIR ORNAMENTS.

I have a magnificent assortment of ruby, mottled and pure amber and tortoise shell. Some plain, others exquisitely carved, some are mounted with Parisian diamonds. Solid gold and sterling silver, satins, velvets, laces, flowers, gauzes and leather effects, etc.

HAIR GOODS.

My patent Newport Coil is made altogether of long, natural wavy hair, with absolutely no stems. It is on a flexible patented ring, and will conform itself into any shape.

The Marie Antoinette as I make it, is the most fashionable of coiffures and indispensable to ladies whose hair has become prematurely gray or thin.

My Wigs and Toupees defy detection and are perfect in every detail. I have EVERYTHING FOR THE HAIR.

No Branch Stores. No Agents.

A. SIMONSON, 933 Broadway, 21st and 22d Streets.

"Everything in Furs."

Established, 1853.

F. BOOSS & BRO.,

449 Broadway,

NEAR GRAND ST.,
Manufacturers and Importers of

FINE FURS.

We are exclusively MANUFACTURING furriers.

The skins are selected with expert knowledge of quality and value, and every article made from them is worthy of special notice.

For such furs our prices are low. It is, in fact, unsafe to pay less.

The Short Jacket.

Smart and immensely popular. Our exhibit in this particular garment is rich and varied. We have them in Broadtail, Persian Lamb, Seal, with revers, collars in contrasting furs.

The Blouse Coat.

Nothing more satisfying was ever devised in a fur garment than the Blouse Coat, a vogue this Winter. It is shown in several handsome furs, including Seal, Persian, and Baby Lamb.

The "Auto" Coat.

"Auto" carriages are not more diverse to to suit all tastes than the special fur garments made for the passengers. Our own creations in this new coat show all the high grade furs. The lengths are 45 to 54 inches.

Neck Pieces.

We produce every year an assortment of novel and fashionable pieces that "take" extremely well. We show them now in all the right furs, including Silver Fox, Russian, and Hudson Bay Sable, Mink, Black Marten, Seal, Persian Lamb, and Sable Foxes.

Bear Boas.

These extra long Boas, with Muffs to match, made from the skins of black and cinnamon bear cubs, are distinctly fashionable, quiet, and dignified. They suit tall women particularly.

Muffs.

The "drum shape" now in style, in a very large assortment, full regulation size; Ermine, Mink, Seal, Chinchilla, Black Marten, Sable Fox, Blue Fox, Blue Lynx.

Children's Furs.

We carry these in full assortment.

REMODELLING.

Our expert furriers do thorough work at reasonable prices in the remodelling and transformation of garments.

OUR BOOK OF STYLES MAILED ON APPLICATION.

F. Booss & Bro.,

Makers and Importers.

449 Broadway, Near Grand St., N. Y.

BLAINES' MARITAL TANGLE.

Left His First Wife, Married Again, So Did She, and Now There Is a Contest for $100.

Justice McCarthy, in the City Court, tomorrow, will be asked to straighten out the tangle marital relations of the late Charles H. Blaines, and incidentally to decide which of his two surviving widows is entitled to the funeral benefit of $100 due from Theobald Lodge, No. 3,890, G. U. O. of O. F., of which Blaines was a member.

Judgment for this amount was obtained by default in November by Mrs. Lucy Ann Blaines, who averred that she had been Blaines's wife for a number of years. B. Gerson Oppenheim, the lodge's counsel, asks to have the judgment vacated, because Mrs. Julia A. Williams asserts she was married to Blaines on the eight day of January 26 years ago by Rev. Dr. Houghton. Her husband left her, and announced one day his intention of taking a new wife, and did marry Mrs. Lucy Ann in 1882. The original Mrs. Blaines was told by Blaines, she says, that she might marry again if she liked, which privilege she availed herself of and married Williams in 1888. Such little conventionalities as divorces were not bothered about by either party.

Williams, after five years of married life, disappeared, however, and Mrs. Williams says she has not seen him since, and knows not his whereabouts. The Williamses and Blaines for many years visited each other and got along together in peace and amity. Mrs. Lucy Ann Blaines says she contests the suit only that the lodge may be protected.

FORGING A CHECK THE CHARGE.

Young Englishman, Two Months in the Country, in the Tombs.

Edward Campbell, a young Englishman who has been in this country but two months, was arraigned in the Centre Street Police Court yesterday morning charged with forging the signature of his employer, Edward C. Talcott, 141 Broadway, to a check. On Nov. 20 last young Campbell managed to get possession of one of his employer's check books, and he promptly wrote out a check made payable to "cash" and signed his employer's name to it.

The forgery was so clever that the National City Bank promptly paid the money and Campbell disappeared. He was arrested at Broadway and Eighth Street last Friday night, and a number of bank checks and pawn tickets were found on him. He was committed to the Tombs yesterday in default of $1,000 bail.

A POLICEMAN'S GRIEVANCE.

He Arraigns Two Prisoners and Explains How They Jeered Him.

Policeman Kane of the Elizabeth Street Station appeared in the Centre Street Police Court yesterday with two medium-sized prisoners and a personal grievance of mammoth proportions. The policeman's prisoners were Henry Hoffman of 193 Second Avenue and John Daniels of 91 Walker Street, and Kane's grievance was that the two young men were only a small part of a gang which infest his beat along Mulberry Bend Park and jeer at him, calling him disagreeable names, dogging his footsteps, and otherwise interfering with his dignity and comfort. They were also in the habit of telling him that they had sufficient influence to have him sent "up among the goats."

They were dogging his footsteps along Pearl Street on Friday night, when he managed to seize Hoffman and Daniels. The Magistrate, after hearing full explanations from all sides, fined Hoffman $5 and discharged Daniels with a ca

The New York Times.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NEW YORK, SUNDAY, DEC. 9, 1900.

OFFICES:

NEW YORK:
Publication Office.....41 Park Row
All American District Telegraph Offices.
WASHINGTON.....515 Fourteenth St.
LONDON: Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Sq., W.C.
Advertising Office, C. Wilkes, 29 Ludgate Hill.
SWITZERLAND, Geneva: P. Drehmann, Librairie Nouvelle, Rue du Mont Blanc.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY, per Month.....$0.50
DAILY, per Year.....6.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Year.....7.50
SUNDAY, per Year.....1.50
MONDAY, with Financial Supplement, per Year.....1.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Month.....0.65
THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW, per Year.....1.00

For postage to foreign countries add 50 cents per month.

TWENTY-EIGHT PAGES.

MR. PLATT'S PROGRESS.

In abandoning his State Constabulary project and accepting the principle of a single-headed Police Commission for the City of New York Mr. PLATT has traveled so far on the right road that we feel sure he will complete the journey and assent to the proposal of the revisers of the charter that the Police Commissioner shall be removable by the Mayor. The plan he proposes is, of course, an immense gain over the present bi-partisan system, the seat of inefficiency and the source of corruption. While gravely defective in theory, as a matter of practice it might work very well. In appointing a Police Commissioner not removable by himself, but only by the Governor, a reasonable Mayor would be very apt to choose the best man he could find. Even a bad Mayor would be exceedingly foolish if he appointed men of his own kind, merely to see them rejected by the Governor. If he persisted in his folly he would run the risk of losing his own head. The Governor of the State, on the other hand, would have no motive for wanton removals, since, with the appointing power in the hands of the Mayor, he could not hope to get control of the department for partisan or other evil purposes.

If Mr. PLATT really intends to have the bill introduced in this form he probably relies upon the probability that the public will reason about it in the way we have indicated. The plan would result in great good as compared with the present miserable system; it could not be productive of any serious practical wrong. Therefore public opinion might support it.

We never feel quite sure, however, that in Mr. PLATT'S friendly talks to the newspapers he means just what he says. He spoke in terms of the utmost positiveness about the State Constabulary bill. He has thrown that overboard neck and heels, an act of such wisdom and prudence on his part that we commend him for it heartily. We think he will now throw overboard the provision of his new bill that makes the Police Commissioner removable in the first instance by the Governor, the Mayor having no power in the matter. We reach this conclusion because it is evident that the Governor's power to remove the Police Commissioner would not promote the interests either of the Republican Party or of morality, both objects of deep concern to Mr. PLATT.

The power to remove would not benefit the party unless the party also had the power to appoint. Undoubtedly much harassment and delay would be saved if the Governor could by his own hand summarily eject an unworthy Commissioner from office. He would not have to make or prove charges, and no obstructive process could stop or stay him. But his power to remove the Mayor gives him control of the same matter, and the celerity shown by Mayor VAN WYCK in obeying Gov. ROOSEVELT'S orders just before the recent election was proof of the sufficiency of the Governor's authority under existing laws. The Mayor's refusal to remove a corrupt Police Commissioner would be cause for his own removal. A Governor of firm temper could make even a somewhat defiant Tammany Mayor understand the danger of resistance.

The transfer of the power of removal to the Governor violates the principle of home rule, and for no justifying reason. It is perilous to make exceptions to sound general principles save for causes that are imperative. The mere saving of time and bother is not a good excuse for such a departure from the safe path.

Mr. PLATT will take this view of the police organization, we are confident, and come over to the better and more consistent plan proposed by the Revision Commissioners. They give the Mayor power to appoint and to remove a Police Commissioner "whenever in his judgment the public interests shall so require." The people of New York will welcome that change. There is nothing to be said against it. Against Mr. PLATT'S reform bill they will raise the very serious objection that it transfers to a public officer not accountable to them a power of control over a matter peculiarly and exclusively of their own household.

GOV. ODELL AND THE CANALS.

It was a very significant meeting that was held on Friday between the gentleman who will shortly be Gov. ODELL and delegates from various important business organizations interested in the domestic and foreign trade of the State. These delegates met the Governor-elect to lay before him the need of a permanent and adequate improvement of the canals of the State. They included representatives of the Produce Exchange, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Canal Association of this city, the Exchanges of Buffalo, the iron trade of Tonawanda, the transatlantic shipping interest, and others.

The facts that induced these gentlemen to seek to enlist the Governor-elect in the improvement of the canals are too well known in this city to require recital here. They mainly relate to the actual and relative loss of trade that has taken place in New York. This it was not difficult to illustrate and enforce, as was clearly done by Mr. SCHWAB. But it is not the local interests of this city that are alone involved. Indeed those interests are not even the chief ones. Nor is it the immediate trade of the city or of the State that demands the attention of the Legislature and the Governor. There is something far more important and lasting than this to be affected by the policy now proposed. It is the trade, internal and foreign, of the whole northern portion of the continent from the latitude of New York to the extreme northwest of the basin of the great lakes. This is a view of the situation that is not sufficiently understood, but it is the one that really justifies the expenditure that the Empire State contemplates making, for it makes the enterprise one of vast consequence and lasting influence.

The immense value of a waterway across the State of New York to the lakes, as it was conceived by CLINTON, and still earlier by GOUVERNEUR MORRIS, was based on the configuration not of the State of New York but of the continent of North America. They saw that the route for the commerce of the continent had been traced by the hand of Nature, and it remained only for the hand of man to construct the means of using that route. From the northeastern boundary of the continent stretching southwest to the very edge of the Gulf of Mexico lay the Appalachian range of mountains and hills, and through its long extent there was but one natural pass, made by the valley of the Mohawk River and the depressed area in line with it extending to the lakes. On the opposite slope of this barrier the rivers ran into the Mississippi and reached the Atlantic only through the Gulf of Mexico around the long intruding arm of Florida. It was the natural pathway for the commerce of the New World with the Old World that the Erie Canal seized and occupied. We think of it in these days as a shallow and narrow ditch through which crawl the slow and small boats of the last generation with the freight that the great railways do not care to take. That is not a correct idea of it even now, but it is the one that many people entertain. In the days of its conception and early operation it was the most important single element in the development of the commerce of the continent. The vast city of New York and the almost incalculable wealth that has accumulated here are but a part of the fruit gathered from the realization of the splendid plan of the fathers.

To-day the route followed by the canal is essentially as important as it was three-fourths of a century ago; it is the use of that route that has become inadequate and almost futile. The commerce, not only foreign but domestic, that can be affected by the improvement of the route is not so large a part of the commerce of the country, but it is infinitely greater than was ever conceived of even in the broadest plans of the authors of the canal system. And there is this essential element in the situation of the present that did not exist in the past. Beyond our northern border, through the territory of our energetic and far-sighted neighbors of Canada, a route has been opened and is being generously and rapidly extended that will take a large part of the traffic of the Northwest unless a channel is furnished for it within our own boundaries. It is not a route in itself nearly as advantageous as our own. With equal improvement and development it will not prove a formidable rival. But with improvement on that side and none on our own, our superior advantage will disappear. Nor must we imagine for a moment that the chief benefit of the improvement of the canal system is to come from the transcontinental commerce to foreign lands. That will be very great. The development of the trade and industry of the State of New York along the line of the canals and in the area served by them, including the valley of the Hudson, may be, and probably will be, even more extensive and valuable than the effect on foreign commerce.

Very likely it was this that Mr. ODELL had in his mind when he told the delegates on Friday that he believed that "the City of New York and the City of Buffalo are not more interested in this question than Newburg." They are not, nor is Newburg or any other place of enterprise on the banks of the Hudson or along the line of the canal system from Albany to the lakes less interested than New York or Buffalo. Their interests are in common and they are very great.

CONGRESS AND THE CANTEEN.

The House of Representatives has rarely done a more disreputable thing than to change the prohibition, in the Army bill, as introduced, of any soldier's serving as a bartender, to an absolute prohibition of the canteen. There is no excuse whatever for any Congressman's misunderstanding that, in voting for this amendment, he was voting to promote drunkenness, and consequently inefficiency and indiscipline, in the United States Army. The subject has been too long before the public, it has been too thoroughly discussed and testified about, to admit of any honest and intelligent difference of opinion. That an assemblage of grown men, who have been supposed to be men of enough honesty and courage to make the laws, should shew the dishonesty and cowardice which marked this vote is a very discouraging thing.

It was no doubt unfortunate that the general convention of the doubtless well-meaning, but in many respects highly absurd, "W. C. T. U." should have happened to be in session at Washington when this amendment came up for decision. We say "absurd" advisedly. This is the same interesting organization which sent an authorized representative, not long ago, to the President of a college, with a message setting forth that the association had understood that he smoked three strong and large cigars every day, and an inquiry whether, in view of the importance of his example, he did not think that he ought to refrain from that objectionable practice. It was a delegation from this same body that sat in the gallery of the House when the debate was going on upon the question whether rational means should be taken to promote temperance in the army or whether a false pretense should be made that there was no drinking in the army, temperate or intemperate, and that applauded the adoption by the House of the false pretense.

We should not blame the W. C. T. U. overmuch. They have not the slightest idea of the mischief they are doing. Mr. KIPLING has put into the mouth of a Mohammedan Prince in India the assertion that the laws of England are made by "the barren women," meaning, presumably, that women who have offspring have something else to do than to meddle with public questions which they do not understand. Without reference to the actual domestic relations of the leading spirits of the W. C. T. U., it is permissible to wish that their domestic duties were more engrossing. They would not then be in so much mischief as the arch enemy has found for their idle hands to do. They have succeeded in terrorizing or hypnotizing a majority of the members of the House of Representatives into voting for what a great majority of that majority must know to be a most mischievous measure, a measure against which professional opinion, which is to say expert opinion, has been pronounced with virtual unanimity.

The female advocates of nominal prohibition may be charitably regarded as unconscious and unwitting malefactresses. But the male legislators who have voted at their dictation are perfectly conscious malefactors. Being adult males, and not living in nurseries, or in monasteries, or even in parsonages, they know perfectly well that the votes they gave on this amendment were votes to demoralize the United States Army, to weaken its discipline and efficiency, and to promote drunkenness therein. One of them, Gen. GROSVENOR, with cheerful cynicism actually avowed this. It is to be hoped that there may be enough manliness and sense of public duty in the Senate to throw out this outrageous amendment and to suffer the morals of the army to be taken care of according to the opinions of its officers and not according to the opinions of any number of old women, of any age and of either sex, whose opinions upon the subject are worthless.

VICTORIOUS HARVARD.

The triumph of Harvard over Yale in the trial of brains was as fully as decisive and glorious as the late triumph of Yale in the trial of brawn. The judges of the contest, it is reported, were quite of one mind in the opinion that the Cambridge men had surpassed their opponents in command of the facts, power of statement, and logical argument.

If the entire American people should read what we have just written, the mass of them would have no idea what we are talking about. Everybody read the columns and columns of reports which the newspapers gave to the victory of Yale in the football match. Nobody who was alive and awake could escape the knowledge that Yale had won a great victory. Only here and there a man or woman, unusually faithful in the reading of the news of the day, knows that the annual debating contest between Harvard and Yale came off Friday evening in Sanders Theatre, at Cambridge, that the subject was the policy of retaining permanently the Philippines, and that, according to the report, it was "an easy victory for Harvard, the decision of the judges being unanimous and decisive as to both form in delivery and logic and matter in argument."

The relative interest of the public in these two dissimilar fields of intercollegiate strife is not the true measure of their comparative importance. We must suppose that the student body in one of these great universities is on a par with the student body in the other in respect to intellectual ability. Certainly we are at liberty to take that for granted if we concede that they stand on a par in respect to the material from which football teams are made. It was held, we believe, that Yale was invincible in football because her team was not only composed of extraordinary men, but because they had been trained in a highly scientific manner. Is it not, therefore, permissible to assume that if the two universities are equal intellectually, there is something in the university atmosphere at Cambridge that better brings out the mental stuff there is in the young men, inspires them with the ambition to excel in the intellectual field, and imparts a higher discipline and command of their powers? If this is not true, then Yale must admit that she is not up to the Harvard standard intellectually, for, of course, both universities chose their best men for the debating match.

It is with some pleasure that we repeat, what has already been recorded in our news columns, that Mr. R. C. BRUCE of Indianapolis and Harvard, 1900, was considered to have made the best long speech ever delivered in an intercollegiate debate; that Mr. MURRAY SEASONGOOD of the Harvard Law School, who comes from Cincinnati, made the most telling rebuttal speech of any debate, and that Mr. H. P. CHANDLER of Indian Orchard, Mass., the third speaker for Harvard, was worthy of his colleagues. Mr. C. W. MERRIAM of New Haven, Yale's best speaker, excelled in emotional appeal. Mr. F. H. SINCERBEAUX, Yale, 1902, of Moravia, N. Y., made a good opening speech for Yale, but Mr. MASON TROWBRIDGE, also of 1902, and of Chicago, was thought to be unfortunate in coming between BRUCE and SEASONGOOD, who surpassed him.

These names will not for these reasons go thundering down the ages with that of the famous and justly renowned Yale football Captain, whose name has been so often in print in big letters that we need not give it further publicity; but it is not impossible that they will be heard of in the real business of this somewhat active and severe American life.

AMERICAN ART AT PARIS.

Mr. JOHN B. CAULDWELL, the Director of the American exhibit in fine arts at the Paris Exposition, has submitted to some interviews, since his return home, for the purpose of emphasizing the brilliant success which that exhibit attained. What Mr. CAULDWELL refrained from saying or from intimating ought all the more, on that account, to be said. That is that the position taken by American exhibitors in this department was very largely the result of Mr. CAULDWELL'S own efforts.

It is quite true that the exhibit of 1900 was immensely more creditable than that of 1889. It is true also that there has been an advance, in the intervening years, of what American art had to show. But there has been no such advance as that indicated by the figures that Mr. CAULDWELL has given to the press. It is not so much that our art has been advanced as that it has been more worthily and adequately exhibited that it has drawn the attention of every visiting connoisseur in Europe, and been recognized by the shower of honors that was necessary to make good our average in the general competition.

All this has been, in great part, Mr. CAULDWELL'S own doing. Nobody could go through the American art exhibit at Paris without being made aware that it had been both very carefully and intelligently chosen and very carefully and intelligently presented. There was no art exhibit, French or foreign, which gave so strongly the notion of a culled and selected presentation, with the one exception of the "Lenbach room" in the German exhibit. It is easy to understand that the Director of the exhibit must have encountered much difficulty and "pressure" in order to produce this result, and must have made a certain number of enemies. Reports have reached us showing what potent influences it was necessary for Mr. CAULDWELL to withstand, and how he withstood them. But the result conspicuously justifies his course, the impression that the exhibit of American art, as chosen and arranged by him, has made in Europe. American artists cannot honor too highly the American Director who has brought about this recognition of their work.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—Soundest sense was shown by the correspondent whose letter on the public schools emphasized the fact that these schools depend for their character and their safety on the parents who send their children to them. The interest which the other parents, the parents who send their children to private or parochial institutions, take in the public schools is necessarily impersonal, theoretical, and academic. They give their money, grudgingly or ungrudgingly as the case may be, they talk most virtuously about the public schools as the foundations of American life and greatness, and their voice is always for the multiplication and improvement of liberty's traditional safeguards, but—they have no strong and effective motive for discovering and remedying the faults of the public schools, and as a matter of fact they rarely do anything practical in that direction. Of course they have their excuse, and unfortunately it is not an empty one. The public schools in a great city like this are what they are, they cannot be instantly or soon changed, and the education of a child cannot be deferred until the long work of reformation has been completed. So the logic moves in a circle—the child is not sent to the school because its methods and associations are bad, and the methods and associations are bad because the child is not sent to the school. Our correspondent declared that "the child who has intelligent care at home does far more good in disseminating ideals and culture than he can possibly receive harm from children of lesser opportunity." It takes much courage and a somewhat disquieting form of unselfishness to act upon that principle. It seems to involve some measure of deterioration for one class of children in order that another and larger class may be bettered. That would presumably be profitable for the community as a whole, but what parents are going to injure their own offspring even slightly for the benefit of the offspring of somebody else? It is a great and difficult problem, as conditions are in large cities, where the population is of the most heterogeneous character and class distinctions are based on lamentable but indubitable realities.

—Nobody will demand from the Bureau of Incumbrances an excuse for seizing and carrying away, once in a while, the merchandise with which certain tenants of the Astor House are acustomed to block up no inconsiderable portion of the sidewalk in front of their stores. It is not the bureau's all too infrequent action in this particular place that needs explanation, but the failure to make any permanent improvement even here, and the utter failure to proceed against other trespassers on public property whose misdemeanors cry to—well, to Commissioner JAMES P. KEATING, in almost every part of the city. Why, for instance, should the Superintendent of the Bureau of Incumbrances, who is the Commissioner's subordinate, presumably obedient, show occasional severity against a man named DOYLE, while the thought of troubling a greater offender named REGAN never occurs to him, or if it does occur to him, is instantly and effectually suppressed? "Doyle," and "Regan," though etymologically unrelated, do have a certain affinity, and the distance between Vesey Street and Forty-second Street is not so great as to account for the periodical harryings—thoroughly well deserved, remember—which Mr. DOYLE receives and the courageous, yes, audacious, leniency of which Mr. REGAN is continuously the object. It is said that anagrammatists peculiarly skilled in their art can so manipulate the letters of Mr. REGAN'S name as to change it, now to "Croker" and now to "Carroll"; and there be people who insist that in the possibility of these curious transmutations lies the solution of the mystery at which we are now worrying. These people may be right. Their theory is not obviously self-demonstrative, but it seems to fit the facts, and, being the only one that has been suggested, it will probably meet with general acceptance until a better is suggested. The situation that confronts us, therefore, is this: A few trunks placed on a sidewalk inspire raids at well-spaced intervals; a portico that occupies hundreds of square feet of public property is let severely—no, kindly, alone. This phenomenon, unfortunately, is not exceptional or accidental, but is a characteristic development of municipal government under the present auspices. Its duplications in other departments are so many that there is everywhere, almost, at least the appearance of evil, and the reality thereof most surely is not rare.

—Of the several rather big little cities mentioned by us the other day as deriving a not very noble satisfaction from the abandonment by New York of the Naval Arch undertaking, Boston is promptest and fiercest in resenting our kindly explanation of the joy felt in the American hinterland when New York fails or refuses to score. The dear old Transcript quite loses its temper over the matter, and it hits back in this ludicrously wild manner: "THE NEW YORK TIMES thinks Boston and some other cities had their jealousy aroused by the Naval Arch scheme. Oh, no! They are never jealous of New York's frequent frothings and fizzlings." Really, that isn't up even to The Transcript's modest standard of repartee. The Boston Herald, in its ruder fashion, does considerably better. "THE NEW YORK TIMES," it says, "thinks it has discovered that the abandonment of the Dewey Arch scheme there is a source of intense satisfaction to all the other great cities of the country, including Boston. Oh, no! We are all sorry that New York didn't warm up to it." That at least does not repeat the original offense, and, though the intimation that we had called Boston a "great city" is without foundation, it is neat in its way, and the expression of sorrow has at least the premonitory symptoms of humor.

THE NOISE NUISANCE.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Noise—blatant, persistent, ear-splitting, nerve-rending, senseless, unnecessary noise—the din of one hundred thousand tin horns—aggravating to every person above the age and rank of a gutter-urchin, was one of the features of our city Thanksgiving this year. For a good many Thanksgiving Days in the past we have had some tin horns and the gambols, more or less inane, of street boys in fantastic clothing. But this year there was a plague of gamins strolling around the better quarters of the town, demanding alms from passers, ringing the door bells, tooting their horns, and, generally speaking, making nuisances of themselves. The worst feature, however, of this phase of Thanksgiving is the noise, and doubtless thousands of nervous persons whose heads ached with it, wondered whether the time would ever come when a great man will found a society for the suppression of unnecessary noise that will actually accomplish something. For some reason or other, young America seems to run to noise as the expression of joy. We usher in the New Year with a din of bells, guns, and steam whistles; we fill the Fourth of July with din; now we are doing the same thing with Thanksgiving Day, and unless a halt is called, some fiend will discover that din is lacking to the proper celebration of Christmas and Easter. He may invent and spread abroad some diabolical device or devices. Policemen's rattles, or tin disks swung on the ends of strings, or the little clappers such as the peddlers at Dutch watering places carry may yet be introduced for use upon these sacred festivals.

This is a serious matter. What with our hand organs, our cable car gongs, our automobile gongs, our steam whistles, and our street cries of all sorts, the nerves of the city dweller are likely to be on edge most of the time. The evil is an insidious one. We suffer unconsciously as well as consciously, and we are nervous without knowing why. Physicians recognize the American as the most nervous of civilized races, and yet we allow a variety of din to distract us such as no other nation would endure. We have societies for the suppression of many nuisances and vices—why not one for the suppression of unnecessary noise? And why not begin with the Thanksgiving horn, the inventor of which ought to be hanged and quartered?

A SUFFERER.

New York, Dec. 4, 1900.

AMERICAN ACTORS NOT LINGUISTS

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The paragraph in to-day's TIMES with reference to the mispronunciation of French and other foreign words prevalent in our theatres recalls the fact that there is scarcely a prominent American actor off the operatic stage who is even a passable linguist. Mr. Richard Mansfield has the reputation of being both a linguist and a scholar, but he is not an American by birth. It was only the other night that the writer heard a charming and popular young actress call Boulogne "Boolong," just like a "cheap tripper" on a Channel steamer, and pronounce "Helena" with the accent on the second syllable.

At the German theatre in Irving Place one rarely, if ever, hears French words mispronounced, and there are some of Mr. Conried's actors who would doubtless feel quite at home in either French or English comedy. Mme. Modjeska, who speaks several languages, thoroughly drills her company in the pronunciation of foreign proper names, as playgoers who saw the Spanish "Doña Diana" will remember.

The English are not quite so bad as the Americans in this respect. There used to be a number of prominent English actors who spoke French fluently, though some are now dead. Among them were Horace Wigan, Charles Matthews the younger, G. W. Anson, Beerbohm Tree, Charles Coghlan, Miss Herbert, and Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft. A few even ventured upon performances in Paris, and some time in the early eighties a representation of Augier's "L'Aventurière" in French was given in London by English-speaking actors, among them being one American, Miss Genevieve Ward, who played Clorinde. A. E. G.

New York, Dec. 6, 1900.

THE FETTERED MARRIED MAN.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

This Mr. H. W. Palmer of Brooklyn, who is crying out from the wilderness in behalf of married men who are kept in at night, deserves a gold medal. THE TIMES says "he can fairly claim to be a profound philosopher." Egad, Sirs, but he is a profound philosopher and a man who voices the heart yearnings of thousands of helpless married men who suffer the misery of night home confinement like "dumb, driven cattle." He is, moreover, a shrewd man to attempt to give the impression that he is not a victim of the evil he deplores; but it is very evident that he is one of those noble souls who chafe against the fetters which wifely short-sightedness has placed on them. Who else but one thus oppressed could so vividly describe this monstrous iniquity?—which I verily believe is the cause of half the crime in the country. Who else but a victim could so powerfully hurl the javelins of a Swiftian sarcasm at this fearful Frankenstein which matrimony has suckled? Still, this is a matter of no importance, for if the victim does not protest he stands little chance or deliverance.

There is a good deal to be read between the lines of the Brooklyn philosopher's letter. In the first place it calls attention to the deep sex relation question and the political and economic dependence of woman, as well as the fact that the men who will sacrifice civic responsibility on the altar of home are the men who possess the very qualities so much needed in public affairs. True, they may lack moral courage and strength of mind, but these elements already abound among the bachelors, those husbands who are free from wifely domination after business hours, and those husbands who have triumphed over it.

Perhaps, after all, it is not so much a lack of courage or strength of mind as an excess of sentimentality which causes the trouble. From personal observations I have concluded that the majority of married men are not ruled by the fear of physical anger on the wife's part, such as would involve the violent projection toward the husband's person of bric-a-brac, pokers, &c., but rather the fear of the grief that the lady would show if she could not have her way. This is such a powerful appeal to the heart of the man (to his vanity, too,) that he can seldom resist it. The sight of his good lady, "the mother of his children," bathed in tears, her bosom heaving with emotion," convulsive sobs shaking her frame," as she leans up against him, her bangs and her back hair down, and her nose much redder than it really ought to be—all this, I say, makes a spectacle so appalling that few men would be heartless enough knowingly to cause its production. When it comes man sees it; can you blame him if he is conquered?

The Brooklyn man's plan of a Wives' Night Nursery may not be practicable, yet it is a bold effort toward the solution or a distressing problem. The Married Men's Shut-In Association, however, is a perfectly feasible plan. It is very plain that married men who are kept in o' nights must get out and take an active part in civic affairs, and it is also plain that the wives and families must be kept docile till the husband and parent crosses his threshold on his return. Whether the proposed plans would accomplish these ends is an open question, which I pass along to the next man. Mr. Palmer's philosophy certainly has my heartiest indorsement, and I hope that in the end the reforms proposed will be successfully carried out.

HENRY M. ENRIGHT.

New York, Dec. 7, 1900.

The Wife's Part in Reform.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A correspondent, who signs his name "H. W. Palmer" and proposes the formation of the "Married Men's Shut-In Association," offers a most valuable suggestion for a practical solution of reform in municipal affairs. The most conservative and intelligent portion of the body politic is deterred from taking a proper degree of activity in political affairs by "the wife." If the reform leagues and good government clubs will inaugurate the "Wives' Night Nursery," and give free membership to all men who pledge themselves to support the reform movement in politics, all partisanship in municipal affairs would be swept out of existence.

You will observe that I refer to the author of your very valuable suggestion as "a correspondent who signs his name H. W. Palmer." I do this advisedly, because his intimate knowledge of the conditions proves that he is a married man, or a widower; and it is inconceivable that any Brooklyn married man could have the temerity to sign his real name to so audacious a proposition. I myself am a widower, but out of regard for my sister-in-law, who presides over my household, I would ask you to sign this communication.

TRISTIS VERITAS.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 6, 1900.

IN BEHALF OF THE TAXPAYERS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

You publish in to-day's issue a letter signed "Principal," complaining of the action of the Charter Commission in recommending to the Legislature the repeal of the law giving 5 per cent. of the excise fund to the Teachers' Pension Fund, and also the repeal of the Davis School bill. In the opinion of many who pay the bills, the Charter Commission is doing the right thing at the right time. The school teachers, as a class, are well paid—paid better than the same class in any other profession. At the same time they are always kicking.

What's the matter with the school teachers saving out of their wages for their old age and when they get helpless, the same as the grocer, butcher, or bank clerk? This pension business has gone too far, and it is time it was stopped, or soon there will be all pensioners and no taxpayers. The taxpayer is now overburdened and real estate is in a deplorable condition as regards sales, renting, &c. The trouble with "Principal" is that he looks at the matter from the standpoint of the tax eater only. I know what I am talking about, as my father, mother, and three sisters were public school teachers in Brooklyn.

Give the man who pays the taxes some show and do not waste sympathy on the overpaid public servants.

TAXPAYER.

Brooklyn, Dec. 7, 1900.

ONE VIEW OF THE DUTY ON TEA.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I do see, look you, by the papers that our philanthropic lawmakers now gathered in Washington do be making great efforts to help the poor washerwomen of our country by leaving the ten cents per pound duty on Tea remain for us to pay, while the brewers, (who only manufacture material to fill our jails, poorhouses, insane asylums, and give employment to Judges, policemen, and city missionaries,) do have a reduction, and also billiard tables do have the tax removed, and also theatres and circuses, together with check stamps, which do be paid by them who do have bank accounts, and they do say the Government do not pay one cent, look you, for the collection of this $7,000,000. When they did put the tax on Tea, I did think it very hard, that because I did like Tea I had to pay ten cents per pound for that privilege, whereas my neighbor, (who was making $1.25 working on the road, and I was making seventy-five cents a day by washing,) John Jones, because he did like Coffee better paid no tax, although my boy, who they do say is good at figures, said that the duty on Tea did only bring in $8,000,000, whereas even at three cents a pound, Coffee would have paid $24,000,000; but this they do say is politics) which I do not understand, and father and mother didn't understand them; my boy do also say that he did read in some paper that the "Scrap" between Spain and Uncle Sam is over, and that they are only gathering up the remains, (of Spain, not of Uncle Sam,) and that they do have more money now left over in Washington than they do know what to do with, and he do also say that McKinley did write a letter to the Meeting, telling these men, I think they do call them Congress men, Senators, (or something else;) that he did want this money taken off those who bore the biggest burden, and I do think in my humble way, being a widow with seven children, I am one of those, and because I do hear my boy talk that Vanderbilt, Gould, and the Duke of Manchester do not pay any more for their Tea than they used to, because John Chinaman did send more of that Tea than usual. Now, what I want you to do, Mr. Editor, is to ask all the widows who have to wash for a living and old maids who have no chance of getting a husband, to send a cry up from Maine to California, so that McKinley & Co. might hear it in Washington that we do want that ten cents a pound taken off the Tea, so we can again have it three times a day instead of once, as now, and I will ever remain, yours very thankfully, MARY MORGAN, from Wales.

New York, Dec. 7, 1900.

THE REGISTRY AND THE VOTE.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A writer in one of the morning journals mentions the fact that the registry in the city, all boroughs inclusive, fell short some 115,000 from the normal ratio to population at the last election, and suggests that in the future this vote can be brought out by judicious personal canvassing. From my knowledge of this non-voting class I doubt if any method of this kind would prove effective. A very large number of voters refrain from exercising the privilege from most trivial and often ridiculous motives.

The infirmities of noble minds are unaccountable. One friend of mine never votes because he thinks it low to be seen in the crowd about a voting booth! The effect of such a trifle as a change of weather may affect an election in this city thousands of votes. The rumor of disturbance of any kind, whether founded on fact or not, may reverse an election. The whole business of the city must come to a stand on election days because business men find it difficult to leave their offices during the time the booths are less crowded, and the voting reduced accordingly. In all elections, if the vote be compared with the registry, it will be found that there is a discrepancy between them of from 30,000 to 50,000. This does not represent indifference on the part of the voters to this extent, but the effect of occurrences whereby this number of those who registered and intended to vote has been unable to be present at the day appointed. In a city of this character and magnitude all have business acquaintances whose duties prevent them from giving any certain assurance of their presence in the city on any particular day. These things are unfortunate, as the classes referred to are as a rule serious, intelligent business men whose votes could be depended upon in favor of honest Government.

The difficulty appears to lie in the fact that our present method of conducting elections is unbusinesslike, and to this fact must be attributed much of the disgrace, loss, and dishonor under which this vast and wealthy city is to-day laboring. Our mode of conducting elections is a survival of the old system in which a "town meeting" was appointed for a certain day, at which date matters of State were settled promptly and easily, as no town contained more than a few thousand people, and all could readily be on hand. But to apply such a method to the vast shifting and unsettled population of the great business centres of to-day is an absurdity. The result is apparent; our civic affairs too often fall into the hands of persons to whom no man in his senses would intrust the least of his individual interests—but to enlarge on this trite subject is useless. Is there any effectual remedy for this state of affairs?

I have never myself doubted that there are in this city votes of honest, intelligent men amply sufficient to put the affairs of the city in competent, faithful hands, and to keep them there. But this vote must be conserved by proper methods, and, most important of all, it must be brought out. The first point to be considered, and the only one I shall urge in this letter, is: Can some radical change be made in our present method of conducting an election whereby the great loss of votes under it can be remedied? If so, the first step in the right direction will have been made.

It seems to me, though I may be wrong, that much of the difficulty would vanish if the vote could be recorded at the time the voter registered. Days of registry are always several in number, occupying generally a space of ten days or so. Are there no feesible methods whereby this vote could be effectually protected until the day appointed for its general collection and return? If this were possible, it appears to me that this simple plan would meet nearly every point raised against the present system. Is there not some application of the method of voting by machines, so highly spoken of where it has been adopted, which could be applied to this case? Discussion of this theme may be fruitful of much good, and if any have suggestions to make in regard to this plan, or any other which may effect the end desired, I trust they will favor the public with their views.

L. STERLING.

New York, Dec. 6, 1900.

MISPLACED MAGNANIMITY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Although I greatly admire the marvelous magnanimity of Messrs. Frank & Du Bois in their forgiving attitude toward their office manager, William W. Gates, who has so shamelessly repaid their trust and confidence by wholesale robbery extending over a period of seven years, yet I strongly object to such sublime indifference to the cause of justice.

Let Messrs. Frank & Du Bois reflect for a moment on the thought of how many men in this city who, with everything to recommend them—liberal education, business training and ability, refined instincts, and absolute honesty of purpose and methods—are starving; and not only they, but their wives and little ones. Is it fair to them that such a man as Gates should go free? Before any more cases of this kind come to light would it not be well to make an example of the last? It needs a simple, but speedy remedy. Let him be tied to a cart'ail and publicly whipped through the principal streets of the city. Then let each and every firm make a thorough examination of its books, (employes who have nothing to fear will not object,) and punish all defaulters in the same way. Let us clean out these defaulters; then perhaps there will be no necessity for any further crusade against vice.

While such men as Alvord and Gates can live in luxury and extravagance on money deliberately stolen from trusting employers, so long will honest men starve and anarchy thrive. J. W. K.

New York, Dec. 7, 1900.

The Writing on the Wall.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Somebody in a letter compares T. C. Platt with Nebuchadnezzer. He resembles him to the end in seeing the handwriting on the wall:

CRO—KERM—USTG—OAN—DMET—OO

If he cannot translate it the people, as a second Daniel, will do it for him, then he will go to grass also. N. Y.

New York, Dec. 7, 1900.

Questions for Charles Stewart Smith.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It seems to me to be a matter of some consequence that the initial step in the reform movement should command public confidence.

I therefore beg to ask Mr. Charles Stewart Smith (not captiously, but courteously,) two questions. First, will he state what principle of selection actuated him in the appointment of the Committee of Fifteen? Second, did he secure the consent of the gentlemen to serve before the appointments were made? FRANCIS M. ROSER.

New York, Dec. 8, 1900.

Appreciative and Puzzled.

From The Springfield (Mass.) Union, Dec. 7.

There are some things we do know, and many that we don't. One of the latter is how THE NEW YORK TIMES can publish such an excellent paper and such a large one all for one cent.

NUGGETS.

Unfit Appointment.

"He's been appointed to the police force, after all!"

"The idea of trying to make a copper out of such a bad penny!"—Detroit Journal.

Golf and Chess.

Foozzle—I suppose you are willing to admit that golf is an intellectual pastime?

Bunker—Yes, in about the same sense that chess is an athletic game.—Boston Transcript.

Without Harm.

"Here's a story about a butcher who dropped forty feet into a caldron of hot water and escaped uninjured."

"Miraculous!"

"Oh, no. They were pigs' feet."—Philadelphia North American.

All She Took.

"Did she take anything when she left her husband's house?"

"Nothing but her departure."

"Then I was misinformed."

"In what way?"

"I understood she took her maiden name."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Always Boils the Water.

"Does your wife boil your drinking water?"

"Yes, and we never had any real enjoyment until she did."

"And so you really enjoy drinking it?"

"We don't drink it; she throws it on our neighbor's thieving dog."—Denver News.

THE FOUR GUESTS.

Josh Wink in Baltimore American.

A knock at the door—but he
Was dreaming a dream of fame;
And the one who knocked drew softly back,
And never again he came.
A knock at the door—as soft—
As soft—as shy—as a dove.
But the dreamer dreamed till the guest was gone—
And the guest was Love.

A knock at the door—again
The dreamer dreamed away
Unheeding—deaf to the gentle call
Of the one who came that day.
A knock at the door—no more
The guest to that door came.
Yet the dreamer dreamed of the one who called—
For the guest was Fame.

A knock at the door—but still
He gave it no reply;
And the waiting guest gave a cheery hail
Ere he slowly wandered by.
A knock at the door—in dreams
The dreamer fain would grope,
Till the guest stole on, with a humbled sigh—
And the guest was Hope.

A knock at the door—'twas loud,
With might in every stroke;
And the dreamer stopped in his dreaming thought,
And suddenly awoke.
A knock at the door—he ran
With the swiftness of a breath;
And the door swung wide, and the guest came in—
And the guest was Death.

Letters From Readers on Various Timely Topics

THE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Senator Frye, at Wednesday's session of the Senate, asserted as though it were a fact that a provision of the pending bill requiring all ships to take freight up to a certain percentage of their carrying capacity would prevent vessels like the American liner St. Louis from participating in the benefit of the act. He announced that he would propose to the Committee on Commerce an amendment providing that all ships shall take on freight to an amount equal to 50 per cent. of their carrying capacity when leaving a port of the United States for a foreign port, which, he said, would so distribute the products to be carried as to do no injustice to anybody.

Mr. Frye has considered it incumbent in defense of his present untenable position to designate the views of those who are opposed to the Subsidy bill as "the wild and insane criticism" of the measure. It is, therefore, necessary that those who have opposed the bill shall, with becoming modesty, endeavor to demonstrate to the honorable Senator that they are in possession of facts which place him in a position which he must defend, when he refers to the fact that it would "do no injustice to anybody." Senator Frye at the present moment stands between the devil and the deep sea. His amendment now proposed still places the International Navigation Company in the same position it previously occupied, owing to the fact that if the amendment should pass and the International Navigation Company were compelled upon its ocean fliers to convey freight to the amount of 50 per cent. of their carrying capacity upon each voyage, its interest in the spoils to be divided will remain undiminished. If Senator Frye is not aware of this fact, he then, from ignorance, is in no position to defend the measure. If he is aware of this fact, he then is unfit to occupy the position of President pro tem. of the United States Senate. And that the International Navigation Company may give little concern to the measure proposed, (which fact Senator Frye must beyond doubt be presumed to know,) is clear from easily accessible figures regarding that company's ocean fliers. It is a notorious fact that their carrying capacity is next to nothing in comparison with that allotted for passengers, fuel, crews, &c., as is best set forth by the following statement:

Steamship.	Gross Tonnage.	Net Tonnage.	Cargo Capacity in 40-Foot Tons.	When Built.
*New York	10,671	5,358	3,800	1888
*Paris	10,668	5,468	3,800	1889
†St. Louis	11,629	5,893	3,500	1895
†St. Paul	11,629	5,874	3,500	1895

*Built in Scotland. †Built in Philadelphia.

The subsidies allowed by the Ship Subsidy bill are at specified rates—"per gross ton for each 100 nautical miles," &c. Is there at the present moment in the United States Senate one who will propound to Senator Frye the following question: What gross ton is it the intent upon the part of the measure to indicate? Are we to understand that the ocean fliers of the International Navigation Line, in consideration of their receiving the subsidy both outgoing and incoming, must carry a cargo that would fill one-half of their gross tonnage capacity? This cannot be possible, for the reason that were it so intended the gross tonnage of the St. Louis, for instance, 11,629, or 1,162,900 cubic feet, of which one-half is 581,450 cubic feet, would show 14,538 cargo tons of 40 cubic feet each. But a careful calculation indicates that this is over four times as much cargo as the ship can convey. Investigation will indicate that the St. Louis, with 11,629 gross tonnage, will meet with all requirements within the amendment proposed by Senator Frye should she carry 1,750 cargo tons of American export matter, and there is no doubt that this is what the amendment is intended to convey; otherwise we shall hear from President Griscom of the International Navigation Company, as any other intent would mean a relegation of this great line from a proper participation, according to their ideas, in the present political steal.

It might be well that Senator Frye should have the question plainly placed before him upon the floor of the Senate, and there defend his position and explain fully if it will be necessary for these great ocean fliers to carry over and above the ridiculous amount of 1,750 tons gross freight to obtain their share of the subsidy. In other words, it is apparent that this amendment will be applicable to the St. Louis or her sister ships under the following conditions: They need only carry 1,750 cargo tons, as the law will permit them to deduct from the tonnage of cargo the tonnage the spaces allotted for crew, engines, coal, passenger staterooms, &c., and likewise for mail space. It will thus be seen that for every remaining 100 cubic feet the vessel shall carry one-half of a cargo ton of 40 cubic feet, or one-half of 2,240 pounds. There is no doubt whatever that this is the real effect of the amendment, although it is doubtless intended to convey a different impression.

But shall we not be charitable and give the benefit of the doubt to Senator Frye, in the belief that the subsidy hunters are negotiating to deliver to the said Senator a gold brick? Those opposed to the Subsidy bill should not be criticised by Senator Frye in such manner as his statement indicates. They are fighting for a principle, and are not lobbying for individual gain. The opposition is composed of an element that Senator Frye should respect and in return this element should endeavor to cultivate a similar feeling toward him. He should not designate their position as "wild and insane criticism." The best element of the American press, the political economist, the student, and those who have the welfare of our future at heart are opposed to the measure. Those forces are using no money in the way of lobbying against the measure, but they have the intelligence to oppose it upon economical grounds, and stand as a body all in sympathy, one with the other, regarding what they consider a true and inherited principle, and it might be well for Senator Frye to call to mind the words of the Duke de Gotha to Prince Rasselas, as follows: "The life that is devoted to knowledge passes silently away and is very little diversified by events. To talk in public, to think in solitude, to read and to hear, to inquire and answer inquiries, is the business of the scholar. He wanders about the world without pomp or terror, and is neither known nor valued but by men like himself."

Now, what have we in the air? Rumors, denied by some, but affirmed by others, that the Messrs. Vickers' Sons & Maxim, Limited, the English steel firm, are negotiating for the Midvale Steel Works, and that they have practically concluded negotiations for the purchase of the Cramp yards of Philadelphia. Yet, is it necessary that the Republican Party must liquidate a campaign debt to the subsidy hunters who have the temerity, pending the Ship Subsidy bill, to deliberately negotiate with English firms for the sale of their properties which are to be fostered by a direct bounty from the Government? Their negotiations do not savor of ordinary decency pending the attempted passage of the act. What a monument it shall be for the Republican Party to erect, which their political opponents can, for years to come, severely criticise! What a foundation would be this ship subsidy scheme—a measure that will in years to come form one of the greatest industrial trusts inaugurated in this country, in proportion to the capital invested! An industry that shall receive a specified bounty each year from the United States Government! What a prospectus to lay before the public would be an assured outlay by the United States Treasury of $9,000,000 per year! What an opportunity on which to float $150,000,000 of preferred stock at 6 per cent. per annum! What twenty future great acts upon the part of the Republican Congress cannot obliterate the memory of this transaction if it is carried into effect. This one iniquitous scheme will be a stain to blemish many future great acts that might be enacted by the present or future Republican Congressional bodies.

But, comes the rumor from Washington, that the Government of Nicaragua demands $20,000,000 for its concession to the United States, all on the strength of the way our Government has plunged headlong into the scheme, and that there is a pretty strong feeling even among the supporters of the Nicaragua route that the United States Government should not submit to a deliberate hold-up, even from one of the poor republics under its protection. But why should not the United States Government permit of such a hold-up? Nicaragua only imitates our native hold-ups on the United States Treasury; and surely we cannot criticise a sister republic for grabbing all in sight when it has such a noble example as the Ship Subsidy bill presented to its gaze. It is merely the law of human nature, and, at least, it may be said in favor of Nicaragua that, in the case of its demand of extortionate payments from the United States Treasury, there is no pretense of concealment under the guise of patriotism.

Is there no Republican Senator honest and brave enough to call for the reading from the Clerk's desk of those parts (applicable to the question) of the reports of 1894, 1895, and 1896 of the Commissioner of Navigation, whose last report is now quoted by the subsidy advocates? We specially recall his pungent suggestion that the real remedy for evils which everybody admits is the repeal of navigation laws enacted fourteen years before Robert Fulton's steamboat navigated the Hudson and a quarter of a century before the first steamship crossed the Atlantic Ocean. The repeal of laws which, he states, deny American register and the American flag to vessels engaged in foreign trade owned by American citizens unless built in the United States, is necessary to give this country any rank as a maritime power. Years ago all other commercial nations repealed like prohibitions in their laws. The prohibition of registry falls at every point to meet new requirements: it has crushed traditional American maritime spirit, humbled National pride, and dwarfed our mercantile growth. But differences in wages and in the provision of foremen are not the chief factors against the United States in any future efforts to regain maritime rank.

G. WEAVER LOPER.

Philadelphia, Dec. 7, 1900.

MR. CHOATE ON LINCOLN.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mr. Choate's discourse on "The Career and Character of Abraham Lincoln," at the Philosophical Institution of Edinburgh on Nov. 13, reported in THE TIMES, is a masterly piece of eloquence and a superb description of the striking and original character of one of the strongest yet most pathetic figures in history. But, like most beautiful things, it is not perfect. There are spots on the sun; it warms, it dazzles us, yet in itself it is incomplete. So in the polished and melodious sentences of the brilliant orator on Lincoln there are a few blurs and some omissions which may, with appropriate modesty, be pointed out.

Mr. Choate, in the opening lines of his speech, calls Abraham Lincoln "the most American of Americans," but in another part of it he says "fees, money in any form, had no charms for him; in his eager pursuit of fame he could not afford to make money. He was ambitious to distinguish himself by some great service to mankind. * * * However much he earned he seemed to have ended every year hardly richer than he began it."

Fancy a typical American of such a frame of mind. Conjure up, from a long list, the typical American who cannot afford to make money because of his eagerness to apply his faculties to some great service to mankind. Lincoln was one of the few great leaders, in the most solemn events which come upon nations, who was entirely without the puerile vanities, the small, mean prejudices, and the large criminal greeds of the spirit of nationality. He loved his country; no man ever loved it more; but in whatever land accident had given him birth he would have been broader and finer than its local interests. He was a type of the noblest manhood rather than the most American of Americans.

In the very city where Mr. Choate's glowing eulogy was delivered dwelt once a Scotchman who was much more than a mere Scotchman, who was not at all a typical Scotchman, though he deeply loved Scotland. He was lionized for a short time by the leading lights of Edinburgh, and then cast outdoors because his sympathies were universal rather than local. This immortal Scot was the author of "A Man's a Man for a' That."

In these strange times we sometimes read in newspapers the words "little Englanders," "little Americans," as if a nation's greatest honor depended on its size, and not on its character. What a comical effect this would have if applied to men. A big army and navy, a big purse, the power of crushing a weak people—this, in its meanest sense, is the pride of nationality. Was there any such pride in Abraham Lincoln?

Another blur on Mr. Choate's magnificent picture of the struggle which led to the civil war is his putting Lincoln forth as the principal champion of freedom and of the people against slavery. Now, years before Lincoln was ever heard of William H. Seward, the apostle of "higher law," was a foremost champion of freedom among others equally well known—Wendell Phillips, Horace Greeley, and Garrison. Seward—the greatest men this country has produced—was the recognized leader of the Republican Party and its choice for President in the campaign of 1860. But there was a "boss," having a transcendent influence, in the Republican Convention, and through the personal enmity and powerful opposition of said "boss" Mr. Seward, to the great indignation and disappointment of the Republicans, was set aside, and Abraham Lincoln, a comparatively unknown man, was named for the office. Lincoln then had very little influence outside of his own environment. Thus, it was by the merest accident and through the power of the man who "bossed" the convention, and not by acclamation of the whole people—as Mr. Choate declares—that Abraham Lincoln became President of the United States.

No one looked for war at that moment. The threats of the South were regarded as unmeaning bluster.

"By the mere election of Lincoln to the Presidency the further extension of slavery in the Territories was rendered forever impossible." Armed rebellion prevented the further extension of slavery. And Mr. Choate told his hearers this fact less than two minutes after making the above statement. In speaking of the Emancipation Proclamation he makes the astonishing assertion that "this great act was absolutely his own: [Lincoln's:] the conception and execution were absolutely his." This will be surprising news, to many persons who remember the events of that time. Every Abolitionist in the land, and a large number of others, demanded an emancipation proclamation long before the President was willing to give it. He thought the time had not yet come. Everybody who was acquainted with the demands of the Abolitionists, both here and in England, knows that twenty years before the civil war they demanded the emancipation of the slaves of the South. And they always kept up that demand. So that the conception of the act, even as a military measure, did not originate with Mr. Lincoln.

It is really an interesting study to watch the struggles of Mr. Choate when he tries to tell his distinguished listeners how the event of the facts of that great conflict "foreigners"—i. e., the English—were. He gets over the rough stones and the open chasms pretty well. We know that properly qualified Ambassadors must use delicate tact in handling the most offensive subject. No one blames them for this; it is a necessity of their position; but it must have been somewhat of a strain for Lord Rosebery and others to keep their risibles in order on hearing such language as this: "In those days, when there was no cable, it was not easy for foreign observers to appreciate what was really going on; they could not see clearly the true state of affairs." Such, and more of it. The foreign observers must have been very blind, for every leading newspaper had its correspondent here, and the foreign newspapers received their American exchanges three or four times a week. Surely Mr. Choate remembers the famous Dr. Russell, correspondent of The London Times, familiarly called "Bull Run Russell." Our Ambassador might have quoted other "scurril jesters" besides Punch. And he knows this. Not only were the English leaders of Government and the press well acquainted with what was really going on, but they had watched every phase of the struggle between North and South for years before the war began. Even the English women knew all about it. Was there not a rich and powerful association of Abolitionists in England, having the Duchess of Sutherland, first lady in the Household of the Queen, as its President? "The rebel emissaries sent over spared no pains," &c. Yes, and Henry Ward Beecher and Archbishop Hughes went over and spared no pains. Beecher, lecturer in behalf of the North and the Administration, met such brutal opposition in every large city that he declared in print he had endured every outrage except personal violence.

Mr. Choate, as his hearers no doubt expected, made the usual radiant drawing of the self-made man—the apotheosis of early poverty the deification of misery. What a splendid crucible to prepare a character for great things! What grand discipline to teach self-control! Ah, how easy is it for the comfortably situated speaker, who has never drunk to its dregs the wormwood cup of destitution, to soar into the empyrean of specious eloquence on this theme! One is led to wonder if in reading they have ever accompanied the long line of gifted and sensitive spirits who have threaded the hell of deprivation of every physical and mental necessity.

Lincoln the martyr—doubly martyred—whose deep, sad eyes looked as if the tears of his lonely and hungry childhood and the forlorn wretchedness of his early youth could never fade from them, was great, not because of the sterile waste that surrounded his growth, but in spite of it, for the reason that his was an uncommon nature. Destitution, in 999 cases out of a thousand, is not the spur to effort, but its extinction. For the one soul that battles with and conquers it, like the brave Lincoln, thousands sink into the pit.

The rude, vulgar environment that like a pall covered the opening years of that nobly born nature left its ineffaceable marks on his person, and at times his manners. It could not have been otherwise. The ignorance in the miserable cabins; the solitude, the gloom, the grim atmosphere of the primeval forest, or the slime, the drunkenness, the moral leprosy of tenement dens in the slums of cities—are these the proper cradles of childhood or promising schools for aspiring youth?

E. M. DELESCLUZE.

New York, Nov. 27, 1900.

CATHOLICS AND THE SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The letters from your readers, of which you publish so many, upon all topics, are frequently interesting and instructive. Even where one cannot sympathize with the views expressed, or may, perhaps, smile at the spirit which pervades them, he at least learns something of what other people are thinking about, and of how they look at things from their "point of view." In most cases this "point of view," as we learn, is the efficient or determining cause of the opinions expressed.

A great deal has been said and written upon the subject of "Catholics in the Public Schools"; indeed, it is a constant theme of editorial and epistolary comment in the periodicals of the day, and I believe there are few questions of like importance that are treated in a less temperate and argumentative manner, and more from the point of preconceived theories or notions than this. From my "point of view" in the premises—and I have studied both sides of the question carefully for many years—non-Catholics generally do not understand the position of Catholics in this matter, and because of deep-seated prejudices are too often unwilling to give their brethren of the Catholic faith a patient or fair hearing. When the latter present what they consider their just claims, they are met at once on all sides with the cry of "Attack upon our public schools," "Attempt to divert the public money to the support of sectarian schools," &c., and appeals are made in fervid terms to the patriotism and civic spirit of the American people to resist what is denounced as an insidious and dangerous attack upon our free institutions.

Now, what is the Catholic position upon this question? Do Catholics in fact suggest that the State should devote any less money to the support of public schools? By no means. On the contrary, they would have the number and the efficiency of schools increased and perfected, so that adequate educational advantages would be absolutely free to all. But they maintain—and in this they are warmly supported by many of the most thoughtful and experienced educators of other faiths—that purely secular education, without religious or moral training, will not, certainly in many cases, produce either a good Christian or a good citizen. And their faith teaches them that their first and highest duty in life is to know, and to love, and to serve their God. They sincerely believe that this sacred duty, in so far as the care and education of their children is concerned, cannot be rightly discharged by placing them in schools from which all religion and religious training are scrupulously excluded. And, therefore, while they are taxed equally with their non-Catholic fellow-citizens for the support of the public schools, to which, in itself, they do not object—they are annually contributing thousands of dollars for the establishment and maintenance of schools and colleges in which Christian doctrine and morals, as well as secular knowledge, are taught.

The Catholic suggestion is simply this: The State undertakes to provide all its children with the means of acquiring freely a good "common school education," and endeavors to maintain the standard of that education at what it should be. That is unquestionably right and proper. But, as a matter of fact, the facilities, or means, which the State possesses of completely and efficiently carrying out this excellent design, are, and always have been, wholly inadequate.

Now, any religious association, be it Catholic or Episcopalian, Hebrew or Presbyterian, will erect suitable school buildings, provide competent teachers, and, having the requisite number of scholars—whether 100 or 1,000—will place its schools, under the supervision of the State Board of Education; that is, of course, so far as concerns their efficiency in the matter of secular education, and if it be found that the board's requirements are fully complied with, is there any good and sufficient reason why the State should not grant its assistance, upon a per capita basis, to the maintenance and support of such schools? They are freely open to all, their curriculum and their general efficiency in matters of secular education must be up to the standard maintained in the "public schools," as a sine qua non of State assistance. The purpose of the State—that of educating its children—would be accomplished equally well, and at a less rather than a greater cost, than in the public schools.

Why, then, must such schools be excluded from a share of the public money appropriated to educational purposes? Why must they, who are loyal to their faith, who, acting upon conscientious convictions, send their children to schools in which they may receive a religious and moral as well as a secular training, be doubly taxed, first, for the support of what they must consider as unsatisfactory schools, for the reasons stated, and from which, therefore, they receive no benefit whatever, and again for the support of schools at least equally good, under the ægis of their own Church?

Are not the motives of those who harp so constantly upon the dangers of sectarian schools open to the suspicion at least of something less worthy than a pure love of our "American system of education"? Would not justice and patriotism, and, above all, Christian charity, be best served by dealing fairly and honestly with those who, without trespassing upon the rights and privileges of others, follow in their own legitimate sphere the dictates of profound religious convictions? F. D. H.

New York, Dec. 6, 1900.

TAX THEORY OF FRANCE.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The ever-increasing burdens imposed on real estate in New York City call for a speedy revision of the antiquated tax system now in force governing the collection of real and personal taxes.

The unjust and arbitrary means employed in the collection of personal taxes drive away capital and are a serious detriment to the prosperity of the city. At present a few persons are singled out and the great mass escape or evade payment by perjury. A just personal tax would be borne without a murmur, would bring in a large revenue, and would greatly contribute to relieve the heavy burden placed on real estate.

A fair personal tax is one that cannot be evaded by concealment, perjury, or other means, and that falls on all citizens in proportion to benefits enjoyed. Such seems to be the system in force in Paris and all French cities. Personal taxes are paid here by all classes, rich and poor. No attempt at evasion is made; in fact, evasion is almost impossible. The equitable collection of this tax has greatly contributed to the prosperity of the city. The rich of all nations are attracted to a city where they can dwell without fear of their private affairs being looked into every year by the tax collector. While the personal tax laws of New York drive away the wealthy classes, the just laws existing here attract them, bring great wealth to the city, and help to lighten the taxes on real estate.

At different times legislators imbued with Socialistic doctrines have tried to introduce changes into the French tax laws, so as to cause them to fall more heavily on the rich, but all such attempts at class legislation have failed, and nothing warrants their success in the future, for the great mass of voters in France realize that the more the wealth attracted here the better for the laboring classes.

The French theory is that the personal tax should only be levied on what one enjoys or derives benefit from, and one is only taxed according to the amount of luxury enjoyed and displayed. The millionaire who contents himself with a dwelling in a tenement house occupied by laborers pays the same personal tax as the laborer dwelling in the same house and living in the same style; or should he reside in a flat which is assessed for taxation purposes at, say, $500 per year, he will pay a smaller personal tax than a man whose means are modest, but who indulges in the luxury of dwelling in a flat the tax valuation of which is, say, $1,000.

The French personal tax laws are based on the amount of luxury, comfort, and ostentation displayed and enjoyed. It is a tax on comfort and vanity—surely a just tax.

In all French cities there are two classes of taxes; the direct taxes and the indirect. The direct taxes are: Tax on real estate, personal tax, license tax, corporation taxes, taxes on horses, carriages, dogs, bicycles, billiards, and stamps on legal and registered documents and checks.

The indirect taxes are those levied on liquors, tobacco, salt, matches, sugar, and other Custom House duties.

The only taxes we have to deal with at present are the personal tax and the personal license tax, which taxes correspond to the personal tax in New York.

All citizens except paupers are subject to the personal tax, according to the assessed rental value of the tenement, flat, or house occupied.

All citizens living in dwellings of a lower rental value than $80 per year pay a poll tax of 4.55f. (91 cents) yearly. Under this category are classed day laborers. This is an annual tax, and can hardly be considered as a tax on the rental value of the dwelling occupied.

The personal tax proper is levied only on citizens who enjoy a certain degree of comfort, and, as before stated, is based entirely on the tax rental value of the dwelling occupied. This tax is progressive, and while not bearing too heavily on the rich, falls more lightly on persons of modest means and living.

1. Citizens in dwellings the tax rental value of which is assessed at from $80 to $120 pay 6½ per cent. on the rental—say, a personal tax of $6.50 on a rental of $100.

2. The tax then rises as follows:

	Per Cent.
Rental value from $120 to $139	7½
Rental value from $140 to $159	8½
Rental value from $160 to $179	9½
Rental value from $180 to $199	10½
Rental value of $200 and upward	12½

As a rule the tax rental value placed upon a dwelling by the tax assessors is about one-quarter less than the actual market value in the case of small dwellings and one-fifth less in the case of large ones. Thus, a person dwelling in a flat the market value of which is $1,000 will pay personal tax on $800, the value fixed by the assessors.

No other tax is imposed, unless one is engaged in some trade or business. The taxpayer is not called upon to declare his income or what he is worth; he is not required to make any statement whatsoever. There is no incentive to evade or to commit perjury or concealment of any kind. One pays the personal tax on the amount of comfort and luxury one enjoys and on the display one makes.

If one is engaged in trade, commerce, or industry, or has a profession, additional taxes are imposed, namely, the personal business or license tax and the proportional tax. The following, however, are exempt from these taxes:

1. Government and city employes.
2. Artists, sculptors, engravers, professors, teachers, midwives, newspaper editors, dramatic authors, poets, and writers.
3. Laborers, farmers, fishermen, landlords temporarily renting a part of their dwellings.
4. Clerks and all salaried persons working by the day or piece.
5. Hucksters and nurses.

There are eight classes of license taxes, the amount of tax being in proportion to the importance of the business or profession one is engaged in.

A first-class license costs $80, second-class $40, third-class $28, fourth-class $15, fifth-class $10, sixth-class $8, seventh-class $4, eighth-class $2.50.

The proportional tax is based on the rental value of the office, store, or factory used for the business. This tax varies from one-twentieth to one-fiftieth, according to the tax rental value of the place used.

Thus, a merchant paying a license tax of $80, and occupying offices the tax rental value of which is, say, $5,000, will pay a proportional license tax of one-twentieth, $250, making a total business tax of $330; and if he occupies a flat for dwelling purposes, the tax rental value of which is, say, $3,000, his personal tax will be 12 per cent. on the rental, that is, $365, so that in all he will pay yearly taxation to the amount of $695. In the case of a smaller business, in smaller quarters, the taxes will be proportionately smaller.

Taxes can be paid in twelve monthly installments. They are payable at the ward office, every ward in Paris having its own tax bureau.

As will have been seen from the above, all citizens and strangers living in Paris contribute according to their visible means toward defraying the State and city expenses. No one escapes, no one is singled out. All pay in proportion to benefits enjoyed, be they rich or poor.

A personal tax on such a basis in New York would, if properly levied, yield a very large revenue and be cheerfully paid. A greater number of voters and other citizens would be interested in having the city finances properly administered. Real estate owners would not have to bear all the burden. The rich citizens, instead of being driven from the city, would be attracted, and the poor would benefit by it.

The taxpayers' and other associations will greatly benefit the city if they will devote themselves to bringing about some such reform in the present personal tax laws. GEORGE S. LESPINASSE.

Paris, Nov. 30, 1900.

BANK EXAMINATION REFORM.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The recommendations of the Controller of the Currency as to changes in the National Banking law suggest other changes that should be made regarding the most important branch of the Government, namely, our financial system.

The defalcation in the First National Bank of this city and of the German National Bank of Newport, Ky., only brings to mind the necessity, long since noted, of a more thorough examination of National banks.

This matter I brought to the attention of Controller Eckels before he retired from office, and he was much pleased with the suggestions I made and asked me to put them in writing for him, which I did, but nothing in the line suggested has been done.

Just after the great Whisky Ring steal in St. Louis, radical measures were adopted by the Treasury Department to prevent a repetition of such a conspiracy to rob the Government, and those measures have proved a complete success.

Revenue officers, storekeepers, and gaugers were changed every sixty days by assignment made by the Collector of each district, and these officers never knew until a few days before they were changed to what distillery they would be assigned. This prevented any collusion between a dishonest officer and a dishonest distiller, for the reason that any conspiracy hatched by one officer would easily be detected by his successor. Besides this, special deputies were appointed by each Collector, whose duty it was to visit the distilleries and see that the storekeepers and gaugers did their duty, and the date of such visits was never disclosed to them in advance, which had a tendency to keep them on the alert and attentive to their duties. Then special agents were sent out from Washington by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, whose duty it was to visit the subordinate officers and examine them thoroughly as to their qualifications and their familiarity with the revenue laws.

Now, why not adopt a similar plan for the examination of National banks and prevent a recurrence of the wholesale defalcation and misconduct of National banks, which have in the past resulted in such heavy losses, both to the banks and to their depositors?

We have 3,887 banks and only sixty-five Bank Examiners; each bank is supposed to be examined twice each year, (which is not sufficient,) so the sixty-five Examiners have to make 7,774 examinations each year, or 119¼ examinations to each Examiner. Now we have only 277 working days in each year, after deducting Sundays, half days for Saturdays, and holidays, in which an Examiner has to make his 119¼ examinations, or two and three-tenths days for each examination, in which time he must also do the necessary traveling from one bank to another.

The question now arises, Can the most expert accountant make a thorough examination of an ordinary-sized bank in such time and comply with the requirements laid down by the National Banking law, especially when such examinations have to be made during business hours, when there are so many interruptions?

To this question I say, No. The Examiner is not only required to verify the books and accounts, but he must count the cash and pass upon the value of the securities held, and in this day, when the market is flooded with all kinds of securities emanating from all parts of the country, a large portion of which is held by National banks, it is impossible for an Examiner to pass upon them intelligently and perform his other duties. This is especially true of banks outside of the large cities, where what is known as unlisted securities are held, and where no quotations as to the value can be obtained, except through personal investigation.

The remedy for this is, as the Controller suggests, to have the Government pay salaries to the Examiners, and not have them dependent upon the banks for their fees, and, if necessary, increase the tax on the banks to meet this expenditure. Increase the number of Examiners, in order to give more time for their work, and exact of them a close and scrutinizing examination. Don't confine them to one territory, but have the Controller assign them to different territories at stated periods. For instance, send a New York Examiner to Chicago, a Chicago Examiner to St. Louis, and a St. Louis Examiner to Cincinnati, &c.

Then we should have at least ten special Examiners, whose duty it should be to visit any bank in the country at any time the Controller may direct, dropping in unexpectedly. Besides these, we should have three expert Examiners, who are perfectly familiar with banking and the National Banking law, whose duty it should be to visit the regular examiners and examine them as to their qualifications for the positions they hold, and see that they perform their duty.

Again, I would suggest that the compensation of the Controller is inadequate for the responsibilities of the office; $5,000 per annum is earned by many bank Presidents, who have far less responsibility. During Controller Eckels's term of office, when there were so many bank failures, he had at one time under his charge about $53,000,000 in assets of banks in the hands of receivers, he supervising all of them and being responsible to a certain degree for this money, which largely belonged to the depositors.

The salary of the Controller should be increased to $10,000, and that of the First Deputy to $5,000. Then the office of Assistant Deputy should be created, with a salary of $3,000. The duty of this Assistant Deputy should be to pass upon the securities held by the banks, as reported by the Examiners.

The three special agents, as suggested above, should be paid a salary of $5,000 each and expenses. The ten special Examiners, as suggested above, should be paid a salary of $4,000 each and expenses.

The number of regular Examiners should be increased so that each Examiner for towns of 10,000 population and under would have not more than sixty examinations each year, making three examinations of each bank. These Examiners should be paid a salary of $3,000 each and expenses.

For cities of over 10,000 and under 250,000 population a sufficient number of Examiners should be appointed so that no Examiner would have more than thirty-six examinations to make each year, making three examinations of each bank. To such Examiners should be paid a salary of $4,000 each and expenses.

For all cities of over 250,000 population a sufficient number of Examiners should be appointed, so that no Examiner would have over twenty-one examinations each year, making three examinations of each bank. To such Examiners should be paid a salary of $5,000 each and expenses.

As near as I am able to calculate, the above suggestions, if enacted into a law, would necessitate an annual expenditure of about $3,000,000, which would be .0006 per cent. on the resources of the National banks of the country, which they are well able to stand, as it would mean a protection to them as well as the general public. THOMAS J. FRY.

New York, Dec. 3, 1900.

CHURCH APATHY.

THAT SERMON AT ST. PATRICK'S.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

My attention has been called by several people to the letter of "J." in your issue of Dec. 3, purporting to quote substantially some observations made in a sermon delivered in St. Patrick's Church, in Mott Street, last March. As the quotation is not even substantially accurate, may I trouble you to insert this correction?

In the first place, the sermon was not addressed to the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, but merely to the congregation of St. Patrick's Church, assembled to do honor to their patron saint. The thesis was a very simple one: the glories of the race as apostles of the true religion throughout the world were described, and especially the advent of the Irish Catholic emigrant to this country was sketched in brief detail. Their earnestness, zeal, and fidelity in the practice of their holy religion was enlarged upon, and they were exhorted to keep to the traditional observances which had rendered them so wonderfully the missionaries of the faith. It was pointed out that there was a little danger in the fact that laxity was creeping in. The point especially insisted upon was the fact that, in spite of the exhortations, even the commands, of episcopal authority, large numbers of Catholic children were attending non-Catholic schools where their faith was in jeopardy.

It was also pointed out that missing mass for trivial reasons was becoming a practice among a certain class of Catholics, descendants of Irish ancestors. A sharp contrast was drawn between the laxity of that class and the wonderful fidelity of their progenitors to this prime duty of Catholics. Finally, it was insisted that the methods to which many of the clergy were obliged to resort to raise money for the support of their churches indicated a decline in the spirit of faith. There was no reference whatever made to any unworthy devices on the part of the clergy to persuade men and women to go to mass, as none such exists to the knowledge of the writer. But it was shown by reference to complaints that had been appeared in certain Catholic publications that the devices employed to raise money could not be considered respectable, and appealed to very low motives, motives, in fact, which it was the duty of the pulpit to repress rather than encourage. This simple thesis scarcely warrants the construction put upon it by your correspondent, although I can appreciate the concern of your correspondent's belief that there is apathy in Catholic churches, else why the extraordinary revivals called missions, which are so frequently held in our Catholic churches; why the numerous retreats and spiritual exercises, and why the frequent exhortations to the people to be sure and hear mass on Sundays, and to go to the sacraments at least once a year?

The mistake of your correspondent is in confounding this normal condition, (for the Church is a living body, and has its detritus, and if not dead, at least dormant tissue where the circulation is imperfect,) with the apathy complained about in other churches, which is the apathy of death rather than of life. I can sympathize also with your correspondent's view that the Catholic Church has to struggle to hold its own, because I am aware of much leakage from the Church by reason of non-Catholic educational influences and surroundings as well as by mixed marriages, but your correspondent says nothing about the compensations received for this leakage by the inflow of many converts from other religions.

The apathy of Catholics is of the same quality as that among the early Christians, to whom St. Paul on so many occasions addressed such stinging exhortations: it is that against which so many of our synodal decrees are aimed, but side by side with the decay that it induces or stimulates is the new growth that must always be reckoned with in the Church that is ever ancient yet ever new.

THE PREACHER OF THE SERMON.

New York, Dec. 7, 1900.

Catholic's Advice to a Critic.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your issue of Dec. 5, "J.," writing upon the subject of "Apathy Among the Catholics," gives what he claims to be the substance of part of a sermon delivered in St. Patrick's Church, in Mott Street, last March. I wish to state that "J." has failed to grasp the full significance of that discourse. The reverend clergyman referred to was at the time urging upon Catholic parents the duty of sending their children to Catholic schools, and in the course of that address he lamented the fact that many of our Catholic parents are remiss in their duty in this respect, and that, consequently, thousands of our children are deprived of the benefits of a Catholic education.

If "J." is sincere in his belief that the Catholic Church is not "holding its own" let him visit St. Patrick's Cathedral any Sunday morning and see that vast edifice filled during every mass (six or seven masses are celebrated there every Sunday) with devout Catholics. Probably the average attendance at Sunday masses in St. Patrick's Cathedral is between 12,000 and 15,000. Let him stand at the door of any Catholic church in this city during some Sunday when the rain may be coming down in torrents, or when the ground is covered with snow, and see the throngs pass through the doors. Then let him visit any Protestant church, and, after looking at the rows of empty seats, tell us which denomination has reason to complain of "apathy in the churches."

As for the slur he attempts to cast upon Catholic domestics, I have only to say that I have known many Protestant gentlemen who would employ none but Catholic servants in their homes, for the reason that experience has taught them that Cathalic servants may be relied upon for honesty and truthfulness. This is not less true to-day than it has ever been.

K. C. DOUGAN.

New York, Dec. 7, 1900.

Catholic Non-Attendance.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In reply to K. C. Dongan's challenge in to-day's issue of THE TIMES that I verify the statements made in my note of Dec. 3 in regard to Catholic Church attendance, I beg to reiterate that on March 18, at St. Patrick's Church, in Mott Street, a St. Patrick's Day sermon was preached especially to the Sons of St. Patrick Society, many members of which in regalia were present. Further, I myself heard the sermon, which I gave the substance of. I am thus in a position to do my own verifying. The preacher, known to me personally, was from an up-town church.

I may add that as I am an agnostic, my interest in church membership, growth, or decadence is that of a student of sociology; it has no sectarian bias. I have, however, learned to distrust the statistics of church officialism in every creed, as claim-everything-in-sight appears to be the invariable rule of the usual church statist. Rare is it to find one so frank as the preacher whom I have quoted.

MRS. JOSEPHINE REDDING.

New York, Dec. 7, 1900.

POSSIBLE REASON FOR APATHY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your issue of yesterday "Pilgrim" regrets lack of interest in church work, and reports preachers as lamenting this apathy and asking, What can we do? and why is this?

I am afraid the answer is that the people are losing faith in ministers; that, as a class, they do not regard them as intelligent enough or honest enough to adequately fill the place of leaders. The trials for heresy and some of the discussions that go on nowadays in religious conventions take one back to the Middle Ages. One wonders that such talk can come from grown men.

Is there any belief, or any book or any custom, that a man should hesitate to question? If good and true, will it not shine all the brighter for such a trial? And if proved false and bad, will sensible and honest men want to hold to it?

Many ministers are shy of a live issue, but Beecher said that whatever moved men's souls was a theme for the pulpit, and he was right. In the days of the anti-slavery struggle how many preachers dared to discuss it from their pulpits? To have done so would have cost many of them their official lives. And there's the rub. It needs a lot of courage to be a minister. Here and there is one of transparent sincerity and great force, who goes for his full value, but the rank and file are heavily handicapped by the fact that they are paid professional speakers, and that they are tempted to trim.

What is the remedy? Well, inasmuch as leaders of men, like poets, are born not made, it seems to me that the first step would be to eliminate those who have accidentally or artificially become ministers from those who are ordained by nature, and then—there needn't be any second step, because the apathy would cease. If the Christian minister finds no theme in the present situation of New York City he has mistaken his vocation. LAYMAN.

New York, Dec. 4, 1900.

A Hebrew's View.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your two correspondents, "Pilgrim," of the 3d, and "Knickerbocker," of the 4th of December, especially the latter, who calls the minister's sermon a "bore," give evidence that history reneats itself. The children of Israel, when they began to forsake their God and rejected their prophets called the prophets' words a "burden," (Jeremiah, xxiii., 33,) which sounds like "bore." Many criticise the Jews for having rejected their prophets who should rather take a lesson from, and not imitate, them. "Boast not, but rather fear." (Romans, xi.) Those who argue against their ministers, who are ambassadors of Christ, are certainly against Christ Himself. God said unto Samuel: "For they have not rejected thee, but they have rejected Me." (I. Samuel, viii., 7.)

I value your paper very highly; in fact, it is the only paper I care to read. But I must tell you that by publishing such letters you indirectly put a stumbling block before my people, the Jews. For they judge that there is no true religion in America, seeing that pastors are so lightly spoken of through the public press, and so few go to church, a large part of which are women. I wish to bear testimony that I know that some of the best men in the city attend Christian service on Sunday, and I believe that all true Christian men love to hear God's word spoken by godly men, and do not consider it a "bore." Christ Himself said: "Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice." (John, xviii., 37.) Through such

AT THE THEATRES

Coquelin as Cyrano de Bergerac, with Bernhardt as Roxane—Dull Plays and a Bright Book.

There is no need to blow horns for Coquelin and "Cyrano de Bergerac." The great Frenchman has acted Rostand's many-sided Gascon more than 400 times, and the fame of the portrayal has gone all over the world. Rostand did much for dramatic art and the French stage when he composed "Cyrano," but Coquelin has done much for the play and for Rostand. He is unequaled among contemporary players as an interpreter of poets. He sinks himself, his amazing virtuosity, his striking individuality, always for the sake of the poet and the poem. We must not look for some of the brilliant theatric effects Mansfield put in the performance of "Cyrano" in Coquelin's performance.

That strange, wild song of the man who drops from the moon will be so delivered, surely, as to make the original beauty of the poetry felt most of all. Mansfield was fairly superb throughout the whole third act of "Cyrano," but it is always the action with him before the word, and the words in poetic drama are the principal things. First of all, the poet must be interpreted. Coquelin lacks the splendid fervor and vehemence of our own great actor, but those who saw both the Cyranos say they found the Frenchman infinitely better in all the badinage and tirade of Act I., much quieter and less "dramatic" and picturesque in the death episode, where he let the poet keep the first place, to the benefit of the play.

With Bernhardt as Roxane the opposite rôle to the Gascon will have its greatest and final test. If Bernhardt cannot make Roxane seem a great rôle no actress ever can. Probably Roxane is not a great rôle. She is not wholly "sympathetic." The spectator can comprehend her delusion, but he must blame her for it under the spell of the play. That makes her seem unworthy of Cyrano's great but perfectly controlled passion, and we are all so unsparing of human unworthiness in the theatre! But Bernhardt's grace and eloquence and fervor will give every phase and every quality of the rôle its right tone and value.

The supporting troupe is of proved ability. We have rarely had a play so well acted in every part as "L'Aiglon" has been at the Garden Theatre.

The best thing the zealots and meddlers who talk so much and generally know so little about endowed and State theatres could do in New York, if it were within the bounds of probability that they could ever do anything worth doing, would be to make theatricals of a good quality cheaper, so that poor folks could have more good entertainment. The prices of tickets to see good plays well acted are now so high in this town that the poor man, if he goes to a first-class playhouse at all, must sit in the top gallery and peep over the rail. The cost of producing a good play and having it well acted, however, is much larger than it used to be, and there seems to be enough money in town nowadays to secure big crowds for every important production every night.

The ordinary farces and melodramas, however, are not worth paying $2 to see. At the Murray Hill Theatre, where one may get the best seat in the house for 50 cents at night and 25 cents at the matinées, there are better plays and better acting forty weeks in the year than you can see in one of the new pieces of last week, to wit: "The Sprightly Romance of Marsac." Surely the large, plump-faced, noisy Mr. Arbuckle is no better comedian than Mr. Donnelly himself, who is also large, plump-faced, and apt to be noisy. Mr. Allen and Mr. Bramwell, at the Murray Hill, are capable actors of good experience, and they have a number of able associates of both sexes.

As for one of the other new pieces of last week, "Madge Smith, Attorney," tried by May Irwin at an extra matinée, that is a diffrent thing. Probably the general public is willing to pay a good price simply for the sake of seeing May Irwin. She is unique in her personality and her gifts. The same is not true, however, of Mr. Arbuckle.

A great boon to the multitude would be a theatre conducted on the same plan as Mr. Donnelly's, and as capably according to its needs, where the classics of English drama could be resorctably performed fifteen or twenty weeks every year. Perhaps that could be done under the direction of the right sort of a manager, neither an actor nor a speculator, without an endowment. Perhaps not.

Elizabeth Robins contributes to the current number of The North American Review her impressions of Sarah Bernhardt's acting in "Hamlet." She is a close and sympathetic observer, an actress of uncommon artistic intelligence herself, the writer of a powerful and vividly imaginative novel, "The Open Question." Her impression of a noteworthy work of dramatic art, therefore, is worth having. She gives us the idea, which one might have formed for himself beforehand, that one may not forget that Bernhardt is a woman in seeing her act Hamlet. But do we ever want the dramatic illusion to go quite as far as that? Do we really ever forget the actor in the part? I fancy not.

Miss Robins, however, found Bernhardt's assumption of mannishness very accurate and pleasing. She takes the great actress to task for playfully "cracking Rosencrantz and Guildenstern's heads together" in the Prince's first scene with the courtiers. That was a precious piece of "business" Beerbohm Tree indulged in. Where did it ever come from?

"An amazingly good imitation of a high-spirited, somewhat malicious boy" this impersonation seemed to Miss Robins. She found this young Hamlet "sad, with his tongue in his cheek." She fancies, also, that Mme. Bernhardt gives us a glimpse, or more than a glimpse, of the earlier Hamlet, one of the "two Hamlets who are, beyond a doubt, bound up in the play"—the crude, frankly comic, essentially popular Hamlet she thinks existed on the Elizabethan stage before Shakespeare illumined the subject with his own genius. It is to reason more curiously than the Prince of Denmark reasons about the dust of imperious Cæsar, perhaps, so to reason. But Miss Robins's appreciation of Mme. Bernhardt's portrayal, nevertheless, impresses one as a lucid and entertaining account of an exceedingly interesting piece of acting.

Amy Leslie's "Some Players," a fat twelfmo of 600-odd pages, Herbert S. Stone & Co., is a book about theatricals which I fancy many playgoers, even those of mature years and some sobriety of thought, will be glad to look into. It is "personal," persistently smart, intentionally gossipy, to be sure; but the information it conveys is accurate, and its judgments are amiable yet suggestive. It comprises more than sixty chapters of impression and criticism of actors in music-drama, spoken comedy, and tragedy; farce, operetta, pantomime, and "vaudeville," who have been seen and heard on the American stage within the memory of folks still young and able to be about. The impressions were derived from close and frequent observation of the subjects both on and off the stage. Miss Leslie has "met" everybody and survived.

She has a talent for doing that sort of thing and living through it, quite apart from her good skill as a reviewer of plays and acting. There are plenty of pictures, reproductions of good and recent signed photographs of the subjects of Miss Leslie's witty and sympathetic chronicle, and these subjects include Calvé, Melba, Irving, Ellen Terry, Mansfield, Jefferson, Bernhardt, Jane Hading, Modjeska, Harrigan, Charley Ross, May Irwin, and Pauline Hall, an assemblage appealing to all tastes and conditions of artistic servitude on the most democratic plan.

EDWARD A. DITHMAR.

THIS WEEK'S PLAY BILLS.

Only One New Offering, "Janice Meredith," in the Upper Broadway Houses.

Only one of the upper Broadway houses, Wallack's Theatre, will have a new play to offer the theatre-going public to-morrow night. The event is the metropolitan début as a star of Mary Mannering in a dramatic version of Paul Leicester Ford's novel, "Janice Meredith," who is fortunate enough to be without a competitor. At the Garden Theatre M. Coquelin and Mme. Bernhardt will present for the second play of their five weeks' engagement "Cyrano de Bergerac," with M. Coquelin in the title rôle and Mme. Bernhardt as Roxane for the first time. A German piece is also to have a first representation here in its original tongue at the Irving Place Theatre on Wednesday—Kariwer's comedy, "Das Grobe Hemd." For to-morrow and Tuesday evenings Manager Conried will repeat his last week's success, "Rose Monday," and he will produce during Christmas week "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," the fairy tale by C. A. Goerner.

After giving a trial performance last Thursday afternoon at the Bijou Theatre of her new play, "Madge Smith, Attorney," Miss May Irwin has apparently been thoroughly satisfied that the performance was satisfactory, and therefore decided to substitute it for "The Belle of Bridgeport," which will be discontinued and the new play put on for the remaining part of her season in this city.

Among the plays that are carried forward are Miss Maude Adams's, who will begin the last three weeks of her "L'Aiglon" at the Knickerbocker, and John Drew's, who likewise at the termination of the next three weeks will take his attraction of "Richard Carvel," now at the Empire, on a tour through the country. Miss Annie Russell in "A Royal Family" is running along toward the hundredth performance at the Lyceum, where this event will be celebrated to-morrow evening. The receipts of the play are the largest that have ever been taken at this theatre, and none of the pretty plays that have have been presented at this theatre has met with such universal approval. "David Harum," with William H. Crane in the title rôle, will have its hundredth performance at the Garrick Theatre on Dec. 17, when souvenirs will be given away. Seemingly in favor with those who like lively farce-comedy is "Hodge, Podge & Co." at the Madison Square Theatre. At the Harlem Opera House Charles Frohman will present his Empire Theatre Company for a week in R. C. Carton's comedy, "Lord and Lady Algy." The engagement will be the fourth this organization has filled in this charming play.

Three months of "Mistress Nell" at the Savoy Theatre expired on Saturday night, and there is no doubt that its continuance will last well into the new year. "The Gay Lord Quex" continues its engagement at the Criterion, where Charles Frohman has arranged with John Hare to remain until Jan. 12, when Miss Julia Marlowe will begin her engagement with "When Knighthood Was in Flower." Mr. Hare will visit some of the principal cities and then return to London to appear there during the latter part of April. "Arizona" will enter upon its fourteenth week at the Herald Square Theatre to-morrow evening. According to the original arrangement Mr. Thomas's play would have gone on tour at the end of next week, but owing to the fact that Mr. Frohman is not ready yet with the Edna May production, "Arizona" will remain one of the attractions of the holidays. Until the end of the week beginning Dec. 17 "Foxy Quiller" will be performed at the Broadway Theatre by Jerome Sykes and his company. Frank McKee's comedy company, with the August Family, in "The Star and Garter" is proving a most substantial success at the Victoria Theatre, the Agoustis being especially popular in their wonderfully artistic juggling act in the restaurant scene. One of the clever little pieces of acting is the satire on "David Harum" presented in the second act.

Miss Lulu Glaser and "Sweet Anne Page" go into their second week at the Manhattan. "Monte Cristo" at the Academy of Music has passed its seventh week, and when Mr. O'Neill concludes the remaining three weeks of his engagement he will then have played the ten weeks allotted to him in this city. "Lost River" has but two more weeks to continue at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, when it will be followed by a revival of "The Village Postmaster." Among the new moving pictures just received at the Eden Musée from Paris are many interesting subjects, the mysterious ones being more elaborate than any yet received. Two pictures of events are elaborate. One is a reproduction of the parade of Sanger's Circus in Windsor Park. The other is a reproduction of a stag hunt in three scenes, showing the starting of the hunters and the stag in the distance. The second scene shows the stag fording a stream with the hounds and hunters in close pursuit. The last scene is the killing of the stag by the hounds and the arrival of the successful hunters.

Like a big happy family the all-star stock company in Weber & Fields' Music Hall moves smoothly along in the channels of "Fiddle-Dee-Dee" and the burlesque of "Arizona." There have been rumors that a change was to be made in the programme very shortly, which are without foundation. The Murray Hill offers an entertainment consisting of a revival of Sims and Raleigh's comedy "Lost in London," "The Grey Mare," while the week's play at the American Theatre will be the melodrama, "Hands Across the Sea." "For Liberty and Love" will be the attraction at the Third Avenue Theatre. One of the Western melodramas that proved popular in combination houses, "An African King," will be seen at the Metropolis Theatre, and Manager Krause of the Dewey Theatre will offer his patrons the Bon Ton Burlesque Company and Ernest Roeber, the champion wrestler, who will appear at every performance. Irish fun and sentiment will prevail at the Grand Opera House with Andrew Mack and "The Rebel." Macklyn Arbuckle in "The Sprightly Romance of Marsac" is at the Theatre Republic.

THE VAUDEVILLE SHOWS.

Jean Marcel to Appear with His Living Pictures—Changes at Various Houses.

The most important addition to vaudeville scheduled for this week is the introduction to this city of Jean Marcel and his complete outfit of "living pictures" from Paris and London, which will be seen at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre to-morrow night. This is the artist's first appearance in America, and he comes direct from a six months' engagement at the London Alhambra, which followed a similar engagement at the Folies-Marigny Theatre, Paris. Jean Marcel's living pictures are something more than the mere term "living pictures" implies. London and Paris voted them quite the most beautiful reproductions of statuary, bas-reliefs, and paintings and marbles that had ever been exhibited in Europe. Marcel himself is an artist of Continental reputation and painted the backings used in his various pictures. His models are all of his own careful selection and number twenty-five. Each was chosen with a special view to his or her physical fitness to the character to be represented.

The greatest attribute of merit in this series of living pictures lies in the absolute imperturbability of the models as they pose in the huge gold frame. When first produced in London at the Alhambra the critical Britishers were inclined to "boo" and declare they were "dummies." This continued until one special picture which disclosed several figures at once, and directly the curtain fell it rose again and then the models came to life, as it were, and bowed most gracefully. Besides this particular feature, there will be the three Yoscarys, acrobats; Miss Alice Pierce, and the Juggling Johnsons. Miss Della Fox will transfer her specialty from Broadway to the Twenty-third Street house. The dramatic number on the bill, however, will be the one-act play of the Revolution entitled "Trenton, '76," by John W. Albaugh, Jr., and company; Leo Dumonds and others are on the programme. McIntyre and Heath will head the star features at Proctor's Palace, while an excellent vaudeville entertainment will be provided the Harlem patrons of the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre.

The Messrs. Sire Brothers will introduce to this city at their New York Theatre to-morrow evening Miss Violet Friend, who is announced as a competent comedienne, recently from London. The spectacular ballet, "Meeting of the Nations," Emma Carus, Louise Beaudet and company in "Sweet Jessamine," Pat Rooney and Mayme Gehrue, and others will be the remaining numbers on the long programme. At Koster & Bial's the Hashim Brothers announce what they term their greatest bill, to commence to-morrow afternoon. Twenty vaudeville sets of contrasting interest comprise the new programme. The Potter family of five gymnasts of flying trapeze fame, Ezra Kendall, who has been re-engaged; Joe Welch, with a new dialect monologue; Mlle. Carmencell, the novelty danseuse; Tim Cronin, the Irish wit; Lawrence and Harrington, black-face comedians, and the Brothers La Nole, bar gymnasts, are among the principal newcomers. Other important features are Genaro and Bailey, sometimes called the ragtime specialists; the high-diving dogs of Prof. Herbert, Jennie Joyce, the burlesquer; James and Bonnie Thornton, monologists; Juan Cacello, and Ward and Curran, eccentric comedians and singers.

The usual changes will take place at Huber's Museum, the chief feature being a series of moving pictures of the Corbett and McCoy contest which took place at Madison Square Garden. A new act will be introduced by the Arabian Trio, who go through a gun drill, gun spinning and juggling act. Baker's Trained Pigs have made sufficient of a success during their first week to entitle them to an extension of at least another week, while Ada Briggs, the fat woman; Blondell, the human ace lamp, and Capt. Fisher will head the department of freaks, and Allen's Punch and Judy will share the rest of the bill along with a number of others. At Keith's Union Square Theatre J. E. Dodson will make his reappearance with the sketch called "Richelieu's Messenger." In addition to this the entertainment will include the Rossow Midgets, McAvoy and May, Fred V. Bowers, Linton and McIntyre, Mme. Marie Duma, and a variety of other performers. Extraordinary good specialties are promised for the present week at Hurtig & Seamon's Music Hall when the Hopkins Trans-Oceanica Star Company, an organization of unusual merit, will be the leading feature.

MR. DOHNANYI'S RECITAL.

An Enthusiastic Audience Hears Him at Mendelssohn Hall.

Mr. Ernst Dohnanyi, the young pianist who has made such a deep impression by his sound readings of the masterpieces of piano music, gave his third recital yesterday afternoon at Mendelssohn Hall. The audience was a large one, and its enthusiasm was of the kind to please all who have the advancement of public appreciation of music at heart. It is a solid comfort to hear people launch into such eloquence of approbation as followed the young man's performance of works by Beethoven and Brahms. It seems that, in spite of the more or less cogent arguments made by those who believe that Beethoven is out of date, and that Brahms was never in, there are still many who enjoy hearing their music, and would rather listen to it than to much more sentimentally cloying stuff. Mr. Dohnanyi's programme was Spartan in its laconism and its freedom from any appeal to the mere senses. Its egotism may be pardoned on account of the apparent general opinion that every pianist ought to compose. The list was as follows: "Chromatis Fantasy and Fugue," Bach, Beethoven's sonata in G major, opus 31, No. 1, Brahms's variations on a theme by Handel, opus 24, and the pianist's own C sharp minor scherzo, intermezzo in F minor, and cappriccio in C minor. These were supplemented at the end after several recalls by a barcarolle of Rubinstein.

The essential features of Mr. Dohnanyi's are have already been pretty thoroughly discussed in this paper, but such excellent piano playing should never be permitted to pass without comment. Crystallized clearness of purpose is apparent in every reading which this young man makes. He has probed his own conception to its minutest corollaries, and has prepared the means of expression down to the finest item of accent and color. Thus he keeps his hearer interested throughout. And furthermore, his conceptions are almost invariably satisfying. With such intellectual writers as Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms he is in perfect sympathy. He understands the loftiness of their simplicities, the sunlit snows of their sky-reaching austerity. He interprets them with a deep insight, with an infinite variety of sidelights, with an appropriate color scheme, and with a perfect dignity and style. His technic is so well developed that he plays with consummate ease, and has sufficient reserve power to enable him to maintain in the most intricate passages perfect independence of finger and the resultant diversity of accent. He played the Bach number yesterday with splendid mastery, and the Beethoven sonata he read with complete penetration of its inner thought and a most exquisite finish in the nuancing. It was a remarkably beautiful piece of piano playing, but there was more to come.

In the Brahms variations the pianist let loose the treasures of his intelligence, his musical feeling, and his technical mastery in a most uncommon performance. No pianist who has played these variations here, not even Mr. Pederewski, has given them with such a whole-souled absorption of their spirit and such a brilliant outpour of technical resources just suited to its exposition. One never thinks of Mr. Pederewski as especially a Brahms player, but Dohnanyi enters into the employment of the new piano language as one to the manner born. His own compositions show the influence of the modern idioms which Brahms did so much to establish. These compositions are agreeable, but not refreshingly original in their thematic matter. They are well made, and they fit the piano. A good pianist can excite the enthusiasm of an audience with them. It should be added that after the tremendous burst of power and dash required by their performance, the pianist caused the wires to sing the Rubinstein barcarolle with luscious tone and a restful finish in the delicate gradations.

Garden Theatre Programme Changed.

Mme. Bernhardt and M. Coquelin will make their appearance only in "La Tosca" and "Camille" at the Garden Theatre during the week of Dec. 17. "Frou-Frou," which was originally announced for Wednesday and Friday evenings of that week, will be presented at a later date. This change in the programme was made necessary through the demand for the two former plays, which will be given as follows: Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday evenings and Wednesday matinée, "La Tosca"; Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings and Saturday matinée, "Camille."

Walked Across Continent on Wager.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—Harry West, known as "Kid" West, who on Aug. 1 left New York on a wager that he would walk to San Francisco in 135 days, has arrived here six days ahead of time. West claims to have wagered $5,000 with Charles Morton of Kansas City that he would start from New York City without a cent, walk to San Francisco, and get there "broke" in the time specified.

Porto Rican Telegraph Turned Over.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Gen. Greely, Chief Signal Officer United States Army, has been informed that the Signal Corps telegraph lines in Porto Rico have been turned over to the control of the civil authorities of the island.

Aged Man Dies of Exposure.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Dec. 8.—Arthur Lascelles, aged seventy-five years, wandered away from home last night and perished on the lake front. He was one of the builders of the Erie Railroad. Ill-health unbalanced his mind.

THE GRAND OPERA SEASON

Advance Subscription Nearly Equal to That of Last Year.

List of the Box Holders and of Some of the Subscribers for Orchestra Seats.

One week from to-day Maurice Grau and his entire operatic organization are expected to arrive in this city from their preliminary season on the Pacific Coast and in other Western cities, and two nights later the season of grand opera in French, German, and Italian will begin. Since May the subscription department at the Metropolitan Opera House has been receiving renewals and adding new subscribers to its list, and the advance subscription is very nearly as large as it was last year when it was regarded as one of the most phenomenal in the history of opera in this country.

Some notable changes in the occupancy of boxes in the parterre circle will be noticed, only eight out of all the stockholders retaining their boxes for their exclusive use throughout the season. The other subscribers share their boxes with their friends more liberally than ever before. The absence of some of the most prominent holders is explained by the fact that they are in mourning, while others have taken their departure for Europe to be absent from this city the entire season.

A complete list of the box holders follows:

PARTERRE BOXES.

Box 1—Mrs. Ogden Goelet, all performances.
Box 2—A. D. Juilliard, Mondays and matinées; Pembroke Jones, Wednesdays; George E. Dodge, Fridays.
Box 3—R. T. Wilson, Mondays and odd matinées; W. Emlen Roosevelt, and Mrs. E. Reeve-Merritt, Wednesdays; Mr. and Mrs. M. Orme Wilson, Fridays; Mrs. J. Frederick Pearson, even matinées.
Box 4—August Belmont, two Mondays, even Fridays and all matinées; James Speyer, other Mondays; Mrs. J. Frederick Pearson and Miss Leary, Wednesdays; Miss Scott, odd Fridays.
Box 5—C. M. Hyde and John Notman, even nights and odd matinées; Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes, other performances.
Box 6—William K. Vanderbilt.
Box 7—Mrs. Astor and Col. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor.
Box 8—M. C. D. Borden and Cornelius N. Bliss, alternating.
Box 9—Stanford White, Mondays; Charles T. Barney, Wednesdays and matinées; J. T. Tower, Fridays.
Box 10—George F. Baker, opening Monday night; E. H. Harriman, other Mondays; H. C. Fahnestock, Wednesdays; E. Francis Hyde, Fridays, and Mr. Baker and Mr. Fahnestock, alternating matinées.
Box 11—Perry Belmont.
Box 12—Henry Clews, odd nights and even matinées; George J. Gould, even nights and odd matinées.
Box 13—Mrs. Lloyd Bryce, odd nights and even matinées; Dallas B. Pratt, even nights and odd matinées.
Box 14—George Henry Warren, Jr., and W. Starr Miller, alternate Mondays; Mr. and Mrs. Percival Roberts, Wednesdays; James B. Haggin, Fridays; John Sloane and Mrs. George Henry Warren, matinées.
Box 15—Adrian Iselin, Mondays and alternate matinées; William G. Rockefeller, Wednesdays, Fridays, and alternate matinées.
Box 16—Levi P. Morton, Mondays and alternate matinées; George T. Bliss, Wednesdays and alternate matinées; Mrs. George Bliss, Fridays.
Box 17—H. McK. Twombly and W. D. Sloane.
Box 18—Charles B. Alexander, odd Mondays and one-third matinées; Edward R. Bacon, even Mondays; Joseph F. Pulitzer and Camille Weidenfeld, alternate Wednesdays; Herbert L. Terrell, Fridays and one-third matinées; Alexander McDonald, one-third matinées.
Box 19—H. I. Barbey, Mondays and odd matinées; Mrs. Bradish Johnson, Wednesdays; George Crocker, Fridays; Mrs. Jules Reynal, even matinées.
Box 20—D. O. Mills.
Box 21—Oliver G. Jennings, Mondays; Miss Jennings, Wednesdays; Mrs. Edward Moore Robinson and Mrs. J. Hood Wright, Fridays; Mrs. Benjamin Brewster, matinées.
Box 22—Dr. and Mrs. W. Seward Webb, Mondays and Fridays; James J. Van Alen, Wednesdays; Mrs. H. Mortimer Brooks, matinées.
Box 23—E. T. Gerry, Mondays and matinées; E. J. Berwind, Wednesdays; E. L. Winthrop, Fridays.
Box 24—Mrs. Robert Goelet, all performances.
Box 25—G. G. Haven, odd Mondays, even Wednesdays, and odd matinées; John E. Parsons, even Mondays, odd Wednesdays, and even matinées; John Sloane, Fridays.
Box 26—S. D. Babcock, Mondays and matinées; John M. Bowers, Wednesdays; Dr. and Mrs. Charles T. Parker, odd Fridays; J. Henry Smith, even Fridays.
Box 27—George S. Bowdoin, Mondays and alternate matinées; Charles Lanier, Wednesdays and alternate matinées; Mrs. Frederick Neilson, Fridays.
Box 28—W. Bayard Cutting, Mondays and alternate Fridays; Mrs. J. V. Dahigren, Wednesdays; W. S. Curtis, alternate Fridays; Walter G. Oakman, matinées.
Box 29—Mrs. Alexander Van Nest, Mondays and alternate matinées; Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, Wednesdays; Mrs. Richard Gambrill, Fridays and alternate matinées.
Box 30—W. C. Whitney, all performances.
Box 31—James Stillman, all performances.
Box 32—Luther Kountze, Mondays, Miss Della Gurnee, Wednesdays; Mrs. Frederic Gallatin, Fridays; Mrs. Kountze, odd matinées; Mrs. S. B. French, even matinées.
Box 33—Thomas Hitchcock, Mondays and two-thirds matinées; Joseph Stickney, Wednesdays; J. J. Wysong, Fridays and one-third matinées.
Box 34—Heber R. Bishop, Mondays and two-thirds matinées; Mrs. H. F. Dimock, Wednesdays; Adrian Iselin, Jr., Fridays and one-third matinées.
Box 35—J. Pierpont Morgan, all performances.

GRAND TIER BOXES.

Box 36—J. P. Laflin.
Box 39—Mrs. C. Herter, Mondays.
Box 40—E. C. Converse.
Box 41—Mrs. Sanford Bissell, Miss Wells, Mondays; Henry Sanford, Wednesdays; Mrs. Olin D. Gray, Mrs. Gage E. Tarbell, Mrs. Wilbur D. Ellis, Fridays.
Box 42—Winslow S. Pierce, Mondays; Edward Kemp, Wednesdays; Ferdinand Blumenthal, Fridays.
Box 43—Miss E. L. Breese.
Box 44—R. A. C. Smith, Henry S. Manning, Mondays; Gen. Charles F. Roe, Fridays.
Box 45—R. W. Paterson, Mondays; W. H. Poor, Wednesdays and Fridays.
Box 46—Mrs. Jefferson Codington, Monddys; Mrs. F. Schroeder, Fridays.
Box 47—J. L. Riker, Mondays; Col. G. B. M. Harvey, Wednesdays; Gen. D. Butterfield, Mrs. H. Knickerbocker, Fridays.
Box 48—E. St. John Hays, Mondays; Mrs. A. C. Washington, J. M. Ceballos, Wednesdays; J. G. McCullough, Fridays.
Box 49—F. R. Jennings, Mondays; Charles A. Gould, Fridays.
Box 50—Mrs. S. C. Harriot, Mondays; Francis H. Leggett, Fridays; Mrs. P. H. Ballantine, matinées.
Box 51—Jacob H. Schiff, Mondays; Simon Borg, Wednesdays; E. R. Grigg's, Fridays.
Box 52—I. D. Fletcher, Mondays; J. Pulitzer, Fridays.
Box 53—W. A. Clark.
Box 54—George Arents, Mondays; C. W. Morse, Wednesdays; H. H. Rogers, Fridays and matinées.

OMNIBUS BOX.

The Opera Club.

STALL BOXES.

Box A—Franklyn Reglid, Mondays.
Box C—Frank Scott Gerrish, Mondays.
Box D—Mrs. Francis M. Bangs, Mondays.
Box E—Charles H. Ditson, Mondays.
Box F—George C. Barrett, Mondays; Edward C. Morse, Wednesdays; John Burling Lawrence, Fridays.
Box G—Charles F. Clark, Mondays; John B. Ireland, Fridays.
Box H—Mrs. R. C. Black, Mondays; Charles S. Haight, Wednesdays.
Box J—Mrs. G. G. Clausen, Mondays; Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, James Wentz Adams, Mrs. James Andrews, Miss Andrews, Wednesdays; Mrs. W. F. Cochran, Fridays.
Box V—J. B. Wetherell, Mondays.
Box W—William G. Clark, Mondays; John H. Watson, Fridays.
Box X—A. L. Johnson.

ORCHESTRA SEATS.

Some of the prominent subscribers for orchestra seats are as follows:

Jacques Huber, Miss Helen F. Pratt, Victor Morawitz, Miss C. M. Smith, Mrs. M. A. Pield, T. P. Field, A. N. Beadleston, B. Lounsbury, Mrs. S. P. Barger, Mrs. W. Earl Dodge, Mrs. H. H. Knox, Thatcher M. Adams, Mrs. Herman Uhl, Henry Parrish, S. T. Shaw, H. B. Wilson, W. Emlen Roosevelt, Mrs. D. H. Stewart, Perkins Stern, Dr. Carl Beck, Mrs. J. H. Seimes, H. D. Lyman, Mrs. R. Chesterman, Otto M. Eidlitz, J. A. Mitchell, Morris K. Jesup, L. E. Wells, James J. Goodwin, Mrs. F. B. Candler, G. D. Mackey, G. Vintschger, H. Harkens Flagler, Stewart A. Coats, Mrs. W. G. Davies, Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, C. M. Hyde, Mrs. C. F. Swan, W. T. Stafford, Mrs. R. C. Colt, Julius Robertson, Mrs. John J. Morris, Mrs. Alfred de Cordova, James C. Parrish, Edward Winslow, R. J. Kimball, C. M. Goodridge, S. Phillip Staats, Mrs. W. A. Putnam, Miss M. Penniman, C. T. Cook, Miss de Ruyter, Mrs. W. L. Suydam, Mrs. J. L. Lee, Mrs. F. E. Ballard, A. Roelker, N. Salsbury, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. J. B. Dickson, A. A. Cowles, Miss A. B. Jennings, K. G. Gilbert, Henry Hummel, C. L. Davis, E. L. Johnson, Mrs. E. D. Avon, Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Deas, Mrs. W. Bryce, E. F. Cole, G. Bidwell, A. J. Rothermel, Mrs. J. E. Emmet, Mrs. M. E. Carpenter, Mrs. M. E. Copeland, Mrs. W. Bunker, Manton B. Metcalf, Henry H. Vail, Miss A. E. Hasbrook, G. G. Frelinghuysen, F. N. Goddard, W. Luttgen, Mrs. J. Van Doren, Mrs. H. T. Wright, B. Adams Burnett, F. Voorhies McAllister, E. W. Inslee, Robert R. Remington, E. F. Emmet, Miss A. Tiess, Mrs. E. F. Bushnell, Mrs. A. I. Smith, J. Dwight, Mrs. R. E. Kingman, Mrs. R. C. Black, Mrs. E. G. Janeway, Theodore G. Eger, Mrs. S. Hartshorn, Mrs. J. T. Dunnell, Charles C. Vallette, Mrs. W. E. Coffin, John McCann, Mrs. George E. Leggett, Mrs. J. V. Meserole, Mrs. G. B. Hurd, Mrs. C. A. Macey, Jr., W. Hogencamp, Dr. J. G. Ferry, Frank C. Travers, Mark Ash, L. J. Busby, Mrs. W. A. Moriarty, Mrs. T. L. Clark, C. R. Smith, Miss A. G. Carter, Mrs. Helen E. Holbrook, Miss E. L. Flanagan, Mrs. J. W. Hollenback, Mrs. D. C. Curtis, Henry D. Brewster, C. U. McCutchen, C. H. Stitt, Miss G. T. Von Blascom, Mrs. E. Steiger, Mrs. W. G. Davies, Miss Lucy F. Myers, R. S. Holt, Jr., J. G. Speed, Howard C. Butler, Mrs. A. Wix, Mrs. F. S. Douglass, Miss L. Benet, Mrs. A. Turner, J. M. Funck, S. M. Williams, Mrs. John Koster, Miss F. Pressler, Mrs. John Brown, G. W. Priest, M. C. Roach, L. C. Till, Miss M. Strickland, W. E. Oddie, Mrs. M. D. Abbott, Mrs. W. A. Ripley, Mrs. H. P. Gardner, C. W. Baldwin, Mrs. E. G. Toel, Mrs. W. B. Parsons, Miss Mary C. Schaff, Miss M. E. Watson, B. H. Seccomb, H. De Voe, Miss Lila T. Willis, Mrs. E. A. Rainsford, L. D. Ferris, Mrs. James M. Stewart, G. H. Southerd, Mrs. H. G. Klotz, John T. Conover, A. K. Gardiner, Mrs. E. T. Bartlett, Miss Mary A. Camp, E. M. Coler, P. A. Harris, Mrs. H. S. Anderson, Mrs. R. M. Jarvis, Mrs. J. H. Didier, F. Jeremiah, Mrs. L. Lelong, Mrs. D. M. Helm, Miss Ella Paul, Miss L. Scholes, Mrs. J. H. Lane, Mrs. M. F. Dean, Miss D. L. Goddard, Mrs. R. Gilchrist, Mrs. R. C. W. Wadsworth, Mrs. H. M. Saunders, Mrs. F. S. Duncan, Mrs. R. C. Fisher, A. R. Flower, Henry Clotz, G. G. Haven, Jr., Robert Mainzer, Moore, Schley & Co., Emerson McMillan, Theodore W. Mayer, Mrs. J. Ruppert, George Ehret, Col. Barbour, Walter Mason, S. Neustadt, Isidor Wormser, Paul L. Ford, Warren Delano, Col. Wagstaff, Gus Darval, J. C. Hoagland, J. F. Gibbons, E. F. Alling, John Robb, E. L. Short, Howard Page, J. G. Agar, L. P. Bache, Judge W. N. Cohen, F. M. Bacon, Stephenson Taylor, A. Adler, J. C. Welsh, Mrs. A. J. Moultin, F. L. Hine, John Greenough, L. W. Lawrence, James Loeb, H. Hagedorn, W. A. Halsey, Florence A. Schenck, J. H. Beekman, J. R. Simpson, Mrs. George Lewis, S. H. Valentine, R. Muller, J. W. McLean, L. W. Dinkelspiel, Edna Storm, John Dallatt, A. J. Adams, W. H. Dorval, C. Gousset, Henry Budge, William Kent, J. H. Lynch, I. N. Seligman, O. E. Lohrke, G. F. Simon, P. C. Ralli, E. Ehrman, A. C. Zabriskie, M. M. Billings, Ferdinand Hirsh, H. W. Harris, G. R. Turnbull, N. W. Ladd, H. Morgenthau, C. F. Droste, J. H. Volkman, E. M. Shepard, C. Fyfzer, L. E. Waterman, F. C. Moore, Henry Evans, A. Simonson, Miss Roosevelt, H. Rothschild, H. Hummel, Mrs. J. Taylor, A. J. Rothermel, C. L. Johnson, E. G. Tinker, Miss Cushing, James A. Wright, Miss Tyndall, J. B. Withsrall, H. B. Ditson, George C. Barrett, James P. Laflin, W. H. Poor, W. H. Bridgman, A. H. Schermerhorn, C. C. Beadleston, Miss Dehon, E. T. H. Talmage, G. B. Post, J. Frankelthrall, W. Butler Duncan, Frank Tilford, I. D. Fletcher, C. D. Halsey, Mrs. Van Wyck Brinkerhoff, S. S. Blood, George Mayer, E. Matthews, J. G. Oxand, C. W. Bowne, Miss E. Remsen, Mrs. Tillottson, J. R. Suydam, Mrs. A. F. Brush, Miss F. Jones, W. C. Strong, C. B. Stockwell, A. Pinchott, Mrs. E. M. Raymond, Dr. Bull, Gen. Eckert, F. Da Florez, A. P. Montant, F. Holden Hall, E. C. Whitney, Brayton Ives, C. Ives, M. S. Remsen, McC. Butt, G. C. St. John, H. R. Eckelhelm, Mrs. M. E. Leavett, Fred Candles, Mrs. C. F. Truax, H. Vogee, A. Ryle, F. Sturges, R. W. Taller, J. H. Halien, Mrs. V. Sorchan, George S. Storm, J. Barrows, W. C. Townsend, N. Whitman, John Monks, Jr., Helen W. Bradley, H. A. Smith, G. L. McAlpin, P. D. Cravath, R. A. Parker, J. J. Manning, George Amsinck, M. Zeller, S. W. Bowne, H. A. Budd, C. S. Homer, Miss E. S. Hamilton, Baron Joseph von Huppman, Selmar Hess, D. Meyer, H. Fiske, J. F. Knapp, George W. Young, J. W. Minturn, M. J. Solomon, E. C. Jones, E. R. Baron, N. H. Chapman, Mrs. R. Draper, Hugh Hill, A. Smith, Thomas Dlamoad, W. Toel, Mrs. F. Rehn, H. Blumenthal, Mrs. H. Stark, J. T. Low, N. H. Peckham, F. A. Burnham, Albert Hendricks, H. L. Dyer, E. L. Heller, Judge Truax, C. L. Painter, F. W. Whitridge, Issac Stern, J. E. Borne, Mrs. R. E. Westcott, Mrs. A. M. Good, J. R. Jesup, A. L. Drake, F. H. Scott, F. L. Gunther, J. G. Dutcher, George Blumenthal, J. B. Bloomingdale, H. Seldman, C. A. Fowler, Joseph F. Cullman, George R. Sheldon, C. D. Hunt, H. Dalley, W. W. Heron, A. F. Mochstader, H. H. Hutchinson, A. A. Herksher, Dr. Savage, A. Kasikal, A. Scott Cameron, H. W. Schmidt, W. S. Pyle, Mrs. J. Coddington.

THE ENGLISH OPERA SEASON.

The farewell week of the season of English opera at the Metropolitan Opera House will present all the artists of the Metropolitan English Grand Opera Company in the conspicuously successful productions given by this organization during its tenancy of the Metropolitan Opera House. There will be a change of opera at every performance. The schedule is arranged as follows: Monday, "Il Trovatore," Misses Phoebe Strakosch, Louise Meisslinger, Messrs. Joseph F. Sheehan and Winfred Goff. Tuesday, "Faust," Misses Ingeborg Ballstrom, Kate Condon, Messrs. Lloyd d'Aubigne, William Pauli, and Clarence Whit

ANNOUNCEMENTS OF DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENTS.

PROCTOR'S

Five Beautiful Play Houses
Devoted to High Class Continuous Vaudeville—A Policy Established in 1883.
By F. F. PROCTOR, Sole Proprietor & Manager. J. Austin Fynes, General Manager.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT { At Proctor's 5th Ave. To-morrow, (Monday,) Dec. 10.
Mr. F. F. Proctor Presents for the First time in America
The Past Year's Sensation of London and Paris,

M. JEAN MARCEL'S FAMOUS LIVING PICTURES

(Six Months at the Folies-Marigny Theatre, Paris; Six Months at the Alhambra, London.)
REPRODUCTIONS OF CLASSIC AND MODERN WORKS OF ART, MARBLES, STATUARY, TABLEAUX-VIVANTS, AND M. MARCEL'S OWN BEAUTIFUL AND NOVEL IDEA—BAS RELIEFS.

PRODUCED BY M. MARCEL'S CELEBRATED TROUPE OF MODELS.
EXCLUSIVELY ENGAGED BY AND IMPORTED FOR MR. PROCTOR'S THEATRES.
THE PRESS OF FRANCE AND ENGLAND PRONOUNCED THESE LIVING PICTURES UNSURPASSED IN ARTISTIC ACCURACY, PURITY, AND DELICATE BEAUTY.

23D ST.
12:30 to 10:45 P. M.
TO-MORROW & ALL WEEK.
Farewell Vaudeville Appearance of DELLA FOX
Favorite Comic Opera Star.
The THREE DUMONDS, Parisian street singers; REVIEW COMEDY FOUR, burlesque comedians; the KALATECHNOSCOPE moving pictures.
JNO. W. ALBAUGH JR.
and His Stock Co. in the one-act play, "Trenton, '76."
LOUISE GUNNING, Scotch ballads; COAKLEY & HUESTED, songs and dances; ARTHUR AMSDEN, musical act.
GEORGE EVANS
"My Honey Boy," in new songs. FERRELL & STARK, bicycle comedians; the HELSTONS, novelty dancers; LOSH & HUPP, unique jugglers; the BRUNELLES' miniature theatre; others.
PRICES ARE ALWAYS: 50c., 25c., and 15c. Box seats, $1.00.
Continuous Concert To-day.
1 to 10:45 P. M.
McIntyre & Heath, Lottie Gilson, Three Yoscarys, Wilson & Waring, Harrigan, Newell & Shevett, Musical Kleists, &c. 15, 25, and 50c.

5TH AV.
Broadway & 28th St.
12:30 sharp to 10:45 P. M.
TO-MORROW & ALL WEEK.
A Brilliant & Delightful Novelty!
M. JEAN MARCEL'S
LIVING PICTURES
Marvelous Reproductions of Celebrated Bas-Reliefs, Marbles, Statuary, and Tableaux-Vivants.
MILTON & DOLLY NOBLES
in "Why Walker Reformed."
THREE YOSCARYS, acrobatic stars; LEW SULLY, black-face jester.
The Young Mimetic Genius,
ALICE PIERCE
JUGGLING JOHNSONS, whirlwind club jugglers; SHERIDAN & FLANIGAN.
CHARLES COBURN,
England's Veteran "Lion Comique," well known to all London visitors.
DONOHUE & NICHOLS, comedy duo; FORBES & QUINN; the KALATECHNOSCOPE, FLORINNE, and the RUSSELL BROS.
Last Week of these Favorites.
BROADWAY'S LOWEST PRICES: 25 and 50c. Box Seats, $1.00.
Continuous Concert To-day
2 to 10:45 P. M.
Della Fox, Russell Bros., Geo. W. Monroe, Wooley & May, Alcide Capitaine, Binns & Binns, Elizabeth Murray, &c.

PALACE.
58th St. & 3d Av.
2 to 10:45 P. M.
TO-MORROW & ALL WEEK
The Masters of Minstrelsy,
McINTYRE & HEATH
in their screaming farce, "On Guard."
FRANCES KEPPLER, juvenile artiste; MR. & MRS. AUGUSTIN NEUVILLE, comedy skit; KALATECHNOSCOPE moving pictures.
The Clever Mimic,
MARK SULLIVAN
in a New Monologue.
ELIZABETH MURRAY in songs and stories; CHARLES ULRICK, barrel king and trancka wonder; MAXWELL & DUDLEY, singing sketch.
The Musical Comedian,
ED LATELL
in a new melange.
CONWAY & LELAND, the merry monopedes; GALLANDO, clay modeler; FRANK EMERSON, entertainer; others.
BARGAIN PRICES: Afternoons, 15 and 25c. to all parts of the house. Evenings, 15, 25, and 50c.
Continuous Concert To-day
2 to 10:45 P. M.
Marie Wainwright, Juan Caicedo, Gus Williams, Louise Gunning, Roy & Clark, Ferrell & Starck, The Craigs, Losh & Hupp, The Farleys, Mae Stebbins, Evans & White, Moving Pictures, &c. 15, 25, & 50c.

125TH ST.
125th St.
2 to 10:45 P. M.
TO-MORROW & ALL WEEK.
Instant and Signal Success of
LEROY AND CLAYTON
in the farce "Hogan of the Hansom," by Geo. M. Cohan.
THREE LUKENS BROS., in their daring "Human Trapeze" act; HORACE GOLDIN, magician; EDWARDS, KENNELL & WILLIAMS, comedy trio.
Only Harlem Engagement of NICK LONG AND IDALENE COTTON
in their character comedietta, "Managerial Troubles."
BILLY LINK, the black-face jester; ADELE PURVIS ONRI, on the revolving globes; the KALATECHNOSCOPE'S new views.
FISHER & CARROLL
"The Tad and the Sea Lion."
REED'S ACROBATIC BULL TERRIERS; EVANS & WRITE, expert dancers; TSUDO, gymnast; others. HARLEM'S LOWEST PRICES: Afternoons, 15 and 25c. to all parts of house. Evenings, 15, 25, and 50c.
Continuous Concert To-day
2 to 10:45 P. M.
Le Roy & Clayton, Eleanor Falk & 8 Jersey Lillies, Mark Sullivan, La Petite Elsie, Gray-Stephens' Co., Frank & Don, Lou Wells, Sankey Brothers, Leon & Adeline, Knight Bros., Moving Pictures, &c. 15, 25, and 50c.

The Most Costly Array of Talent Ever Presented in Vaudeville Under One Management!

KEITH'S

CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE. E. F. ALBEE - - - General Manager
ALWAYS THE BEST VAUDEVILLE SHOW IN NEW YORK.
J. E. DODGE & CO., in "RICHELIEU'S STRATEGEM." ROSSOW MIDGETS; Songs by CHARLIE ROSSOW. HALLEN & FULLER in "A Desperate Pair," by Howard Winslow. WARTENBERG BROTHERS. JESS DANDY, Hebrew Parodist. LINTON & M'INTYRE, Eccentric Comedy by M'AVOY & MAY. FRED. V. BOWERS, the Sweet Singer, author of "Because," "Always," etc. MME. MARIE DUMA, MERRITT & ROZELLA, LE PAGE & MLLE. FLORENCE. BIOGRAPH & BIG BILL OF GREAT SPECIALTIES.

KOSTER & BIAL'S
New Policy. 25c. Mat. Daily. Evening 25, 50, 75c. Box Seats $1.
25c. Sunday Mat. To-day—To-nght ORCH. 50c.
5 Potter Family, Pauline Hall, James Thornton, Genaro & Bailey, Jennie Joyce, Gussie McKee, 9 Toozoolin Arabs, Ward & Curran, Bunnie Thornton, 2 Van Aukens, Mlle. Alma, Ford & Francis, Japanese Yamamotos, The Masons, others.
25c. Daily Matinée, Monday and All Week.
Ezra Kendall, 5 Potter Family, Jenny Joyce, Genaro & Bailey, Gussie McKee, Juan Caicedo, Carmencelli, Herbert's Diving Dogs, Ward & Curran, Tim Crenin, Bros. La Nole, Sharp & Flatt, Lawrence & Harrington, and Last Week of PAULINE HALL.

AMERICAN 42D ST. AND 8TH AVE. Eve. S. 15, 25, 35, 50c.
MATINEE DAILY (Except Mon.) 25c. To-night—BIG SUNDAY CONCERT. Great Bill.
Hands Across the Sea.

1884. 1900.
THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF THE DRAMATIC ARTS and EMPIRE THEATRE DRAMATIC SCHOOL.
Franklin H. Sargent, President. A practical training school in connection with Mr. CHARLES FROHMAN'S Empire Theatre and traveling companies. Apply to E. P. STEPHENSON, Gen'l Mgr., Room 145, Carnegie Hall.

3D AVENUE THEATRE, Matinée Monday. Melodrama—FOR LIBERTY AND LOVE.

MANHATTAN THEATRE, 33d & B'way. Evenings, 8:15. Sat. Mat. Only.
"MISS GLASER IS CHARMING."—Herald.
LULU GLASER
In the New Comic Opera,
SWEET ANNE PAGE

Weber & Fields' MUSIC HALL. Ev'gs, 8:15 sharp. Mats. Tues., Sat., 2.
FIDDLE-DEE-DEE and Burlesque of ARIZONA

IRVING PLACE THEATRE. Evgs. at 8:15. Mon. and Tues. last times, ROSENMONTAG. Wednesday first time, every eve. and Sat. mat.,
"DAS GROBE HEMD," Comedy by C. Karlweis.

KNICKERBOCKER. B'way, cor. 38th St. Ev'gs, 8. MAT. SAT. AT 2.
MAUDE ADAMS
L'AIGLON.
EXTRA MATINEE XMAS.

EMPIRE THEATRE, B'way & 40th St. Eve'g, 8:20. Matinées, 2:15.
Last 3 Weeks. Mats. Wednesday and Saturday.
JOHN DREW in RICHARD CARVEL.

CHARLES FROHMAN'S CRITERION THEATRE B'way & 44th St.
JOHN HARE. Evenings, 8. Matinée Saturday.
THE GAY LORD QUEX.

MADISON SQ. THEATRE. 24th St. nr. B'way. Ev'gs, 8:30. Mats. Wednesday and Saturday.
PETER F. DAILEY 100th time Dec. 21. Souvenirs
HODGE, PODGE & CO.

GARRICK THEATRE. 35th St. & B'way. Evenings at 8:15. Matinée, 2:15. 100th Time Dec. 17th. Souvenirs. Mats. Wed. & Sat.
WM. H. CRANE as DAVID HARUM

GARDEN THEATRE. 27th St. & Mad. Av. Evgs. at 8. Mats. Wednesday and Saturday.
SARAH BERNHARDT & M. COQUELIN.
ALL THIS WEEK—CYRANO DE BERGERAC.

DALY'S B'way & 30.....at 8:30
DANIEL FROHMAN, Manager.
Matinées Wednesdays and Saturdays, 2:15.
THE LONDON SUCCESS OF LAST YEAR.
LOVE STORY IN 4 ACTS,
The Man of Forty

LYCEUM 4th Av. & 23.....At 8:30
Daniel Frohman....Manager
ANNIE RUSSELL in A ROYAL FAMILY. Matinées Thurs. & Sat., 2:15
A ROYAL FAMILY.
MONDAY NIGHT—100TH NIGHT.
Tuesday, Dec. 11, at 3:30 P. M. AMERICAN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA CONCERT.
Sam Franko, Conductor—Mackenzie Gordon, Soloist.

CASINO B'way & 39th St.
Sire Bros., Mgrs.
Messrs. DUNNE, RYLEY & FISHER'S GRAND PRODUCTION
THE SEASON'S GREATEST MUSICAL SUCCESS
direct from London with an unparalleled cast.
FLORODORA
Including
WILLIE EDOUIN,
Edna Wallace-Hopper,
CYRIL SCOTT,
FANNIE JOHNSTON,
R. E. GRAHAM,
MAY EDOUIN,
Chorus of 75. 5th BIG WEEK.

THEATRE
REPUBLIC
42d St., just west of B'way. Telephone—3940-38.
Evgs., 8:20. Matinees Wed. & Sat., 2:15.
"The new play proves to be a bright, effective comedy."—HERALD.
THE SPRIGHTLY ROMANCE OF MARSAC.
"The merits of the play lie in its clever dialogue and its series of laughable situations."—Mail and Express.
By Mollie Elliot Seawell and Wm. Young.
MACLYN ARBUCKLE, William J. Ferguson, Edw. S. Abeles, Henry Bergman, Horace Lewis, Claude Brooke, Charles Charters, John F. Denton, Miss Ffolliott Paget, Miss Margaret Fuller, Miss Sandol Milliken, Miss Laura Clement, Miss Annabelle Whitford, Miss Viola Carlstedt, Miss Leonl Norbury and others. Seats secured two weeks in advance.

ADMISSION 25c. SUNDAYS.
WORLD IN WAX
EDEN MUSEE
—NEW TO-DAY—
SPECIAL GROUPS AND FIGURES.
INCIDENTS AT ILL-FATED GALVESTON.
CHAMBER OF HORRORS.
THIS AFTERNOON AND EVENING, THE NEW TROUBADOURS. AND ORCHESTRA.

To-Night 12 BIG ACTS 12 MATS. WED. & SAT.
HURTIG & SEAMON'S MUSIC HALL 125 St. & 7 Ave.
NEXT WEEK—HOPKIN'S—STAR SPECIALTIES.

SAVOY 34th St. & Broadway.
MATS. WED. & SAT.
Special Matinees Christmas & New Year's
HENRIETTA CROSMAN In the Merry Play, MISTRESS NELL.

GRAND ANDREW THE REBEL MACK
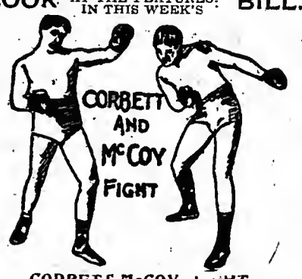
TO-NIGHT BEST BILL IN TOWN.
Loney Haskell, Bartell & Morris, 10, 25, 50, Gilson & Perry, Madge Fox, others.

"THE STROLLERS"
in the Comic Opera, The Cruise of the Summer Girl, AT THE WALDORF-ASTORIA.
Dec. 10-11-14-15. Matinées 11-15.

MURRAY HILL THEATRE. Lex. Av. & 42d St. One block east of Grand Central Depot.
3 RD YEAR. 2 YEAR 1 YEAR 1 YEAR 1 YEAR
MATINEE 25c. EVERY DAY
Ev'gs, 8:15. Matinées, 2.
HENRY V. DONNELLY STOCK CO.
THIS WEEK. THE GREY MARE. BY SIMS & RALEIGH
EVENING PRICES—25, 35, 50.
Week of Dec. 17, NEVER AGAIN.

THE NEW YORK SUNDAY IMMENSE CONCERT
THIS AFTERN., 2. TO-NIGHT at 8:15. ALL SEATS 50 NO HIGHER.
Great Programme of Vaudeville Artists.
Com. To-morrow (Mon.) Night & Mats. Wed. & Sat. BALLET, Grand Opera, Tremendous List of Star and 20 American and Performers. European Novelties. POPULAR PRICES.

HUBER'S 14TH ST. MUSEUM
1,000,000 Curiosities. Something New Daily.
ALL NEW STAR ACTS THIS WEEK.
Visit the Early Shows and Avoid the Crowds.
LOOK AT THE FEATURES. BILL.
IN THIS WEEK'S



CORBETT-McCOY FIGHT,
showing faithfully the full six rounds of most scientific battle ever fought, as it occurred in the arena.
20 OTHER BIG STAR FEATURES.
THEATRE. 2 Co's. Sunday Concerts.

WALLACK'S
B'way & 30th St. Evgs, 8:30. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2:15
BEGINNING TO-MORROW EVG.,
FRANK McKEE PRESENTS
MARY MANNERING
in Paul Leicester Ford and Edward E. Rose's Dramatic Version of JANICE MEREDITH.
Mr. Ford's widely-read Revolutionary romance.
SEATS ON SALE FIRST TWO WEEKS.
SPECIAL MAT. XMAS DAY.

BIJOU B'way & 30th. MAT. SAT. Xmas Day
Tel, 2224 Mad. Ev'g, 8:20. Matinée.
For the Remainder of Miss Irwin's Engagement, 5 Weeks, Beginning To-morrow Night, Mon., Dec. 10,
FIRST WEEK NEW PLAY Which Has Scored Big Hit,
MADGE SMITH
ATT'Y
By RAMSAY MORRIS.
MAY IRWIN —and Specially— MAY IRWIN
Selected Company.
HEAR THESE NEW SONG HITS:
"When I'm by Her Side," "My Jungle Queen," "Oh, My Liza," "I've Laid Him on the Shelf."

BROADWAY THEATRE, B'way & 41st St. Matinée Saturday at 2:10.
JACOB LITT.....Proprietor
LAST 2 WEEKS
The Klaw & Erlanger Opera Co. Introducing JEROME SYKES In De Koven & Smith's New Opera
FOXY
MAMMOTH ORGANIZATION OF 150 PEOPLE.
UNDER STAGE DIRECTION BEN TEAL.
SIG. A. DE NOVELLIS, MUSIC DIRECTOR.
REGULAR MATINEE SATURDAY.
QUILLER

HERALD SQUARE THEATRE
Management Sam S. Shubert.
Evenings at 8:20. Mats. Wed. & Sat.
14th Week; Only 34 More Times.
AUGUSTUS THOMAS'S MASTERWORK.
ARIZONA
Reserve Xmas & New Year's Day Seats now.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC, 14th St. & Irving Pl.
E. G. Gilmore & E. Tompkins.....Props. & Mgrs.
—LAST WEEKS—
JAMES O'NEILL Prices: 25-50-75-1.00.
Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2. Eve., 8:15.
MONTE CRISTO

14TH STREET THEATRE Near 6th Ave.
Mats. Wed. & Sat.
Matinées Dress Circle & Entire Orchestra Circle, 50c.
POSITIVELY LAST 2 WEEKS
OF THE GREATEST SUCCESS IN YEARS.
LOST RIVER "The season's hit."—Herald.
Magnificent Production.—Startling. Novel Effects

MENDELSSOHN HALL.
Friday Evening, Dec. 14th.
Little Pianist HATTIE SCHOLDER Assisted by an Orchestra of 40. Dir., Arthur Mees.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE. ENGLISH GRAND OPERA COMPANY.
FAREWELL WEEK—GOOD-BYE WEEK
LAST MONDAY NIGHT.
IL TROVATORE. Misses Strakosch, Meisslinger, Niven, Messrs. Sheehan, Goff, Boyle.
LAST TUESDAY NIGHT.
FAUST. Misses Ballstrom, Condon, Niven; Messrs. D'Aubigne, Pauli, Whitehill, Boyle.
LAST WEDNESDAY MATINEE.
MARTHA. Misses Van Studdiford, Condon; Messrs. Sheehan, Pringle, Lind, Boyle.
LAST WEDNESDAY NIGHT.
CARMEN Misses De Lussan, Van Studdiford, Niven, Stender; Messrs. Brozel, Whitehill, Boyle, Knight, Ramney.
LAST THURSDAY NIGHT.
BOHEMIAN GIRL. Misses Golden, Meisslinger; Messrs. Sheehan, Pauli, Pringle, Davies.
LAST FRIDAY NIGHT.
AIDA. Misses Strakosch, Meisslinger, Stender; Messrs. Brozel, Pauli, Whitehill, Davies.
LAST SATURDAY MATINEE.
THE MIKADO. Misses Golden, De Lussan, Meisslinger, Condon; Messrs. D'Aubigne, Temple, Goff, Pringle, Boyle, Ramney.
SATURDAY NIGHT—GOOD-BYE.
CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA.
Misses Strakosch, Thompson, Meisslinger; Messrs. Brozel, Lind.
H. M. S. PINAFORE.
Misses Van Studdiford, De Lussan, Condon; Messrs. Dixey, Sheehan, Pauli, Boyle, Carr, Walker.
ENTIRE Family Cir., 25c; Bal., 50c; Dress Cir., $1; Orc. $1.50; Gr'd Tier Boxes, $1.; Wed. Mat. 25cto$1. St. Mt. 25c to $1.50. Box s'ts, $1.

Hammerstein's, 42d St., B'way, & 7th Av. VICTORIA Eves., 8:30. Sat. Mat., 2:15. General Admission, 50c.
LAST 2 WEEKS.
"Tha sensation of the season."—Eve. Journal.
John J. McNally's latest Vaudeville Farce.
STAR AND GARTER Introducing the Marvelous
AGOUST FAMILY
—AND—
FRANK McKEE'S COMEDY COMPANY.
BURLESQUE OF DAVID HARUM.
ORGANIZATION OF 60 PEOPLE.
Including OTIS HARLAN, JOSEPH COYNE, JOHN G. SPARKS, MARIE HAIRILL, MAE LOWERY, and NELLIE LYNCH.
Matinée Prices.....50c., 75c., 1.00
Commencing Mon., Dec. 24,
MARIE DRESSLER,
in her musical comedy
MISS PRINT.

THE DEWEY EAST 14TH ST. BETWEEN 3RD & 4TH AVS.
TO-NIGHT GREAT "POP"
Popular Prices 25, 50c.
SCHILZONYIS' HUNGARIAN BOYS' BAND
STINSON & MERTON, GILBERT & GOLDIE, JULIAN ROSE, 3 WESTONS 3, MAY & MAITLAND, GANN & PLATT, COOK & LESTER, Robt. Recker's Harmonists.
Com. To-morrow, Mon. Mat. & All Week,
BON TON BURLESQUERS.
ERNEST ROEBER, The Champion Wrestler of the World.
Will meet all comers.
"The Original Oriental Dancers."

AMELIA BINGHAM
Some of The Players: Robert Edeson, Frank Worthing, Ferdinand Gottschalk, George C. Boniface, Annie Irish, Clara Bloodgood, Amelia Bingham, Madge Carr Cooke, Ysable Haskins, Minnie Dupree, PRESENTS HER COMPANY In Clyde Fitch's latest modern play THE CLIMBERS IN JANUARY.
BIJOU THEATRE

COOPER UNION HALL.
PEOPLE'S SYMPHONY CONCERTS
F. X. ARENS.....Conductor
First Concert, FRIDAY, Dec. 14, at 8:15 P. M.
Soloists: Mr. R. E. Holmes, Barytone. Mr. Carl Grienauer, 'Cellist.
Orchestra of 40 musicians.
Bach, Suite No. III; Haydn, Symphony D Major.
Season tickets, (for 5 concerts,) $1.25, $1.00, 75c., 50c., 25c. Single tickets, 50c., 40c., 30c., 20c., and 10c. At Ditson's Music Store, Broadway, near Union Sq.

WILLIAM C. CARL
FREE ORGAN CONCERT
Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 11th, four o'clock. "Old First" Church, Fifth Avenue, Twelfth Street. Antonia Savage Sawyer, Contralto. H. Whitney Tew, Basso. No tickets required.

HARLEM OP. HOUSE. Evs. 8:15, Mat. Sat. 2:15.
Charles Frohman's Empire Theatre Co. IN LORD & LADY ALGY
DEC. 17th OLGA NETHERSOLE IN SAPHO.

METROPOLIS THEATRE, 142d St. & 3d Av. Ev'gs, 8:15. Mats. Wed. & Sat.
Chas. E. Blaney's "An African King."

CARNEGIE HALL
MADAME SEMBRICH
Last Song Recital
Tuesday Evening, Dec. 11, at 8:30.
ONLY EVENING RECITAL.
Kindly assisted by MR. LUDWIG BREITNER at the Piano.
Direction.....C. L. GRAFF
PROGRAMME:
Aria, "Deh vieni non Aardon," Mozart; "My mother bide me bind my hair," Haydn; "Delphine," "Auf dem Wasser zu singen," Schubert; "Ich hab ein Kleines Lied erdacht," Bungert; "Standchen," R. Strauss; "Als die alte Mutter," Dvorak; "Des Glockenthurmers Tochterlein," "Niemand hat's gesehen," C. Lowe; "Che t'ho fatto," canzona Napolitana; "Kan fra Hallingdalen," Norwegian; The Coolin," Irish Folk Song; "Gai lon is gai le Roster," Canada; "Das Muh l r a d," "Spinnliedchen," Deutsch; "Gdrie to jedriess Tasin," Polnische Duma; "Krakoiak," Polnisches Tanzlied; "Dalekaia i biyakala," Kleinrussisch.
Prices: $1, $1.50, $2, $2.50: boxes, $15, $25.
Tickets on sale at Schuberth's, 23 Union Sq.

MUSICAL ART SOCIETY
FRANK DAMROSCH, Director.
CHORUS OF 60 ARTISTS.
FIRST CONCERT, Thursday, December 20, at 8:30. MISSA PAPAE MERCELLI, Palestrina; Songs by Brahms; Old Christmas Carols, etc. CONCERTO FOR TWO SOLO VIOLINS, J. S. Bach.
FRITZ KREISLER,
DAVID MANNES and a selected String Orchestra.
SECOND SYMPHONY CONCERT
CHRISTMAS CONCERT
FRANK DAMROSCH, Director.
Saturday, December 29, at 2:30, CARNEGIE HALL.
March from Christus, Liszt; Christmas Songs, Cornelius; Pastoral Scene from MESSIAH
Pastoral Symphony, "There were Shepherds," "Glory to God," "Hallelujah Chorus."
SOLOISTS AND FULL CHORUS.
Tickets now on sale at office of both Societies, 388 Fifth Avenue.

CARNEGIE HALL
Boston Symphony Orchestra
Mr. Gericke Conductor
Thurs. Eve., Dec. 13, at 8:15.
Programme:
BRAHMS, Symphony No. 1, in C minor, op. 68; SCHUMANN, Concerto for Pianoforte in A minor; SMETANA, From Bohemia's Groves and Meadows," from the Symphonic Poem "My Country"; WAGNER, Overture to "Tannhaeuser."
Soloist, Mr. Ossip Gabrilowitsch
Sat. Aft., Dec. 15, at 2:30.
Programme:
GOLDMARK, Symphony No. 2 in E flat, op. 25; BRAHMS, Concerto for Violin; TANEYEFF, Overture to "The Oresteia" of Aeschylus, op. 6; LISZT, Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2.
Soloist, Mr. Franz Kneisel
Tickets, $1.50 to 75c. On sale at box office and Tyson's (5th Av. Hotel) at regular prices.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE.
GRAND OPERA SEASON 1900-1901.
Under the direction of MR. MAURICE GRAU.
Opening Night Tuesday, Dec. 18, at 8.
ROMEO ET JULIETTE, (in French.)
Mme. Melba; MM. Ed de Reszke, Plançon, and Saleza. Conductor, Mancinelli.
Wed. Evg., Dec. 19, at 8—TANNHAUESER, (in German.) Mmes. Terninia and Susan Strong; MM. Van Dyck, Plançon, and Bispham. Conductor, Damrosch.
Fri. Evg., Dec. 21, at 8—LOHENGRIN, (in German.) Mmes. Nordica and Schumann-Heink; MM. Dippel, Bertram, and Ed de Reszke. Conductor, Damrosch.
Sat. Aft., Dec. 22, at 2—ROMEO ET JULIETTE, (in French.) Mme. Melba, Ed de Reszke, and Saleza. Conductor, Mancinelli.
Sat. Evg., Dec. 22, at 8, as Popular Prices—AIDA, (in Italian)—Mmes. Susan Strong and Homer; MM. Scotti, Journet, and Imbart de la Tour. Conductor, Flon.
Sun. Evg., Dec. 23, First Grand Popular Concert.
The box office for the sale of seats for the first week will be open THURSDAY MORNING, Dec. 13, at 9 o'clock. Tickets can also be purchased at box-office rates at Tyson & Co.'s and F. Rullman's, 111 Broadway.
WEBER PIANOS USED.

Waldorf-Astoria ROOM, WED. EVG., Dec. 12 AT 8:30.
Major J. B. Ford announces the first and only appearance in New York of Winston Spencer Churchill, M. P.
WAR CORRESPONDENT; VETERAN OF FOUR WARS; AND THE YOUNGEST MEMBER OF BRITISH PARLIAMENT.
S. L. Clemens, MARK TWAIN will preside and deliver the opening address.
Boxes, $30 and $20. Reserved seats, $2.50, $2.00, and $1.50, according to location, now on sale at Waldorf newsstand, or J. B. Pond, Everett House, 213 4th Ave., New York.

MENDELSSOHN HALL, MINNIE TRACEY.
SONG RECITAL Wed. Aft., Dec. 12, at 2:30.
TRACEY
Manager.....Henry Wolfsohn
Seats, $1 to $2, at Schuberth's.

AMONG MUSICIANS.

The Place of the Intermezzo in Instrumental Music—Elements of the Art of Mme. Sembrich.

Some time ago, in commenting on a new symphony by Josef Suk, the musical reviewer of this paper, noting that the composer had written an intermezzo instead of a scherzo, made a passing mention of the fact that the use of this title is becoming more and more common among composers, or rather that a scherzo pure and simple is less frequently attempted than it used to be. The reviewer said that the reason for this was that the possible rhythmical formulas of the scherzo were slowly being exhausted, while in the intermezzo the fancy of the composer in the matter of rhythm was free to produce what it pleased. A correspondent has asked why the scherzo should be in any more danger of running out of rhythmical formulas than the intermezzo. He says he recalls John Stuart Mill's fear that the possible combinations of the scale might be exhausted, but he did not suppose that there was any real danger.

There is none. The combinations of the scale, however, have nothing to do with rhythm. All possible rhythms may be written on one note. They may be presented by a simple instrument of percussion which cannot intone a melody. Now, it so happens that the scherzo has become conventionalized in certain rhythms, which have now to be used unless the composer desires to cause his hearer to say, "That is not a scherzo." It came about from the natural development of the form. Haydn and Mozart wrote no scherzi in their symphonies. They used for the light movement of relief the old dance form, the minuet. Now, the minuet is a dance in three-fourths time, and the limitations of the rhythm are necessarily narrow. One cannot indulge in compound rhythms to any large extent in writing dance tunes, because the decided beat of the elementary rhythm is an essential of good dance music. The minuet was saved from monotony by the insertion of the part known as the trio, which was simply another minuet melody, in early times written in three-part harmony—hence the name trio.

With the rhythmic limitations so small the wits of composers were put to it to invent good minuet themes. It was no wonder that Haydn in his later years exclaimed: "Oh, that some one would teach us how to write a new minuet!" The teacher came with Beethoven, who introduced into symphonic music the scherzo to take the place of the minuet. The word "scherzo" means joke or jest, and the purpose of its application to the movement which it designates was to lead the hearer to expect in that portion of a work an exposition of lightness or humor. In the beginning all that Beethoven did was to take the statelitness out of the minuet and send it swirling along in a rapid tempo. When he began to construct scherzi pure and simple, he kept the minuet rhythm and the old form. He found the tripping measure of the triple rhythm excellently adapted to his new idea, and the trio part afforded precisely the passage of contrast and repose which he required to round out his movements in accordance with the fundamental laws of musical form. The pattern of the Beethoven scherzo, therefore, is that of the Haydn minuet. The difference between the two is in the content, the aesthetic idea. The minuet of the Haydn period is simply pretty and graceful music, with no attempt at direct expression, but the scherzo of Beethoven has a specific message. As the master advanced along the pathway of his extraordinary development, his scherzi became more and more grim in their humor till at last there was an undertone of tragedy in the once humorous movement. But the form was still the same, and the triple rhythm was preserved.

The new idea was, of course, adopted by other symphonists and the scherzo generally supplanted the minuet. But a typical form had been fastened on it. By that form it is now recognized. In other words, the musical ear has from long association identified the triple rhythm and the alternation of the trio with the title scherzo. This, of course, is a convention, but not a fundamental fact. Any light, jovial movement may properly be called a scherzo, but the public would not at once recognize it is such unless it had the customary hall marks. Now the difficulty of writing continually in this triple rhythm has become formidable. It is easier to do something else in the movement intended to afford the light relief of a symphony or piano sonata. Dr. Dvorak in his American symphony tried the experiment of writing a scherzo in dual time and with very happy results, but most composers have chosen to substitute a movement with another title. Even Dvorak himself was an innovator in this matter in introducing the "furiant" in place of the scherzo.

Tschaikowsky, who made many departures from the mere externals of the established symphonic form, in several places used instead of a scherzo a slow waltz, thus restering dance music to its old position in the symphony. In one of his symphonies he has written a pizzicato ostinato and in another a march. Brahms was very fond of the title intermezzo, which left him free to do as he pleased. The public would not expect any recognized form in this, and yet it might be as light, as graceful, and as truly scherzando as any modern scherzo. This idea has proved to be very grateful to recent composers and the term intermezzo is now common. It was for these reasons that THE TIMES'S music reviewer made the comment on the intermezzo of the Suk symphony.

***

There were two incidents in the world of music in the week just ended worthy of being called events. These were the production of Richard Strauss's "Ein Heldenleben" by the Philharmonic Society and Mme. Marcella Sembrich's song recital. The one filled the mind with problems and the ear with discomfort. The other enriched the soul with revelations of the beautiful and laid upon the mind the benison of artistic peace. And yet there are people who are unable to discern anything in the art of song, who even refuse to concede to it the dignity of an art at all. To them it is nothing but the possession of a beautiful voice. How often does the enthusiastic listener sum up all his praise in the words, "What a beautiful voice!"

If voice were all there is in song Mme. Melba might outshine Mme. Sembrich in a song recital. The everlasting glory of Mme. Sembrich's singing is not her voice but what she does with it. And what she does with it is not merely the result of a complete knowledge of the technics of singing. This is the point which teachers and students of the art need to keep constantly before them. Mme. Sembrich is a great singer because she has the voice and the method, and uses them to interpret the masterpieces of song-writing in a manner that carries conviction to every mind and emotional influence to every heart. She is first of all a poet, in that she penetrates to the inner spirit of every text which she sings. It is this which she strives so successfully to reveal to her hearers. It is this revelation that touches the soul.

And then she shows her perfect musicianship in her complete grasp of the value of every phrase in which the composer has embodied the thought of the verse. She understands—that is the secret. And so with her poetic insight into the content of the verse and her musical comprehension of the composer's translation of that thought into tones, she makes a reading of every song which is as complete in its way as the most highly wrought character study of Sarah Bernhardt. Every song is treated by Mme. Sembrich, not as material for the exhibition of beauty of tone and perfection of phrasing, but as a message, to the publication of which all the resources of her voice and her art must be devoted. Let it be remembered that this woman does not possess a dramatic soprano voice, but a light soprano, such as we are all accustomed to hear employed in the delivery of coloratura music. Such voices rarely have the note of intense humanity. They are generally more akin to some ethereal instrument, whose silvery quality and agility of enunciation are its highest gifts. But with a light soprano voice this woman dramatizes every song with an absolutely satisfying conception of its poetic and musical content. Therefore she is a very great singer, and every lover of real music should hear her.

SAYS COLOMBIA IS WINNING.

Local Consul Declares the Rebellion Is Dying Out.

Señor Arturo de Brigard, the Colombian Consul in this city, made the following statement last night:

"I have this day received a cablegram from Señor Carlos Martinez Silva, Minister of Foreign Relations, dated Bogota, Dec. 6, which reads as follows: 'After several encounters with the rebels in the Department of Bolivar, and the cities of La Mesa, Girardot, and Buenaventura, the rebel forces under Gen. Uribe and others have been dispersed. Several departments are in entire peace. The rebellion is dying out, and the Government is surrounded with enthusiastic followers, is preparing to re-establish normal communication for commerce, and desires to maintain friendly relations with the neighboring countries."

FIREMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS.

Man Declared to be Cornelius Desmond Picked Up by Policeman.

A middle-aged man, supposed to be Cornelius Desmond, a fireman, employed on the fireboat Van Wyck, was found lying in an unconscious condition on the sidewalk in front of 1,547 Second Avenue early yesterday morning by a policeman. He was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from a fractured skull. At the fireboat headquarters it was said that Desmond had had a day off duty on Friday and had not returned. The description given of him answers the description of the man who was picked up on Second Avenue.

He has been in the Fire Department for over twenty years. The police think that his injuries are the result of a fall. He had not recovered consciousness last night, and the doctors say that he is in a very serious condition.

NEW HOME OF THE N. Y. Y. C.

A Combination of Naval Architectural and Decorative Magnificence.

CAEN STONE LARGELY USED

Unique Effects Carried Out in the Rooms to be Used for Special Purposes.

Before the new century is many days old the New York Yacht Club will have abandoned the cozy little house at 67 Madison Avenue, its city home for nearly thirty years, and will have taken possession of the magnificent building in West Forty-fourth Street, which the architects last week turned over to the decorators. Already the work of removal has been begun, under the direction of the club's veteran Superintendent, Neils Olsen. The removals so far have been confined to cases of books from the club library, but these books, together with the famous collection of yacht models, are, indeed, almost the sole bits of furniture from the old house that will find lodgment in the new building. The interior of the club's new home is almost as elaborate as that of the older house is simple, and furnishings designed specially to accord with their setting are now being installed by the decorators.

The new clubhouse is a fitting home for America's premier yachting organization, but it is something more. Its white stone façade, seventy-five feet in breadth—the full width of the lots numbered 37, 39, and 41, between Fifth and Sixth Avenues—is a beautiful bit of architecture, in which the charm of classical proportion has been successfully combined with a daring symbolism. One need not be told that the building is the home of a yacht club. The fact stands forth in every detail of the façade's four stories visible to a spectator from the street. When Architect Whitney Warren first presented his plans, nearly two years ago, he said, speaking for himself and his colleagues, Charles D. Wetmore:

"This being a club for a special purpose, namely, the furtherance of naval architecture from an amateur standpoint, we consider that externally and internally the arrangement should be such as to place the object in evidence, and not to retire it and make the clubhouse appear as that of merely a social club."

The architect's design has been well carried out.

THE POOR IN THEIR HOMES

Paper by J. G. Phelps Stokes on Settlement Work.

THE CAUSES OF POVERTY

Undeveloped or Defective Personality Responsible for Present Conditions —Remedial Agents at Work.

One subject which attracted much notice at the recent meeting of the State Conference of Charities was "The Care of the Poor in Their Homes." A contribution on this theme entitled "On the Relation of Settlement Work to the Evils of Poverty" was read by J. G. Phelps Stokes of this city. It is given herewith in full:

"We are often told that poverty is due to three chief causes: Lack of employment, vice, and crime. Undoubtedly these are determining causes, but are they or is any one of them fundamental? If there be a more fundamental cause of poverty underlying all others, it is obviously important that it be widely recognized publicly. Efforts to diminish poverty by creating artificial and otherwise unneeded channels for labor or by forcible restriction of intemperance or by attempts at prohibition of certain forms of crime and various forms of vice are undoubtedly at times efficacious, particularly as temporary expedients where more effective methods are either unknown or for the time being inapplicable. But such expedients usually serve chiefly as palliatives, alleviating various distressing outward symptoms, rather than as preventive agents restraining and subjecting the underlying predisposing cause. I wish to emphasize the fact of the existence of an underlying, predisposing cause, responsible for the vast majority of the suffering that is ascribed to poverty, and responsible also in the vast majority of cases for poverty itself, and to point out the appropriateness and importance of settlement work as in its way an effective remedial agency.

"I have nothing to disclose; but I claim that the importance of the underlying cause to which I refer should be more widely recognized and considered. I refer to undeveloped or defective personality, as being, directly or indirectly, almost universally responsible for the poverty that confronts us, and suggest that no measures directed to the reduction of the world's poverty will ever prove successful unless so devised as to reach and develop the personalities, the characters, of those in poverty or on its verge, and of those through whose greed, neglect, or ignorance, poverty has come to others.

"Of course, poverty is often due to misfortune, or to circumstances beyond human control. Undoubtedly much poverty is due to sickness and death; but sickness is most often due to impairment of tissue vitality, to defective physical personality, which results either from unhealthful occupations or environment, or from violation (conscious or unconscious) of the recognized laws of health. For instance, specialists tell us that tuberculosis causes, directly or indirectly, about one-seventh of all deaths in civilized communities, and that tuberculosis is highly communicable among persons whose power of resistance is impaired; but they also tell us that the large majority of the community are not under ordinary circumstances susceptible to its attacks. It is further demonstrable that this diminished power of resistance, or, as it is at other times called, this predisposition, or tendency, or diathesis, is most often a result of unhygienic living, or of unhygienic environment, or of inherited constitutional taint, the latter being a result of carelessness, ignorance, neglect or wrong-doing in a previous generation. The susceptibility of immunity of individuals to tuberculosis is typical of the susceptibility and immunity of individuals to almost every form of disease. And this susceptibility is with ever increasing regularity traceable to human error of some kind. Even unhealthy environment is generally the result of human error. It is man that makes and maintains the slums. And it is defective personality, manifested in the selfish greed of citizens, that too often interposes effective barriers in the way when plans for the cleansing, and aeration, and general physical improvement of poverty stricken districts are put forward.

A CASE IN POINT.

"As an example, less than a year ago a project for the creation of a small park in the most densely populated tenement district of New York was presented to the Legislature and met with a vigorous protest from the office of a large private estate which owned many of the tenements facing the selected block; the claim being advanced that the creation of the park would result in the raising of taxes on the adjoining lots, and that this would result in much loss to the land-owners, for the tenants in that district were exceedingly poor and could not pay higher rents to compensate the owners for the anticipated raise in taxes. And there were many other protests of a correspondingly selfish nature. The bill for the creation of the park was passed by the State Assembly, but defeated in the Senate; and the park that would have brought increased health and strength and disease-resisting power to the people of that section was lost.

"Some people say that the chief cause of poverty is lack of employment. Now there are two unemployment causes of lack of employment: First, limited effective demand for labor, and second, limited ability of the laborer to perform skillfully and well the work required. A third important cause has been shown to be the failure of the labor supply and the demand for labor to meet. But I shall confine myself for the present to consideration of the two causes first mentioned.

"There is ever in the community a vast surplus of unskilled men and women for whose labor there is little call, and it is, of course, these who constitute the majority of the very poor. When the demand for labor is but moderate, the more intelligent or more highly skilled members of the community hold all, or nearly all, the available situations. There is a surplus apparent for the less skilled or for the less efficient. Now the unskilled are unskilled either because they lack the wisdom or the intelligent earnestness that would have enabled them to learn to do something well, or else because they lack some other attribute of efficiency (for opportunity to do something well that is useful and worth doing is seldom lacking).

"In each of these cases defective or undeveloped personality is at the root of the difficulty. As the personality of the individual gains in strength and character the demand for his services increases. Well-developed, well-rounded personality is rarely found among the ranks of the unemployed. A strong woman or boy or girl possessing character and ability rarely becomes a subject for charitable relief, unless the victim of ill-health or physical disability, and among the poorer classes ill-health and physical disability are (in our cities at least) too often the effect of a congested, disease-fostering, tenement or industrial environment, created by man, and permitted to persist in its iniquitous condition for the sake of the exorbitantly large profits derivable from it by citizens of defective personality of a different type, who live in comfort and perhaps in physical luxury on the proceeds of the wretched habitations and workshops they maintain.

WHAT TRAINING DOES.

"The poverty that is ascribed to drunkenness and to various forms of vice and crime can similarly be traced to defective personality as its cause and fountain head. For drunkenness and wrongdoing are but evidences of moral weakness; are but manifestations of defective personality. The precept of Solomon is suggestive of the direction in which the remedy should be sought, and applied with cogent force: 'Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it.' More intelligent and universal application of this advice is what civilization needs today for the alleviation of most of its woes.

"But now as to the limited effective demand for labor. It can be fairly questioned whether there has ever been in any large community, considered as a whole, an oversupply of efficient, potential producers. There is everywhere an oversupply of shiftless or inefficient people in whom defective or undeveloped personality is a conspicuous characteristic. For the services of people of this latter class there are comparatively few demands other than of temporary nature. Such people are replaced speedily as circumstances allow, by workers of more efficient personality. Under ordinary circumstances it is chiefly persons of inefficient or undeveloped personalities who swell so largely the ranks of the unemployed.

"Awakening the personality, and its development along lines of intelligence and honesty and unselfishness and thrift, is the prime essential to the overcoming of the evils of poverty and to the lessening of its extent. Develop in children healthful, effective personalities, and they will grow up efficient, able people, able to face and bear more successfully the hardships of life, and better equipped to share its responsibilities.

"There is a fundamental principle of nature that has been enunciated by various scholars, to the effect that organisms grow by their exercise of inherent creative faculties; and to the effect that the direction of that growth, and whether for better or worse, depends on the nature and trend of the underlying creative activities, and on the nature and character of outside influences in the environment in which the growth takes places. The fundamental aim of the Settlement is to help prepare children and young people for lives of self-respecting, self-sustaining, useful, social citizenship; and the success of its efforts in this direction is due chiefly to the operation of that fundamental principle. By the judicious exercise of childish and youthful tendencies to action, whether in play or in simple work, dispositions, habits and resultant characters can be modified, developed, and formed. Develop in young people more widely a fondness for healthful, fair-minded exercise and recreation, and for simple, useful occupations, and an interest in acquiring knowledge, and an appreciation of honesty and unselfishness and right, and they have been prepared for habits and lives of industry and thrift, and for truer, more useful citizenship, and the foundations of society and of civilization have been rendered safer and more enduring.

ABATING THE EVIL.

"As undeveloped personality becomes more widely developed, poverty will diminish, and the evils of poverty will become less pronounced. In the process, the sufferings in existent poverty will diminish, for by the process happy, resourceful dispositions conduce powerfully to happy lives in spite of poverty and in spite of misfortune. For as a philosopher of former days has told us, men are not so much troubled by conditions as by their thoughts concerning those conditions. The truest happiness is often found among the simplest surroundings; while complaint with life and its many blessings is not uncommon in homes of the greatest affluence.

"But entirely aside from the influence of a Settlement among the people of its neighborhood, must be considered its usefulness in a somewhat different sphere, as a 'social clearing house,' as it has been called, where the more or the less educated in various classes of society can and increasingly do meet together on a friendly, equal footing for the interchange of knowledge and experience and thought; and where young men and young women, regardless of 'social' distinction of an extremely unsocial kind, can and increasingly do work together harmoniously and hand in hand for the study of social problems and the investigation of social needs. The encouragement of voluntary social service, in such and other channels, is an important Settlement function. Education which develops the individual for purely individual ends, fosters selfishness, sets each man in rivalry, and often in enmity, against his fellow, and promotes inevitably harmful social distress, leading at times to violence and every crime. The social nature of the child must be developed and selfish tendencies replaced by the spirit of fairness and right, if that spirit of brotherhood is to be secured, which in the city as in the Nation, is essential to the ultimate prosperity of the people and to their social happiness and peace."

TROLLEY COMPANIES ACTIVE.

Connecticut Legislature Will Be Swamped with Petitions for New Franchises.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 8.—The most important applications for the electric road development of this State that have ever been presented to the Connecticut General Assembly will come up for settlement at the next session of that body in Hartford in January. Evidences that there will be an avalanche of electric road petitions before the Legislature continue to multiply daily from all quarters of the State. Nearly all of the electric roads have petitions for extensions to their property, and counter-petitions from opposing corporations are already being advertised in the State papers. The avalanche of new business will not be confined to the electric roads, but electric lighting franchises, gas, and even telephone rights will be asked for in extraordinary number. The financial success of the resident and established concerns engaged in the lines mentioned has evidently been such as to warrant competition by new corporations, and in almost every line of public business enterprise there is evidence at this date of remarkable activity from new-comers in the field.

The electrical development of the State through the petitions of the old and new companies in the next Legislature will unquestionably prove one of the most interesting periods in the history of electrical progress in Connecticut. While electrical development has been late in this State, dating back hardly more than eight years, it has grown rapidly in that short time, and is fast becoming a formidable factor in the business condition of Connecticut.

Eleven years ago there were fifteen horse railroads in Connecticut, and their total mileage was but a little over 100 miles. To-day there are thirty-three separate corporations of the kind in the State, and these have absorbed in ten years some fifty smaller enterprises that sprang up in the large cities and suburbs of large cities and were organized to sell out to the controlling corporation. From a meagre mileage extending only in and about the large cities, the electric road trackage of Connecticut to-day has increased to 500 miles, and the thickly settled portions of the State are literally gridironed by the trolley.

Additions and new enterprises have now established a continuous trolley line from Westchester County, N. Y., along the shore to Branford, ten miles east of this city, and branch systems have been built up the Naugatuck Valley, northward for twenty miles from New Haven, up the Hartford line, and from New London north. Cross country trolley lines connect these systems and practically gridiron the State through its most important settlements. The plans of the electric roads for extensions this coming year will add greatly to the mileage already in operation, and if successful will fill up many of the intervals where trolley lines should prove successes.

A through trolley line from New York to Boston has been the avowed ambition of the United Gas Improvement Company, and as matters stand now, such an end does not seem impossible. The trust at present controls the electric roads from Stamford straight through to Milford along the Sound, and from Bridgeport north via the Naugatuck River to Waterbury. Attempts to secure an entrance into this city through the Winchester Avenue road were foiled by the purchase of that paying company by the other local railroad, but the trust hopes to overcome that difficulty and will appear in the Legislature next January with a petition to build to this city from Derby, where the combination now owns control.

NEW JERSEY TEACHERS' MEETING.

Bishop Potter and Controller Coler Among Those Who Will Address the State Association.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 8.—The forty-sixth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Teachers' Association will begin here on Thursday, Dec. 27, and last three days. Day sessions will be held at the High School, and the evening sessions at the First Presbyterian Church.

At the first session addresses of welcome will be made by James M. Seymour, Mayor of Newark; C. E. Hill, President of the Newark Board of Education; Charles J. Baxter, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Edwin Shepard, President of the association. Gov. Voorheesa will be present, and will make an address, introducing President Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell University, who will deliver the principal address of the afternoon. In the evening Bishop Henry C. Potter of New York will preside and speak, and Controller Bird S. Coler will speak on "The People and the Schools."

On Friday evening Prof. L. B. R. Briggs, Dean of Harvard College, will speak on "Public School Training." President Patton of Princeton University will preside.

Saturday morning will be occupied by the election of officers, vote on constitution and by-laws, report of Committee on Resolutions and installation of officers.

The officers of the association are: President—Edwin Shepard of Newark; First Vice President—J. Albert Whitelock of Cape May Court House; Second Vice President—Miss Louise E. Vanderbeek of Paterson; Secretary—Lewis C. Wooley of Trenton; Treasurer—Otto H. Schulte of Newark; Railroad Secretary—J. Wilmer Kennedy of Newark, and Executive Committee—the officers and H. B. Willis of New Brunswick, Emma M. Cattell of Camden, and Georgia B. Crater of Newark.

TO FOUND A MODEL TOWN

Site Already Selected on the Banks of the Delaware.

PROMOTED BY BUSINESS MEN

Object Is to Amalgamate Many Large Manufacturing Industries and Encourage Home-Building.

On some desirable site along the Delaware River a combination of Philadelphia manufacturers, whose industries afford employment to large numbers of skilled mechanics, will found in the near future what they hope will prove the model town, not only of America, but of the world. The first steps toward the carrying out of the important project were taken at a dinner given in Philadelphia a few nights ago by Joseph J. Byers, who is the leading spirit in the enterprise. Mr. Byers was formerly a New Yorker, and is now a leading financier of the Quaker City. The project which Mr. Byers is seeking to promote is not the outgrowth of purely philanthropic or altruistic sentiment, but an evolution from business conditions. There are, it seems, several large manufacturers in and around Philadelphia who have recently reached the conclusion that a combination of their industries would be conducive to their mutual profit.

The great obstacle in the way of effecting such a combination was the question of bringing about a physical as well as a legal coalition of these industries. It was this problem which suggested to Mr. Byers the starting of a model town. When the model-town idea had once been turned over in his mind Mr. Byers saw no reason why the combination which was at first contemplated should not be broadened so as to include industries which were not thought of in the original scheme. The outcome of his consideration of the subject was the dinner, to which a number of employers of labor on a large scale were invited, and also several gentlemen whose experience in movements of the character which he wished to start would be valuable. Among those who were present at the dinner were William H. Armstrong, former United States Railroad Commissioner; Howard Butcher of the Southern Cotton Oil Company; Elgin R. L. Gould, President of the City and Suburban Homes Company of New York; Clarendon I. S. Gould of Baltimore, Robert Ogden of the firm of John Wanamaker & Co., Theodore C. Search, President of the National Association of Manufacturers; Spencer Trask, a New York banker, who is also an officer in the Social Service League, and William D. Winsor of the Boston and Philadelphia Steamship Company.

Dr. Elgin R. L. Gould, in speaking of the project yesterday, said:

"A committee to draw up a plan for the proposed model town was appointed, and I have no doubt that a practical result will be achieved. Those who are in the movement hope to establish an industrial town which will be an advance upon anything of the kind yet attempted. They are impressed with the belief that out of the light afforded by similar experiments, both in America and in Europe, they will be able to inaugurate an enterprise which will go further toward establishing right relations between capital and labor than anything which has yet been done. They will avoid the mistakes made in the Pullman project, which, while undoubtedly an advance upon old conditions, contained flaws which prevented a perfect success. While the workmen at Pullman were well housed and enjoyed advantages superior to those they had formerly known, they were always confronted by the impossibility of ever owning their homes at Pullman, and the fact that there was no limitation upon the earnings of the town occasioned discontent.

WILL ENCOURAGE WORKMEN.

"In the new model town which it is contemplated laying out on the banks of the Delaware, every workman will be encouraged to purchase his own home, and the earnings of the town company will be limited to 5 per cent. All that is earned above that, which is no more than a reasonable return on the investment, will be put into a fund to be used for the benefit of the entire community."

"What advantages do the manufacturers expect to reap from the project?"

"Their expectation is that by the establishment of the model town, and the inducements which it offers to the thrifty and well-intentioned workman, they will attract to their industries the very best and most desirable class of labor. They are working on economic problem. At the same time they are, of course, moved to some extent by the altruistic spirit. That spirit is growing in the United States rapidly. Already it has worked some great innovations in Germany and France, and particularly in England, where it has apparently taken deep root. It is destined to be the spirit of the twentieth century. The notion that an employer's duty to his employes ends when he pays them their salaries is rapidly going out of date. The tendency is to establish closer and better relations between employer and employes. It has been demonstrated in many instances where this has been done that it results in mutual advantage. Of course, the problem is one which cannot be worked out in a year, or in a decade, but the advance which has been made along the line of mutuality of interest has been more than sufficient to raise sanguine expectations that the day is not far distant when as perfect an understanding as is possible to human nature will exist between skilled labor and the men who employ it.

"It is curious that the chief objectors to such schemes as the one now being projected in Philadelphia manufacturers are the Socialists. I have talked with leading Socialists on the subject, and they would much prefer to have the masses renters instead of owners of homes. Their reason is this: The man who pays no taxes, they say, is generally in favor of the municipal or Governmental control of public utilities, whereas the man who owns a little home is not.

"The most perfect industrial commonwealth now in existence, Mr. Gould said, was Port Sunlight, a town established near Liverpool, by William H. Lever, a Britisher, who has made millions out of soap. The Social Service League of this city has recently had investigated the conditions existing in the Port Sunlight colony. William H. Tolman, the Secretary of the league, visited Port Sunlight, and his reports and observations and knowledge gained through inquiry. Port Sunlight, which is admirably situated on the Mersey, is a full-fledged industrial village, consisting of 500 homes for the 2,000 employes in the factory. It has shops, schools, a lecture hall, club buildings, parks, and playgrounds. The story of the origin and growth of Port Sunlight is one of much interest.

MR. LEVER'S SUCCESS.

In 1885 William H. Lever was a grocer in Bolton, England. In handling soap daily he became impressed with the belief that the quality sold in England could be improved. He started to manufacture soap. In 1888, the third year of his business enterprise, Mr. Lever's profits were $250,000.

"In obtaining information from Mr. Lever regarding the development of his business," said Mr. Tolman, "I was deeply impressed with the sincerity of his purpose and the nobility of his sentiments. Referring to his profits for 1888 Mr. Lever said:

"'I somehow felt that I had not earned that money. I had not expected these results, and I felt that I had no right to the money. I then sat down and tried to reason to whom the money belonged, but I found this a very difficult problem. After reflection, I concluded that I must share this prosperity with those who had helped me to make it. I was dissatisfied with profits-sharing, which I found worked all right in good years, but in bad years, that is, when there are no profits to divide, the workmen are dissatisfied and disheartened, knowing that they had worked just as hard as in the year in which they had received a share of the profits. I said, I will begin "prosperity sharing," that is, I will provide decent homes for my workmen at rentals just one-half what they would pay for similar accommodations elsewhere. In this way, not only the head of the house, but the entire family shares in the prosperity of lower rent, which money is released for other purposes.'"

Port Sunlight is not an industrial crazy quilt design. Every street, park, public building, and private cottage was planned with a view to the artistic effect of the whole. For 3 shillings a week (75 cents in United States money) a worker at Port Sunlight may rent a cottage containing a kitchen, scullery, bathroom, and three bedrooms. The houses form a quadrangle, the centre of which is divided into small gardens for the cultivation of vegetables and flowers. Every tenant may rent a garden for the nominal sum of 5 shillings a year. For the clerks and foremen who desire larger and better accommodations houses are to be had for from 4 shillings 6 pence to 6 shillings a week.

One of the most noted co-operative towns in the United States is that established by the National Cash Register Company, at Dayton, Ohio. Much has been written in the magazines about this venture, which has proved a profitable experiment to the company, of which John H. Patterson is the leading spirit, as well as beneficial to the company's employes.

The Briarcliff Manor Farms, in Westchester County, N. Y., have demonstrated that the altrustic spirit, when introduced into farming, can produce astonishing results. There are no better kept farms in New York than those of Briarcliff Manor; none which yields a larger revenue in proportion to the acreage under cultivation, and none where the farm workers are housed so comfortably and enjoy so many social and educational advantages.

FINES FOR DRUNKENNESS.

Range from 50 Cents in Some States to $100 in Others.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 8.—The popular interest which is manifested in the proposed legislation in Connecticut for the control of habitual misdemeanants and "rounders" has directed attention to the numerous judicial methods of dealing with drunkenness in the United States. A cursory review of the laws relating to the punishment of drunkenness discloses both variety and inequality in the matter of penalties. Fines range from 50 cents in some States to $100 in other States. Imprisonment runs from a minimum term of two days in some Commonwealths to a maximum term of five years in others.

In the States of Maine and New Hampshire drunkenness is punishable by imprisonment without fine. Both of these States have a general prohibition law concerning the sale of liquors. The Maine law provides that a common drunkard may be committed by a trial Justice to the House of Correction and detained until he is discharged by the Overseers of the town or two Justices of the Peace. The maximum imprisonment for vagabonds is thirty days. In New Hampshire drunkards and vagrants may be committed for any period not exceeding six months.

The laws of three States—Ohio, South Dakota, and Virginia—specifically fix the amount of fine for intoxication, but are silent in regard to imprisonment. In Ohio the fine is $5, and in South Dakota it is $10. In Virginia the fine is $10, which is precisely the same as the penalty for profanity. By an amendment adopted in 1898 cities and towns having police regulations governing the punishment for drunkenness and profanity are exempt from the provisions of the general law.

Arkansas, West Virginia, and Indian Territory do not fix the amount of fine or imprisonment, but exact security for the good behavior of the convicted drunkard. If the offender fail to provide the prescribed security he may be imprisoned. The Arkansas statute authorizes the committing Magistrate to require surety of the intoxicated individual for good behavior and for keeping the peace not exceeding one year. In default of security the drunkard may be committed for a period not exceeding thirty days. Another provision of the Arkansas law vests in Probate Courts power to appoint and to exercise superintending control over guardians to take care of habitual drunkards.

In West Virginia any person found intoxicated at or near a polling place on election day may be fined from $10 to $50, or required to give security for not more than six months. Failing to give the bond, he shall be imprisoned from five to twenty days. In Indian Territory the drunken person may be arrested and "confined until he becomes duly sober," and the Magistrate is empowered to exact security for good behavior and keeping the peace.

In sixteen States the penalty for intoxication is fine or imprisonment. Those States are Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, (three counties,) Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Wisconsin. In Alabama the pecuniary penalty for drunkenness ranges from $5 to $100, and a common drunkard for the second offense committed within six months of the first, may be sentenced to jail or to hard labor for a maximum period of six months. Connecticut provides a fine not exceeding or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, while for the first offense a common drunkard may be jailed for a maximum term of sixty days, and for a second offense he may be committed for 120 days. Delaware fixes a fine of 50 cents for intoxication.

In Illinois the fine ranges from $20 to $100, and the term of imprisonment from ten days to six months. Iowa authorizes a fine of from $5 to $25 and a jail sentence not to exceed thirty days, but provides that the offender may obtain his discharge by collecting information where the liquor was obtained and by giving bail to appear as a witness against the seller. The seller may be compelled to pay "reasonable" compensation for the care of an intoxicated person, and civil damages may also be exacted from the dealer. Provision is made for placing common drunkards under competent guardianship.

In the State of Kansas, intoxication is punishable by a maximum fine of $25 and a maximum imprisonment of thirty days in jail. Maryland imposes a fine of $1 and costs, and the offender may be committed until payment is made or he is "discharged by due course of law." For the second offense the fine is $1, and if it is not paid, imprisonment for twenty days is prescribed. For the fourth conviction the penalty is sixty days the fine is raised to $5 plus costs, and in default of payment the alternative punishment of three months in jail is named. In Massachusetts the fine for drunkenness is $1 and costs, or, in default of payment, imprisonment for not more than ten days. For the second offense within twelve months a maximum fine of $5 and costs is provided, or imprisonment not exceeding two months, and for any subsequent offense a maximum fine of $10 and costs, or imprisonment in the jail "or in any place provided by law for common drunkards," for not more than one year.

Michigan prescribes a fine of $20, or imprisonment for thirty days, or both, as the maximum penalty for drunkenness. In Minnesota the cumulative system of punishment prevails. For the first offense the fine is from $10 to $40, and the imprisonment from ten to forty days; for the second offense the fine ranges from $20 to $40 and the imprisonment from thirty to sixty days, and the penalty for the third offense is imprisonment from sixty to ninety days. Under the multct system in New Jersey a penalty of $10 is meted out for every sale to a person of whose intemperate habits due notice has been given. One half of the fine goes to the Overseers of the Poor and the other half to the person suing.

In North Carolina a special law which applies only to the counties of Buncombe, Henderson, and Transylvania, authorizes the imposition on a drunken person of a minimum fine of $10 or a maximum imprisonment of thirty days. In Pennsylvania the fine of $2 is paid to the Treasurer of the school district in which the conviction takes place. Inebriates who are temporarily insane may be committed to an asylum. The penalty for performing the marriage ceremony when either of the contracting parties is intoxicated is a fine of $50 and imprisonment not exceeding sixty days. For habitual drunkards who neglect to support their families Rhode Island prescribes imprisonment from six months to three years. In Wisconsin the maximum punishment for getting drunk in a public place is a fine of $10 or imprisonment for five days, but this law does not apply to any town or village which has enacted local ordinances governing the subject.

The States of Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Rhode Island have made provision for the creation of probation officers to look after persons who are convicted of drunkenness, but in whose cases the execution of the sentence is suspended. Massachusetts, as is well known, was the pioneer State to adopt the probation system. The Rhode Island law providing for the appointment of one probation officer for the State and such additional local officers as may be needed was passed in 1899. The New Jersey probation system was created by a legislative act of 1900. Those who have watched the operation of the system in Massachusetts are confident that the underlying principle will ultimately be generally adopted by other States.

In various States legal provision is made for the treatment of habitual drunkards in either private or State institutions. The following States have no specific general laws governing the punishment of intoxication and habitual drunkenness: California, Colorado, Idaho, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, and Washington. In most of these States provision is made for the enactment of local ordinances governing the subject.

GLOVEMAKERS' SECRETS

How They Cover the Hand That Is Not Perfect.

MY LADY'S GLOVE MONOGRAM

Constant Change in Shades, Though So Slight as to Escape the Unskilled Observer.

The work of the glove cutter is not the simple, easy work it is often supposed to be. An expert can cut only three pairs in two hours. He cuts always to measurement, and the gloves he makes are not always the smooth, even production usually known as a kid glove. It is the stock gloves that come in this way, but the man who makes gloves to order has a variety of hands to fit.

In the first place, the expert glovemaker, who knows all the ins and outs of the trade, says that every man, woman, or child should have gloves made to measure if an absolutely perfect fit is to be guaranteed. There is as much difference in hands as there is in faces, and no one who is particularly fastidious can buy entirely satisfactory ready-made gloves. This is notwithstanding the fact that three lengths of fingers can be obtained in every size of glove and every size is made for both thick and thin hands.

But aside from the individuality of the ordinary hand, there are many hands that have unusual peculiarities which must be fitted. There are many people who have one hand larger than the other. One man, for instance, wears a 7¾ on one hand and a No. 8 on the other. One man has a thumb that is twice as large as the ordinary thumb on one hand, while the other is of normal size. The victim of good living and gout has on over-developed finger from that artistocratic disease, and there are people with no fingers at all.

All this is in addition to the peculiarities of hands which have met with accidents from machinery, trolley cars, or any of the numerous destructive agencies into which the hands may chance to fall. There is a firm up town which, in addition to its regular work, makes a specialty of fitting gloves to hands which are peculiar in conformation by nature or accident.

In making a glove to order a diagram is taken of the hand, as one is taken of the foot by the shoemaker. The work has to be done with great care and the eccentric gloves are as perfectly fitted as the normal ones.

The number of gloves that can be cut from one skin depends upon the size and quality of the skin. The finest skins are those of the kid and one skin will make but one pair of gloves. It is the kid of the goat from which the skins come. Lamb skins are used sometimes, but while this skin may be soft and elastic, it is not a good wearing skin.

The mere process of making a kid glove is comparatively simple. The skins are bought with the hair on. The first process is the tanning, which leaves the skin white. It is then ready for the dye, after which it is shriveled, shaved, and then it is ready for the cutting. From the cutter the glove goes to the stitcher, who can sew a pair of gloves in from fifteen to twenty minutes. Then the glove is bound, the buttonholes made, and buttons sewed on, it is hemmed and pressed, and the product is ready for the market. A French glove establishment has a manufactory for all its stock gloves on the other side, and only makes gloves to order here.

Gloves are made to order frequently to match certain costumes. The dyeing is a particular work, and requires a careful mixing of colors to get the required shade, but a pair of gloves can be dyed, cut, and made inside of three hours. A pair of gloves can be made to order for as small a sum as $1.50. This is not the best glove, of course.

There are few gloves made that vary greatly from the regular stock except as they fit the peculiarities of the hands. People who have such peculiarities of the hands take quiet shades in gloves. Many gloves, however, have been made since the pale pastel shades came into vogue to match them. While there is little variety in the ordinary style of gloves, there is one glove that must always be made to order, and that is the monogram glove. These gloves have been used more or less for some time by people who have plenty of money. One of this year's brides had all the gloves for her wedding outfit made with embroidered monograms on the back in place of the ordinary stitching. The embroidery for these gloves cost $2, aside from the cost of the glove, and there are comparatively few people who can afford them. To their heads, there is said to be a great difference as regards the letters. Some letters present a much better appearance on the back of the glove than others. For instance, the girl who has "A," "H," or "M." for an initial need not hesitate if she has the money, for the gloves with those letters look well on the back of the hand.

Gloves are made occasionally with stitching to match some color contrast that appears in the gown or with the contrasting colors in the embroidery of a monogram. Occasionally a woman brings in jeweled buttons to be put on her gloves, but, as a rule, she will have a pearl or metal button of some kind. To the careless observer, it seems that gloves are always of the same nondescript shades, but the glove expert knows that this is not the case. Every shipment of gloves brings shades that vary a little. Perhaps this is only a shadow of a difference, but a glove bought one month cannot be matched exactly the next. For people who like to know what the future will bring forth, it may be said that in the matter of gloves, looking ahead several months, as the manufacturers do, the shade glove is going to be the glove for Spring wear. The manufacturers have tested the public taste as far as may be, and it is for this demand that they are preparing.

There is another style of glove that comes to the manufacturers' hands. If the shoes for the theatrical trade come from Broadway, the glove goes to Fourteenth Street proper. Large quantities of all sorts and kinds are made for different theatrical productions. These are in all fancy designs and colors. These gloves are for special productions. For society plays the gloves are of the ordinary varieties and bought from the regular stock. One pair of gloves made for a comedian were mismates. The one glove was an ordinary man's glove; the other was sixty inches long. The length in the wrist was worn up the sleeve. In the production, as the man drew off a yard or two of glove, he brought down the house.

The magician's marvelous gloves also come from the regular glove shop. The ordinary glove which he develops by his art into a mammoth affair a foot long and then contracts to the size of a baby's hand may be borrowed from some one in the audience, but the big glove and the little glove, which are so mysterious, have come perhaps from the very same glove shop, only they were made to order.

Another feature of the glove manufacturer's work is that, making gloves, he can also mend them. When he says that he will mend gloves he does it somewhat as a guarantee of the good wearing qualities of his gloves. If every one to whom he sold gloves came in to have them mended he would have to give up his regular business and mend only. But they do not. There is about 1 per cent. of those who buy gloves who bring them back for repairs. It is not expected when they are sold that they will rip or tear, but if by chance they do they are mended, and the mending is more satisfactory than anything that the amateur can do at home.

"But to have well-fitting gloves one must take pains to put them on carefully," the glove man says in conclusion. "Put the glove on slowly for the first time, be sure that all the seams are straight, or, no matter what the glove is, it will never fit or present a really satisfactory appearance."

Moose In the Adirondacks.

The Association to Restore the Moose to the Adirondacks will hold its first meeting in the chamber of the Board of Trade next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It is expected that a large number of prominent men who are lovers of Adirondack sport will be in attendance, including Lieut. Gov. Woodruff, Dr. W. Seward Webb, William C. Whitney, William H. Boardman, and Warner Miller. Assemblyman Frank J. Price will present a bill in the coming session of the Legislature for the appropriation of funds for the restoration of the moose to the Adirondacks.

Two Grands Prix
Exposition Universelle Paris 1900
HAVE BEEN AWARDED TO
A. JAECKEL & CO
FURRIERS.
We are now showing (with the exception of garments and skins sold in Paris) our entire EXPOSITION EXHIBIT
together with an assortment of Rare Skins, including among them the celebrated
"Bergusin Collection" of Russian Sables,
the finest and richest ever shown.
Also a number of exceptional specimens of
REAL BLACK AND SILVER FOX
With a fine line of Furs and Fur Garments of every description.
EXCLUSIVE DESIGNS—SMART EFFECTS.
NEW AND ORIGINAL MODELS.
HOLIDAY GOODS.
37 UNION SQUARE, BETWEEN 16TH & 17TH STS.
Telephone 2956—18th.

THE CHURCH OF THE ACTS

Its One Member Declares that She Is All-Wise.

COUNSELED BY THE VOICE

Mrs. Anna Sivatt Announces That She Knows Everything—Has the Apple Eve Bit.

Mrs. Anna Sivatt of 39 Sumpter Street, Brooklyn, says that she is the only member of the only true church, which she calls the Church of the Acts. Incidental to her privileges as the sole representative of this sect, she declares that she is counseled in "all wisdom" by what she describes as "the Voice." One of the things that the mysterious call bids her to do is to make flags of ornate design, and the walls of her two small rooms are profusely decorated with many-colored pennants.

One of these flags, according to the maker, is destined for the Countess Castellane. It is six feet long and four in width, covered with alternating stripes of yellow, white, and green. The yellow, says Mrs. Sivatt, typifies butter, the white is the symbol of milk, and the green suggests grass. In one corner is a solid green square, on which is painted the picture of a basket of fruit. The flag is to be given to the Countess because the latter is "the Angel of Vegetation."

Another flag in the collection is called "the blue key of the United States." On this one are stripes of red, white, and blue and five stars, the latter commemorating Mrs. Sivatt's five female ancestors who assisted Noah in the building of the ark. The rest of the flags, various in design, represent everything, from the gates of the Inferno to the "mermaids of Staten Island."

"I have just found an old drama," said Mrs. Sivatt to a visitor the other day. "It was in my collection of antiques, but I had misplaced it. The piece was written by the Prophet Samuel when he appeared as leading man in the Montauk Theatre. He was a great actor. Noah and all the others tried to outdo him in the histrionic art, but they were not in his class. I think I shall turn over the play to some of the great actors who are alive now and see if they can do it justice."

"I have absolute proof that the world is not round, but flat. The Voice teaches me how to prove anything I want to prove. I have in my possession the first egg that was ever made. No chicken laid it. I cannot tell you the secret of its manufacture. I have, too, the first apple that ever grew. You will remember that the snake let Eve take a bite out of it, I tell you, there are lots of things in my collection that Queen Victoria would sail over from Europe to take a look at, if she thought I would show them to her. I have the original model of the Ark, the key that fitted its front door, the first book that was ever printed, the dress that Rachel wore when she married Jacob, and a photograph taken by Shem just as the Ark was being launched off Sandy Hook."

Then Mrs. Sivatt exhibited a small frame that hung on one wall of her room. In it was a picture formed in relief of cloth and little bits of wood. It represented a ladder leaning against a tree. "This," she said, "is the ladder of Jacob. The story says that the ladder reached to heaven, but I thought the matter over and concluded that it was impossible for that to be true. So I just made it run up in a tree. I guess Jacob climbed the tree and yelled from the top of it."

In 1881 Mrs. Sivatt lost her first husband, whose name was Manonay. After his death the Voice began to appear to her. A year later she married Mr. Sivatt, who is still alive. He sells patent medicines. She tells some fortunes once in a while, and they manage to get along, though they are very poor. She says that her husband is not able to appreciate her high mental attainments, and that she only permits him to live with her because he has nowhere else to go. He, on the other hand, declares that he does appreciate, and that he thinks her the wisest person he has ever met.

Besides collecting things, Mrs. Sivatt indulges her literary instinct a bit. She showed her visitor a poem she herself called "Johnny Coming Through the Clouds," which is a eulogy to her first husband. "He was much better than the one I have now," she said, whereupon Mr. Sivatt, standing on the outside of the door and not permitted to enter, said he thought the same. Then she said:

"I am writing a biography of myself, which I am going to finish if he will stop annoying me. When it is published all the world will know that the Voice is the Voice. Queen Victoria will read it, and will order my body to be removed to Westminster Abbey. If she knew about me, she would have been here long ago to consult me. I have written over a hundred songs. I know every language on earth. My grandmother fought in the Revolutionary War. I am descended from King David and his son Absalom."

She brought out for inspection seven dresses, one used for each day of the week. Some of them were of silk, some of satin, and the rest of calico. She also showed a basket of keys, each one of which could unlock a separate vault in the gold mines of King Solomon. Then she sang a song that she declared to have been composed by herself, and to be the most entrancing since the songs with which the sirens beguiled Ulysses.

The walls of her rooms were completely covered with ornaments of her own making. Besides the flags, were paper dolls, supposed to be exact likenesses of heroes and heroines of history; wooden houses, like famous buildings of antiquity, and cloth figures of men. All of these, she said, were constructed at the command of the Voice. At intervals, while she showed her treasures, she mumbled unintelligible sounds, which she claimed to be the language of heaven, taught to her by the Voice. In addition to the seven dresses, she had one that was made by tying innumerable bits of ribbon together.

SPARKS FROM THE MAGAZINES

EXCERPTS IN PROSE AND VERSE FROM CURRENT LITERATURE.

BY THE WATERS OF GALILEE.

The wind is low in the oleanders,
Softly stirring the rosy sea;
Out from a hill a rill meanders
Down to the waters of Galilee.

A burning blazon of blue enamels
The rainless heaven that arches o'er;
And Druses drowse by their crouching camels
Where meadows dip to the shingly shore.

Crumbling walls that the hyssop clings to,
Such is Magdala's glory now;
And the only ear that the cuckoo sings to
Is that of his mate on the carob bough.

The columned city that Herod fashioned,
That glistered white in the noonday blaze,
Naught is left of its past impassioned
Save ghosts that wander its squalid ways.

Never a sail nor a galley oaring
The shimmering reaches of liquid calm;
Only a watchful vulture soaring
Over the crest of a lonely palm.

But still the mountains, violet, vernal,
And the brooding vales where the shepherds be,
And the sun, in its equipoise eternal,
Looking down upon Galilee.

And ever, to halo the desert places,
By the spell of the girding silence bound,
The haunting thought of the face of faces,
Of Him through whom this is holy ground!
—Clinton Scollard in The Century.

THE IMPOSSIBLE CHINAMAN.

From The Contemporary Review.

The Chinese regard the arts of war and of mechanics as degrading, and literature only as a pursuit worthy the supreme attention of the superior man. Their etiquette and polite bearing are generally diffused through all ranks of society, and are far more exacting, decided, and practically effective than those of any Western nation. The universal knowledge of these, and the particular attention paid to them, smooth down in a remarkable manner, scarcely realizable in the West, the asperities and conflicts of life. Lack of knowledge of these, and want of attention to them on the part of Western peoples, have led the Chinese to style the latter "barbarians." The relations of the sexes are strictly defined, and a stern etiquette, sanctioned by the legality of murder in certain circumstances, guards the sanctity of the home. A licentious soldiery is the surest means of stirring up the common people against the country represented by them. The greater freedom in the public intermingling of men and women belonging to Western nations—a freedom which cannot be understood and is misapprehended by the Chinese—together with other manners common among foreigners living in China, has aroused the indignation of the Chinese, who declare that the life of Western barbarians is the life of "birds and beasts."

In addition to these outstanding differences, there are many other facts connected with the Chinese and many other ideals which they entertain wholly unlike if not at variance with those of the West. These things will account for the contempt which the Chinese feel for the "outer kingdoms." It is still more easy for us to understand this contempt when we reflect that while they regard the thorough knowledge of literature as the sole reason for the greatest respect, they believe that foreigners are ignorant of that literature; while, on the other hand, they are ignorant of the existence of the great literature of the West, excepting so much thereof as has been translated by missionaries, whose aim is to publish the literature selected by them in such a way that their work will be generally understood by the ordinary folk, and who are not always solicitous to satisfy the extra-refined classical taste of the Chinese scholar. The superiority, therefore, of the West in arms or in mechanics may subdue their bodies and improve their locomotion, but it will not in the very least modify their mental attitude.

EARLY DAYS OF FREEMASONRY.

From The New Lippincott.

Outside of England and her colonies the development of Masonry was by no means rapid, but the Church early took the alarm, and in 1738 Clement XII. condemned it in his bull, in Eminenti. No reason for this was alleged except its secrecy and that under its rules men of all religions associate together, giving rise to suspicions of evil, wherefore all members incur excommunication removable only by the Pope, and all Bishops are instructed to prosecute and punish them as vehemently suspect of heresy. As the Parlement of Paris refused to register this bull, it could scarce accomplish much outside of the Papal States, except in Spain, but within them it was rendered effective by an edict of the Cardinal Secretary of State, Jan. 14, 1739, pronouncing irremissible pain of death, not only on all members, but on all who tempt others to join or favor the society in any way, such incurring a cause for its use. This was a declaration of war to the knife, although the only victim of the death penalty is said to have been the French author of a book on Masonry.

PURE SCIENCE AND BREAD.

From "The Life and Letters of Huxley." By Leonard Huxley.

To attempt to live by any scientific pursuit is a farce. Nothing but what is absolutely practical will go down in England. A man of science may earn great distinction, but not bread. He will get invitations to all sorts of dinners and conversaziones, but not enough income to pay his cab fare.

Owen and Forbes are first-rate men—men who have been at work for years, laboriously toiling upward—men whose abilities, had they turned them into the many channels of moneymaking, must have made large fortunes. But the beauty of nature and the pursuit of truth allured them into a nobler life—and this is the result. A man who chooses a life of science chooses not a life of poverty, but, so far as I can see, a life of nothing, and the art of living upon nothing at all has yet to be discovered."

GUTTER-SNIPE.

Charles Godfrey Leland in Notes and Queries.

The word snipe, as expressive of contempt with an intimation of priggishness or pettiness, especially impertinence, was very common in Philadelphia as far back as 1835, as I can well recall my indignation when called by it. There can be no question that it came into use from the German schnipp or schnippisch—snappish, pert, saucy. "Gutter-snipe" began to appear in newspapers some years later. It would, however, be curious to ascertain whether the term does not exist in some form in old provincial English. "Gutter" was very naturally added from its association with mud. It was generally believed in New England, and I dare say elsewhere, that the snipe lived by sucking mud.

CHRISTIANITY IN THE FAR EAST.

Max Muller in The Nineteenth Century.

It is curious, however, to see with what pertinacity the Church of Rome and its various orders clung to the idea that the East, and more particularly India and China, should be won for the Roman Church. After the Reformation particularly, the Roman See, as well as the Dominicans, Franciscans, and above all the Jesuits, seem never to have lost sight of the idea that the ground which their Church had lost in Europe should be reconquered in China. Already under Benedict XII. (1342-1346) attempts were made to send out again Christian missionaries to China, but they soon shared the fate of the Nesterian Christians, and in the sixteenth century, when Roman Catholic missions were organized on a larger scale, no traces of earlier Christian settlements seem to have been forthcoming. François Xavier, who, after his successes in India and Japan, was burning with a desire to evangelize China, died in 1552, almost in sight of China. Then followed Augustine monks under Herrada, and Franciscans under Alfarà. Both had to leave China again after a very short sojourn there. Then came the far more important missions of the Jesuits under Ricci, who landed in 1581. They were better prepared for their work than their predecessors. Anyhow, they had studied the language and the customs of the country before they arrived, and in order to meet with a friendly reception in China they arrived in the dress of Buddhist monks. They became in fact all things to all men; they were received with open arms by the Emperor and the learned among the Mandarins. It was Ricci who made such propaganda by means of his clocks, but he did not neglect his missionary labors, though it is sometimes difficult to say whether he himself was converted to Confucianism, or the Chinese to Christianity. He wrote in Chinese a book called "Tomini Cnelorum vera ratio." He adopted even the Chinese name for God, Tjen or Shang-ti, and joined publicly in the worship of Confucius. That was the policy of the Jesuits in China, as it was their policy in India, when about the same time Roberto de Nobili (1577-1656) taught as a Christian Brahmin, adopting all their customs and speaking even Sanskrit, being no doubt the first European to venture on such a task.

DANGER TO THE ANGLO-SAXON.

Lord Charles Beresford in The North American Review.

This is the danger which menaces the Anglo-Saxon race. The sea which threatens to overwhelm it is not the angry waters of the Latin races or of envious rivals, but the cankering worm in its own heart, the sloth, the indolence, the luxurious immorality, the loss of manliness, chivalry, moral courage, and fearlessness which that worm breeds. This danger, which overthrew Babylon, Persia, Carthage, Athens, Rome, and many other mighty nations and races in the past, now threatens the race to which we belong; but to it we oppose what they never possessed, on anything like the same principles or to the same extent as we—the power of democracy. "The voice of the people is the voice of God," says an old Latin proverb, and in the main that is true. The masses may err, they may misinterpret their own wishes. They may need powerful educated leaders, able to guide popular sentiment into the right channels, and to prevent it doing damage by overflowing its banks, but the voice of the people in the end is right, because in the mass they are neither self-seeking nor self-serving; for it is impossible for a mass to be swayed by purely selfish interests. To the masses we must look for the regeneration of the State and the rescue of the race.

If ever—which God forbid!—democratic feeling in the Anglo-Saxon people should be unheeded, and those who are their leaders should continue to play with the moral sentiment of the people, democracy will resent it, and the consequences will be more terrible than any upheaval in France or elsewhere; for when once democracy overflows, like a river which has broken its banks, it becomes a scourge and an evil, and goes further than is just or right. The mob begin by asking for justice and right, and end by demanding a scapegoat and a martyr.

SINGING OUT OF TUNE.

Mrs. Walter Creyke in The Nineteenth Century.

Singing out of tune is caused by a defective voice just as often as by a defective ear. People who habitually sing in perfect tune will occasionally sing false without detecting it. If tired they will sing flat. If the wind is in the east, or if they have been dancing all night, or at the beginning of a sore throat, the voice may have a tendency to sharpness, which will disappear after practice. Thus it must be the voice and not the ear which is at fault. I have noticed in many singers that one note in the whole voice will be slightly false; this again must be a defect in the voice and not in the ear. The more a singer habitually sings in tune without effort the less likely will she be to discover when her voice is off pitch. When a singer is beginning to lose her voice her singing may be completely out of tune without her being aware of it, but when she does know it she will be able to avoid singing false by the cultivation of her ear. The more defective the voice becomes the more will the ear require cultivation. It is easy enough for any one with a good ear to detect false singing in another person, but by no means so easy to detect it in herself; and many people who do not pretend to sing a note in tune themselves will detect the faintest shade of falseness when another person is singing. People who are able to accompany themselves when practicing have a great advantage over those who are always obliged to employ an accompanist. In accompanying one's self the slightest falseness can be easily detected, for if the note struck on the piano can be heard through that one sung the voice and the piano cannot be in perfect tune. In singing a scale the upper strings of the piano should vibrate to the voice without the notes of the piano having to be struck at all, if the voice is in tune with the piano. But these nuances can scarcely be detected when standing up and singing to an accompanist.

THE ANKLET.

From "The Story of My Life." Augustus J. C. Hare.

Lady Caroline Paulet wore an anklet and would often sit upon a table and let it fall down over her foot to show it. It was inscribed "La légerété de Camille et la vitesse d'Atalante." One day Lady Isabella St. John, who was equally proud of her little foot, said, "I wish you would let me try if I can get your anklet over my foot, Lady Caroline." And she put it on, and to Lady Caroline's great discomfiture kicked it off, to show how easily her foot would go through it.

THE SONG OF THE ANGELS.

Once, only once, in the revolving years,
Celestial song has gladdened mortal ears;
Once, only once, has heaven come down to earth
With angel tidings of a Saviour's birth.

Not to the mighty, to the wise or great,
Did God unroll the starry scroll of fate;
But simple shepherds, keeping watch by night,
Beheld the glory break on mortal sight;
And humble ears, attuned to lofty word,
The gracious "Fear not" rapturously heard—
Angelic prelude to the carol high
That swept with harmony the earth and sky.

Once, only once, that song to mortals came—
Divinest spark of music's heavenly flame;
But evermore the deepening echoes roll
In tender cadence through each humble soul;
And simple folk, while keeping watch by night,
At duty's lowly shrine, with glorious light
Are flooded as of old from Bethlehem's sky,
And know that Christ, the Lord, is drawing nigh.
—ELLA GILBERT IVES in The New Lippincott.

A STORY OF A STORY.

From Harper's Magazine.

The editor remembers a curious circumstance in connection with his (Mr. Howells's) "April Hopes," while that novel was being serially published in the Magazine. The mice—who had never before and who have never since in our office been known to do such a thing—got at the manuscript copy, making havoc of one particular passage in which the author had allowed his young lovers unusual freedom of emotional expression—for how, indeed, could there be "April Hopes," or anything thus imitative of love's Springtime, without the gracious unreserve that nature herself so forcefully compels? Having yielded to a command so imperative, Mr. Howells, we remember, seemed somewhat perturbed because he was obliged to do over again what in the first place he had done under the resistless urgency of the situation. He was inclined, we think, to infer malice prepense on the part of the mice in selecting that passage of all others for their destructive work. But again he invoked the gentle influences of the Pleiades and reproduced the lovers' dialogue. We don't believe he disliked this sort of writing as much as he appeared to; it may be that, after all, he has generally avoided it as one who denies himself an indulgence.

PENALTY FOR BIGAMY.

From Chambers's Journal.

When "Charlie" Russell, the late Lord Chief Justice, was contesting South Hackney, a constituent, in the course of his canvass, asked Sir Charles what the penalty was for bigamy. "Two mothers-in-law," retorted the famous lawyer.

NEW FACTS ABOUT THE BOXERS.

The Rev. Roland Allen in The Cornhill.

The Boxers not only believed that they were themselves possessed by the spirits of heroes, they also believed that they were supported by a force of "spiritual or divine soldiers." These soldiers were said to number 480,000, and appeared in the form of unmarried boys, many being still children. These children accompanied or preceded the advance of the main body of fighting men, and great reliance was placed on their aid, their presence being the presage of victory. Thus just before the entrance of the first large body of armed Boxers into Peking a body of forty such children marched through the city, and were everywhere received with marks of respect, reverence, and fear. The Christians ran in and reported this to me as a certain sign that trouble was hard at hand. After the burning of Fêng t'ai station, before the imperial troops sided definitely with the Boxers, and were still sent out to prevent their raids, a small party of foreigners who escaped by the last train from Peking fell in at An Ting station with a large body of native troops who had fled thither before the Boxer attack. They told the foreigners that the moment they engaged the Boxers the spirit soldiers descended from heaven in thousands upon thousands and tens of thousands; that they fired at them, but the bullets passed through them without effect, and that they then, seeing that such warfare was impossible for mortal men, fled in terror.

There were also among the Boxers a certain number of men bound by a peculiar vow to abstain from wine, tobacco, opium, tea, pork, crabs, and onions, though what was the peculiar virtue of this vow I have not yet been able to learn. They also professed chastity, a profession rather put to shame by the common practice of the Boxers in kidnapping marriageable girls. But, however ill these vows were kept, the existence of such a system among them clearly reveals its religious character, and from the analogy of other systems it is easy to guess at the connection between chastity and abstinence and demoniac possession.

GORGING ELEPHANT.

From "Cape to Cairo," by Grogan and Sharp.

A weird sight it was; stark naked savages with long greased hair (in some cases hanging down on their shoulders) were perched on every available inch of the carcass, hacking away with knives and spears, yelling, snarling, whooping, wrestling, cursing, and munching, covered with blood and entrails; the new arrivals tearing off lumps of meat and swallowing them raw, the earlier birds defending their worms in the form of great lumps of fat paunch and other delicacies; while others were crawling in and out of the intestines like so many prairie marmots. Old men, young men, prehistoric hags, babies, one and all gorging or gorged, pools of blood, strips of hide, vast bones, blocks of meat, individuals who had not dined wisely but too well, lay around in bewildering profusion; and in two short hours all was finished. Nothing remained but the gaunt ribs, like the skeleton of a shipwreck, and a few disconsolate-looking vultures perched thereon.

THE CHILD.

When Mary sang to him, I wonder if
His baby hand stole softly to her lips,
And, smiling down, she needs must stop her song
To kiss and kiss again his finger tips.

I wonder if, his eyelids being shut,
And Mary bending mutely over him,
She felt her eyes, as mothers do to-day,
For very depth of love grew wet and dim.

Then did a sudden presage come to her
Of bitter looks and words and thorn-strewn street?
And did she catch her breath and hide her face
And shower smothered kisses on his feet?
—BERTHA GERNEAUX WOODS in Scribner's.

DANGER IN ANTI-FAT REMEDIES.

From Leslie's Weekly.

The newspapers tell of a man out in Indiana brought to the point of death as the result of the use of remedies for obesity. Two years ago the man weighed 350 pounds. He began to take anti-fat remedies. He lost flesh rapidly, but impaired his constitution. Ulceration of the stomach and liver set in, and an Indianapolis specialist was called and said his death was only a matter of time. Anti-fat remedies, as a rule, are dangerous and should be avoided. The most effective and sensible remedies for obesity are exercise and proper diet. Massage, which has the same effect as exercise, in a degree, may also be recommended. But walking, horseback riding, or any other activity in the open air, if persisted in regularly, will not fail to reduce the flesh, and that in a normal and healthy way. If at the same time the patient will put himself on a simple diet, which may be prescribed by any physician, the desired result will be still further hastened.

OSTRICH FEATHERS.

From Chambers's Journal.

Ostrich feathers are exported chiefly from South Africa, and in very much smaller quantity from the Barbary States and Egypt. They are packed in large cases, which are covered with canvas ("gunnies") and securely wired. They are sealed in such a manner as to suggest that they contain gold rather than articles of merchandise. As a matter of fact, they are considered of such value as to be treated in certain respects like the yellow metal. Freight is charged, as on specie, so much per cent. on their value; in some instances the rate is very high. The old catch, "Which is heavier—a pound of gold or a pound of feathers?" does not, therefore, apply in this case, for freight calculations are not made on the basis of the avoirdupois table. The Soudanese evidently understand their business, for their bundles are tied with superfluity of twine, and, with their instinct for color, they add what appears to be a perfectly unnecessary wrapping of gaudy paper, heavy with gilt. The explanation of this is simple, for the string and the paper both add to the weight. "Are they sufficiently civilized to put the faulty feathers in the middle?" the writer asked. In reply, he was shown the centre of a bundle where, neatly hidden from view, were several wizened feathers which no lady with proper self-respect would care to see in her fan. So it appears the wily children of the desert are just as wide awake as the London fruiterer who puts all the big strawberries on the top of his basket. As in strawberries so in feathers, the deception does not pay in the long run, for this propensity of the Soudanese is so well known that the market value of their goods suffers materially.

THE ORTHODOX RUSSIAN CHURCH.

From The Gentleman's Magazine.

The clergy of the Orthodox Russian Church are divided into Black or monks of St. Basil, and the White or parish priests. The latter must be married before they are ordained, and may not marry again, (which has led to the saying, "A priest takes good care of his wife, for he cannot get another,") while the monasteries, of course, require celibacy. From the latter the Bishops are elected, so that they—in contradistinction to their priests—must be single. This system is much condemned by the lower clergy, who ask pertinently, "How can a Bishop know the hardship of our lives? For he is single and well paid, we poor and married." The rule observed elsewhere, holds good in Russia, the poorer the priest the larger the family. Few village priests receive any regular stipend, but are allowed a plot of land in the commune wherein they minister. This allowance is generally from thirty to forty desiatines, (80 to 108 acres,) and can only be converted into money, or food products, by the labor of the parsen and his family upon it—very literally must they put their hand to the plow. Priests are paid for special services, such as christenings or weddings, at no fixed tariff, but at a sliding rate, according to the means of the payer, the price being arrived at by means of prolonged bargaining between the shepherd and his flock. Would-be couples often wait for months until a sum can be fixed upon with his reverence for tying the knot, and sometimes, by means of daily haggling, the amount first asked can be reduced by one-half, for the cost of the ceremony varies—according to the social status of the happy pair—from 10 to 100 rubles. Funerals, too, are at times postponed for most unhealthy periods during this process. Generally, however, the White clergy are so miserably poor that they cannot be blamed for making the best market they can for their priestly offices. Whether the system or the salary be at fault, it is hard to say, but from whatever cause the fact remains that the parish clergy of the villages are not always all they might be; there are many among them who lead upright lives and gain the respect of their parishioners, but it would be idle to deny that there are many whose thoughts turn more to vodka than piety, the kabak than the Church. Such shepherds have but little in common with the best elements of their flocks, and much with the worst, in whose company they are generally seen.

OBSERVANCE OF SUNDAY.

From Chambers's Journal.

There are many English laws extant relative to the due observance of Sunday. Most of the old sumptuary acts have a clause laying down regulations about the special clothes to be worn on Sundays and holidays. By an act of the year 1603 a fine is authorized to be levied on the goods of all persons absenting themselves from church on Sunday. The last successful case under this act was heard in the year 1864, Isaac Walton, not the "compleat angler," but a less famous namesake, was fined for refusing to attend church at the request of his mistress, and there is an instance on record of a boy causing his mother to be fined for the same offense. According to law, no one is allowed to take a drive in his carriage on a Sunday without getting a certificate stating that he has urgent business to perform. Prosecutions for Sunday trading have been brought at the instance of the Sunday Closing Society; so perhaps it is worthy of note that a private gentleman may sell a horse on Sunday, but a horse dealer may not.

THE SYBARITE IN THE COLD.

From The Cornhill.

So much has been written of the Eskimo ("husky") dogs and dog sleds of the north that they may well be mentioned here, if only to show the idea of luxury which many of the factors and traders of the Hudson's Bay Company entertain. Seated, or, rather, reclining, in his cariole, swathed in furs, he is driven by an engagé on foot, who dashes along at a great pace. The cariole is painted gaudily; there are Russian bells on the collars of each of the long span of dogs, while the harness is a mass of headwork and tassels. No longer, when he lodges at night at a post, does he partake solely of the simpler fare it can furnish, nor even when he camps out in the wilderness must he be content with what his gun can bring down, in addition to the pemmican he carries. For now, either under the cariole seat or in an additional sled behind, there is found a good supply of canned meats and vegetables products of Chicago and Ontario, and, moreover, his driver is his cook. In the open a fire will be deftly kindled, tea will be made, bacon, and even eggs, will be fried, and hot "flap jacks," that delectable fritter of the bush, half an inch thick and swimming in grease and molasses, will tickle the factor's palate. At night, enveloped in his furs, and maybe reposing on a hastily constructed bed of balsam boughs, the last vision before his eyes close upon the scenes of dreamland will be the scintillating splendors of the aurora borealis, whose surpling waves alternate with bars of vivid light so rapidly and in such volume as to make the beholder almost believe that nature speaks, maugre the silence—all-penetrating—all-pervading.

THE EARLY "PENNY IN THE SLOT."

From Good Words.

Barely fifteen years can have elapsed since the automatic coin-in-the-slot machine first appeared in public places to supply customers with cigarettes, matches, chocolates, sweetmeats, stationery, &c.; while in its latest phase this contrivance—in conjunction with a lighted street lamp—has been made available for the automatic purveyance of hot water and hot drinks. Surely, it may be thought, this extremely utilitarian invention can only have been due to the ingenuity of the present generation; and it is, therefore, startling to learn that the automatic machine is one of the oldest projects in everyday use, since it was known a century before Christ, being the invention of that great mathematician, Hero of Alexandria, who flourished B. C. 117-81.

Hero invented what he termed a "sacrificial vessel which flows only when money is introduced," and a full description of this apparatus is contained in his famous treatise on pneumatics, reissued by Thevenot, royal librarian to Louis XIV. of France, in the year 1692. "If into certain sacrificial vessels a coin of five drachms be thrown, water or wine shall flow out and surround them," so runs the postulate. The explanation of the mechanism inside the vase was very simple; the vessel contains another holding the wine, and near to the latter is placed a vertical rod about which turns a well-balanced beam. When the coin is dropped through the slot it falls on one end of this horizontal beam, which, being depressed, opens a valve suspended from a chain at the other end, and the wine commences to flow out through a pipe.

THE FEATHER FASHION.

From The Humane Review.

Here is a passage from a pamphlet reprinted a couple of years ago from The Times:

"One of the commonest as well as the saddest sights in London is the elderly lady taking her airing in a carriage or bath chair in Hyde Park or some other public place; in appearance so bent and discolored and wasted with age and many infirmities as to remind the spectator of a corpse, her bowed head crowned with white egrets' feathers torn from birds that were slaughtered when feeding their young! To a man who has any love of nature, and of nature's most beautiful children, such a spectacle is ghastly and repulsive in the extreme; he remembers that he once had a mother, and is glad to think that she passed away a long time ago; since if she had lived down to within recent years she might not have escaped the contagion of this hateful fashion among women."

This is a sample of the severe things that have been said to me and by scores of writers in England and America; and these things have been printed and reprinted in journals and as leaflets and pamphlets, and have been blown like thistledown all over the kingdom and over the English-speaking world, so that no woman is ignorant of what has been said; and it has produced no effect. That is to say no appreciable effect; the few women here and there who refuse to wear feathers, even when assured by the smug liars of the millinery establishments that they are artificial and not birds' feathers at all, are probably regarded as eccentrics by their sisters. Feathers still decorate and degrade the majority of women of all ages, and of all social grades, from the poorest dwellers in the slums to the Duchess and the daughter of a hundred Earls, and the one wife of the saintly and eloquent ecclesiastic who is one of our church dignitary and a Lord. Unhappily, he does not make use of his eloquence, and high position to put an end to the acted blasphemy witnessed each week in every church in his diocese, when the fair worshippers, adorned with spoils torn from the slain children of the air, and each one bowing her head to flutter those feathers not her own, accompanies her own pastor with a pure heart and humble voice unto the throne of heavenly grace, saying after him, week by week, year by year, all her life long, so many sacred beautiful words, words, words.

VERSES WRITTEN IN A GIFT COPY OF MR. LOWELL'S POEMS.

If here, sweet friend, no verse you find
To wake far echoes in the mind,
No reach of passion that can stir
Your chords of deeper character,
Let it suffice if here and there
You seem to snuff New England air
And give a kindly thought to one
Who in our ampler Western sun
Finds no such sunshine as he drew
In London's dreariest fogs from you.
—JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL in The Atlantic.

IRISH FUNERALS.

From The Cornhill.

Humor follows an Irishman even to his grave. With advancing civilization the glories of wakes have become a thing of the past, though they are still living who can remember "his Honor's" funeral, and how they waked him three days dressed in his best for the admiration of an admiring tenantry, who crowded into the "corpse house," and, while the hearse was waiting at the door, seized the coffin and ran away with it helter skelter, down the drive, and past the lodge where the disconsolate widow was sitting on a chair placed on a table in the window, and combing her hair for consolation, while she waited to see the funeral cortège pass. That is now ancient history, but the present day is not devoid of humor. "Michael Ryan begs to inform the public that he has a large stock of cars, waggonettes, brakes, hearses, and other pleasure vehicles for sale or hire," runs an advertisement in a local paper, the same paper which, in a glowing description of a funeral, announced that "Mrs. B. of C— sent a magnificent wreath of artificial flowers in the form of a cross."

INDIVIDUAL RESISTANCE IN DISEASE.

From The Contemporary Review.

Variations in severity of symptoms depend on the varying violence of the attack and the varying capacity of resistance. Dr. Durham dismisses the former on account of "our scanty knowledge of the laws which govern the variations of the parasite." This well-founded admission reveals a gap in the very foundations of bacteriology, sufficient to render the entire edifice of doubtful stability; but let that pass. More is known about the effect of resisting power in individuals. It may be due to specific immunity acquired by a previous attack or transmitted from a parent, or it may consist in a natural refractoriness. Several classes of persons may be distinguished, all capable of harboring specific organisms without showing any recognizable signs of it. One very important class is formed by those who have had an attack and recovered, but in whom the specific micro-organisms remain for an indefinite time. Dr. Durham mentions diphtheria, enteric fever, and plague. The bacilli of all these diseases have been found in patients weeks and months after their apparent complete recovery. Dr. Klein has recorded the same thing of scarlet fever. This is in keeping with a pretty common occurrence. A child has diphtheria or scarlet fever, and is sent to the hospital. In due course it is sent home quite well, but at once, or perhaps after a time, other children in the same house take the disease. Then there is an outcry about "premature discharge." The same thing happens in private houses. One person suffers from some infectious illness, and is shut off from the other inmates, who remain quite well. The patient recovers and returns to ordinary life, and presently some one else takes the disease.

A second class consists of those who, having never had a previous attack, are exposed to infection and take it, but in so slight a form as to escape notice. The most familiar examples of this are furnished by diphtheria and plague. The most trifling of sore throats and a slightly enlarged gland may represent these formidable diseases, respectively. A third class—or perhaps it is only a difference of degree—is formed by those in whom the infective agent lodges, but remains wholly inactive. Here again diphtheria, which has been more carefully studied in this connection than any other disease, furnishes examples. Virulent cultures of diphtheritic bacilli have been obtained from healthy children.

TOBACCO TONGS.

From Notes and Queries.

In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries a pair of tongs, a supply of juniper wood, and a wooden block for shredding the tobacco upon were part of a smoker's outfit. The tongs, of course, enabled the lover of the "Right Trinidado" to light his "Woodcock's Head" (a kind of pipe) at the "ordinary" fire or at the apothecary's brazier. During the reign of James I. the tobacco trade was carried on by the apothecaries.

Dececker, in his "Gull's Horn-Book," (1609,) says the gallants of his time lighted their pipes with live coals, and that the tongs in use were made of gold or silver. I cannot conclude this note without referring to Jonson's "Alchemist." In this play Face, speaking of Druggur, says:

He has maple block, silver tongs,
Winchester pipes, and fire of juniper.

THE SHINIEST DIME.

One little girl had five little dimes:
She had counted them over a good many times,
And again and again she had left her play
To plan how to spend them for Christmas Day.

For papa and mamma and baby boy
And grandpa and grandma would all enjoy
Her little gifts as much as a score
Of other presents that cost far more.

Four of the dimes were dull and old,
But one was shining and new, I'm told;
And once the little girl said to a friend,
"This new one is almost too pretty to spend."

At last the Christmas shopping was done;
The dimes were spent, yes, every one;
And Annette seemed the happiest girl alive
As she hurried home with her parcels five.

She had a secret for mother's ear.
"I bought a nice present for papa dear,
And for grandpa and grandma and baby, too;
But I spent the shiniest dime for you!"
—JESSIE L. BRITTON in St. Nicholas.

THE BLIND MAN'S DOG.

From The Cornhill.

The blind men's dogs do not appear in English paintings earlier than the reign of Anne, and Dr. Caius mentions them not. In London they form a large and most intelligent part of the very few dogs which earn a living or help their masters to do so. The manner of their education, which is highly specialized, must have puzzled many persons who have seen them resolutely guiding their poor master to his stand, or back to his home, along crowded pavements and over the cross streets, never passing these when a cab is about to turn up them, and sometimes barking their disproval if a cart turns without warning too near their charge. I find that many of these dogs are taught by a half-blind man, who makes this part of his humble livelihood. And "this he does," as Herodotus says, "in a way I am not at liberty to mention." It would not be right to divulge his educational system. But many are taught by the blind men themselves, especially if they have not always been blind, and remember the streets and turnings. A young dog is taken out with the old dog, and soon imitates him by pulling on the string in front of the man. Then he is told not to go off the pavement, and to be careful in crossing side streets. The blind men ask for human help when crossing the main streets, but otherwise trust to the dog. Their duty is to take their master out in the morning, and to take him home again. The latter they learn with no difficulty, going straight to the house door.

One particularly clever blind man's dog, who takes his master every day from near Fulham gasworks to the Brompton Road and home again, is only four years old. His master buys his provisions every evening on the way home, and this dog takes him to the shops he deals with. When told to go to the baker's, he takes his master to the shop, and when told to go to the grocer's, he does so without fail. His birthday was on Dec. 14 last, and his blind master presented him with three birthday cakes, one for each year he had served him.

AUTOMOBILES FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

From The American Automobile.

There are oil wells in the islands, and some foreign capitalists are already securing an abundance of oils and shipping the same to the market for sale. These oils are good in quality and would do for oil-burning motors of automobiles. There is much illuminating oil shipped here from Russia, but the price per gallon is costly, being about triple American values. Naphtha and other power producing liquids for horseless vehicles can now be purchased in any desired quantities in Manila or Iloilo.

The steamers which are coming into port now are bringing in immense cargoes of machinery supplies, such as nuts, bolts, set screws, small tools, carpenter's tools, metal working devices, and supplies of rod iron, sheet metal, &c. All of these things were formerly very scarce and costly. What there was here were mostly from Spanish sources, and the tools and supplies of Spain are inferior. I have taken a Spanish wrench and twisted the jaws off with little pressure. Good American tools with the proper stock in them and finished by trained machinists, instead of apprentices, are what are needed here. Now that these tools and machinery supplies are arriving in liberal quantities, the responsibilities of the makers of horseless vehicles are reduced, for these parties need only see to it that the men who handle their machines in these islands are provided with the special parts of the machines which may need renewal. Every horseless vehicle sent here ought to be provided with duplicate parts. I have seen a good machine stalled for want of a spiral spring of peculiar pattern which could not be replaced. It must be remembered that it requires three or four months and often longer to get a new part from America, and the funny part of it is that when a piece of the mechanism of the vehicle breaks down, the native owner labors under the impression that the machine is disabled for good. He does not seem to know that the machinery can be renewed in any fractured or worn portion, and he will store the vehicle away until some one tells him different. If horseless vehicle makers had a representative on the ground to be responsible for the machine, troubles of this sort would be avoided.

THE CHACMA BABOON.

From The Spectator.

Two officers escaping from Pretoria were about to cross a river, when they saw on the opposite bank a troop of these baboons coming down to drink. They were so sensible of the danger of irritating these beasts, or of making the troop utter their barka and yelps of alarm, that they remained for two hours up to their necks in water until the troop retired. Some surprise was expressed that the officers should pay regard to "a troop of monkeys." Any one who shares this feeling may see at the Zoo, probably for the first time in fifteen years, a full-grown male Chacma. A soldier writing home from the front described a locust as "something between a bird and a fly." This baboon is "something between a monkey and a bear." Its head, shoulders, tusks, and muscles show immense strength, and its size is greater than the measurements given in a recent work on South African mammals. It is 3 feet 8 inches long from the nose to the end of the body, and when it stands upright its head is 4 feet 4 inches from the ground. The baboons have maintained their place in South Africa against all enemies, including man, and are likely to do so for some years to come.

Travelers' Guide—Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

STATIONS FOOT OF WEST TWENTY-THIRD STREET AND DESBROSSES AND CORTLANDT STREETS.

☞The leaving time from Desbrosses and Cortlandt Streets is five minutes later than that given below for Twenty-third Street Station, except where otherwise noted.

7:55 A. M.—FAST MAIL.—Limited to two Buffet Parlor Cars New York to Pittsburg. Sleeping Car Pittsburg to Chicago. No coaches to Pittsburg.
9:25 A. M.—FAST LINE.—Pittsburg and Cleveland.
9:55 A. M.—PENNSYLVANIA LIMITED.—Pullman Compartment Sleeping, Dining, Smoking, and Observation Cars. For Chicago, Cleveland, Toledo, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Louisville, St. Louis.
1:55 P. M.—CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS EXPRESS.—For Toledo, Nashville, (via Cincinnati and Louisville,) Indianapolis, Chicago, St. Louis. Dining Car.
3:55 P. M.—ST. LOUIS EXPRESS.—For Pittsburg, Indianapolis, Louisville, St. Louis. Dining Car.
5:55 P. M.—WESTERN EXPRESS.—For Chicago. For Toledo, except Saturday. Dining Car.
7:55 P. M.—PACIFIC EXPRESS.—For Pittsburg and Chicago. For Knoxville, daily, via Shenandoah Valley Route. Connects for Cleveland except Saturday.
8:25 P. M.—CLEVELAND AND CINCINNATI EXPRESS.—For Pittsburg, Cleveland, Cincinnati.

WASHINGTON AND THE SOUTH.

7:55, 8:25, 8:55, 10:10 (Desbrosses and Cortlandt Streets, 10:20) (Dining Car,) 10:55 (Dining Car) A. M., 12:55, 12:55 (Dining Car) 2:10 (Desbrosses and Cortlandt Streets, 2:20,) (3:25 "Congressional Lim.," all Parlor and Dining Cars,) 3:25, 4:25 (Dining Car,) 4:55 (Dining Car,) 8:25 P. M., 12:10 night. Sunday, 8:25, 8:55, 10:55 (Dining Car) A. M., 12:55, 12:55 (Dining Car,) (3:25 "Congressional Lim.," all Parlor and Dining Cars,) 3:25, 4:25, (Dining Car,) 4:55, (Dining Car,) 9:25 P. M., 12:10 night.
SOUTHERN RAILWAY.—Express, 3:25, 4:25 P. M., 12:10 night daily.
NORFOLK AND WESTERN RAILWAY.—For Memphis and New Orleans, 3:25 P. M. daily.
ATLANTIC COAST LINE.—Express, 8:55 A. M. and 9:25 P. M. daily. Local, 9:40 A. M.
CHESAPEAKE & OHIO RAILWAY.—8:55 A. M. and 4:55 P. M. daily.
SEABOARD AIR LINE.—Express, 12:55 P. M. and 12:10 night daily.
ATLANTIC CITY.—9:55 A. M. and 2:55 P. M. week-days. Through Vestibuled Trains, Buffet Parlor Cars, and Standard Coaches.
CAPE MAY.—12:55 P. M. week-days.
Ticket offices Nos. 461, 945, 1,196, 1,354, 111, and 261 Broadway; 1 Astor House; West Twenty-third Street Station, and stations foot of Desbrosses and Cortlandt Streets; 4 Court Street, 860 Fulton Street, 98 Broadway, and Pennsylvania Annex Station, Brooklyn; Station, Jersey City. The New York Transfer Company will call for and check baggage from hotels and residences through to destination. Telephone "914 Eighteenth Street" for Pennsylvania Railroad Cab Service.

J. B. HUTCHINSON, General Manager. J. R. WOOD, General Pass'r Agent.
9 12-6-1900.

NEW YORK CENTRAL

Trains arrive and depart from Grand Central Station, 42d Street, New York, as follows:

Leave New York.		Arrive New York.
*8:00 a. m.	Syracuse Local	6:25 p. m
†8:30 a. m.	Empire State Express	†10:00 p. m.
*8:45 a. m.	Fast Mail	*10:00 a. m.
†10:30 a. m.	Day Express	†7:00 p. m.
†11:30 a. m.	Rutland Express	†7:00 p. m.
*1:00 p. m.	Southwestern Limited	*6:30 p. m.
*2:00 p. m.	N. Y. & Chicago Special	*1:30 p. m.
†3:30 p. m.	Albany & Troy Flier	†11:10 a. m.
*3:35 p. m.	Albany Special	2:00 p. m.
*4:00 p. m.	Detroit Special	*10:00 a. m.
*5:30 p. m.	The Lake Shore Limited	6:30 p. m

FINANCIAL.

Hanover National Bank
Capital $3,000,000. Surplus and profits, $5,000,000.
9 and 11 Nassau St.

Central National Bank
320 Broadway.

The Nassau Bank
Corner Beekman and Nassau Streets.

Colonial Trust Company
CAPITAL, SURPLUS, AND UNDIVIDED PROFITS, $1,800,000.00.
ST PAUL B'LD'G. 222 B'way.

Washington Trust Company
Stewart Building, 280 Broadway.

Bankers' Cards.

KOUNTZE BROTHERS,
BANKERS,
Broadway & Cedar St., NEW YORK,
BUY AND SELL
Investment Securities.
Receive accounts of Corporations, Firms and Individuals on favorable terms.
Make loans against approved collateral.
LETTERS OF CREDIT.

DOUGLAS & JONES,
Members New York Stock Exchange.
ESTABLISHED 1886.
24 Broad St., New York City.
STOCKS AND BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD ON COMMISSION AT THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE AND CARRIED ON MARGIN.
Daily Market Letter on Application.
CORRESPONDENCE INVITED.

HENRY CLEWS & CO.,
BANKERS,
11, 13, 15, and 17 Broad St.
MEMBERS N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.
Orders executed for investment or on margin. Interest allowed on deposits, subject to check at sight. Act as Financial Agents for Corporations and Investors. Industrial Combinations Organized. Government and other Investment Bonds bought and sold.
BRANCH OFFICES:
22 W. 23d St., cor. Waldorf. 252 5th Av., cor. 25th St. 487 B'way, 5th Av. Bldg. 56 Worth. 39 Thomas St. 57 Hudson St., Mere. Ex. 1 16 Court St., Brooklyn.

Ohio Southern 1st Mtge Ctfs.
WANTED.
G. Sidenberg & Kraus,
BANKERS & BROKERS,
20 BROAD ST., NEW YORK.
Members N. Y. Stock Exch. Telephone 1904 Cort.

SIMON BORG & CO.,
BANKERS,
No. 20 Nassau St., New York
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.

Henry J. Wardwell. Edward L. Adams.
Telephone 3213 Broad.
WARDWELL & ADAMS,
STOCK BROKERS,
16 BEAVER ST., NEW YORK.
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
Stocks, Bonds, & Investments

I. F. MEAD T. H. CURTIS.
I. F. MEAD & CO.,
44 & 46 BROADWAY, N. Y.
Twenty-five years' membership in N. Y. Stock Exchange.
STOCKS AND BONDS
Bought and Sold for Cash or on Margin.

P. J. Goodhart & Co.,
Dealers in
Bank & Trust Co. Stocks
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
38 WALL STREET.

JACOB BERRY & CO.
MEMBERS OF THE CONSOLIDATED STOCK EXCHANGE.
Established 1865.
41 AND 43 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.
Strictly a commission house, working in the interest of our clients and executing all orders upon the exchanges. Send for our new book describing market movements, also fluctuation sheets and Market Reports. COMMISSION 1-16.

Established 1868. Tel. call, 2385 Cortlandt.
FRED. H. SMITH,
STOCK BROKER, 8 BROAD ST., N. Y.
Member New York Con. Stock Exchange.
Stocks, Bonds and Grain.
Bought, sold, and carried on margin.
COMMISSION 1-16TH.
Book of Railway Statistics upon application.

FINANCIAL.

LAST OPPORTUNITY to secure Treasury Stock of THE
"TRIPLER LIQUID AIR COMPANY"
at $7.00 a share—(par value $10), full paid and non-assessable.
BOOKS CLOSE DEC. 18TH.
This company was awarded the "Grand Prix" at PARIS; its patents in the United States and in all foreign countries are BROAD, FUNDAMENTAL, EXCLUSIVE and UNASSAILABLE.
It has placed the manufacture and use of Liquid Air on a commercial basis as a motive power for Automobiles and Engines, Refrigeration, Chemical agent and aid to surgery. Its rapid and increasingly profitable development all over the civilized world is unquestionably a matter of the near future.
THIS COMPANY ABSOLUTELY CONTROLS THE WHOLE LIQUID AIR FIELD.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.
25% cash; balance in 3 monthly payments. No order filled for less than TWENTY shares.
Make all checks payable to
GERALD M. FENNELL & COMPANY,
Fiscal Agents for the United States,
11 Broadway, New York.
Orders filled at 87, if mailed by the 18th.

Bankers' Trust Co. of N.Y.
10 WALL STREET.
Capital & Surplus, $3,000,000.
OFFICERS:
George W. Ely, President.
Francis B. Leggett, } Vice Presidents
Louis V. Bright, }
Alfred H. Swayne, Secretary.
John B. Allen, Ass't Secretary.

MORTON TRUST CO.
38 NASSAU STREET.
Capital, Surplus & Undivided Profits, $5,000,000
Levi P. Morton, President. Thomas F. Ryan, V.-Pres.
James K. Corbiere, 2d V. P. H. Mc Francis, Sec.
W. Redmond Cross, Treas. H. B. Berry, Trust Officer.

BROWN BROTHERS & CO.,
NO. 59 WALL ST.,
ISSUE COMMERCIAL AND TRAVELERS' CREDITS AVAILABLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

Unlisted Securities a Specialty
DAVID PFEIFFER, 18 Wall St

MORTGAGE LOANS WANTED: $125,000; handsome well-rented corner property; appraised $200,000. BAKER, 105 Lexington Avenue.

WE LOAN MONEY TO MERCHANTS IN ANY kind of business, also on salaries, 150 Nassau St. Office 72d.

FINANCIAL.

To the Stockholders
OF THE
AMERICAN STEEL AND WIRE CO.
PROXIES.

At the request of the holders of a large amount of the preferred and common stocks of this company, we solicit the co-operation and support of all stockholders who desire the election of an efficient Board of Directors at the next annual meeting to be held on the 21st day of February, 1901. We are prepared to receive proxies entitling us to vote stock at said meeting.

Blank forms of proxies can be obtained at our office.

WELLES, HERRICK & HICKS,
15 Wall St., New York.

Reports of State Banks.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF THE STATE BANK
at the close of business on the 4th day of December, 1900:

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts		$2,600,692.39
Overdrafts		727.25
Due from trust companies, banks, bankers, and brokers	$63,368.81
Due from approved reserve agents	199,648.05	263,016.86
Banking house and lot	35,000.00
Other real estate	82,929.50	117,929.50
Mortgages owned		67,628.75
Stocks and bonds		436,723.75
Specie		318,818.00
U. S. legal tenders and circulating notes of National banks		45,702.00
Cash items, viz.: Bills and checks for next day's exchanges	$166,049.51
Other items carried as cash	40,175.11	206,224.62
Assets not included under any of the above heads: Furniture and fixtures		2,500.00
		$4,049,963.12

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in, in cash	$100,000.00
Surplus fund	100,000.00
Undivided profits, less current expenses and taxes paid	188,946.48
Due depositors	3,633,410.05
Due trust companies, banks, bankers, brokers, and savings banks	2,604.59
Due Treasurer of the State of New York	25,000.00
	$4,049,963.12

State of New York, County of New York, ss.:
O. L. RICHARD, President, and A. I. VOORHIS, Cashier of the State Bank, a bank located and doing business at No. 378 Grand St., in the City of New York, in said county, being duly sworn, each for himself, says that the foregoing report, with the schedule accompanying the same, is true and correct in all respects, to the best of his knowledge and belief, and they further say that the usual business of said bank has been transacted at the location required by the banking law. (Chap. 689, Laws of 1892,) and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Superintendent of Banks designating the 4th day of December, 1900, as the day on which such report shall be made.
OSCAR L. RICHARD, President.
A. I. VOORHIS, Cashier.
Severally subscribed and sworn to by both deponents the 4th day of December, 1900, before me. LEONARD W. SIMMONS, [Seal of Notary.] Notary Public No. 87, New York County.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF THE BANK OF AMERICA,
at the close of business on the 4th day of December, 1900:

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts		$19,357,151.42
Overdrafts		2,552.35
Due from trust companies, banks, bankers, and brokers		1,387,006.11
Banking house and lot		900,000.00
Stocks and bonds		243,856.89
Specie		3,642,066.91
United States legal tenders and circulating notes of National banks		1,561,929.00
Cash items, viz.: Bills and checks for the next day's exchanges	$9,113,564.75
Other items carried as cash	76,087.97	9,190,252.72
		$36,284,815.41

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in in cash	$1,500,000.00
Surplus fund	2,250,000.00
Undivided profits, less current expenses and taxes paid	730,901.59
Due depositors	21,845,313.81
Due trust companies, banks, bankers, brokers, and savings banks	9,856,607.01
Unpaid dividends	1,993.00
	$36,284,815.41

State of New York, County of New York, ss.:
WILLIAM H. PERKINS, President, and WALTER M. BENNET, Cashier, of the Bank of America, a bank located and doing business at Nos. 44 and 46 Wall Street, in the City of New York, in said County, being duly sworn, each for himself, says that the foregoing report is true and correct in all respects, to the best of his knowledge and belief, and they further say that the usual business of said bank has been transacted at the location required by the banking law. (Chapter 689, Laws of 1892,) and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Superintendent of Banks, designating the fourth day of December, 1900, as the day on which such report shall be made.
WILLIAM H. PERKINS, President.
WALTER M. BENNET, Cashier.
Severally subscribed and sworn to by both deponents, the 6th day of December, 1900, before me. CHAS. D. CHICHESTER, [Seal of Notary.] Notary Public.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF THE WEST SIDE BANK
at the close of business on the 4th day of December, 1900:

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts		$2,387,648.30
Overdrafts		565.07
Due from trust companies, banks, bankers, and brokers		102,591.18
Real estate		32,006.86
Mortgages owned		21,700.00
Stocks and bonds		382,122.54
Specie		332,307.65
U. S. legal tenders and circulating notes of National banks		399,864.00
Cash items, viz.: Bills and checks for the next day's exchanges	$302,960.83
Other items carried as cash	10,903.44	322,864.27
Total		$3,931,669.87

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in, in cash	$200,000.00
Surplus fund	250,000.00
Undivided profits, less current expenses and taxes paid	176,428.05
Due depositors	3,162,285.31
Due trust companies, banks, bankers, brokers, and savings banks	142,956.51
Total	$3,931,669.87

OFFICERS.
CHRISTIAN P. TIETJEN, President.
FREDERICK K. KELLER, Vice President.
CHARLES ROHE, 2d Vice President.
THEODORE M. BERTINE, Cashier.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Charles Rohe,	Thomas Stokes,
Joseph Eastman,	Joseph Stern,
Christian P. Tietjen,	Mayer Elsemann,
Frederick Beck,	Fred'k K. Keller,
Samuel D. Styles,	W. E. Pruden,
August Finck,	George Kärsch,
G. W. Miller,	S. W. Albro.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF THE PLAZA BANK
at the close of business Dec. 4, 1900.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts		$2,002,036.63
Overdrafts		823.13
Due from approved reserve agents		302,284.29
Stocks and bonds		61,912.50
Specie		42,341.92
U. S. legal tenders and circulating notes of National banks		177,670.00
Cash items, viz.: Bills and checks for the next day's exchanges	$121,115.06
Other items carried as cash	12,971.47	134,086.53
		$2,721,155.00

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in in cash	$100,000.00
Surplus fund	100,000.00
Undivided profits, less current expenses and taxes paid	75,885.85
Due depositors	$2,227,191.38
Due trust companies, banks, bankers, brokers, and savings banks	218,077.77
	2,445,269.15
	$2,721,155.00

State of New York, County of New York, ss.:
W. McMASTER MILLS, President, and C. W. PARSON, cashier, of the Plaza Bank, a bank located and doing business at No. 753 Fifth Avenue, in the City of New York, in said county, being duly sworn, each for himself, says that the foregoing report, with the schedule accompanying the same, is true and correct in all respects, to the best of his knowledge and belief, and they further say that the usual business of said bank has been transacted at the location required by the banking law. (Chap. 689, Laws of 1892,) and not elsewhere, and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Superintendent of Banks designating the 4th day of December, 1900, as the day on which such report shall be made.
W. McMASTER MILLS, President.
C. W. PARSON, Cashier.
Severally subscribed and sworn to by both deponents the 7th day of December, 1900, before me. E. M. CLARKE, [Seal of Notary.] Notary Public, New York County.

FINANCIAL.

Meetings and Elections.

Dry Dock, East Broadway and Battery Railroad Company,
New York, December 1st, 1900.
TO THE STOCKHOLDERS:
Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the DRY DOCK, EAST BROADWAY AND BATTERY RAILROAD COMPANY will be held at the office of the Company, in the Cable Building, 621 Broadway, New York, on the second Tuesday, the 8th day of January, 1901, at 12 o'clock noon, for the adoption or rejection of the by-laws adopted by the Directors of the Company on the 18th day of June, 1900, for action on a motion to reduce the number of Directors to nine (9,) and for the election of Directors and three Inspectors of Election.
CHARLES E. WARREN, Secretary.

OFFICE OF THE AMERICAN COAL COMPANY,
No. 1 Broadway,
New York, December 7th, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of the American Coal Company of Allegany County, Maryland, will be held at the Company's office in the City of New York, on Thursday, the 27th day of December, 1900, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock P. M.
The transfer books will be closed on December 17th, at 3 o'clock P. M., and reopened on the morning of December 28th, 1900.
GEO. M. BOWLBY, Secretary.

THE CHEMICAL NATIONAL BANK OF NEW YORK.
Dec. 10, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this bank for the ensuing year will be held at the banking house, No. 270 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, on TUESDAY, the 8th day of January, 1901, between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock P. M.
FRANCIS HALPIN, Cashier.

The Western National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
New York, 7th December, 1900.
The Annual Meeting of the stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Directors, will be held at the Banking House, No. 15 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 8th, 1901. The Polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M.
H. A. SMITH, Cashier.

The Mechanics' National Bank
of the City of New York,
Dec. 8th, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house, No. 33 Wall St., on Tuesday, January 8th, 1901, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
G. W. GARTH, Cashier.

The Bank of New York,
National Banking Association,
New York, December 7th, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 48 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 8th, 1901.
The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
CHAS. OLNEY, Cashier.

UNION SQUARE BANK,
8 Union Square.
The annual election for Directors and Inspectors of Election for the ensuing year will be held Tuesday, December 11th, 1900, at the banking house, between the hours of 1 P. M. and 3 P. M.
JACOB W. SCHEU, Cashier.

The Hanover National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
New York, December 7th, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house, 9 and 11 Nassau Street, on Tuesday, January 8th, 1901, between the hours of 12 o'clock M. and 1 o'clock P. M.
WILLIAM LOGAN, Cashier.

The National Bank of the Republic,
New York, December 7th, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house on Tuesday, January 8th, 1901, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
C. H. STOUT, Cashier.

Dividends.

DIVIDEND NO. 28.
THE RIO GRANDE WESTERN RAILWAY CO. will pay the regular quarterly dividend, No. 28, of ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS ($1.25) per share, February 1st, 1901, to PREFERRED stockholders of record December 31st. Checks will be mailed.
WALTER HINCHMAN, Treasurer.
December 8, 1900.

Copartnership Notices.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE partnership firm of BACHRACH & FARBER of 56 East 8th St., New York City, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. Dated New York, Dec. 8, 1900.

UNION PACIFIC LITIGATION.

Important Evidence in the Suit Against the Company by the Nebraska Attorney General.

Special to The New York Times.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 8.—Important evidence has been adduced in the taking of testimony at Union Pacific headquarters, at Omaha, by Referees Smith and Duffie, acting for the Supreme Court of Nebraska, in the hearing of the case wherein the Attorney General of the State has brought suit against the Union Pacific for $635,000, penalties said to be due to the State because of the violation of the maximum-rate law by the railroad company.

In this testimony the railroad company has allowed evidence to go before the court showing that it owns the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, as well as the Union Pacific Fuel Company, which operates the Rock Springs, Hanna, and other coal mines in Wyoming.

The evidence taken shows that the Union Pacific Company is paying good dividends, and is in a very prosperous condition. Four per cent. dividends have been paid on preferred stock, and 3½ per cent. on common stock.

Information brought out in this suit will be of value in framing legislation affecting railroads. Two points that will be thoroughly explained will be the cost of transportation of through and local freight, and the per centage of local freight carried as related to the entire volume of business.

The representatives of the company have asked for time to consult Eastern parties interested in the suit, and this has been given to them.

VICTORY FOR UNDERWRITERS.

New Orleans Cotton Men Agree to Comply with Rules.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8.—Hereafter cotton will probably be handled in New Orleans in strict accordance with the rules of the insurance companies. Trouble between the insurance companies and the compress and warehouse men has existed for many years. Two weeks ago it was discovered that nearly every compress in New Orleans had thrown caution to the winds, and the underwriters decided to cancel all policies. Still, a few companies refused to comply with rules which provide for the covering of cotton with tarpaulins and prohibit crowding the yards.

Then bankers came to the aid of the insurance companies and announced that loans and advances made to the cotton men would be withdrawn if peace was not quickly restored, and the cotton men gave in. To-day every press and warehouse force in the city is at work clearing up and otherwise complying with the rules of the underwriters.

Receiver for Street Railroad.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 8.—Mrs. Mary J. McCampbell, a minority stockholder of the Fountain Head Street Railroad Company, has secured the appointment of a temporary receiver for the Fountain Head Railroad Company and the Fountain City Land Company. The petitioner alleges the companies are insolvent, owing about $313,000; that Borgfeldt & Co. of New York are the principal owners, and that the profits of the railroad company are being used to liquidate claims against the land company.

Proposal to Consolidate Coal Mines.

CANAL DOVER, Ohio, Dec. 8.—Plans are being perfected for the consolidation of more than twenty different coal companies in Tuscarawas County. A New York syndicate is purchasing the mines outright, and it is said the deal will involve two or three million dollars. Negotiations are said to be under way for mines on the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling, Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroads, the Panhandle and the Tuscarawas Branch of the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad.

Proposed Ice-Crushing Boats.

DULUTH, Minn., Dec. 8.—Capt. B. B. Inman of this city will leave to-day for Montreal, where he will on next Wednesday explain before the Chamber of Commerce of that city his proposed ice-crushing boat. Capt. Inman claims that with this new craft it will be possible to keep navigation open on the Great Lakes the year around. The proposed boats will not be simply ice breakers. They will be able to do a general passenger and freight transportation business.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION

Wall Street's week has not been altogether agreeable. While no grave news events have intervened—while, in fact, most business developments have been positive in their encouraging character—the stock list has been pretty well shaken up. In the railway list there has been relatively small discomfort, many important properties actually scoring gains; but it has been different with the industrials. Sugar Trust is down over half a dozen points, while Rubber Trust and the others of less magnitude have broken substantially, the iron and steel stocks being especial sufferers, with Tennessee Coal falling below 57, as compared with over 70 only a week or so ago.

Explanatory of the trust stock recessions there is nothing that has general bearing. The closest approach appeared in hysterical forecasts of the President's message, it being proclaimed in advance that the President was to arraign every capital combination and urge such Congressional action as would lead forthwith practically to the extermination of capitalized properties. Though the message, when it appeared, was not at all in the predicted strain of savagery, the professional speculators of the Stock Exchange abated not one jot of their aggressiveness against the whole list of industrial issues. Very clearly evidenced from the start, indeed, was the fact that the market was not being put under pressure because of any specific reasons, but that "reasons" were being evolved merely to account for the pressure.

No doubt at any time can have been entertained by fair observers as to the character of the operations dominating the industrial part of the market. They have been wholly professional, have emanated entirely from professional traders who, having sold their holdings right after election, have ever since been nagging at quotations in the hope that a break could be induced whereby stocks might be bought at cheaper prices than were naturally ruling. Some developments came along helpful to this bear plan of campaign, that of most conspicuousness being in a stock-jobbery row between some of the insiders of the Steel and Wire Trust. The fact gets scant attention that what was most serious in that difficulty has since been amicably arranged; what the raiding traders declare loudly and continually is that all the iron and steel stocks ought to suffer because Wire Trust insiders are suspicious of one another.

At the end of the week the misery purveyors centred all their forces on money market forebodings. They figure out grave calamity for the whole business world because, they say, there is likely to be at least one or two days of stringency in call loans between this and New Year's. The reason they count upon this is, they urge, that long lists of big corporations will be obliged to raise funds wherewith to prepare for interest and dividend disbursements at the first of the year—especial stress being put upon the fact that this list of corporations is now enormously larger than ever hitherto. This sort of thing is what Wall Street classes in its vocabulary as an "argument." Preparations to distribute to the public tens of millions of dollars beyond every past New Year's precedent—such is the sanitarium logic. Strange, is it, that effect can result? Result it does—and the Stock Exchange record of the past week makes the showing of it. And meanwhile the banks in Wall Street are lending money under 5 per cent. for three months and six months, while even for a year the charge is materially below the legal interest rate.

At times during the past week there appeared what seemed to be free selling of stocks here for foreign account. It is also much announced that securities in large volume are now arriving from the other side, representing recent sales by European holders. Most of these announcements come, however, from the same sources that are so industrious in the issue of bear bulletins for the future. Seeking continually for some excuse for worry, they can manufacture "facts" when facts are scarce. Opposed to the professional pessimism is testimony coming from practically every important banking house having international connections—testimony that European investors are newly disposed toward our securities favorably, and that stocks and bonds sold during the past decade (and during the period there has been a clearing up of American investments abroad by the wholesale) are likely now to be rebought. The recent election result establishes confidence in American financial integrity; and general business conditions here are in such splendid contrast with the situation throughout most of the rest of the world that the ultra selfish motives of the foreign investor must direct attention here, where on the basis of net return safe securities are selling far cheaper than the world's average.

It is a fashionable Wall Street view that stocks were sold largely in the recent activity by those important interests whose utterances have been uniformly bullish and continue so. Basis for this judgment is hard to find. Doubtless there was some letting go of stocks by prominent operators, but nothing exceptional, certainly nothing surprising and nothing naturally detrimental to the market's quality, could be thus involved. That Mr. Morgan, Mr. Vanderbilt, the Messrs. Rockefeller, and other financiers of character are confident that the country has entered upon an era of good times shows amply in a hundred ways. And only little minds, incapable of comprehending what such leaders aim at and accomplish, can entertain theories of the sort which in this connection industrious bear oracles are attempting to promote.

A natural result of the professional bear campaigning shows in an extended short interest. All the lesser traders of Wall Street have sold stocks they did not own.

COLORADO FUEL'S EARNINGS.

The strength of Colorado Fuel in the stock market yesterday was on buying following the publication of the earnings statement of the company for the month of October, showing net earnings of $254,936—an increase of $72,087 as compared with October, 1899. For the four months ending Oct. 31 net earnings totalled $920,019, while the bond interest, taxes, and preferred stock dividends for the entire year to June 30, 1901, call for only $601,790, leaving as a result of the four months' operations a surplus over all charges for the entire year of $318,229.

SATURDAY.

Stocks Irregular.

STOCK TRANSACTIONS.

	Shares.
Dec. 8	296,646
To date this year	119,017,904
Corresponding date last year	162,252,615

BOND TRANSACTIONS.

Dec. 8	$1,773,500
To date this year	$501,393,960
Corresponding date last year	$799,327,640

Money rate: Collateral loans on call, 4½ per cent.; at three months, 4½ per cent.; at six months, 4½@5 per cent. Commercial paper, sixty to ninety days, 4¼@4¾ per cent.

Net changes in stocks of one-half of 1 per cent. or more were:

Stocks Advanced.

Am. Ice	½	Federal Steel pf.	½
Am. Smelt & R.	⅞	Ft. W. & Rio Gr.	1½
Am. Steel & W.	1½	Gen. Elect.	¾
Am. Tin Plate	1¼	Int. Paper pf.	½
Col. Fuel & Iron	1½	N. Y. Air Brake	2½
Erie 1st pf.	½	N. Y., C. & St. L. 1st	½
Erie 2d pf.	1⅝	N. Y., C. & St. L. 2d	½
Federal Steel	1⅝	St. J. & G. I. 1st pf.	1⅝

Stocks Declined.

Am. Sugar Ref.	½	Met. Street Ry.	1
Am. Tobacco	½	M., St. P. & S. S. M.	2
Anaconda Copper	⅝	Nat. Biscuit	⅜
Ann Arbor pf.	⅝	Nat. Biscuit pf.	⅞
B'klyn Union Gas	3½	Nat. Tube	½
Chi. & Alton pf.	⅝	N. Y., C. & St. L. 2d pf.	⅜
Consol. Gas	1⅜	Pacific Coast	5
Cont. Tobacco	1	Pressed Steel Car	⅝
Cont. Tobacco pf.	1⅜	Pullman Co.	½
Den. & Rio Gr. pf.	½	St. J. & G. I.	⅝
Erie Tel. & Tel.	½	St. L. & S. W. pf.	⅝
Gt. North. pf.	¾	Sloss-Sheff. pf.	1
Int. Paper	½	Tenn. Coal & Iron	3⅝
Iowa Cent. pf.	1½	West. Union Tel.	1
L. E. & W. pf.	2½
Long Island	1

Net changes in bond quotations of 1 per cent. or more were:

Bonds Advanced.

Ann Arbor 4s	2	Kan. City & Pac. 1st	2
Ches. & Ohio. Ser. A.	2½	Mo. Pac. 3d 7s	1
Chi. & Ind. Coal Ry. 1st	1	Ore. Short Line 6s	1½

Bond Declined.

Peoria & Eastern Inc 1

YESTERDAY'S MARKET.

The stock market yesterday was weak in the early trading, professional selling appearing on the theory that the bank statement would be bad, and would induce to liquidation by weak holders. In this belief stocks were hammered aggressively and prices declined as a consequence, the greatest weakness appearing in the industrial list, Tennessee Coal and Iron being especially depressed, at one time falling nearly five points.

A surprise developed when the bank statement appeared. As the figures show, that statement was unfavorable, surplus reserves decreasing more than five millions and a loss in cash of six millions being reported. Yet, in the face of this, not only did no further declines appear, but substantial strength developed, prices rising sharply. Among the leaders were, in the industrial group, Federal Steel, Steel and Wire, Colorado Fuel, and American Tin Plate, and in the railroads, Atchison, Erie, St. Joseph and Grand Island, and Wheeling and Lake Erie. Federal Steel was favorably influenced by the semi-official assurance of a 5 per cent. dividend, while Wheeling and Lake Erie was bought on the report from Ohio that in the proposed consolidation of twenty coal companies in Tuscarawas County the Wheeling mines were to be taken in, and the products of all the mines handled by the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway.

Tennessee Coal's extreme weakness was credited to the persistent report that the next quarterly dividend would be passed—a report that officials say has no justification in fact.

Brooklyn Union Gas and Consolidated Gas were sold, apparently by insiders.

THE BANK STATEMENT.

The bank statement issued shortly before the close of business was generally what had been expected. Surplus reserves decreased $5,164,550, loans increased $1,944,400, specie decreased $4,090,600, legal tenders decreased $1,915,500, while deposits decreased $3,366,200. The loss in cash is explained by the shipments of money to the interior and by the demands from the Sub-Treasury.

The only surprising feature of the statement was the small increase shown in the loan account. In view of the fact that during the week the Third Avenue bond issue was arranged for and other special transactions were put through, the small increase was taken as showing that the buying of stocks for the greater part has been of an investment nature, the stocks being paid for outright.

The stock market previous to the publication of the statement had been weak under continued bear pressure, some specialties showing marked declines. Following the publication of the figures, however, a tone of decided strength developed, and closing prices were generally well above the low figures of the day, while in many instances net gains were recorded.

The week's averages of the banks compare as follows with the same date one and two years ago:

	1900.	1899.	1898.
Loans	$806,442,500	$682,159,800	$697,247,400
Deposits	861,044,700	748,078,000	789,525,800
Circulation	30,007,900	16,480,900	16,439,200
Specie	162,804,400	145,314,500	158,462,300
Legal tenders	58,157,900	50,241,700	56,017,100
Total res.	$220,962,300	$195,556,200	$214,479,400
Reserve req'd.	215,261,175	187,019,500	197,381,450
Surplus res.	$5,701,125	$8,536,700	$17,097,950

NO MONEY STRINGENCY.

Wall Street last week was much concerned over the money market outlook, many gruesome predictions being made to the effect that a stringency was at hand such as that which marked the close of last year. Prominent bankers were quoted—without authority, it now develops—as declaring their belief in much higher rates, and on the strength of these publications and because of the persistent doleful tales, there was much selling of stock in the stock market, chiefly for the short account. Representative bankers, quoted herewith, however, agree that there will be no stringency.

The President of one of the prominent National banks—Money will be active, but it will not be tight, and, assuredly, there will be no stringency. Write along the lines of easy money and you will not be far wrong.

President Nash of the Corn Exchange Bank—In view of the preparations for the very large January disbursements, it is altogether probable that you will see time money work higher, for the financial institutions will have to have a considerable amount of money to meet these disbursements. On the other hand, this very fact will make call rates easy, for the banks, with all this money on hand, will be glad to lend it out from day to day. For that reason I look for easy call rates.

President Van Norden of the National Bank of North America—I look for active money and legal rates, say, 5 per cent., for the rest of the month, after which rates will fall again, because of the extraordinary large amount of money to be released by the January disbursements. Whoever talks of a money stringency is merely talking nonsense.

President Parmly of the Phenix National Bank—Rates will hold firm for the rest of the year, but there will be plenty of money to go round, and there need be no fear of any tightness.

An officer of the Leather Manufacturers' National Bank—I see no prospects of tight money, but on the contrary look for comparatively easy rates until the end of the month, after which there will be so much money released that rates are bound to go lower. Of course, it may be that in the last day or two of this month there may be a sudden rise in money because of the disbursement preparations, but it will not be consequential.

Vice President Ogilvie of the Union Trust Company—I do not see how you can have dear money with the banks and trust companies having so large a supply of available funds. I do not look to see rates go any higher than at present, unless it be merely a temporary fluctuation.

An Officer of the United States Trust Company—There are no indications, nor are there any reasons, why rates should work any higher than they are at present. Of course preparations will have to be made for the January disbursements, but that will be done gradually and should not have a disturbing effect. There is, it is to be recalled, the money of out-of-town banks to be taken into consideration—this money always being drawn here by a 5 per cent. rate, or thereabout.

TWO REPRESENTATIVE VIEWS.

J. S. Bache, who has just returned from an extended trip abroad, speaking of his impressions, says:

"Returning from the other side, I would say that the important improvement in values here which has taken place since the election is viewed there with a feeling bordering on astonishment. European observers had become thoroughly convinced long before election that there was no possibility of the United States falling into the slough of Bryanism, and hardly seemed to have realized how much dread existed here. They were therefore not prepared for the very large advance in values, and have only commenced to realize that this advance is likely to be permanent.

"The result of the election hurles the silver question forever. There is no reason that I can see why American securities should not sell on the same basis as European ones, especially since we are buying foreign Government bonds for our own investment. It is therefore my belief that securities which are likely to be permanent as dividend payers are not too high, and that after a reaction commensurate with the terrific advance which we have had good securities will again do better.

"As far as the industrials are concerned, which are the only drag in the present market, it is not long before the good will become separated from the bad in the minds of people, and many of the preferred stocks of the better industrials are selling exceedingly low from an investment point of view. I was surprised to find that even foreign investors are commencing to take an interest in the preferred shares of the better class of our industrials. A slow but steady absorption of these preferred shares, now paying 6 and 7 per cent., by European investors is a likely development of the immediate future."

H. C. Davis of A. A. Housman & Co., who has been in London representing the Yerkes syndicate, which is to build the new underground railway in that city, says:

"In England they are feeling more and more friendly to American institutions and American securities. They recognize that the result of the Presidential election has eliminated for all time to come an element of uncertainty which has been hanging over our business world, and indirectly has affected the business of other countries. They believe that we are in for a long period of prosperity, and are great bulls on our stocks.

"As for our financial position, they simply resign themselves to the fact that financially, no less than commercially, we are a growing and a great power."

FOREIGN EXCHANGE SITUATION.

Discussing the foreign exchange situation C. Schumacher & Co. in their weekly review say:

During the first week of December the fluctuations in exchange closely followed the course of our money market, but at no time amounted to even as much as 1-32 per cent. until Thursday, when a strong buying movement of our stocks and bonds for London account led to a decline of something over 1-32 per cent. in sterling. A further decline took place Friday.

Continental bills, on the other hand, were remarkably steady. Reichsmarks even advanced about 1-32 per cent. during the week. The supply of commercial bills showed a decided falling off. The demand continues good, but still consists mostly of requirements in cover of returning stocks and bonds. Three European steamers, which arrived here Friday, are said to have some very large blocks of these securities on board, but, contrary to expectations, exchange does not seem to have been in the least affected by these large deliveries. Whether this must be attributed to the cover having been already provided beforehand or to the fears of a higher money market as a consequence of the return of such large blocks of our securities, it would be hard to say.

It may be remembered that we had a very sharp squeeze in money between the 15th and 20th of December of last year. In our present situation as compared to that of last year the principal difference is that while last year the squeeze took everybody by surprise and entirely unprepared, this year our borrowers have taken their precautions against it. Another difference probably also is in the large increase in the volume of our currency which has taken place during the year, estimated at about $180,000,000—part in gold and part in National bank-note circulation. The stock market and the money market are now the principal elements of influence in shaping the course of exchange.

PEORIA ROAD MORTGAGE BONDS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I notice in your statement of yesterday, headed "Peoria, Decatur and Evansville Second Mortgage Bonds Dropped," you say: "By the action of the Stock Exchange the stock bought yesterday has to-day no apparent market value." This appears to me to convey a wrong impression. The Stock List Committee do not make values of stocks or bonds. From time to time they list or strike off certain bonds and stocks for reasons which appear good and sufficient to themselves.

The position of the Peoria, Decatur and Evansville Railway is the same to-day as yesterday, except that its stock and second mortgage bonds cannot be quoted on the Stock Exchange lists. The road is at present operated by the Illinois Central Railroad, as agent for the purchaser. Suits have been brought, and are still pending in the Indiana and Illinois courts, to annul the sale of the road and restore it to its proper owners. Until these cases are decided by the courts the true value of the stock and bonds cannot be affected by any outside action.

E. CHAMBERLAIN.
New York, Dec. 8, 1900.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call, 4½ per

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Trading in the market for outside securities yesterday was light and prices were irregular. Most of the stocks that were prominent on the previous day maintained their strength, but elsewhere further recessions were noted. The stocks that were most traded in a week or so ago seemed to be more or less neglected, while the most active trading was had in issues which recently have not been prominent.

***

ELECTRIC BOAT, which showed such marked strength on Friday, advanced still further in both issues. The common stock sold as high as 25, and closed at 24¾ bid, a net gain of 1¾ points. The final bid for the preferred stock was 45, as on Friday, but sales of small lots of the preferred were made as high as 48. At the close not any of the issue was offered under 50.

***

CONSOLIDATED EQUIPMENT was rather dull, but closed with a slight net gain at 11⅝ bid.

***

COPPER STOCKS.—British Columbia Copper sold down to 19½ on light transactions and closed at 19 bid, a fractional net loss. Union Copper sold at 4⅝ and 4¾, and closed an eighth lower for the day at 4 bid. The other copper stocks were practically unchanged.

***

UNITED RAILWAYS OF ST. LOUIS preferred showed strength that was all the more notable by reason of the extreme weakness which appeared in the stock a couple of days ago. Sales of 400 shares or more were made at 65, an advance of 3 points over the best price of Friday. The bonds were traded in to the extent of about $25,000, and advanced from 83¼ to 84½, closing at the latter figure. Similarly, St. Louis Transit advanced to 18½ bid, a gain of three-quarters of a point.

***

NATIONAL CITY BANK stock sold, as on the previous day, at 495, but later was offered down sharply. At the close the best bid was 470, a decline of 25 points for the day.

***

STANDARD OIL, which has been advancing so rapidly of late, suffered a decline of about 15 points. At the close the best bid for the stock was 780.

***

DISTILLING OF AMERICA continued strong, but transactions in the stock were relatively small. The common stock sold again at 12⅝, and the preferred stock advanced to 26½. The latter issue closed at 25⅞ bid, a slight net gain.

***

Closing quotations yesterday, compared with those of the previous day, were as follows:

Industrial and Miscellaneous.

	Dec. 8. Bid.	Asked.	Dec. 7. Bid.	Asked.
Am. Agriculture Chem..	25	28	25	28
Am. Agricul. Chem. pf..	78	79	78	79
American Banknote	47	49	47	49
American Bicyle	6	7	6	7
American Bicycle pf.....	27	30	27	30
American Bicycle bonds.	75	77	75	77
American Bridge	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾
American Bridge pf.....	92¾	92¾	92¾	92¾
American Chicle	77	...	77	...
American Chicle pf.....	75	82	75	82
Am. Hide & Leather....	9½	10½	10½	11
Am. Hide & Leather pf.	37	40	38	40
Am. Hide & Leather bds.	90¾	91½	90¾	91½
*American Thread pf....	4	4½	4	4½
American Woolen	21¾	22	22	22¾
American Woolen pf.....	77	78½	77½	77½
Am. Typefounders	57	62	57	62
Anthracite Coal	8¾	9	8¾	9
Arlington Copper	7	...	7	...
British Columbia Copper.	19	19½	19¼	19½
British Exch. 3s.....	98	99	98	99
California Copper	1¾	1¾	1½	1¾
Cast-Iron Pipe.....	4¾	5¼	4¾	5¼
Cast-Iron Pipe pf.....	31	37	31	37
Central & So. Am. Tel..	102	104	102	104
Central Fireworks	22	25	22	24
Central Fireworks pf....	67	69	65	67
Compressed Air	46	48	47	48
Con. Ry. L. & P.	11¾	11¾	11½	12
Con. Rubber Tire.....	5	7	5	5
Con. Rubber Tire pf.....	25	32	25	32
Continental Tobacco deb.	104	106	104	106
Crucible Steel	16¾	17¾	16¼	17½
Crucible Steel pf.....	74	78	74½	75
Champ. Shipping	71	75	71	75
Dist. Co. of Am. tr rcts..	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾
Dist. Co. of Am. pf.....	25¾	26½	25¾	26
Electric Boat	24¾	25¾	24¾	25
Electric Boat pf.....	45	50	45	...
Electric Vehicle	19½	20	19½	20
Electric Vehicle pf.....	35	45	35	45
Electro-Pneumatic	2¾	3	2¾	4
Flemington Coal & Coke..	...	19	...	19
General Carriage	4¾	5¼	4¾	5¼
General Chemical	58	62	58	62
General Chemical pf.....	97½	99	97½	99
German Treasury 4s.....	100¾	100¾	100¾	100¾
Hall Signal.....	40	...	40	...
Havana Commercial	8½	9½	8½	9½
Havana Commercial pf...	42	...	42	46
Hudson River Tel.....	115½	119	115½	120
Illinois Transportation...	1	1½	1	1½
International Pump	27¾	28	27½	28¼
International Pump pf..	74½	75	74¼	75
International Silver pf..	35	40	35	40
Inter-State Oil	74¾	74¾	74¾	74¾
Iron Steamboat.....	2¾	4	2¾	4
Iron Steamboat bonds....	50	...	50	...
Kings Co. El. L. & P....	135	141	138	142
Lorillard pf.....	100	105	100	105
†Markeen Copper.....	1	2½	1	2½
Mex. Nat., Construc. pf..	12½	14½	12	14
Nat. Enamel & Stamp....	16¾	18	16½	18
Nat. Enam. & Stamp pf.	80	84	80	84
National Graenophone....	5	12	5	12
National Sugar.....	103	106	103	106
New England Transport.	3½	3¾	3½	3¾
N. Y. Transportation....	7	7½	7	7½
Otis Elevator	27	28	27½	28
Otis Elevator pf.....	88	88	88	88
Pitts., Bess. & Lake Erie.	28	28½	27½	28½
Retsof	32	...	32	...
Retsof bonds.....	78	85	78	85
Royal Baking Powder pf.	94	95	94	95
Royal Copper	11	12	11	12
Rubber Goods Mfg.....	30	30¾	30	30¾
Rubber Goods Mfg. pf....	80	81½	81	82
Safety Car Heat & Light.	120	122	120	122
St. Louis Transit	18¼	...	17¾	...
Seaboard Air Line 4s....	72½	73	72½	73½
Seaboard Air Line.....	11	11½	11	11½
Seaboard Air Line pf....	29	29½	28½	29½
Standard Coupler	30	40	30	40
Standard Coupler pf....	120	125½	120	125½
Southern Light & Trac...	30	32	30	32
Standard Oil of N. J....	780	795	780	800
Storage Power.....	11	13	11	13
Tennessee Copper	17	19	17	18½
Tel., Tel. & C. of A., $10 paid	3¾	4¼	3¾	4
Trenton Potteries.....	5	6	4	6
Trenton Potteries pf....	55	60	55	60
Union Copper	4¾	4¾	4¾	5
Union Typewriter	35½	36½	35½	36¼
Union Typewriter 1st pf.	108	110	108	110
Union Typewriter 2d pf..	110	112	110	112
United Bys. of St. L. 4s.	84½	85	83¼	84
United Bys. of St. L. pf.	67½	68	62¾	...
Va. Coal, I. & C.....	5	6	5	6
Va. Coal, I. & C. bonds..	...	37	...	37
Westinghouse Air Brake..	363	375	360	375
Worthington Pump pf....	110	113	110	113

*Selling dollars per share. Par value $5.
†Selling dollars per share. Par value $10.

Street Railways.

Broadway & 7th Av.....	230	235	230	235
Broadway & 7th Av. 1st pf.	102½	102¾	102½	...
Broadway & 7th Av. 2d..	110	115	110	113
Broadway Surface 5s....	115	116	115	116
Broadway Surface 2d 5s..	102¾	103¼	102¾	103¼
Brooklyn City R. R.....	230	231	230	231
Brooklyn B. & W. E. 5s.	101½	103	101½	103
Cent. Park, N. & E. R..	200	202	199¾	201
Cent. Pk., N. & E. R. 7s.	104½	105½	104½	105½
Columbus Railway pf....	22½	25	22	24
Columbus Railway pf....	80	92	80	92
Con. Traction of N. J..	58	60	58	60
Con. Traction 5s.....	108	109	108	109
Eighth Avenue Railroad.	390	400	390	400
42d St., M. & St. N. Av. 1st.	113½	115	113½	115
42d St., M. St. N. Av. 2d.	99	100	98	100
Grand Rapids St. Ry....	27	30	27	30
Grand Rapids St. Ry. pf.	78½	80	78½	80
Jersey C., Hob. & Pat..	20	21¼	20	21¼
Jersey C., H. & P. 4s...	82½	83	82½	83
Nassau Electric 4s.....	86½	89	87	90
New Orleans Traction....	22	...	22	...
New Orleans Traction pf.	98	98	94	98
9th Av. R. R.....	198	205	198	205
North Jersey St. R. R. 4s.	83	84	83	84
North Jersey St. R. R...	24½	25½	24½	25½
Orange & Pas. V. bonds..	93	95	93	95
Second Av. R.R. consols.	118	119	118	119
Sixth Av. R. R.....	200	210	200	210
Stein. Ry. Co. 1st 5s.....	116½	118	116½	118
Syracuse Rapid Transit.	11	15	11	15
Syracuse Rap. Transit pf.	30	40	30	40
28th & 29th St. 5s, 1999..	112¾	114½	113¾	114½
Union Ry. 1st 5s.....	111	112½	111	113½
United Trac., Providence.	109	111	109	111
United Traction bonds..	113½	115	113½	115
Worcester (Mass.) Trac.	34½	35½	34½	35½
Wor. (Mass.) Trac. pf..	107	108	107	108

Gas Companies.

Bay State Gas	11½	11¾	1 2-16	1¼
Buffalo (N. Y.) stock....	6	9	6	9
Buffalo (N. Y.) 1st.....	68	...	68	...
Central Union 5s, gtd...	108½	108½	108½	109½
Columbus Gas 6s.....	106	107	106	107
Con. Gas of Newark.....	55	55	55	55
Con. Gas. of New'k bds.	104	106	105	106
Con. Gas of New Jersey.	10	15	10	15
Con. Gas bonds of N. J. ..	80	...	80	...
Cons'rs' Gas (J. C.) bds.	105¼	106	105¼	106
Denver Gas.....	20	22	20	22
Denver Gas 5s.....	62	63	63	65
Essex & Hudson Gas....	35	40	35	40
Indianapolis Gas	62	70	62	70
Indianapolis Gas bds. 6s.	97	100	97	100
Mutual Gas of N. Y....	298	303	298	303
Madison (Wis.) stock....	70	75	70	73
New Amsterdam Gas.....	108¼	109	108½	109
N. E. Gas & Coke.....	12½	14	13	15
N. E. Gas & Coke 5s....	67	68	67½	68½
N.Y. & E. R. Gas Co. 1st.	112½	114	111	114
N.Y. & E.R. Gas Co. con.	106	109	106	109
Northern Union 5s.....	106½	108	106½	108
Nor. Hud. L., H. & P. Co.	55	55	55	56
Nor. H. L., H. & P. Co. bds.	107	109	107	109
Peo. Gas & El. (Oswego).	25	50	25	30
Peo. G. & E. (Os.) 5s, 1930.	99	101	99	101
St. Joseph (Mo.).....	21	28	28	28¼
St. Joseph (Mo.) 6s.....	91	93	91	93
St. Paul Gas stock.....	50	...	50	...
St. Paul Gas bonds.....	75	80	77	81
Standard Gas, New York.	130	133	130	133
Standard Gas, N. Y., pf.	150	153	150	153
Standard Gas 1st.....	115	117	115	117
Syracuse Gas stock.....	9	10	9	10

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Complete Bond Transactions.

U S con 2s, coup
27,000.....105
U S 3s, registered
500.....109¾
U S 3s, coup
500.....109¾
U S 4s, reg. 1907
42,000.....114¾
Adams Express 4s
500.....104
Am Cotton Oil 4½s
3,000.....99⅝
Ann Arbor 1st 4s
1,000.....95½
1,000.....96
1,000.....90½
1,000.....97
Atch, Top & Santa Fe gen 4s
18,000.....102¼
10,000.....102½
20,000.....102½
500.....102⅝
500.....102
20,000.....102½
Adjustment 4s
51,000.....88⅝
27,000.....88¼
Balt & Ohio, Pitt, J & M Div 3½s
5,000.....88⅞
S'w'n Div 3½s
5,000.....90½
20,000.....90
Balt & Ohio 4s
2,000.....100¾
7,000.....100⅝
Balt & Ohio 3½s
17,000.....97¼
6,000.....97
Broadway & 7th Av 1st con 5s
10,000.....122
B'klyn Un El 1st
5,000.....98
Canada South 2d
1,000.....108¾
Cent of Ga 1st inc
1,000.....53⅞
Cent of N J gen 5s
20,000.....127⅜
Ches & Ohio 6s, Ser A
6,000.....116
Ches & O con 5s
5,000 20F.....120¾
Ches & O gen 4½s
1,000.....103⅝
Chi & Alton 3½s
115,000.....85¼
21,000.....85
Chi & Alton 3s, ctfs
2,000.....91⅞
Chi, R & Q deb 5s
3,000.....110½
Chi & Erie 1st 5s
5,000.....116⅝
2,000 20F.....116¾
Chi & Ind Coal 1st
5,000.....115
21,000 20F.....115
Chi, Mil & St Paul con 7s
1,000.....176¼
Gen 4s, Ser A
10,000.....114¼
8,000.....114⅝
C & P W Div 5s
8,000 20F.....122¼
Chi & N'w'n gold 7s
3,000.....106¾
Chi, R I & P gen 4s
1,000.....109½
5,000.....109⅝
15,000.....109⅝
Col Fuel & Iron gen 5s
7,000.....96⅞
Col Mid 1st 3-4s
33,000.....79
10,000.....78¾
Col & South 1st 4s
2,000.....83½
Den & Rio G Imp 5s
5,000.....105
Det, M & M 1 g 3½s
40,000.....30
East Tenn, Va. & Ga con 1st 5s
4,000.....117½
Eliz, Lex & Big S 5s
10,000.....101⅞
6,000.....101¾
Erie 1st con 4s
4,000.....94¼
92,000.....94½
20,000.....94¾
12,000.....94⅝
10,000.....94½
Erie 1st gen 4s
35,000 20F.....80
7,000 20F.....80
5,000.....80
20,000.....80¾
5,000.....80
10,000.....80
5,000 20F.....80
30,000.....80⅛
50,000.....81
15,000.....80¾
Evans & T H 1st gen 5s
1,000.....107¾
Flint & P M, Pt H 5s
1,000.....107
Ft Worth & D C 1st
1,000.....77½
Gal, Har & S A, Mex & P Div 5s
10,000.....89¾
4,000.....100
Green Bay & West deb ctfs, B
5,000.....77
13,000.....78
Total sales.....$1,773,500

Ft Worth & Rio G 1st 3-4s
10,000.....67½
Hock Val 1st 4½s
3,000.....104¾
Hous & Tex Cent gen 4s
3,000.....84
Inter Paper 1st 6s
2,000.....108
Kan City & Pac 1st
5,000.....85
10,000.....85½
Kansas City So 3s
1,000.....68¼
8,000.....68⅜
Kentucky Cent 4s
1,000.....99¾
Kings Co Elev 4s
10,000.....88
Laclede Gas Light of St L 1st 5s
3,000.....107½
Lake Erie & West 2d 5s
1,000.....119
L Sh & M So 2d 7s
2,000.....109¾
L Sh & M So 3½s
2,000.....100¾
Lehigh Val of N Y
1st.....7
1,000.....111
Long Dock 6s
3,000.....138
Long Island unified 4s
65,000.....97
Manhattan con 4s
5,000.....104¾
Mex Cent 1st inc
12,000.....26½
Mex Nat 1st con 4s
4,500.....93½
7,000.....93¾
Mo, K & Tex 2d 4s
1,000.....71½
12,000.....71¾
Mo Pac 1st con 6s
1,000.....119
Mo Pac 3d 7s
2,000.....113½
Mo Pac trust 5s
2,000.....99¼
20,000.....99
3,000.....99¾
Mob & Ohio gen 4s
1,000.....86½
N Y Cent & Hud Riv gen 3½s
2,000.....111
Lake Sh col 3½s
3,000.....97¾
N Y Ons, El L, H & P purchase money 4s
8,000.....94½
N Y, S & W gen 5s
15,000.....99⅞
10,000.....99
Norfolk & Western, New River 6s
1,000.....131½
Norfolk & W con 4s
1,000.....99½
North Pac 4s
1,000.....105
North Pac gen 3s
5,000.....70½
4,000.....70¼
Ore R & N con 4s
10,000.....102½
Ore S Line 1st 6s
2,000.....129½
Peoria & East 1st 4s
4,000.....94
1,000.....93¾
Peoria & East Inc 4s
7,000.....39¼
40,000.....39
Reading gen 4s
1,000.....61½
43,000 20F.....91½
2,000.....91½
6,000.....91¾
3,000.....91¼
St L & San Fran 4s
20,000.....90¾
St L & I M 4s
4,000.....83
5,000.....82¾
2,000.....83
St L S'w'n 1st 4s
30,000.....94
St L S'w'n 2d 4s
10,000.....71¾
St Paul City Ry Cable con 5s
1,000.....113½
St Paul, M & M 2d 6s
5,000.....118¾
St P & Sioux City 1st
2,000.....129¾
San A & A P 4s
5,000.....79¼
South Pac 4s
1,000.....82
5,000.....81¾
Tex & N O con 5s
10,000.....104½
Tex & Pac 1st 5s
5,000.....114
Union Pac 1st 4s
3,000.....108
5,000.....107¾
500.....108
1,000.....107½
Wabash 1st 5s
2,000.....110½
2,000.....116¾
Wabash deb, Ser B
10,000.....38⅜
2,000.....38⅝
5,000.....38¾
12,000.....38⅝
West Shore gtd 4s
3,000.....115¾
20,000.....115
Registered
10,000.....114
West Union refund & real est 4½s
4,000.....105½
W & L E 1st con 4s
1,000.....90
Wh & L E, Wh Div 5s
3,000 15F.....112½
Wis Cent gen 4s
20,000.....87¼

Sales.....296,646

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Complete Transactions in Stocks—Saturday, Dec. 8, 1900.

Closing. Bid.	Asked.	Sales.		First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Net Change.
91	91¼	4,712	Amalgamated Copper.	91½	92	90⅝	91	— ¾
20¼	20⅝	910	Am. C. & F. Co.....	20	20¾	20	20¼	+ ¼
67½	68	525	Am. C. & F. Co. pf...	66½	67½	66¼	67½	— ⅝
30½	31	400	American Cotton Oil..	30½	30½	30¼	30½	.....
90	91	158	Am. Cotton Oil pf....	90	90	90	90	.....
39	40	1,000	American Ice Co.....	37⅝	39	37¼	39	+ ½
7¾	7⅞	120	American Linseed Co.	7¾	7¾	7¾	7¾	.....
38½	39	200	Am. Linseed Co. pf...	39	39	39½	39½	.....
25⅞	26	100	Am. Malting Co. pf...	25½	25½	25½	25½	.....
53⅞	54	6,280	Am. Smelt. & Ref. Co.	53¼	54	53⅛	54	+ ⅞
95½	96⅛	615	Am. S. & R. Co. pf....	96	96¼	96	96¼	+ ¼
27¾	28	1,200	Am. Steel Hoop Co...	27	27⅞	27	27¾	.....
42¾	43	7,800	Am. Steel & Wire....	41½	42⅞	40⅞	42⅞	+1¼
84½	86	1,500	Am. Steel & Wire pf.	85	85	84	85	— ¼
123¼	123¾	18,450	Am. Sugar Ref. Co....	124	124	122¾	123¾	— ½
44½	45	5,310	American Tin Plate..	42½	43¾	42⅝	44⅛	+1¼
105½	106	10,900	American Tobacco	105½	106	105½	105¾	— ½
135	140	60	Am. Tobacco pf....	137	137	137	137	.....
47	47¼	500	Anaconda Cop. M. C..	47½	47½	47	47	— ⅞
53	54	100	Ann Arbor pf	53½	53½	53½	53½	— ½
38½	38¾	5,100	At., T. & S. F.....	38	38¼	37¾	38¼	.....
83½	83¾	11,321	At., T. & S. F. pf....	82¾	83¼	82½	83¼	+ ¼
78¾	78⅞	2,486	Baltimore & Ohio....	79¼	79½	78¾	78⅞	— ⅛
84⅜	84½	620	Baltimore & Ohio pf..	84½	84½	84⅜	84⅜	— ¼
70¼	70¾	8,985	Brooklyn Rapid Tran.	69¾	70⅝	69¾	70⅝	+ ⅝
175	179	240	Brooklyn Union Gas.	176	176	175	175	— 3½
8⅝	9	10	Brunswick City	9¼	9¼	9¼	9¼	.....
58½	58⅝	700	Canada Southern	58	58¾	58	58¼	+ ¼
36⅞	37	2,800	Chesapeake & Ohio...	36¾	37	36½	37	+ ¼
38¼	38¼	1,741	Chicago & Alton	38	38¼	37⅝	38¼	— ¼
75⅜	75⅞	311	Chicago & Alton pf...	75¾	75¾	75⅜	75⅜	— ⅝
134⅞	135	4,410	Chi., Bur. & Quincy..	134⅝	134⅞	134¼	134⅞	.....
96½	97¼	100	Chicago & East. Ill..	97¼	97¼	91¼	97¼	— ¼
121	122	100	Chi. & East. Ill. pf..	121½	121½	121½	121½	+ ¾
145	148	400	Chicago & Great West..	14½	14½	14½	14½	.....
91⅝	92	400	Chi. & West. deb....	91⅞	91⅞	91⅝	91¾	— ⅛
23½	24	100	Chi., Ind. & Louis...	23½	23½	23½	23½	.....
125¾	125⅞	4,825	Chi., Mil. & St. Paul.	125½	125¾	125¼	125⅝	— ⅛
177½	...	115	Chi., Mil. & St. P. pf.	178¼	178¼	178	178	.....
113⅝	113¾	4,300	Chi., R. I. & Pac....	113⅝	113⅞	113¼	113⅜	— ¼
66½	67	500	C., C., C. & St. L....	66½	66½	66½	66½	+ ½
51⅞	52	5,000	Colorado Fuel & Iron.	49⅞	52	49½	52	+1½
7	7¼	100	Colorado Southern ..	7	7¼	7	7	— ⅛
42⅞	43½	3,025	Col. Southern 1st pf..	43¼	43½	43¼	43½	.....
187¼	187¾	3,025	Consolidated Gas.....	189	189	186⅝	187	—1⅝
82¾	83	6,100	Con. Tobacco Co.....	33⅜	33¾	32½	32⅝	—1
88¼	88½	2,850	Con. Tobacco Co. pf..	89½	89¾	88	88¼	—1⅜
25	25¼	1,800	Denver & R. G.....	25¼	25¼	24⅜	25⅛	+ ⅛
79¾	79½	2,215	Denver & R. G. pf...	79½	79½	79¼	79¼	— ½
16⅞	16¾	6,100	Erie	16½	16½	16¼	16¼	— ¼
46	46⅛	12,215	Erie 1st pf	45¾	46⅛	45¾	46⅛	+ ½
27¼	27¼	4,400	Erie 2d pf	26½	27¼	26½	27¼	+1½
104¾	105	100	Erie Tel. & Tel.....	104¾	104¾	104¾	104¾	— ½
79	81	100	Evans. & T. H. pf...	81	81	81	81	.....
51	51¼	18,500	Federal Steel	49½	51¾	49	51¾	+1⅝
76½	77	1,100	Federal Steel pf.....	75¾	77½	75¼	75½	+ ½
26	26¼	100	Ft. Worth & R. G....	26½	26¾	26½	26½	+1½
169⅝	170	1,500	General Electric	168½	169⅝	168½	169⅝	+ ⅝
100	103	10	Glucose Sugar Ref. pf.	103¼	103¼	103¼	103¼	.....
177½	178	300	Great Northern pf....	178	178	177¼	177¼	— ¾
71½	72¼	520	Hocking Valley pf....	71	71½	70¾	71⅛	.....
123⅝	124	13	Illinois Central	124¼	124¼	124¼	124¼	.....
22½	23	100	International Paper..	22¾	22¾	22¾	22¾	— ⅛
72¾	73	110	Internat. Paper pf..	73	73	73	73	+ ½
51¾	51¾	500	Internat. Power Co...	52	52	52¼	52	.....
19½	20	100	Iowa Central	19⅝	19⅝	19⅝	19⅝	— ¼
44½	45	145	Iowa Central pf.....	44½	45	44½	44½	—1½
13	13½	100	Kansas City Southern.	13	13	13	13	.....
37	37	200	Kan. City South. pf...	37	37	37	37	.....
106	106	100	Lake Erie & West. pf.	106	106	106	106	—2⅛
69	69	100	Long Island	69	69	69	69	—1
81¾	82	4,100	Louisville & Nashville.	81¾	82	81⅝	82	.....
107⅝	108	4,600	Manhattan Elevated..	107⅝	108	107¼	108	+ ⅛
164½	165	3,860	Met. Street Railway..	165½	165⅝	163½	165	+1
13	13	100	Mexican Central	13	13	13	13	— ⅛
3½	4	100	Mexican National ctfs.	3½	3½	3½	3½	.....
64¾	64¾	100	Minn. & St. Louis....	64¾	64¾	64¾	64¾	— ¼
99¾	99¾	100	Minn. & St. L. pf....	99¾	99¾	99¾	99¾	— ¼
16½	16⅝	200	Minn. P. & S. S. M..	16½	16⅝	16½	16½	—2
37⅞	38	700	Mo., Kan. & Texas pf.	37⅞	37⅞	37½	37⅝	— ⅛
59⅝	59⅞	5,600	Missouri Pacific	59⅝	59⅞	59¼	59⅝	— ⅜
37	37	200	National Biscuit Co...	37	37	37	37	— ⅜
91	91	100	Nat. Biscuit Co. pf..	91	91	91	91	— ⅛
33½	34¼	1,050	Nat. Steel Company..	33½	34¼	33	34¼	+ ⅝
93	93	94	Nat. Steel Co. pf....	93	93	93	93	.....
60	60¼	800	National Tube Co....	60	60¼	60	60¼	— ½
166	167	200	New York Air Brake..	166	167	166	167	+2½
140¾	141	1,253	New York Central....	140¾	141¾	140¾	141¾	+ ¼
16⅞	17	910	N. Y., Chi. & St. L..	17½	17⅝	17	17	— ¼
99¼	99½	100	N. Y., C. & S. L. 1st pf.	99¼	99¼	99¼	99¼	+ ¼
46	46	1,170	N. Y., C. & S. L. 2d pf.	46	46	45¾	45⅞	— ⅛
25	25¼	200	N. Y., Ont. & Western.	24¾	25	24¾	25	.....
41¼	41⅜	3,700	Norfolk & Western..	41⅛	41¼	41	41¼	— ¼
69¾	69¾	7,753	Northern Pacific	69½	69¾	69¼	69¾	— ¼
81⅞	82	1,512	Northern Pacific pf...	81½	81⅝	81⅜	81⅝	.....
57	57½	400	Pacific Coast	58	58	57	57	— ⅛
43	43½	720	Pacific Mail	44½	44½	43¼	43½	— ⅛
142	142	2,400	Pennsylvania R. R...	141⅞	142	141⅞	141⅞	— ¼
97⅝	98	6,670	People's Gas, Chicago.	97⅝	98	96⅜	98	+ ¼
10	11	260	Peoria & Eastern....	10⅜	10⅜	10⅜	10⅜	+ ¼
67	67	200	Pere Marquette pf....	67	67	67	67	.....
48⅝	49	1,200	Pressed Steel Car....	48⅝	49	48¼	48⅞	— ⅝
200	202	200	Pullman Company....	202¾	202¾	200	200	— ¼
19¾	20	600	Reading	20	20¼	20	20⅛	— ¼
63⅝	63⅞	6,200	Reading 1st pf.....	63⅝	63⅞	63½	63½	+ ⅛
14½	15	810	Republic Iron & Steel.	15	15¼	14¾	14⅞	+ ⅛
64½	64⅝	400	Rep. Iron & Steel pf..	64½	64⅝	64¼	64⅝	+ ⅛
8⅝	8⅝	340	St. J. & G. I.....	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝	— ⅛
61⅞	62⅜	340	St. J. & G. I. 1st pf..	61⅞	62⅜	61⅞	62⅜	+1½
19¼	19½	1,500	St. L. & San Fran....	19¼	19½	19¼	19¼	— ⅛
48¾	49¼	1,300	St. L. & S. F. 2d pf..	48¾	49¼	48¾	49¼	+ ¼
15¼	15½	100	St. Louis Southw.....	15¼	15½	15¼	15¼	— ⅛
37½	37¾	3,050

DISCIPLINE IN ARMY BRINGS DISASTERS

Winston Churchill Thinks Each Fighter Must Act for Himself.

BOERS COOL IN ACTION, HE SAYS

Would Crush De Wet, Suppress the Guerrilla Warfare, and Establish Civil Government.

Among the first of the passengers to come ashore from the Cunard steamship Lucania, which arrived yesterday morning from Liverpool, was Winston Spencer Churchill, M. P., son of Mrs. Cornwallis West. He has come to America to lecture on "The War in South Africa as I Saw It."

Mr. Churchill, who wore a dark suit, a square-top derby hat, and an astrakhan-trimmed overcoat, left the pier at once and went to the Waldorf. Later in the day he met the representatives of the press in the offices of Major Pond, his manager, at the Everett House.

Mr. Churchill is the eldest son of the late Lord Randolph Churchill, and is twenty-six years of age. He is a very fair man of the purely English type and has slightly reddish hair. His face denotes a highly strung temperament and the broad brow considerable mental capacity. A slight defect in his speech in no way impairs his conversational powers. He discusses military matters and politics with all the authority that comes from self-confidence and experience.

Mr. Churchill is a veteran of four wars. He served with the Spanish forces in Cuba in 1895, served on the Indian frontier under Sir William Lockhart, and was present at the battle of Khartoum. On Nov. 16 of last year he was taken prisoner by the Boers, but succeeded in escaping from Pretoria on Dec. 12. In his book Mr. Churchill did not tell all the story of how he escaped from the Boer capital. It was understood that the young soldier-author was reticent regarding certain facts for the sake of those who had aided him.

"I have now told the real story in London," said Mr. Churchill, yesterday, "but I think it will be new over here. I intend to relate it in my lecture at the Waldorf."

"It has been said," remarked some one, that a Dutch maiden fell in love with you and assisted you to flee. You, yourself, have said that it was the hand of Providence. Which is true?"

"It is sometimes the same thing," laughed Mr. Churchill.

"How long do you think the war in South Africa will last?"

"The war is over now. The Boers are whipped, but do not know it. Of course the guerrilla warfare may last some time. They have about 7,000 fighting men left, but where they get their supplies of ammunition is, and always has been, a mystery.

"The first thing to be done, of course, is to crush De Wet and the guerrilla bands and then organize the civil service with a large Afrikander element. Gradually, as the conflicting elements become reconciled, system of autonomous government must be introduced, until at last the colonies become as independent of the British Crown as Canada.

"The Boer is a splendid fighter and the coolest man under fire I have ever seen. He is what you might call a 'low-pressure' fighter. He never gets excited, and as long as he thinks he is going to win he will stay at his post. But he won't charge or fight in the open, but only from behind rocks or trenches. Owing to this the Boers lost many opportunities.

"The Boers have no discipline. Each man thinks for himself, which, in my opinion, is a great quality in modern warfare. The old style of fighting made discipline necessary, but the modern rifle and loose formation has altered conditions. Every man in action nowadays must be, to a certain extent, his own General. In the British Army, of course, the discipline is very strict, and that, in my opinion, was responsible for many of the early disasters."

Mr. Churchill will deliver his lecture at the Waldorf-Astoria next Wednesday evening, and on Thursday he will leave for New Haven, Conn. He expects to remain about two months on this side. He will spend two weeks in Canada, and at Christmas will be the guest of Lord Minto. He will return to New York in January.

On Monday Mr. Churchill will dine with Gov. Roosevelt at Albany.

Mr. Churchill will not take his seat in the British Parliament until February.

A LABOR PARTY PLANNED.

Civic Federation May Enter the Political Field.

The Civic Federation, which was formed by the Rev. W. D. P. Bliss and members of reform and labor organizations to elevate and improve New York, is destined, it was said yesterday, to be the nucleus of a new labor political party. A. J. Goulden, a member of the committee which issued the call for a mass meeting of the federation in Cooper Union on Jan. 1, is the man who nominated Henry George for Mayor in 1886, when Mr. George polled 68,000 votes. Mr. Goulden said yesterday:

"It is probable that the outcome of this movement will be the formation of a party like the United Labor Party, which so nearly elected Henry George in 1886. It is true that labor parties have been formed since and have amounted to very little, but there is no reason to doubt that a stronger party than the United Labor Party can be formed if we go the right way about it."

The Rev. Mr. Bliss, who will neither admit nor deny that the Civic Federation may branch into a labor party, issued a statement yesterday regarding its present objects in which he said among other things:

"We want this movement not a labor movement alone, but a movement of the laborer and the man of progressive thought. We want more than surface respectability; we need to reform the home; the bad home is the cause of the bad woman, and the causes of the bad home are rent and expensive transit. We need an anti-tenement movement if we are really going to have an anti-vice movement. And we propose not to antagonize, but rather to co-operate with other movements.

"Our movement wants to fight for the concentration of taxes on land, and to take it off good dwellings for the poor. We want more baths, schools, and playgrounds. Men need a home for the body, a chance for the mind, and then only can we conquer vice."

ANOTHER RAID ON DOYLE'S.

Blackmail, Says the Trunk Dealer as His Goods Are Carted Away.

Officers from the Bureau of Incumbrances made another raid upon Doyle's trunk store, Vesey Street and Broadway, early yesterday afternoon.

Showcases on the sidewalk in which goods were displayed were quickly torn from their fastenings and loaded upon a truck. A big crowd gathered and watched the proceedings. There was upward of $500 worth of goods, mostly leather, including pocketbooks, traveling bags, and umbrellas, seized.

Mr. Doyle protested against the raid, and asked the police officers present to arrest the raiders. Doyle asserts that there are maps in the hands of the District Attorney showing that the cases are within the house line and are therefore on private ground. The raids, Mr. Doyle says, are the result of his refusal to pay blackmail.

Liability for Labor Accidents.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—W. F. Willoughby of the Department of Labor was before the Industrial Commission to-day, and submitted a paper on employers' liability and workingmen's insurance. The liability for accidents is now considered as a part of the expense of operation by all great concerns, he said. The developments have really been an evolution in labor. The laws of Europe, witness said, are more stringent than in this country.

A Judge's Creditors File Petition.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Dec. 8.—Creditors of Justice Peter P. Smith of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania filed a petition in the United States court to-day alleging that he was insolvent. The petition also alleged that he admitted his inability to pay his debts and his willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt.

ELEVATED TICKETS FREE.

Mr. Scobie's Circular Attracts the Attention of Passengers.

A man stood at the foot of the elevated stairs at Sixty-sixth Street on Friday evening and deprecatingly handed out circulars to all those who descended from the trains. The circular was a little yellow affair, but the very element of uncertainty in its printed terms chained the attention. It was as follows:

YOU CAN GET AT NO EXPENSE AND VERY little effort, with no element of chance, either of the following: 20 New York Elevated Railroad tickets or 20 Brooklyn Elevated Railroad tickets. For particulars, write to or call on GEO. F. SCOBIE, No. 11 Broadway, Room 417.

Mr. Scobie had no sooner reached the desk which he occupies in the editorial office of The Wall Street Press at the above address than a curious crowd came pouring in. Elevated railroad tickets for nothing was never included in the benevolent scheme of the present management when they got control of the road, and so it was at once known that the company was not at the bottom of any such philanthropic movement. The very fact that some one had discovered a system to get something for nothing from the elevated was alluring enough to keep Mr. Scobie busy.

Mr. Scobie was found at his desk yesterday afternoon. He launched at once into the subject of his business without hesitation. Mr. Scobie was fluent.

"Yes, Sir," he said to the visitor, "that circular means just what it says. A dollar's worth of tickets for nothing. It's a great thing, Sir, and every traveler on the elevated road ought to feel that I have come as a deliverer. I am not a philanthropist, Sir; this is a business with me, and I make my profits, small though they be; but why should you care what my profits are if you get a dollar's worth of merchandise for nothing?"

The visitor assured the financier that he cared nothing so long as he could ride free, and Mr. Scobie went on:

"Now, you see this little book with six slips. You pay me 30 cents for that. Ah, Sir, do not think that my circular is not all right," he said, almost with tears in his voice; "that 30 cents is returned to you when you sell to six of your friends these slips for 5 cents apiece. Now, when each of those friends returns his slip accompanied by 25 cents I send that friend a book of slips, and when he sells them and the buyers return them in the same manner. I send out another batch. Now, as soon as your six buyers return the slips, each with 25 cents, I send you a dollar's worth of elevated road tickets as I do to every one else who does the same thing. I make 50 cents on each transaction. And so it goes on and on increasing in volume."

Mr. Scobie was becoming enthusiastic, when the visitor interrupted:

"In other words," he said, "its the endless chain scheme over again."

"Exactly," said Mr. Scobie, delightedly. "Now you give me 30 cents."

"Are there no limitations to the plan?" asked the prospective investor, cautiously.

"They are bounded only by the number of people who ride," he said, "and not even then, for they ride always, and the thing can be gone over again and again."

"That's rather profitable, isn't it?" asked the visitor.

"Well, you see, 30 cents is not much out of which to pay expenses," said Mr. Scobie, descending from the clouds, "but then, as I said, why should you care about my profits if you can ride free?"

"Is this a plan of the road to increase traffic?" asked the visitor.

"Not at all," said Mr. Scobie. "The Goulds and Mr. Sage have their interests, and I have mine. We have nothing in common. Will you have a book?"

"Well, I'll think it over," said the cautious man, as he made way for a file of other curious ones standing outside.

STOCK EXCHANGE WARNING.

Attention Called to Violation of Rules by Soliciting Business.

The Committee on Commissions of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday issued the following note of warning:

The attention of members is called to the following ruling of the Committee on Commissions, adopted Dec. 4, 1900:

"The attention of the Committee on Commissions having been called to a practice believed to exist among some members of this Exchange of having in their employ persons denominated either clerks or agents for the soliciting of business, the Committee on Commissions rules that such practice is a violation of Section 1, Article 43, of the constitution.

The publication came somewhat in the nature of a surprise, as it was generally believed that the agitation against soliciting—begun about a year ago—had been dropped practically for all time. It develops, however, that some of the smaller Stock Exchange houses who do not feel that they can afford to pay solicitors, made complaint to the Committee on Commissions, just as was done a year ago, and that the committee promised to look into the matter. It is not known that complaint was made against any particular firm, and none has been called to task. The idea, however, is understood to be to endeavor to secure the enforcement of the law more strictly than in times past, and also to prevent, so far as possible, certain other violations, such as paying salaries to employes predicated on the amount of business they may bring in.

It is admitted, however, that there will be much difficulty in enforcing the law against soliciting. Nearly all the Stock Exchange houses have solicitors in one form or another, though they are not called solicitors. One employe, for instance, may be in charge of the grain department, another in charge of the cotton department, another in charge of bonds, &c.—that is, they may be nominally in charge. Actually, their principal business is to meet and cultivate prominent people, make friends of them, and, if possible, secure their trade.

Stock Exchange houses discussing the matter yesterday thought that the note of warning was merely a sop thrown to the complainants without any purpose to press the matter further.

ADORATION OF THE SACRAMENT.

Perpetual Exposition, After Wednesday, in St. Jean Baptiste's Church.

New York will have, after next Wednesday, a Roman Catholic church in which the perpetual exposition of the blessed sacrament will be a feature. At present the eucharist is exposed in Catholic churches only at certain times. Several members of an order of priests known as the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament have come here from Canada and have been placed in charge of St. Jean Baptiste's Church, in East Seventy-sixth Street, between Lexington and Third Avenues. This is the church which has the relic of St. Anne, the mother of the Virgin.

On Wednesday morning next the perpetual exposition of the blessed Sacrament will be begun, with special services, in which Archbishop Corrigan, Bishop Farley, and a large number of priests will participate. The Archbishop is to preach the sermon. The church has been remodeled and renovated at the expense of Miss Annie Leary, who has also presented a magnificent altar. It is said that Miss Leary is to build a new church for the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament.

COMMITTEE ON EMPLOYMENT.

Col. Duffy Establishes a Precedent in National Guard Affairs.

Col. Edward Duffy, Sixty-ninth Regiment, N. G. N. Y., has appointed an Employment Committee, consisting of Chaplain Daly, Capt. Reville, and Capt. Haran, who will try to find employment for deserving members. An Advisory Board has also been appointed to examine officers elect before they appear before the Brigade Board for examination for promotion. This board consists of Surgeon Emmet, Major Devlin, Capt. Sullivan, Capt. Reville, and Capt. Foley. The plans for the new armory have been examined by Col. Duffy and other officers. The administration building, which will contain rooms for officers, and the company rooms will be three stories in height, and the drill hall will be one of the largest in the city, having seating room for 12,000 people. There will be a plunge bath, 50 by 100 feet.

Gov. Pingree Criticises a Judge.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 8.—Judge Howard Wiest of the Ingham County Circuit Court, who conducted the trial resulting in the conviction of Gen. Marsh, and who sentenced Gen. White to ten years in prison, was fiercely attacked by Gov. Pingree in an interview yesterday. To-day Judge Wiest telegraphed Gov. Pingree a request to have the Legislature investigate his conduct as Circuit Judge, and take such action as the proofs warrant.

Brooklyn Advertisements. | Brooklyn Advertisements. | Brooklyn Advertisements. | Brooklyn Advertisements. | Brooklyn Advertisements.

The Best Restaurant in Brooklyn.

Frederick Loeser & Co.

BROOKLYN.

Holiday Merchandise That Anticipates.

Success is cumulative—it makes success all the more successful. We never had such an aggregation of unusual, new, tasteful and wantable merchandise as we have gathered for you this holiday season. Probably there's not a country in the world, that makes merchandise, which isn't represented here to-day. And just because our wires of systematic communication reach everywhere, we are close to the source of supply—so close that we have goods almost a season before they become generally introduced.

But the basis of any retail store's prosperity is merchandise. If the goods are not really worthy, all else will sooner or later fail. It's this idea carried through everything that we make, buy or sell that is of the most vital and enduring advantage to every one of our customers. It's this knowledge which our customers have, born of experience, that has made this store prosperous only so far as we have deserved it. Link these facts with our prices and you will find to-morrow's opportunities the matchless event of the season.

Underwear, Half, About.

Second Floor.

Our underwear has something more than price—what of shapeliness, fit, real comfort and warmth? We make a specialty of fitting all kinds of people—large or small, stout or thin.

AT 29c., REGULAR 40c.—Boys' natural fleece-lined shirts, real heavy self fronts and long sleeves, with drawers to match, sizes 24 to 34.

AT 49c., REGULAR 75c.—Men's camel hair merino shirts, exceptionally good quality, self fronts and long sleeves, with drawers to match; sizes: shirts, 34 to 44; drawers, 30 to 40.

AT 49c., REGULAR 75c.—Men's fleece-lined shirts, real heavy self fronts, long sleeves, also drawers to match; made with a fine cotton face and a wool fleece; sizes: shirts, 34 to 44; drawers, 30 to 34.

AT 59c., REGULAR 75c.—Women's shaped white ribbed merino vests, handsomely trimmed, high neck, long and short sleeves, with French band, drawers to match.

AT 12½c., REGULAR 19c.—Boys' extra heavy black ribbed cotton stockings, spliced heels and toes, with double knees, guaranteed stainless, sizes 6 to 9.

Handkerchiefs Without Number.

Right of Main Entrance.

We know you will be pleased with our collection of holiday handkerchiefs—our display is enormous—commencing with the 5c. ones up to the $25 00 kinds—which come from France and have the genius of the maker in every thread. Here's an idea of prices:

AT 12c. TO 50c., REGULAR 15c, TO 69c.—Men's all-linen initial and plain white.

AT 5c. AND 98c., REGULAR 8c. TO $1.49—Women's all-linen initial and plain; also men's and women's colored borders, fancy ones embroidered and drawn stitches.

AT 25c. AND $1.69, REGULAR 39c and $1.98—Lace handkerchiefs, neatly boxed 1, 3 and 6.

AT 12½c., REGULAR 18c. TO 25c.—The best lot of embroidered handkerchiefs, hundreds of patterns.

AT 25c. TO 98c., REGULAR 39c. TO $1.25—Men's silk initial and plain handkerchiefs, best quality silk.

AT 50c. AND 75c., REGULAR 69c. TO 98c.—Colored silk handkerchiefs, plaids and stripes.

AT 59c. TO $3.39—Women's handkerchiefs, initial and embroidery; 6 in a box.

AT 15c. TO 98c., REGULAR 20c. TO $1.15—Children's handkerchiefs neatly boxed.

Boys' Clothing Chances.

$3.98 for Regular $5.00 Suits.

Some new and very dressy double-breasted suits for the boys, 8 to 16 years, made of all-wool cheviots and cassimeres, best shades of gray and olive plaids and mixtures; have good Italian linings and two inside pockets in coats. Every boy knows what that means. Trousers are lined in front and strongly sewn with silk.

$2.98 for Regular $4.00 and $4.98 Suits.

175 boys' suits, all the broken lines of double-breasted suits, sizes 8 to 16, and some sailor and vestee suits for the smaller boys, all at $2.98.

The Art Embroideries.

Second Floor, New Building.

This department is fairly filled with awfully pretty things suitable for the holidays. The little articles at 25c. on up to the most luxurious prices suitable for a royal table.

Picture frames, hand-painted and embroidered, from 25c. to $40.00 each.

Glove, handkerchief and work boxes, from $1.59 to $10.00 each.

Calendars, match scratchers, embroidered broom holders and hair receivers; also stamped ones to embroider, from 15c. to $2.98 each.

Engagement tablets, paper racks from 98c. to $3.98 each.

In our line of ribbon work embroideries are the most exquisite articles from $1.98 to $8.98.

Pin cushions, embroidered and hand painted, from 59c. to $6.98.

Sofa pillows in a great variety of styles, painted and embroidered, from $2.19 to $38.00.

In hand embroidery we stand the highest for correct shading and workmanship.

Centrepieces from $5.00 up to a $48.00 tea cloth.

We call special attention to our $10.00 hand-embroidered centrepieces.

A great variety of small fancy baskets and scrap baskets, trimmed and untrimmed.

A splendid collection of Renaissance pieces at half price and less.

The Holiday Slippers.

Kinds for Both Men and Women.

Slippers are always popular as presents. We've a splendid collection of them this year—better than ever—up-to-date material—and made in the most fashionable way.

Men's black and tan vici kid Faust slippers, kid lined, hand sewed, $2.90.

Men's tan vici kid toilet slippers, kid trimming and lining, hand sewed, $2.25.

Men's black vici kid toilet slippers, kid lined, hand sewed, $2.00.

Men's tan and black boarded calf toilet slippers, kid lined, $1 50.

Book Allurements.

Books are books wherever you buy them—but for Christmas, especially, rare, exclusive, artistic and unusual bindings are what is wanted—an unequalled specialty of ours. Then we've the conveniences, the real bookshop arrangement, the quantities and the prices that truly make this the only real bookstore in Brooklyn.

The great increase in the popularity of Balzac the past two years has made it imperative that every well-selected library should have a set of Balzac.

There is only one best edition, and that is the Saintsbury. It is the best translation, the only literal, unexpurgated translation, and Saintsbury, one of the greatest English critics, has written the most scholarly introductions for the work. 130 illustrations.

We have secured a special edition published at $40.00, $50.00, and $75.00 respectively, but our prices are:

16 vols., cloth, $12.50.

½ leather, $15.50.

Special ½ calf binding, $29.50.

2,000 standard books with gilt tops, reduced to 29 cents; regular value, 45 cents.

1,000 vols. of Mary J. Holmes, Mrs. Southworth, Marion Harland, Balzac, Ouida, cloth, gilt top, 35 cents.

Crowell's Standard Library. Reduced from 69c. to 39c. Only 100 left.

Crowell's Ruskin Library. Reduced from 45c. to 24c. Less than 100 of these left.

The new Aster Library, 39c. This has too many good authors and titles to enumerate.

The new Alta Series, a gilt top book, for 35c. Regular value, 45c. 2,500 vols. Chateau Series, handy vol. classics, 200 titles. This is the daintiest line of gift books we ever handled for 25 cents, and it is selling like wildfire.

Here is a proposition that has long been needed: Thackeray, Cooper, Eliot, Irving, Charles Kingsley, Kipling, Scott; complete sets, but you can buy any volume separately or an entire set for 50 cents per volume. Buy them as you want them, by the set or by the volume. The price is the same.

Twenty-five Teachers' Bibles, with all the Helps, Maps, &c. Reduced from 2.00 to 98c. The best thing we will have this season in a Bible bargain.

The Oxford Episcopal Hymnal, latest edition, 7 styles—

1. Reduced from $1.45 to 35c.
2. Reduced from $1.95 to 40c.
3. Reduced from $2.05 to 45c.
4. Reduced from $2.25 to 48c.
5. Reduced from $2.45 to 50c., India paper.
6. Reduced from $2.75 to 55c.
7. Reduced from $3.00 to 60c., India paper.

A special in a Catholic Prayer Book, "The Key of Heaven," black morocco, red under gold edges, 25c.

The Holiday Ribbons.

Right of Main Entrance.

Here are a lot of the new ribbons just hot from the looms—the colors fairly glow with freshness, and they are at prices less than the maker's. Plain satin, all the colors.

⅞ inch, 5c. yard; regular 8c.
1¼ inch, 6c. yard; regular 9c.
1½ inch, 8c. yard; regular 12c.
1⅞ inch, 9c. yard; regular 15c.
2¼ inch, 11c. yd.; regular 18c.
2¾ inch, 13c. yd.; regular 21c.
3¼ inch, 15c. yd.; regular 25c.
4½ inch, 22c. yd.; regular 37c.

Narrow novelty ribbon, satin beading and fringed edge; the colors are just right for fancy work, tying parcels, &c., 4c. yard; regular 10c., or 29c. piece of 10 yards.

3¾ inch fancy striped taffeta, 12c. yard; regular 18c.

6½ inch plain taffeta, all the good colors, 23c. yard; regular 45c.

Solid 10k. Gold Jewelry.

These are all the real serviceable kinds of things that make attractive as well as useful little gifts.

Rings, Tiffany setting, mounted with five doublets, turquoise, amethyst and ruby, $1.49.

Rings, set with small genuine brilliants; some of them are Roman color, knot design, $3.49, were $4.50.

Brooches, chased and plain, twist design, $1.89.

Scarf pins, fifteen designs, 69c., were 98c.

Hat pins, open-work designs, jewelled and heavy twist, $1.98.

Studs for men, pipe-stem backs, three in set, $1.39.

Tie clasps, plain and chased, 98c.; same styles, with small genuine diamond, $1.39.

Gold dumb-bell link cuff buttons, all new designs, $1.39; same, set with genuine small diamond, $2.49.

GOLD PLATED JEWELRY.

And it is astonishing what perfection has been reached in their making and durability.

Gold-plated hat pins, hard enamelled and jewelled, 21c.; another lot enamelled, with fine quality rhinestone, 49c.

Enamelled flower brooches, set with small pearls, 25c., were 49c.

Fur boa safety chain, silver finish, plain and chased link, 25c.

Gilt flexible wire belts, jewelled and plain, 49c.

STERLING SILVER.

Sterling silver hat pins, open-work ball, set with turquoise and amethyst stones, 19c.

Hat pins, heavy chased twist, 25c.

Nethersole bracelet "for the baby," 49c.

Children's sterling silver chased link bracelets, with lock and key, 49c.

Women's bracelets, chased, heavy, large link and plain, with lock and key, 69c.

Key rings, assorted designs, 25c.

Diamond cut sterling silver brooches and hat pins, 9c.

Sterling silver thimbles, extra heavy weight, 19c.

Snaps in Silverware.

Section B.

The silverware store shows up to better advantage than ever—better, prettier, newer and more unique things to buy than ever—easier to buy, too. Here are a few hints:

STERLING SILVER.

Tea bells, 59c. each; regular 79c.

Cork screws, carved tusk, $1.75 each; regular $2.25.

Sugar shakers, $1.25 each; regular $1.75.

Oil and vinegar bottles, sterling mounted, 50c. each; regular $1.00.

Oil and vinegar bottles, sterling mounted, 75c. each; regular $1.50.

ROGERS EXTRA PLATE.

Children's spoons, 15c. each; regular 25c.

Children's forks, 20c. each; regular 30c.

Children's knives, 25c. each; regular 45c.

Butter knives, 25c. each; regular 59c.

Cheese scoops, 45c. each; regular $1.29.

Pie knives, 75c. each; regular $1.39.

Uncommon Holiday Silk Sale.

Every yard of these silks will speak for itself to-morrow—the silks themselves are unexcelled both in quality and genuine up-to-dateness—the prices are phenomenal and will tell the rest of the story.

49c. FOR REGULAR 75c.—Plain colored taffeta, excellent quality, good shades, including white and cream.

49c. FOR REGULAR 69c.—All silk Liberty satins; white, black, ivory, cream, ciel, pink, old rose, cardinal, lilac, nile, turquoise, &c., &c.

69c., 79c. FOR REGULAR $1.35 TO $1.75.—Fancy Silks. These are elegant quality and the variety is very large. For waists, skirts and for costumes are just the thing.

AT 39c., 49c., 59c., 69c., 79c., 89c., 98c.—Our black taffetas at these prices are the best values ever offered.

Phenomenal Sale of Toys.

Our matchless toy store in the basement, occupying about half of a good-sized Brooklyn block, is complete with an endless assortment of toys, more than we or any other store ever had. If you want something that is really nice, genuine and quite different from the every-day toy, you should come here—and our prices are at least as low as others usually ask for the trashy kinds. For to-morrow:

IMPORTED TEA AND DINNER SETS in the nicest decorations, some would be cheap at $3.48; choice to-morrow at $1.48.

IMPORTED DOLL HOUSE FURNITURE in boxes, such as parlor, dining and bedroom suits, value up to $3.00, choice at $1.48.

TRICYCLES AND VELOCIPEDES—About three dozen in assorted sizes (last year's make); some are slightly handled, some with rubber tires, value up to $7.00, choice while they last at $2.00. Not exchanged or credited.

MAGIC LANTERNS, only the best kinds obtainable—we secured a sample line very reasonable, and we will put them on sale to-morrow at, each, $1.50.

IMPORTED ENAMEL TEA SETS—Will not break—large sizes at $1.98.

GROCERY STORES—A limited quantity of them, with fixtures, at 50c.

PUNCH AND JUDY SHOWS—A great assortment—complete, with figures; some are really worth $7.00; to-morrow choice while they last, $2.50.

BOYS' SLEDS—As we told you before, Santa Claus had a falling out with a sled manufacturer, which gives some people a chance to buy to-morrow some good, substantial sleds, which formerly sold as high as $1.38, at each, 50c.

HILL CLIMBERS, made in the very best manner, running by friction, at each, 98c.

TYPEWRITERS—A perfect little machine, to-morrow, at 98c. See demonstration.

DRUMS—We have a complete line of drums, from the smallest up to the biggest; for to-morrow we offer about 20 dozen, in assorted sizes, value up to $1.25, at each, 68c.

TOILET STANDS—These are pretty imported little sets, which we sell while, they last, at 98c.

CHILD'S WILLOW ROCKERS, nicely upholstered, in brocatelles, value $1.50, at 98c.

China Store Magnetism.

Our china store is heaped with the truly beautiful and exclusive in bric-a-brac, art wares, bronzes, cut glass and rich china—the things that make this store especially famous in the holidays. We hardly know where to start:

Jardinieres.

Rich pattern jardinieres in soft brown blended into a deep orange and terra cotta blended with green, artistically embossed.

7-inch size, 25c. 10-inch size, 89c
8-inch size, 45c. 11-inch size, $1.25
9-inch size, 59c. 12-inch size, $1.75

Some solid colors—red, olive, pink and orange, plain jardinieres, spiral ribbed.

9-inch, 75c.; 10-inch, $1.00;
11-inch, $1.25.

The jardinieres and pedestals are of rich color effects, both English and American.

$3.00, regular $4.50.
$5.00, regular $8.50.
$8.00, regular $12.00.
$8.50, regular $15.00.
$15.50, regular $21.00.

Clocks at Half.

Samples of the finest French regulators at half price. The cases are of gold and glass. Some are finished in Russian enamel. One of a kind—and money cannot buy better timepieces.

$45.00, reduced from $90.00.
$40.00, reduced from $80.00.
$36.50, reduced from $73.00.
$20.00, reduced from $32.00.
$19.25, reduced from $27.50.

And a special lot of small one-day American gold clocks that were $3.75 to $5.00 are marked at 98c., $1.25 and $1.50.

Lamps at Half.

The newest designs and best styles handsomely decorated and tinted.

$6.00 lamps at $2.98.
$10.00 lamps at $4.98.
$12.00 lamps at $5.98.
$15.00 lamps at $6.98.

A lot of neatly decorated and tinted lamp globes, in 8, 9 and 10-inch sizes, worth up to $1.50—choose at 50c. each.

Bric-a-Brac at Half.

Fifteen tables are laden with the pretty but inexpensive things in bric-a-brac, much of it priced at one-half usual prices. Rich Austrian vases, 29c., regular 50c. 98c., regular $2.00.

39c., regular 75c. $1.50, regular $3.00.
59c., regular $1. $2.50, regular $5.00.

Bisque figures and ornaments in graceful shapes, and delicately decorated and tinted and embellished with gold, at 50c., 98c., $1.25 and $2.00.

Royal Bonn vases, 75c., regular $1.50.

Cameo ware ornaments, $1.25, regular $2.50.

Terra cotta busts—a large assortment of composition in bronze and Oriental subjects are priced at 50c., $1.00, $1.69, $2.98, $3.75, $4.98, $5.98 and upward to $35.00.

Dinner Sets.

Good porcelain dinner sets, decorated in pretty floral sprays in natural colors and fully trimmed with gold, composed of 100 pieces, including soup tureen and three large platters; regular $15.00 sets, these at $10.00.

And a large assortment of the finest English porcelain dinner sets in the very newest shapes, decorated in rich border and band effects and elegantly trimmed with gold, at $12.00, $15.00, $16.50 and $18.00.

Fine Limoges china dinner sets, eight pretty floral designs; some are stippled with gold and some have gold on handles. 100 pieces, $18.00. 112 pieces, $23.00. 100 pieces, $22.00. 112 pieces, $26.00.

An Overcoat Chance for Men

All Ready to Wear at $15.00.

These coats will give you an excellent idea of what our ready-to-wear tailor store is doing.

They are Broadway box style, the fashionable broad shoulder, and loose-fitting kinds—the fabric is a heavy Oxford, serge linings and satin sleeve linings; the making and fitting of these coats is perfect. You'll say that $15.00 is very cheap. Money back if not perfectly suited.

RESTITUTION IN COURT.

Prisoners Accused by Fellow-Boarders Forced to Return Garments Which They Wore.

The spectators in the Yorkville Police Court, including a number of women, were somewhat startled yesterday morning when Magistrate Pool compelled a couple of prisoners at the bar to remove various articles of apparel as fast as they were claimed by their alleged owners. By the time the claimants had finished with the men they looked like a couple of hotel guests who had barely escaped from a midnight fire.

The two prisoners were George Wallace and George Hall. They had been arrested on suspicion, and the detectives later learned that the two men had lived at 246 East Twenty-first Street and 223 East Nineteenth Street. At both of these places it was charged that they had entered the rooms of other boarders and taken wearing apparel.

When they were arraigned in court William Everett, one of the boarders at the Nineteenth Street house, pointed at Wallace's feet.

"Those are my shoes," he said.

"Take them off," commanded the Magistrate. Wallace obeyed.

"That's my collar and necktie he has on," said Everett again.

"Take them off," said the Magistrate.

Shoeless, collarless, tieless, Wallace stood before the Magistrate with a frightened expression, while the feminine portion of the audience shifted uneasily, fearing that Everett might make some even more alarming discovery.

"That is my hat," spoke up Charles Clifford of the East Nineteenth Street house, pointing at Hall.

"Take it off," said the Magistrate wearily.

Then Magistrate Pool held both men in $2,000 bail for trial.

YALE SOCIETIES DOOMED.

Faculty Declares Existence of the Present Sophomore Organizations Must Be Terminated.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 8.—Continued agitation by the graduates and undergraduates of Yale University resulted in the publication to-day of a decision by the Faculty which means the termination of the existence of all of the sophomore societies, three in number, now existing in the college. It had been urged against these societies that the democracy of Yale was imperiled because of the "insidious politics" of the organizations.

At the beginning of the college year the Faculty consented to a plan calculated to relieve the situation by means of an enlargement of the membership rolls. Now the Faculty announces the adoption of the following resolutions:

Whereas, It appears that the changes suggested in the sophomore society system are inadequate to do away with the evils which have existed in the college, and

Whereas, More radical alterations have been represented by the conformes of the societies to be impracticable;

Resolved, That, in the opinion of the Faculty, the exigencies of the case make the termination of the existence of the present organizations inevitable.

Resolved, That prompt action on the part of the societies themselves looking toward such termination will best pave the way for a reorganization of the whole society system, in the interests of the college.

Resolved, That this resolution be communicated to each of the three societies.

President Hadley made the following statement in connection with the resolution: "The feeling against sophomore societies, whose special intensity was represented as something peculiar to the class of 1900, proves to be no less strong in the class of 1901 also. This makes impossible the acceptance, by the college public of a plan framed in the name of the sophomore societies and contemplating their perpetuation in their present organized forms.

"Communications have been received from large numbers of graduate members of the societies indicating that the Faculty would not have their support, or even the approval of these graduates, in attempting to arrange for the perpetuation of the societies.

"It is not expected that, as a result of this resolution, the societies would be abolished, but simply that they would die a natural death by not being permitted to take in new members. The action was forced upon the Faculty, not by any offense on the part of the societies themselves, but by the interest of the college as a whole."

INNOCENT MAN PARDONED.

Had Served Seven of a Thirteen Years' Sentence for Theft.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—After serving seven years in the Eastern Penitentiary James Parker of Ellisdale, N. J., has been released as innocent. Parker in 1893 was arrested on the complaint of a young woman, to whom he was engaged. She charged him with stealing her watch. The charge was afterward withdrawn.

Parker then came to this State. On one occasion he remained all night in a private room connected with a tavern, and in the morning he donned a suit of clothing, mistaking it for his own. He was arrested, and a constable testified that he had been previously arrested for larceny. He was sentenced to thirteen years' imprisonment.

Recently it was learned that the young woman had mislaid her watch and later found it, and that the suit which Parker had left was of better quality than the one he had put on. He was immediately pardoned.

Answer to a Correspondent.

"C. K."—Alaska was acquired in 1867, while Andrew Johnson was President of the United States.

GRIDIRON CLUB AT DINNER.

Prominent Men the Guests of the Washington Organization.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The Gridiron Club gave its December dinner to-night at the Arlington Hotel, and a large number of distinguished guests were present. The campaign that closed a month ago was recalled in a number of skits, in which the members of the club burlesqued the incidents of that canvass. Each guest at his plate found a "full dinner pail," which contained the menu. Then there was a National golf tournament between McKinley and Bryan, which McKinley won.

There was a presentation to the Gridiron museum of campaign relics, which included several discarded platforms, the clothes of candidates, &c.. The incident in the campaign where Senator Hanna was sent a bill for some pigs' feet was recalled by giving the Senator a pair of the same without charge.

The reorganization of the Democratic Party was accomplished in the Gridiron way. Senator Dolliver, who was sworn in last Tuesday, was called upon to explain how executive session secrets leaked out since he has been a member of the Senate. The various skits were interspersed with some good speeches and songs.

Among the guests were ex-President Harrison, Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, Senators Depew, Dolliver, Hanna, Mason, Platt of Connecticut, Spooner, and Shoup; Representatives Cannon, Cromer, Cummings, Dick, Pearce, and Tawney; Gens. Miles, Corbin, and Bates, Majors Bird and Carson, United States Army; Admiral Melville, United States Navy; Assistant Secretary of War Melkiejohn, J. L. Bristow, Assistant Postmaster General; George B. Cortelyou, Secretary to the President; Charles H. Cramp of Philadelphia, Charles G. Dawes, Controller of the Currency; John Joy Edson, Chairman of the Inaugural Committee; ex-Secretary Foster of the State Department, Joseph Jefferson, Thomas Lowry of Minneapolis, J. H. Manley of Maine, N. O. Murphy, Governor of Arizona, and Secretary of State Hay.

IMPERSONATED AN OFFICER.

Mark Sherman Almost Succeeded in Fooling Syracuse Authorities.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 8.—Mark Sherman, who gave his residence as Philadelphia, was arraigned before the United States Commissioner to-day, charged with impersonating a United States Deputy Marshal.

He met Charles Day of Huron, N. Y., on a train, placed him under arrest, and took $17.02 and a watch from him. He locked him up at the police station, and was about to board a train when the officers, who had become suspicious, arrested him.

Mount Wrangel Again in Eruption.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—A special from Tacoma, Washington, says Mount Wrangel, Alaska, is reported again in eruption. The latest outbursts from the mouth of the great crater began on the evening of Nov. 4, and was in continuance a week later. There were at the time no earthquake shocks, but great jets of steam gushed forth, varying as the eruption progressed. One side of the mountain, which had been covered by a great glacier, was seen one morning to be black and bare.

Mr. Voorhis Goes to the Cathedral.

The Rev. Ernest Voorhis, Ph. D., who has been connected with the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society in the work of the latter in Ludlow Street Jail and the Tombs Prison, has been transferred by Bishop Potter to the staff of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. The Rev. Dr. Irvin H. Correll will take Mr. Voorhis's place as chaplain in the two prisons.

SUNDAY, THREE CENTS. DAILY, ONE CENT.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER.
Fair and cold; winds northerly.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. L...NO. 15,888. NEW YORK, MONDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1900.—Twelve Pages and Supplement. ONE CENT In Greater New York, Jersey City, and Newark. Elsewhere. TWO CENTS.

GREAT ALARM AT THE HAGUE

Holland in Dread of a War with Great Britain.

Czar Refuses to Aid Mr. Krueger, Who is Said to Have Given Up Hope of Effective Result from His Visit.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Special dispatches from The Hague represent the feeling there as one of alarm at the prospect of an Anglo-German-Portuguese combination, which might snatch the Dutch seaboard or seize Java.

It is reported at the Dutch capital that the possibility of a war with Great Britain has even been discussed by the Cabinet Council.

Queen Wilhelmina will give a dinner in honor of Mr. Krüger, but he has abandoned all hope of any effective result of his visit to Europe, although he does not despair of meeting Emperor Nicholas, possibly on the Riviera.

"Mr. Krüger received a message from the Czar Friday night," says the correspondent of The Times at The Hague.

"It was couched in very friendly terms, but the fact that its existence has been kept a close secret is sufficient to indicate its author's intention to abstain from any active steps friendly to intervention.

"The Czar naturally pleads illness as a sufficient excuse for not interefering."

THE HAGUE, Dec. 9.—The Government of the Netherlands has instructed the Dutch Minister in London, Baron von Golstein van Oldenaller, to disavow in the name of the Government all responsibility for the letter addressed to Mr. Krüger by the President of the First Chamber of the States General, Dr. A. van Naamen van Eomnes, approving Mr. Krüger's "noble purpose," and expressing a hope that the independence of the two Dutch republics would be secured.

Mr. Krüger attended religious service this morning at the cathedral, and the congregation sang the Boer anthem as he withdrew. After the service he conferred with Dr. Gleichman, President of the Second Chamber.

Mr. Kruger, when cheered by the crowd on his return from the cathedral to-day, (Sunday,) turned and roundly rebuked those near him for such a desecration of the Sabbath.

BRITISH-PORTUGUESE ENTENTE

Naval Officers and Ministers Toast the "Alliance"—Message to the King from Queen Victoria.

LISBON, Dec. 9.—King Carlos has received from Queen Victoria the following telegram in response to the one sent by his Majesty yesterday:

"I am greatly touched by your kind telegram. I sincerely thank you, my dear nephew, for it and for the good wishes you entertain toward me and my people. It is again with the greatest pleasure that I recognize the cordial and friendly understanding between Portugal and England."

After cordial farewells to the Portuguese officials and an exchange of salutes the British squadron sailed at noon.

At Saturday's banquet on board the British battleship Majestic, when King Carlos, Queen Marie Amelie, and Prince Louis Philippe, together with the members of the Cabinet and other dignitaries were entertained by Vice Admiral Sir Harry Holdsworth Rawson, the Portuguese Premier, Señhor J. Luciano de Castro, toasting "Queen Victoria and Great Britain," said that "the alliance that has long existed in treaties and has been confirmed in recent acts." He said the significance of the alliance was "an assurance that our rights will be respected and our dominions maintained."

Sir H. G. MacDonell, the British Minister, in responding, thanked the Government of King Carlos for "the friendly attitude maintained with such earnestness toward Great Britain during the war in South Africa, which has been warmly appreciated by the Government of Queen Victoria."

"The confirmation of the alliance which unites us indissolubly," continued the British Minister, "is there in the presence of the Channel Squadron, Ancient ties are drawn closer by recent events. The British Government desires that a firm and durable alliance may be ever maintained."

In conclusion he proposed "The Prosperity of Portugal and the Happiness of the Royal Family."

Señhor Villaca, Minister of Marine and the Colonies, who responded, said:

"We welcome our allies. There [pointing to the British flag] is the British flag. Let us salute it with respect and affection, as the Portuguese flag was saluted at Komati Poort. These two salutes are a public affirmation of the alliance."

Señhor Villaca toasted the British Squadron. Sir Harry Rawson, replying, said:

"I welcome with enthusiasm my instructions to come to Lisbon, where our union and alliance are now being celebrated. I thank you for the reception, and I drink to our sister navy, which has gloriously maintained Portuguese traditions."

Roberts to Reach London Jan. 3.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Lord Roberts is expected to arrive in London Jan. 3. He will be met by the Prince and Princess of Wales, and will proceed immediately in triumphal progress to St. Paul's Cathedral, where all will attend a special service of thanksgiving.

Mr. Stowe Sails for New York.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—James G. Stowe, United States Consul General at Cape Town, sailed for New York to-day on board the Red Star Line steamer Vaderland, from Southampton.

Efforts to Starve the Boers.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—A dispatch from Johannesburg says the town has been fenced round with barbed wire to prevent the inhabitants getting food to the Boers.

MAJOR McBRIDE ARRIVES.

Boer Irish Brigade Officer Talks of the War in South Africa.

Major J. McBride, who was second in command of the Irish Brigade of the Boer Army, was among the arrivals on the French liner La Bretagne last night. His object in coming to this country is to lecture before the various Irish organizations on the war in South Africa. He left the seat of war some time ago, with a large number of his command, many of whom have recently arrived in this country. The Major is enthusiastic in his praise of the Boers, and particularly of his own command.

"The Irish brigade's record," said he, "has been among the brightest of any of the regiments in the army of the South African Republic. We fought from border to border, taking part in the Ladysmith, Colenso, and other important battles. At Colenso we shared in the capture of eleven pieces of artillery and many prisoners, I myself capturing Lieut. Col. Bullock of the Fourteenth Battery of the Royal Artillery. At the siege of Ladysmith during an extraordinarily heavy engagement on Oct. 30 the ammunition becoming exhausted, the Irish Brigade volunteered to get a new supply. It was necessary to cross an open veldt, exposed to the British fire, and we lost three men killed and ten wounded in bringing up the ammunition. This was an unusually large casualty list, owing to the fact that the Boers always fight behind cover, and their loss is in consequence generally very small.

"The story that the Irish Fusiliers wished to take up arms in behalf of the Boers is true. At least seven-eighths of them desired to. I was willing, but the Government would not consent.

"I understand that Mr. Winston Churchill, who is now in America, has said that the war is practically over. He does not know what he is talking about. It will last just so long as there is a man, woman, or child left in the Transvaal."

In response to a question as to whether he had seen President Krüger while in Paris, Major McBride said that he had had two audiences with him during his stay in that city. He did not think that Mr. Krüger would come to this country, but would remain indefinitely at The Hague.

Major McBride was received at the pier by a delegation of Irishmen.

GRAIN TRAFFIC ON THE LAKES.

Resumes Its Old-Time Pre-eminence, Carrying 53 Per Cent. of East-Bound Shipments.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—The lake route for the transportation of grain from the West to the East and the seaboard resumed its old-time pre-eminence during the season of navigation now closing.

The port of Chicago, which includes both the Chicago and Calumet Rivers, reached within a few millions of the high-water mark of its record in the great crop years of the past. During the season extending from April 15, when the first grain-laden ship cleared from Chicago, to to-day, when the Rockefeller steamer James B. Trevor took out clearance papers, 1,710 vessels sailed with grain cargoes. Altogether they carried 130,818,232 bushels of grain of all kinds. The season's grand total shows a falling off from the shipments of 1898, which were 158,263,528 bushels, but that was a phenomenal year.

Last season lake rates were so high that the lake route suffered severely, but nearly all this season the carrying charges by water have been under rail rates. Lake routes carried 53 per cent. and the rail route 47 per cent. of the east-bound traffic.

Less grain every year goes through the Welland Canal and by the St. Lawrence River route for export, via Montreal. The totals for this year by that route were about 2,000,000 bushels.

The results of the season's traffic have shown how groundless were the fears that competitors on Lake Superior and Lake Michigan and Green Bay were to take away this city's grain commerce. Duluth has made but a sorry showing the past season and Milwaukee and Manitowoc have done nothing remarkable.

Had it not been for the Rockefeller and Carnegie ships the grain trade would have been seriously inconvenienced at times for lack of vessels. The boats of the Chicago grain men were carrying Rockefeller shipments at a big price while they were squeezing to the utmost the Rockefeller boats which were seeking grain cargoes.

NEELEY CASE UP TO-DAY.

Federal Supreme Court Will Be Asked to Pass on America's Rights in Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The Supreme Court to-morrow morning will hear argument in the case of Neeley vs. Henkel, involving the right of the United States to extradite Neeley for trial in Havana for the alleged embezzlement of the Cuban postal funds. The Court has specially assigned it for argument, and it is at the head of the call.

Neeley was arrested in New York for the alleged embezzlement of $67,000 intrusted to him as finance agent of the Department of Posts. Circuit Judge Lacombe held that the evidence disclosed probable cause and ordered Neeley's detention pending the action of the Executive. Neeley then applied for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that the act of Congress authorizing the extradition was unconstitutional, as an attempt to legislate for a foreign country with which this country is at peace.

The case, therefore, involves the question of the constitutional relations between the United States and the Island of Cuba, and will be the first of the cases which will determine the power of this Government to govern temporarily or permanently the islands acquired through the treaty of Paris.

The grounds set forth in the application for the writ are that since the treaty of Paris the United States is without authority to occupy or control Cuba, and that the Military Government which there exists by order of the President is illegal and in violation of the Constitution. John D. Lindsay and De Lancey Nicoll of the New York bar will argue the case for Neeley, and the Government will be represented by Assistant Attorney General James M. Beck.

WANTS $150,000 FROM MEXICO.

Chicago Man Says His Treasure Was Stolen by an Officer.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Col. Thomas H. Monstery, swordsman and hero of a hundred battlefields, to-day departed for the City of Mexico to meet his old comrade in arms, President Diaz, and to present his claim of $150,000, stolen from him by a Mexican military official in 1860.

Col. Monstery had been in the military service and started for the United States. He carried 1,600 ounces of gold, and diamonds valued at $30,000, in a mahogany box. Aug. 3, 1860, he entered the City of Pichuaco, which was under command of Francisco Flores. The Colonel informed him of the treasure, and soldiers were detailed to guard his property. The following morning the guard had disappeared, and so had the treasure box. Investigation proved that the robbery had been perpetrated by Flores. Monstery was forced by failing health to return to the States.

The story was told recently to Attorney Robert Redfield. The efforts of Senator Mason were enlisted, an appeal was made to the Mexican Government, and a favorable reply received. Mr. Redfield believes there is a probability of the recovery of the money

LIBRARY FOR CHATTANOOGA.

Mr. Carnegie Makes the Gift and the City Will Maintain It.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 9.—Andrew Carnegie announced to-day to a committee of Chattanooga citizens who waited on him in New York that he would give $50,000 for a free library in this city provided the city authorities would appropriate $5,000 annually to maintain it. The city board of Mayor and Aldermen have already passed an ordinance making the appropriation required for the maintenance of the library, which assures Mr. Carnegie's gift.

SAYS POPE AGAIN WILL HAVE TEMPORAL POWER

Archbishop Ireland Prophesies This Will Come to Pass Soon.

Declares in a Sermon that Leo is Practically a Prisoner in the Vatican.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Archbishop Ireland in a sermon preached at St. Patrick's Church to-day reviewed the question of the independence of the Pope, and prophesied that at no remote day the "Italian people and Christendom at large would give back to the papacy its wonted dignity and liberty." The discussion of what is known as the "Roman question" was especially significant, as the Archbishop during the latter's recent visit to Rome talked at length with the Pope.

The Archbishop referred to the Pope as a prisoner in the Vatican, voluntary in that no physical force prevents his leaving its precincts, and involuntary in that he could not go beyond the Vatican without impairing his dignity as Pontiff, and without seeming to accept the situation created for him by the entrance into Rome of the troops of the Italian Government.

He said the Catholic Church is "a divinely created organism, receiving directly from Christ its mission and all the rights which are needed that it may live and work; its life and mission are expressed in its supreme chief, the successor of Peter, and to him belong in a pre-eminent manner all the rights inherent in the Church, and whose possession is needed for fulfillment of its mission and work willed by Christ. Hence the Pontiff's right to independence and as a consequence to temporal sovereignty." The Archbishop said:

"If the Pope is a civil subject of an authority outside of himself, he has not the necessary freedom; the ruler or Government would interfere, make laws impairing his freedom of action, or strive to impose methods more serviceable to the State than the Church. The Pontiff's words must bear no possible suspicion that they were imposed by men who have no authority in things moral and spiritual.

"If the sovereign Pontiff be the subject of the King of Italy, what guarantee is there for other peoples and other rulers that, whether through fear or favor, Italian influences have not penetrated into the Vatican, and that Italian interests are not to be served. The period of national jealousies would be the greater were the foreign countries at the time warring with the King of Italy.

"We in America are willing, indeed, to hearken to the words of Peter, but it must be plain that they are not the words of a foreign ruler whose sole purpose is the interest of a foreign nationality, not of the Church.

"The sole effective guarantee of independence for the Pontiff is temporal sovereignty, which marks out for him sufficient space on earth upon which he may work in fulfilment of his mission with all the independence he needs. The dependence of a Bishop upon the civil ruler severs him from union with Christians in other countries, reduces his Church to the condition of a National Church, and disrupts the oneness of the universal church.

"Other Churches than the Catholic do not demand civil independence and temporal power for their chieftains, because no other Church than the Catholic is a world Church, nor aims at being at the same time universal and one, nor fulfills the injunction of the Saviour, 'Teach all nations.'

The Government of Italy, the Archbishop contended, should have remained somewhere outside of Rome.

STEEL TIES FOR RAILWAYS.

Experiments on the Lake Shore Road Give Satisfactory Results.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—A test is being made by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Road with steel ties. The company, like all others, is continually replacing old steel rails with new. No other practical use has been found for the old rails, and it has now been decided to try them for ties in place of wood.

Under the process the old rails are rerolled to flatten the heads. Several months ago a number of these steel rails were placed under the track of the Sandusky Division, and a careful examination made last week with a gauge showed that the steel ties had not allowed the gauge of the track to change a particle since they were laid. The first three oak ties on each side were also exact, while the fourth, fifth, and sixth wooden ties had widened to a considerable extent.

The Lake Shore people are pleased with the result of the test. It is said that these ties can be much better tamped than wooden ones and that with steel ties the track may be maintained more evenly. The average life of a wooden tie is six years. The Chief Engineer of the Lake Shore says he sees no reason why ties of steel should not last twenty-five years before deteriorating to an extent to necessitate renewal.

CENTRAL TO BUY A ROAD.

Arrangements to Absorb the Central New England Under Way.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 9.—The New York Central Railroad Company is to absorb the Central New England. A meeting of the general officers of the roads interested has been called for Dec. 20, in New York City. At this meeting the details of the transfer will be made and a reorganization of the system perfected.

It is expected that the transfer will go into effect on or about Feb. 1. The new management will spend from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 in improvements and new equipment, making the entire system equal to any of the lines now under the control of the New York Central. The branch from Tariffville, Conn., to Springfield, Mass., will be completed.

Under the new system cars will be floated from Rondout to Rhinecliff, which will bring them to the Rhinecliff Branch, a distance of twenty-two miles from the main line. The Central New England leases the Hartford, Connecticut and Western.

TO EXTEND THE READING'S FIELD.

Reported Vanderbilt Interests Will Make It a Through Road.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—It was stated to-day that the Vanderbilts and J. Pierpont Morgan had decided to develop the Reading into a great through route to the West, and would use the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Road for that purpose.

The New York Central has, within the past week, decided through its Board of Directors to extend its operations into the central soft coal territory of Pennsylvania, and will build 104 miles of new road in order to cover valuable coal properties. The Reading has a traffic agreement with the Beech Creek, running from Clearfield to Williamsport, and this is the link to Pittsburg.

The new through route takes in the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg, running from Buffalo to Rochester to Ridgeway, thence to Reynoldsville, Dubois, and Punxsutawney, and then to Pittsburg.

To Washington in Five Hours

From New York, Royal Blue 5-hour trains, leave foot of liberty St. 11:30 A. M., 1:00 P. M., and the "Royal Limited"—no excess fare—at 3:40 P. M. Other fast solid trains at 8:00, 10:00 A. M., 1:30, 5:00, 7:00 P. M., and 12:15 midnight. Leave South Ferry 5 minutes earlier. Best dining car and café car service in the world.—Adv.

THE TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE.

Santa Fe Officials Claim to Have the Situation Well in Hand—Shops Will Not Close.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—At the general offices in this city of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railway system, it is claimed tonight that the efforts of the striking telegraph operators to tie up the business of the system are being overcome. J. M. Barr, Third Vice President of the company, tonight made the following statement:

"Somewhat less than 40 per cent. of the operators employed responded to the strike order, and some of these have applied for re-employment. All passenger and freight trains are moving without interruption. As the strike has not reduced the volume of business moving, the normal forces of men in all branches of the service will be worked."

At all points, Mr. Barr announced, work will be resumed in the railway shops tomorrow morning as usual. At the general offices it was stated that all regular westbound trains left Chicago to-day on schedule time. The regular through passenger trains, the company officials claim, are but little delayed. The through California train arrived in Chicago this morning twenty minutes late, and the Colorado Express arrived but six minutes behind schedule time. The Colorado Exarcss train, which pulled out of Denver Saturday night four hours after the strike was declared, arrived in Kansas City to-day twenty minutes late. The California train en route east arrived in Kansas City to-day four hours late.

One hundred operators were employed today, it was said at the Santa Fé headquarters, to take the places of strikers. The new men being hired, it is said, are from all sections of the country.

Officials of the company claim to have the situation well in hand, and that both passenger and freight trains will be dispatched to-morrow without delay. Individual telegraphers who walked out here claim that the union men knew what they were doing when they walked out, and declare that the strikers will fight the battle to the bread and water point if necessary.

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 9.—The officials of the Santa Fé Road take a decidedly hopeful view of the telegraphers' strike situation. They all say the backbone of the strike is practically broken already, and that the affairs of the road will be in their normal condition inside of two weeks. The officers felt justified to-night, in view of the alleged improvement in conditions, in rescinding the order closing the shops.

H. U. Mudge, General Manager of the road, sent out a general order this afternoon to all operators who had not yet gone out, offering to promote them if they would continue in their resistance to the strikers.

Mr. Mudge, speaking of the situation, said: "I thought last night that we would have a serious time. In this belief the order was issued for the closing of the shops. To-day the conditions seem to be so much improved that the order closing the shops will be rescinded. I think we can use all our men in the old way. This much is certain, however, not one of the men who have gone out on the strike will be taken back into the employ of the company. They left our employ without a cause, and now they will have to suffer for their neglect."

A meeting of the operators of Topeka and surrounding points was held here to-day. After a thorough discussion of the matter it was agreed that the situation looked very bright for the operators. Mention was made in the meeting of the claim of the company that Rule 30 of the agreement between the operators and the company had been violated.

In reply to the contention of the company on this point they say Rule 30 is not violated by the men refusing to work. This rule applies only when a revision of the schedule is desired when the General Chairman gives thirty days' notice.

Orange Growers May Suffer.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Dec. 9.—The telegraphers' strike has caused consternation among the orange growers and shippers of this city, as, if the strike is continued, it will undoubtedly result in a heavy loss to them. An average of 100 cars of oranges is being shipped from this vicinity daily. Nearly the entire crop is ready for shipment. There are more than 500 carloads of oranges billed from this city to the East, and if the strike assumes the proportions which threaten, the oranges will probably be side-tracked.

Trains Behind Time.

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 9.—Considerable difficulty attended the running of Santa Fé trains to-day. This was particularly the case with east-bound traffic, and arose from the fact that trains which are not scheduled to stop at small stations were compelled to do so because danger signals were displayed, and no orders could be telegraphed. West-bound trains were running close to the schedule.

Men Unwilling to Strike.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 9.—The local train dispatcher of the Santa Fé Road announces that all trains are on time, and that the strike will in no way interfere with traffic. He declared that in all, less than sixty operators have gone out west of Albuquerque. In this city only four operators quit work. There is great reluctance on the part of the members of the order who have good positions to go on the sympathetic strike.

Trains Tied Up in New Mexico.

ALBUQUERQUE, New Mexico, Dec. 9.—The strike of the Santa Fé operators is beginning to be felt here. Passenger trains are all several hours late to-night, and, while there are plenty of operators here, freight trains are tied up waiting for orders at several stations where men have gone out.

WANT ANTI-POLYGAMY LAW.

Women's Interdenominational Union to Work for Its Passage.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—A mass meeting was held here to-day under the auspices of the Women's Interdenominational Union in the interests of the proposed Constitutional amendment prohibiting polygamy in the United States and in all territory under its jurisdiction. Dr. Josiah Strong, President of the Social League of New York City, presided.

In an address he recalled the mass meeting held a year ago in the same church to oppose the seating of Mr. Roberts of Utah, in the House of Representatives, and the sending of a petition to Congress protesting against seating him, and also asking for legislative prohibition of polygamy in all States. No action had been taken on the request for an anti-polygamy law, Dr. Strong, and the meeting was intended to press the issue. A letter was read from ex-Senator George F. Edmunds, who has made a study of this question for many years, which stated in part:

Until within a year or two I was of the opinion that such an amendment was unnecessary, inasmuch as this crime is punishable by law in all of the States. Under existing circumstances, however, and looking to the future, I have come to the conclusion that it is much safer, and perhaps indispensable in respect to some portions of our country, that such an amendment, covering nothing else, be adopted.

Dr. Sarah J. Elliott of Moab, Utah, expressed herself strongly in respect to polygamy in Utah.

The sentiment of the Methodist Episcopal Church was voiced by the Rev. Dr. Heisse, who said that the power of his denomination would be exerted to the utmost to bring about the passage of the proposed law.

Illinois Epileptic Colony.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Ephraim Banning and Robert Bell of Chicago, members of the Board of Commissioners of Public Charities, have reported to Gov. Tanner on the question of a site for an Illinois colony of epileptics, favoring the Grand Detour location in Ogle County. The Legislature will be asked to appropriate $350,000 for purchasing the grounds and the erection of the buildings.

One Perfect Round of Perfection.

The service on the Pennsylvania Railroad to the West. Sumptuous sleeping cars, delectable dining cars, and a roadbed that knows no jolts.—Adv.

YACHT ROSINA AGROUND

Blown on Rocky Point After Rough Trip from Lynn, Mass.

Crew Rescued with Difficulty—Is a New Vessel and Was on Her Way to Philadelphia.

GREENPORT, L. I., Dec. 9.—The schooner yacht Rosina is aground off Rocky Point, and will probably go to pieces. She is pounding hard on the rocks, and, as the wind holds high, it is thought she cannot be saved. Her crew was taken off to-day by the life savers from the Rocky Point Station.

The Rosina was a new boat, and was completed on Dec. 1. That day she passed from the hands of her builders, a firm at Lynn, Mass., to her owner, Harry T. Melpass of Philadelphia. She is sixty-two feet long. Mr. Melpass had sent a crew from Philadelphia to work the schooner to that city.

The departure from Lynn was made on Dec. 2. She had bad weather from the start, and when near Martha's Vineyard ran into rough weather and high winds. Her small boats were both carried away by waves washing over her. Her upper works and fixtures were also slightly damaged. She put into Woods Hole, where two new boats were secured and what repairs appeared necessary were made.

Her intended course was through Long Island Sound, New York Bay, and thence down the Jersey coast to Atlantic City, where she was to await further orders inside the breakwater. She left Woods Hole yesterday afternoon, and made good progress until about 2 o'clock this morning, when the wind shifted and began to blow out of the northwest. She had then to beat into the wind to pass through the Sound. Her steering gear gave way, and, despite the efforts of the crew to rig temporary apparatus, she drifted toward the rocks. Her anchors would not hold and she was soon in difficulty.

Her distress signals were seen by the Rocky Point crew. The schooner was too far out for the gun, so the surfboat was manned at 9 o'clock, and after an hour's hard work the life savers were alongside the schooner. The four men on board were transferred to the lifeboat with much difficulty, as the surfboat could not be brought close enough for them to get into it. Finally a line was passed from the schooner to the surfboat, and along this the men made their way. They were taken to the station and cared for.

STEEL AND WIRE MEETING.

John W. Gates Arrives and Holds a Conference—Rumors of His Defeat Start Afresh.

The Directors of the American Steel and Wire Company will have a meeting to-day, and all sorts of rumors are afloat regarding what may be done. One is that John W. Gates of Chicago will be ousted from control, and several Directors will resign. Mr. Gates, Isaac Elwood, and John Lambert, members of the Directory, arrived from Chicago last night, and went to the Waldorf-Astoria, where they were soon joined by P. A. B. Widener and Thomas Dolan of Philadelphia; Max Pam of counsel for the company, and others interested in steel and wire affairs, and they sat down to dinner in Room 16.

Messrs. Gates and Elwood, in response to cards sent to them, declined to see reporters. All were in close conference for a long time after the meal was over.

FAITH IN STRANGE VISION.

Artist, Pain-stricken, Sees, He Believes, Apparition of Relatives, and Obeys Their Ghostly Injunction.

The congregation of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street and Columbus Avenue, spent much time yesterday discussing the story of a vision that appeared to Frederick Campbell, causing him to avow his intention of joining the Roman Catholic Church. He is now receiving instruction from the pastor, the Rev. Father Huntman, and his assistant, the Rev. Father McMullen, and attended the mass yesterday for the first time.

Mr. Campbell, who is an artist, thirty-four years of age, was born in St. John, New Brunswick, where his father, George Campbell, died nine years ago. His only sister died there twenty-six years ago at the age of seven. About fifteen years ago Mr. Campbell married and now lives with his wife and two children at 406 West One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Street. For years Campbell has been a great sufferer from gastritis. About a month ago he was taken with violent pains early one morning, and, not caring to arouse his wife, remained quiet for some time. The room, Mr. Campbell says, was in total darkness when suddenly there appeared to him a vision of his father and sister. His father, he says, spoke to him and said:

"You must join the Roman Catholic Church."

His sister repeated the sentence after the father and begged her brother to follow the advice. Mr. Campbell says he promised to abide by their wishes and their ghostly forms disappeared.

Mr. Campbell told the story of the apparition to a friend last evening in all seriousness and declares that he was wide awake at the time, as the pains that he was suffering from were very acute. He said nothing about the apparition to his wife. Since that time he has not suffered with gastritis.

He confided in his friend, Deputy Tax Commissioner Walter Murray, a son of ex-Superintendent of Police Murray, who resides at 257 West One Hundred and Thirty-second Street. Mr. Murray advised him to go and see the pastor of St. Joseph's Church. He will be baptized on New Year's eve in St. Joseph's Church, and Mrs. William Mcakim of 17 West One Hundred and Thirtieth Street will act as godmother and Commissioner Murray as godfather. Mrs. Campbell and her two children attend St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, One Hundred and Twenty-seventh Street and Fifth Avenue.

MRS. G. M. PULLMAN TO MARRY?

Chicago Rumor Says She Will Wed a New York Artist.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—The report is current that Mrs. George M. Pullman, widow of the palace car magnate, is to be married to Gerard Barry, a New York artist, before the end of the Winter.

There are whisperings of a romance connected with the acquaintance of Mr. Barry with the Pullman family. About ten years ago Marshall Field employed the artist, who was not then thirty years old, to paint the portrait of his daughter. The portrait won the admiration of Mr. Pullman, who gave the artist a number of sittings. In the weeks that he was at work putting the features of the millionaire on canvas Mr. Barry gained the friendship of the entire Pullman family. Last Summer he was commissioned to paint a portrait of Mrs. Pullman.

The daily sittings, which extended over two months, are said to have developed the old-time friendship between Mrs. Pullman and Mr. Barry into affection. When the portrait was finished the painter had fallen in love.

When Mrs. Pullman came to Chicago two months ago Mr. Barry soon followed her, and an army of decorators has since been employed making changes in the house, and before long, it is said, Mr. Barry will be its new master.

$6.50 to Washington, D. C., and return via Royal Blue Line for the Centennial Celebration. Tickets good to go on December 11th, and to return on or before December 14th. Stations in New York, Central R. R. of New Jersey, Liberty Street, and South Ferry.—Adv.

J. J. HILL ON SHIP SUBSIDIES.

President of the Great Northern Thinks Money Will Go to Those Who Do Not Need It.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—President James J. Hill of the Great Northern Railroad was the guest of the Bankers' Club at the monthly dinner last night. In the course of the address he made he discussed the Ship Subsidy bill. He said he had made some inquiry concerning the building of boats in this country and upon the Clyde, and found that he could have them constructed in this country at a much lower figure than in Scotland. This, he declared, did not look much as if a subsidy were needed for shipping. If such a measure were passed it would in his opinion assist most those who needed no assistance, and he mentioned the "ocean greyhounds" as those most likely to be benefited.

"The subsidy scheme," said Mr. Hill, "is an excellent thing if it is not abused. I believe that if we could pay a tonnage on the actual commodities of a certain kind based on the distance carried there would be some justice in a subsidy. I analyzed carefully the first bill that was drawn, and found that out of $9,000,000, about $7,500,000 went to what is known as 'the American Line,' a good friend of mine, and nine gentlemen. They are always very kind to me when I am crossing. At the same time why should we as a Nation pay nine millions a year for thirty years, and twelve seven-eighths of it go to ten or twelve ships?

"I am glad to say that when attention was called to this the bill was amended, and it is now in much better shape. The nine million is to be distributed pro rata among all the ships that sail under the American flag, and they have set apart 30 per cent. of the appropriation for the Pacific Ocean. No doubt some of my friends thought they were serving me, and in a money sense perhaps they were, but I would much rather see them take the duty off the plates that are to go into the ships when they are built. If Congress will appropriate $180,000,000 for a class of ships that will reduce the cost of carrying our commerce we will have a right to feel that they have done well, but we do not think that they should give the bulk of it to twenty or twenty-one ships that are only compelled to run 21 knots once to the satisfaction of the Government officer detailed for that purpose."

WANTED TO SAVE HIS HAT.

Admiral Melville's Solicitude for His Head Gear Despelled the Gloom in Mr. Long's Office.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—When the bids for the new ships were opened Friday in the office of the Secretary of the Navy, the proceedings began with a dignity that was positively oppressive. The room was crowded with shipbuilders, Admirals, and others, all of whom were weighed down under a burden of chilling solemnity. Even the genial Secretary seemed to be frightened by the seriousness of the occasion, as he took his place at the head of the table. There was a dead pause at this point, during which one might have heard a pin drop. It made Mr. Long nervous. He was opening his mouth to speak when Admiral Melville, who was next him, leaned forward with a look of concern and deferentially whispered to him.

Mr. Long did not catch what the Admiral said, but pretended that he did. He looked thoughtful, nodded, and murmured, "Very well, Admiral." He was turning away toward the shipbuilders when the Admiral, determined to make him hear, roared forth in a voice that penetrated every corner of the room:

"I say, you have the leg of your chair through my hat!"

Admiral Melville has a voice like the bellow of the bull, and it is full of fog and salt water. The Secretary heard, and so did everybody else, and the howl of laughter that went up destroyed all the impressiveness of the occasion.

MEMORIAL TO JOHN N. BROWN.

His Widow Will Erect a Handsome Church in Newport.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, Dec. 9.—The congregation of Emmanuel Church, where many of the cottagers attend service, learned to-day that Mrs. Natalie Brown, widow of John Nicholas Brown, had decided to erect a handsome stone church on the present site in memory of her husband. The work will be started early next Spring, and a temporary place of worship will be secured while the new edifice is being constructed.

John Nicholas Brown was one of the Vestrymen of Emmanuel Church for many years, and one of its hard-working members. There is a considerable portion of land belonging to the church which the present edifice does not cover, but which the new memorial church will take in.

WHY "SCINDIA" BECAME "AJAX"

Navy Department Objected to Having the Collier Called "Cinders."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—It was explained to-day why the Navy Department changed the name of the Scindia to Ajax. The Scindia, it appears, acquired an unenviable reputation in the navy by reason of her smokiness. She was to be distinguished in a crowd by the tide of soot and clinkers which she continually belched forth. The men on board the Scindia acquired a disrespect for her and altered her name to the "Cinders."

The Scindia had become generally known as the Cinders throughout the navy, and was even becoming celebrated under that appellation in foreign countries. The Navy Department decided that this title was bringing the vessel into disrepute, and altered her name to the more imposing one of Ajax. It is believed that it will be an ingenious tar who can invent a parody on this name that will suggest smoke.

VANDERBILT IN AN ARGUMENT.

Convinced Man Who Left Horse Unattended that He Was Wrong.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Dec. 9.—William K. Vanderbilt, Jr.'s, white motor vehicle caused a runaway accident here to-day. Mr. Vanderbilt was passing through the village on his way to Centre Island. He was running slowly along South Street. A horse belonging to Leonard Hicks that had been left in front of a drug store while his owner was inside became frightened as the motor vehicle approached. Mr. Vanderbilt stopped short, but the horse bolted and ran against a pole, with the resulting damage of a broken harness and a broken shaft.

Mr. Hicks was inclined to be angry, but quieted down when Mr. Vanderbilt lectured him about leaving horses in the streets without being tied to a hitching post and enlightened him as to the law on the subject. The bystanders agreed that Mr. Vanderbilt's position was correct. Mr. Vanderbilt then directed that the needed repairs to harness and buggy be made and the bill sent to him.

S. F. B. Morse's Old Home Sold.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Dec. 9.—The old home of Prof. Samuel F. B. Morse, the inventor of the telegraph, situated on the old Post Road near Poughkeepsie, has been sold by William Morse, one of Prof. Morse's sons, to F. J. Hulst. The furniture in the old house has been disposed of by Mr. Morse to friends in Poughkeepsie, who will treasure it on account of its associations.

Mr. Morse's wife is dead, and his daughter and brother are abroad, and as there was no one in the family who cared to take the old place, he decided to dispose of it. The property is one of the handsomest on the South Road. Much of the land is level, and from the west side there is a beautiful view of the Highlands of the Hudson from Newburg to the Catskills.

CHAFFEE OFFENDS ENVOYS

They Are Displeased by His Measures to Prevent Looting.

ORDERS TO SIGN JOINT NOTE

All Representatives, Except British, Instructed—Yu Hsien's Execution—Plans for New Legations.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—"Gen. Chafee wrote a letter to Count von Waldersee," says the Peking correspondent of The Morning Post, "complaining of the removal by French and German troops of the astronomical instruments from the wall of Peking, but the letter was returned to him on account of its tone. He has notified the foreign envoys that all persons are prohibited passthe American guard on entering the south gate of the palace, owing to the frequent cases of looting. The Ministers are offended at this individual assumption of authority.

"Yung Lu, who is now acting as the adviser of the Chinese Court, enjoys the favor of the Empress Dowager, and is forming regiments which may be trusted to defend the Court.

"I am informed that the execution of Yu-Hsien is certain whenever the envoys demand it."

Dr. Morrison, in a dispatch to The Times, dated Peking, Dec. 6, says:

"A prominent Chinese official tells me he believes the edict degrading Gen. Tung-Fu-Hsiang is the outcome of the Empress Dowager's alarm at the report received by her from the Southern Viceroys of the intention of the Germans to send an expedition to cut off the Court's supplies. He further declares that the Court is prepared to make a scapegoat of Yu-Hsien."

PEKING, Dec. 9.—The removal of Gen. Tung-Fu-Hsiang from the command of the Chinese forces surrounding the Court is considered by the foreign envoys to be a very important step, as showing the real desire of the Government to come to terms. His banishment indicates that the Court recognizes the expediency of obeying the demands of the powers.

All the foreign envoys except Sir Ernest Mason Satow, the British Minister, have received instructions from their Governments agreeing to the joint note proposed at the last meeting. Another meeting will probably be called for Tuesday next. Should the British Minister have received his instructions to sign the joint note by that time, communication will be opened immediately with Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang, who are in daily touch with the Court by the Chinese telegraph.

Prince Ching says Emperor Kwang Su is ready to return as soon as assured that the negotiations will allow him to come under conditions consonant with his dignity and safety.

The International Club was opened today, its object being to bring together in a spirit of social harmony the officers and diplomats of the various nations. There was a large company present, and music was discoursed by military bands. It is expected that the club will continue a great success. The building was formerly an Imperial temple.

The Envoys are considering the question of legation buildings in the future. At present none of the Governments owns its buildings, all the houses being rented. The only ones not damaged considerably are the American, British, and Russian.

It is proposed that all the legation buildings should be concentrated within a square mile west of the

BISHOP CONDEMNS VANITY

Dr. Potter at the Memorial Service of Ascension Church.

He Attacks Tawdry Ecclesiastical Ceremonial and Ostentatious Mausoleums —His Reference to Saloons.

The annual memorial service of Ascension Memorial Church, in West Forty-third Street, west of Broadway, was held last night. The services were conducted by the Rev. John F. Steen, the rector, and the musical programme was under the direction of Henry E. Duncan, organist of the Church of the Heavenly Rest. The church was originally a mission of Ascension Parish, and it was erected as a memorial of the departed members of that parish. During the service last night the names of fifteen deceased members of the King's Daughters were read, the congregation standing.

The sermon was preached by Bishop Henry C. Potter, who took for his text Joshua xxiv., 26 and 27, in which it is related how Joshua put up a stone to be a memorial of the covenant between God and His people. The power of association, the Bishop said, is one of the greatest forces in the world. He referred to the tablet in Chester, which tells that King Charles stood on that spot and watched the defeat of his army and to the flood of tragic historical memories it calls up. He continued:

"You go into a shop, a house, or a saloon—that is, if you go into a saloon, and you'd better stay out of it—and you can tell at once by the appearance of the place the character of the people who belong there. They don't need to tell you the kind of people they are. They have already given themselves away, to use our vulgar phrase. They have pictured themselves on the walls. There is a determined law of action and reaction between the spiritual man and his physical environments. We can't get away from it.

"Some of your here are as I am, sprung from the children of children's children of members of the Society of Friends. Now the Friends sprang from a very noble conception, a protest against certain tawdry ceremonials. The result of that protest is that the plainest place in the world is the Friends' meeting house. Their action was one of the finest exhibitions ever given of men completely purging themselves of all vanities. But they went too far. Suppose that every woman in the world should be influenced to throw away her wedding ring, because such adornments are sometimes made the subject of a foolish superstition—as they sometimes are—I think you will agree with me that a good deal that we value would be lost.

"Some day some man with the courage of his convictions—which most of us haven't—will write a book on the extravagancies and grotesqueries that are everywhere to be seen in American cemeteries. Some men with no ancestral associations try to build themselves into the history of the future by erecting costly mausoleums, just as one who did recently built one at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars. Think of it—a quarter of a million dollars for housing the carcass of one man. I think the time will come when men will not only see aright, but will describe such a thing as it ought to be described.

"Because of the value of association, I rejoice that the rector of this church, has established this new saints' day. I don't know just what authority he has for doing it, and I am not sure what I ought to do myself, but I bless it and do not ban it.

"I wish, also, to congratulate you upon the success achieved in the recent improvement of this building. If I had been asked in advance, I would have been doubtful of the ability of a modern Vestry to conserve the virtues of an old building. I don't know whether you know it, but this building has some of the older virtues, including an old-fashioned gallery. I am glad you did not take out the gallery. Too many of our new churches have no gallery, and are so lengthened out that worship is an act of faith in a sense not originally intended. You have also done well not to have the building smeared all over with the hideous polychrome that is so common nowadays, and for using instead a simple unity of tint. You have now one of the most dignified church edifices in New York."

LABOR MUST START REFORMS.

The Rev. R. Heber Newton Says the Chamber of Commerce Movement Is Misdirected.

The Civic Federation, which was organized by the Rev. W. D. P. Bliss and members of reform and labor organizations to purify New York, especially the east side, and agitate for others reforms, held a meeting last night at the Social Reform Club, 45 University Place, to arrange for a dinner to usher the old century out. The dinner will be called "Labor's Greeting to the Twentieth Century." A committee of one hundred has been appointed to bring about the reforms, and a half for the dinner will be selected this week.

The Rev. R. Heber Newton, rector of All Souls' Church, sent a letter inclosing a check for $100 toward the movement, in which he said: "I am profoundly impressed with the importance of the movement. The chronic difficulties in the way of all civic reforms is illustrated afresh in the action of the Chamber of Commerce, well meant and earnestly prompted, but blind as all such movements have been to the necessity and key of making the movement help not merely the professions and the business men, but the great foundation ranks of labor. My deep conviction is that no permanent lasting reform is achievable in this city unless it starts from this foundation."

DONKEY AT THE STATION DOOR.

Backed Out Hurriedly, Hurt Two Boys, and Then Was Dragged to a Stable.

Sergt. Sullivan of the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Street Police Station was startled last night by the sight of a donkey's head thrust in the police station door. The Sergeant uttered an exclamation which frightened the donkey and caused him to back with such vigor that he sent sprawling on the sidewalk two little boys, William Riley and George Schmitzer, who were endeavoring to assist the animal into the station by vigorous pressure from behind. The boys were as frightened as the donkey, and when they picked themselves up fled.

The intention of the boys was good. They had found the donkey wandering about near One Hundred and Twentieth Street and Lexington Avenue. After some vigorous persuasion they got the obstinate little brute to the station. Policeman Ruffmeyer was detailed to take charge of the donkey. He enlisted a posse, and after about twenty minutes of pushing, pulling, and shouting, the donkey was dangled in Kahn's stables on One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Street, near Third Avenue.

DEAD CHILD IN HER ARMS.

Fatalities Among the Offspring of a Colored Woman—Her Explanation.

A colored woman, calling herself Bertha Lee of 544 West Forty-fifth Street, walked into Roosevelt Hospital at midnight last night with a three-year-old child in her arms. A doctor examined the child and found it to be dead. The woman said the child's name was Louise and that she had had a cold.

The woman was recognized as the same person who on Tuesday morning had taken a two-year-old child named Laura to the hospital. The child died next day. The woman then gave her name as Bertha King of 530 West Forty-fifth Street. When charged with this she said she was married to the father of the second child, but not to the father of the first. She said her husband had been dead eight months.

Another child, she said, died a year ago. She said she had moved from 530 to 544 West Forty-fifth Street. The hospital officials did not detain her, but informed the Coroners' office of the circumstances.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

MAN SHOT ON THE STREET.

Said to Have Been Killed by Passer-by After Altercation—Police Doubt Witnesses' Story.

Frank Dooley, whose home was 606 Henderson Street, Jersey City, was shot by an unknown man last night at Henderson and Fifteenth Streets, Jersey City, and died in the City Hospital an hour later without having regained consciousness.

According to the accounts given by men who are detained as witnesses, two men jostled Dooley as he stood on the corner. An altercation ensued, which was ended by one of the strangers drawing a revolver and shooting him in the head. The strangers then ran away, and disappeared before the astounded onlookers had recovered presence of mind enough to follow them. Chief of Police Murphy, however, is inclined to believe that the shot was fired in self-defense.

The neighborhood is infested by many gangs, who do not hesitate to demand money from strangers in the streets. The Chief does not charge that Dooley was a member of one of these gangs. Dooley was a shoemaker by trade, but had a penchant for tramping. He lost a leg some time ago while on one of his tours, his leg being crushed beneath the wheels of a freight train.

The men detained are Henry and William Dooley, brothers of the man who was shot; William Barry of 182 Eighteenth Street, William Curtin of 594 Henderson Street, and Thomas Moran of 617½ Henderson Street. They claim to have been on the corner opposite the one where the shooting occurred. The Chief believes that one or more of them were with Dooley.

Rogers Engine Works May Reopen.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 9.—It is generally understood here to-night that the negotiations that are pending for the sale of the Rogers Locomotive Works to a syndicate headed by the Katz Brothers, the heads of the Paterson Brewing and Malting Company, are so far advanced that it is almost certain the deal will be closed this week. It is understood that Mr. Rogers has at last modified his demand relative to a bond to bind the purchaser to accept the valuations of appraisers. It is said that the Katz Brothers plan to have the works in operation within a month.

"CHUCK" CONNORS ARRESTED.

Played Pranks on a Sleeping Man and Both Were Locked Up.

For playing a practical joke on a sleeping man, "Chuck" Connors, the noted white leader of Chinatown, was a prisoner in the Eldridge Street Station last night. Detective McDermott of the Eldridge Street Station saw two men running through Bayard Street. One would be caught and pummeled and then escape. The detective arrested both and took them to the station house. One was "Chuck" Connors and the other John McDonald, a lunchman of 20 Bowery. McDonald's face was blackened with soot and burnt cork and his eye brows and lashes were entirely missing.

McDonald said that he was asleep in a Bowery lodging house when Connors proposed to blacken his face. When he awoke the men commenced to dance a war dance about him. McDonald said that he took the joke good-naturedly and asked Connors for a pipe of tobacco. Connors gave him the pipefull and he lighted it, but it had gunpowder, which exploded and burned off his lashes and brows. Both were locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct, but the Sergeant would not allow McDonald to make any other charge against Connors.

AMERICANS OUTBID ENGLISH.

Better Prices on Locomotives for Calcutta Port Commissioners.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The Daily Mail has received the following by mail, from its Calcutta correspondent:

"The Port Commissioners recently invited tenders for locomotives. The lowest English tender quoted £1,544 for each locomotive, and wanted nine months to complete the order. The lowest American tender quoted £1,200, and asked for six months. The latter was accepted, subject to the approval of the Government."

German Idea of the United States.

BERLIN, Dec. 9.—The National Zeitung devotes its first page to-day to a carefully prepared editorial dealing with the United States as a world power. After pointing out the enormous progress, economically and politically, of America in the world's affairs, the editorial declares that in both respects the United States is arrayed against Europe.

Duke of Westminster to Wed Miss West

LONDON, Dec. 9.—It is authoritatively asserted that the Duke of Westminster is engaged to marry Miss Shelagh West, daughter of Col. Cornwallis West. By the marriage the Duke will become the brother-in-law of Mrs. George Cornwallis West (Lady Randolph Churchill.)

Roumania Will Not Lease Oil Fields.

FRANKFORT-ON-THE-MAIN, Dec. 9.—According to a dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung from Bucharest the Roumanian Government has broken off the negotiations with the Standard Oil Company for a lease of the petroleum fields.

Czar Is Gaining In Weight.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 9.—A satisfactory bulletin issued at Livadia to-day concerning the Czar's condition says: "His Majesty's weight is increasing, and the organs affected by typhoid have returned to their normal condition."

Relics of Lord Nelson Stolen.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Several relics of Lord Nelson, including his watch and many of the medals awarded him, were stolen from the Greenwich Hospital Saturday after the attendants left. The police have no trace of the thief.

Arabi Pasha to be Pardoned.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—"The anniversary of the accession of the Khédive," says the Cairo correspondent of The Daily Express, "will be signalized by the pardon of Arabi Pasha, who will thus be enabled to return from Ceylon."

German Arbitrators Selected.

BERLIN, Dec. 9.—The German members of the International Court of Arbitration at The Hague will be Dr. Bingner, President of the Senate of the High Court; Herr von Frantzius, Councilor of the Foreign Office and Councilor of the High Court, and Prof. von Barr of the University of Goettingen.

American Seeks Concession in Holland.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The Daily Express publishes an interview this morning with F. W. Hawley, Vice President of the Erie Canal Electric Traction Company, who has just made a tour of the principal canal systems in Europe. Mr. Hawley said that he expected to obtain, very shortly, a concession for electric canal traction in Holland, and that he could see a great opening in France and England.

DRY GOODS STORE PLUNDERED.

Burglars Carried Their Booty Away on a Handcart.

A big haul by burglars, information about which was suppressed by the police, was made in Brooklyn at an early hour Thursday morning. The place entered was the dry goods store of George Greenblatt, 25 and 27 Manhattan Avenue. The thieves obtained entrance by cutting the iron bars of a rear window which opens on to a lot facing Varet Street. They took about $3,000 worth of silk and dress goods, using a handcart to carry off the plunder. They also broke open the cash register and took $130. When Mr. Greenblatt had a store on Seigel Street and Graham Avenue about a year ago his store was robbed of a large amount of goods, which were found a few days later by the police in a cellar adjoining the store from which they had been taken. How they got there was never explained. The police have no clue to the robbers who entered the Manhattan Avenue store Thursday.

Mrs. F. T. P. Plimpton Dead.

Mrs. Frances Taylor Pearsons Plimpton, wife of George A. Plimpton, a member of the publishing house of Ginn & Co. and the Treasurer of Barnard College, died yesterday at her residence, 41 East Thirty-third Street. Her death was due to heart disease, and was very sudden. Mrs. Plimpton was the daughter of Judge William E. C. Pearsons of Holyoke, Mass. She was born at Westfield, Mass., in 1862, and was a graduate of Wellesley College. She was the President of the Wellesley Alumni Association, and was a member of many societies in New England.

A WIFE AND A DRUGGIST GONE FROM THE BRONX

Mrs. Romer Left Six Children—Drug Store for Sale.

HORSEWHIPPED BY HUSBAND

Mother Kissed All of Her Children and Disappeared—Letters Received from Her Posted in New Jersey.

The mysterious disappearance at the same time of Mrs. Louise Romer, wife of Joseph Romer, furniture dealer at One Hundred and Forty-eighth Street and Third Avenue, and of Dr. Joseph A. Powellson, who kept a drug store at 1,998 Webster Avenue, is regarded as more than a coincidence. Six children await the return of the absent mother, while a sign on the drug store announces that it is for sale.

"My wife has, I believe, eloped with Dr. Powellson," said Romer yesterday. "Last Summer she became acquainted with the doctor, and used to stop in the drug store frequently to get soda water. In the meantime she neglected the house. The children began to carry notes back and forth, and finally the neighbors, who noticed what was going on, began to talk. It was from people in the vicinity of the drug store that I first learned of the state of affairs. At first I distrusted the information, and finally decided to watch for myself. I did not have to watch long before I saw enough to justify my suspicions.

"Last week I paid Mr. Powellson a visit, and gave him a good horsewhipping. He sent to the Tremont Police Station for an officer, but I got out of the way before he arrived. However, he would not have dared to have had me arrested for the reason that it would show him up.

"On Thursday evening when I returned from business Mrs. Romer was gone. When I questioned the children I found that she had told them she was going to visit her sister, Mrs. Frank, who resides in Pelham Avenue, Fordham. She sold two lots in Mount Hope for about $3,000, and took this money with her when she left. I have placed the case in the hands of a lawyer, who is looking for the couple, and I will have them in court when we lay hands upon them."

Powellson is about thirty-eight years of age, and Mrs. Romer is possibly a year his junior. She is the daughter of an old and well-to-do resident of Mount Hope named Leiman, and was married to Romer about eighteen years ago. The couple occupied a pretty two-story cottage at 635 East One Hundred and Eighty-third Street. The youngest of the six children is three years old and the eldest seventeen. Gertrude Romer, the fifteen-year-old daughter, has been keeping house for her father and attending to the children since the mother's disappearance. She said:

"Mamma kissed us all good-bye before she left the house, and said she was going to visit my aunt in Fordham, promising to be home early in the evening. Since then I have not seen her. A letter came to me postmarked Jersey City, in which she sent us her love and said she would look out for us. She was very good to us, and we all loved her dearly."

Powellson, who had been doing a good business at his drug store on Webster Avenue, closed his store the day Mrs. Romer disappeared. On the day following Powellson's disappearance Gustav A. Raszewski, a neighbor and a personal friend, living at 2,024 Webster Avenue, received a communication from Powellson requesting him to sell the store for the best figure he could get.

"While is is true that Powellson and Mrs. Romer were friendly," said Raszewski, "I do not believe that they are together. He told me of the horsewhipping, and it seemed to bother him, as he said it made a show of him before the entire neighborhood. He also knew that the visits of Mrs. Romer were exciting much comment among the residents, but of this he took little heed."

Mrs. Frank, who resides at Pelham and Cambreiling Avenues, Fordham, a sister of the missing woman, says that Mrs. Romer called upon her the day she disappeared. In talking about the matter Mrs. Frank said: "As my sister left the house she said, 'Good-bye, you'll never see me again.' On the following day one of the children came to me inquiring for her mother. Since she disappeared I received a letter from her postmarked Newark, N. J., saying that she was ill, but she said nothing about her whereabouts or where we could find her. I do not believe that she has eloped. She is a good woman, and would not do anything that was wrong."

NEW AUTOMOBILE CLUB.

Special to The New York Times.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Dec. 9.—The Westchester Automobile Club is the name of a new organization which has been formed by a number of well-known New Yorkers, many of whom own country seats in the northern part of Westchester and along the northern shore of Long Island Sound. The club purposes to establish supply stations for motor vehicles on the country roads leading to the Ardsley Casino, the Knollwood Country Club, and the Westchester Country Club.

Howard Willetts, one of the organizers of the club, said to-night that the club already had forty members, among them being Paul Gibert Thebaud, Percy Chubb, Sidney Dillon, W. K. Vanderbilt, W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Worthington Whitehouse, George Fordyce Leith, Henry Graef, J. Scott McComb, E. S. Reynal, Gen. George M. Smith, Oliver Harriman, Jr., J. Dunbar Wright, Albert C. Bostwick, Bradford B. McGregor, F. W. S. Cochrane, and Frederick W. Geissenhainer.

Rabbi Refuses New York Call.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 9.—Rabbi Leon Harrison to-night informed the Commissioners from Temple Emanu-El who came here from New York that he would not accept the pastorate of that synagogue. The Commissioners will depart to-morrow for home. They assured Rabbi Harrison that nine-tenths of the congregation would vote for him, but he declined to accept. He says that he prefers to remain in St. Louis with Temple Israel.

Woman Probably Fatally Burned.

NORWICH, Conn., Dec. 9.—The village of Taftville, four miles from this city, was visited early this morning by the worst fire in its history. In all nine buildings were destroyed, two of them business blocks, and twelve families were rendered homeless, losing in most cases all their household effects, and even clothing. One woman, Mrs. Ernestine Duprez, received severe and probably fatal burns about the face and head. The total property loss is about $20,000.

Governor's Staff in Connecticut.

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 9.—Governor-elect McLean announces the appointment of the following members of his staff: Adjutant General—George H. Cole of New London; Quartermaster General—George B. Newton of Hartford; Surgeon General—Dr. George H. Knight of Lakeville; Paymaster General—John W. Atwood of Plainfield; Judge Advocate General—Phelps Montgomery of New Haven.

Old Railroad Man Dead.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 9.—William H. Jackson, Secretary of the Union Railway Company, and the oldest man in active railroad service in the United States, both in years and point of service, died here today. He was past ninety-one years of age and had been a resident of Indianapolis for nearly three quarters of a century.

Tug's Start for Manila Delayed.

The little naval tug Wampatuck, which has been ordered to Manila, did not start yesterday on her long and risky voyage, as had been expected. At the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where the tug is lying, it was said that her sailing was postponed because of the rough weather.

Washington Centennial.

Centennial Celebration, Washington, D. C., December 12th. Special rate via Pennsylvania Railroad of $6.50 for round trip.

Tickets sold and good going on December 11th, and returning until December 14th, inclusive.—Adv.

START OF SIX-DAY RACE

Large Crowd See the Cyclists Off on Their Week's Grind.

FOURTEEN TEAMS STARTED

Sprint Races Will Be Run on the Madison Square Garden Track Every Evening.

2 O'CLOCK SCORE.

	Miles.	Laps.
Elkes and McFarland	49	2
Simar and Gugoelz	49	2
Pierce and McEachern	49	2
Babcock and Aaronson	49	1
Waller and Stinson	49	1
Miller and Walthauer	49	1
Turville and Gimm	49	1
Frederick and Fisher	49	1
Colgan and Dickerson	49	1
Karser and Ryser	49	..
Muller and Auchoutrier	49	..
H. McLean and A. McLean	49	..
Dubois and Krebs	48	9
Albert and Bleecker	48	9

Its spectacular features multiplied and the exactions of the long struggle increased, the annual six days' bicycle race by relay teams of two was begun at 12:05 o'clock this morning, in Madison Square Garden, in the presence of a crowd of 5,000 people, who cheered and applauded the competitors with an earnestness that left no doubt as to the popularity of that form of contest. In an atmosphere thick with tobacco smoke and filled with the cries of excited spectators, the fourteen men, representatives of as many teams, sprinted away at the crack of a pistol and went on for the race that will continue until 10 o'clock Saturday night at a speed that promises to eclipse the old record.

Tiers on tiers of spectators watched the opening of the race with intense interest for the opening of the protracted struggle had much that was picturesque in it, and the music, light, and gay colors of the riders, aided by the excitement of the fast pace carried, made this event the most attractive in the history of the six-day race in New York City.

The spectators began to assemble at an hour unprecedentedly early, and, with the Sixty-fifth Regiment Band hard at work on popular airs, and groups of visitors straying about the great hall in search of amusement until the start for the long race was made at midnight, the numbers of expectant spectators grew steadily. There was little to amuse, however, and the relaxations of the penny-in-the-slot picture and musical machines had long been exhausted when the first bustle of preparation for the six days' contest began, and men in sweaters and golf caps, the accepted garb of the bicycle rider's trainer, began to appear and wrangle among themselves for desirable positions at the track side.

Each racing team's group of trainers and handlers finally staked out a satisfactory claim with the assistance of the managers of the race, and then from the "camps" in basement and side rooms, the movement of the necessary paraphernalia for the track side training annex was made, and the sixty or more trainers were established to their contentment. The big hall, dimly lighted when the crowd began to come, was brilliantly illuminated then, and as the time for starting the race grew nearer, noisy clusters of men and boys, scattered about the building from the arena boxes to the topmost gallery, became even more vociferous.

BEFORE THE RACE BEGAN.

Far up in the lofty gallery on the Fourth Avenue side of the hall a dozen demonstratively enthusiastic boys stirred up spasms of interest in the progress of preparation at irregular intervals by that peculiar cheering in imitation of the approved style of college yell, their efforts never failing to impress the remainder of the crowd with the belief that something of moment was on. "We're here for the week," screamed one of the lads, and the ostentatious display of packages of food and the arrangement of benches for sleeping purposes appeared to confirm his announcement. "So are we," piped back a smaller boy in another crowd just opposite, whereupon his comrades displayed similar provision for an extended stay.

The lads spoke near the truth, and they were not the only groups who were prepared to camp out on the scene of the race, for throughout the upper part of the hall there were evidences of other staying parties, provided with food and similar refreshment, which might be needed if the race should be close enough to hold the attention into another or several more days. Women were few in the gathering, but those who were present took an lively interest in the proceedings as did the 5,000 men who swarmed to places of vantage when, about a quarter of an hour before midnight, renewed and louder cheering announced the appearance of the representatives of the bicycle riding teams who were to compete in the long, trying struggle of 142 hours over the perilously steep inclines of the one mile track.

The air was cloudy with tobacco smoke when that time arrived, but the turning on of more light partly dispelled the fog, and permitted a fair view of the competing riders, while the preliminary arrangements were made, and the last fifteen minutes before midnight consumed.

The riders, gaudily clad, assembled on the Twenty-seventh Street side of the track, ten minutes before the time set for the race to begin, and there waited while one by one the teams were introduced to the crowd, each team then riding the circuit of the track, carrying the flag, while the band played the National air of the country represented. There were a few spills in this preliminary, then the riders assembled in proper formation again, the pistol shot sounded, and the six days' grind was on. From the moment of the start the spectacle kept the crowd screaming with excitement.

Elkes dashed away in the lead, pursued by Stinson, Miller, Aronson, Gougoltz, and Dubois in the order named. With wheels whirling at a sprinting pace they held those positions for two laps. Then Turville burst from the crowd and showed in front while the uproar from applauding spectators was redoubled.

At the tenth lap, Gougoultz shot past Turville, and opening a gap of a half dozen wheels' lengths, was rewarded by an outburst that threatened to lift the room. So the struggle went on, sprinting, and nothing else being the rule through the early hours of the race, each rider hoping for the chance to steal away and gain an advantage on his opponents, while all jealously watched the others, and resented any attempt to gain a lap or fraction of one by putting on more speed.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE TRACK.

Those who had witnessed former six-day bicycle races in the Garden had expected to find the turns at either extremity of the oval built high, but the new track exceeded all expectation. By the figures of the builders the outer edge of the track on the turns was actually four feet higher than any course previously used, but to the observer the height seemed to be vastly more than that.

From the highest edge to the level of the floor the incline was so steep that a man could not walk up it, the angle being as nearly forty-five degrees as measurement could fix it, and in appearance the turns were so steep that it looked almost an impossibility to ride over the bends. As a matter of fact, experiment has shown that a speed of at least twenty miles an hour must be maintained by riders going over the track, else the slipping of bicycle wheels will make falls unavoidable.

Expert and fresh riders did manage to slow down to a speed of a mile in 3:06 in trials yesterday without failing, but the strain they were under in balancing was more than the six-day riders can possibly bear without wearing themselves out, and as the managers of the contest anticipated when the new track was constructed, the long-distance riders must carry a pace that will put them far ahead of the record, simply because of this steep incline.

The experience of former years in the six-day bicycle races aided the managers of the race in framing the rules to govern the contest, and provision was made for any form of foul or accident that might occur.

By the rules the start, with the field made up of one man from each of the fourteen teams, was so regulated as to prevent the chance of any one competitor getting an undue advantage, all starting together and riding in whatever order they chose until ten laps, or one mile, had been covered, when the scoring of laps began, each team's score starting with a mile to its credit.

Naturally there was no incentive to a rush for a lead in the race at the start, and the scramble lost something of interest on that account, but the contest, resolving itself at the opening into a strategic manoeuvring for the choice places, the men each picking out and ranging alongside the opponent whose pace they meant to watch, as finding a place from which to watch dangerous competitors to the best advantage.

For all that, a hot pace was carried, and the first ten laps were reeled off inside of two minutes. The starters ranged up in sections, awaiting the crack of the pistol, four in a line in the order of the numbers on the programme, the team representatives, and the order thus being, in the first four, Elkes, Aaronson, Stinson, and Miller; in the second four, Turville, Dubois, Gougoltz, and Kayser; in the third four, Fisher, Muller, Calgan, and Albert, and in the last line, two men, H. McLean and Pierce.

SLASHER AT THE BICYCLE RACE.

Man with Clasp knife Cut Slits in Clothing of Spectators.

All evening yesterday, after the bicycle race at Madison Square Garden had started, the West Thirtieth Street Police Station was besieged by a number of persons who showed long cuts in their clothing, which they said they had received while watching the race.

An investigation by a policeman resulted in the arrest of a man with a big clasp knife, just as he was in the act of cutting a long slit in the overcoat of the man beside him in the crowd.

He said that he was Finck L. Silver of 218 West Twenty-eighth Street, the manager of a female baseball team. He gave no explanation for his actions.

IN FOREIGN LANDS.

DEVELOPMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS IN EGYPT.—Sir William Garstin, head of the Egyptian Public Works Department, has just issued his report for 1899. It is even a larger and more elaborate volume than Lord Cromer's recent report covering the whole question of the internal improvement of Egypt for the same period of time. But while Lord Cromer merely introduced the subject of Public Works, full details are given by the Garstin document. The two features which at this time most strongly appeal to Egypt and to the rest of the world having interests, industrial or otherwise, in the Nile Valley, are a description of the measures taken to minimize the evil effects of the lowest Nile flood on record, and an account of the progress of work on the great Nile reservoir works at Assuan and Assint.

The report says that although the rise of the Nile in 1899 was the lowest recorded in history, nevertheless the distress was enormously less than on previous occasions of a failure of the flood. The area of unirrigated, and, therefore, untaxed land, which had been 900,000 feddans (one fedden is 1¼ acres) in 1877 was only one-third of this in 1899. Even in this area "distress," says Sir William Garstin, "was hardly felt at all by the people. The immense amount of contract work in progress in the country enabled them to obtain a good daily wage, and tided over the interval between the two crops." In Lower Egypt "the situation was saved by the barrage, which, for the first time in its history, was regulated throughout the flood. Had it not been for the work done by this structure, there is little doubt that large areas of crop would have been lost. As it is, the cotton crop is very nearly the largest on record, and the maize crop was up to the average." The extraordinarily large cotton crop of 1899 was valued at £8,576,000, (Egyptian,) while that of 1899 was £16,609,000 (Egyptian.)

In regard to the Nile Reservoir works the report states that at Assuan, after nearly a year has been spent in the accumulation of material and various preparations, the foundation stone of the dam was laid by the Duke of Connaught Feb. 12, 1899; and from that date the work was carried on with less interruption than must have been necessitated by a normal flood. Beginning on the east bank masonry was constructed throughout a length of 620 meters, and of these 360 meters were brought up to within 2 meters of their full height. Three out of five of the deep channels which traverse the line of work were closed by temporary dams. Equal progress is said to have been made with the dam at Assint, although the original design had to be considerably altered. The total cost of the work at Assuan and Assint in 1899 was £883,535.

***

THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN AUSTRIA.—Mail advices from Vienna show that the Bosnian railway settlement, already described in these columns, instead of lessening the tension among the various Austrian factions, has in reality intensified it to such an extent that it is expected that the Parliamentary elections which take place in the first week in January will return more irreconcilables than there were before. At the same time the anti-Hungarian press is loud in its denunciation of the terms of the settlement.

The apprehension manifested in Vienna is that Hungary aims at the ultimate incorporation of at least Bosnia in the Hungarian dominions. In some quarters this alleged ulterior object is regarded as the true explanation of the attitude of the Magyar State, in which there are said to be two conflicting tendencies—one in favor of expansion toward the coast and another against it, on the ground that any addition to the Slav population would necessarily endanger Magyar predominance.

As to the coming Austrian elections, demonstrations of irreconcilable policies are said to be more than ever the order of the day, and that the disposition of the Czech, German, Liberal, and Clerical leaders is to augment antagonism. The Ministry, it is said, will have no majority in the new Reichsrath, because of the part it played in the Bosnian Railway settlement, which so far has only received the approval of the anti-Semites. It is expected that the moment obstruction appears to prevail in the new Chamber the Reichsrath will be dissolved, and the Crown will carry out its threat to employ the extra-constitutional remedy.

***

FOR A LARGE INCREASE IN THE RUSSIAN NAVY.—It seems that the Russian naval budget of 60,000,000 rubles for the coming year, as already cabled to this country, has by imperial consent been augmented to 97,000,000 rubles by the Minister of Marine. The additional credit is for armament and improvement of Port Arthur and Vladivostock, and for the construction, with their armaments, of four large ironclads at St. Petersburg of 13,516 tons each and other vessel. At Nikolaieff, on the Black Sea, there will be built one first-class cruiser and six torpedo boats; at Sebastopol another cruiser and twelve torpedo boats, which will be sent in pieces to Port Arthur. The Minister of Marine has stated that all these vessels will be ready by 1902, and that among them will be divided 9 guns of 12.40 inches, 2 guns of 8.45 inches, 41 rapid-fire guns of 6 inches, 9 rapid-fire guns of 120 millimeters, 86 rapid-fire guns of 75 millimeters, 105 guns of 47 millimeters, 28 guns of 37 millimeters, and 10 guns of 2½ inches of the Baranofsky system.

According to the plan of the Minister of Marine, the "normal" strength of the Russian fleet in the Pacific next year will be represented by the Pereswiet, the Retvisan, (built in America,) the Gremobey, Askold, Bogatyr, and Balane, the second-class cruiser Novik, seven ironclads, eleven cruisers of the first-class, three of the second-class, seven gunboats, four torpedo cruisers, and ten torpedo steamers. The torpedo flotilla will be eight months in navigation and four months in armed reserve.

Art Objects and Bric-a-Brac.
Third Floor.

Yuletide Gifts.

THE variety of artistic and decorative articles contained in this department affords an opportunity for the selection of tasteful Holiday Gifts.

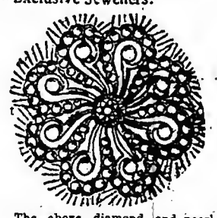
Bronze and Marble Statuary and Busts, Pedestals, Curio and Bric-a-Brac Cabinets, Porcelains, Carved Ivories, Miniatures, Clocks and Clock Sets, Lamps and Candelabra.

B. ALTMAN & CO.
NEW YORK.

CASPERFELD & CLEVELAND.
Just Below Tenth Street
781 Broadway,
Opposite Wanamaker's

At our store will be found an endless variety of all the latest fads and novelties in Diamond and Gold Jewelry—all appropriate Holiday Gifts—at prices considerably lower than those asked by the "Exclusive Jewellers."

5 superb blue white diamonds cut to match, total weight 1¼ kts.
$85.00.



The above diamond and pearl pendant and brooch contains 80 large, lustrous Oriental pearls; in the centre a beautiful blue-white Gem weighing ¾ of a karat; offered at.... $105.00

Steel white gem of rare lustre, faultlessly cut, 1⅝ kts.
$135.00.

GENTLEMEN'S WATCHES.

Genuine E. Howard watch, latest improved movement, heavy solid 14-kt. case, thin model either plain, polished, engraved, or chased..... $75.00

Open-face watch, polished, Engine turned and engraved case, Waltham or Elgin movements.. $25.00

LADIES' WATCHES.

14-kt. gold watches, diamond-ornamented cases, Waltham or Elgin movement, exceptional value..... $45.00

Ladies' Chatelaine watches in great variety of enamelled miniatures, both diamond-studded and plain, from $12.50 to..... $150.00

OPEN EVENINGS TILL 9.
Send for Illustrated Circular of Special Bargains.
MAIL ORDERS FILLED PROMPTLY.

POLICEMEN ALL DODGED

Feared Sondheim Would Shoot Them, Manager Ames Says.

"The Four Police Officers Fell Over Each Other in Their Haste to Duck," He Declares—Armstrong's Excuse.

A statement made to a reporter of THE NEW YORK TIMES by Manager Albert S. Ames of the Criterion Hotel, near which Philip Sondheim shot himself Saturday night, and Capt. McClusky's attitude toward Detective Armstrong shortly after the shooting indicate that charges may be preferred against the detective.

Manager Ames said: "It did seem with two detectives and two uniformed policemen waiting at Sondheim's door that he might have been disarmed, and that all four wouldn't fall over themselves trying to dodge into another room when Sondheim opened his door."

"Armstrong, Reidy, and two men in uniform went up with me to Sondheim's room with a letter written to him by his brother Sol, who refused to go near him.

"Sondheim told me to shove the note under the door, saying at the same time: 'I understand your solicitude as manager of the hotel, but rest assured, Sir, the reputation of your house shall not be endangered; I'll not kill myself here, but on the street.'

"He wrote an answer to the note and said he would open the door to give it to me. As the rattle of the bolt being drawn back was heard, the four police officers fell—actually fell—over each other in their haste to duck into the adjoining room. They rolled in a heap there when Sondheim handed me his letter.

"When Sondheim came out and ran through Forty-first Street, the detectives were in the bar. They followed, but were a long way behind. Just before Sondheim came down stairs I asked Armstrong: 'Suppose Sondheim comes out of his own accord, would you be able to disarm him before he could hurt himself?'

"Armstrong replied quickly: 'Why, my dear fellow, if Sondheim comes downstairs he won't stand the ghost of a show with me. Why, I'll hit him in the face and lay him out before he can use his gun.'

"But he didn't," concluded Mr. Amer, "as he was in the barroom when Sondheim came down."

A few hours after the shooting Capt. McClusky, with Detective Armstrong, were in the café of the Vendome Hotel.

Armstrong, at Capt. McClusky's direction, told his story of the suicide. "Sondheim kept pointing his gun at me," said Armstrong.

"Where were you when the first shot was fired?" the reporter asked.

"You know he kept that gun on me," the detective answered.

"But where were you?"

"I told you where I was on Broadway, and he kept his gun on me," the detective said, and would tell no more.

VAIN CHASE FOR THIEVES.

Policeman Fires at Men Who Entered Suburban House—Many Dwellings Denuded of Fixtures.

There have been a number of unoccupied houses in Fordham entered recently by thieves who carried off the gas fixtures and lead pipe. Yesterday the police had an exciting chase after two well-dressed men who are supposed to be the thieves, but the men, who were in a buggy, got away.

Several months ago the residence of the late Abraham Tappen, on Bainbridge Avenue, near Sherwood Avenue, was entered and all the gas fixtures stolen. Last week thieves again entered the house and cut out all the lead pipe. The robbery was first made known when water was discovered running out from under the front door. The house had been partially flooded, fully $400 damage being done. The thieves had sawed out a panel of the front door, slipped the bolt, and had put the panel in place again before leaving.

Jacob Schrady's house, 25 West One Hundred and Twentieth Street, was entered last Thursday and denuded of gas fixtures and lead pipe. Saturday morning a house belonging to William Donnelly in Kirkside Avenue, near King's Bridge, was similarly looted. The occupants of an adjoining house saw two well-dressed men drive up to the house in a light wagon and enter by the front door. They also saw the men carrying out the gas fixtures, but supposed it was all right. When the fact of the robbery became known a description of the men was furnished to the police.

A policeman on Jerome Avenue yesterday saw two men in a light wagon answering the description of the men who had entered the Donnelly house. The policeman called to the men to stop. They whipped up their horse. The policeman pursued and fired several shots after the fugitives, but they made good their escape.

BISHOP THOMPSON CURED.

The Right Rev. Hugh Miller Thompson, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Mississippi, who has been a patient in St. Luke's Hospital, this city, has been discharged from that institution as cured, and is now on his way to his home, in Jackson, Miss. Some time ago Bishop Thompson began to have trouble with his throat.

It was discovered that a foreign growth had appeared, and an operation was recommended by

Christmas Glassware

SINGLE PIECES AND SETS IN CASES

Gifts for Library, Toilet or Dinner Tables

DORFLINGER

915 Broadway and 36 Murray St., New York.

GIVE A LIBRARY WELSBACH LAMP

With Gas-Saving Regulator

No Oil, No Wick, No Trouble.

Beautiful Effect.

83⅓% Saved in Cost of Lighting

In Antique and Modern Bronze, Cloisonne, Tan Zan Ware

Hand-Decorated Shades To Match

Ask for New Year Calendar Book Marker.

Welsbach Co.

1133 Broadway

(Near 26th street).

Three Gateways

Chicago the eastern gateway, St. Paul and Minneapolis the northwestern gateway and St. Joseph and Kansas City the southwestern gateway, are connected by the Chicago Great Western

Chicago to St. Paul and Minneapolis to Des Moines, St. Joseph and Kansas City. For full information apply to any railroad agent, call on or address E. M. JENKINS, City Passenger Agent, 319 Broadway, New York, or

P. H. LORD, General Passenger Agent, Chicago Great Western Railway, Chicago.

Choice Gifts

Nowhere else can those seeking gifts find such a rich and varied collection in ornamental housefurnishings of every description.

TIFFANY STUDIOS

333 TO 341 FOURTH AVENUE

(Bet 24th and 25th Sts.) New York.

Our recent importations of Rugs from the Orient are particularly rich in design and quality. These rugs are offered at moderate prices.

Twenty-four Awards at the Paris Exposition, including the Grand Prix.

SOLE OFFICIAL JUDGE OF FUR EXHIBITS, WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION, CHICAGO 1893.

Edmond R. Lyon,

FINE FURS.

Owing to the lateness of the season and the previous mild weather, I desire to offer my entire stock of Fine Furs, manufactured for the wholesale trade, AT RETAIL.

Decided Bargains

Special Departments for articles made to order, alterations and repairing.

258 AND 260 FIFTH AVE., between 28th and 29th Sts.

Take Elevator.

H. N. SQUIRE'S SON.

Diamonds and Watches.

1 MAIDEN LANE, N. Y.

TRADE —41— MARK.

EVERYBODY'S WHISKEY

A blend of absolutely pure whiskies, ripe and mellow with age. Bottled by

L. J. CALLANAN,

41 & 43 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK.

Send for copy of monthly price list.

FEEDING THE HUGE PYTHON

Biggest Snake in Captivity Forced to Eat, Though Unwilling.

Hooded and Dragged from Her Cage Four Rabbits Are Twice Pushed Down Her Throat.

The East Indian python, 27 feet 6 inches long, the biggest captive snake in the world, was fed at the Zoological Gardens of the Bronx last Friday after a hard fight. The snake, a female, has refused to eat voluntarily. In the den with her are two other pythons, one 26 feet 4 inches, and the other 23 feet 6 inches long. Any one of these snakes could crush and kill an ox.

Into this den Chief Keeper Snyder entered, accompanied by two assistants. The smallest python, which was in a water tank, was covered by boards, and the other was covered, after dangerous manoeuvres, by blankets, to prevent it from seeing the fight with its huge companion.

Keeper Snyder threw a blanket over the head of the biggest python, and retreated to the small door. There, awaiting his chance, he grabbed the hooded monster just behind the head and jerked it through the opening. Other keepers were waiting outside, and as each foot or two of the serpent was pulled forth they grabbed it in turn, and pulled it further out of the cage.

While this was being done the two keepers still in the cage threw themselves upon the massive moving coils of the great constrictor, and, though in peril of being enwrapped and crushed, they successfully guided the squirming folds toward the exit. When finally outside, in the corridor behind the cages, it took the utmost strength of eleven men to hold the snake, which weighs over 200 pounds, in a comparatively straight line, though aided by pressing it against the wall.

Another keeper, by the aid of a long bamboo pole, pushed four freshly killed rabbits down the python's throat, and the serpent was safely put back in the cage, tail first. A stream of water from a hose was at once directed into its mouth to prevent the snake from disgorging its meal, but to no avail, for the rabbits were cast forth again.

It was decided to repeat the operation, for snakes of such size are too valuable to be allowed to commit suicide by starvation. Again did the keepers enter the cage, and after another struggle worse than the first, the operation was repeated.

This time, with four fresh rabbits, it was successful, for the python concluded to retain her repast. When restored to the den both the other snakes were in a nervous, ugly mood, and policemen kept visitors away from the glass front of the cage.

The 23½-foot python, after being fed in like manner for nearly a year, now readily eats its semi-monthly meals of chickens without persuasion, and is growing in length, girth, and avoirdupois. The 26 foot 4inch snake, which is a male 10 inches in diameter and 225 pounds in weight, will be fed in a few days. He is the worst customer of all to handle.

A number of new animals, chiefly of the larger species of Rocky Mountain and Alaska game, will soon be added to the collection at the Zoo.

TO SING OUT THE CENTURY.

Conductor Frank Damrosch Suggests a Midnight Chorus on the City Hall Steps.

At the rehearsal of the People's Choral Union yesterday Conductor Frank Damrosch proposed that the thousand singers should celebrate the birth of the new century by singing out the old one from the steps of the City Hall at midnight Dec. 31. He said: "I have no doubt the Mayor will allow the City Hall to be used for that purpost, but if he should not—"

"Put him on ice!" growled a deep voice among the basses.

A wave of hisses swept through the hall, and Mr. Damrosch looked reprovingly toward the basso.

A timid soprano feared she could not get through the crowd, but the suggestion from the conductor that there would probably be a platoon of police to keep a road clear, calmed her and her sister singers.

A high tenor voice intimated that it would be risky to attempt competition with the bombardiers who would be out after the chimes and might turn their attention to the chorus, and an alto suggested that the City Hall would be nearly the storm centre of all the noise that evening. One singer thought that midnight was a rather late hour for the singers to be out.

Mr. Damrosch asked how many could not be at the City Hall at midnight, and only half a dozen hands went up. The affirmative vote was almost unanimous.

Mr. Damrosch announced the tentative programme for the occasion as "Acerica," "Ring Out, Wild Bells," by Leopold Damrosch, and the "Hallelujah" chorus from the oratorio of the Messiah.

POLICEMAN McCUE'S WOES.

His Comrades Fear Smallpox Infection and Avoid Him.

John McCue, a patrolman attached to the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Station House, is now practically ostracized by his comrades in the station house, and is not allowed to approach or hold any communication with any of them.

Dr. Benedict of the Board of Health called at the station house Saturday night and asked for a policeman to accompany him to the home of a suspected smallpox patient. When McCue, who was detailed to go with him, returned the Sergeant told him to keep out of the station house until he was thoroughly disinfected. McCue has been trying to disinfect himself ever since, but he cannot convince the other policemen that he does not carry the disease germs with him. None of the other policemen will go near him, and he sits by himself when off duty in one corner of the back room.

DEATH OF THEODORE S. NYE.

The Lawyer Succumbs to Heart Disease—Born in Blockhouse.

Theodore S. Nye, a well-known lawyer of Brooklyn, died on Saturday at his home, 257 Degraw Street, of heart disease. Mr. Nye, who came of Revolutionary stock, was born in 1854 in the Campus Martius, at Marietta, Ohio, which, it is said, was the original Northwest blockhouse, and which still exists, in the possession of the Nye family. It was the first garrison town of the then Northwest Territory, and formed part of a tract of land given by the Colonial Government to Mr. Nye's grandfather, Benjamin Tupper, a Lieutenant Colonel of the Twenty-first Colonial Regiment. Col. Tupper went to the place in 1788 with his family. His wife was the first white woman to enter the place. Mr. Nye's father was Judge Annis Nye of Ohio.

Mr. Nye moved to Brooklyn in 1866. He was graduated from the law school of the New York University in 1875, and had for some years been associated in the practice of law with Isaac N. Miller, in Nassau Street. He was also with the Fidelity and Casualty Company of this city. He was known also in Brooklyn as a writer and lecturer on special subjects, and took a great interest in boys' clubs. Mr. Nye was a bachelor, and he is survived by his mother and a sister. He was prominently identified with the so-called Shepard Democracy in Brooklyn, and was a member of the Ohio Society, the Southern Society, Kane Lodge, F. and A. M.; the Brooklyn Democratic Club, the Franklin Literary Society, and other organizations.

John A. Chanler Still Missing.

Special to The New York Times.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Dec. 9.—Mystery still surrounds the disappearance of Mr. John Armstrong Chanler, brother of Congressman William Astor Chanler, who escaped from Bloomingdale Asylum at White Plains on Nov. 28. It was learned to-day that Mr. Chanler left all his clothing in his room in the "Macy Villa," on the asylum grounds, where he had a private ward, except a new suit which he wore when he went away. He took no baggage with him. Dr. Lyon, Superintendent of Bloomingdale, is convinced his patient will return

GOOD WORD FOR NEW YORK

Bishop Farley and Controller Coler Find Much to Praise.

Good Work of St. Vincent de Paul Society Reported at Its Annual Meeting—Mr. Coler's Gift.

The annual meeting of the St. Vincent de Paul Society was held last night in the Cathedral School Hall, 111 East Fiftieth Street. Archbishop Corrigan presided. The meeting was opened by Jeremiah Fitzpatrick, President of the Superior Council of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, who called the new members of the society to the front of the platform, and then made them an address upon their duties as members of the society.

Reports read by Treasurer James F. Boyle and the Chairmen of the various committees showed 1,157 members on the rolls; families relieved during the year, 6,950; persons relieved, 27,886; visits made during the year, 50,415; situations procured not included in Employment Bureau's report, 312; applications of men and boys made at Employment Bureau for positions, 1,764; positions secured through the bureau, 616; total receipts by sixty-three conferences, $58,520; total expenditures, $58,745. A number of those for whom employment was secured were non-Catholics and Jews. A large amount of food and clothing was distributed during the year in addition to the $58,745 in cash expended.

Bishop Farley, the spiritual director of the Superior Council, addressed the meeting. The Bishop told a story of a good old New England woman who, after reading a great deal about vice in New York, came to the city. She had occasion to go over on the east side and saw large crowds of people in the streets. This surprised her, because she thought the people of New York would be afraid to go out after dark. But when she followed one of the crowds and saw the people flocking into a Catholic church where triduum services were being held her amazement knew no bounds. "If she had been here to-night and had heard all these reports," said the Bishop, "she would have concluded that lots of good can come out of Nazareth. Certainly when we are acquainted with the great work which is being done by this society, and similar societies, we are led to believe that New York is not quite so bad as it is painted."

The Rev. D. J. McMahon, Superintendent of Catholic Charities, made a short address, and Archbishop Corrigan spoke of his visit to the St. Vincent de Paul College in Paris. He was the guest of the President General of the society.

"If you ask me what impression these reports which I have heard here to-night make on me," said the Archbishop, "I say to you that I think you preserve well the spirit and live up well to the instructions of the society's President General."

Controller Bird S. Coler said he had attended a number of meetings in the interest of charitable work, but the meeting he addressed was the first where he had heard Christian ministers preaching the doctrine of helping people to help themselves. That, he thought, was the truest charity.

"Bishop Farley," said Mr. Coler, "has got upon my side of the sidewalk. He said there were some good things in New York. I think there is a great deal to be praised in New York. Of course there are some things that are bad, but in my judgment the best way to drive out what is bad is by developing what is good. Destruction accomplishes nothing. I believe that if every church and every organization would follow up the idea of this society instead of carping about existing evils, such a wonderful progress would be made that we would have very little use for some of our eminent statesmen. Let us all get together and work together to enlighten and uplift the units of the community. It is in that way—and that way only—that we can effect any permanent progress."

Mr. Coler then remarked that he learned some time ago that it was possible for him to secure in Europe an autograph letter of St. Vincent de Paul. He purchased it. Producing the letter, which was nicely framed, Mr. Coler said:

"I now present it to the President of the Particular Council of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, Mr. Thomas M. Mulry, to whom I am much indebted for the valuable aid he gave me in the difficult task I was called upon to perform in properly distributing the appropriation which the city makes for charitable purposes. It was a matter of much difficulty to make a proper and just apportionment, but I believe we now have one that will stand for years."

William Stewart, President of the State Board of Charities; Robert W. De Forest, President of the Charity Organization Society; Dr. Lee Frankel, Manager of the United Hebrew Charities, and Frank Tucker, Secretary of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, also made addresses.

Memorial Window Unveiled.

A memorial window for former Fire Commissioner James S. Rodwell of Brooklyn was unveiled at the morning service yesterday in the Christ Episcopal Church, Brooklyn. The window was the gift of the Rodwell family. The family and many banking officials and business men attended the ceremony. The service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. James H. Darlington and the Rev. Charles E. Cregg. The window is twenty feet high and four feet wide, and its theme is from the Gospel of St. Matthew.

Quarreled with Sweetheart, Took Acid.

As a result, it is believed, of a sweethearts' quarrel, Miss Emily Kellerman, twenty-two years old, of 1,317 Third Avenue, Brooklyn, committed suicide at her home yesterday morning by swallowing a quantity of acid. The young woman was employed at a clothing establishment on Broadway, Manhattan. Her sweetheart, it is said, is employed in the same place. Miss Kellerman went to the theatre with him on Saturday night and took her life soon after her return. She left a note explaining she did it "because I am unhappy."

Consecration of a Statue.

A new statue of the Blessed Virgin was consecrated yesterday in the Church of Our Lady of Pompeii, Bleecker and Downing Streets, in honor of the feast of the Immaculate Conception. There were a solemn high mass and a sermon by the Rev. Anthony Demo. An entertainment for the church will be given at Tammany Hall next Thursday evening.

YESTERDAY'S FIRES.

(From 12 o'clock Saturday night until 12 o'clock Sunday night.)

12:40 P. M.—127 Fourth Avenue; John Gruber; no damage.

1:20 P. M.—79 Clinton Street; M. Schlesinger; damage, $500.

1:40 P. M.—159 Attorney Street; Jacob Ruskley; damage, $500.

5:10 P. M.—478 Grand Street; Jacob Levine; no damage.

HALF THE WORLD doesn't seem to know how much money the other half is saving. When Gas Range Economy is fully understood Gas will be the universal fuel for kitchens. Ranges Rent for $3.00 a year.

At all offices of the New Amsterdam Gas Co.

CHORISTERS NOT LACKING

All Angels' Church Has a Satisfactory Musical Service.

The Rector and Mr. Baker, the Dismissed Choirmaster, Both Claim the Victory.

The Rev. S. De Lancey Townsend, rector of All Angels' Episcopal Church, and Lacey Baker, the former choirmaster of the church, both profess to be entirely satisfied with the outcome of the trouble in the All Angels' choir, but each claims the victory.

The service yesterday at All Angels' Church was the first at which the new choirmaster, Clement R. Gale, officiated. There was much interest manifested as to the character of the musical service Mr. Gale would be able to give. Mr. Baker, who had sent in his resignation a week ago, to take effect Jan. 1, but who was summarily dismissed by the Rev. Mr. Townsend, had announced that his whole choir would go with him to Calvary Church, where he has been engaged. To provide against the possibility of All Angels' Church being left without singers, an advertisement for choir boys was inserted in the papers, and a number who applied were hired. According to Mr. Townsend's statement yesterday, the engagement of new singers was an unnecessary precaution.

"Our musical service to-day was delightfully rendered," he said at his home, 320 West Eighty-second Street, yesterday afternoon. "We had more singers than we had surplices for, and we were all more than pleased with Mr. Gale's work."

"How many members of the old choir did you have?"

"We had them all with the exception of a few boys who were not members of the parish. Every choir singer who was a member of the parish was in his place as usual, and the programme of music for the day which had been arranged was carried out splendidly. We never had a more pleasing service."

"What was the cause of your dismissal of Mr. Baker?"

"That is a matter I do not care to discuss. Mr. Baker has secured a place at Calvary Church, and I hope he will do well there. Of course, a man who is choirmaster of All Angels' Church and who goes out does not go out without cause. But I would not say a word which would be prejudicial to Mr. Baker elsewhere. Mr. be prejudicial to Mr. Baker elsewhere. I am very sorry Mr. Baker is unhappy—if he is unhappy. There are some people, you know, who if they can't rule try to ruin."

A call was made at Mr. Baker's house, 39 West Eighty-second Street. Mr. Baker was resting, but Mrs. Baker volunteered to give her husband's side of the difficulty.

"We were delightfully received at Calvary Church this morning," she said. "The congregation seemed to enjoy the music given by Mr. Baker's choir greatly."

"Then he did take his choir with him?"

"Of course, he did. With the exception of Mr. Smock, the tenor, and a few little boys every singer Mr. Baker had at All Angels' Church went to Calvary Church with him. Mr. Baker had a choir of twenty-six at Calvary Church this morning, and they were nearly all All Angels' Church singers."

"Why did Mr. Baker send in his resignation as choirmaster of All Angels' Church?"

"Because he wanted to go to Calvary Church. Dr. Parks, the rector of Calvary Church, was our old pastor in Philadelphia. Mr. Baker announced to his choir last Saturday week that he intended to resign his position as choirmaster of All Angels' Church, and the members of the choir spoke up and said they would go with him. Then, when Mr. Baker received his dismissal from Dr. Townsend, all the members of the choir marched out of the church and up to this house, with their surplices and all."

"If Mr. Baker intended to resign before Mr. Townsend dismissed him, he has no great grievance, has he?"

"Why, no. He is perfectly satisfied. Mr. Townsend acted very foolishly; that is all there is to it."

Mr. Gale, the new choirmaster at All Angels' Church, Mrs. Baker said, had sent in his resignation as choirmaster of Cavalry Church some time ago.

The service at All Angels' Church yesterday was the annual service of the Association for Promoting the Interests of Church Schools, Colleges, and Seminaries of the Episcopal Church. Bishop Potter preached the sermon. The Bishop made an earnest appeal for the colleges and schools which were educating men for the ministry. The Bishop said that the public to-day demanded that ministers be highly educated men.

Bishop Niles of New Hampshire followed Bishop Potter in a similar appeal.

Mr. Townsend was assisted in the service by Archdeacon Tiffany, the Rev. Dr. Cole of St. Stephen's College, Annandale, N. Y.; Dean Hoffman, and Bishop Niles. Others who occupied seats inside the chancel were Dr. Piper, President of Racine College, Wisconsin; Dr. Pierce, President of Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio; the Rev. Dr. Dobbins of Faribault, Minn.; the Rev. Dr. Smith of Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., and the Rev. Dr. Jones, President of Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y.

Drowns Himself in Rondout Creek.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Dec. 9.—Morris Salomon, a delicatessen dealer, walked off the wharf into the Rondout Creek this morning. His business was prosperous and his family relations were pleasant. No reason is assigned for his suicide.

Choice Gifts of Silver

SELECTIONS of handwrought SILVERWARE for WINTER WEDDINGS and the HOLIDAYS may now be made with the assurance that they are in character and finish equal to those recently awarded the GRAND PRIX at PARIS as representing the most exclusive designs, newest methods, and the finest workmanship of the modern silversmith.

Gorham Co., Silversmiths

Broadway and Nineteenth St., New York

R. H. Macy & Co.'s Attractions Are Their Low Prices.

Macys

Both Sides 14th St. from 13th to 15th, 6th Av.

Why It Pays You To Buy Holiday Presents at Macy's.

Easy enough to learn why it pays you to shop at Macy's. Visit the store. Stroll through all the aisles with eyes wide open. On a few lines of staples we may not save you more than 15 or 20 per cent. But on novelties—rich qualities—fancy articles—beautiful art goods and other things suitable for Christmas presents our prices range from 35 to 50 per cent. less than others charge. Make comparisons for yourselves.

We Give No Credit, Discounts or Commissions.

[All Others Do to a Greater or Lesser Extent.]

Remember Our Policy { Eliminating the direct expense and enormous losses of the charge system and refusing to tax one class to compensate for the discounts and commissions allowed another MAKE IT EASY for us to undersell competition. And we do—our prices for many lines of merchandise are frequently half what others charge.

Come during the mornings—early as possible—the earlier you arrive the easier you can make selections. It's wise to be ahead of the crowd.

CATHOLIC LAYMEN CRITICISED.

Archbishop Elder's Niece Accuses Them of Lack of Zeal in Religious Work.

Miss M. T. Elder, niece of Archbishop Elder of Cincinnati, a well-known writer on Catholic Church subjects, has stirred up a discussion in the religious press and among the laity by her recent public criticisms of the Catholics in the United States. Catholics here, she holds, are far behind the Protestants in the enlistment of lay activity in the enterprises of the Church. She points out that Protestants have originated such movements as the Young Men's Christian Association, the King's Daughters, Summer Schools, the Social Settlements, and like organizations, which call into service the energy and talents of all classes of the laity in behalf of the religious and social movements of the day.

Miss Elder has been taken to task by Catholics for her criticisms, but has found a champion in The Catholic Mirror of Baltimore, the official organ of Cardinal Gibbons. "Ward politicians and dames with social ambition," Cardinal Gibbons's paper says, "are responsible for the lethargy of some Catholic societies."

In another article, referring to attacks which have been made on Miss Elder, Cardinal Gibbons's paper says that the schedule outlined by Bishop Messmer of Wisconsin for the proposed federation of Catholic societies is a vindication of her position. On this point it says:

"When the Right Reverend Bishop proposes as worthy objects of Catholic endeavor, colonization of emigrants, homes for sailors, consideration of the strike problems, and the status of labor unions, questions of public morality and the prevention of corruption in politics, he agrees that Catholics should be active in these fields, and as no one would deny that these fields are hitherto untrodden by them, the conclusion is obvious. Ridicule is not logic, and scoffs are not arguments.

"Miss Elder has in nowise attacked the Church or the priesthood. Those who persist in misunderstanding her position may as well call her a disloyal Catholic and manifest their real animus. In the name of peace let there be an end of mud-slinging."

Successor to the Rev. Dr. Behrends.

A successor to the Rev. Dr. A. J. F. Behrends, pastor of the Central Congregational Church, Brooklyn, will probably be recommended at a meeting of the Pastoral Committee of the church to-night. The committee has made a canvass of the available ministers both in this country and England. The choice, it is said, lies between three men.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

STILES, Wis., Dec. 9.—Fire to-day broke out in the Anson Eldred Company's large stock burner and caused a loss of about $75,000. A strong wind prevailed and the flames spread rapidly to surrounding buildings, burning the company's buildings and four dwelling houses. The insurance is $40,000. Timely assistance from Green Bay saved the town.

CANTON, Ohio, Dec. 9.—The plant of the Cleveland and Canton Bridge Company was completely destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is $50,000, covered by insurance. Tramps sleeping about the kilns are supposed to be responsible for the fire. The plant was running full time with about seventy-five men, and all of its finished products had been shipped.

SYRACUSE, Dec. 9.—A dispatch from Cazenovia says that the mills of the Cazenovia Woolen and Felt Company were destroyed by fire on late hour last night. Two houses were also burned. The village Fire Department was only able to save two buildings of the little settlement. The loss will be about $50,000, with insurance of $20,000. Spontaneous combustion is given as the cause of the fire.

ARRIVAL OF BUYERS.

Representatives of Out-of-Town Firms Now in the City.

Porteous & Mitchell, Norwich, Conn.; J. Porteous, cloaks and suits, 57 White Street.
Smith & Murray, Springfield, Mass.; A. Leith, cloaks and suits, 57 White Street.
Laucheimer, M. H., & Sons, Baltimore, Md.; J. M. Laucheimer, clothing; Victoria Hotel.
Hodges Brothers, Baltimore, Md.; W. F. Hodges, dry goods; Hoffman House.
Stevens, C. A., & Brothers, Chicago, Ill.; J. H. Stevens, cloaks; V. H. Stafford, furnishing goods, 487 Broadway; Herald Square Hotel.
Plaut, J. D., & Brother, Danbury, Conn.; H. J. Plaut, dry goods; Hotel Marlborough.
Long, Tate & Co., Charlotte, N. C.; N. C. Long, clothing; St. Denis Hotel.
Lit Brothers, Philadelphia, Penn.; M. Isaacs, cloaks and suits; Hotel Imperial.
Murphy, Grant & Co., San Francisco, Cal.; W. Preston, notions, 86 Worth Street; Hotel Navarre.
Field, Marshall, & Co., Chicago, Ill.; E. E. Hanna, dry goods; C. S. Holland, dry goods; 104 Worth Street; Hotel Navarre.
Lowenstein, J., Valparaiso, Ind., clothing; Hotel Albert.
Rosenfeld, Kropff & Co., Chicago, Ill.; M. Rosenfeld, furnishing goods; Hoffman House.
Schlesinger & Mayer, Chicago, Ill.; J. Mayer, domestics, silks, linens, and white goods, 377 Broadway; Hoffman House.
Gable, W. F., & Co., Altoona, Penn., dry goods; Hoffman House.
Stebbins, Lawson & Spragins, South Boston, Va.; C. Spragins, dry goods; J. Stebbins, notions; St. Denis Hotel.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL FORECAST.—Fair and cold; winds northerly.

The northern storm was rapidly passing beyond the field of observation, by way of New Brunswick, last night. It caused light snow from the Upper Ohio Valley and upper lake region eastward, and was closely followed by decidedly colder weather. Cold weather will continue from the upper lake regions and Upper Mississippi Valley eastward, with a further fall in temperature in the Middle Atlantic States, and comparatively low temperature may be expected for two or three days in New England and the Middle States. On the Middle and South Atlantic Coasts they will be fresh west to north.

The record of temperature for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from THE NEW YORK TIMES's thermometer and from the thermometer of the Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	—Weather Bureau—1899.	1900.	—TIMES.—1900.
3 A. M.	36	40	43
6 A. M.	35	39	42
9 A. M.	30	40	43
12 M.	30	42	40
3 P. M.	36	34	37
6 P. M.	35	29	28
9 P. M.	29	25	26
12 P. M.	28	25	28

THE TIMES's thermometer is 6 feet above the street level; that of the Weather Bureau is 285 feet above the street level.

Average temperatures yesterday were as follows:

Printing House Square	36¼
Weather Bureau	32
Corresponding date 1899	32
Corresponding date for last twenty years	36

The maximum temperature yesterday was 42 degrees at 12 o'clock noon. The minimum temperature was 24 degrees at 10 P. M. At 8 A. M. the barometer registered 29.75; at 3 P. M. it registered 20.07. The humidity at 8 A. M. was 79 per cent.; at 8 P. M. it was 45 per cent.

W. & J. Sloane

FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS.

Small, Inexpensive ORIENTAL RUGS.

An endless variety of designs. Odd-sized Rugs and Rugs of Unusual Width a Specialty.

Broadway & 19th Street.

WATCHES, DIAMONDS, And Fine Jewelry.

Attention is called to our several grades of TIME-KEEPING WATCHES, all made especially for our house, and bearing our name.

(EVERY WATCH WARRANTED.)

Diamonds and Fine Gems a Specialty.

"The Benedict" Perfect Collar and Cuff Button.

In gold, extra heavy rolled gold, and sterling silver.

NOTE—THE GENUINE BENEDICT BUTTON has the name "BENEDICT," and date of patent stamped upon it. A SET OF FOUR MAKES AN ACCEPTABLE PRESENT.

BENEDICT BROTHERS, Jewelers,

Broadway and Cortlandt Street, N. Y. (Established 1819.)

AT THE HOTELS.

CAMBRIDGE—Count Limburg-Stirum, Berlin.
FIFTH AVENUE—Gov. Llewellyn Powers, Maine; Senator Aldrich, Rhode Island.
GRAND—R. Lincoln Lippitt, Providence.
HOLLAND—H. F. Lippitt, Providence.
HOFFMAN—Dr. Philip Semper, Berlin.
IMPERIAL—Sir Theodore Fry; Lieut. H. W. Smith, United States Navy.
MANHATTAN—Sir Henry Lynch Blosse, Ireland; G. N. Brill, Philadelphia.
PARK AVENUE—A. W. Stahl, United States Navy.
STURTEVANT—M. S. Davis, White Plains; N. D. Johnson, Oregon; George D. Parker, Baltimore.
VICTORIA—Capt. H. K. Davis, London.
WALDORF-ASTORIA—P. A. B. Widener, Philadelphia.

SHIPPING AND FOREIGN MAILS.

Miniature Almanac—This Day.

A.M.	P.M.		P.M.
Sun rises	7:14	Sun sets	4:33
		Moon rises	9:12

High Water This Day.

A.M.		A.M.		A.M.
S. Hook	10:18	Gov. Isl'd	10:49	H. Gate	12:44
P.M.		P.M.		P.M.
S. Hook	11:00	Gov. Isl'd	11:30	H. Gate	1:26

Outgoing Steamships.

TO-DAY, (MONDAY,) DEC. 10.

	Mails Close.	Vessels Sail
Arnold Luyken, Bermuda, &c	12:30 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
	*1:00 P. M.
Princess Anne, Norfolk		2:00 P. M.

TUESDAY, DEC. 11.

Amazonense, Para	2:00 P. M.	4:00 P. M.
Cevic, Liverpool		12:00 M.
Comanche, Charleston		3:00 P. M.
Finance, Colon	9:30 A. M.	12:00 M.
Italian Prince, Uruguay and Paraguay		1:30 P. M.
Jefferson, Norfolk		3:00 P. M.
Lahn, Bremen	7:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 12.

Deutschland, Hamburg	6:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Germanic, Liverpool	8:30 A. M.	12:00 M.
	10:00 A. M.
Guyandotte, Norfolk		3:00 P. M.
Mt. Vernon, Haiti	9:30 A. M.	12:00 M.
New York, Southampton	6:30 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Orizaba, Havana, &c	12:30 P. M.
Sabine, Galveston		3:00 P. M.
Tyrian, Santa Martha	9:30 A. M.	12:00 M.

THURSDAY, DEC. 13.

Fernfield, Azores	10:00 A. M.	12:00 M.
Hamilton, Norfolk		3:00 P. M.
La Bretagne, Havre	7:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.

FRIDAY, DEC. 14.

Colorado, Brunswick, Ga.		3:00 P. M.
Iroquois, Charleston		3:00 P. M.
Kong Frode, Inagua, &c	12:00 M.	2:00 P. M.
Princess Anne, Norfolk		3:00 P. M.
Seneca, Tampico, &c	12:30 P. M.	2:00 P. M.

*SUPPLEMENTARY MAILS.—Additional supplementary mails are opened on the piers of the American, English, French, and German steamers and remain open until within ten minutes of the hour of sailing.

TRANSPACIFIC MAILS.

Mails for Hawaii, China, Japan, and Philippine Islands, via San Francisco, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Dec. 17, inclusive, for dispatch per steamer Coptic. Mails for China and Japan, via Vancouver, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Dec. 25, inclusive, for dispatch per steamer Empress of India, (registered mail must be directed "via Vancouver.") Mails for Australia, (except West Australia,) New Zealand, Hawaii, Fiji and Samoan Islands, via San Francisco, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. after Dec. 19 up to Dec. 29, inclusive, or on day of arrival of steamer Eturia, due at New York Dec. 29, for dispatch per steamer Sonoma.

†Registered mail closes at 6 P. M. previous day.

Incoming Steamships.

TO-DAY, (MONDAY,) DEC. 10.

Alderney, Gibraltar, Nov. 21.
Acanthus, Colon, Dec. 2.
Asaunta, Gibraltar, Nov. 25.
British King, Antwerp, Nov. 25.
Curytiba, Matanzas, Dec. 8.
Cyrene, St. Lucia, Dec. 2.
Caledonian, Liverpool, Nov. 28.
Critic, Dundee, Nov. 15.
Lyander, Gibraltar, Nov. 21.
Manitou, London, Nov. 29.
Motke Huelva, Nov. 22.
Philadelphia, San Juan, Dec. 5.
Proteus, New Orleans, Dec. 5.
Redruth, Gibraltar, Nov. 21.
Spaarndam, Rotterdam, Nov. 29.
Wells City, Swansea, Nov. 23.
Xenia, Copenhagen, Nov. 23.

TUESDAY, DEC. 11.

El Sud, New Orleans, Dec. 6.
Ethiopia, Glasgow, Nov. 29.
Georgic, Liverpool, Nov. 30.
Guyandotte, Norfolk, Dec. 10.
Laurentian, Glasgow, Nov. 29.
Niagara, Colon, Dec. 4.
Rosetti, St. Lucia, Dec. 4.
Southwark, Antwerp, Dec. 1.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 12.

Concho, Galveston, Dec. 7.
Hamilton, Norfolk, Dec. 11.
Hekla, Copenhagen, Nov. 28.
Llandaff City, Swansea, Nov. 27.
Majestic, Liverpool, Dec. 5.

THURSDAY, DEC. 13.

El Durado, New Orleans, Dec. 8.
Kaiser Wilhelm II., Gibraltar, Dec. 2.
Princess Anne, Norfolk, Dec. 12.
Trier, Bremen, Dec. 1.

FRIDAY, DEC. 14.

Jefferson, Norfolk, Dec. 13.
Leon VIII., Cadiz, Nov. 30.
Peconic, Gibraltar, Nov. 29.
Bulgaria, Hamburg, Dec. 2.
Victoria, Gibraltar, Nov. 3.

Arrived.

SS El Monte, Parker, New Orleans, Dec. 6, with mdse. to J. T. Van Sickle. Passed in Sandy Hook at 11:27 P. M.

SS La Bretagne, (Fr.,) Arbos, Havre, Dec. 1, with mdse. and passengers to the Canpaggie General Transatlantique. Arrived at the Bar at 3:52 P. M.

SS Nacoochee, Smith, Savannah, Dec. 6, with mdse. and passengers to the Ocean Steamship Company.

SS Richmond, Catherine, Newport News, with mdse. to the Old Dominion Steamship Company.

SS Jefferson, Davis, Newport News and Norfolk, with mdse. and passengers to the Old Dominion Steamship Company.

SS Goldsboro, French, Philidelphia, with mdse. to William P. Clyde & Co.

SS Delaware, (Br.,) Davis, Dublin, Nov. 24, in ballast to Phillip Ruprecht. Arrived at the Bar at 10:20 A. M.

SS Europa, (Nor.,) Sundt, Port Au Prince, &c., Nov. 22, with mdse. to the Cameron Steamship Company. Arrived at the Bar at 10 A. M.

SS Fernfield, (Br.,) Davies, St. Michaels, Nov. 25, in ballast to G. Amsinck & Co. Arrived at the Bar at 11 A. M.

SS Toronto, (Br.,) Marshall, Hull, Nov. 25, with mdse. to Sanderson & Son. Arrived at the Bar at 3:34 A. M.

SS Mercator, (Nor.,) Kaisen, Progreso, Dec. 2, with hemp for Thebaud Brothers. Arrived at the Bar at 5 A. M.

SS New York, Mills, Southampton and Cherbourg, Dec. 1, with mdse. and passengers to the International Navigation Company. Arrived at the Bar at 10:13 P. M. 8th.

SS Graf Waldersee, (Ger.,) Korff, Hamburg, Nov. 26, Boulogne 27, and Plymouth 28, with mdse. and passengers to the Hamburg-American Line. Arrived at the Bar at 6 A. M.

WIND—At Sandy Hook, N. J., Dec. 9, at 9:30 P. M., north northwest, fresh breeze, clear.

Sailed.

SS Manhansett, (Br.,) for Leith and Dundee.
SS Delmoca, Wilmington, N. C., and Georgetown, S. C.
SS Aridi, (Br.,) for Newcastle.
SS Barcelona, (Ger.,) for Newport News.

By Cable.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—SS. Kensington, (Br.,) Capt. Roberts, from New York for Antwerp, arrived at Southampton to-day at noon and proceeded.

SS Umbria, (Br.,) Capt

The Wanamaker Store

Holiday decorations. Santa Claus oft repeated, holly and greens, bells and chimes, church and organ—all will be ready for your entertainment this Monday morning.

Another store is added to the Toy Annex, six in all, and a branch Candy Store—No. 80 East Ninth street—will be opened this morning.

Some new pictures have been added to the Gallery on the Fifth floor.

A special bazaar for the sale of Holiday goods will be found on the Fifth floor.

A great collection of Animal Rugs just opened in the Carpet Store.

HOUSE COATS

Help to make a man comfortable and your holiday gift is sure to please father, husband, brother, friend. A house coat gives a touch of luxury to a man's hours at home. We have the best variety this season that we have ever shown, and we always take the matter of house coats more seriously than other stores. Our large dealings with makers all year round give us special advantages at holiday times. The present display fully illustrates it.

House Coats of reversible wool materials, plain outside and plaid inside—the plaid showing at cuffs, collar and pocket. These coats are designed for wear as well as appearance—well made and trimmed; guaranteed to fit. The extraordinary demands during the last season have been the means of having the makers of the cloth give it more thought and consideration than any other makes; and so we have the most beautiful color combinations ever seen in house coats. Prices, $5, $6.50, $7.50, $8, $9, $10.

Men's Store, Broadway and Ninth.

Women's Jackets

Though you came in shoals after those splendid jackets at $10, there is still excellent choosing among them. In fact, more so, for we have added to the collection from our regular stock a hundred more—even better values than the original offering. There will be many days yet on which a jacket will be the most comfortable out-door garment. And apart from that, the present group is worth buying as an investment.

Materials are rough and smooth cloths—cheviots, Meltons and kerseys; colors are chiefly black, tan shades and Oxfords. All sizes are here, but not in every style. Values are $12, $15, $18 and $22.50. But the price is uniformly, sweepingly reduced to

Ten Dollars Each

Second floor, Broadway.

Silk WAISTS

A Splendid Offering! Several hundred beautiful Silk Waists, scarcely two alike. Manufacturer's samples; but in excellent condition; made of brightest silks; finished in the careful way that only samples are finished. Shirt waists and dress waists—the whole range of variety in which Silk Waists are made. These two groups:

$5.50 to $6 Waists at $4.50
$9 to $12 Waists at $6.50

Mostly in size 36, though almost all sizes are in the lot.

This is the best offering of fine Silk Waists made this season.

Second floor, Tenth street.

Down Quilts

With the exception of the very exquisite effects that Paris alone attempts, we make all the down quilts offered here. We found certain advantages—for you as well as for us—in having a factory of our own. It gives you positive assurance as to the excellence of the filling, which heretofore had been only a matter of faith. It affords us a saving in the cost of making, which means a corresponding saving to you.

Some very good down quilts, with figured sateen covering, at $3.50; some at $4 and at $5. Fine large silk-covered quilts at $10 and $12.

Third floor.

Men's Mackintoshes

A practical, useful, acceptable gift, always. Then the garments that we sell will wear for years—we are exceedingly particular about the makers they come from. We run no risks—neither do you, in buying here; and you do not want to risk failures in sending a gift to a friend. No matter what the price, every mackintosh we sell is most absolutely guaranteed; all seams being sewed and cemented.

Box Coats; double breasted; all have velvet collars;
$5—Plain black and navy blue serge. $7.50—Brown covert cloth.
$10—Brown wool mixtures; also plain black and blue serge.
$12.50—Plain black and navy blue cashmere, also brown mixed.
$15—Plain black, navy blue and brown Kersey cloth.
$22.50—Navy blue, unfinished worsted. Tan kersey cloth.
Cape Coats—$5, $10 and $20—Plain navy blue and black serges.

Broadway and Ninth street.

Fancy Baskets

We bring these pretty baskets direct from Lichtenfels, Germany—from the largest and best factory in the world. They are most artistically made; and in styles and forms for all basket uses, from the work basket to the clothes hamper.

They offer wide possibilities for decoration with ribbon; and we do this work without charge, you supplying the ribbon.

This hint of the various sorts:

Scrap Baskets, 25c to $10
Work Baskets, silk lined, $1.25 to $4.50
Work Baskets, plain, 18c to $1.50
Work Stands, $1 to $5.25
Candy Baskets, 5c to $1.80
Music Racks, $2.50 to $7.50
Clothes Hampers, $1 to $7.50
Infant Hampers, palm leaf, $4.50 to $8.

Basement.

Musical Goods

The large Orchestrion entertains thousands every day in the musical corner of the basement; but yet few people know what a broad variety of best musical instruments can be found there.

The Regina Music Box Club is there— have you heard about it? There are the various sorts of talking machines, the Columbia Graphophone and the Zonophone; as well as violins, mandolins, guitars, banjos, zithers, accordions and other instruments.

And there is the best of Christmas suggestion in all of them. Perhaps you'll find a snug saving as well, in buying these goods here. There are no better instruments anywhere. These prices:

Violins, $1, $2.75, $5, $7.50, $10.50, to $40.
Mandolins, $2, $3.50, $5, $6, to $25.
Banjos, $3, $5, $7.50, $10, to $40.
Guitars, $4, $7.50, $9, $12, to $50.
Cases for the various instruments ranging in prices from 50c to $20.
Accordions, $1 to $10.50.
Concertinas, $2 to $6.
Metronomes, $2 to $5.
Several Swiss Boxes with interchangeable cylinders, at $100. Less than a third of their actual value.
And a full assortment of musical sundries at the lowest prices.

Basement, Fourth avenue and Tenth street.

Ideal Christmas Presents

Holiday Offering of Smyrna Rugs

To Brighten Christmas Homes

Almost eight thousand of these handsome and practical rugs go on sale this morning at sharp concessions from their regular prices.

Just in time for holiday giving!

The best grade of Smyrna Rugs, and in new and excellent styles. The manufacturers get through their season earlier than we do; and our carpet chief rounded up these left-over lots, and hurried them here for Christmas shoppers to profit by. It is a large and varied collection, in rug, carpet and hall sizes; aggregating giving almost equal selection to buying from regular stock.

$30,000 Worth of Rugs

The Smyrna Rug gives most nearly the effect of the Oriental, and, being reversible, has almost double the life of other rugs. It is a splendid offering from every point of view. Large quantities, splendid variety of patterns; and these very positive savings on the prices:

Rug Sizes—
18 x 34 in., 85c; value $1.15
21 x 45 in., $1.25; value $1.65
30 x 33 in., $1.35; value $1.85
26 x 54 in., $1.75; value $2.25
36 x 40 in., $1.90; value $2.50
30 x 60 in., $2.15; value $3
36 x 72 in., $3.15; value $4.25
48 x 54 in., $3.35; value $4.50
48 x 84 in., $5.15; value $7

Carpet Sizes—
6 x 9 ft., $11; value $14.50
7½ x 10½ ft., $18; value $22.50
9 x 12 ft., $22.50; value $28.50
9 x 15 ft., $32; value $42
12 x 15 ft., $43; value $56

Hall Sizes—
2½ x 9 ft., $4.50; value $6
2½ x 12 ft., $6; value $8
3 x 9 ft., $6; value $7.50
3 x 12 ft., $7; value $9.50
3 x 15 ft., $8.75; value $11.50

We'll deliver them whenever you wish.

Third floor.

Paris Dress Goods
At Smart Price-Concessions

Beauty is the chiefest merit of the fabrics in to-day's offering. Beauty, originality of design and weave, exclusiveness of the patterns. Latest, finest dress goods, such as is most fully worthy of giving as a Christmas remembrance; and most highly desirable for those who are contemplating Christmas dresses for their own wear.

The patterns are the latest that have come from Paris; and many of them are shown in only one dress length of a kind. This hint of fabrics and prices:

At $3.50, from $4.75 a yard—
Silk-and-wool Brocaded and Velvet Chenille Epingline, in combinations of colors with black.

At $2.50, from $3.50 a yard—
Silk-and-wool Crocodile Crepons, in black ground; with bright silk pin dots.

At $2.50, from $3.50 a yard—
Silk-and-wool Fancy Figured Epingline, in combinations of colors and black.

At $2.50, from $3.50 a yard—
Silk-and-wool Corded Lace Striped Brocade Epingline, in combinations of colors and black.

At $2.50, from $3.25 a yard—
Silk-and-wool Cube Figured Poplins, in combinations of colors and black.

At $2, from $3 a yard—
Silk-and-wool Brocade Epingline, in combinations of colors and black.

At $2, from $3 a yard—
Silk-and-wool Matelasse Epingline, in combinations of colors and black.

At $1.50, from $3 a yard—
Silk Polka-dot Venetian Cloth, in combinations of bright colors on dark colored and black grounds.

At $1.25, from $3.50 a yard—
Silk Figured Wool Satin Venetian Cloth, in attractive color combinations.

At 75c, from $1.50 a yard—
Polka-dot Chudda Cloth, in attractive combinations of black dots on colored grounds.

At 50c, from $1 a yard—
Mohair Bourette Striped Cheviot, in fine attractive combinations.

Embroidered Robes with Shaped Skirts
At $80, from $95—
Robe of Lace and Broadcloth, in applique and elaborately embroidered in colors.
At $50, from $60—
Robe of Venetian Cloth, lace and satin applique and silk soutache braided in colors.
At $40, from $48—
Robe of Venetian Cloth; silk embroidered and silk soutache braided in colors.
At $37, from $42—
Robe of Venetian Cloth; satin applique and silk soutache braided in colors.
At $35, from $40—
Robe of Venetian Cloth; silk embroidered in self-colors and white.
Rotunda.
At $2, from $3 a yard—
Black Silk-and-wool Crepons, in seven handsome designs.

Tenth street and Fourth avenue.

Silk UMBRELLAS

The man who bought this stock and arranged this special holiday display is very enthusiastic concerning the result of his work. So are his helpers. All agree that all past efforts in this direction have been far overshadowed. The writer indorses this claim, though he has recollection of some very interesting and handsome previous collections. Many of you doubtless remember them, too.

This wide assortment comprises all American-made umbrellas. Of course the silks are the best imported, and the handles are the finest that could be found in all Europe as well as in India and Japan. But the making and the putting together of the various fine parts that other countries contributed—is done, because best done, in America. Many very handsome styles are ours alone.

We can't give any satisfactory description, nor a price list. Men and women may choose at $1 and up to $27.50—with especially fine selection around the $5 to $10 marks. Boys' and girls' splendid umbrellas at 50c to $5.

In addition to this Holiday Umbrella Show, there's a notable exhibit of specially gathered men's canes. Many a handsome present contained in this gathering, too.

Broadway.

Wanamaker-Reliable $3 SHOES for Women

Here is shoe merit and value, strong, positive, absolute. The best shoe brains in the world combined to produce the Wanamaker-Reliable. Started with the best $3.50 shoes then on the market, and made the new shoes better at every point and then made the price less. It was a masterful accomplishment. Shoe experts told us that such a thing could not be done. It could not be done by others—it was done by Wanamaker's. But the Wanamaker-Reliable Shoes have no equal in the world at their price, or near it—three dollars a pair

For style, finish, service, comfort. Made in all styles of shoes for easy or dress wear.

Patent Leather dress-up shoes; lace and button; with plain low leather or Louis XIV. heels.
Kidskin—the finest quality of Robert H. Foerderer's Vici brand; made lace and button and cloth top; with turned or heavy welted soles; with high, medium and low heels.
Calfskin—high or low cut lace, with heavy extended soles; for wet weather or skating or business wear. Button shoes, same style.
Enameled Leather—laced; heavy sole; walking shoe.
Ideal Kidskin—the new patent leather; light weight and handsome.
Dull Oxide Kid—softer than calfskin; more durable than glazed kid; stout soles; lace only.

The December Sale of Shoes for men, women and children continues in the Basement and in the Annex Store, corner of Fourth avenue and Ninth street. This sale affords a splendid chance for organizations or individuals desiring to give away shoes for Christmas, to poor children—to get the greatest value for money invested. Special attention will be given to such orders.

Children's Shoes—75c, 85c, 95c and $1.
Boys' Shoes—$1, $1.25 and $1.50.
Women's Shoes—$1, $1.40 and $1.60.
Men's Shoes—$1.50, $1.90 and $2.85.

The Under-Price STORE

New offerings a-plenty. And some of Saturday's best repeated. Fresh, desirable goods of many kinds, all re-marked at prices that are below the market. Holiday shoppers should not fail to visit this Basement Store frequently from now until Christmas.

Remnants of Flannels Reduced a Third—
A large collection of remnants of woven and printed flannelettes, cotton-and-wool wash flannels, all-wool plain and plaid flannels, and silk-embroidered flannels in various designs. Each piece is plainly marked with quantity and price. Lengths range from 1½ to 3½ yards; prices were 9c to 75c a yard; now at the rate of 6½c to 50c a yard.

Girls' Dresses Priced Below Value—
Some very pretty percale dresses in tasteful colorings; revers, belt and cuffs of white pique; price $1.50; value $2. Plaid gingham dresses with vests of white pique; revers, collar and cuffs attractively braid trimmed; price $2; good value at $2.50. Both in 6 to 12-year sizes; all brand-new goods. All in neat boxes, ready to give as presents.

Tapestry Table Covers Greatly Reduced—
They are effective affairs in solid colors of blue, red and green; sizes 1½ and 2 yards square, and 2x2½ yards and 2x3 yards. Prices, which were $2.50 to $9.50, are now $1.75 to $6.50. Also a group of odd covers, in combinations of blue, red, cream, rose and terra-cotta; also Oriental effects; all 2 yds. square; $6.75 to $9, instead of $10 to $15.

Christmas Tree Ornaments, Half Prices—
Glass, paper and tinsel articles for decorating the tree. All now, all reduced. 10c articles are now 5c; 5c kinds are now 2 for 5c.

Bureau Scarfs with Mats; Pillow Shams—
The scarfs are of fine Swiss muslin, with fluted ruffle on 3 sides; or of linen, hemmed with lace. Both with colored percaline linings. Size 22x54 in. 6 and 8-in. mats to match. Prices for both were $1.25 to $3.50. Choice now at 75c a set. Pillow Shams to match the above sets, and a few odd styles, regularly selling at $1 to $3, now 75c each.

Perfume Bottles, Salve Jars, Puff Boxes—
All reduced. The pretty Perfume bottles are of imitation cut glass, with silver screw tops. 15c each; were 25c. Venetian vinaigrettes, at 25c instead of 50c. Large salve jars or puff boxes with sterling silver lids, at 50c instead of 75c. Others with gold lined lid at $1.50—sold regularly at $2.

$6 Decorative Lamps at $4.50—
About 175 of these at the new little price. All handsome lamps, with large bodies; in squat shape; mounted in gold-plated base; finished with gold crown; floral decoration on light and dark grounds. All with 11-in. globes, decorated to match.

Low-Priced Stationery Supplies—
Decorated tablets, with pencils and pads at 20c and 35c—would be fair at 25c and 45c. Nests of engagement and address books, at 25 instead of 35c. Embossed stamp boxes at 20c, and letter pockets at 10c—both good values.

The Wanamaker Store

Afternoon Tea

A delightful and refreshing rest for holiday shoppers has been arranged by the Restaurant. An Afternoon Tea is now served in the Art Gallery, from 3 to 5:30 each afternoon. One goes home less tired and in a far better humor for such a rest and refreshment as this dainty service offers. Price, 20 cents.

Men's Suspenders

This word of a kind made especially for us for this holiday season. The quality is simply the best that one of the best makers can turn out at the price—$1. We go to him for this excellent grade year after year. These are very attractively made, too, of silk webbing, in pink, purple, heliotrope, navy blue, sky blue, yellow, black and white; silver buckles; calfskin ends.

We put these up in neat boxes suitable for holiday giving.

Men's Furnishings—Ninth street.

Boys' CLOTHING

"The Wanamaker Special" is a suit planned especially for good service, than which there is no better value offered anywhere. It is of excellent cheviot, in plain blue and fancy mixtures; sewed together to stay; trousers have double seats and knees; sizes for boys of 8 to 16 years. And the price is $5.

There are numerous other splendid grades at $5—notably this suit with cutaway coat and double-breasted vest; 9 to 16 year sizes. Sailor suits in 3 to 12 year sizes. Double-breasted suits in 8 to 16 year sizes.

Overcoats, too, at $5. Stylish, durable garments of all-wool frieze; well-lined, neatly trimmed; 4 to 16 years. Other good overcoat values at fifty cents more, and so on up to $12.

Second floor, Ninth street.

Fine Table Linens

We own to no national prejudices in gathering our stock of linens. We recognize the best of every land—and secure it. Hence it is, that in this collection of fine table linens, all Europe has been drawn upon. The resulting exhibit has certain characteristics in common: Each component part is of absolutely pure linen, for no surrogate for flax is tolerated here for a moment. Then the care that the best manufacturers can give is bestowed upon the making; and the product, strange to say, is priced below the usual market prices. Some further news:

Linen Table Cloths, from Scotland; bleached beautifully; choice designs; 2½ yds. long, $2 each; 3 yds. long, $2.40. Napkins to match, 20x20 in., $1.75 dozen.

Linen Table Cloths, from Germany; grass bleached; soft finish; damask patterns; 2 yds. long, $2 each; 2½ yds long, $2.50; 3 yds. long, $3. A finer quality of double damask, 2 yds. long, $2.50; 2½ yds. long, $3.25; 3 yds. long, $3.75. Napkins to match; extra size, 26 in. square, $3.50.

Linen Table Cloths, from Scotland; bleached double damask; our own special designs; 2 yds. long, $2.50 each; 2½ yds. long, $3.25; 3 yds. long, $3.75. Napkins to match, 20 in. sq., $2.75 dozen; 24 in. sq., $3.75.

From another maker—a splendid quality; 3 yds. long, $3.30 each. Napkins to match, 20 in., $2.75; 22 in., $3.25; 24 in., $3.75 dozen.

Linen Table Cloths, from Belgium; made of the celebrated Courtrai flax; capable of taking a polish like silver; exclusive designs; 2x2 yds. long, $3.75; 2x2½ yds. long, $4.50; 2x3 yds. long, $5.50; 2½x2½ yds. long, $6; 2½x3 yds. long, $7. Napkins to match, 22 in., sq., $4; 26 in. sq., $5.50.

Linen Table Cloths, from Moravia; of the finest bleached satin damask; 2x2½ yds., $5; 2x3 yds., $6; 2½x2½ yds., $6; 2½ x3 yds., $7. Napkins to match, 27x27 in., $7.

Linen Table Cloths, from Ireland; woven on hand looms and grass bleached; will wear for years; 2x2½ yds., $6.50; 2x3 yds., $7.75. Dinner Napkins, 27 in. sq., $11.50 dozen.

All these cloths can be had in sets, neatly boxed, without extra charge.

Fourth avenue.

Handkerchiefs

They're selling by the thousands now; and we've made the selling easier by additional counters to show them—some on the second floor. Here is the most magnificent variety—abundant styles in every kind of handkerchief at every price—and pure linen or silk, always. Of all things to be avoided in a present, the worst is the fuzzy cotton-mixed handkerchief that comes back to your friend from the laundry, to tell tales of false economy of the giver.

No such risk at Wanamaker's, pay as little as you will, it is always faultlessly pure linen, except when it's silk.

This suggestion of sorts and prices:

Men's and women's plain white hemstitched handkerchiefs. Women's as low as 5c each, and up to $2.50 each. Men's, $1 dozen and up to $6.50 each.
Men's and women's hemstitched and initialed handkerchiefs. Women's, $1 dozen up to $9 dozen. Men's, $1.50 dozen up to $12 dozen.
Women's hemstitched or scalloped and embroidered handkerchiefs, 12½c to $75 each.
Men's and women's colored handkerchiefs, 12½c to $1.50 each.
Children's fancy boxes—3 and 6 handkerchiefs in a box—25c to $1 box.
Men's and women's all-silk hemstitched handkerchiefs, 25c to $1.50 each.
Men's hemstitched and initialed silk handkerchiefs, 25c to $1 each.
Men's and women's all-silk mufflers, 50c to $7 each.

Broadway.

Men's CLOTHING

Here are two excellent opportunities to have suits made to order at much lower cost than is usual. From a line of all-wool fancy cheviots, we will make in correct style a perfect fitting suit, with single-breasted sack coat, at $20. Moderate early-season prices ran up to $30.

From another line, better quality cheviots, also neat worsteds, choice will cost you $25. The lowest-priced in the lot should bring no less than $30—many of them would be considered good value at former price, which was $35.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Silk Petticoats

This is a new lot of women's petticoats of the same excellent taffeta silk, in the same desirable shades, and in the same pretty styles of trimming as that recent lot that we distributed so quickly. The same price as before—$5. Their equals don't often sell for less than $6.50.

Many, many handsome styles besides, American and imported. The exquisite effects from Paris make an interesting display in themselves—the new ruffling effects, new designs in the lace trimming, new treatment of chiffon and ribbon in the embellishment of the garment. These foreign petticoats are $23 to $75.

The American styles are far less expensive, though really almost as handsome. Many are copies of the imported models. For street and every-day wear, $5 to $18.50.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Lace Bed Sets

And Curtains, too. All reduced in price. All perfect. Irish Point Novelty Bed Sets, in white and ecru, combined with taffeta silk, in blue, pink, and green, full bed size, at $13.50 instead of $19.50; at $18.50 instead of $26. Single bed size, at $13 and $13.65 instead of $18.50 and $19.50.

White Irish Point Lace Curtains at $4, $4.85 and $5.85; were $5.25, $6.50 and $7.75.

Third floor.

Girls' COATS

For the girls of six or the miss of sixteen, and all ages between nothing of real merit brought out this season is missing in this stock. Splendid variety, and fairest prices. These three to judge by:

$5—Double-breasted box reefer of tan and blue mixed covert cloth; velvet collar.
$5—Plain cloth Gretchen; double cape; collar and sleeves trimmed with braid.
$9—Double-breasted Gretchen of boucle cheviot; loose back; Bedouin hood lined with fancy silk.

Second floor, Ninth street.

Formerly
A. T. Stewart & Co.

JOHN WANAMAKER

Broadway, Fourth Avenue,
Ninth and Tenth Streets.

THE

FORSYTHE WAIST.

AN IDEAL GIFT.

What more attractive and acceptable gift for Christmas than a Forsythe Waist? Our store is brimful of new waists and neckwear prepared especially for the Holiday Season, and at prices calculated to interest everybody. We desire to call your attention to the following:

SILK DRESS WAISTS.

Silk lined, boned and artistically made, which at the following prices cannot be equalled:

$15.00 $18.00, $25.00.

TAILOR-MADE SILK WAISTS.

Magnificent assortment.
Exquisite fabrics.
Exclusive styles.
Extraordinary value at $10.00, $15.00, $20.00.

FLANNEL WAISTS.

Highest grade flannel,
Our own especial colorings in forty shades,

$5.00.

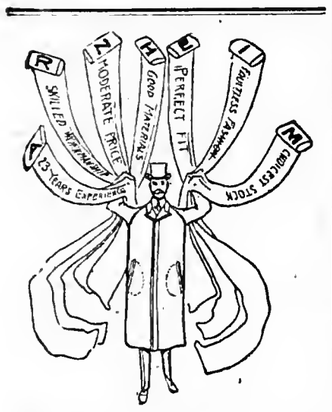
NECKWEAR.

In this department we are equipped with the most thoroughly up-to-date and latest fads, and at very attractive prices.

$1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.50.

Mail Orders Carefully and Promptly Filled. Write for Samples.

JOHN FORSYTHE,
THE WAIST HOUSE.
865 BROADWAY,
Between 17th and 18th Sts.



These qualities made our name famous.

We promise you the material, trimming and style of a $60 suit or overcoat for $30, trimmed with silk and made in the smartest manner. Our $20 suits cost $40 elsewhere. Our $16 suits cost $30 elsewhere. To prove this we give you the privilege to retain garments one week. If comparison does not convince you of these facts, money back.

Samples, Fashion Book and Measuring Guide sent anywhere.

For a Christmas present we can refer back for measurements 23 years.

ARNHEIM,
BROADWAY & 9TH STREET.

"Mellowed by the stealing hours of time."—Shakespeare.

Maryland Club

Pure Rye Whiskey

It tastes old because it is old

CAHN, BELT & CO.
Baltimore, Md.

Columbia's Proposed Trophy Room.

A movement has been started at Columbia to acquire a suitable trophy room where the athletic trophies won by the different teams can be put on exhibition. Dr. Watson L. Savage, the gymnasium director, has over fifty banners, testimonials, cups, and other prizes stored away on the shelves of his office. The testimonial presented to the Columbia crew after its victory at Henley in 1877 by the Mayor and Aldermen of New York is hung in the gymnasium until a suitable room can be obtained. It is hoped that a room of this sort can be secured in the second story of University Hall, which is now being built, but if a place is not forthcoming in the new building, it is proposed that showcases for the trophies be put around the wall of the gymnasium to remind the students of the athletic prowess of their predecessors.

TROTTERS AND PACERS OUT

An Interesting Series of Brushes on the Speedway.

MOTH MILLER BEAT ALVES

Mounted Policeman Murphy's Daring Prevents a Runaway from Doing Any Serious Damage.

There was an excellent morning's sport on the Harlem River Speedway yesterday, despite the wind squall and shower which made everybody scatter for cover and kept the horses under the sheds for half an hour. When the clouds broke away it was found that the rain had laid the dust and put the roadbed in better condition than it was before, and the brushing commenced again with unabated interest. Dr. Randall, who arrived on the stretch with his handsome roan pacer Moth Miller, 2:07, just as the rain began to fall, came from the sheds fresh and ready to meet all comers. After a warming jog up and down, Dr. Randall turned the pacer to a good start with the brown gelding Alves, 2:09½, driven by his owner, Nathan Straus. Alves, who was in fine form, held a lead of half a length to the first quarter post, setting a pace that distanced all who joined in. After passing the post, Moth Miller, without apparent exertion, increased her speed and closed the gap. A race that caused the spectators to crane their necks and cheer the contestants followed, and both horses came down the stretch under the whip nose and nose. There was every probability of a dead heat until Moth Miller made a spurt within 300 yards of the finish that showed off her sprinting powers to their best advantage and landed a winner by a half length.

Alice Barnes, 2:11½, known to the regulars as the "Queen of the Speedway," did some fast work, with her owner, E. E. Smathers, handling the ribbons. Two of the most interesting brushes in which she was started was with Alves. The first was a nip-and-tuck race from start to finish, Alice Barnes winning by a head. In the second contest Alves got somewhat the worst of the start, and, although he made a hard fight and was rapidly overhauling his opponent, lost by a length. The bay pacer N. T. B., 2:21¼, driven by James Kennedy, had a very pretty race with Ambidexter, 2:11½, but was a trifle too slow and lost the brush by an open length.

Among the many on the road were noticed: George Coleman, driving Hattie Walters, 2:21¼; Charles Riley, with Belle Esprit, 2:12½, who won a couple of very creditable brushes; James Murphy of Chicago, driving a team of pacers; Charles Massoth, behind Glen Mere Boy, 2:14½; De Witt C. Flanigan, driving Kinghood, 2:17½; David Lamar, driving Louis Victor, 2:10; Charles Weiland, behind Russel T., 2:18¾.

During the afternoon there was a big turnout of road drivers, but the strong north wind that swept the Speedway from end to end interfered seriously with brushing, and it was finally given up entirely. Considerable excitement was caused by a runaway which occurred while the drive was crowded, but, fortunately, no serious damage was done. The runaway was a bay mare hooked to a pneumatic tire runabout driven by Charles Hendrickson of King's Bridge. There were several horses coming down the stretch at speed in a friendly brush, when Hendrickson's mare, which was trotting, broke, and in trying to get her on her feet again the shaft broke. This caused the animal to bolt, and it started off at a furious pace, causing the light wagon to sway from side to side. Mounted Policeman Murphy, who was some distance behind the animal when it bolted, dug the spurs into his own horse and put after the runaway. The chase was a hot one, and, although everybody expected to see Hendrickson thrown from the rig, he clung to the lines until the officer dashed up alongside of the frightened animal, and, clutching it by the bit ring, soon brought her to a standstill. The shaft was patched up and the animal, who had cut herself seriously in the quarter, was driven home. A few minutes later a team driven by a stranger on the drive became unmanageable and ran for a quarter of a mile before it was stopped.

CONEY ISLAND CLUB'S STAKES.

Sixteen Events, Including Famous Fixtures, to Close Jan. 2.

The Coney Island Jockey Club has announced a list of sixteen stake events, to close Jan. 2, ten of these for the June meeting of 1901, five for the Autumn meeting of that year, and one, the Futurity, estimated value, for foals of 1901, to be run in 1903. The Spring Stakes include the renewals of all the famous events that figure in the history of the June meetings at the Sheepshead Bay course, the most notable of which is the Suburban Handicap, one mile and a quarter, for three-year-olds and upward, with a guaranteed value of $10,000, the conditions being essentially the same as those for the race run last Spring. The other June stakes are the Advance, at weight for age, with $3,000 added, one mile and a half, and the June Handicap, which will be divided into three races, with $6,500 added, for the three, at six furlongs, one mile, and a mile and a furlong, for three-year-olds and upward; the Swift $1,500 added, and Spindrift, $1,500 added, both for three-year-olds; the Great Trial, $20,000 guaranteed; Double Event, (two races,) $10,000 guaranteed, and Vernal, $1,250 added, all for two-year-olds, and the Grand National Steeplechase, $5,000 added, and the Independent Steeplechase, $1,200 added. The stakes for the Fall meeting are the Autumn, Flatbush, and Great Eastern Handicap, all for two-year-olds; the September, for three-year-olds, and the Flight, for all ages.

The complete list of entries for The Brooklyn Jockey Club's stakes of 1901 has been published by The Jockey Club in the Racing Calendar. The list includes the nominations for the Great American, $10,000; Junior Champion, and Tremont Stakes, and the Brooklyn Derby.

Columbia University Athletic Games.

One of the largest athletic events to be held in this city this Winter will be the indoor meet held at the Eighth Regiment Armory on Saturday night under the auspices of the Columbia University Athletic Association. Several hundred entries have been received for the different events, and in the sixty-yard dash alone there will be over forty contestants.

The military relay race will be contested by teams from the Thirteenth, Twenty-second, and Twenty-third Regiments. "Maxey" Long, the half-miler, will run for the Twenty-third Regiment and will endeavor to lower some of his former records.

Four members of the 'Varsity football team—Morley, Weekes, Wright, and Slocovitch—have entered in some of the different events. Morley and Wright will put the shot, while Weekes and Slocovitch will be in the sprints.

In the hurdles, Stephen Barker, who is a promising candidate for intercollegiate honors, will contest. M. B. Dean is entered in the sixty-yard dash. He won both the scratch and the handicap in the sixty-yard event in the Twelfth Regiment games. In the shot-put, H. S. Johnson, who has put the iron forty feet in practice, is entered.

At the Inter-State Park Traps.

Robert A. Welch of the Carteret Gun Club won the weekly shoot of the New Utrecht Gun Club for the Mauser trophy for the second time at the Inter-State Park traps Saturday afternoon, and, according to the conditions of the match, needs to win it but once more in order to obtain permanent possession of it. D. Jacks also has scored two wins, and was second in the contest yesterday, so that the next shoot is likely to decide the fate of the trophy.

Welch also won the principal sweepstakes of the day, at fifteen live birds, with a perfect string from thirty yards. The summaries:

Mauser Trophy Shoot, Miss and Out.—R. A. Welch, (30 yards,) 14; D. Jacks, (30 yards,) 13; J. Ramapo, (29 yards,) 10; H. Toplitz, (29 yards,) 9; Dr. Kay, (28 yards,) 8.

Handicap Sweepstakes, 15 Live Birds, $5 Entrance—R. A. Welch, (30 yards,) 15; T. W. Morfey, (30 yards,) 14; D. Jacks, (28 yards,) 13; J. Ramapo, (27 yards,) 11; J. E. Jones, (27 yards,) 7.

Handicap Sweepstakes, 10 Live Birds, $5 Entrance.—D. Jacks, (28 yards,) 9; R. A. Welch, (30 yards,) 8; Dr. Kay, (28 yards,) 8; H. Toplitz, (29 yards,) 8; J. Ramapo, (29 yards,) 8.

CLASS B AMATEUR BILLIARDS.

Finals in the A. A. U. Tournament Will Take Place This Week.

Barring postponements of ties, the National Class B billiard tournament, which was begun last Monday at the Knickerbocker Athletic Club in this city, will be brought to a close this week. Two games of the final round are to be played daily and these will undoubtedly bring out the best play of the tournament. For the final round six of the original twelve contestants are qualified. All but one of these have come from a distance, John Hendrick of the Knickerbocker Athletic Club being New York's sole representative. Of the remaining five two are from Boston, two from Chicago, and one from Minneapolis. The Bostonians are Albert G. Cutler and William Paige, both of whom represent the athletic association of the Nine Hundred and Ninety-ninth Artillery, a Charlestown organization. Chicago is represented by Charles G. Schmitt and W. W. Kellogg, the latter of whom last year won third prize in the Class B tourney. Frank Billiter is the Minneapolis man.

First place in this year's tournament will probably be won either by Mr. Kellogg or Mr. Cutler, although Mr. Schmitt has gained a number of backers by his play in the qualifying round. The first two games, which were played Saturday, went to Messrs. Cutler and Kellogg. In the afternoon game the former defeated his fellow-townsman, William Paige, by a score of 300 to 142, running out the 300 points in 41 innings and scoring more than two points to his opponent's one. Mr. Kellogg defeated his colleague, Mr. Schmitt, in the evening game. The match was very long for a final-round event, but it was fought hard by two determined players and proved interesting to the gallery. Mr. Kellogg finally won in the seventy-third inning by a score of 300 to 269.

John A. Hendrick and William Paige will meet in this afternoon's game, and Frank Billiter will play Charles G. Schmitt tonight. The afternoon game will be called, as usual, at 3 o'clock, but the evening games will hereafter begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Novice Billiard Tournament.

The final scheduled game in the amateur novice billiard tournament, which has been in progress at Maurice Daly's academy during the past two weeks, will be played to-night. James E. Lewis will meet Charles Roder. Mr. Roder has so far lost none of his games, and Mr. Lewis has lost only one. Should Mr. Lewis win, therefore, the two will be tied for first prize, and will have to play a deciding game to-morrow. Harry Graham will be awarded third prize. He and Frank Tobias are tied for the high run record, each having made strings of 24.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS' INJURIES.

Western Universities Furnish a List of Casualties on the Gridiron.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—A list of the crippled has been taken at the University of Chicago and at Northwestern. During the brief session twelve men were injured seriously or painfully at the University of Chicago, while at Northwestern ten athletes received hurts which put them temporarily out of the game. The injuries range from ruptured blood vessels to broken bones and torn ligaments. The list follows:

University of Chicago—W. C. Carey, displacement of the heart; Capt. Kellogg Speed, ankle sprained, cut over eye; Frank Goodenow, ankle broken; James R. Henry, hand broken; A. W. Place, shoulder dislocated; W. H. Eldridge, sprained ankle, knee dislocated; Harvey H. Lord, ankle sprained; Z. R. Pettit, tendons of shoulder torn; C. W. Ervin, tendons of left leg torn; G. H. Garrey, blood vessel in arm broken; Elvin Snider, blood vessel in ear broken; A. R. Horton, blood vessel in ear broken.

Northwestern University—Henry Hanson, rib broken; C. E. Dietz, finger broken, shoulder strained; J. E. Smiley, ligaments of shoulder torn; C. H. Ward, ankle sprained; J. A. Davidson, shoulder wrenched; A. J. Elliott, ankle sprained; Frank Breedin, elbow sprained; C. A. Baird, both shoulders wrenched; W. N. Machesney, muscle in leg stiffened; H. H. Scraudenbach, ligaments in leg torn.

Harvard's New Football Manager.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 9.—Arthur W. Talmadge, '02, of Plainfield, N. J., has been appointed manager of next year's Harvard Football team. Talmadge was the assistant manager of the team during last Fall.

To-morrow afternoon the kicking contest which was to have been held in the middle of the Harvard football season, but was postponed on account of injuries to the best men, will be held on Soldiers' Field. The kicks will be judged for their effectiveness in a game. Three cups are offered.

Syracuse Football Team Lost Money.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 9.—G. A. Adams of Hancock, N. H., has been elected manager, and H. J. Costello of Syracuse, Captain of the Syracuse University baseball team. The football team, it was announced at the athletic council meeting, lost $2,500 this season.

Armory Indoor Baseball.

Only one of the four scheduled games in the Armory Indoor Baseball League series was played Saturday night. In this single game the Seventy-first Regiment's blue-jerseyed nine defeated the Eighth Regiment's nine at the latter's armory by a score of 13 to 7. One other match, an exhibition game, was, however, arranged by the Ninth Regiment team with the ever-ready Sixty-ninth. The latter game was played at the Ninth's armory, in West Fourteenth Street, where in seven innings the lads from the Irish regiment were narrowly beaten by a score of 11 to 9. The scores:

EIGHTH REGIMENT.	R	1B	PO	A	E	71ST REGIMENT.	R	1B	PO	A	E
Lawler, 2b.	0	0	2	0	0	Rabing, ss.	3	0	1	4	0
McQ'n'n, rf.	0	0	0	3	0	Evans, rf.	1	1	0	0	0
Reyhing, lf.	1	1	1	1	0	Schwarz, c.	2	2	11	2	4
Mag's'n, 1b.	2	1	11	0	2	Weiss'n, 1b.	1	1	8	0	0
Dougan, cf.	1	2	2	0	2	Nacfe, lf.	3	3	0	0	0
McIlh'y, 3b.	0	0	1	1	1	McG'rty, 2b.	1	2	1	2	0
Elsroth, ss.	0	0	2	3	1	King, cf.	3	3	0	0	0
Devery, c.	1	1	6	4	5	McCah'l, 3b.	1	1	3	0	3
Cullian, p.	1	1	0	9	2	Heun, p.	0	1	2	10	0
Total	7	6	25	21	13	Total	15	10	27	19	7

Seventy-first	2	0	0	4	4	1	2	0	—	15
Eighth	0	0	2	2	0	2	0	1	0	— 7

Two-base hits—Dougan, Devery, Evans, and King. First base on balls—By Heun, 6; by Cullian, 7. Struck out—By Heun, 8; by Cullian, 5. Double plays—Lawlor and Elsroth; McCahill and Naefe. Left on bases—Eighth, 2; Seventy-first, 5. Wild pitches—Heun, 3; Cullian, 4. Passed balls—Devery, 4; Schwarz, 2. Time of game—2:05.

NINTH REGT.	R	1B	PO	A	E	SIXTY-NINTH REGT.	R	1B	PO	A	E
Ranges, c.	1	4	4	0	1	Murray, 3b.	2	2	0	0	0
Smith, p.	2	3	2	0	0	W'mson, ss.	0	1	0	0	1
Winters, ss.	2	1	0	3	0	McIntaa, rf.	1	4	0	0	0
Worrell, 2b.	0	0	0	0	1	Devlin, 1b.	1	7	0	0	1
Walsh, rf.	2	2	3	1	0	Hotts, cf.	1	0	0	0	0
Th'pson, 3b.	1	1	2	0	1	C'ghlin, c.	2	2	2	1	0
F'hman, 1b.	2	1	7	0	0	Enright, 2b.	0	0	2	0	1
Daily, lf.	0	0	0	0	2	Hanbury, lf.	1	2	2	0	1
Love, cf.	0	0	0	0	3	Barry, p.	1	1	3	2	0
Total	11	21	11	3	9	Total	9	21	8	1	4

Ninth Regiment	1	4	3	0	1	0	2	—	11
Sixty-ninth Regiment	0	2	0	2	2	3	0	—	9

Two-base hit—Walsh. Three-base hit—Walsh. Home run—Barry. First base on balls—By Smith, 3; by Barry, 5. Struck out—By Smith, 5; by Barry, 5. Double play—By Walsh, unassisted. Left on bases—Sixty-ninth, 6; Ninth, 2. Wild pitches—By Barry, 2. Umpire—Robert Thompson.

Athletes Among the Honor Men.

The list of Columbia's honor men for the past year recently issued by Dean J. Howard Van Amringe contains the names of about 100 students, who during the past year attained high academic distinction at the university, and among them are the following athletes: J. B. Smith, Jr., 1901, Captain of the track team; Egbert Ward, 1901, of the gymnastic team; James H. Heroy, 1902, assistant manager of the crew; Julian C. Harrison, 1901, of the baseball team; Edward Schuster, 1902, of the gymnastic team; Clinton G. Abbott, 1903, of the water polo team; Waller L. Glenny, 1902, of the golf team, and Harold C. McCollom, 1903, of the football team.

"C.'s" Awarded to Cornell Athletes.

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 9.—The Athletic Council has awarded "C's" to the football team of 1900. "C's" were awarded to all of the men who played in either the Princeton or University of Pennsylvania games. Fifteen men were entitled to wear the college emblem, eight of whom received it for the first time, namely, Finucane, Brewster, Hunt, Namack, Purcell, Schoelkopf, Lueder, and Whitney. The council also decided to build a new outdoor track, which will be a great aid in developing Cornell's runners.

GOLF BY THE SEA.

Atlantic City's Club to Start Its Open Tournament on Thursday—Other Matches.

Atlantic City will be the Mecca this coming week of the golfing fraternity that enjoys the competitive excitement of open tournaments. The second big tournament given by the Atlantic City Country Club will be held there on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, and the indications are that there will be a good turn out of Metropolitan and Philadelphia golfers. The fine eighteen-hole course jumped at once into popularity in the tournament last Spring, and as the links are more talked of than any other just now as the probable amateur championship location next year, there is an additional interest in attending the coming event.

The club has been liberal in prizes. Besides the chief trophy, now held by Walter J. Travis, and which will be played for a second time, cups are offered for the second and third sets of sixteen. The qualifying round on Thursday will be thirty-six holes, but all the other rounds will be eighteen holes, and besides the cup finals on Saturday, there will be an eighteen-hole handicap for gross and net score prizes. A cup will also be given to the player making the lowest score in the qualifying round. Walter J. Travis won both the qualifying and the chief prize last year. His thirty-six-hole score on the first day was 166 strokes. Entries close Wednesday night. Wm. Walter E. Edge, Secretary, Atlantic City, N. J.

With this exception, there is little of interest in the golf world this week, the limited programme being:

TUESDAY, DEC. 11.
Harbor Hill Golf Club, S. I.—Special meeting.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 12.
Montclair Golf Club—Annual meeting.

THURSDAY, DEC. 13.
Atlantic City—Open tournament, thirty-six hole qualifying round.

FRIDAY, DEC. 14.
Atlantic City—Open tournament, two match-play rounds for three cups.
Lakewood Country—Women's handicap.

SATURDAY, DEC. 15.
Atlantic City—Open tournament, final rounds for three cups and handicap.
Lakewood Country—Men's handicap.
Nassau Country—Third competition for Percy Chubb's Cup.
Dyker Meadow—Club handicap.
Harry Vardon sails for England.

The feature of the last few days has been the going into Winter quarters of many golf clubs. This consists generally in preparing temporary greens for cold weather use, the regular ones being carefully bedded over to protect the soft turf from the ravages of frost and thaws. In some cases, as at Arsdsley, the Winter course will be reduced from eighteen to nine holes, and the Newark Athletic Club last week transformed the new eighteen-hole course, to a Winter one of eleven holes. Garden City makes no change, the regular greens being kept open the year around. Englewood has cut down its eighteen-hole course to a long one of nine holes for Winter enthusiasts. Morris County, on the other hand, is not only closed, but, speaking figuratively, barred and bolted. In the metropolitan district, however, few competitions will be held, for with the uncertainties of New York Winter weather, golf, apart from practice, is too much of a lottery.

News comes from the West that plans are thus early being arranged to bring about a closer union between the Chicago and Minneapolis golfers, the idea being to hold a series of intercity team matches next year, and possibly a general open tournament. A. S. Fauntleroy, Secretary of the Onwentsia Golf Club, one of the strongest Chicago organizations, and E. A. Turner of the Midlothian Club, made a flying trip to Minneapolis last week to discuss the project with the golfers of that city, and they have reported that the idea met with immediate favor. New York and Philadelphia are thus far the two cities most closely welded together in the friendly and competitive interests of golf, although the St. Andrew's and Brookline Country Clubs, by their annual team matches, have done something on a smaller scale for New York and Boston. There are indications that this intercity golf spirit is growing, just as the sectional golf associations and tournaments have grown within the past three years.

Another interesting item of Western news is the fact that Herbert J. Tweedie has been reinstated to the amatur ranks. Mr. Tweedie is one of the most expert authorities in the country on the laying out of golf links, and many of the courses around Chicago and still further West have been planned by him and brought up to a high standard for the game. Mr. Tweedie has never been a professional, in the minute sense of the word, as he is thoroughly a gentleman golfer. He was elected President last week of the Belmont Golf Club, one of the newer, but progressive, Chicago organizations, and it was announced that $3,000 had been raised for improvements to the links and house next season.

An interesting feature in connection with the closing contests recently of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, at Plainfield, N. J., was the winning of one of the chief trophies by a mother and her son, Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers and N. P. Rogers, Jr. The trophy has been played for at mixed foursome competition during the season, and was known as the Gilbert Cup. Mrs. Rogers, it will be remembered, qualified in the championship set in the women's National tournament at Shinnecock. Her son has frequently caddied for her, and played with her in other tournaments, and these worthy golf representatives of two generations have become well known in many clubs.

Vardon Beat Best Ball.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 9.—Harry Vardon defeated three opponents at Overland links yesterday. He played against the best ball of James Russell, the instructor of the Overland Club, Frank L. Woodard, and Walter Fairbanks, winning by a score of 3 up. The game was for thirty-eight holes.

OVER HILL AND DALE.

Cross-Country Runs Held by Local Athletic Clubs Yesterday.

The local cross-country runners found the invigorating weather of yesterday well suited to their pastime, and two well-contested runs were held over the rugged country north of the Harlem River. The Pelham Athletic Club held a cross-country run yesterday morning over a rough course of six and one-half miles, starting from its clubhouse, in Westchester. The slow pack was given a start of ten minutes, but Pfortner, the leader of the fast pack, caught the slow division within a mile of the finish and beat them out. His time was 44:00.

The order of the leaders at the finish was as follows:

First, R. Pfortner, Pastime Athletic Club; second, E. Williams, New York University; third, A. Fredricks, College of the City of New York; fourth, J. Abrils, Pelham Athletic Club; fifth, A. Dresler, Pelham Athletic Club; sixth, F. Brown, Pelham Athletic Club.

The harriers of the Pastime Athletic Club had their usual run over the Jerome Avenue course yesterday afternoon, starting from Huber's Hotel, at One Hundred and Sixty-first Street and Jerome Avenue. There were two packs, the slower one being given a start of three minutes. The distance was five miles, and the winner, E. Fagan of the slow pack, made the distance in 32:07. The order of the leaders at the finish was as follows:

E. Fagan, Pastime Athletic Club, (slow pack;) R. Pfortner, Pastime Athletic Club, (fast pack;) E. Ratzgelber, New York High School, (slow pack;) J. Lynch, Star Athletic Club, (slow pack;) J. McCann, Pastime Athletic Club, (fast pack,) and J. Fussell, Shamrock Harriers, (slow pack.)

MR. LANTRY'S GOLD FEVER.

His Faith in Blackwell's Island Mine Causes Jocose Comment.

The Democratic Club was practically deserted yesterday, and the few members who did call cracked a good many jokes concerning the finding of a gold mine on Blackwell's Island by Francis J. Lantry, Commissioner of Correction.

The report is, and Mr. Lantry affirms its truth, that while on Riker's Island last Wednesday he discovered gold-bearing quartz in a lot of rock that had been taken from the quarry on Blackwell's Island.

The Commissioner has sent some of the quartz to be assayed, and is anxiously awaiting a report. He will find, it is believed, that what he thinks is gold is iron pyrites.

Old-Time English Whip to Live Here.

George Matson, who has the reputation of being the oldest whip in England, arrived on the American liner New York yesterday. He occupied the seat on the box of the Dover mail coach fifty-five years ago, afterward driving the coach from Tunbridge Wells to Seven Oaks, and also the Windsor and the Virginia water coaches. He will make his home in the city with his sons.

MEETING OF BOWLERS.

Delegates to Chicago Convention Arrange for the Trip.

A meeting of the delegates who will represent the New York bowling clubs at the American Bowling Congress in Chicago next month was held at Thum & Kahlsdorf's Harlem Palace alleys last night to receive the reports of the sub-committees in charge of the arrangements for the trip.

It was announced that a special rate of $22.65 for the round trip had been made by the railroads, and that the party will leave on Jan. 6. To decide a disputed question in regard to the mode of deciding the local championship series, now in progress, it was voted that the contest should be decided by the numbers of games won, but that in case of a tie the highest total score should win. The officers were given authority to fix the date of the final championship match between the winners of the east side and the west side series, respectively.

The next meeting of the association will be held at the Germania alleys on Sunday, Dec. 23, at 4 P. M.

The Brooklyn delegates met last night at Breitkopf's alleys, Jamaica and Pennsylvania Avenues, and decided to hold a series of match games between leading Brooklyn bowling clubs to raise money to defray a portion of the expense which will be incurred in sending the Brooklyn delegation to Chicago. A committee, composed of Thomas Curtis of the Elephant Bowling Club, William Cordes of the Imperial Bowling Club, Oscar Hammer of the Prosperity Bowling Club, Hermann Ehlers of the Palace Bowling Club, Henry Seyd of the Prosperity Bowling Club, and Alexander Schwalbach of the Academy Bowling Club, wae appointed to arrange a schedule, the games to be played on the seven leading Brooklyn alleys. The committee will meet this evening at the Elephant Club, Fulton Street.

It was announced at the meeting that five-men teams would positively be sent by the Prosperity, Palace, Imperial, and Royal Arcanum Bowling Clubs, and probably by the Prospect, Monarch, and Elephant Clubs as well. It was also stated that there is a chance that the bowling team of the Carleton Club, now representing that organization in the Brooklyn Interclub League, would also make the trip.

The second match in the series for the local championship will be rolled at Starr's alleys, 308 West Fifty-ninth Street, to-night between picked teams representing the Columbia and the National Leagues, respectively. This match is one of two for the west side championship, and the return match will be played at Schlusing's Columbia alleys on Dec. 18. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged, and the receipts will be used to defray the expense of sending the New York teams to the Chicago National tournament.

The regular games scheduled in the principal local leagues for this evening are as follows:

Columbia League Tournament—Audubon, Wang, and Enterprise Bowling Clubs. Schlusing's Columbia alleys.

Harlem League Tournament—Lotus, Phoenix, and New Rochelle Bowling Clubs. Thum & Kahlsdorf's Harlem Palace alleys.

National League Tournament—Golden Rod Bowling Club and Our Council, Royal Arcanum. Starr's alleys.

American National Tournament—Central, Easy Meat, and Manhattan Bowling Clubs. Germania alleys.

North Side League Tournament—Hyperion and Prospect Bowling Clubs. Pump's North Side Palace alleys.

Brooklyn Inter-Club League—Carlton Club vs. Aurora Grata Club; Columbian Club vs. Brooklyn Bicycle Club; Crescent Athletic Club vs. Knickerbocker Field Club. Club alleys, Brooklyn.

Greater New York Tournament—Imperial, East New York, and Spartan Bowling Clubs. Thum & Ehler's Palace alleys, Brooklyn.

Long Island League—South Paw, Fort Greene, and Reinecke Bowling Clubs, Elephant Club alleys, Brooklyn.

Brooklyn Royal Arcanum League—Morning Star, Gilbert, and De Long Councils. Trainor's alleys.

BASEBALL PROMOTERS TO MEET.

Club Managers Will Gather To-day for a Business Conference.

Promoters of professional baseball representing the clubs of the National League will have a vexatious problem to settle when the annual business meeting of the League begins at the Fifth Avenue Hotel this morning. The question is whether or not the National League shall recognize the newly formed American League, which, with Ben Johnson as its President, has asserted claims, and at present is in the attitude of threatening a fight which would be disastrous to the profits of the older League clubs unless certain concessions are made. The situation is, briefly, that the National League last year in dropping the clubs maintained in four cities—Washington, Baltimore, Louisville, and Cleveland—left the way open for Johnson's American League to take two of those cities—Baltimore and Washington—into his association. The American League also includes a club from Philadelphia, which, if the American League succeeds in carrying out the intentions of its officers, will give the new association footholds in three cities that, under the old organization, were of the National League's territory.

This controversy, though not included in the schedule of business that will come before the annual meeting of the National League, will unquestionably engage the attention of the conference, and unless an agreement is reached, a baseball war seems certain. President Johnson of the American League is expected to be present in person to forward the interests of his organization. Aside from this matter only routine affairs in connection with the revision of rules, the business management of the clubs, the engagement of players, and the arrangement of a schedule of games for next season will occupy the meeting of the officers of the National League. Many of the club representatives will arrive in New York this morning. Those who will be present are N. E. Young of Washington, President; Frank D. H. Robison of St. Louis, J. A. Hart of Chicago, S. H. Soden of Boston, B. Dreyfuss of Pittsburg, F. K. Knowles of New York, John D. Rogers of Philadelphia, and Ed Hanlon, G. Abell, and Charles Ebbetts of Brooklyn. It is not known yet whether John T. Brush of Cincinnati, who has been seriously ill, will be able to attend the meeting.

McGRAW IN NEW LEAGUE.

Baltimore Baseball Player Signs with Johnson's Organization.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 9.—John McGraw finally severed his connection with the National Baseball League to-night by signing a ten years' contract with Ben Johnson, which gives him control of the Baltimore franchise in the new American Baseball League for that length of time. McGraw declares that under the contract he made last season with Robison of St. Louis, he was entirely free at the conclusion of the season, and that Robison had no authority to include him among his reserved players.

By his action to-night McGraw throws down the gauntlet to the National League magnates. He says the League managers can examine his contract as well as the League laws, and he defies them to find any regulation which can hold him or place any club working under the National agreement under any obligation to respect Robison's reservations. McGraw further says that while not looking for trouble, or a baseball war, he and the other men interested in the new league, do not intend to allow themselves to be bulldozed. If the National League insists on a rule-or-ruin policy the American League is ready to fight.

Many Letters for Lieut. Hobson.

Lieut. Hobson's condition did not change during Saturday night, but it was said at the Presbyterian Hospital that he was getting along as well as could be expected. Many more letters came for Mr. Hobson yesterday. They have accumulated to over 500. None has been sent to him because of his condition.

LOOK FOR THE THREE RINGS OF THE

BALLANTINE BREW.

They mark the highest possible quality and excellence in malt liquors:

India Pale Ale.
XXX Canada Malt Ale
Old Burton Ale.
Porter, Brown Stout, Half and Half.

On Draught or in Bottles.

P. Ballantine & Sons, Newark, N.J.

JUST READY.

REV. DR. HILLIS' NEW BOOK

THE INFLUENCE OF CHRIST IN MODERN LIFE.

By NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS, D. D.,

Pastor of the Plymouth Church, Brooklyn. Just Ready. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50.

A STUDY BY DR. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS, OF THE PLYMOUTH CHURCH, BROOKLYN, OF THE NEW PROBLEMS OF THE CHURCH IN AMERICAN SOCIETY.

In his new book Dr. Hillis discusses problems which are constantly forcing themselves on the thinking man, who, whether a churchgoer or not, will be interested in his discussions of the Pulpit and its Place in American Life and Thought; of Social Progress and the Influence of Christ in Civilization; of Christ as a Supreme Example; of Genius in the Realm of Intellect, and also in the Realm of Ideal Character and as a Religious Teacher. Other topics are: God's Silence and His Voices also, a study of what Nature discloses and denies; The Higher Nature of Man as a Revelation of God leads to a Comparison of the old and new Conceptions of God.

After a discussion of Evolution and Christianity he points out the Dependence of every theory of Development on an Infinite God, calls attention to the changed View of the Bible and the Outlook for those who are seeking a Working Faith, whether Scientist, Philosopher, Poet or Seer, and touches upon Fear, Law and Love as Motives of Life; on the Problem of whether Theistic Evolution throws any light upon Christ's View of Future Punishment, closing with a study of the Problems and Claims of the Church upon American Society.

AN INTERESTING BOOK FOR THE LIBRARY OF EVERY CLERGYMAN OR TEACHER AND OF ANY ONE INTERESTED IN THE WELFARE OF CHURCH OR SOCIETY.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY, 66 5th Av., N.Y.

E. M. GATTLE Jeweler, begs to announce that he has removed from Broadway and Twenty-Seventh Street to his new building at Fifth Avenue and Thirty-Eighth Street and respectfully invites you to an inspection of a superb display of rare gems and fine examples of the jeweler's art.

Fifth Avenue and Thirty-Eighth Street.

FATAL FALL OF AN ARTIST.

John McAuliffe Killed Like Horace J. Hayden—Painted Horses for Robert Bonner.

John McAuliffe, an artist, seventy years of age, was instantly killed yesterday morning by falling from a window of his apartment, at 405 West Twenty-second Street. McAuliffe had been a sufferer from nervous prostration lately, and was not very strong, although he was able to be about and had been out to a barber's shop on Saturday. He was to have gone to the Speedway yesterday morning, as was his custom each Sunday.

His wife saw him moving about the dining room about 8:30 o'clock, and asked him if he felt well. He answered that he did, but was warm and wished to get some air. About 9 o'clock she heard the crash of something falling, but did not know that her husband had fallen out of the dining room window until ten minutes later, when a neighbor called her. One of the sons of McAuliffe found his father dead when he went to the yard below. It was thought that he had leaned too far out of

The New York Times.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NEW YORK, MONDAY, DEC. 10, 1900.

OFFICES:

NEW YORK:
Publication Office.....41 Park Row
All American District Telegraph Offices.
WASHINGTON.....515 Fourteenth St.
LONDON: Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Sq., W.C.
Advertising Office, C. Wilkes, 29 Ludgate Hill.
SWITZERLAND, Geneva: P. Drehmann, Librairie Nouvelle, Rue du Mont Blanc.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY, per Month.....$0.50
DAILY, per Year.....6.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Year.....7.50
SUNDAY, per Year.....1.50
MONDAY, with Financial Supplement, per Year.....1.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Month.....0.65
THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW, per Year.....1.00

For postage to foreign countries add 80 cents per month.

TWELVE PAGES, with Financial Review and Quotation Supplement.

MR. ODELL AND THE SENATOR.

There are signs that the entente extra-cordiale assumed to exist between Mr. ODELL, the candidate for the Governorship, and Senator PLATT has been somewhat impaired, and that the relations between the Senator and the actual Governor may turn out to be consistent with the self-respect of the latter and unsatisfactory to the former.

Almost immediately after the election Mr. PLATT caused it to be announced that Mr. ALDRIDGE of Rochester was quite fitted for any place in the State service within the appointment of the Governor. As Mr. ALDRIDGE had been replaced by Mr. PARTRIDGE as Superintendent of Public Works on the express ground that he had shown his utter unfitness for that position, it was plain that his complete "vindication" required his reappointment, and it was in connection with a rumor of his approaching reappointment that Senator PLATT made his emphatic and amazing declaration. Very promptly Mr. ODELL announced his intention to reappoint, not Mr. ALDRIDGE, but Mr. PARTRIDGE.

The public was early informed by Senator PLATT in the most definite and uncompromising fashion that a State Constabulary bill would be passed at an early day, and would become a law in time for it to go into operation before many weeks. An eminent jurist was engaged to draw up the bill, and the stages of his progress in the work were reported at short intervals. The only point as to which there seemed to be any doubt was whether the new system would include all the larger cities of the State or be confined practically to New York, with possibly enough outside territory to admit of the application of the principle of the old "Metropolitan" scheme. On this measure Mr. ODELL very properly declined to express any opinion in public, until it should come before him; but his intimate friends caused it to be known that he regarded it with a good deal of apprehension, not to say disapproval. It has been abandoned by the Senator in a manner at once startling and puzzling.

Mr. ODELL has allowed it to be understood that he was contemplating a good many economies in the administration of the State Government, involving the abolition of useless offices and commissions, and especially the cutting off of the "special counsel," which has been one of the favorite methods with Senator PLATT to reward personal and political service. There are numerous members of the bar of the State in all sections, ardent admirers of the Senator, whose annual income will be considerably diminished by such a process, and they have been very useful to "the organization," too.

The adequate improvement of the canals is by far the most important matter in the affairs of the State; it is, indeed, more important than all others together, if we consider its effect on the future not merely of the State itself, but of the country of which the State is so great a part. It has always received from Senator PLATT an attention, to say the least, not close or friendly. He has barely tolerated the zeal and energy displayed with reference to it by Gov. ROOSEVELT and such men as Gen. GREENE. Possibly his feeling regarding it is determined by his association with the great corporations that are openly or covertly opposed to the development of the canals for reasons not necessary to define. Whatever his motives may have been, the men engaged in the promotion of this great plan have all along been conscious that they must overcome the dead weight of his indifference or quiet hostility. It turns out that Mr. ODELL appears to have a more eager interest in this matter than in any other likely to be brought before him, and, without committing himself to any particular plan, he has pledged himself to take it up seriously and soon to address the Legislature in regard to it.

All these facts, taken together, indicate that Mr. ODELL is contemplating an administration of the office of Governor that will not be entirely shaped at the office of the United States Express Company. In connection with this possibility it must be remembered that Mr. ODELL is very differently situated from any of his Republican predecessors. He has an intimate acquaintance with the politics of the State and with the active men of his party, of whom he has been for some time the official leader. He knows exactly the strength and the weakness of the Senator and of his methods. He knows how far he can go without "breaking" with his party, and it is not impossible that he also knows what reliance can be placed in public sentiment, if it became necessary to appeal to it in opposition to the organization. It is too soon to predict the policy of our next Governor. But it is not too soon to note the indications of his probable course. These now point to a pretty interesting time at Albany during the next few months.

ROMAN CATHOLICS AND THE SCHOOL FUNDS.

A clerical critic some time since made the amusing statement that no newspaper in this city was open to the discussion of what he regarded as the plot to secure a division of the school moneys in the interest of the Roman Catholic schools. This gentleman was a Protestant. We noticed recently a corresponding error on the part of a clergyman of the Catholic sect in New Jersey, who declared that the advocates of the Catholic view could not obtain a hearing in what he called the "Protestant press," meaning the American secular press. Our own readers are aware that neither of these statements is true of THE TIMES, and that they have had a reasonable opportunity to hear both sides of this question, and have been at no loss as to the policy advocated by us, a policy of free non-sectarian public education with no preference whatever to the interests, the convictions, or the prejudices of either Protestants or Catholics.

It is evident from the discussion in our columns, as well as from the utterances of prominent Catholic clergymen, that there is making something like a concerted movement for the agitation of the claim of their Church to a portion of the money raised by taxation to be devoted to the support of the schools of the Church. To this movement there is not the slightest objection. It is quite within the rights of the Catholic clergy or laity to advocate the division of the school moneys. It would be equally within their rights to advocate the support of their churches from taxation. Either policy is one that the people could adopt if they chose to take the necessary steps. They differ, in our judgment, only in degree, and in the fact that direct subsidies to churches are forbidden by the Constitutions of most of the States. But the Constitutions can be changed by the people, if they wish, and the less difficult process of electing members of the Legislature and a Governor who will enact laws for the division of the school taxes is one that is always open for trial by any body of citizens that chooses to undertake it. The agitation, if made, must be met by discussion and argument, and it would be better to avoid abuse or bitter language on either side.

The Catholics themselves, who are entering on this agitation—all Catholics do not agree in regard to it—will admit that they are trying to reverse a pretty strong and steadily maintained tendency of public sentiment and opinion in this country. They are in fact trying to introduce for their own benefit a policy that was formerly worked in part at least for the benefit of the Protestants, and was abandoned as unfair and opposed to the spirit of our institutions. In the early days of the public schools, the almost universal religion of the American people was that of the Protestants. Religious observances in accordance with the prevailing ideas were common in the schools, and a degree of State aid was given to avowedly religious schools. This practice has been undergoing a gradual change, and has pretty well disappeared in many sections of the country. It is probably doomed to entire extinction. No policy on the same lines is likely to be adopted on the claim of Catholics, who are not the majority, and who are themselves divided as to the soundness of the principle. We do not ourselves believe that the spread of religious education would in reality be promoted by State aid. We think that precisely the opposite effect would be reached. The Catholic Church is nowhere stronger or more active than it is in this country, where it is thrown entirely on its own resources and the contributions of its members. We are confident that it neither needs nor could well use the aid of the State in its educational work any more than in any other branch. But there is no reason why it should not seek that aid if it wishes.

THE PURSUIT OF DE WET.

Evidently the Boer General DE WET, with his gallant little band, is in a position to extricate himself from which calls for superlative strategic genius. He has been in precarious positions before, has almost been surrounded, but has always managed to escape between some unconnected links in the British lines. And now, with the enemy's columns on three sides of him and a flood barring his front, his doom seems sealed; and, with BOTHA again seeking for terms of surrender, we should have no hesitation in declaring that the end of the Boers' irregular warfare was in sight, were it not for the extraordinary achievements of the man who now stands at bay near Rouxville.

For some time after the occupation of Pretoria by Lord ROBERTS, BOTHA attempted to maintain the semblance of regular warfare between the capital and the frontier of Portuguese East Africa, along the line of the Delagoa Bay Railway, while DE WET, with forces which have risen to 5,000 and dwindled to a few hundred, entered upon a campaign which for daring, rapidity of movement, extent of territory covered, and strategy displayed has not its equal in recent military history. Events have shown that DE WET's plan was to break the British lines of communication with the south whenever possible, to gobble up British columns sent to intercept him before they could unite, and to relieve isolated commandoes when hard pressed by the enemy or destitute of provisions. His successes have been the most remarkable feature of the war.

Between March 30 and Aug. 20 DE WET covered a line of march extending over 1,000 miles, he had crossed and recrossed the Vaal, and seemed to be able to confine his operations to the Orange River Colony or to extend them north into the Transvaal at will. He had played "puss in the corner" with METHUEN, had played "tag" with KITCHENER over a race of more than 500 miles, completely exhausting his pursuer, and had finally engaged in a game of "blind man's buff" with HUNTER. Then Major Gen. CHARLES KNOX took a hand, and, within an area of less than 10,000 square miles in the Orange River Colony, played all three games with him, with the result that the indomitable DE WET now seems to be in a corner. But who can say?

Although possessing greater sustained mobility than any one of the former pursuers of DE WET, KNOX at first proceeded somewhat leisurely with his task. It became evident last August that DE WET's hurried march south into the Orange River Colony had for its aim the relief of OLIVIER, who, however, was forced to surrender at Winburg, with DE WET almost within sight of his campfires. DE WET then turned northward, and for several weeks held complete sway in the district just south of the Vaal. On Aug. 1 KNOX was at Kroonstad; his objective point was Heilbron, a terminus of the Pretoria Railway, scarcely sixty miles away. But in reaching it he covered the entire country between Bothaville and Heilbron, west and east, and the Vaal and Ventersburg, north and south, rounding up cattle, searching for arms, and burning farms. On Oct. 3 he was in Heilbron, and, making a feint toward the Vaal, turned DE WET southward over part of the country that had just been laid waste. It is interesting to note in the chase that has just been brought to a halt that, with the exception of 100 Yeomanry, KNOX's force consisted entirely of unmounted men, but so admirable has been his management of the campaign that for two months he has been close to DE WET's rear guard and has yet managed to preserve his lines of communication unbroken.

STREET CAR DYNAMICS.

The decision handed down by the New York Court of Appeals recognizing the responsibility of an electric railroad company for compensatory damages to a woman injured by being thrown down by the jerk of a car in starting is likely to deprive passengers fortunate enough to get seats and wise enough to hold them of one of their principal diversions. It is extremely entertaining to see a passenger waltzing up and down the aisle between the front and rear doors, like a weaver's shuttle. Grabbing at pendent straps usually imparts a rotary motion to one thus impelled, which greatly enhances the effect and reminds the onlooker with a taste for the classics of the athletic devotions of the corybantes at Phrygian altars. When the motorman is playfully inclined, he can have a great deal of innocent fun in this way, and do much to alleviate the monotony of the ride for the passengers. If once in a while he carries the joke too far and causes the victim of his sportiveness to pitch headlong out upon the rear platform, dislocating his neck against the railing, we may be quite sure it was unintentional.

Much of the innocent pleasure of life under modern conditions is interfered with by the habit of the courts in taking things seriously. Some time ago a woman passenger on the Brooklyn Heights Railroad had an experience which annoyed her. Probably she is one of the kind who are temperamentally incapable of seeing the humor in an amusing situation. She entered the car by the front platform, at the polite invitation of the motorman, who opened the gate and door for her. Before she had reached a seat the car started like a football kicked to goal, in consequence of which precipitancy her person and feelings were both hurt, and in a suit for damages she got judgment against the company in $4,000. On appeal this verdict was set aside, the Court holding that if a car stopped it had to start again, and that if a passenger did not have legs enough to brace him or her in all directions, it might be held to show contributory negligence. The Court of Appeals takes a different view and holds that a car might be started in a way to indicate a lack of proper consideration for the passengers by a motorman with a propensity for making people turn involuntary flipflaps. This is not the exact language of the opinion, but it is the idea, since it reaffirms the original judgment given for the plaintiff by the trial court. As the motor car is ordinarily managed, it illustrates a mode of motion admirably adapted to the kangaroo or the jack rabbit, but not so well suited to a human being with but two legs, and who has nothing suitable to light upon when these are yanked from under him.

CHURCH BELLS AS NUISANCES.

The controversy which has arisen between two neighboring churches in Brooklyn over the fact that one has a chime of bells which it causes to be rung while the congregation of the other church is at worship will probably be settled by such a change of hours for service as will prevent further annoyance. Behind the discussion, however, is the broader and much more important question whether the ringing of church bells in a city, being an unnecessary noise and extremely disturbing to a great many people, is not a public nuisance which should be suppressed. If this is true of a single deep-toned bell, it is much more true of chimes. Some people like chimes, perhaps, but more do not. Few things are more trying to a nervous person with a sensitive musical ear than an attempt to play on a chime of bells a "tune" written with sharps and flats for which the natural scale of the chime octave makes no provision. It is simply maddening. Scarcely less so is the rendering of simple melodies written for chimes. Heard at a distance of five miles, or so, over the water, they might be very agreeable, if not habitual; but to have them tolled out with each note as staccato as a cannon shot, when one must sit and wait until they cease before he can resume the ordinary avocations of a well-ordered life, is extremely trying.

Bell ringing is no part of religious worship, and has no necessary connection with the tenets or traditions of Christianity. In fact, it is essentially pagan in origin, and is practiced to drive away evil spirits where it has any religious significance at all. In primitive rural settlements where the people had few clocks and fewer watches, and those they did have were quite as likely to be wrong as right, the summoning bell may have been useful. It has no use of any kind in cities, and its assertive clamor is an offense to those whose peace and quiet is thus rudely invaded. We would have been glad to see the Brooklyn case made an issue on its merits. Chimes are capable of inflicting great torture in a crowded city neighborhood, and the right of a congregation owning them to set them "quarreling in the air" to the disturbance of hundreds, and perhaps thousands, of people to whom they do not in any way appeal agreeably, is certainly open to a discussion in which the advantage would lie with those opposed to them. Many much less serious nuisances are forbidden by the Sanitary Code, and those who perpetrate them are subject to arrest and fine.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—Constitutional government aims at and attains about the same results in England and the United States, but the details of its workings are in many respects curiously different. The contrast in length between the average "Queen's speech" at the opening of Parliament and the average "President's message" at the opening of a Congressional session illustrates a divergence in custom which, if not of any great importance, is still characteristic and interesting. Quite as many and as difficult problems now confront Great Britain as are faced by the United States, and yet the nominal utterance from the Throne fills only ten newspaper lines, while President MCKINLEY, when our lawmakers resumed work the other day, ran on for endless column after column, and did not consider his task accomplished until he had fully rehearsed no small part of recent history. The difference was more than usually marked this time, but it is always a notable one, Queen's speeches being invariably brief and President's messages always long and usually very long indeed. Then we have nothing that in the remotest sense corresponds with the formal criticism which as a matter of course follows the reading in Parliament of the Government's programme. The President says what he chooses about the condition of public affairs and the policies he commends, and there, to all appearance, the matter ends. Of course it does not really end there, any more than it begins there, and much the same thing is accomplished here as in England, but the pains followed coincide at hardly a single point. Instinctive patriotism insists that our way is the better, but—well, the reading of Presidential messages, as a rule, does not render life happier or easier, and not to read them creates a worrying memory of duty unperformed.

—In crediting to New York hackmen the transportation facilities—inadequate for our needs, indeed, but still unequaled elsewhere—which the city enjoys, and in gravely demanding a monumental or other public expression of the debt thus created, Mr. CLEMENS was funny in a way not only characteristic of himself but of all humor distinctively American. The element of truth in his statement is not a large one, yet it is quite large enough to lend an underlying seriousness to his jest, and it might easily be made the basis of solemn sermonizing, either on the good that sometimes seems to come out of evil, or on the evil itself and the sinners in whom it has its habitation. Mr. CLEMENS's joke, however, does not stand quite firmly. It is more than questionable whether New York hackmen are any worse than those of other cities. Their faults are much the same as those charged against the tribe in every land, and therefore our surface and elevated cars must be the product of something else than those faults. Inventors and capitalists would have worked together for profit just the same, even if the drivers of our public cabs and coaches had always been scrupulous to refrain from extortion and discourtesy. What Mr. CLEMENS saw was not a relation, but the appearance of a relation. The appearance was enough for his purpose, and the ability to see and make others see well-hidden associations is the humorist's stock in trade.

—If Lord ROBERTS had made his Durban speech when he first arrived in South Africa instead of just when he was starting home, its effect on the Boer mind might have been considerable. It is not likely to calm many animosities now, however, for the old General leaves behind to complete his task a man supposed to be without any form of human emotion, and who is expected, not to conciliate, but to crush. Still the remarks of Lord ROBERTS could not be read without a clearer understanding of the qualities that have raised him so high in the public esteem. His effectiveness as a soldier is no better known than his excellence as a man, and however irreconcilable the Boers may be, they cannot suspect that his talk about the blessedness of peace and the joys of friendship is prompted by anything like fear or inefficiency.

—Two men who have been running a "faith cure" hospital in Philadelphia allowed a baby intrusted to their care to die without medical attendance recently, and, for a wonder, they were arrested for their crime. They were tried last week, and, after confessing to involuntary manslaughter, they were both sentenced to three months' imprisonment. What there was "involuntary" about what they did it is hard to see, since they knew that the child was seriously ill and refused to take any measures to relieve or cure its sufferings. Perhaps it was just as well, however, that their absurd plea was accepted, for by so doing they were sent to jail for a while, and if an attempt had been made to secure an adequate punishment they would probably have escaped altogether. One of the would-be wizards, H. E. SOLLENBERGER by name, is a stocky young fellow, who wears the garb of a priest. When questioned by the Judge as to why he let the child die, SOLLENBERGER began to assert what he called his rights, but on second thought he contented himself with declaring that according to the Bible medicine is a poison to the human system, and that faith in GOD made unnecessary and even wicked any interference with the course of what some called disease. The other faith curer, one EZRA SHEETS, is described as having "pale blue eyes and a delicate complexion that give him the saint-like look affected by most divine healers." When asked what brought him to Philadelphia, he said he came in response to "a call from the Spirit." "Did you do any advertising?" shrewdly inquired the Judge. "Well, yes, a little," replied SHEETS, with natural reluctance, whereupon the unfeeling Judge remarked: "You were up to date in that respect, even if your treatment of patients was a little antiquated." SOLLENBERGER and SHEETS are evidently very poor specimens of their class. Their assumption of religious fanaticism is simply ludicrous, for if they had been sincere, or had possessed the nerve to pretend sincerity as well as the average "healer" does, they could have made enough of a fight against conviction to secure a lot of ignorant and maudlin sympathy. Then, though they might have had to go to jail, they would have gone as persecuted martyrs, well advertised among faith-cure dupes, and on their release they could have made a comfortable and easy living. That confession of "involuntary manslaughter" will drive them to work or pocket picking.

—Why should a special fifty-cent silver dollar be coined for the Philippines? The islands are and always will be American territory, and such objections as the more ignorant natives may have to taking American money of the ordinary sort can be easily, and ought to be quickly, removed. A special coin, worth only half its face value in gold, would be a troublesome anomaly in our currency, and, moreover, it would be as much unlike the Mexican dollar, which the natives are supposed to demand, as is the silver current here. The argument for the suggested coin is as weak as are the arguments which prevent the instant substitution of American for Spanish laws in our new possessions, and which hinder the suppression of many ancient abuses of other sorts. Changes made too rapidly may be dangerous, but so is the perpetuation of ancient wrongs and evils, and the golden mean is much nearer immediate reform, thoroughly carried out in accordance with civilized ideas, than it is to the policy of changing nothing except under the compulsion of absolute necessity and of endless concessions to ignorant or vicious conservatism.

GENERAL NOTES.

Texas used to have a State Geologist, but his office was abolished in 1894. An effort is now being made to have the position re-established, though the Texas Academy of Science has done much to explore and publish the mineral and geological resources of the State.

* * *

The American Historical Association is to hold its sixteenth annual convention in Detroit and Ann Arbor, Mich., beginning Dec. 27 and continuing three days. Addresses will be made and papers read by a large number of learned professors in Eastern and Western colleges and others.

* * *

The Republicans of Washington elected 26 of the 34 members of their State Senate and 60 of the 80 members of the House of Representatives. Thus they will have a two-thirds vote in each house, and will be able to pass any bill over the veto of the opposition Governor.

* * *

The foreman of the laboratory of a Detroit firm of manufacturing chemists reports that recently on opening a cask of white powdered arsenic consigned to the firm he found upon it some twenty-five caterpillarlike worms, seemingly very happy in feeding upon the deadly poison. He had never, he says, seen such before.

* * *

The City of Birmingham, Ala., has already begun to make preparations for a "metallic exposition," to be opened there Nov. 15, 1904, and continue until May 15, 1905. Its charter name is to be the International Metallic and Industrial Exposition. The State is expected to contribute $100,000 toward the expense, and Congress is to be asked to give $500,000.

TAX ON MATERIALS FOR PAPER.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In reading your editorial of yesterday on "Home Industry," (paper and pulp,) the rates of duty on the articles would be about 12 to 15 per cent., which you think excessive!

As all paper is made upon felts, (or machine blankets,) all wool, allow me to give a list of duties on eight small invoices from England. The paper trade was obliged to buy abroad, none being made here then, even after 1865 to 1870, and during a part of 1862 the duty was 30 per cent. To-day the foreign felts are about driven out and American felts are exported as well as American paper machines.

Present rates, 102, 94, 128, 129, 114, 111, 95, and 120 per cent.; taking one sample invoice costing, duty paid, $914.33; add expense, profit, $182.87; total, $1,097.20. I can buy same sizes American for $588.50; difference, $508.70.

STEPHEN G. TRAIN.

Boston, Dec. 8, 1900.

NUGGETS.

Letters No Attraction.

Mrs. Hocorn—But, Mandy, I don't see why you don't want to marry Silas Beanblossom. He's prosperous enough. He's just put a new "L" on his house.

Mandy—I don't keer, maw. He kin put the whole alphabet on his house, if he wants to, but this here literary life never did appeal to me.—Baltimore American.

Of Great Interest.

Mr. Spellman—Here are two pages of the President's message in the paper, and I suppose that after I've read it I won't remember a tenth of it.

Mrs. Spellman—Surely it's not very thrilling. I read Smyser's two-page advertisement before churchtime Sunday morning, and I remember every bargain in it to this minute.—Denver News.

The Wedding Fee.

The Groom—What is your usual fee for performing marriages?

Rev. Tieknot—Oh, I prefer to leave that to you—whatever you think it's worth, you know.

The Groom—In that case I shall have to wait a year at least. If she is satisfactory, I'll pay you handsomely; if not, you may expect a damage suit.—Columbus (Ohio) State Journal.

The Hungry and the Dyspeptic.

"What is these here pessimists?" asked Mrs. Jason, pausing in her reading to polish her glasses.

"Near 's I kin figger 'em out," answered Mr. Jason, as he squinted down the side of the ax handle he was scraping with a bit of glass, "near's I kin make out, they're divided among the fellers that has had too much to eat and them that hasn't had enough."—Indianapolis Press.

OPEN THE DOOR OF YOUR HEART.

Moses Gage Shirley in Boston Transcript.

Open the door of your heart, my lad,
To the angels of love and truth,
When the world is full of unnumbered joys
In the beautiful dawn of youth;
Casting aside all the things that mar,
Saying to wrong, depart.
To the voices of hope that are calling you
Open the door of your heart.

Open the door of your heart, my lass,
To the things that shall abide,
To the holy thoughts that lift your soul
Like the stars at eventide;
All of the fadeless flowers that bloom
In the realms of song and art
Are yours if you'll only give them room.
Open the door of your heart.

Open the door of your heart, my friend,
Heedless of class or creed,
When you hear the cry of a brother's voice,
The sob of a child in need;
To the shining heaven that o'er you bends
You need no map or chart,
But only the love the Master gave.
Open the door of your heart.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

An innocent traveler on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad was yesterday the cause of a lot of fun for one of the whist parties in the smoking car of an express train. Between hands the members of the party instead of abusing one another for misplays began to talk of hunting. One member had just finished a successful ducking trip on the Sound, out Branford way. After a recital of his exploits the innocent man chimed in with a statement that occasioned a chorus of guffaws. "Up in Tolland," said he, "a game preserve has just been stocked with a hundred Angora goats, and the men back of the scheme expect to have a lot of fun with them in a couple of years." There was no doubt that the innocent was a little misty about sport and about Angora goats, and so he had to stand the fun of his associates until the train reached the Grand Central Station. At luncheon at the Manhattan an hour later he hunted up a friend from Connecticut with whom he had started away from home for the trip to New York. He it was who had been responsible for the Angora goat story. So to him the innocent recited how he had been made the butt of his card-playing friends, and asked how and why it was that he had been led into making such an exhibition of himself. "You were all right, old man," responded the friend laughingly, "but you neglected to tell your friends that the goats had been put on a game preserve that had been abandoned because game could not thrive on the barren land and goats had been put there instead. The owners of the land couldn't sell it. Deciding that it was foolish to let it become a complete loss, they decided to stock it with the goats, which will live where no other animal can. As they are able to defend themselves from dogs, and as their hair and hides are valuable, the Angoras are to be put in as a trial to see if the land would not make some sort of return to the investors, as has been done on the mountain ranges of Tennessee and the Carolinas. Your story was all right, only it didn't belong in the hunting class." Then and there the innocent man decided that hereafter he would decline to "monkey" with subjects he knew nothing about.

***

Says a traveler for one of the largest of the Chicago pork-packing houses: "It was while I was making my trip through Bavaria a few months ago that I discovered a rather clever game that the Danes are playing on the good people of Germany who have such a hatred of the American hog. Germans are very fond of pork, and the sort that commands the highest price among the imported products is the Danish article. I was in an establishment where they were disposing of lots of pork when a little twist in the method of packing attracted my attention. I carefully kept an eye on the 'made-in-Denmark' pig products after that, and made a visit to Denmark in my Sherlock Holmes capacity. After a lot of investigation I at last clinched things, and then was able to prove, if necessary, that the Danes had been 'doing' both Germans and Americans. Those thrifty Danes, who have always been comfortably large buyers of our pork, had been taking good Chicago-packed pork, changing the packings and labels, and sending it to Germany, where it was sold as pork of Danish making. Then I went off to the nearest chatelier and had a quiet laugh to myself over the way the Germans were being taken in. Naturally I kept my mouth shut about the discovery until I reached home and reported to the firm. As we happen to have a pretty good sort of a trade with Denmark, I'm not saying a word now that will interfere with our business. But I can't help having a quiet chuckle when I hear of one of those German Agrarian outbreaks in the Reichstag about the danger of eating and importing American pork products."

***

"There is a queer change coming in the character of the laborers employed on Louisiana plantations," commented Arthur F. X. McCabe of Baton Rouge, while the question of restricting immigration was under discussion. "Our field labor for generations has been negro men and women and children. We have been brought up to the idea that negroes were the only sort of help we could employ in cotton fields or on sugar plantations. Within the decade fruit handlers have brought to New Orleans hosts of Italians as roustabouts, and they have gradually replaced the darky all along the water front of the city. This year thousands of Italians have been brought to the sugar plantations about New Orleans for work there in place of the darkies. Their employment has proved most satisfactory. They are better behaved, more easily managed, and less inclined to suddenly leaving their work for a rest and a spree than are the negroes. They have taken kindly to the labor, the climate, of course, agrees with them, and the darkies now find themselves facing a new problem in their ways of making a living. I should not be at all surprised to see Italians entirely supersede negroes in our fields within five years' time. That would perhaps prove a good thing for our community in that it would scatter the negroes all about the country. On the other hand, it may prove troublesome to get too many 'Dagoes' among us. These imported laborers are not the sort of Italians that make desirable citizens, judging from those now working as roustabouts on the city wharves. They have this merit over the darkies, however. They keep their quarrels to themselves and only murder one another."

***

In these days, when every one is eating poultry, the New England woman has her days of woe when marketing. Go where she will she cannot find drawn poultry on the stands. At home she has never bought any other kind. She revolts at first because she declares that poultry sent to market containing the viscera intact cannot possibly be so good as that sent "clean"; that is, with the internal organs removed. Then, too, her economical mind protests against paying for a lot of dead weight that she does not use and that is removed from a fowl as soon as the butcher has weighed it. Finally, she is forced to smother her New England prejudices or go without poultry. She won't do the latter, for a cardinal principal in her housewifery has been that turkeys, geese, ducks, and chickens were specially created for the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. Her butcher will only explain to her that poultry always comes to market with the "innards" intact, and that it is the only way in which it can be had. So she talks it over with the head of the house—nominal at least—and if he cares to appease his wife's misgivings he goes on an exploring expedition to satisfy his curiosity and her prejudices. Then he learns that the whole question of drawn versus undrawn poultry was thrashed out years ago by the Health Department of the city in a series of official investigations, and that it was proved beyond dispute that fowls would keep better and longer when undrawn than when drawn. Practical tests with hung fowls were made, birds being killed from the same flock and at the same time for the tests. In every instance the undrawn fowl of whatever sort kept sweet and free from taint much the longer time—days, in fact. There is a safeguard, too, in the fact that when one buys an undrawn fowl she knows she is not buying one that has been disinfected by treatment in a soda bath. That was a trick of the trade when undrawn poultry was commonly to be had in New York markets. Having learned this, the head of the house is able to satisfy his wife that the best way to buy poultry, in New York at least, is to buy it when undrawn. There are some sorts of small game birds that may be had drawn or undrawn as one wishes, but even with these the demand is almost entirely for the undressed and undrawn bird.

***

"Old man Zim's finding his dukeling a peculiar sort of a luxury for him. He 's chawed the ends all off his mustache since he picked up an afternoon paper and saw that Manchester had been barred from the House of Lords on account of his bankruptcy," remarked one of the railroad crowd at their special corner of the café at the Hotel Manhattan yesterday afternoon.

"And I'll swear that he has aged ten years," said a companion, "since he found that that son-in-law of his, after floating over here with a record as a bankrupt and a few trunks of clothes had begun an attack on 'Zim's' bank account by paying $1,000 for a bull pup in the morning and $2,000 for another in the afternoon. Whew! But I can almost smell the things that Zimmerman said to himself if he didn't say them to the Jook. Zimmerman never blew in that much money for foolishness in all his life, and I don't reckon he'll take at all kindly to it from even a sprig of the nobility. I'm looking for reports of an earthquake in Ohio about Christmas time, by when Manchester ought to be braced up for a good hard 'touch' for papa-in-law."

***

Harry Rowe Shelley, who has considerably more than a local fame as an organist, composer, and song writer, goes to Hartford on Tuesday of the coming week to dedicate the costly new organ just placed in the Park Church of that city. It was at that church that Dudley Buck was once the regular organist.

AMERICAN SOCIETY'S FOLLY

Dr. Hillis Pictures the Dangers of Overambition.

His Story of the Man of Millions and His Unappreciated Gift of $100,000.

"The Folly of Overambition and the Struggle for Precedence in American Society" was the subject of a sermon preached last evening in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, by the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis. Dr. Hillis said in part:

"We have come to a time when the ambitions of men are excessive, and there is a certain restlessness in society. Men overemphasize the desire to be first. Children are discontented, and are not willing to live as their fathers did. There is a kind of inflammatory condition in American society, and the gospel preached in the books and reviews in not the gospel of content.

"Hard by the quiet streets where some of you live are other spots where the mouth of hell gapes, and the happy cottages where men live are not separated by many miles from men who preach the gospel of restlessness, and later the spark falls on the powder magazine of hatred.

"This condition grows out of the love for precedence in American society. Boys who ought to be farmers walk the streets of the city day and night, when in the country there was a competence for them, and so they break their hearts. If men could only be happy with the circumstances in which they are born!

"No other country has such a history as ours of poor boys who have realized their ambitions. What a stimulant to our young men, but the man must be sure he has the power. You cannot develop dumbness into speech, nor the faculty of handling men in one who has no love for his fellows. No wonder the stories of the successes of Clay and Lincoln and of our great merchants fall like powder on the minds of our boys, and away go all their precautions when they are bitten by ambition.

"Young women also come under the same danger in the desire for social precedence, and torment men to give receptions, buy dresses, and build houses they cannot afford, until men fall into debt and into temptations which are grievous.

"Happiness is found in the consciousness of work well done. There are servants in homes of millionaires who are happier than their masters. One of the most cynical and unhappy of men is worth $10,000,000, and is reputed to be worth $30,000,000. I met him a year ago, when he said that everything in the city was going to the devil. I asked him why he did not use his wealth for the benefit of the city. He replied that when he had made a gift of $100,000 on one occasion it was not appreciated. People said that he had so much money he did not know what to do with it, and that his gift was not so much of a gift after all. To-night, he dwells in the heart of his wealth, like a big spider, and is poisoning his own soul.

"Let not a man glory in his riches, unless he is master of his wealth. Wealth rightly used tends to Christlikeness, but wrongly used tends to evil purposes."

PROGRESS OF VANITY FAIR.

Dr. Peters Declares that Marriage Becomes More and More a Mercantile Transaction.

The Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters, preaching last evening in the Sumner Avenue Baptist Church, Brooklyn, on "Marriage," declared that marriage was becoming so much of a mercantile transaction that he would not be surprised to see, ere long, matrimonial market quotations appearing in the newspapers along with those of the Stock Exchange. Dr. Peters said:

"When I see as a clergyman, now blindly people go into marriage, I do not wonder that there are so many sad failures. I wonder that there are so many successes. In this serious matter, integrity, virtue, and religion are made to give place to snobbery, display, and fashion. There is a tendency in woman's nature to yield to the fanciful. Society was never so much of a Vanity Fair. The straining of appearances is a characteristic sin and evil of our times, both in and out of married life.

"Matrimony has become largely a matter of money, and marriage a society affair between two exquisite fools. The gold fever is epidemic, and the death rate is appalling. Society pays homage to the golden calf. Women feign love to a rich man who, if he were poor, they would positively hate.

"So common is the mercantile view of marriage becoming that I should not be surprised to see the hymeneal market list chronicled in the newspapers with the prices current in the Stock Exchange. In so-called good society it is coming to be counted a silly thing to marry for love."

BISHOP LITTLEJOHN'S WORK.

Duties a Tax on His Health and Visiting Bishops Will Relieve Him.

The Right Rev. A. N. Littlejohn, Bishop of Long Island, because of ill-health, cannot attend to his usual appointments in the churches in his diocese. Bishop George Worthington of the Diocese of Nebraska, who is in the East, has consented to take Bishop Littlejohn's appointments during Advent, while Bishop William F. Adams of the Diocese of Easton will act for him during Lent.

REV. MR. HILLIS OFFENDS LABOR.

"One Day's Work in a Sewer Would Keep a Family in Flour for a Year."

The Central Labor Union was offended yesterday at an alleged remark of the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, in a recent sermon. The clergyman was quoted as saying that a laboring man working in the sewers could earn enough in a day or two to keep a tenement family in flour for a year.

"If a clergyman was working in a sewer," said a delegate, "and had to keep a family on his earnings he would know what he was talking about better. I wonder how much flour he thinks a family would need for a year."

The clergyman's alleged remark was condemned as misleading and showing his inexperience on the needs of families of workingmen.

TRUE SISTERS' GOLDEN JUBILEE.

Ex-Vice Presidents of Lodges of the Order Hold a Celebration.

Two hundred or more ex-Vice Presidents of various lodges of the Independent Order of True Sisters participated in the celebration of the golden jubilee of the Most Worthy Grand Lodge of that organization in the Lexington Opera House last night. There were also present many men, who had come as guests of the members, and one of these, the Rev. Dr. Moses Schlesinger, acted as toastmaster.

The speech of welcome was made by Grand President Bertha Lobenstein, and Banquet President Saran Markewitz talked about "the day we celebrate." Those who responded to toasts were Bianca B. Robitscher, Mina Schottenfels, Dr. Schlesinger, Pauline S. Kohn, Emilie Sander, Fannie M. Mayer, and Caroline Opper.

After a programme of instrumental music under the direction of Theodore Mayer had been rendered, Miss Amy Ray sang four songs—"Nur wer die Sehnsucht kennt," "Ein Traum," "Summer Night," and "Fallah! Fallah!"

APPEAL FOR ITALIAN MISSION.

Funds Needed for Current Work and Also for a New Church.

Mrs. George S. Bowdoin, President of the Ladies' Aid Association, in connection with the Italian Church of San Salvatore, in Bleecker Street, has issued an appeal in behalf of the society's Italian mission work.

Mrs. Bowdoin's appeal says: "One hundred and fifty children are taught in the Sunday school, and as many little girls in the sewing school. The Mutual Benefit Association of seventy men, the Girls' Friendly Society, the Boys' Club, the Girls' Guild, and the Penny Provident Fund are organizations which would be creditable to any church or mission in the city. Twenty-four candidates were confirmed by Bishop Potter at this chapel last Spring.

"Additional teachers are needed for the Sunday school and also for the sewing school. A knowledge of the Italian language is not necessary in these schools, as the children understand English. We are greatly in need of funds for the ensuing year. We need money for current expenses and also for the new church which will soon be built as we hope."

CHRIST AND CONFUCIUS

Their Teachings Compared by Minister Wu-Ting-Fang.

Failure of Christians to Practice What They Preach — Significance of Agnosticism—Heaven Not a Private Park.

At a meeting of the Society for Ethical Culture, held in Carnegie Hall yesterday morning, Wu-Ting-Fang, Chinese Minister to the United States, lectured to an immense audience on the "Teachings of Confucius." He compared the teachings of the great prophet and founder of the Chinese religion, with those of Christ. Christianity, he said, the doctrine of reward and fire and brimstone, was gradually giving way to the teachings of Confucius. The enlightenment of science was fast driving to the wall the ancient superstitions that formerly held Christians in bonds, and Confucianism, the doctrine of doing good for the sake of the happiness derived from the act, was coming steadily to the front.

Incidentally the Minister referred to the Christian missionaries in China. He accused them of breeding trouble by indiscretions, and compared the teachings of the Bible with the spectacle of Christian missionaries howling for revenge and retribution, and the Christian armies that overran China slaughtering and pillaging, regardless of age, sex, or right.

Minister Wu was introduced by Prof. Felix Adler. He was dressed in canary yellow. On his head he wore a black cap with a diamond button on its front, and from beneath the yellow gown protruded the point of his sword. His speech, in part, follows:

"There is a general impression that China has three distinct religions—Confucianism, Taoism, and Buddhism. The Government recognizes the three systems, but it is a mistake to think that each of these has an equal hold on the affections of the people. The distinction between the religions, however, is marked. Confucianism is in the realm of the living, Taoism and Buddhism are in the realm of the dead. When a Chinaman dies he calls in the Buddhist or Taoist priest, and they chant requiems over his body for the good of his departed soul, and in the funerals of eminent Chinese we see both Buddhist and Taoist priests marching in the procession for the dead. We are a practical people; we are not sure what happens after death, nor which religion is the right one, therefore we use all three to make sure. (Laughter.) But in all such cases the services of the priests are purely professional, and they are bought and paid for.

"Superstition and ignorance so far have largely been responsible for Taoism and Buddhism, but as intelligence grows, both of these are becoming weaker. Not so Confucianism. The dominating religious force in the national life of China is Confucianism. It is taught in all our schools, and he who enters on official life enters from the class of Confucians. It influences the life and thought of the entire nation, and just as much as you call this, your own country, a Christian one, so we call China Confucian.

"Confucianism is not a religion in its strictest sense. It is not a doctrine of worship. It holds up men to the errors of their ways without preaching the reward of a heaven or the punishment of a hell. Unlike the Christian religion, its cardinal doctrine does not deal with life after death.

"I admit the theory of an immortal soul is a beautiful and a pleasant one to contemplate. I hope it may be true. But from all the reasoning of Plato there seems but a small chance for such a probability. To-day, remember, we are not one step nearer toward understanding the future life than he was himself, and all speculation on the subject is useless. Confucians are what here you call agnostics."

Mr. Wu then took up the fundamental features of Confucianism. The teachings, he said, were classified under five relations, respectively, as follows: Between sovereign and subject, parent and child, elder and younger brothers, husband and wife, and friend and friend. Of these relations the foremost was that between parent and child, for Confucius held that filial piety befitted a man for all other walks in life.

Illustrative of the observance of the prescribed relation between elder and younger brothers, Mr. Wu then told a story of Li-Hung-Chang and an American Minister who applied in person to Li to prevent outrages which the Chinese were perpetrating in a province not under the jurisdiction of Li-Hung-Chang. The Minister begged the great statesman to prevent a threatened outrage, but was told that Li had no jurisdiction in that province. The Minister persisted, but again and again was met by the same answer. Finally Li-Hung-Chang asked, "How old are you?" "I am seventy-four years old," was the answer. "In that case I defer to you," said Li-Hung-Chang, "I am not yet seventy years old. It is because you are my older brother, but not because you have a right to ask the favor."

Mr. Wu introduced this anecdote by denouncing the missionaries.

"As usual," he said, "the missionaries had gotten into trouble in China. They must be very discreet there if they do not want to cause disturbances." Continuing, he said:

"Compare the two founders of religions, Confucius and Christ. Christ said: 'I say unto you, that ye resist not the evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man will sue thee at the law and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also.' This, it seems, to me, is meekness with a vengeance. No sensible man ever lived up to that injunction. If a man is smitten on the one cheek, he knows that he has met a dangerous person and that he is liable to be smitten on the other also, even without special invitation. And if a man steals your coat, you call him a robber and have him arrested. [Laughter.] Persons of this meek character are not at large.

"The teachings of Confucius are more within reason. 'Do not quarrel with those who offend you,' he said. Christ said: 'Love your enemies, bless those that curse you, and pray for those that despise and persecute you.' This a grand and noble sentiment, but it is too high for human frailty. There is no likelihood that men in this world will ever attain to 'Love your enemies,' Christ says, and at this moment in China there are missionaries crying for vengeance and bloodshed, and there are Christian armies that spare neither age nor sex in their slaughter and carry off everything they can lay hands on. I have never yet met a Christian who lived up to that injunction.

"In opposition to this put the teaching of Confucius. He was asked, 'How do you requite kindness?' and he said, 'I requite kindness with kindness and an injury with justice.' He did not sanction revenge, as is now being carried on in the spiteful, vindictive spirit of the people who profess Christianity. Again, Christ says, 'Judge not and ye shall not be judged.' Confucius says 'You must be possessed of good qualities yourself, then require them of others.' But of all, the most striking instance of similarity between Christianity and Confucianism is the enunciation of the Golden Rule. Christ says, 'What you would have men do unto you, so do you unto them.' Confucius said: 'Do not to others what you would not have them do unto you.' These words he spoke 500 years before Christ.

"I do not believe that heaven is an exclusive place. The advocates of various religions are all trying to make a private park of it for their own adherents. Whatever heaven may be, I believe it is a place for all good men, irrespective of dogma. Confucius teaches men to do good for the sake of good, and not for any promise of reward or through any threat of punishment. The world is gradually coming to Confucius. One of the signs is the growth of agnosticism. I will not say whether people are growing more callous or more civilized, but they are no more terrified when the terrors of the next world are proclaimed from the pulpit.

"Another sign is the progress that the cause of universal peace is making among the nations of the world. The cause may not look hopeful at present, but the conference at The Hague is an earnest of what may yet come. Confucianism has spread to Japan and Korea, but the sword was never employed to spread it. Its power is not attained through force or terror, but through the voluntary submission of the heart."

Draft of the Police Bill.

Ex-Justice William N. Cohen had a long talk with Senator Platt at the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday. The former submitted drafts of three police bills, and was directed to complete the one of which the main features were given in THE NEW YORK TIMES on Saturday.

Mr. Cohen was requested to have the single-headed commission bill ready at the opening of the Legislature. Senator Platt returned to Washington yesterday.

THE REFORMERS CRITICISED.

Hugh O. Pentecost Sees Politics in Movement to Repress Vice—Condemnation of the Rich.

Hugh O. Pentecost spoke yesterday before Unity Congregation in Mott Memorial Hall, 64 Madison Avenue, on the subject of the vice crusade.

"Every once in a while," said Mr. Pentecost, "a portion of the citizens of New York fall into spasms of virtue and go hunting after vice. We have just been in the throes of such a fit. While called a crusade against vice, it is really a crusade against Tammany Hall, instituted by those not in office. There is a strong desire on the part of the Republicans to get the good things away from Tammany. This is what Dr. Parkhurst long since discovered when he went into the reform business. His honesty is shown by his equal abhorrence of the Republican machine and its boss; now he is working independently and to better purpose.

"All New York knows the vice crusade is a political trick. I am willing to believe that the ministers and a few others are sincere, but the centre of the movement has clear reference to election day. Why not fight vice all the time? For it exists all the time and is as bad after election as before.

"New York is satisfied with its City Government. The vice crusaders are simply humbugs, and don't know it. They don't want the city cleansed. If they did, they thought New York was to be purified, they'd be more scared than the divekeepers. I mean our silk stockings, our very respectable Fifth Avenue citizens. These are the poorest citizens we have, the most willing to violate laws, the least patriotic. The saloon keepers are not as bad as those Pharisees who talk about good government, but never go to the polls, never do anything but talk.

"My business calls me daily into court, and I find the jurymen all belong to one class, never a Pharisaical, loud-mouthed silk stocking among them. They leave jury duty to small shopkeepers who don't know the difference between circumstantial evidence and petty larceny. They go to the loot office and perjure themselves without turning a hair; they swear falsely on Saturday and next day thank the Lord they have such a good government.

"Tammany Hall could not subsist among us so many years unless we were suited. But, in truth, vice crusades are superficial. They don't go to the root of the evil. Vice is a concomitant of the social system under which we live. Masses of the people are abjectly poor. But suppose all the good people of New York tried honestly to stamp out vice—could they do it? No, because vice is a necessary and integral part of our civilization. In our system it is as necessary as virtue. If our social system is responsible for anything, it is responsible for everything. Cathedral and gin mill, palace and hovel, millionaire and tramp, society queen and street walker, all are products of our civilization. Andrew Carnegie says it is a disgrace to die rich. He is progressing, and some day will say it is a disgrace to live rich.

"The real vice crusade is against the police, a desire to take away their profit and the profit of the Police Commissioners and Croker. As to stamping out vice, even Bishop Potter knows it can't be done. Vice can be driven behind doors, and, of course, the Pharisee loves the whited sepulchre; he likes to have things behind doors—perhaps so he can indulge himself secretly. We don't we close up the Stock Exchange as well as the little pocket shops? Life insurance is another mammoth gamble.

"If all liquor laws and all laws against disorderly houses were repealed, corruption of the police at least would vanish. Let the gambling laws also be repealed. The true remedy for all evil is in freedom. Truth makes you free."

CITIZENS' UNION WORKERS.

Assembly District Organization to Conduct the Mayoralty Campaign—Rumors of Opposition to Mr. Low.

The Citizens' Union has elected officers and committees in the following Assembly Districts, to serve for one year, and, therefore, to have charge of the Mayoralty campaign of 1901:

Fifth District.—F. C. Huntington, delegate to the City Committee; O. C. Semple, Chairman; Paul Fuller, Vice Chairman; William F. Stonebridge, Secretary, and Charles Wisner, Treasurer.

Seventh District.—Thomas Fitzpatrick, delegate and Chairman; F. M. Opita and Albert Katz, Vice Chairmen; Charles E. Dillon, Secretary, and Dr. B. Simmonds, Treasurer.

Eighth District.—Dr. Isaac Sternlicht, delegate; James B. Reynolds, Chairman; John Gruenberg, Vice Chairman; Frederick L. Simonds, Secretary, and Charles Hacker, Treasurer.

Ninth District.—Frederick S. Lamb, delegate; W. Wilberforce Smith, Chairman; Frederick S. Lamb and Joseph W. Cushman, Vice Chairmen; Dell W. Lamb, Secretary, and Herbert J. Lyall, Treasurer.

Tenth District.—Dr. S. Goldenkranz, delegate and Chairman; H. Dauman, Vice Chairman; M. O. Munch, Secretary, and Carl Safir, Treasurer.

Thirteenth District.—Dr. Alfred Riedel, delegate, John Woods, Chairman; Alexander Law and Matthew J. Smith, Vice Chairmen; E. L. Meisner, Secretary; John Wooda, Alexander Law, and William Perroti, Executive Committee.

Fourteenth District.—Brooks Leavitt, delegate; Louis A. Hauser, Chairman; J. F. Bigan, Secretary and Treasurer.

Sixteenth District.—W. H. Huber, delegate and Chairman; Jacob A. Brown, Vice Chairman, and Henry Moore, Secretary.

Seventeenth District.—De Witt J. Seligman, delegate; C. Blake Orcutt, Chairman; Joseph Smith, Vice Chairman; Reed R. Bishop, Secretary; James D. Gagan, Treasurer. District Committee—Charles Orcutt and Joseph Smith, Daniel J. Devitt, Jacob Selde, William Klug, A. J. Dowling, and Alexander C. Hallbeck.

Nineteenth District.—Dr. E. R. L. Gould, delegate; Joseph M. Price, Chairman; William Scott, Secretary, and Alvin Tomkins, Treasurer. District Committee—Messrs. Henry E. Cobb, Hamilton Odell, Henry R. Kunhardt, William Arrowsmith, Miles M. Dawson, Rush Taggart, S. S. Menken, John Frankenheimer, Jacob W. Mack, Arthur W. Ely, A. A. Whitman, D. P. Sackler, Reginald Jevons, Julius J. Frank, George Haven Putnam, Dr. Theodore Dunham, and George Tombleson.

Twentieth District.—Charles C. Nadal, delegate; Timothy Healy, Chairman; Leo Flexhaus, Vice Chairman; F. L. Lowe, Secretary, and William Potts, Treasurer. District Committee—Officers and Messrs. James Atkinson, Sylvester Moore, Henry Posthauer, and James Reynolds.

Twenty-first District.—A. W. Seaman, delegate, and E. C. Dusenbury, Chairman.

Twenty-fifth District.—J. R. Burnet, delegate and Chairman; L. H. Jerome, Vice Chairman; W. W. Wilsey, Secretary, and G. McAneny, Treasurer.

Twenty-ninth District.—Charles H. Strong, delegate; William Jay Schieffelin, Chairman; Franklin W. Moulton, Vice Chairman; William B. Aitkin, Secretary, and S. J. Rose, Treasurer. District Committee—Homer Folks, Roland Holt, Benjamin E. Hall, T. C. Hallowell, G. R. Hopkin, Franklin W. Moulton, Isidor Newburger, Samuel H. Ordway, S. J. Rose, Joel Rathbone, William Jay Schieffelin, William G. Sewall, Stephen B. Stanton, Franklin A. Wilcox, William B. Aitkin, Nelson S. Spencer, Philetus H. Holt, Dr. P. Hockheimer, A. F. Seligsberg, and Willard H. Ellison.

Thirty-first District.—William H. McCarthy, delegate; John Monks, Chairman; James B. Butler, Vice Chairman; D. Morrison, Secretary, and Henry A. Hall, Treasurer.

Thirty-fifth District.—Charles Hartman, delegate; John E. Eustis, Chairman; Cyrus C. Miller and Henry Muhlhauser, Vice Chairmen; Franklin Grady, Secretary, and C. A. Du Bois, Treasurer.

Queens, Second District.—William F. Wyckoff, delegate; John W. Weed, Chairman.

The Central City Committee of the union will meet for reorganization next Monday. The reports are revived that there is much antagonism to Seth Low within the organization, but no information is vouchsafed by those in authority. It is probable that R. Fulton Cutting will be chosen Chairman of the Central City Committee.

Political Notes.

Gen. Francis V. Greene, President of the Republican County Committee, returned from his Western trip last night.

Gov. Roosevelt passed a quiet day in the city. He received several callers at the Union League Club. He will leave for Albany this morning.

Governor-elect Odell will return to New York on Wednesday for a brief stay.

Fred Haldy, Republican leader in the Third Assembly District, is organizing an Italian-American Republican Association in his district. A permanent organization will be perfected at 16 Varick Place next Monday, with the following officers: President —Tompkins McIlvaine; Vice Presidents—Henry P. Siccardi, Antonio Miamonle, Salvator Terrelle; Treasurer—C. V. Calabresi; Secretary—Victor Fentana.

The district Captains in the Fifteenth Assembly District will give a dinner to George W. Wanmaker, the Republican leader, at a Broadway restaurant Tuesday of next week.

Drunken Man at St. Francis Xavier's.

During the service at St. Francis Xavier's Roman Catholic Church, in West Sixteenth Street, last night, the sermon was interrupted by loud shouts and mumbling sentences from the rear of the church. The disturber proved to be a drunken man. He was arrested and locked up in the West Thirtieth Street Station. He gave his name as James Howard, a blacksmith, living at 272 Seventh Avenue.

NEEDED POSTAL REFORMS

Recommendations of the Postmaster General.

RANK ABUSES OF THE MAILS

Importance of Remedial Legislation with Respect to Second-Class Privileges.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The annual report of Charles Emory Smith, the Postmaster General, was made public to-day. He discusses in detail the work of the various divisions of the department, accounts of which have been published already, and concludes with the following recommendations, made in his previous annual report and now renewed:

"That an act be passed to punish persons who by force attempt to enter a car or apartment in a car used for the distribution of mail, or who may assault a railway mail clerk while in the discharge of his duties as such.

"That a statute be enacted providing for the compulsory separation by publishers of second-class mail matter. While the majority of publishers have shown a willingness to undertake this work at the request of the special officer in charge of it, a few are unwilling to co-operate with the Government in this matter, which saves expense to the department and facilitates dispatch of mail.

"That the inter-State commerce law be amended to prohibit common carriers, to wit, telegraph and express companies, or any of their employes, from aiding and abetting in the green goods or lottery swindles, or any other scheme carried on partly by mail and partly by common carrier, and which is in violation of the postal laws.

"That a statute be enacted authorizing Post Office Inspectors to take out search warrants wherever the same may be necessary in the prosecution of their official duties.

"That an appropriation be made for the purpose of constructing lookouts in Post Offices wherever, in the opinion of the Postmaster General, they may be needed.

"That provision be made for the payment of incidental expenses incurred by local officers or others in the arrest, detention, and keeping of prisoners charged with violation of the postal laws until such prisoners can be transferred to the custody of a United States Marshal."

In urging the importance of remedial legislation for flagrant abuses of second-class privileges, the Postmaster General says:

"There should be no abatement of the protest or effort against the perpetuation of evils which have insidiously grown up through the ingenious perversion of the laws intent in furthering private interests and which have now become a heavy public burden. Their elimination, while doing no injustice in any quarter, would effect a saving ranging from $12,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year, and would relieve the way for legitimate postal advances in every direction.

"The measure of reform naturally encounters the strenuous hostility of the limited special interests, but some opposition is founded on a fear that the proposed act is aimed in part at some legitimate publications of the second class, and that its enactment would deprive them of the privileges which the existing law intends they should possess. This is a complete misapprehension.

"It is only sought to cut off the abuses which have crept in. It is aimed at the serial paper-covered books, at the private 'house organs,' at the spurious trade journals, and objects of an exclusive advertising character, at bulk distribution which is falsely called subscription, and at the repeated turn and overturn by news agents of unsold periodicals. There is no reason why the Government should carry them at the second-class rate of 1 cent a pound when other articles of the same kind rightfully pay the third-class rate of 8 cents a pound.

"A plain, simple act, which shall distinctly specify the glaring and acknowledged wrongs, and which shall leave legitimate publications without any ground for the misunderstanding that has heretofore excited their alarm, will, it is not doubted, receive the sanction of Congress.

"A ruling of the department limiting the number of sample copies which may be sent with each issue effectually curtails and restricts this evil.

"Another abuse which has been essentially reduced is that known as 'bulk subscriptions,' by which is meant copies sent out to make circulation for advertising purposes.

"Whatever may be done by administrative action the extirpation of these abuses can be thoroughly and successfully accomplished only by a reform of the law, and in the interest of postal progress, which is blocked in many ways by this burden, I earnestly urge the enactment of a measure directed against the grosser wrongs that are acknowledged on all sides."

While pointing to the development of the Cuban postal system the report says that unfortunately its administration was stained for a time by frauds and peculations of the most shameful character. It reviews the prompt dispatch of Fourth Assistant Postmaster Bristow and a force of Inspectors, as a result of which the Postmaster General says "the ulcers were cut out, retrenchment was vigorously enforced, and the administrative organization which had been perverted from its original plan was restored to a sound and healthy basis." He points out that these frauds were made possible only through collusion of officers who should have been a check on each other.

The extraordinary extension of rural free delivery is characterized as the most far-reaching feature of postal development in recent times. "It is a factor," says the Postmaster General, "in the social and economic life, and makes communities feel a new pulsation. We are confronted with the problem of gradually extending the delivery service over the whole area of the country where it is physically feasible or where the population is not so sparse as to make it unreasonable. The gross annual cost of maintaining rural free delivery through such territory is approximately estimated at $29,555,600. It can be extended over practically the whole country at an annual cost of less than $14,000,000, allowing for savings from discontinuance of offices and routes and increased receipts."

The total estimate for maintaining free delivery during the ensuing year is $3,500,000.

The report urges additional postal facilities for New York City and indorses the project for a Hall of Records in Washington.

COLUMBIA'S CHRISTMAS DANCE.

Patrons for the Junior Class Event at Sherry's This Month.

The annual Christmas dance of the junior class of Columbia University at Sherry's will be held on the night of Dec. 21. The patronesses are Mrs. Francis S. Bangs, Mrs. Robert L. Belknap, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mrs. Calvin S. Brice, Mrs Frederic R. Coudert, Mrs. George B. De Forest, Mrs. Louis L. Delafield, Mrs. Braddin Hamilton, Mrs. Henry Holt, Mrs. Charles R. Huntington, Mrs. George C. Kobbe, Mrs. Luther Kountze, Mrs. Daniel S. Lament, Mrs. Melville D. Landon, Mrs. Seth Low, Mrs. Archibald K. MacKay, Mrs. Alfred T. Mahan, Mrs. Levi P. Morton, Lady Pauncefote, Mrs. William Barclay Parsons, Mrs. Robert Olyphant, Mrs. John Henry Pell, Mrs. Karl Pickhardt, Mrs. Dallas B. Pratt, Mrs. W. H. Powers, Mrs. George B. Schermerhorn, Mrs. J. Montford Schley, Mrs. Henry F. Shoemaker, Mrs. Louis Henry Spense, Mrs. James Speyer, Mrs. Theodore Sutro, Mrs. J. Kennedy Tod, Mrs. J. Howard Van Amringe, Mrs. Cortland S. Van Rensselaer, Mrs. James M. Waterbury, and Mrs. William Seward Webb.

As an innovation this year's ball will have these five patrons: President Seth Low, Gov. Theodore Roosevelt, Dean J. Howard Van Amringe, Prof. George Edward Woodberry, and Alexander M. Hadden. The committee which is in charge of the arrangements is: Columbia College—H. T. Spense, G. C. Atkins, R. P. Jackson, A. B. A. Bradley, H. M. Hays, W. Pell, W. B. Shoemaker, and E. G. Budington. School of Mines—R. C. Hoguet, P. F. Cowing, H. Godwin, F. B. Irvin, J. P. McAnerney, H. P. Daniels, W. H. Powers, and D. Wood.

Dead Man Said to be Devery's Cousin.

Michael Geoghan, sixty-seven years old, of 579 First Avenue, died of heart disease yesterday morning. He slept with Walter Williams, a foreman on railroad work, in Forty-second Street. When Williams awoke yesterday morning he found Geoghan dead. Mrs. Mahoney, the landlady, said Geoghan was a first cousin of Chief of Police Devery, and that he had a daughter in a Catholic convent. Chief Devery could not be seen last night, but his wife said he had no cousin of the name of Michael Geoghan.

JUDAISM AND THE WORLD

Rabbi Hirsch Says It Is the Religion All Crave.

A Bridge from the Heights to the Lowliness of the Present Life Below.

Rabbi Emil G. Hirsch of Chicago preached in the Temple Beth-El, at Fifth Avenue and Seventy-sixth Street, yesterday morning. His subject was "The Religious Opportunities of Our Day."

"This age," he said, "is radically and fundamentally religious. That may seem a paradoxical statement, seeing that, as you all know, the popular preachers of nowadays have to secure their hearers by all kinds of stratagems. Yet it is true. The truth of it is open to question if we judge solely by exteriors, but if we look under the surface of things my optimistic view will be largely corroborated.

"In every religion there precedes the realization of that state of affairs which the followers of the religion wish a preparatory term of dissolution and decay. It will be after such a period that the Messiah will come. Real Judaism began only after four centuries of moral torpor and mental stupidity. These days of ours are to be compared with the period before the fall of the temple.

"I say that this age is intensely religious. What is the test? It has been said that books are the windows of the soul. Tell me what books you read and I will tell you your character. The character of the age can be determined from the books it produces, and to-day the books that are being issued are busy with problems of religion. Last year's novel, 'The Reign of Law,' is an example. It has been read by thousands, and has become a frequent subject for pulpit discourses. It is a simple love story as far as its plot is concerned, but what gives it its value is the picture of the religious doubts that seem to stand in the way of the hero's success. This novel shows us our age can receive and be delighted by such a story; that men who read it are stirred by the same doubts that perplexed the hero. The book is a true indication of the temper of our day.

"Another indication will be found in the fact that to-day studies evolved from the Bible are the most vital and the most earnestly attended in our universities. The Bible—as a book of history, as a life of Israel, as a book introductory to the study of language—is taught now in every decent institution of learning.

"The science of religion is one of the new sciences, second in importance to none of them. No cultured man or educated woman in these days can afford to neglect being on terms of intimacy with the searchings of such men as Max Müller, the men whose lives were and are devoted to the study of religion. What is the religion for which our age is craving? That is the question, and it is of especial moment to us who are Jews. I answer that it is not a religion of dogmas. The age for that kind of faith has passed, and men have come to know that formulae expressive of truths have always been open to a process of revision.

"We have learned that the Fathers were no nearer to the truth than we are. We have the right to formulate our truths in a dialect intelligible to ourselves. Creeds may have their utility, but they are only preliminary. The new age would not like to see a dogmatic religion arise, but a religion of spiritual aspirations, even of sacred inspiration.

"Judaism has never been a religion of dogma. The Jew has the right to think out the highest themes of life in terms of his own. His religion has the elements of the undogmatic religion for which the world is craving, the focus of which is not solely the next life, but this life in which we are now living. It is the religion that bridges the social chasm between man and man; it is the one that goes to the outcast and brings him consolation. The storm centre of religious activity is no longer theology, but sociology, which means that religion shall not only be a bridge from this life to the next, but a bridge from the heights to the lowlinesses of the present life.

"Judaism is this religion and always has been. Look through your old Bible. Is not the sense of responsibility placed on this life rather than on a future state? Some say that this very thing is the weakness of our sect, but I say that it is our strength. Judaism never separated the secular from the sacred; everything is sacred. Judaism was never a religion of sighing, singing, emotions, bowed heads, and sad faces, nor is it a religion of yearnings for God, as though He were an awaited bridegroom for whom a woman has been on the look-out through many years. A religion of creed is a departure from old Judaism, and, to one, protest against this naturalized methodism in some of our new congregations.

"In the Middle Ages every centre of our people was a centre of social responsibilities, and nobody had to teach us that man should care for his brother. But altruism may be carried to extremes. There is a middle ground between the extreme love of others and of self, and Judaism is this middle ground.

"As Judaism seems to be the religion for which the world longs, why, then, is the world kept in ignorance that Judaism is that religion? It is because the Jew has unlearned his faith and is worshipping strange idols. The world is calling for water, but he who is the keeper of God's springs believes that he is in a desert himself and that he is about to die of thirst. Shall the world say to the Healer: 'Thou hast not healed me'? Let this and all other congregations bestir themselves, and let us hope that our day may see the world get the religion that it wants."

FEW FIGHTS IN PHILIPPINES.

Insurgents Fall Back at All Contested Points, Leaving Property—London Paper's Gloomy View.

MANILA, Dec. 9.—While the capture of supplies and the occupation of new points are quite numerous, those involving actual fighting are comparatively few. Apparently the insurgents are falling back at all contested points, sacrificing their possessions in most cases and satisfied to save themselves.

A detachment of the Forty-seventh United States Volunteer Infantry from the Island of Catanduanes, off the southeast coast of Luzon, relinquished an attempt to land near Pandan. On anchoring the Americans were fired upon by sixty riflemen, and after a short engagement, they cut the anchor chain and sailed for Catanduanes with two killed and two wounded. The names have not yet been received here.

Capt. Richard T. Ellis of the Thirty-third Volunteer Infantry captured in the mountains near Barbar a large quantity of Krag, Mauser, and Remington ammunition, together with a signal outfit, a printing press, and other equipment. All of this was destroyed.

Thirty rifles and several hundred cartridges were secured at Victoria.

A detachment of the Fourth Infantry captured Major Garion and three officers of the lower rank in the town of Pasay. Another detachment destroyed Gen. Uguad's camp. The enemy had fled, but the Americans subsequently rounded up twenty-five insurgents.

Gen. MacArthur has approved the death sentences passed upon several additional persons convicted of murder, arson, and pillage. In a few other instances he has commuted death sentences to imprisonment.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—"Reliable mail advices from Manila show that the position of the Americans is becoming increasingly hopeless," says the Hongkong correspondent of The Daily Mail. "Money is freely subscribed to purchase arms and ammunition that are imported for the insurgents. The Americans will never capture the rebel contraband vessels.

"While, in order to flatter the official view that trade is flourishing, goods are permitted to be freely imported into Manila, they are distributed from that point to the insurgents, who are murdering and pillaging all native sympathizers with Americans."

Postal Clerks' Society Election.

At a meeting of the New York Branch of the United National Association of Post Office Clerks, held yesterday at Maennerchor Hall, Fifty-sixth Street, near Third Avenue, the following officers were elected: W. P. McKeon, President; P. Wynne, Vice President; S. Rosenthal, Recording Secretary; I. Epstein, Financial Secretary; James McDonough, Treasurer, and J. Kenny, Sergeant at Arms. A committee was appointed to present Mr. McKeon to the Postmaster.

HADDON CHAMBERS HERE.

English Dramatist's Plans for a New Play—His Stay to be Brief.

Haddon Chambers, the English dramatist, who arrived here Saturday, will remain but two weeks in this city. He is compelled to leave at the end of that period in order to return to London to begin the rehearsal of his new play. This is to be produced by George Alexander at the St. James Theatre in January.

Shortly after his arrival Mr. Chambers had a conference with Charles Frohman, to whom he is under contract for a new play, to be produced by that manager in this country. The conference was not completed, and will not be until Mr. Frohman returns from Washington, where he was compelled to go on business of importance. Enough transpired, however, at their brief meeting to make public the fact that the scene of Mr. Chambers's new play will be laid in this country and in England, the action beginning in England, shifting to America, and toward the end of the story returning to England.

During his stay Mr. Chambers will visit the various theatres in this city controlled by Mr. Frohman, and in which the latter's companies are appearing. This he will do with a view of familiarizing himself with the methods and personalities of the players who are to appear in the new piece.

Mr. Chambers, when seen at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, said he was glad to be back with the people who had received his play, "The Tyranny of Tears," in such a cordial manner. He said he had written that little play with the selfish idea of simply pleasing himself. It contains no intrigue, no sensation, but is such a simple, plain little story, he said, that the fact of the theatregoers of this city greeting the play with applause for so many months made it the most gratifying experience he had ever had in the theatrical business. Mr. Chambers's last visit to this country was ten years ago, when his play, "The Idlers," was produced.

DALY'S AND THE LYCEUM.

Changes in Plays Announced by Charles and Daniel Frohman.

A change in the future plans of the Lyceum and Daly's Theatre are announced by Charles and Daniel Frohman. It was intended to present at the Lyceum Theatre, after the engagement of Miss Annie Russell in "A Royal Family" terminating Feb. 2, "Lady Huntworth's Experiment," but instead of waiting for that time Mr. Frohman has arranged to present the Carton play at Daly's Theatre early in January, substituting it for the present attraction, "The Man of Forty."

At the Lyceum Theatre Mr. Frohman will offer another play to occupy the time set apart for "Lady Huntworth's Experiment." This play he is not at liberty for the present to make public.

GOVERNMENT REPORTS SOLD.

Cotton Exchange President Will Submit Evidence to the Department of Agriculture.

Frank B. Guest of the firm of Frank B. Guest & Co., a Cotton Exchange commission house, said last night that he had been offered advance information Saturday last on the Government's cotton crop report, which is not due for publication until this morning. Mr. Guest said last night that the Exchange officials have been placed in possession of information by him that will lead to sensational revelations and put a stop to leakages which have caused much trouble. The information offered for sale is such as would probably enable the firm getting hold of it to make thousands of dollars by speculating, as it would give them an advantage over all others dealing in cotton.

Mr. Guest says he immediately told President Samuel T. Hubbard of the Cotton Exchange, giving some facts, and then by clever work leading to the man who wanted to betray Government secrets. Mr. Guest says his evidence will prove indisputable. He has the name and address of the man offering to sell the advance information. Mr. Guest and other Exchange members expressed their utmost confidence in the integrity of Mr. John Hyde, the statistician of the department, and say that the leakage must have come through some of his subordinates. Cotton firms say that there have been many instances of such leakages in recent years. President Hubbard said last night that he will go to Washington without delay and place the entire matter before the proper authorities. Mr. Guest says he was assured that the information proffered was authentic and that the man offering it "had the bureau estimates in advance during the Leiter, Partridge, Armour, 'Old Hutch,' and other deals in wheat and cotton."

In payment for the information Mr. Guest says he was asked to carry 500 bales for the informer's account, he to assume all risks in the event of the news not having the effect anticipated. It is thought New Orleans and Liverpool Cotton Exchange members have been buying such news in advance. The cotton trade is looking for sensational developments, according to Mr. Guest.

THE NEW YORK'S PASSENGERS.

Arrival of the Comtesse de St. Germain —Her Belief in Palmistry—Japanese Naval Commander Here.

Conspicuous among the passengers who arrived on the American liner New York yesterday morning was the Comtesse de St. Germain of Paris. She is a most accomplished student of palmistry, and is also said to be quite an adept in hypnotism. She is the wife of an officer of the French Army who is at present in China. She is a great-grandniece of the last Viceroy of Peru, and is en route to Peru, where she owns extensive estates.

At a concert given on board the New York the Comtesse, as her part of the entertainment for the benefit of widows and orphans of sailors, mesmerized one of the passengers. Concerning palmistry, she said she was a firm believer in its power to indicate the type and character of a person, adding that she considered its possibilities infinite and its study limitless.

Prior to her marriage to the Comte de St. Germain the Comtesse was the Comtesse de Pena Loza. She was born in California, but has been in Paris since she was five years of age.

Another passenger on the New York was Commander K. Ooa of the Japanese Navy. He is en route to Japan from England.

Among others on the New York were Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, wife of ex-Congressman Lewis of Washington; Robert C. H. Brock, H. M. Bridgman, Sir Henry Lynch Blosse, James Graham, Dr. D. T. Day, Chief of the Mining Exhibit of the United States at the Paris Exposition; J. M. McDonald, J. T. McCallum, Mrs. W. H. Payne, John T. Ryan, James P. Smith, Fleming Tuckerman, Gen. L. H. Warren, Charles C. Wells, and Irving P. Wanger.

AMERICAN SCHOOL IN ROME.

Year of Work Just Concluded the Most Prosperous in Its History.

The American School of Classical Studies in Rome has just finished its fifth and most prosperous year of active work. Last year there were fourteen students, including several college instructors, while the present year opens with an attendance of about thirty. The following colleges were represented: Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, University of Chicago, University of Michigan, Leland Stanford Junior, Wellesley, Barnard, University of Wisconsin, and Washington University, (St. Louis.) The object of the school is to advance the study of classical literature in its relation to the history of classical, Etruscan, and Italian art and archaeology.

The work this year will be directed by Richard Norton, who has been on the field several years and whose specialty is the work on sites and museums; Prof. Francis A. Kelsey, who is well known for his translation of Dr. Man's book on Pompeii, will be the other instructor. Prof. Kelsey is at present preparing a book on Roman architecture.

On account of prohibitive measures taken by the Italian Government no excavations have been made by the school since its first year, when some work was done on the site of the old Latin town of Norba Norba, near Rome. The school, however, aims to encourage and assist original research and exploration and co-operates as far as possible with the American School of Classical Studies at Athens. Two Fellowships are offered annually for competitive examination.

Vessels Built in Last Five Months.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The vessels built in the United States and officially numbered from June 30 to Nov. 30, 1900, were 495, of 149,963 gross tons. The principal items of the total are seven steel steamships on the great lakes, (34,933 gross tons,) and four smaller steel steamships, (8,456 gross tons, which could pass through the new Welland Canal,) and one steel schooner barge, (2,790 tons.)

DEATH LIST OF A DAY.

John L. M. Irby.

Special to The New York Times.

LAURENS, S. C., Dec. 9.—John Laurens Manning Irby, ex-United States Senator, died here to-day. He was born here, Sept. 10, 1854, was graduated from the University of Virginia, and began his life work as a lawyer, being admitted to the bar in 1876. In 1879 he abandoned the practice of law and devoted himself to farming on a large scale.

He was elected Representative in the South Carolina Legislature in 1886, and re-elected in 1888 and 1890, serving as Speaker of the House during his last term. He was Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee in 1890, managing Tillman's campaign for Governor.

He was elected United States Senator Dec. 11, 1890, for the term beginning March 4, 1891, receiving 105 votes, against 42 for Gen. Wade Hampton and 10 for M. L. Donaldson. At the close of his Senatorial term he returned to Laurens and resumed personal direction of his farming interests.

Obituary Notes.

THOMAS TAYLOR, a Salt Lake capitalist and President of the Utah Coal Mining Company, dropped dead Saturday at Los Angeles, Cal.

JOHN C. WEIDEMAN of Cleveland, head of the Weideman Company of that city, wholesale grocers and liquor dealers, died yesterday after a short illness, of heart disease. He was seventy-two years old.

JOHN W. COPPINGER, ex-United States Consul at Toronto, Canada, and a prominent Democratic politician of Southern Illinois, died Saturday at his home in Alton after an illness of eight days. He was forty-nine years of age.

CHARLES E. HUTCHINSON, Superintendent of Carriers in the Elmira Post Office since the establishment of the free delivery system in 1872, is dead, at the age of forty-nine. He is survived by his widow, one son, Ralph Hutchinson, who was last season prominent in Princeton athletics, and a daughter, Mrs. John H. Snell.

Mrs. MARY H. BURNETT, wife of Henry Burnett, one of the oldest citizens of Williamsburg, will be buried from the family residence, 87 South Tenth Street, this afternoon. She died suddenly on Friday night of heart disease. Mrs. Burnett was noted in the Eastern District for her many charities. She is survived by her husband, three sons, and two daughters.

DANIEL DONOVAN, seventy years old, a retired marine merchandise dealer, died y

A MODEL HUSBAND THIS

Krieg Swears, Before a Justice, He'll Be a "Hawthorne Angel."

Agrees to Stop Smoking and Drinking, Be Home by 10 P. M., and Give Wife All His Earnings.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 9.—Hugh Krieg, a young married man who resides at Hawthorne, appeared before Justice Keys last night armed with an agreement which he wanted to sign and have attested. Krieg related to the Magistrate and several friends that he had married the best woman in the world, but she had always been afflicted with queer notions.

Mrs. Krieg was a country girl and a church member, while he liked to see a little life, he said. Three weeks ago he had come to this city to visit friends and had taken several drinks, fallen asleep in the station, and missed the train. The result was that Mrs. Krieg had gone home to her mother. Krieg had waited her return for two weeks and had then capitulated. He pleaded for forgiveness and received by return mail the agreement drawn by Mrs. Krieg to be signed before her return. It was a treaty of peace.

Justice Keys took up the document and read it. It was as follows:

To whom it may concern:

In consideration of the fact that my wife allows me to return home to reside there and to enjoy her companionship, love, and care, I, Hugh Krieg, do hereby promise to begin anew, treat my wife properly, and return home before 10 o'clock when not abroad on mutual engagements. I do promise to work for and support her as well as my position in life will allow. I do promise further to give her all my earnings, to attend prayer meetings, to abstain from intoxicating liquors; also from tobacco and cigars, and in the future to conduct myself strictly in a decent, sober, orderly manner.

Capt. Stock and Constable Rancier listened to the document as the Judge read it aloud. When Krieg held up his right hand Stock stepped up and hauled it down. Krieg, however, said he would swear to keep the agreement because he had thought it over and could not abuse the trust shown by his wife.

"She wants me to be an angel, and she can run it all her own way," he declared. "First it got me hot to think of it, but looking it all over she knows I can be a Hawthorne angel: so sweep me in."

Sworn he was, and then he signed his name. He said he was sorry he could not ask all hands out for a drink, as the document forbade him to do so, and anyhow he would have some tall hustling to do to get home by 10 P. M.

THREW WOMAN INTO SEWER.

Five Men Who Attacked Mrs. Kolb Were Angered by Her Resistance.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 9.—Angered at the resistance and screams of their intended victim, five men threw a woman into the deep ditch at the foot of Hamburg Place, on the edge of the Newark Meadows, at 1 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Annie Kolb of 32 Darcy Street, was the victim of the outrage.

Mrs. Kolb started for home from the centre of the city on a Hamburg Place car last night, but went to sleep and was carried beyond her street to the end of the line, from where she started to walk home. A few minutes later, she says, she was stopped by the men, who wanted her to accompany them to a certain house. She refused, and they then tried to drag her to the roadside. She screamed and struggled fiercely, and at length her assailants hurled her into the ditch alongside the road, which serves as a sewer and drain for several tanneries in the neighborhood. Its waters are of the foulest nature.

Her cries had been heard by Herman Heinrick, who keeps a saloon at 2 Avenue A. He ran to her assistance and at his approach the five men decamped. With some difficulty Heinrich dragged the woman from the ditch and took her to his saloon, whence he telephoned to the Third Precinct Police Station, and Mrs. Kolb, who was in a pitiable condition, was taken to the station house in a patrol wagon. She was unable to give any description of her assailants, and after being furnished with dry clothing by the matron was sent home.

TENDERS FOR SHAMROCK II.

Two Launches to be Built at Harrison for Sir Thomas Lipton.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 9.—A contract has been made by David Barrie, the American representative of Sir Thomas Lipton, for two forty-foot alco-vapor launches to be built by the Marine Engine Company of Harrison.

The launches are to be used as tenders for the Shamrock II. during the cup races next year.

SAID GOOD-BYE, SHOT HIMSELF.

Charles Appella Declared His Father Was a Wealthy French Brewer.

Special to The New York Times.

HARRISON, N. J., Dec. 9.—Charles Appella, a young Frenchman, employed in Peter Hauck's brewery, committed suicide at noon to-day. He had been in Harrison a year and had been threatening for a week to take his life.

This morning the man went to the brewery and bade several of his fellow-workmen good-bye. He then walked out into Fifth Street, put a pistol to his head, and blew out his brains.

Appella boarded with a Mrs. Berger at Harrison Avenue and Washington Street, but nothing among his effects gives any clue to his reason for taking his life. To workmen in the brewery he had said that he was the son of a wealthy French brewer, and hinted at family trouble that had compelled him to leave home.

SURVIVOR OF THE MAINE KILLED.

Sailor Who Was Blown Up with the Battleship Accidentally Shot.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 9.—Samuel Griffen, a negro ex-seaman who was on the battleship Maine when she was blown up in Havana Harbor, was accidentally shot and killed here to-day by Herman Harris, also a negro.

Griffen had served several terms of enlistment in the navy before, being assigned to the Maine just before she started on her fatal trip to Havana. He was on duty on the night she was blown up, and was amidship when the explosion took place. He was thrown into the air but fell back upon the deck and escaped without serious injury. He served during the Spanish war and then, his term of enlistment expiring, came here and opened a saloon on River Street, which he named "Navy Headquarters."

Harris and a number of others were in the place when a revolver was shown, and it was passed around among the men for examination. When Harris had the weapon, Griffen made a grab for it, and there was a good-natured scuffle, in the course of which the revolver went off. The bullet entered Griffen's abdomen. He was taken to the General Hospital, where he died two hours later. He exonerated Harris of any intention to kill him, and asked that the man be not prosecuted. Harris made no effort to get away, and was arrested and locked up.

ANDREW J. CAMPBELL SUED.

Bosschieter Murder Prisoner Defendant in a Civil Action.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 9.—Andrew J. Campbell, one of the four men charged with the murder of Jennie Bosschieter, is one of two defendants in a suit brought by George Halliday, in the District Court, yesterday. Louis Barton is the co-defendant. Halliday sues for $75, due from the Erie Athletic Club, for which Barton and Campbell were promoters and managers.

The suit grows out of the bout between Alexander Dunsheath of Passaic and Halliday in Turn Hall on Oct. 10. The men were to box ten rounds for a purse of $60, to go to the winner. The contest went eight rounds, when the police stopped the bout, and the decision was awarded to Halliday. The club promoters, however, agreed that, as the police had interfered, the fight had not been decided; and that the purse should be divided between the boxers. Halliday refused to accept any such compromise, hence the suit.

HIS DISAPPEARANCE EXPLAINED.

Postmaster Thompson of West Milford Was Short in His Accounts.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 9.—The mystery which surrounded the disappearance of Postmaster Thompson of West Milford, who disappeared several months ago, leaving a wife and family without a clew of his whereabouts, has been cleared by Freeholder David Wickham and former Freeholder Thomas Vreeland, his bondsmen being notified that they must make good a shortage of $1,265 in the accounts of the office.

Thompson left his home ostensibly to make purchases of supplies for his store and settle indebtedness in Paterson and New York. When he did not reappear, Mrs. Thompson was appointed Postmistress and has since held that position. The cause for the sudden departure of the absent Postmaster has been disclosed in the report of a Post Office Inspector who examined the affairs of the office.

Police Captain Hurt in a Runaway.

At a meeting of the Hudson County Road Drivers' Association, held at Kimmerly's Hotel, Jersey City, yesterday, Police Captain Frederick T. Farrier of the Fourth Precinct of Jersey City was elected Vice President to fill a vacancy. As he was driving back his horse was frightened by a motor vehicle and ran away. Capt. Farrier was thrown out. His right arm was broken, and he also suffered a severe scalp wound. He was taken to his home at 51 Wayne Street. The horse ran directly to its stable. The buggy was wrecked.

Boat Swamped in Gale, Man Drowned.

BURLINGTON, N. J., Dec. 9.—Joseph Martin and Cass Lippencott of this city attempted to row across the Delaware River during a gale at noon to-day, but just as they reached midstream the boat was swamped and Martin was drowned. Lippencott was rescued in an exhausted condition. The young men had been warned against making the attempt to cross the rough water, but they laughed at the suggestion of danger.

FIRE IN A HOSPITAL.

Nurse Overturns a Lamp and a Child Patient Is Burned.

A fire which caused some excitement among the patients in the Brooklyn Hospital, at Raymond Street and De Kalb Avenue, occurred in that institution shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday morning. The blaze was caused by the accidental overturning of a lamp by a nurse. The damage amounted to only $30, but one of the patients, a child, was burned about the face and neck.

The burning oil set fire to the clothing of a bed in which Agnes Hollywood, six years old, was lying, and she was slightly burned. Policeman Danzlock of the Classon Avenue Station, who had been detailed to the hospital to take charge of a prisoner, picked up the burning lamp and threw it out of a window. He then stamped out the fire among the bedclothes. The fire and excitement were soon quelled.

Life Saver Nearly Kills Himself.

Eugene Winters, living at 144 Cherry Street, who won a gold medal for saving a man from drowning in the East River last July, came near losing his own life yesterday afternoon by drinking acid in mistake for whisky, as he affirms. He was hurried to Gouverneur Hospital, but was well enough to return home last night.

FEDERAL COURTS.

Calendars for Monday, Dec. 10.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS—Wallace, Lacombe, and Shipman, JJ.—Open at 10:30 A. M. in Room 124, Post Office Building.

1—Acme Flexible Clasp Co. vs. Cary Mfg. Co.
2—Donohue vs. Ferguson.
3—U. S. vs. Pearl Necklace.
4—Pine vs. Mayor, &c.
5—B'klyn Ry. Co. vs. Maclawry.
6—Supply Co. vs. Van Bigley vs. Hatter.
7—Herbst vs. SS. Asiatic Prince.
25—Hiller vs. U. S.
26—Sutton vs. Norwalk.
28—Minnott vs. The Patria.
30—U. S. vs. Silberstein.
31—N. Y., Sus. & West. R. R. Co. vs. Moore.
32—Randle vs. U. S.
33—U. S. vs. Borgfeldt.
34—U. S. vs. Hensel.
129—Bigley vs. N. Y. & Porto Rico SS. Co.
130—Hims vs. same.
131—Forgeson vs. Hay.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—Brown, J.—Opens in Room 66, Post Office Building, at 11 A. M. Admiralty calendar.

128—Tice vs. Barge Baker.
164—Beeche vs. SS. Homeric
134—N. Y. C. & H. R. R. Co. vs. Tugs Municipal et al.
19—Tucker vs. Gallagher et al.
120—Wolford vs. Behrens.
115—Baxter vs. Tugs Klondike and Florence.
135—Conroy vs. Bark Springbank.
148—Coastwise SS. Co. vs. SS. Craigearn.
163—Feeney vs. SS. Hamilton.

STATE COURTS.

New York Calendars—This Day.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Division—Recess.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Term—For the hearing of appeals from the City Court and Municipal Court. Recess.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part I.—Leventritt, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Litigated motions.

1—P. J. Duffy & Co. vs. Hawke.
2—Stratman vs. Watrman.
3—Gove vs. Consol. P. T. Co.
4—In re Lot 41, 102d and 104th Sts., Raymond's Park.
5—Man. Ry. Co. vs. Comstock.
6—Rogers vs. Rogers.
7—Citizen's Sav. Bank vs. Lee.
8—In re Johnson.
9—In re O'Connell.
10—Billig vs. Quirk.
11—Union Trust Co. vs. Bates.
12—U. S. Trust Co. vs. Chauncey.
13—Manahan vs. Manahan.
14—In re Thoesen.
15—McLoughlin vs. Nagle
16—In re Sinnott.
17—In re McHugh.
18—Herrick vs. Updike.
19—Steinbach vs. Steinbach.
20—Collins vs. Fowler.
21—Graves vs. Graves.
22—Hepner vs. Hepner.
23—McDermott vs. McShane.
24—In re Rose St.
25—In re E. 162d St.
26—In re Mayor, &c.
27—Mutual Life Ins. Co. vs. Cheevers.
28—Title G. and T. Co. vs. Weibel.
29—Hamilton vs. Faber.
30—Webber vs. Young.
31—Rogers vs. Rogers.
32—McGowan vs. McGowan.
33—F. A. Ringler Co. vs. Newman.
34—Manahan vs. Manahan.
35—Middleaix Co. vs. Singer
36—Flanagan vs. Gresham.
37—Shannon vs. Graham.
38—Shannon vs. same.
39—Man. Ry. Co. vs. Comstock.
80—Tainter vs. Charles Bescler Co.
40—Newcomb vs. Newcomb et al.
41—Reed vs. Benjamin.
42—Netter vs. Wm. R. Riker & Son Co.
43—Liner vs. Owen.
44—Russell vs. Munro.
45—Chandler vs. Altieri.
46—People, &c., vs. Mutual Accident Assn.
47—In re Hutcheson.
48—Piazza vs. Merritt.
49—N. Y. Life Ins. Co. vs. Egan.
50—Ward vs. Ward.
51—Hene vs. Hene.
52—11th Ward Bank vs. Powers.
53—Young vs. Kirk Christy Co.
54—Peterson vs. Felt.
55—Reese vs. Heine.
56—Morrsi vs. Coler.
57—Reynolds vs. Crist.
58—Knetz vs. Voth.
59—Howard vs. Schmer.
60—Roche vs. Rooney.
61—Zerega vs. Bell.
62—Lytle vs. Crawford.
63—Hopkins vs. Dressner.
64—Zeman vs. Quinn.
65—Kurzmann vs. Loew.
66—Irving Sav. Inst. vs. Endemann.
67—Ridley vs. Fitzgerald.
68—Strassberg vs. City of New York.
69—Galante vs. Galante.
70—Wood vs. Hermance.
71—Book vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
72—Sexauer vs. Toelberg.
73—La Roche vs. Rooney.
74—Papay vs. Church of St. John.
75—Warren vs. Am. El. & Maintenance Co.
76—Dey vs. Doak.
77—Sloman vs. Madden.
78—Sloman vs. Murphy.
79—Sloman vs. Baggott.
80—McMahon vs. Edison
81—In re Gabler.
82—In re Masche.
83—Dossert vs. John Woodbury Dermatological Inst.
84—Ronan vs. Ronan.
85—In re Greco.
86—English vs. McIntyre.
87—Rubricius vs. Wallach.
88—Nordlinger-Charlton Fireworks Co. vs. Masten.
89—Bostwick vs. Bremer
90—Levine vs. Jacobson.
91—Habiger vs. McPartland.
92—In re Leonard.
93—Miles vs. Kass.
94—Simons vs. Poerschke.
95—Dressner vs. Mandlebaum.
96—Pine vs. Wilson.
97—Guaranty Trust Co. vs. Birdseye.
98—Ireland vs. U. S. Mort. & Trust Co.
99—Creimleux Ben. Soc. vs. Myers.
100—Lazarus vs. Feitner
101—Bates vs. Bates.
102—O'Connor vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
103—Hoffman vs. Fitzkow.
104—Steinbach vs. Steinbach.
105—Holman vs. Goslin.
106—Dimon vs. Sharvan.
107—Crosby vs. Bannon.
108—Woog vs. Woog.
109—Becker vs. N. Y. Life Ins. Co.
110—Goodwin vs. Lynch.
111—New Ameterdam Casualty Co. vs. N. Y. Elec. Vehicle Trans. Co.
112—Ludwig vs. Chamberlyn.
113—Lederer vs. Chamberlyn.
114—Cutler vs. Loder.
115—Krum vs. Krum.
116—Perry vs. Woltmann.
117—Oneida Community, Lim., vs. Braunedorf
118—In re Thoesen.
119—Tapolian vs. Christman.
120—Farber vs. Bachrach.
121—Schwartz vs. Lasperges.
122—Young vs. Valentine.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part II.—Blanchard, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M.—Ex-parte business.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part III.—Lawrence, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Calendar clear. Motions.

1—Egbert vs. Graves.
2—London vs. London.
3—Coe vs. Neuman.
4—Pierl vs. Pierl.
5—Kohler vs. Thoesen.
6—Carter vs. Carter.
7—Marthing vs. Wagner.
8—Mitchell vs. Mitchell Demurrers.
1478—Kaufman vs. Schattman.
1503—Bosi vs. N. Y. Herald Co.
1510—Kley vs. Higgins.
1482—Lederer vs. Sire.
1491—Lowery vs. Collateral Loan Assn.

1623—Consol. Canal & Lake Co. vs. same.
1727—N. Y. & Bermudez Co. vs. same.
1777—Tillman vs. Hart.
1652—Stewart vs. Commissioners of Taxes.
1655—Bishop vs. same.
1653—Rothschilds vs. Goldenberg.
1930—Whalen vs. Fenton
2116—Huber vs. Streifler
2412—Huber vs. Haller.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Day calendar. To be called in Part IV. Room at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be assigned to the several parts of Special Term for trial. Law and fact.

2184—Cron vs. Stern.
2105—Berg vs. Eager.
2118—Ewing vs. Diederick.
2119—Story vs. same.
2124—Haas vs. Haas.
2151—Appelbaum vs. Galewski.
2156—German Sav. Bk. vs. Vollhart.
2157—Same vs. same.
2158—Same vs. same.
2159—Same vs. same.
2160—Same vs. same.

Highest number reached in regular call on general calendar, 2188.

2180—Dickson vs. City of New York.
1515—Zweck vs. Irvine.
1695—Episcopo vs. Mayor, &c.
1775—Jacobson vs. Jacobson.
2046½—Dershern vs. Dershern.
1757—Reddy vs. Gloss.
2181—Batavia & N. Y. Woodworking Co. vs. Hoefter.
1285—Rutzler vs. Todd.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part IV.—Freedman, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part V.—Bischoff, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part VI.—Russell, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part VII.—Fitzgerald, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Elevated railroad cases. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part VIII.—Adjourned for the term.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part I.—Criminal Term—Fursman, J.—Opens at 10 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys McIntyre, Schwarzkopf, and Hooker for the People.

1—James Morris.
2—Peter Sorentine.
3—Jacob Rombro, otherwise called Philip Krantz.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part II.—McAdam, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Causes will be sent from this calendar to Trial Term, Part XII., for trial. Preferred causes. Calendar clear.

7652—Rosenthal vs. Wightman.
5613—Hoffman House vs. Hoffman House Café.
7946—Tamsen vs. Butler
5662—Caldwell vs. Dyatt
7901—Pringle vs. Borroughs.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Day Calendar—To be called in Part III. Room at 10:30 A. M. Cases will be sent from this calendar to Trial Term, Parts III., IV., V., and VI., for trial.

2024—Weill vs. Kraus.
4806—Bruns vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
1646—W. C. Loftus Co. vs. Bennett.
1647—Loftus vs. same.
1345—Schroeder vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
1902—Farrell vs. same.
4324—Giaccobe vs. Hewitt.
4362—D'Arcy vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
1538—Winston vs. Ludden.
1291—Broccoli vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
2016—Cefarello vs. same.
1465—Manasse vs. same.
3865—Van Mechow vs. New Amsterdam Gas Co.

Highest number reached in regular call on general calendar, 2324.

1475—Heathcote vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
1723—Mankiewicz vs. same.
1623—Carroll vs. same.
1384—Fleher vs. same.
5354—Washington vs. Bank for Savings.
5217—Donovan vs. Everard.
2001—Turner vs. Schell.
1901—McInerney vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
4382—Frank vs. Spiegelberg.
2125—Jansen vs. Consol. Gas Co.
1252—Kaminski vs. Schefer.
1312—Schoen vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
1943—Schreiber vs. same.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part III.—Beach, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Case on.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part IV.—MacLean, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Case on.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part V.—O'Gorman, J. Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part VI.—Beekman, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Day Calendar—To be called in Trial Term, Part VII. Room, at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from this calendar to Trial Term, Parts VII., VIII., IX., X., and XI. for trial.

858—Di Bello vs. Dry Dock, &c., R. R. Co.
1847—Olsen vs. Westergreen.
5325—Liebenow vs. Bauman.
2839—Falka vs. 3d Av. R. R. Co.
7504—Stokes vs. Polley.
4940—Newton vs. Clark.
2170—Whitehead vs. Korn.
393—Strafford vs. 3d Av. R. R. Co.
420—Same vs. same.
1683—Ohmmacht vs. Mt. Morris Elec. Light Co.
1731—Abeloff vs. 3d Av. R. R. Co.
1405—Collett vs. Mayor, &c.
2079—Warendorff vs. Union Ry. Co.
1265—Delmage vs. 3d Av. R. R. Co.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part VII.—Gildersleeve, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part VIII.—Truax, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part IX.—Scott, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Case on.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part X.—Dugro, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Case on.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part XI.—Giegerich, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part XII.—Stover, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from preferred calendar for trial. Case on.

SURROGATES' COURT—Chambers—Thomas, S.—Held in Surrogates' Chambers, ground floor of County Court House. Wills for probate at 10:30 A. M.

William R. Thomas, George W. Hohlstein, Bertha Von Schlemmer, John Arendes, Estelle A. Van Wyck, John E. Hazelton, Benjamin Webb, Robert G. Dun.

SURROGATES' COURT—Trial Term—Fitzgerald, S.—Held in Surrogates' Court, Trial Term, second floor, in County Court House.—Opens at 10:30 A. M.

1508—Contested will of Eliza Jane Evans.

CITY COURT—General Term—Adjourned sine die.

CITY COURT—Special Term—McCarthy, J.—Opens at 10 A. M. Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.) Motions must be made returnable at 10:30 A. M. Defaults on motions will be taken at 11 A. M.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part I.—Hascall, J.—Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.)—Opens at 10 A. M. Calendar clear.

1531—Healey vs. Burke.
1694—Streep vs. McLaughlin.
1697—McGee vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
460—O'Neill vs. Rapid Transit Ferry Co.
381—Grogan vs. 3d Av. R. R. Co.
1216—Kanski vs. same.
2872½—Collins vs. Gorman.
1724—Gentels vs. Deutsch.
1776—Security Bank of Minn. vs. Earle.
1784—Thorold vs. Cheney.
577—Schaupp vs. 3d Av. R. R. Co.
1547—Hyde vs. Werner.
1806—Cometock vs. Haulenbeck.
1809—Eagan vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
1816—Finkelstein vs. Gross.
1817—Benjamin vs. Un. Ry. Co.
1821—Blanchard vs. Radam.
2781—Schrednecky vs. Howard.
348—Virgil vs. Newmark.
990—Claechko vs. Bohnert.
991—Same vs. same.
1864—Meyerowitz vs. Schutzbend.
8064½—Hamilton vs. Emerson.
1859—Buxbaum vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part II.—Fitzsimons, C. J.—Held in General Term Room, second floor, Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.)—Opens at 10 A. M. Calendar clear.

1698—Morris vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
1367—Bernhard vs. Mayer.
1371—Brown vs. Sebastian.
1712—Oerter vs. Hanauer.
3497—Heiner vs. Goldberg.
1563—Cowan vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
1884—Fougere vs. Bindsell.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part III.—Schuchman, J.—Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.)—Opens at 10 A. M. Case on.

12151/2—Masons' Supply Co. vs. Brledell.
1675—Sarasohn vs. Adolphi.
1591—Meyerson vs. Lubell.
1507—Hatch vs. Van Tauk.
1758—Fay vs. 3d Av. R. R. Co.
1627—Dermody vs. Wellbrook.
1176—Rosenthal vs. Lancashire Ins. Co.
1183—Same vs. Palatine Ins. Co.
296—Abrahams vs. Cohen.
1179—Rosenthal vs. Transatlantic Fire Ins. Co.
1180—Same vs. Law Union & C. & Life Ins. Co.
1181—Same vs. Manchester Fire Ins. Co.
1182—Same vs. Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
1683—Kornreich vs. Fargo.
674—Mehrhoff vs. Clark.
301—Gwong Tai Chong vs. Vetter.
1678—Cohen vs. Holtzer.
1663—Dobyns vs. Commercial Trust Co.
747—Valenti vs. Seltz.
772—Paris vs. Solomon.
1620½—Liebermann vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
1754—Ryder vs. Duffy
1851—Andrews vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
1730—Reynolds vs. People's Telephone Co.
1932—Finkle vs. Jacoby.
1882—Marx vs. Ash.
1711—Johnson vs. Probet

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part IV.—Conlan, J.—Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.)—Opens at 10 A. M. All cases must be tried when reached. Calendar clear. Short causes.

3083—Jurin vs. Barths.
5283—Petereit vs. Rousseau Elec. Works.
3813—Rapp & Speidel Iron Works vs. Met. Inv. Co.
3314—Same vs. same.
3315—Same vs. same.
3201—Losche vs. Taylor.
3429—Gerson vs. Miller.
2893—Titus vs. Bradley.
3236—McHugh vs. Arverne-by-the-Sea Association.
3025—Teron vs. Sheridan
2064—Webb vs. Allen.
2668—Standard Agency Co. vs. Montgomery.
2821—Tonkonogy vs. Levy.
3135—Tarshes vs. Krauss.
3051—Knopf vs. Levy.
3267—Wolff vs. Grau.
2158—Bayles vs. Barney.
3356—Bloch vs. Jacobson
3095—Stone vs. Union Cloak and Suit Co.
3198—O'Neill vs. White.
3303—Lyon vs. Weltzenblum.
3241—Kinsley vs. Palley
3252—Alderdice vs. Mathot.
3474—Kreizer vs. Kitaoka.
3375—Rogalin vs. Kraus
3481—Goldstein vs. Weisberger.
3501—Dobsan vs. McCrary Ice Machine Co.

Highest number reached in regular call, 1967.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—Part I.—Foster, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys Townsend and Gray for the People. Motions must be noticed for 10:30 A. M. All motions and ex parte matters will be disposed of prior to 11 A. M. The calendar for the day will be called at 11 A. M.

1—Morris Cohen.
2—John Hays.
3—Antonio Ugolotti.
4—Peter Cella.
5—Charles Hunter.
6—William Storms, Lawrence Hearn.
7—Thomas Weir.
8—Wolf Studinick.
9—Max Appell.
10—Pietro Altieri.
11—John Webbe.

Pleadings.

1—Joseph Powers, James Curry, James Sullivan.
2—Michael Reddy.
3—Patrick McAlinden.
4—Charles Dwyer.
5—Gustave Volgt.
6—William Redding.
7—Benjamin Franklin.
8—Richard Butler.
9—Michael D. Sullivan.
10—May Hurley.
11—Joseph Rheinstrom.
12—Henry Wilson.
13—Samuel W. Carr, Jr.
14—William B. Johnson.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—Part II.—Goff, R.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Deputy Attorneys General Job E. Hedges and John H. Hammond, and Assistant District Attorneys McClelland, O'Connor, and Skidmore for the People.

1—Charles E. Mather.
2—Anthony Clavin.
3—Joseph B. Webb.
4—Joseph Roth.
5—John Evans.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—Part III.—Newburger, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys Cowan, Gordon, and Carr for the People.

1—Nathan Musher.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—Part IV.—McMahon, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys Blake, Blumenthal, and McCann for the People.

1—William Harris.
2—Charles Deacon, Thomas Gordon, Antonio Graziano.
3—James Marshall.
4—Joseph Weber.
5—George Summers, John Bryan.
6—Joseph E. Gibson.
7—Giuseppe Pavone.
8—Edward Johnson.
9—William Sheldon, alias Lewis Jones.
10—Allen H. Smades.
11—Joseph Flannery, Frank Kane.
12—Charles Baker.
13—John Meehan, Morris Teller.
14—Santo Parisi, Raphael Napolitano.
15—Charles Scharff.
16—Ann Peoples.
17—Thomas Schoonmaker, Frederick O'Brien.

Receivers Appointed—New York.

SUPREME COURT—Blanchard, J.—George Stark vs. Robert E. Smith et al.—William Amyay.

CITY COURT—McCarthy, J.—Birmingham Brass Company vs. Adolf Lang—Paul R. Towne.

Referees Appointed—New York.

SUPREME COURT—Leventritt, J.—American Mortgage Company vs. Cohn—Julius Lehman, Lyman vs. Schepper & Co.—Daniel E. Briggs, Lyman vs. Smith—Jacob M. Guedalia.

SUPREME COURT—Blanchard, J.—Mott vs. Eno—Hamilton Odell, Thomson vs. Lazell, Dalley & Co.—Charles F. Brown, People's Bank vs. Osnowitz—James W. Hawes, Bacon vs. Maurer—Thomas F. Wentworth.

Brooklyn Court Calendars.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Division—Second Department—Goodrich, P. J.; Bartlett, Woodward, Hirschberg, and Jenks, JJ.—Enumerated day calendar.

516—Sone vs. Dalton.
516—Gallagher vs. Keating.
518—Wright vs. Hicks.
519—Brahard vs. Nassau R. R.
230—Lewkason vs. Montauk Theatre Co.
409—Ecker vs. City of New York.
423—Schierenbeck vs. B. H. R. R.
251—Flynn vs. City of New York.
265—Bishop vs. Leahy.
425—Matter of Baker.
194, N. E.—Campbell vs. Freidlander.
506—Morris vs. Schatz.
507—Claiborn vs. Schatz

SUPREME COURT—Kings County—Trial Term—Part I., Gaynor, J.; Part II., Smith, J.; Part III., Herrick, J.; Part IV., Dickey, J.; Part V., Houghton, J. Day calendar.

6937—Bornman vs. Sun Pub. Co.
3692—Ireland vs. B. H. R. R.
3656—Skelley vs. B. H. R. R.
3673—Campbell vs. same
3676—Werner vs. same.
8302—People vs. Best.
8209—Pinder vs. B. H. R. R.
8377—Isaacs vs. same.
8241—Boerum vs. Coyle.
1036—Van Dorn vs. Martin.
2225—Mooney vs. B'klyn Wharf Co.
1823—Murphy vs. Coney Island & B'klyn R. R.
3540—Higgins vs. B'klyn Heights R. R.
3544—Kress vs. B. H. R. R.
3530—McGurk vs. same.
3909—Howard vs. Nassau R. R. et al.
2656—Skoglund vs. Whitney.
6622—Quinn vs. Coney Isl. & B'klyn R. R.
1364—Napier vs. Mollenhauer Sugar Co.
2593—Congress Brew. vs. Stucker.
1497—Cashman vs. 3d Av. R. R.
3571—D'Arcy vs. Smith.
3337—Dwyer vs. B'klyn Heights R. R.
6434—Traver vs. same.
2317—McKay vs. B. H. R. R.
2927—Klee vs. Doscher.
2845—Lehman vs. Hart.
3539—Finney vs. B. H. R. R.
3063—Babcock vs. same.
7645—Sproat vs. same.
3221—Bromberg vs. Friend.
3533—Nassau Brewery vs. Farley.
3143—Arthur vs. Arthur
1573—Grady vs. Chapman.
7774—Sharo vs. B. H. R. R.
2956—Marshall vs. City of New York.
3690—Howe vs. Goodwin
3679—Schnster vs. B. H. R. R.
3680—Cann vs. same.

The following causes if marked ready will be passed for the day. Causes will not be set down for days upon the call:

3684—Municipal Electric Co. vs. Schmidt.
3686—Ahgren vs. B. H. R. R.
1114—Schlifstin vs. Fish.
3089—Harris vs. Hyde.
3693—Bloth vs. same.
3697—Smith vs. same.
1951—Green vs. Coney Island & B'klyn R. R.
3706—Cloffi vs. Carter.
3707—Bolger vs. B. H. R. R.
3710—Raitzyk vs. B. H. R. R.
3711—Krolska vs. same.
3712—Barr vs. Swanton.
3713—Ringstorff vs. B. H. R. R.
3719—Von Haller vs. Stewart.
3721—Kreh vs. 3d Av. R. R.
7577—Labinsky vs. B. H. R. R.
8038—Strong vs. same.

Highest number reached on regular call, 3721.

8078—Aherne vs. Plate.
1263—Riker vs. Price.
8001—McCarren vs. Naughton.
8455—Bernstein vs. Zimmerman.
8484—Mance vs. Frith.
8184—Fitzgerald vs. Roulston.
8158—Lacy vs. B. H. R. R.
8639—Devers vs. Stoecker.
8149—Reilly vs. Hamilton Trust Co.
8356—Dockery vs. B'k'n Dist. Tel. Co.
8447—Wagenblast vs. B. H. R. R.
8465—Leonorovitz vs. same.
8175—Ferkin vs. same.
8344—Reilly vs. same.
7949—Wright vs. same.
8349—Potts vs. same.
8153, 8154, 8756—Buchinsky vs. same.

SUPREME COURT—Kings County—Special Term—For Trials. Marean, Demurrer.

1695—Syms vs. Mutual Realty, &c., Corporation. General calendar.

793—Knight vs. Knight
989—Gerhardt vs. Munch.
1174½—New York Building & Loan Co. vs. Luther.
1175—Day vs. Pearson.
1195—Simpson vs. Miles.
1199—Ditmar vs. Furguson.
1217—Quinn vs. Quinn.
1218—McLaughlin vs. B. Union R. R. Co.
1219—Weed vs. same.
1220—Finley vs. same.
1641—Eldridge vs. same.
1082—Foley vs. Ballweg.
1222—Hageman vs. Brooklyn Union R. R. Co.
1224—McKane vs. Stauch.
1229—Giangrasso vs. Giangrasso.
1236—Stuneck vs. Moscowitz.
1238—Brower vs. Place.
1239—Brower vs. Maddock.
1240—Brower vs. estate of Henry Marshall.
1161—Frischman vs. Frischman.
950—Gluck vs. Gluck.
1562—Glynn vs. Tumalty
1096—Berg vs. Berg.
1096—Russell vs. Russell
1197—Humphrey vs. Gill
1050—City of New York vs. Ocean Pier and Navigation Co.
878—Orr vs. Cook.
879—Burns vs. Christ Lutheran Church.

SUPREME COURT, KINGS COUNTY—Special Term—Maddox, J.—Motions. Ex parte business at 10 A. M. Motion calendar called at 10:30 A. M.

COUNTY COURT, KINGS COUNTY—Part I.—Aspinall, J. Opens at 10 A. M.

The People vs. John Rodden. Same vs. Patrick English. Same vs. Austin Kennedy. Same vs. Martino Wells. Same vs. William O'Neill. Same vs. Richard Kenny. Same vs. Susan A. Hunt.

COUNTY COURT, KINGS COUNTY—Part II.—Hurd, J. Opens at 10 A. M.

The People vs. Daniel Doody.

SURROGATE'S COURT, KINGS COUNTY—Abbott, S. Opens at 10 A. M.

The will of Ellen Ann Van Orden, Ellen Saulnier, (adjourned from Dec. 17,) Sarah Gracie, Conrad Zwissler, Burritt S. Stone, and Catharine Dempsey.

The accounting of Frederick Westphal.

The estates of M

FINANCIAL.

Hanover National Bank
Capital $3,000,000. Surplus and profits, $5,000,000.
9 and 11 Nassau St.

Phenix National Bank
62 Wall Street.

Colonial Trust Company
CAPITAL, SURPLUS, AND UNDIVIDED PROFITS, $1,800,000.00.
ST. PAUL B'LD'G. 222 B'way.

Bankers' Cards.

Redmond, Kerr & Co.
BANKERS.
41 WALL ST., N. Y.
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
Transact a general banking business. Receive deposits subject to draft. Dividends and interest collected and Remitted. Act as Fiscal Agent for and negotiate and issue loans of railroads, street railways, gas companies, etc. Securities bought and sold on commission. DEAL IN High-Grade Investment Securities. Lists of current offerings sent on application.
PHILADELPHIA CORRESPONDENTS, GRAHAM, KERR & CO.

New York Telephone, 3790 John. Brooklyn Telephone, 391 Brooklyn.
Geo. H. PRENTISS & CO.
DEALERS IN LOCAL SECURITIES,
48 Wall Street. New York. 208 Montague St. Brooklyn.
MEMBERS OF N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.

E. C. POTTER & CO.,
BANKERS AND BROKERS,
30 WALL STREET.
Members of New York Stock Exchange
EXCELLENT SERVICE.
DIRECT PRIVATE WIRES.

CURRIER & BUNKER { NewYork and Boston,
Bankers and Brokers.
MEMBERS { New York Cons. Stock Exchange. New York Produce Exchange.
NO. 52 BROADWAY, N. Y.
103 STATE ST., BOSTON.
BRANCH OFFICES: 21 Park Row, N. Y. 105 Summer Street, Boston.
10 Shares and Upward. Commission 1-16.

JACOB BERRY & CO.
MEMBERS OF THE
CONSOLIDATED STOCK EXCHANGE.
Established 1865.
44 AND 46 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.
Strictly a commission house, working in the interest of our clients and executing all orders upon the exchanges. Send for our new book describing market movements, also fluctuation sheets and Market Reports. COMMISSION 1-16.

Established 1863. Tel. call, 2385 Cortlandt.
FRED. H. SMITH,
STOCK BROKER, 8 BROAD ST., N. Y.
Member New York Con. Stock Exchange.
Stocks, Bonds and Grain.
Bought, sold, and carried on margin.
COMMISSION 1-16TH.
Book of Railway Statistics upon application.

LEWIS A. MAY & CO.,
Members { N. Y. Consolidated Stock Exchange. N. Y. Produce Exchange.
31 & 33 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Branch Office, Cor. 28th St. & Broadway
Connected by private wires.
MARGINS 1/2 TO 1 PERCENT. COMMISSION 1-16.
DAILY MARKET LETTERS and our new illustrated book, "WALL STREET," sent free.

Meetings and Elections.

PHOENIX GOLD MINING COMPANY.
The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Phoenix Gold Mining Company, for the purpose of electing officers and Directors of said Company for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting, will be held at the office of said Company, No. 29 Exchange Street, in the City of Portland, Maine, on the 12th day of December, 1900, at three o'clock in the afternoon. The transfer books of the Company will be closed from the end of business on November 21, 1900, until the opening of business on December 13, 1900.
Dated Portland, Maine, November 5th, 1900.
CLARENCE HALE, Clerk.
EDWARD S. HATCH, Counsel, 100 Broadway, New York City.

Dry Dock, East Broadway and Battery Railroad Company.
New York, December 1st, 1900.
TO THE STOCKHOLDERS:
Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the DRY DOCK, EAST BROADWAY AND BATTERY RAILROAD COMPANY will be held at the office of the Company, in the Cable Building, 621 Broadway, New York, on the second Tuesday, the 8th day of January, 1901, at 12 o'clock noon, for the adoption or rejection of the by-laws adopted by the Directors of the Company on the 18th day of June, 1900, for action on a motion to reduce the number of Directors to nine (9,) and for the election of Directors and three Inspectors of Election.
CHARLES E WARREN, Secretary.

NOTICE
is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of M. Groll's Sons Incorporated for the purpose of electing Directors and transacting such other business as may properly come before the meeting will be held on WEDNESDAY, December 26th, 1900, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the office of the company, No. 259 West 28th St. in the City of New York. The transfer book will remain closed from the 16th day of December, 1900, until the 27th day of December, 1900.
Dated the 10th day of December, 1900.
M. GROLL'S SONS, (INCORPORATED.)
By RUDOLPH H. SCHWARZER, Secretary.

OFFICE OF THE AMERICAN COAL COMPANY, NO. 1 BROADWAY.
New York, Dec. 7, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of the American Coal Company of Allegany County, Md., will be held at the company's office in the City of New York, on Thursday, the 27th day of December, 1900, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock P. M.
The transfer books will be closed on Dec. 17, at 3 o'clock P. M., and reopened on the morning of Dec. 28, 1900. GEO. M. BOWLBY, Secretary.

The Merchants' National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
1370.
December 6, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking room, No. 42 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 8, 1901, from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M.
JOSEPH W. HARRIMAN, Cashier.

THE CHEMICAL NATIONAL BANK OF NEW YORK.
Dec. 10, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this bank for the ensuing year will be held at the banking house, No. 270 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, on TUESDAY, the 8th day of January, 1901, between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock P. M.
FRANCIS HALPIN, Cashier.

The Western National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
7th December, 1900.
The Annual Meeting of the stockholders of this Bank, for the election of Directors, will be held at the Banking House, No. 45 Nassau Street, on TUESDAY, January 8th, 1901. The Polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 P. M.
H. A. SMITH, Cashier.

The Mechanics' National Bank
of the City of New York,
Dec. 8th, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house, No. 33 Wall St., on Tuesday, January 8th, 1901, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
G. W. GARTH, Cashier.

The Bank of New York,
National Banking Association.
New York, December 7th, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this bank will be held at the banking house, No. 48 Wall Street, on Tuesday, January 8th, 1901.
The polls will be open from 12 M. to 1 o'clock P. M. CHAS. OLNEY, Cashier.

UNION SQUARE BANK,
8 Union Square.
The annual election for Directors and Inspectors of Election for the ensuing year will be held Tuesday, December 11th, 1900, at the banking house, between the hours of 1 P. M. and 3 P. M.
JACOB W. SCHEU, Cashier.

The Hanover National Bank
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
New York, December 7th, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house, 9 and 11 Nassau Street, on Tuesday, January 8th, 1901, between the hours of 12 o'clock M. and 1 o'clock P. M. WILLIAM LOGAN, Cashier.

The National Butchers and Drovers' Bank,
New York, December 7th, 1900.
The Annual Election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the Banking rooms, No. 683-685 Broadway, on Tuesday, January 8th, 1901, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
WM. H. CHASE, Cashier.

The National Bank of the Republic.
New York, December 7th, 1900.
The annual election for Directors of this Bank will be held at the banking house on Tuesday, January 8th, 1901, between the hours of 12 M. and 1 P. M.
C. H. STOUT, Cashier.

FINANCIAL.

$2,921,000
Westchester Lighting Company
FIRST MORTGAGE FIVE PER CENT. FIFTY YEAR GOLD BONDS.

Dated December 1, 1900. Due December 1, 1950.

COUPONS PAYABLE JUNE 1 AND DECEMBER 1.

COLONIAL TRUST COMPANY, Trustee.

Coupon Bonds of $1,000 Each, with Privilege of Registration of Principal.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold Coin of the United States of or equal to the Present Standard of Weight and Fineness without deduction for any Tax or Taxes which the Westchester Lighting Company may be required to pay or retain therefrom under any present or future Laws of the United States or of any State, County or Municipality therein.

NO OPTION IS RESERVED TO THE COMPANY TO PAY THESE BONDS BEFORE MATURITY.

TOTAL AUTHORIZED ISSUE.....$10,000,000

RESERVED WITH TRUSTEE FOR REDEMPTION OF UNDERLYING BONDS..... $529,000
RESERVED WITH TRUSTEE FOR THE PURPOSE OF PAYING FOR CERTAIN ADDITIONS, EXTENSIONS, AND BETTERMENTS NOW IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION 1,000,000
RESERVED WITH TRUSTEE TO BE USED FROM TIME TO TIME FOR ADDITIONS, EXTENSIONS, OR BETTERMENTS, OR FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACQUIRING UNENCUMBERED NEW PLANTS OR PROPERTIES..... 5,550,000
PRESENT ISSUE.....2,921,000

TOTAL.....$10,000,000

Reference is made to the following extracts from a letter addressed to us by MR. THOMAS DOLAN, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED GAS IMPROVEMENT CO., PHILADELPHIA, WHICH CONTROLS THE WESTCHESTER LIGHTING CO.:

"THE TERRITORY COVERED by the Westchester Lighting Company includes all that portion of Westchester County north of the northern limits of the City of New York as far as North Tarrytown and Mount Kisco, including Yonkers, Mamaroneck, New Rochelle, Mount Vernon, Port Chester, Harrison, Rye, North Pelham, Pelham Manor, Pelham Heights, Town of Pelham, Village of Pelham Manor, Village of North Pelham, Village of Pelham, and other lesser municipalities, and includes the old Town of Kingsbridge. The population at present is estimated at 172,000, and was shown by the United States Census of 1890 to have then been about 114,000, a growth of over fifty per cent.

"THE WESTCHESTER LIGHTING COMPANY POSSESSES FRANCHISES extending beyond the date of the maturity of the bonds, and most of the Company's franchises are perpetual.

"THE TOTAL NET EARNINGS of the merged companies amounted, during the year 1899, before consolidation, and under separate management, to $288,103.33, and it is expected that the economies of consolidation as well as increased business due to the extensions and rapidly increasing population in the territory served will result in largely increased net earnings.

"SINCE THE CLOSE OF THE YEAR1899 THE GAS OUTPUT of the merged companies has increased over 1899 at the rate of twenty per cent., and the electric output at the rate of eleven per cent.

"THE ANNUAL FIXED CHARGES of the Westchester Lighting Company, including interest on the bonds sold to you, amount to $178,710."

COPIES OF MR. DOLAN'S LETTER AND OF THE MORTGAGE MAY BE HAD AT OUR OFFICE.

HAVING SOLD A PART OF THE ABOVE BONDS, WE OFFER THE REMAINDER OF THE ISSUE AT 102½ AND ACCRUED INTEREST TO DATE OF DELIVERY.

THE SUBSCRIPTION WILL BE OPENED AT 10 O'CLOCK ON TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11, AND WILL CLOSE AT 3 O'CLOCK ON THE SAME DAY OR EARLIER.

BONDS ALLOTTED ARE TO BE PAID FOR AT OUR OFFICE, DECEMBER 14.

THE RIGHT IS RESERVED TO REJECT ANY APPLICATION OR ALLOT SMALLER AMOUNTS THAN THOSE APPLIED FOR.

J. & W. SELIGMAN & CO.,
Mills Building, New York.
DECEMBER 7, 1900.

COLONIAL TRUST COMPANY,
ST. PAUL BUILDING,
222 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Capital, Surplus & Undivided Profits } $1,800,000
Transacts a general Trust and Banking Business.
ALLOWS INTEREST ON DAILY BALANCES.
OFFICERS:
JOHN E. BORNE, President.
RICHARD DELAFIELD, CORD MEYER, JAMES W. TAPPIN, } Vice-Presidents.
ARPAD S. GROSSMANN, Treasurer.
EDMUND A. JUDSON, Secretary.
PHILIP S. BABCOCK, Trust Officer.
TRUSTEES:
Henry O. Havemeyer, Anson R. Flower, Lowell M. Palmer, John E. Borne, Richard Delafield, Daniel O'Day, Percival Kuhne, Frank Curtiss, Vernon H. Brown, Seth M. Milliken, Cord Meyer, Perry Belmont, Wm. T. Wardwell, Henry N. Whitney, Theo. W. Myers, L. C. Dessar, Geo. Warren Smith, John S. Dickerson, James W. Tappin, Geo. W. Quintard, W. Seward Webb.

CENTRAL REALTY BOND AND TRUST COMPANY
59 TO 65 LIBERTY ST., NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus, $1,500,000.
Allows Interest on deposits subject to check and transacts all Trust Company business.
HENRY MORGENTHAU, President.
HUGH J. GRANT, Vice-Pres. T. STALLKNECHT, 2d Vice-Pres.
W. J. B. MILLS, Treasurer. ERNEST EHRMANN, Secretary.
DIRECTORS:
Frederic P. Olcott, James Stillman, Anthony N. Brady, Alwyn Ball, jr., John D. Crimmins, Michael Coleman, Ernest Ehrmann, Augustus D. Juilliard, Henry O. Havemeyer, William A. Nash, James N. Jarvie, James H. Post, Frederick Southack, Hugh J. Grant, Henry Morgenthau.

North American Trust Company
135 BROADWAY, COR. CEDAR ST., NEW YORK.
Capital & Surplus, $4,500,000.
Fiscal Agent of the United States for Cuba.
DIRECTORS:
Charlton T. Lewis, John G. Carlisle, E. C. Potter, Samuel M. Jarvis, James B. Dill, Alvah Trowbridge, Frank H. Ray, Luis Suarez Galban, Fletcher S. Heath, Oakleigh Thorne, E. W. Scott, H. B. Hollins, Frank Rockefeller, Wm. H. Cheesebrough, Henry F. Shoemaker, Roland R. Conklin, Wager Swayne, James S. Kuhn, William H. Taylor, Stanley L. Conklin, Heman Dowd, Archer Brown, Benjamin F. Tracy, John C. Tomlinson, John Hone, F. R. Coudert, Jr., E. A. De Lima, Leopoldo Carbajal, Marquis de Pinar del Rio BRANCHES: LONDON, SANTIAGO DE CUBA, HAVANA, CIENFUEGOS, MATANZAS.

METROPOLITAN TRUST COMPANY
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
37 and 39 Wall St.
Capital $1,000,000
Surplus and profits..... $1,658,000
BRAYTON IVES, President.
FREDERICK D. TAPPEN, V. Pres.
SEVERLY CHEW, Second Vice President.
ALEXANDER S. WEBB, Jr., Secretary.
BERTRAM CROPPER, Asst. Secretary.
TRUSTEES:
Morris K. Jesup, Dudley Olcott, Geo. A. Hardin, Edward D. Jodson, Robert Hoe, William L. Bull, Richard Mortimer, Samuel Thomas, John E. Parsons, John T. Terry, Brayton Ives, D. O. Mills, Fred'k D. Tappen, Bradley Martin, Heber R. Bishop, Wm. H. Tillinghast, Geo. Henry Warren, Haley Fiske, J. Edward Simmons, George Coppell.

BROWN BROTHERS & CO.,
NO. 59 WALL ST.,
ISSUE COMMERCIAL AND TRAVELERS' CREDITS AVAILABLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

To the Stockholders
OF THE
AMERICAN STEEL AND WIRE CO.
PROXIES.
At the request of the holders of a large amount of the preferred and common stocks of this company, we solicit the co-operation and support of all stockholders who desire the election of an efficient Board of Directors at the next annual meeting to be held on the 21st day of February, 1901. We are prepared to receive proxies entitling us to vote stock at said meeting.
Blank forms of proxies can be obtained at our office.
WELLES, HERRICK & HICKS,
15 Wall St., New York.

No. 15 Wall St.,
New York, Dec. 1, 1900.
OFFICE OF
Ohio & Mississippi Railway Company Equipment Trust.
Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the terms of the said trust, ten certificates of one thousand dollars each of the Ohio and Mississippi Railway Company Equipment Trust have been drawn for redemption and cancellation, as follows:
SERIES C.
610, 612, 618, 620, 621, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698.
The interest upon said certificates will cease on Jan. 1, 1901.
JOHN J. McCOOK, HERBERT L. GRIGGS, GEO. F. CRANE, } Trustees.

Morgan Cowperthwaite. Clifford Bucknam.
TEL., 66 CORTLANDT.
Cowperthwaite & Co.,
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.
Quotations Furnished.
7 Nassau Street, N. Y.

The Trust Co. of America,
140 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus, $5,214,626.32.
ASHBEL P. FITCH.....President.
WILLIAM H. LEUPP, WILLIAM BARBOUR, Vice Presidents. Vice President.
RAYMOND J. CHATRY, HENRY S. MANNING, Secretary. Vice President.
ALBERT L. BANISTER, LAWRENCE O. MURRAY Treasurer. Trust Officer.

Unlisted Securities a Specialty
DAVID PFEIFFER, 18 Wall St

WE LOAN MONEY TO MERCHANTS IN ANY kind of business; also on salaries. 150 Nassau St. Office 729.

FINANCIAL.

Reports of State Banks.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF THE FIFTH AVENUE BANK OF NEW YORK
at the close of business on the fourth day of December, 1900:

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts		$8,064,197.78
Overdrafts		5,112.21
Due from trust companies, banks, bankers, and brokers		76,301.60
Banking house and lot		357,066.60
Mortgages owned		17,000.00
Stocks and bonds		42,228.13
Specie		2,118,124.91
U. S. legal tenders and circulating notes of National banks		528,418.00
Cash items, viz:
Bills and checks for the next day's exchanges	$344,652.04
Other items carried as cash	48,929.09	393,581.78
Assets not included under any of the above heads:
U. S. internal revenue stamps		5,058.19
		$11,602,089.15

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in, in cash		$100,000.00
Surplus fund		100,000.00
Undivided profits, less current expenses and taxes paid		1,226,688.54
Due depositors	$10,156,153.86
Due trust companies, banks, bankers, and savings banks	19,246.75	10,175,400.61
		$11,602,089.15

State of New York, County of New York, ss.:
A. S. FRISSELL, President, and FRANK DEAN, Cashier of The Fifth Avenue Bank of New York, a bank located and doing business at No. 530 Fifth Avenue, in the City of New York, in said county, being duly sworn, each for himself, says that the foregoing report, with the schedule accompanying the same, is true and correct in all respects to the best of his knowledge and belief, and they further say that the usual business of said bank has been transacted at the location required by the banking law, (Chap. 689, Laws of 1892,) and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Superintendent of Banks, designating the fourth day of December, 1900, as the day on which such report shall be made.
A. S. FRISSELL, President.
FRANK DEAN, Cashier.
Severally subscribed and sworn to by both deponents, the 8th day of December 1900, before me. [L. S.] SELAH L. BENNETT, Notary Public, Westchester Co.; Ctf. filed in New York Co.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF THE FIFTH AVENUE BANK, BROOKLYN, N. Y.
at the close of business on the 4th day of December, 1900:

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts		$486,820.20
Overdrafts		3.31
Due from approved reserve agents		50,609.77
Banking house and lot		10,000.00
Mortgages owned		6,000.00
Stocks and bonds		107,915.60
Specie		34,868.72
U. S. legal tenders and circulating notes of National banks		32,647.00
Cash items, viz.: Bills and checks for the next day's exchanges	$21,803.21
Other items carried as cash	250.53	22,058.74
Assets not included under any of the above heads:
Revenue stamps		068.30
		$751,091.73

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in, in cash		$100,000.00
Surplus fund		50,000.00
Undivided profits, less current expenses and taxes paid		17,716.32
Due depositors		574,520.08
Due trust companies, bank, bankers, brokers, and savings banks		5,757.21
Amount due not included under any of the above heads, viz.:
Suspense	$98.12
Reserve for Dividend No. 20	3,000.00	3,098.12
		$751,091.73

State of New York, County of Kings, ss.:
A. P. WELLS, President, and I. SIMONSON, Cashier, of Fifth Avenue Bank, a bank located and doing business at No. 317 Ninth Street, in the Borough of Brooklyn, in said county, being duly sworn, each for himself, says that the foregoing report, with the schedule accompanying the same, is true and correct in all respects, to the best of his knowledge and belief, and they further say that the usual business of said bank has been transacted at the location required by the banking law, (Chap. 689, Laws of 1892,) and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Superintendent of Banks designating the 4th day of December, 1900, as the day on which such report shall be made.
A. P. WELLS, President.
I. SIMONSON, Cashier.
Severally subscribed and sworn to by both deponents the 7th day of December, 1900, before me. SETH M. TUTTLE, Notary Public, Kings Co., N. Y.
[Seal of Notary.]

OGDENSBURG BANK.
Ogdensburg, N. Y., Dec. 4, 1900.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Investments		$588,690.57
From other banks	9,713.26
Exchanges	34,962.11
Cash and reserve	106,124.03	$740,489.97

LIABILITIES.

Capital	$100,000.00
Surplus and profits	90,017.00
Deposits	550,472.97
	$740,489.97

Frank Chapman, Pres. Thos. Spratt, Vice Pres. S. W. Leonard, Cashier.

Dividends.

American Beet Sugar Company.
PREFERRED STOCK DIVIDEND—NO. 6.
No. 32 Nassau Street, New York.
Dec. 4th, 1900.
A Regular Quarterly Dividend (No. 6) of ONE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT., on the PREFERRED STOCK of this Company has been declared, payable on January 2d, 1901, to Stockholders of record at the close of business December 15th, 1900.
Cheques will be mailed.
J. E. TUCKER, Treasurer.

American Sheet Steel Company.
A quarterly dividend of One and Three-quarters (1¾) Per Cent. has been declared upon the preferred stock of this Company, payable January 15th, 1901, to stockholders of record at the close of business December 22d, 1900. The transfer books will be closed as to the preferred stock from December 24th, 1900, to January 15th, 1901, both days inclusive.
F. S. WHEELER, Treas.
New York, Dec. 4, 1900.

THE MANUFACTURERS' TRUST COMPANY, 193 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.—DIVIDEND No. 18. The Board of Directors, at its regular meeting held December 5, 1900, declared the usual quarterly dividend of TWO PER CENT. (2%) and also an extra dividend of TWO PER CENT., (2%,) payable January 2, 1901, out of the undivided profits for the year 1900. Transfer book closes December 22, 1900, at 12 M. and opens January 2, 1901, at 10 A. M.
FRANK L. SNIFFEN, Secretary.

National Steel Company.
A quarterly dividend of One and Three-quarters (1¾%) Per Cent. has been declared upon the Preferred Stock of this Company, payable on DECEMBER 31, 1900, to stockholders of record at the close of business December 12th.
The transfer books will be closed as to the Preferred Stock from December 13th to 31st, both days inclusive.
F. S. WHEELER, Treas.

The Fifth Avenue Bank of New York.
December 7th, 1900.
A regular dividend of 20 per cent. and an extra dividend of 5 per cent. (both free of tax) have been declared on the capital stock of this bank, payable January 2d, 1901. Transfer books will be closed from noon of December 24th until January 2d. FRANK DEAN, Cashier.

FOREIGN BANK HOLDINGS.

The following is a comparison of the average of bullion in the principal European banks last week and at the corresponding date last year. The figures are cabled weekly to The Commercial and Financial Chronicle:

BANK OF ENGLAND.
Dec. 6, 1900	£31,203,125	.....
Dec. 7, 1899	30,797,194	.....
BANK OF FRANCE.
Dec. 6, 1900	92,971,472	£44,404,259
Dec. 7, 1899	75,487,337	46,707,076
BANK OF GERMANY.
Dec. 6, 1900	26,867,000	13,341,000
Dec. 7, 1899	24,396,000	12,568,000
RUSSIA.
Dec. 6, 1900	72,682,000	6,201,000
Dec. 7, 1899	67,802,000	4,753,000
AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.
Dec. 6, 1900	33,340,000	9,864,000
Dec. 7, 1899	32,406,000	10,088,000
SPAIN.
Dec. 6, 1900	13,903,000	13,650,000
Dec. 7, 1899	13,600,000	14,176,000
ITALY.
Dec. 6, 1900	15,447,000	1,735,000
Dec. 7, 1899	15,451,000	1,494,000
NETHERLANDS.
Dec. 6, 1900	4,877,000	5,545,000
Dec. 7, 1899	3,755,000	5,877,000
BELGIUM.
Dec. 6, 1900	2,813,000	1,406,000
Dec. 7, 1899	2,910,000	1,455,000
Total for week	£299,408,507	£99,346,259
Total preceding week	298,907,998	99,188,621
Corresp. date last year	286,604,631	97,118,070

FINANCIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Statements as to the condition of the following banks will be found in another column: Fifth Avenue Bank of New York, Fifth Avenue Bank of Brooklyn, and the Ogdensburg, N. Y., Bank.

THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

With most of the professional traders on the Stock Exchange trying to persuade themselves that a money market squeeze is impending, and with adroit adverse manipulation much in evidence, it could hardly be accounted strange if quotations yielded substantially—yet they have not. In spots the market has been weak, sharp declines coming suddenly; but the market as a whole has continued calm and passive in the face of all the hippodrome of speculative woe.

The worst that the most gruesome bears predict is that interest rates on call loans can be forced up for a day or two preliminary to the New Year's disbursements. Money on time stays easy enough; and bankers are willing to put out funds practically without limit far into next year around 4 or 4½ per cent. This fact answers the pessimism.

***

Tests are likely to appear in the iron and steel stocks this week. Tennessee Coal and Iron and American Steel and Wire, the recent chief targets of the bear contingent, are both heavily oversold; and if no new bad factor affects them their quotations can quickly and materially improve. The former is to extend its business scope, the latter is earning more than its present dividends—if official bookkeeping permit fair dealing. Federal Steel, meantime, has evident inside support, and a full year's dividend payment will be made in a lump right after New Year's, with official notification that quarterly disbursements can be started and maintained. Colorado Fuel's sponsors show similar disposition to be fair—its earnings being frankly issued, and showing extraordinary surpluses. As to iron trade conditions the agreement of the most conservative authorities is that improvement recently shown is not disappearing.

***

An announcement favorable to the local traction stocks is to be made shortly. Manhattan in new relationships and Brooklyn Rapid Transit developments are involved. Incidentally the marked success of the new Third Avenue bond issue offered by Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co., may be followed by the disclosure that an important syndicate representing foreign capital has successfully negotiated for a block of Third Avenue stock at a figure considerably above the present quoted price. Mr. Vreeland's statement of official statistics in his published letter to the bankers makes strikingly clear the fact that a Metropolitan guarantee means something.

***

Significant changes in the Board of Directors for the North American Company are foreshadowed, Mr. J. P. Morgan being credited with new comprehensive plans for Mr. Villard's old property.

BANK STATEMENT.

The weekly statement of the New York City Associated Banks, issued Saturday, showed a decrease in the surplus reserve of $5,164,550. The banks now hold a surplus of $5,701,125 above the legal requirement. The changes in averages show an increase in loans of $1,944,400, a decrease in specie of $4,090,600, a decrease in legal tenders of $1,915,500, a decrease in deposits of $3,366,200, and a decrease in circulation of $62,100.

The following is a comparison of the averages of the New York banks for the last two weeks and the corresponding date last year:

	Dec. 8, 1900.	Dec. 1, 1900.	Dec. 9, '99.
Loans	$800,442,500	$804,498,100	$681,464,300
Specie	162,504,400	166,895,000	143,969,100
Legal tenders	58,157,900	60,073,400	48,911,800
Net deposits	831,044,700	834,410,900	744,085,800
Circulation	30,807,900	30,870,000	16,411,300

The following shows the amount of reserve held above the legal requirements:

	Dec. 8, 1900.	Dec. 1, 1900.	Dec. 9, '99.
Specie	$202,804,400	$166,895,000	$143,069,100
Legal tenders	58,157,900	60,073,400	48,911,800
Total res'e.	$220,962,300	$226,968,400	$192,880,900
Reserve req'd against dep.	215,261,175	216,102,725	186,021,875
Surplus of reserve above legal req'rements	$5,701,125	$10,865,675	$6,859,525

The following table shows the amounts of surplus reserve held by the Clearing House banks at the end of each week in the present year and the corresponding dates in 1899 and 1898:

	1900.	1899.	1898.
Jan. 6	$11,757,725	$23,830,675	$22,264,575
Jan. 13	16,727,850	28,268,075	25,968,775
Jan. 20	24,185,675	34,068,675	31,275,200
Jan. 27	20,377,975	30,232,025	25,936,450
Feb. 3	30,871,275	37,452,675	34,781,625
Feb. 10	27,807,575	35,511,825	32,437,050
Feb. 17	24,015,675	34,373,825	25,688,450
Feb. 24	19,673,550	30,334,900	22,959,325
March 3	13,941,550	24,573,125	20,823,500
March 10	5,676,375	25,203,000	22,721,425
March 17	2,686,425	19,074,175	28,060,050
March 24	5,817,300	18,557,425	33,851,473
March 31	9,836,150	15,494,350	35,720,800
April 7	7,904,800	15,018,825	35,036,475
April 14	10,950,275	19,471,525	37,346,075
April 21	14,894,350	24,175,900	43,525,100
April 28	17,074,275	25,524,675	44,504,075
May 5	15,073,475	19,351,950	43,916,475
May 12	15,832,725	27,117,625	46,997,225
May 19	18,855,225	34,631,525	50,715,250
May 26	18,812,325	43,933,725	53,704,600
June 2	20,122,275	42,710,600	52,249,700
June 9	18,374,250	39,323,175	53,841,100
June 16	17,498,750	39,003,200	52,272,500
June 23	15,520,850	25,697,800	52,206,250
June 30	16,859,375	14,274,550	62,013,550
July 7	15,589,200	5,002,475	53,345,300
July 14	9,900,125	11,698,675	45,395,225
July 21	24,081,900	12,055,600	43,012,000
July 28	27,535,975	10,811,125	41,904,475
Aug. 4	29,144,875	8,110,600	39,893,900
Aug. 11	28,126,950	14,396,375	33,111,850
Aug. 18	20,557,050	16,062,850	28,839,250
Aug. 25	23,888,925	12,878,525	21,343,300
Sept. 1	27,078,475	9,181,250	14,991,050
Sept. 8	26,056,250	2,458,925	7,078,775
Sept. 15	20,836,175	275,450	4,240,400
Sept. 22	16,552,325	2,963,700	8,252,875
Sept. 29	12,942,600	1,724,450	15,327,150
Oct. 6	6,241,000	648,200	18,743,600
Oct. 13	4,463,925	1,177,350	19,661,550
Oct. 20	2,947,700	1,441,075	23,412,325
Oct. 27	6,331,825	3,088,525	26,091,350
Nov. 3	5,950,400	*238,550	19,023,050
Nov. 10	4,006,050	*2,788,950	15,011,800
Nov. 17	7,669,775	*312,025	16,667,375
Nov. 24	12,278,275	6,652,200	18,357,575
Dec. 1	10,865,675	8,536,700	17,097,950
Dec. 8	5,701,125	6,859,525	16,743,300

*Deficit.

The following shows the surplus reserve at this time for a series of years:

1900	$5,701,125	1895	$20,294,275
1899	6,859,525	1894	32,902,450
1898	16,743,300	1893	52,220,800
1897	22,122,950	1892	76,006,900
1896	32,464,400	1891	6,493,750

GERMAN MONEY AND TRADE.

BERLIN, Dec. 9.—Business on all the German Boerses last week was unusually stagnant, the market having various unfavorable elements against which to contend. A depressing effect was produced by the declaration of the Imperial Chancellor, Count von Buelow, to the Agrarian deputation, that the Boerse law must remain unchanged, and this was accentuated by the assertion of the President of the Allegemeine Elektricitaets Gesellschaft that the boom in the electrical industry was exhausted. This assertion caused a sharp fall in electricals. Another disturbing factor was the report of the Government commission upon the Deutsche Grundschuld Bank, one of the mortgage banks recently embarrassed, showing an exceedingly bad state of affairs.

Finally came the debate in the Reichstag on the coal famine, with the announcement of a further debate on the resolution that the Government should have control over the syndicates. Added to these special elements of depression came renewed reports showing a decline in prices and in orders in the iron industry. This combination had the effect of reducing business to the lowest proportions.

Government funds were tolerably firm. Swiss railways continued to attract much attention, but Americans weakened in sympathy with New York. Navigation shares were strong upon published estimates of increased dividends and upon the report that the stock of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company will be listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Hamburg and Bremen bought navigation shares all the week.

Foreign gold, it is stated, continues to arrive at the Reichsbank. Private discount has risen to 4⅞, but call money remains abundant at 3½ per cent. The easy money conditions have recently caused an unusual demand for loans, and the rush to subscribe for several is considered remarkable. The Allgemeine Elektricitaets Gesellschaft's loan was heavily oversubscribed by applications previous to the issue. Various industrial loans are projected for the present month, as well as municipal loans. Strasburg has received permission to issue 7,000,000 marks at 4 per cent.

There was an unusual number of price reductions made to date from the present week. Silesian rolling mills announced a reduction of 20 marks. Some of the mills in Silesia are selling rolled iron, delivered at Warsaw, at 120, and delivered at Berlin at 145.

The Gas and Boiler Pipe Syndicate has cut prices, the reduction being 25 marks on gaspipe and 50 on boiler pipe. This step is taken against American competition. Imports from America this year in this line have been unusually heavy, but the Cologne Gazette expects that the foregoing reductions will practically exclude the American product.

On the Dusseldorf Iron Boerse pig iron, sheets, and plates declined.

The German, Swiss, Austrian, Swedish, and Norwegian carbide manufacturers have organized a pool with a common selling agency at Frankfort.

DENMARK'S BUTTER TRADE.

Enormous Exports to Other Countries—Growth of the Business.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Frank H. Hitchcock, Chief of the section of foreign markets of the Agricultural Department, has issued a special bulletin on the subject of the trade Excursions.

COOK'S HOLIDAY TRIPS,

Including Hotels and All Expenses.

Boston—6 days Dec. 26.....$12.
Washington—6 days Dec. 27.....$12.
Washington and Old Point—6 days Dec. 27.....$25.
Florida—Jan. 18, 26, etc. Tours from....$65.
Bermuda—Jan. 10, 21, etc. Tours from..$62.

Programmes free from
THOS. COOK & SON,
261 & 1185 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Winter Resorts.

20c. per line $4.50 per line for 30 times.

LAUREL HOUSE, LAKEWOOD.

Open from October 1 to June 1.

A famous Resort hotel in a famous hotel resort.

DAVID B. PLUMER, Manager.
A. J. MURPHY, Assistant Manager.
GOLF AT TWO CLUBS.

THE LAKEWOOD,

LAKEWOOD, N. J.

A perfectly appointed hotel. Unequalled cuisine. Environment superb.

Write for booklet and diagram of rooms.

JAMES N. BERRY, MANAGER.

Business Opportunities.

20c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

50 PER CENT. DIVIDEND.

Manufacturing stock, new electric lamp, most perfect ever invented; economical, 98 per cent. efficiency; interchangeable for use on all current wires; of universal use; will have enormous sales and profits; in manufacture for unlimited demand; factory now fitting up in city; light on exhibition; capital, $1,000,000. Will sell limited number of $50 shares at ground-floor price, $10 each. Fullest investigation solicited. Call on or address THOMAS P. PAYNE, 96 Broadway.

HIGH-CLASS, WELL RATED, EVERY CITY, town, hamlet; ornamental, attractive money maker; tells time 15 parts world; Calendar, Thermometer, Barometer, 100 tunes; Mammoth Automatic Clocks, 14 feet high, 8 feet wide, 240 moving picture advertisements; new 24th inches, $750 per month income to agents. AUTOMATIC PICTORIAL CLOCK CO., 38 Wall St.

FOR SALE—Established coal business, fully equipped, trestle, stables, building to handle hay, grain, and feed; easy terms. For particulars apply to E. C. QUACKENBUSH, Newark Av. and 7th St., Jersey City.

UNUSUAL CHANCE; INVEST $1,000; CORporation; with or without services; experience not necessary; act as manager; legitimate growing business. Call and see for yourself, 2,554 Atlantic Av., Brooklyn.

$5,000 FOR QUARTER WORKING INTEREST, sure, growing business; necessity; good salary, with management, if capable. Particulars E. D. CHILDS, 371 Fulton St., Brooklyn.

DESK ROOM, OR PART OF LARGE REAL estate office to let; telephone service. REID, 1,673 Lexington Av.

WANTED—Restaurant or paying cigar stand or space for one. Write VANZANDT, 150 Nassau St., Room 938.

IF SECURED, WILL LOAN ANY PART OF $100,000, and wanted suitable invention. 80 Stockholm Street, Brooklyn.

I PAY 25% MORE FOR ALL KINDS OF MERchandise; city or country; business strictly confidential. I. ALDERMAN, 417 East 52d St.

THREE EXCELLENT INVESTMENTS FOR capital; particulars on application; principals only. MURRY, 309 Broadway, Room 1101.

GROCERY AND FEED BUSINESS FOR SALE; 21 miles out; clean stock; good trade. LAWRENCE, Norwood, N. J.

SACRIFICE.—Established millinery; retired trade; basic profits; retiring from business; no reasonable offer refused. 1,874 Lexington Av.

PARTNER WANTED WITH $600; STOCK brokerage business. Call, between 10 and 12. TALISMAN 9 Wall St.

BOARDING HOUSE; GOOD LOCALITY; house full of steady boarders; sacrifice. 163 East 125th St.

Horses, Carriages, &c.

20c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

The only reliable invention for preventing accidents from RUNAWAYS is the "DETAWHER." Thoroughly tested at MADISON SQUARE GARDEN and AMERICAN HORSE EXCHANGE. On exhibition, 13-15 West 28th St. THE STEERABLE SHAFT DETACHER CO.

J. F. BREWSTER & CO.,
OLD GUARD BUILDING, BROADWAY AND 49TH ST.

AN UNEQUALED ASSORTMENT OF HIGH CLASS CARRIAGES IN EVERY STYLE. BARGAINS IN SECOND-HAND VEHICLES.

FAIR JET BLACK HORSES 15¾ HANDS, SIX years, long tails, sound, kind, fearless; price, $450, extension front brougham, rubber tired, and combination trap; cheap; harness, 239 Schermerhorn St., near Bond, Brooklyn.

BERLIN COACH, $200. Brewster brougham, $225, both in superb order. 239 Schermerhorn St., near Bond, Brooklyn.

HORSE, TOP WAGON, AND HARNESS FOR sale; suitable for any business. Call 493 Monroe St., Brooklyn.

Musical.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

MRS. CAROLIN'S MUSICAL BUREAU, ARTISTS FOR SOCIAL FUNCTIONS. 2 WEST 23D ST.

MRS. EDWIN DUSTIN RIGGLES, ACCOMpanist for concerts and musicales. Apply to MME. CAROLINE, 2 West 31st St.

VIOLIN PLAYING ARTISTICALLY TAUGHT; pupil's residence or J. GLADOWITZ, Dumont Av., corner Osborn St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

SOMETHING NEW—PIANO TAUGHT WITHout notes in 3 months; accompaniments specialty. PROMPTORY, 130 West 14th St.

ANDREW BYRNE, MUSICAL DIRECTOR.—Violin and piano instruction; coaching for opera, oratorio, and concerts. 341 West 23d St.

MISS EDITH ROBERTS, VIOLINIST, PUPIL of Shradieck, Witness Box 1, 132 E. 23d St., for concerts and musicales.

PIANO.—Experienced teacher, graduate Berlin Conservatory, desires pupils; best references. Address MISS A., 1,360 2d Av.

FRANZ X. ARENS, 305 FIFTH AV., COACHing for opera, concert, and oratorio.

REMINGTON SQUIRE, MANAGER FOR LEADing musical artists, 125 East 24th St.

Dancing.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

T. GEORGE DODWORTH,
NOS. 12 AND 14 EAST 59TH STREET.
Classes and private lessons.
SEASON NOW OPEN.

GEORGE W. WALLACE,
Lesli- Rooms, 260 West 43d Street;
Ellerslie Rooms, 80-82 West 125th St.
Class and private tuition. See circular.

MACDONALD'S KNICKERBOCKER SCHOOL for Dancing, 44 East 14th St., Near Broadway. —Private and class lessons daily; send for circular; receptions every Wednesday and Saturday.

PROF. D. C. LESTER.—Dancing and polite department, Colonial Hall, 101st St. and Columbus Av. Offices hours, 2 to 10 P. M.

PROF. PAUL'S SCHOOL FOR DANCING, 111 East 125th St.; open afternoons and evenings; terms, $1 monthly.

BRADY'S 1,408 Amsterdam Av. 135-137 West 125th St. WALTZ

Dentistry.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH OF CONTINUOUS GUM Highly improved.—These teeth represent the highest art in dentistry. They restore form and expression to the face. The gums and roof of mouth, without seam or crevice, and one piece, porcelain on platinum,) are a perfect reproduction of nature, even in color. Dr. DEANE, Dentist, 454 Lexington Av., cor. 45th St., received highest award Columbian Exposition.

Clothing.

HIGHEST PRICES PAID FOR LADIES', GENtlemen's, and children's fine discarded clothing, jewelry, furs, bric-a-brac, furniture, carpets. Mlle. or MRS. NAFTAL, 744 6th Av.

MADAME BLUM.—ABSOLUTELY HIGHEST prices for ladies' cast-off evening and street costumes; also furs. 759 6th Av.

Billiards.

BILLIARD, POOL, COMBINATION TABLES, supplies, repairs; prices low; honest goods. LAHM, manufacturer, 61 4th Av.

Furs.

FUR GARMENTS REMADE, REDYED, BLENDed into fashionable shapes. Seal Sacques a specialty; estimates given. THE BARKER FUR CO., 111 West 30th St.

FURS, FURS.—Persian Lamb, Seal Jackets, all other Furs, reduced this week. 50 West 125th St.

Instruction.

30c. per line $4.50 per line for 30 times.

A GIFT THAT LASTS THROUGHOUT LIFE AND PAYS DIVIDENDS EVERY DAY.

Students may enter the Packard School at any time. The Packard plan of individual instruction insures the greatest possible progress consistent with individual effort and merit. Call or write.

No risk is incurred in selecting a school that has earned the confidence of the business world by more than forty years of faithful service.

PACKARD COMMERCIAL SCHOOL,
Fourth Av. & 23d St. 'Phone, 101—18.
DAY AND EVENING SESSIONS.

MISS CONKLIN'S SCHOOL
STENOGRAPHY AND TYPEWRITING,
18 WEST 84TH ST., ASTOR COURT.
Thorough preparation for offices and secretaryships

Purchase and Exchange.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

COMPLETE FURNISHINGS, HOUSES, APARTments, restaurants, pianos, merchandise, every description; cash. BRINK, 3d Av., 117th St. Telephone 132 Harlem.

A.—CONTENTS HOUSES, FLATS, PIANOS, Mirrors, Bronzes, Antiques, Carpets bought, spot cash. MURRAY, 155 East 125th St. Telephone 1299 Harlem.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY, SELL, OR EXchange your house, lots, farms quickly, write or call personally. S. BIBER & CO., 204 East 19th St.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE, CONTENTS OF houses and flats, pianos, carpets, &c. J. L., 113 University Place.

Hotels.

"THE HUESTIS,"

431 4th Av., bet. 29th and 30th Sts.

Fire-proof apartment hotel, just completed and newly furnished; every room has bath attached. Single rooms and bath, $1.50 a day. Parlor bedroom and bath, $3.00 a day.
Restaurant in house. Send for circular and rate.
W. B. HUESTIS, Manager.

Lawyers.

DIVORCE $50 entire expense. Lawyer GEO. ROBINSON, 99 Nassau St.

Summonses.

N. Y. SUPREME COURT.—Trial to be had in the County of New York.—AUGUSTINE J. SMITH, plaintiff, against ALFRED ERICSON and Elizabeth Ericson, his wife; Mary E. Neale, Alice H. Luce, individually and as trustee for the benefit of Alice H. Bondell under a certain deed dated 31 July, 1900; Alice H. Bondell, James Bailey, Mary Young, Richard vom Hofe, Carson Meyer, Donato Buongiorno, otherwise known as Donatus or Donatio Buonglorno; James Scanlan, Michael Scanlan, and Patrick Scanlan, composing the firm of P., M. & P. Scanlan; The Ulery Silica Brick Company, a corporation; The J. Chr. G. Hupfel Brewing Company, a corporation; Rand Drill Company, a corporation, and Consolidated Ice Company, a corporation, defendants.—Summons.

To the above-named defendants and each of them:

You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default, for the relief demanded in the complaint.—Dated 11 October, 1900.

LUIS JAMES PHELPS,
Plaintiff's Attorney,
Office and Post Office address, No. 32 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, New York.

To Alice H. Luce, individually and as trustee for the benefit of Alice H. Bondell under a certain deed dated 18 July, 1900, and to Alice H. Bondell:

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. James Fitzgerald, Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 21st day of November, 1900, and filed with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of the County of New York, at the County Court House, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City and County of New York. —Dated 21 November, 1900.

LUIS JAMES PHELPS,
Attorney for Plaintiff,
Office and Post Office address, No. 32 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, New York. n26-1aw7wM

Surrogate Notices.

CASEY, MARGARET DE KOVEN.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Abner C. Thomas, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against MARGARET de KOVEN CASEY, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, No. 120 Broadway, in the City of New York, on or before the 29th day of December next.—Dated New York, the 23d day of June, 1900. NATHANIEL A. PRENTISS, Executor. je25-1aw6mM

Referees' Notices.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK. —EMPIRE CITY SAVINGS BANK, plaintiff, against GEORGE M. WOOD et al., defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the tenth of July, 1900, and in pursuance of an order of resale made herein, bearing date the 5th day of November, 1900, I, Daniel P. Ingraham, the referee named in said judgment and order of resale, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Exchange Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the City of New York, Borough of Manhattan, on Monday, the 31st day of December, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon of that day, by Thomas C. Smith, auctioneer, the premises described in said judgment as follows:

All that certain tract or parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situate, lying, and being in the Twenty-fourth Ward of the City of New York, and bounded and indicated on the map or survey thereof entitled "Map of land late of M. P. Chrystie, Twenty-fourth Ward, surveyed, drawn, &c., by H. H. Spindler, C. E., November, 1887," and attached to a certain deed made by James Nicholson Chrystie and others to Edward T. Wood, dated 13th day of December, 1889, and recorded in the office of the Register of the City and County of New York in Liber 2282 of Conveyances, page 198, on the 10th day of January, 1890. The said tract of land being bounded and described as follows, viz.: Beginning at a point in the westerly side of a proposed street as indicated on the aforesaid map or survey where said westerly side is intersected by the northerly boundary line of the land conveyed by the said James Nicholson Chrystie and others to Catherine Elizabeth Schwab, by deed dated November 19, 1887, and recorded in the office of the Register of the City and County of New York in Liber 2282 of Conveyances, page 491; and running thence north, fifty-one degrees thirty-nine minutes and thirty-one seconds west along said land, one hundred and thirty feet and eighty-nine one-hundredths of a foot; thence north, sixty-eight degrees twenty minutes west still along said land, one hundred and fifty-six feet and seventy-two one-hundredths of a foot; thence north, forty-one degrees thirty-two minutes east, twenty-four feet and seven-tenths of a foot; thence north forty-five degrees forty-one minutes and nine seconds east, twenty-six feet; thence north forty-one degrees nine minutes and forty-one seconds east, ninety-six feet and thirty-eight one-hundredths of a foot; thence south, forty-eight degrees forty minutes and fifty-seven and ten seconds east, forty-two feet and twenty-five one-hundredths of a foot; thence south, fifty-six degrees forty-seven minutes and thirty seconds east, two hundred and twenty-five feet and twenty-five one-hundredths of a foot to a stake in the westerly side of said proposed street; and thence southerly, along the westerly side of said proposed street, one hundred and twenty-three feet and twenty-seven one-hundredths of a foot to the point or place of beginning. Together with all the right, title, and interest of the said party of the first part of, in, and to the land in said proposed street in front of the said premises to the centre thereof. And together with a right of way to and from Macomb's Dam road, as laid down on said map or survey as reserved to said James Nicholson Chrystie and others and their grantees by the aforesaid deed made by them to Catherine Elizabeth Schwab, dated November 19, 1887. Being the same premises conveyed to the said Edward T. Wood by James Nicholson Chrystie and others by deed dated the 13th day of December, 1889, and recorded in said Register's office, in Liber 2282 of Conveyances, page 198, on the 10th day of January, 1890.

Dated New York, December 7th, 1900.

DANIEL P. INGRAHAM,
Referee.
CHARLES W. DAYTON,
Attorney for Plaintiff,
27 William Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property referred to in the foregoing notice of sale:

The approximate aggregate amount of the plaintiff's lien upon the premises, with interest, costs, and disbursements, is $13,881.41, with interest from June 22, 1900, together with the expense of sale. The aggregate amount of taxes, assessments, and water rates are $908.83, with interest.

DANIEL P. INGRAHAM,
Referee.
CHARLES W. DAYTON,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
d10-2awM&Th&d31

Referees' Notices.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK. JACOB LAWSON, plaintiff, against AQUILA W. WANAMAKER and others, defendants.—Actions Nos. I. and II.

In pursuance of judgments of foreclosure and sale duly made and entered in each of the above entitled actions, bearing date respectively the 30th day of October, 1900, I, the undersigned, the referee in each of said judgments named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City and County of New York, on the 22d day of November, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Richard V. Harnett & Company, auctioneers, the premises directed by said judgments to be sold, and therein described as follows: All that certain plot, piece, or parcel of land, with the building and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the corner formed by the intersection of the northerly side of One Hundred and Third Street with the westerly side of Broadway, formerly called the Boulevard, and running thence westerly along the northerly side of One Hundred and Third Street seventy-seven feet; thence northerly and parallel with Broadway one hundred feet and eleven inches to the centre line of the block between One Hundred and Third and One Hundred and Fourth Streets; thence easterly along said centre line of the block sixty-three feet seven and one-half inches, more or less, to the westerly side of Broadway, and thence southerly along the westerly side of Broadway one hundred and one feet nine and one-half inches to the point or place of beginning.—Dated New York, October 31, 1900.

AUGUSTUS H. VANDERPOEL, Referee.
CLARENCE L. WESTCOTT, Plaintiff's Attorney, 146 Broadway, Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the premises to be sold:

The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is as follows: In Action No. 1, $10,-193.79, and in Action No. 2, $11,332.35, amounting together to $21,526.14, with interest thereon from October 30th, 1900, together with costs and allowance in both actions amounting to $709.70, with interest thereon from October 30th, 1900, and the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of taxes, assessments, or other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the referee is $3,100 and interest.

The property will be sold subject to two prior mortgages, the first being for $73,000, which sum is due thereon, with interest to be computed from March 27th, 1899, to the time of closing the sale, at six per cent. per annum, and the second being for $90,000, which sum is due thereon, with interest at six per cent. per annum, which, computed to the day of sale hersin provided, will amount to $6,187.24, and the interest to accrue thereafter until the time of closing the sale.—Dated October 31, 1900.

AUGUSTUS H. VANDERPOEL, Referee.

The sale of the property above described is hereby adjourned to the twenty-eighth day of November, 1900, at the same hour and place.—Dated November 22, 1900.

AUGUSTUS H. VANDERPOEL, Referee.

The sale of the property above described is hereby further adjourned to the fifth day of December, 1900, at the same hour and place.—Dated November 28, 1900.

AUGUSTUS H. VANDERPOEL, Referee.

The sale of the property above described is hereby further adjourned to the twenty-seventh day of December, 1900, at the same hour and place.—Dated December 5th, 1900.

AUGUSTUS H. VANDERPOEL, Referee.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK. —REBECCA COHN, Plaintiff, against AARON J. COHN and others, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 5th day of November, 1900, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 5th day of December, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by William M. Ryan, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All those certain lots, pieces, or parcels of land, with the buildings thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, bounded and described as follows, viz.:

Commencing at the corner formed by the intersection of the northerly side of Seventh Street with the westerly side of Lewis Street; running thence northerly along the westerly side of Lewis Street, seventy-four (74) feet; thence westerly seventy (70) feet and eleven (11) inches; thence southerly seventy-three (73) feet and one (1) inch to the northerly side of Seventh Street, and thence easterly along the northerly side of Seventh Street seventy-nine (79) feet and eight (8) inches to the point or place of beginning.

Dated New York, Nov. 12, 1900.

CHARLES F. McKENNEY H. BEVINS, Referee.
MORRIS CLARK, Attorney for Plaintiff, No. 54 Canal Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold:

The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $5,783.08, with interest thereon from the 2d day of November, 1900, together with costs and allowances amounting to $385.22, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments, and water rates, or other liens to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the referee is $751.40 and interest. Said premises are to be sold subject to four (4) mortgages, aggregating $89,500 and interest.

STANLEY H. BEVINS, Referee.

Dated New York, 12th day of November, 1900.

The foregoing sale is adjourned to Monday, December 17th, 1900, at the same hour and place. —Dated New York, Dec. 6th, 1900.

STANLEY H. BEVINS, Referee.

d7-2aw2wF&M

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK. —EUGENIE S. JOYCE, (formerly EUGENIE S. BENJAMIN,) plaintiff, against ANDREW J. ROBINSON et al., defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the second day of November, 1900, I, the undersigned referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, in the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City and County of New York, on Tuesday, the 11th day of December, 1900, at twelve o'clock noon, by William M. Ryan, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

All that certain tract of land being bounded and described as follows, viz.: Beginning at a point in the westerly side of a proposed street as indicated on the aforesaid map or survey where said westerly side is intersected by the northerly boundary line of the land conveyed by the said James Nicholson Chrystie and others to Catherine Elizabeth Schwab, by deed dated November 19, 1887, and recorded in the office of the Register of the City and County of New York in Liber 2282 of Conveyances, page 491; and running thence north, fifty-one degrees thirty-nine minutes and thirty-one seconds west along said land, one hundred and thirty feet and eighty-nine one-hundredths of a foot; thence north, sixty-eight degrees twenty minutes west still along said land, one hundred and fifty-six feet and seventy-two one-hundredths of a foot; thence north, forty-one degrees thirty-two minutes east, twenty-four feet and seven-tenths of a foot; thence north forty-five degrees forty-one minutes and nine seconds east, twenty-six feet; thence north forty-one degrees nine minutes and forty-one seconds east, ninety-six feet and thirty-eight one-hundredths of a foot; thence south, forty-eight degrees forty minutes and fifty-seven and ten seconds east, forty-two feet and twenty-five one-hundredths of a foot; thence south, fifty-six degrees forty-seven minutes and thirty seconds east, two hundred and twenty-five feet and twenty-five one-hundredths of a foot to a stake in the westerly side of said proposed street; and thence southerly, along the westerly side of said proposed street, one hundred and twenty-three feet and twenty-seven one-hundredths of a foot to the point or place of beginning. Together with all the right, title, and interest of the said party of the first part of, in, and to the land in said proposed street in front of the said premises to the centre thereof. And together with a right of way to and from Macomb's Dam road, as laid down on said map or survey as reserved to said James Nicholson Chrystie and others and their grantees by the aforesaid deed made by them to Catherine Elizabeth Schwab, dated November 19, 1887. Being the same premises conveyed to the said Edward T. Wood by James Nicholson Chrystie and others by deed dated the 13th day of December, 1889, and recorded in said Register's office, in Liber 2282 of Conveyances, page 198, on the 10th day of January, 1890.

Dated New York, December 7th, 1900.

DANIEL P. INGRAHAM,
Referee.
CHARLES W. DAYTON,
Attorney for Plaintiff,
27 William Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property referred to in the foregoing notice of sale:

The approximate aggregate amount of the plaintiff's lien upon the premises, with interest, costs, and disbursements, is $13,881.41, with interest from June 22, 1900, together with the expense of sale. The aggregate amount of taxes, assessments, and water rates are $908.83, with interest.

DANIEL P. INGRAHAM,
Referee.
CHARLES W. DAYTON,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
d10-2awM&Th&d31

Referees' Notices.

217 WEST 134TH STREET.

SUPREME COURT, NEW YORK COUNTY.—DAVID SEARS, Plaintiff, against GRACE COLT and others, Defendants.

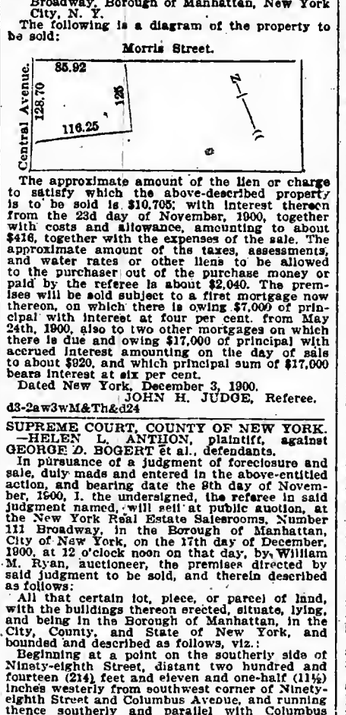
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the 20th day of November, 1900, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 17th day of December, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, on that day, by Philip A. Smyth, Auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the building thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Twelfth Ward of the City and County of New York, State of New York, bounded and described as follows, viz.:

Beginning at a point on the northerly side of One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Street, distant one hundred and eighty-three feet westerly from the corner formed by the intersection of the northerly side of One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Street with the westerly side of Seventh Avenue, running thence northerly, parallel with Seventh Avenue, and part of the distance through a party wall ninety-nine feet and eleven inches to the centre line of the block, thence westerly along said centre line and parallel with One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Street seventeen feet, thence southerly, parallel with Seventh Avenue ninety-nine feet and eleven inches to the northerly side of One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Street, thence easterly along the said northerly line of One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Street seventeen feet to the point or place of beginning.—Dated New York, November 22d, 1900.

DANIEL P. INGRAHAM, Referee.
G. WILLETT VAN NEST, Attorney for the Plaintiff, 20 Broad Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold. The street numbers is 217:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above described property is to be sold is ten thousand four hundred and eighty dollars ($10,480,) with interest thereon from the 16th day of November, 1900, together with the costs and allowances amounting to three hundred and eighty-five 86-100 dollars, ($385.86,) with interest from November 20th, 1900, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of taxes, assessments, or other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the Referee, is one hundred and seventy-seven 92-100 dollars ($177.92) and interest.—Dated New York, November 22d, 1900.

DANIEL P. INGRAHAM, Referee.
n26-2aw8wM&F&d17

NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF New York.—MARGARET KNOX, plaintiff, against JOHN M. BLAUVELT and others, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, and bearing date the 28th day of November, 1900, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the New York Real Estate Exchange Salesrooms, 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 24th day of December, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon of that day, by William M. Ryan, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

All those certain lots, pieces, or parcels of land, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Bronx, in the City, County, and State of New York, and being bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a corner formed by the intersection of the easterly line of Central Avenue with the southerly side of Morris Street, as both the said avenue and the said street are laid down on a certain map entitled "Mortgage map of land belonging to Isaac T. Willis, being part of the farm belonging to Louis G. Morris, Esq., situate in the Town of West Farms, County of Westchester, New York, dated Mott Haven, March 1st, 1868, R. Ross, Surveyor." Running thence southwesterly along the said easterly line of Central Avenue as laid down on said map one hundred twenty-eight feet and seventy one-hundredths of a foot, (128.70;) thence easterly and parallel with said Morris Street, as laid down on said maps, one hundred sixteen feet and twenty-five one-hundredths of a foot, (116 25-100;) thence running northerly and at right angles to said Morris Street one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet to said southerly line of Morris Street, and thence running westerly and along said southerly line of Morris Street eighty-five feet and ninety-two one-hundredths of a foot (85 92-100) to Central Avenue at the point or place of beginning, be said several distances and dimensions more or less. Together with all the right, title, and interest of the said John M. Blauvelt in and to said Central Avenue and Morris Street in front of the herein described property to the centre line thereof. Subject, however, to the covenants against nuisances contained in a certain deed, made by Louis G. Morris to Isaac T. Willis, dated March 1st, 1868, and recorded in the Office of the Register of Westchester County, in Liber No. 708 of Deeds, Page No. 174.

Dated New York, December 3, 1900.

JOHN H. JUDGE, Referee.
ARTHUR KNOX, Attorney for Plaintiff, 171 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, N. Y.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold:

The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $10,705; with interest thereon from the 23d day of November, 1900, together with costs and allowance, amounting to about $416, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments, and water rates or other liens to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the referee is about $2,040. The premises will be sold subject to a first mortgage now thereon, on which there is owing $7,000 of principal with interest at four per cent. from May 24th, 1900, also to two other mortgages on which there is due and owing $17,000 of principal with accrued interest amounting on the day of sale to about $920, and which principal sum of $17,000 bears interest at six per cent.

Dated New York, December 3, 1900.

JOHN H. JUDGE, Referee.
d3-2aw3wM&Th&d24

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK. —HELEN L. ANTHON, plaintiff, against GEORGE D. BOGERT et al., defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, and bearing date the 8th day of November, 1900, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesrooms, Number 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 17th day of December, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by William M. Ryan, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the buildings thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City, County, and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows, viz.:

Beginning at a point on the southerly side of Ninety-eighth Street, distant two hundred and fourteen (214) feet and eleven and one-half (11½) inches westerly from southwest corner of Ninety-eighth Street and Columbus Avenue, and running thence westerly along said Ninety-eighth Street Avenue and part of the distance through a party wall one hundred (100) feet and eleven (11) inches; thence westerly and parallel with Ninety-eighth Street eighteen (18) feet; thence northerly and again parallel with Columbus Avenue, and part of the distance through another party wall one hundred (100) feet and eleven (11) inches to the southerly side of Ninety-eighth Street; and thence easterly along the southerly side of Ninety-eighth Street eighteen (18) feet to the point or place of beginning. Being the same premises which were conveyed to the party of the first part by the party of the second part by deed of even date with these presents, which are given to secure part of the purchase price of the said premises.—Dated New York, November 19th, 1900.

WILLIAM J. A. McKIM, Referee.
JOHN P. EVERETT, Attorney for Plaintiff, 4 Warren Street, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold: The street number is 124 West Ninety-eighth Street.

The approximate amount of the lien or charge to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold is $15,770.83, with interest thereon from the 23d day of October, 1900, together with costs and allowances amounting to $460.04, with interest from November 9th, 1900, together with the expenses of the sale.

The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments, and Croton water charges or liens to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the referee is $300 and interest. —Dated New York, November 19th, 1900.

WILLIAM J. A. McKIM, Referee.
n26-2aw8wM&F&d17

Surrogate Notices.

HERBST, GEBHARD.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Gebhard Herbst, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at her place of transacting business, at the office of Benjamin L. Brandner, No. 302 Broadway, in the City of New York, on or before the 25th day of March next.—Dated New York, the 17th day of September, 1900. ANNA M. HERBST, Administratrix.
BENJ. L. BRANDNER, Atty. for Administratrix, 302 Broadway, New York City.
s17-1aw8mM

KOHN, OTTO.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against OTTO KOHN, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at his place of transacting business, No. 44 Broadway, in the City of New York, on or before the 30th day of May next.—Dated New York, the 26th day of November, 1900. DAVID KOHN, Administrator. NICOLL, ANABLE & LINDSAY, Attorneys for Administrator, 31 Nassau Street, city. n26-1aw6mM

Referees' Notices.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK. —WILLIAM H. F. CROCHERON, plaintiff, against EDWIN B. GROVE and others, defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the 28th day of November, 1900, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on the 24th day of December, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, on that day, by Philip A. Smyth, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows: That certain indenture of lease bearing date May 1st, 1855, and recorded in the office of the Register of the City and County of New York, in Liber 723 of Conveyances, Page 194, December 13th, 1856, made and executed by the Trustees of the Sailors' Snug Harbour in the City of New York, demising, leasing, and to farm letting the lot of land hereinafter described unto William W. Chester for and during and until the full end and term of twenty-one years from May 1st, 1855; and also that certain indenture of lease, given in renewal of the lease aforesaid, bearing date May 1st, 1876, and recorded in the Register's office in Liber 1,376 of Conveyances, Page 400, June 7th, 1876, made and executed by the said The Trustees of the Sailors' Snug Harbour in the City of New York, demising, leasing, and to farm letting unto De Witt C. Grove, who is now deceased, to have granted and during and until the full end and term of twenty-one years from the First day of May, 1876, the said lot of land described as follows, viz.: All that certain lot of land, situate, lying, and being in the Fifteenth Ward of the City of New York, being part of the lands of The Sailors' Snug Harbour in the City of New York, and distinguished on a map of their property in the said ward, made by Edwin Smith, City Surveyor, dated

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

The following sales at auction are down for to-day at 111 Broadway:

By William M. Ryan, executor's sale, 102 Bowery, west side, 125.2 feet north of Broome Street, 25 by 100, three-story brick building, with store.

By William M. Ryan, foreclosure sale, C. Donohue, referee, 617 West One Hundred and Forty-second Street, north side, 245 feet west of Broadway, 15 by 99.10, three-story stone-front dwelling. Due on judgment, $9,227.

By William M. Ryan, foreclosure sale, Grosvenor S. Hubbard, referee, 22 Bradhurst Avenue, east side, 26.5 feet north of One Hundred and Forty-third Street, 26.5 by 80.4 by 26.1 by 80.1, five-story brick flat, with store. Due on judgment, $29,473.

By D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co., foreclosure sale, Augustus H. Vanderpool, referee, 230 East Forty-eighth Street, south side, 219.4 feet west of Second Avenue, 18.8 by 100.5, four-story stone-front dwelling. Due on judgment, $10,827.

By D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co., foreclosure sale, Arthur D. Truax, referee, Park Avenue, formerly Railroad Avenue, east side, 25.11 feet south of One Hundred and Fiftieth Street, 77.7 by 71.8 by 74.0 by 90.2, vacant. Due on judgment, $4,214.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Rollin M. Morgan, referee, 3,310 Third Avenue, east side, 230 feet north of Boston Road, 16.5 by 45.9 by 18.9 by 39.3, one-story frame store; 907 Boston Road, west side, abutting on the foregoing, 16.9 by 50, two-story frame dwelling. Due on judgment, on 3,310 Third Avenue, $1,731; on 907 Boston Road, $1,326.

Pianos and Organs.

30c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

WISSNER PIANOS

Used by Eminent Artists.

BROOKLYN: COR. FULTON ST. & FLATBUSH AV. NEW YORK: 25 EAST 14TH ST.

Second-Hand Uprights of Good Makers.

$85—$125. Grands, $175—$300.

POPULAR

PEASE PIANOS.

109 WEST 42d ST., JUST WEST OF 6th AV. Over 64,000 purchasers in the last half century will attest to the durability and fine tone qualities of the PEASE PIANOS. Special factory prices and easy terms. Bargains in used pianos of standard makes, from $125 up. Write for catalogue. OPEN EVENINGS.

CALENBERG PIANOS

Are equal to ANY in TONE, TOUCH, FINISH and DURABILITY.

Over 16,000 pleased customers is our evidence.

Special Inducements for Holiday Season.

TUNING, REPAIRING, RENTING.

Warerooms, 23 East 14th St.

BRIGGS PIANOS. A few of these fine instruments, slightly used and fully warranted, at reduced prices: cash or installments; pianos to rent; tuning and repairing. C. H. DITSON & CO., 867 Broadway, 18th St.

"WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A PIANO?"—Wise. 50 Uprights, Grands, Squares, by all the best makers; second hand; Steinways, Sohmers, Knabe, Chickering, Hardman, Lindeman, Fischer, Hazelton, Haines, Sterling, Emerson. Good second hand Uprights for $100. Don't buy NEW cheap Pianos. STANDARD ART GALLERIES, 10 AND 21 WEST 125TH ST. OPEN EVENINGS UNTIL 10 O'CLOCK.

MATHUSHEK & SON and OPERA PIANOS

Artistic pianos in new and modern case designs, at prices that interest close buyers. Rents $4 up. MATHUSHEK & SON, B'way, cor. 47th St.

BARGAINS—New and second-hand upright pianos; fine makes, all improvements, mahogany, walnut, oak, or rosewood cases; fully warranted; $125 up; open evenings. WHITNEY & CO., 112 West 125th St.

$100.00—THIS MONTH ONLY, HOLIDAY BARGAINS; Beautiful Upright Piano, Stool, Scarf, 5 years' warrantee, one quarter's lessons free with every Piano; latest improvements. BANKS, 593 Lexington Av., 52d St.; open evenings.

STEINWAY, CHICKERING AND OTHER high-grade uprights, $95 upward; $10 down, $6 monthly; rents, $3 upward. O. W. WUERTZ, 1,514 3d Av., (85th St.) Open evenings.

BARGAINS.—Upright pianos, $100 upward; more value for money than elsewhere guaranteed; square, $20 upward; rented, exchanged; easy payments. CHRISTMAN, 21 East 14th St.

BARGAINS.—Steinway, Kranich & Bach, Hardman, Bradbury uprights rented, $3; rent allowed toward purchase. HEINRICH'S, 590 Fulton St., Brooklyn.

ELEGANT MAHOGANY UPRIGHT PIANO, slightly used, for $175; easy payments if delivered; fully guaranteed. W. F. TWAY PIANO CO., 91 5th Av.

$225 ELEGANT UPRIGHT, STOOL, SCARF; 5 years' warrantee; quarter's lessons, and delivered free. Tuning, repairing, moving, etc., lowest terms. BANKS, 593 Lexington Av., 52d.

OUYRIER BROS., 13 EAST 14TH ST. Pianos to rent at $4. Sold on easy payments. Slightly used, $75. Tuning, repairing, exchanging.

BUY OF MANUFACTURER; RELIABLE CONSOR PIANOS; EASY TERMS; RENTING; EXCHANGING; REPAIRING. OPEN EVENINGS. 4 EAST 42D ST.

BEFORE RENTING OR PURCHASING A piano call and examine our stock; rents $3 up; old pianos exchanged. DEWEY & CO., 5 East 14th St.

$45 BEAUTIFUL WALNUT UPRIGHT PIANO; prominent make; bargain; $3 monthly until paid. 83 Court St., Brooklyn.

SQUARE PIANO, $15; PEDAL BASS ORGAN, $20; 50c. weekly installments. TIFFANY PIANO CO., 129 5th Av.

SACRIFICE.—Lady will sell nearly new upright piano and stool; must be sold at once; no reasonable offer refused. 104 West 64th St.

$15—MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN, $2 MONTHLY until paid. 83 Court St., Brooklyn. Open evenings.

WINTERROTH PIANOS. CASH, INSTALMENTS. NEW PIANOS $125, UPWARD. 105 East 14th St. & 08 5th Ave.

WALTERS PIANOS, 105 WEST 33D ST., NEAR Broadway.—Large assortment, various makes; installments, exchange, repairing, tuning.

RUSSELL'S PIANOS, 1,473 3D AV., 83d St.—Pianos, mandolin attachment; $6 monthly; rented $3. Open evenings.

BUY THE RELIABLE LOHMANN PIANOS. CASH, INSTALLMENTS; RENTED AND EXCHANGED. 115-117 EAST 14TH ST.

$90 BUYS A BEAUTIFUL MAHOGANY UPright; cash or easy payments. HEINRICH'S, 590 Fulton St., Brooklyn.

UPRIGHT, $50; CHICKERING BARGAIN; Installments. LOCKHART & CO., 117 East 14th St. and 92 5th Av.

FINE PIANO, great bargain, $25; cash or installments. 1,351 3d Av.

Medical.

GOAT LYMPH CURE

Locomotor Ataxia, Consumption, Nervous Disorders, Insanity, restores where other remedies have failed.

We have every facility for the care of patients and the administration of all lymphs in the treatment of Nervous, Chronic and Mental Diseases, Nervous Exhaustion, and Pulmonary Tuberculosis.

Many testimonials prove the lymph to be the only therapeutic remedy before the Medical World to-day that can be relied upon to produce positive restorative results in the diseases mentioned.

Call or address (N. Y. LYMPH SANITARIUM,) Office, 165 West 34th St., New York.

Storage.

20c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

AT MORGAN & BROTHER'S STORAGE WAREHOUSE, 232, 234, & 236 WEST 47TH ST., near Broadway, separate rooms for furniture, pianos, bazaars, &c. PADDED VANS FOR REMOVAL OF FURNITURE, &c. Boxing, shipping promptly attended to; estimates furnished. Telephone, 153-38th.

UNIVERSAL STORAGE WAREHOUSE COMPany, 202-208 East 88th St., near 3d Av.—Storage of furniture, pianos, &c.; separate compartments; estimates given for packing, shipping, moving, city or country. Telephone, 28-79th.

Watches and Jewelry.

R. V. HURD, LATE WITH WILLIAM MOIR, saves you money on diamonds, watches, and all repairing; old gold, jewelry, gems bought, exchanged or remodeled. 126 West 23d St., bet. 6th and 7th Avs.

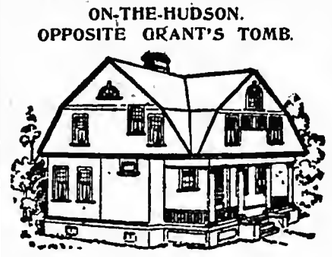
Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

GRANTWOOD

ON-THE-HUDSON.

OPPOSITE GRANT'S TOMB.



You can buy this house for $40.00 per month,

If there is any finer, more accessible, more healthful homesite than Grantwood, any place promising quicker appreciation of property values, any place more liberally equipped with public improvements or better conducted in any respect, you will do well to find it. But see Grantwood before you make a bargain.

$40.00 a Month

covering principal and interest; or we will build for you in any style on similar terms. Size of plot, 50x100. House has nine rooms and bath, with butler's pantry extension; large full-width porch, finished in oak, cypress, or whitewood; polished oak staircases, nickel open plumbing, porcelain bathtub, handsome mantels, laundry tubs, furnace, &c.

Grantwood is directly on the Hudson opposite Grant's Tomb, 20 minutes via either 14th street or 42d street Ferries and Hudson Traction Co.'s R. R. and 15 minutes from 125th street Ferry and Trolley.

Write or call for photographic views and maps of picturesque Grantwood and full particulars.

Free Tickets to visit the property.

Columbia Invest. & Real Estate Co.

1,135 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Telephone 1087 Madison Sq.

City Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

CORNERS.—Very choice, well-located corner properties for sale at bargain prices:

Willis Av.	$45,000
Amsterdam Av.	50,000
Columbus Av.	150,000
Eleventh Av.	25,000

For prime investments call on THOMAS P. PAYNE, 90 Broadway.

A BARGAIN—Two modern five-story double apartment houses on West 137th St., near 7th Av., in complete order and fully rented; income over 10 per cent. on price asked; two blocks from subway. Firm of L. J. CARPENTER, 41 Liberty St.

A 38-FOOT FRONT, FIVE-STORY, TWENTY-family apartment house, fully rented, in 100th St., near Amsterdam Av., can be bought at a bargain. Firm of L. J. CARPENTER, 41 Liberty St.

A.—PARK AV., IN THE EIGHTIES.—Three apartment houses, with 81 feet frontage, excellent condition, can be bought at nearly the land value. Firm of L. J. CARPENTER, 41 Liberty St.

PRIVATE HOUSE, (4-STORY,) IN THE WEST Seventies; leased one tenant; price $30,000; exchange for country residence. GEORGE NINER, 20 Broad St.

BARGAINS.—Bronx lots; Woodycrest Av. corner; Fordham Heights plot; three Woodlawn corners; others. GEORGE PURVIS, 156 Broadway.

$7,750.—RARE BARGAIN! EXAMINE 315 East 93d St.; choice 2-story and basement dwelling; must be sold. THOMAS P. PAYNE, 90 Broadway.

AN AVENUE CORNER, FIVE-STORY TRIPLE flat, with store, L station street, savings bank mortgage 4½%, great bargain to quick buyer. SHARROTT & THOM, No. 3,855 Third Av.

NO. 130 WEST 36TH ST.—Elegant four-story 20-foot dwelling; 100-foot park restricted street; underground station; inquire on premises; asking $40,000; would rent.

BUILDERS, THE BEST LOCATED AND cheapest lot in the Bronx, ripe for building large 4-family flat. SHARROTT & THOM, No. 3,855 Third Av.

BROADWAY, (LONG ACRE SQUARE.)—A choice plot for sale, or will lease for term of years. J. ROMAINE BROWN & CO., 53 West 33d St.

LOTS NEAR BRONX AND PELHAM PARK, fronting Eastern Boulevard and Pelham Road. Coming speculative section. Bargains. S. CONE, owner, 115 Broadway, Room 48.

GREAT BARGAIN.—Two new double flats, Washington Av.; savings bank's mortgage, $14,000; price, $16,500 each to quick buyer. RANDRUP & SIEKER, 3,008 3d Av.

ATTENTION, BUILDERS! PLOTS NEAR Broadway, 14th to 60th St., with loans. THEO. ROGERS BRILL, 351 West 59th St.

DESIRABLE LOT IN 128TH ST., 5TH AND Lenox Av., near rapid transit. 85 West 128th St.

11-STORY, BASEMENT AND SUB.—Broadway, near Astor Place; rentals, $23,200; safe investment. SNEDEKER, 309 Broadway.

BOULEVARD, SOUTHEAST CORNER, BELOW 63d St.—116 feet Boulevard, 144 on street. SNEDEKER, 309 Broadway.

24TH WARD.—Several tracts of desirably located acreage, for sale or exchange. OWNER, 20 Broad St., Room 1,002.

AT $27,000.—Four-story basement brownstone dwelling; 21st St., near 5th Av. S. B. GOODALE & SON, 6 West 24th, (Fifth Avenue Hotel.)

5TH AV., NEAR 128TH ST.; PLOT 50x110. Ready for improvement. Firm of L. J. CARPENTER, 41 Liberty St.

BUILDERS'—Plot, 35x87, Allen St., near Stanton; bargain. Address CHAS. GALENSKI, 35 Nassau St.

FOUR-STORY ENGLISH BASEMENT HOUSE in West 22d St.; only $1,060 cash; bargain. ATWATER, 156 Broadway.

5TH AV., near 116th St.—Modern three-family flat; possession of store March 1. CRANE, 187 Broadway.

BARGAIN.—Bath, near Centre; 3,000 square feet; 4-story brick; $30,000; easy terms. SNEDEKER, 309 Broadway.

WEST 50TH ST., NEAR 7TH AV.—50x100; 3 brownstone houses; bargain; $40,000. SNEDEKER, 309 Broadway.

7 LOTS.—25x100; East 72d St., near Avenue A; must be sold. SNEDEKER, 309 Broadway.

BARGAIN.—Easy terms; three-story single flat. GOELLER, 3d Av. and 134th St.

Brooklyn Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

QUEENSBOROUGH IS THE MOST VALUAble from an investment point, and the cheapest in the price of any of the Boroughs of New York City. We have the best and cheapest. Let us prove it to you. A single lot or one hundred acres, a five dollar bill or a half million, can be invested with us and bring the best results. Let us prove it to you. WHEELER BROTHERS, 16 Court St., Brooklyn.

212 CORNELIA ST.—Full 2-family 2-story and basement frame house; examine it and make offer; no reasonable offer refused. KETCHAM BROS., 1,545 Broadway, Brooklyn.

GREAT BARGAIN.—Three-story and basement 12-room house, $3,500; easy terms. Brownstone house, Park Slope, $5,000. BEARDALL, 11 Willoughby St., Brooklyn.

FOR SALE—Good modern 3-story brownstone dwelling; fine condition; Park Slope; desirable location; easy terms. L. H. POTTER & BRO., 31 Flatbush Av.

STUYVESANT HEIGHTS SECTION.—Modern 2-story basement light stone; cost $8,000; this week only for $6,300. WM. H. H. PINCKNEY, 342 Sumner Av., Brooklyn.

BIG INVESTMENT—3-story brick flat; will pay for itself. JOHN PERRY & CO., 373 Fulton St.

Country Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

FARM, 120 ACRES, 10 TIMBER; 13-ROOM house, 2 barns; farmhouse; plenty fruit; productive soil; 1 hour from city; cost, $35,000; must sell to close estate; price, $10,000. ATWATER, 156 Broadway.

FLORIDA HOTEL OR SANITARIUM.—Desirable either business; 60 guests' rooms; furnished; modern conveniences; elevated pine forest; attractive location. J. W. ATWATER, 55 Liberty St.

GREENWICH.—Large acreage property, on the ridge, finest elevation, overlooking the Sound; choice site for large country seat. J. W. ATWATER, 55 Liberty St.

FOR SALE—Cottages, hotels, farms, 6 to 100 acres; $5,000, $7,000, $18,000. WILLIAM LANE, Long Branch.

Miscellaneous.

RESPIRATORIUM—Take inhalations for hoarseness. Call and interview. 132 East 23d St.

Real Estate.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

THE LAWYERS' TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF NEW YORK.

Furnishes careful appraisements of real estate at regular rates. Apply to Bureau of Investment, 37 Liberty St.

IF YOU WANT A HOME WE WILL BUY A lot and build you a house anywhere satisfactory without any money down; supply $7.50 monthly per thousand, interest included, after you take possession. Address 309 Broadway, Room 904.

Long Island Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

FOR SALE—ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL properties on North Shore of Long Island. 55 acres, 1,800 ft. of fine shore front; good bathing and safe anchorage. No nuisances near. Large springs of fresh water. Many fine old trees. Forty-five minutes from house to 34th St. Ferry. Suitable for both Summer and Winter home. Can be divided into two or more parts. Prices $2,000 to $3,000 per acre. Address F. N. WRIGHT, Manhasset, L. I.

55 ACRES, $1,400.

The biggest bargain, the greatest speculation on Long Island; 9-room house, barn, 2 orchards; land all cleared and tillable; half cash, balance mortgage. OWNER, Box A 174, Times.

Real Estate Wanted.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

OWNERS.—Personal attention and larger income obtained by placing your property in my charge. Write or call at office, THEO. ROGERS BRILL, 351 West 59th St.

ATTRACTIVE PROPERTY (CITY OR COUNTRY) wanted; waiting customers; unusual selling, exchanging facilities. GEORGE B. DOWLING, 150 Broadway.

WANTED—Choice Sound shore residence, between Greenwich and city; $150,000; have cash buyer. PERRY, 309 Broadway.

Westchester Real Estate for Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

BRONXVILLE, HARLEM RAILROAD, 28 minutes from 42d. Lots near station; $100 upward; city improvements; no assessments. Title insured. Easy payments. OFFENBACH, 97 East 116th St.

Real Estate for Exchange.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

EIGHT-ROOM PRIVATE HOUSE AND LARGE stable, North 7th St., Brooklyn; value, $5,000; mtge., $1,800; must sell at sacrifice; will take $1,000 cash and exchange for acreage, Long Island only; also tenement paying 11 per cent. to close estate. Call or write, TREAD, 202 East 23d St.; open evenings.

THOMAS P. PAYNE, 90 BROADWAY, ESTABlished 1868, has many parcels, large and small, of the finest city and country property for sale and exchange; also, flats, tenements, apartment houses; free and clear lots and country places. It will pay to call or write for full particulars.

DESIRABLE EXCHANGES.—Beekman Hill dwelling; Orange residence; Washington Heights dwelling; Dutchess County farm; income-paying tenements; Brooklyn dwelling; exchanges negotiated. GEORGE PURVIS, 156 Broadway.

EQUITIES IN SEVERAL PIECES GOOD INcome property in all sections of Brooklyn for lots or unincumbered private house. NORMAN & WHITLOCK, 1,253 Broadway, Brooklyn.

$40,000 EQUITY IN CHOICE CITY INCOME property; will take half cash, balance, well located farm or gentleman's country place. SHARROTT & THOM, No. 3,855 3d Av.

FREE AND CLEAR, MANHATTAN, BROOKlyn, " vacant " or farms, income, and country residences. JOHN DONNELLY, 59 Liberty St.

SEVERAL WEST SIDE DWELLINGS FOR free and clear country or city equities. FINN, 115 Broadway.

City Houses to Let—Unfurnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

DWELLINGS $75 a Month and upwards

138th & 139th Sts., 7th & 8th Aves.

Several desirable, well-appointed dwellings, containing from 10 to 14 rooms and baths; handsomely decorated. These homes are now open for inspection.

ERASTUS HAMILTON, 252 West 138th St. Telephone 647 Harlem.

64TH ST., 138 WEST.—Four stories and extension; two bathrooms; open plumbing; prime condition; rent, $1,500; caretaker; examine. FINN, 115 Broadway.

PARTY WILL RENT WHOLE OR PART OF completely furnished residence on Lenox Avenue corner; very desirable for physician or dentist; reasonable rent. OPPORTUNITY, 2,025 5th Av.

142D ST., 508 W.—8 rooms, bath, handsomely decorated; buffet, steam heat, hot water, gas range, stationary icebox, laundry; finest location; rent moderate.

HANDSOMELY FURNISHED 3-STORY, BAY window, brownstone; private family only. Owner, 246 West 104th St.

To Let for Business Purposes.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

BUILDINGS, STORES, LOFTS, AND OFFICES to let on Ann, Beekman, Barclay, Bond, Chambers, City Hall Place, Church, Cliff, Dey, Duane, Elm, Perry, Frankfort, Front, Fulton, Gold, Greenwich, Hudson, John, Leonard, Malden Lane, Moore, Nassau, New Chambers, Park Place, Pearl, Reade, Rose, Spruce, South, Vesey, Water, West, White, William, and Worth Sts. RULAND & WHITING, 5 Beekman St.

UNION SQUARE NORTH, ADJOINING BROADWAY. LOFT 184 FEET DEEP. Building has entrances on two streets. Inquire at 31 East 17th St., or J. EDGAR LEAYCRAFT & CO., B'way, cor. 44th.

FACTORIES AND MILLS.

50 Entire Buildings, 100 Lofts, with or without power. D. W. HAYNES, 235 Broadway, N. Y.

DESK ROOM, $5 MONTHLY; ROLLER TOP furnished; open evenings until 8. (Sundays and holidays included.) 25 East 14th St., Roome 2 and 3, between Broadway and Fifth Av.

STORES, LOFTS, AND OFFICES TO LET AT LOWEST RATES. JACOB A. KING, 401 BROADWAY.

6TH AV., 238.—Large floor; six rooms; modern improvements; elevator; showcase; steam heat. Ring janitor's bell.

FACTORY, POWER, RAILROAD SWITCH, Sprinklers, cheap labor, low freights. W. LAWTON, Kingston, N. Y.

TO RENT.—Rubbing bed; also second floor loft, with power, elevator. CHELSEA MARBLE WORKS, 516 West 20th St.

40TH ST., 438 AND 440 WEST.—Large stores with plate glass fronts; two rooms; decorated; $15.

16TH ST., 423 WEST.—Large store with three rooms and plate-glass front; newly decorated; $18.

Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, 368 HICKS ST.—Large store, with dwelling rooms; will decorate to suit; $16.

HAMILTON ST., 16½.—Large store, with plate glass front and three dwelling rooms; $15; cheap

Auction Sales.

BOOKS AT AUCTION.

The entire stock of rich standard books contained in store at 148 FULTON STREET, near Broadway, will be sold at public sale, beginning at 12 o'clock every day, except Sunday, 0 o'clock evenings, and continuing every day next week until the entire stock is disposed of. Among other choice works are samples and remainders of the publications of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Appleton & Company, Harper & Brothers, Dodd, Mead & Co., and other leading book houses. Balzac, Hugo, Browning, Irving, Shakespeare, and many standards in choice editions. Encyclopaedia Britannica, Dictionaries, and Teachers' Bibles. Huxley, Darwin, Tyndall, and Spencer; a few slightly damaged sets. Books now open for examination. Visitors invited. Sale positive and without reserve.

A. SANDERS, Auctioneer. 148 FULTON ST., NEW YORK.

WM. SHANNON, Auctioneer, will sell this day at 2 P. M., at 1,932 3d Av., watches, jewelry, silver-plated ware, &c.

HERBERT GREY, AUCTIONEER, SELLS AT 1 and 7 P. M., Japanese art and paintings. 79 East 125th St.

Apartments to Let—Unfurnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

THE IOWA,

135 West 104th St.

JUST COMPLETED.

ELECTRIC ELEVATOR & HALL SERVICE. THE FINEST 6 & 7 ROOM APARTMENTS. With all up-to-date, modern improvements; every room large, light, and beautifully decorated; large, handsome entrance hall and reception room, richly and tastefully furnished, about 300 feet from 104th St. station; express trains; Broadway and Amsterdam Ave. electric cars. For further particulars apply on premises.

PAUL B. PUGH & CO., Builders and Owners. STABLER & SMITH, AGENTS. 674 COLUMBUS AVE., 93D ST. TELEPHONE 79 RIVERSIDE.

HAROLD COURT and BRITTANY

N. W. Corner 102d St. & Broadway.

Adjoining private house on 102d St.

New apartments of 7 and 8 rooms. Arrangements can be made for 14 rooms. Only a few Apartments left. All modern improvements, including elevator, electric lights and telephone. Rents from $900 upwards.

OWNER ON PREMISES OR BRANDT & KIRBY, Agents, 104th St. & Broadway.

A.— Broadway, Corner, six rooms and bath, steam heat; $30.

150 West 64th St., Seven rooms and bath, steam heat, hot water; $38.

154 West 20th St., Single 7 rooms and bath; Janitor, 3d floor; $24.

206 8th Av., (20th St.) Roomy, comfortable, single; Janitor; $30.

Single seven rooms and bath; Janitor; $28.

227 West 59th St., P. S. TREACY, 1,929 Broadway, (65th St.)

THE TUXEDO. HIGH CLASS APARTMENTS. Northwest corner Lexington Av. and 118th St. PASSENGER ELEVATOR, STEAM HEAT, &c., &c. Suites of five and six rooms and tiled bathroom. All outside rooms; rents, $35 and $40 per month. Superintendent on premises.

BACHELOR AP'TS.

112 West 44th St.

2 large light rooms and bath. ASHFORTH & CO., 1,509 Broadway.

MARGUERITE, 2,731 Broadway, near 104th St. Six rooms and bathroom.....$40 Elevator—Hot water—Open plumbing. Steam heat—Gas and electric lighting, &c. J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co., B'way, cor. 44th St.

HOFFMAN ARMS. MADISON AV. AND 59TH ST. Family apartments, 5 to 9 rooms, furnished or unfurnished; private kitchen or restaurant; special room; service American or European plan. C. A. GERLACH, Proprietor.

MANHATTAN AV., 27, (NEAR 102D.)—Elegant apartments of eight extra large, light rooms, bath; single house; hot water; steam heat; oak woodwork; nickel plumbing; handsomely finished throughout; 4th floor; $35 to $45. Janitor.

25 MANHATTAN AV., NEAR 102D ST.—Elegant apartment, 7 large, light rooms; bath; steam heat; hot water; oak woodwork; nickel plumbing; all improvements; elegant and tasteful decorations; $30. Janitor.

$38.—HALL ATTENDANCE, STEAM HEAT, hot water supply; tiled bathroom, exposed plumbing, porcelain tubs and sinks; eight rooms and bath. Janitor, 230 West 122d St., or J. EDGAR LEAYCRAFT & CO., B'way, cor. 44th.

11 MANHATTAN AV., (NEAR 101ST.)—Fine single 8-room and bath apartments; steam heat, hot water; cheap rents. ROBERT RANKIN, 35 Manhattan Av., (102d.)

155 WEST 46TH ST., between Broadway and 6th Av. Second flat, seven rooms and bathroom, $55. J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co., B'way, cor. 44th St.

1,200 2D AV., NEAR 68TH ST. SECOND FLAT. Single house, six large rooms, rent asked, $27. Also, five-room flat in adjoining house, rent $17. Firm L. J. Carpenter, 1,181 3d Av. 41 Liberty St.

93D ST., 102 WEST, OVERLOOKING PARK.—Marble and iron hallways and stairs; hallboys; all improvements; rents, $35 to $50. Superintendent, or A. K. MACKAY, 8 Wall St.

PARK AV., 1,051, NEAR 86TH ST. Apartments of six large rooms; steam heat; rents, $20 to $26; location convenient and desirable and houses extremely well kept.

AN A1 AIRY APARTMENT AVAILABLE AT attractive rent, in the finely situated elevator apartment house, The Trouville, Broadway, West End Av. and 107th St.

ELEGANT APARTMENT; 5 LARGE ROOMS; one flight; all improvements, excepting bath; $16. 122 East 102d St.

ST. NICHOLAS AV., 107, NEAR 118TH ST.—Beautiful single flat; 7 large, light rooms; bath; $30; handsomely decorated.

DOWNTOWN; SINGLE FLAT; 8 LARGE rooms and bathroom; second apartment; all improvements; $38.—41 3d Av.

Apartments to Let—Furnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

ARTISTICALLY FURNISHED APARTMENTS of seven large, sunny rooms. Apply to RUTLAND OFFICE, Broadway and 57th St.

159 WEST 102D.—Clean, finely furnished, complete for housekeeping; six rooms and bath; hot water. WILLIAMS.

Apartments Wanted.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

WANTED—Furnished corner apartment about Jan. 1, by a gentleman, for his family residence; 4 masters' and 3 servants' bedrooms; highest recommendations given and required; answer giving full description and lowest rent, cash, monthly. Address E., Box 102 Times Office.

WANTED—For three months, from middle of January, by a gentleman and family, a furnished apartment of five to seven rooms; locality from 20th to 59th St. and between Madison Av. and Broadway; private family preferred. Address T. S., Box 220 Times Up-Town Office.

Brooklyn Apartments to Let—Unfurnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

SINGLE FLAT, SIX ROOMS AND BATH, ALL improvements, $16. Inquire 854 4th Av., near 51st St.

City Flats to Let—Unfurnished.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

SINGLE FLATS AT 58 EAST 96TH ST., NEAR Madison Av., $58. SCHNURING, 78 East 96th St. 4 and 5 rooms at 91st St. and 1st Av.; new houses; $16-18; all improvements; also at 304 to 310 East 92d St.

21 and 23 East 99th St., near 5th Av.—Six rooms and bath; private halls; from $23 to $26; 10 rooms and bath, $40.

4 and 6 rooms and bath, $16-21, at 2 East 119th St., corner 5th Av.

New buildings, 5 c. cor. 118th St. and Madison Av., 4 and 5 rooms and baths; hot water supply, &c., $15 to $25.

117TH ST., 360-366 WEST, NEAR MORNINGSide Park.—Handsomely decorated, six rooms and bath, steam heat, hot water, private surroundings; near Columbia University and convenient to cabls and elevated. Rent, $25, $27. References.

FOUR ROOMS AND BATH, HEATED, HOT water; overlooking Morningside and Central Parks; small families adults; no dogs; $18 to $20; references. 303 West 111th St.

A.—$10; NEAR CENTRAL PARK; 63 WEST 100th St.; 3 rooms, $10; 4 rooms, $12; newly decorated; halls carpeted; ranges, mirrors.

BETHUNE ST., CORNER HUDSON.—FOUR rooms, bath; modern conveniences; free until Dec. 15. Ring T. Donnelly's bell.

ONLY APARTMENT LEFT.—Five large, light rooms, newly decorated; private halls; improvements; $14. 432 West 52d St.

10TH ST., 224 EAST.—Three-room apartments; hot water, gas, and coal ranges; decorated; $12-$14.

8STH ST., 66 East.—Desirable single flat; seven light, large rooms; bath, heat, hot water; cheap.

137TH ST., 126 WEST.—Elegant flats, 6 light rooms and bathroom; steam heat; hot water. $25.

61ST ST., 305 WEST.—Third floor, five rooms, to rent; private house; terms moderate.

JONES ST., 7, NEAR WEST 47TH ST., 6TH AV. —3-4 room apartments; decorated; $10-$14.50.

124TH ST., 230 WEST.—Large apartment; 6 rooms, bath; newly decorated; price, $16.

83D ST., 119 EAST.—Six rooms and bath; steam heat and hot water; rents, $28 to $31.

58TH ST., 368 WEST.—Steam-heated apartment, 6 rooms, bath; newly decorated; $40.

102D ST., 176 EAST.—Floor through; five light rooms; rents $12 to $13.50.

Brooklyn.

868 HICKS ST.—Desirable apartments of two rooms; prices, $7.

Good Will and Interest for Sale.

Quick Buyer of stores, stocks, clothing, shoes, dry goods, &c.; city, country. WEISZ, 11 Lispenard St. Tel. 2647 Franklin.

SPOT CASH PAID

For stores and stocks of merchandise of every description; city or country. F. JACOBS, 364 Grand St.

For Sale.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

CREDIT

If you think that if you can afford to dress yourself as well as your neighbor with his bank account you have a right to make as good an appearance as you can;

If you think your wife has the right to dress herself well in spite of the fact that you are only an honest working man;

If you think that keeping your children well dressed will help cultivate a taste in them for better associates and will tend to tear down the false bars between the plebeian and aristocrat;

If you think a well-furnished home and the responsibility of having honest debts to pay will improve your own moral tone and keep you away from the saloons and evil associations—

In short, if you think you have as much right to live for your money as well as anybody else and that you are a free man and the best arbiter of your own destiny, then connect yourself with who believe that an honest man is entitled to credit and who are perfectly willing to trust you.

THE AARONSON CREDIT CENTRE,

Remember, this is a CREDIT CENTRE, where anybody and everybody can get anything and everything on credit.

MEN'S AND BOYS' SUITS, ready made or to order; Top Coats, Reefers, Hats, Shoes.

LADIES' AND MISSES' Tailor-made Suits, Underwear, Dry Goods, Millinery, Capes, Cloaks, Furs, Watches.

DIAMONDS, ALL KINDS JEWELRY, FURNITURE, CARPETS, ETC.

AARONSON CREDIT CENTRE

62 BOWERY AND 157 CANAL ST., ONE FLIGHT UP.

Open from 8:30 A. M. to 8:30 P. M. Open Saturdays from 4:30 afternoon to 11 at midnight only. Also Sunday from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

TYPEWRITERS RENTED, BOUGHT, SOLD; expert repairing. R. & G. TYPEWRITER CO., 202 Broadway. Telephone, 999 Cortlandt.

PHONOGRAPHS, GRAPHOPHONES BOUGHT, exchanged, sold, cash or $1 week; gramophone plates $2.50 dozen. 148 East 58th St.

TYPEWRITERS SOLD AT $3.00 A MONTH; rented 75c. a week. GAY, 121 West 125th St.

HAT-CLEANING MACHINES; BUSINESS taught free. Write CHAS. COLTHUP, 84 2d Av.

8 FOX TERRIER PUPS 6 WEEKS OLD; $10 each. Advertisement office, 140 Columbus Av.

Boarders Wanted.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

29TH ST., 13 EAST, NEAR 5TH AV.—Sunny large rooms; also adjoining hall room; exceptional table; references.

46TH ST., 222 WEST.—Second and third floor suites, private baths; excellent table; single rooms; reasonable; references.

52D ST., 231 WEST, NEAR BROADWAY.—Back parlor and single room; good table; moderate prices; Americans.

82D ST., 171 EAST.—Comfortable furnished room with board; private Jewish family; home comforts; reasonable terms.

94TH ST., 73 WEST.—Large and small handsome connecting rooms, private bath, in select house; reference required.

95TH ST., 65 WEST.—Beautiful large, light second floor; private house; steam heat; excellent board; private table if desired.

96TH ST., 63 WEST.—Handsome second floor, parlor dining room; excellent table and attendance; select house; references.

126TH ST., 132 WEST.—Second story, front, with board, for two; excellent table; every convenience.

128TH ST., 60 WEST.—One or more gentlemen can find good home in private family.

134TH ST., 83 WEST.—Large, well-furnished room in private family; with or without board. LEE.

136TH ST., 143 WEST.—Large front room, second floor; private house, suitable for 3 gentlemen; references.

ATTRACTIVE SUITE, WITH PRIVATE BATH, with or without board; single rooms; all desirable locations; highest references given. LELAND BOARD DIRECTORY, 2 West 33d St.

LEXINGTON AV., 822, Corner 83d St.—Nicely furnished rooms; good board; moderate.

Brooklyn.

EVERGREEN AV., 548.—Excellent board and all home comforts in private house; convenient to all cars.

GRAHAM AV., 368 BROOKLYN.—Widow would like child to board; mother's care given. Mrs. Maguire.

Furnished Rooms.

10c. per line 3 times 24c 7 times 42c Double for display.

2D AV., 234, BETWEEN 14TH AND 15TH STS. —Handsomely furnished rooms; private family; running water.

9TH ST., 39 WEST.—Handsome large rooms, second floor; every convenience; house very select; references.

11TH ST., 121 WEST.—Steam-heated large room, hallrooms, furnished; conveniences; private family; gentle

Not everybody wants a rough business suit and yet smooth worsteds lag.

We have reduced several lots of fancy worsted suits from $25 and $28, to $20—to help remove your prejudice, if any exists.

Some fancy cheviots of rather loud patterns have shared the same fate : $20.

In fact the revision of prices all along the line brings down some of the most successful suits of the season, where only a few sizes remain, to $15, $18 or $20.

Nota Bene:

About 500 fancy cheviot, cassimere and worsted suits for small men and large boys—32 to 35 inches chest, reduced to $10.

ROGERS, PEET & COMPANY.

258 Broadway, cor. Warren, and 7 and 9 Warren St.
569 Broadway, cor. Prince.
1290 Broadway, cor. 32d, and 54 West 33d St.

We fill orders by mail.

Dress Patterns,

put up in Boxes for

Holiday Presents.

350 Dress Lengths, suitable for Holiday gifts, in both Foreign and Domestic fabrics, comprising plain and fancy goods (will be sold at ½ prices and less,)

Special Value one, at $2.95.

We will also furnish you a box with any dress length bought by the yard, free of charge.

Lord & Taylor,

Broadway & 20th St.

CARPETS

Semi-Annual Clearance Sale,

Consisting of odd pieces and patterns we do not intend duplicating, in all the different grades. Some we have made up into

RUGS WITH BORDERS, in various sizes, suitable for all kinds of rooms.

ALL AT REMNANT PRICES. (BRING SIZE OF ROOM.)

400 Pieces WILTON VELVETS " AXMINSTERS at prices that will insure immediate sale.

We call special attention to our

New Hartford Rugs

(In large carpet sizes),

Unobtainable elsewhere in New York; equal in effect, and nearly so in wear, to an Oriental

At Less Than One-half the Price.

Inlaid Linoleum

At a Great Reduction.

ALSO REMNANTS OF OIL CLOTHS AND PRINTED LINOLEUMS AT ABOUT ONE-HALF PRICE.

Upholstery Goods AND CURTAINS.

NEW COMPLETE STOCK OF LATEST DESIGNS IN THE LEADING FABRICS AND DRAPES.

SHEPPARD KNAPP & CO.,

Sixth Ave., 13th and 14th Sts.

When "Miller" Lamps are used

Light from Kerosene Oil Is Best for the Eyes.

It is Steady, White, Bright, and can be had in just the position that is best.

Miller Lamps are Safe, Easy to Manage, Durable, Ornamental, and the Best Made.

Buy them for Gifts { Christmas, Wedding.

Made in four sizes, over a thousand styles, suitable for In and Out door lighting. If Lamp Dealers will not supply Miller Lamps, we can. Write for circular.

EDWARD MILLER & CO., Manufacturers. Established 1844. 30 West Broadway, bet. Park Pl. and Barclay St, N. Y.

☞ MILLER HEATERS are Smokeless, Odorless, the Best Oil Heaters Made

---

LIBRARY AND EASY CHAIRS. GREAT VARIETIES. TABLES

CHAS. E. MATTHEWS, 275 Canal St., nr. B'way.

EVERY DAY AND SUNDAY

THE NEW YORK TIMES

Delivered at Your Home

NINE CENTS A WEEK.

Order in Advance from your newsdealer.

THE NEW YORK TIMES is sold by newsdealers without the privilege of returning unsold copies, consequently to be sure of getting the paper it is well to Order It Delivered at Your Residence.

Lace Curtains.

Muslin Curtains,—with ruffled edge. 3 yards long, 75 cents per pair.

White Irish Point Lace,—mounted on heavy net, $5.00, $6.75 and $7.50 per pair.

Arabian Lace,—handsome patterns, $10.00 and $12.50 per pair.

"Stores Bonne Femme",—Renaissance Lace,—on very fine mull or net, $15.00, $18.00 and $21.00.

Odd Curtains,—in various kinds of Laces at about half price.

Linens.

Table Cloths. 1500 handsome patterns.

2 x 2 yards,	. . . . .	$2.00, $2.40, $3.25
2 x 2 1-2 "	. . . . .	$2.50, $3.00, $4.00
2 x 3 "	. . . . .	$3.00, $3.75, $4.75

450 Extra fine cloths—3 1-2 yards long. At less than half prices.

Napkins.

5-8,— . . . . . $1.50, $2.00 and $2.40 per dozen.
3-4,— . . . . . $2.50, $3.00 " $3.65 per dozen.

Towels.

1000 Dozen, large size,—hemmed or hemstitched. $3.00 per dozen.

D'Oyleys, Tray Cloths, Scarfs, Centre Pieces, of fine Irish Linen, hand embroidered and exquisite samples of the fashionable drawn work,— are reduced to very low figures.

JAMES McCREERY & CO., Broadway and 11th Street.

Stern Brothers

Exceptionally large and well selected assortments of articles for artistic house decoration or personal use and particularly suitable for the

Holiday Season

Men's Furnishings { Imported Silk Squares and Mufflers, Neckwear in the newest shapes and all grades; Braces, Pajamas and Night Shirts in Silk, Cheviot and Flannel.

Umbrellas { Men's and Women's Fine Silk Umbrellas, Canes and Riding Crops, with unique and exclusive mountings

Handkerchiefs { All-linen, Hand Embroidered Initial, Hemstitched and Scalloped Edge, Embroidered and Lace Edge, Men's Silk Initial, French Novelties in hand embroid'd

Jewelry { Novelties in fine Gold, Sterling Silver, Gold Plated and Gurf Metal Jewelry; Silk and Velvet Belts in the new gilt effects, Real Shell Side, Back and Chignon Combs, Gold Mounted Combs set with Turquoises and Pearls; Bags and Purses of Sterling Silver, Silver Gilt and set with stones

West Twenty-third Street.

Stella Music Box

ABSOLUTELY THE BEST AND SOLD AT MODERATE PRICES. EASY TERMS IF DESIRED.

The Stella has a Sweetness, Harmony and Volume of Tone found in no other instrument, and is the only music box using smooth steel tune sheets.

Prices from $26.00 to $300.00. Other styles from 25c. to $1,200.00.

Musical Novelties from $4.00 up.

JACOT MUSIC BOX CO., 39 Union Square, N. Y. Broadway and 17th St.

You need neither worry over filthy Croton water nor drink flat boiled water.

Buy a

Sparklets

TRADE MARK

bottle—Price, $1.50 to $5.00, and your water will be as pure as the sweetest spring, and have the life of the air in it.

Dr. H. Mayer says:—

"SPARKLETS purify water by causing a precipitation of organic and mineral impurities."

SPARKLETS should be sold by all druggists and grocers. The main store is 1,127 Broadway, where you can see them demonstrated.

O'Neill's.

Great Sale of

CLOAKS AND SUITS!

We have just purchased the entire stock on hand of the leading Cloak and Suit House of America, who are retiring from business,

Blumenthal Bros. & Co.,

and will place it on sale beginning this morning at

Fifty Cents on the Dollar!

The stock consists of Short and Long Jackets, Golf and Cloth Capes, Suits and Rainy-Day Skirts, etc. The well-known reputation of this house for style, fit, finish and quality makes this a most extraordinary event.

Jackets	5.00 to 13.50
Long Coats	7.50 to 22.50
Golf Capes	8.50 to 25.00
Suits	11.50 to 32.50

☞ This is positively the greatest Cloak and Suit offering ever made in the retail trade.

Sixth Avenue, 20th to 21st Street.

O'Neill's

Holiday Novelties in

Sterling Silver.

BUTTON HOOKS, FILES, SHOE HORNS, TOOTH AND NAIL BRUSHES, DRESSING COMBS, mounted in sterling silver, beautiful designs. . . . . 33c Each

WHISK BROOMS. . . . . 59c. to 2.25
PUFF BOXES, of cut glass, sterling tops. . . . . 89c. to 4.98
HAIR BRUSHES. . . . . 89c. to 5.25
MILITARY BRUSHES. . . . 1.98 to 4.48
HAT BRUSHES. . . . . 98c. to 3.98
COMB AND BRUSH SETS. 98c. to 11.98
STERLING MIRRORS. . 4.48 to 13.98
EBONIZED HAT AND CLOTH BRUSHES, mounted with sterling silver shield. . . . . 49c. to 2.25

Other choice Novelties at equally attractive prices.

6th Ave., 20th to 21st St.

Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 10th & 11th.

Special Sale of

Ladies' Tailor made Suits.

Black, Blue & Brown Pebble Cheviot,

in Blouse, Eton and Close Fitting Jackets, silk lined throughout, $22.50,

value $37.50.

Also balance of Imported Models at reduced prices.

Lord & Taylor,

Broadway & 20th St.

O'Neill's

SALE OF

Fine Umbrellas!

A chance to secure a useful Christmas Gift at

One-Third Less Than the Usual Price

GLORIA UMBRELLAS, with Boxwood, Congo, Weichsel, Horn, Dresden, Enamelled and Gun Metal Handles,

Worth 1.75, 1.10

TAFFETA AND TWILLED SILK Umbrellas, with Natural Wood, Horn, Pearl, Gun Metal, Dresden, Congo and Fancy Handles, with Sterling Silver Trimmings,

Worth 3.00, 1.98

Very fine TAFFETA or TWILLED SILK UMBRELLAS, with Buck Horn, Cape Horn, Boxwood and other desirable handles with Silver Caps and Trimmings,

Worth 4.00, 2.65

TAFFETA AND TWILLED SILK UMBRELLAS of extra quality, with long massive Ivory and Pearl Princess Handles; also in Gun Metal, Cape and Buck Horn, Weichsel and Congo, Heavy Sterling Silver Trimmings,

Worth 5.00, 3.65

All these Umbrellas have Paragon Frames, Steel Rods, Cases and Tassels.

Initials Engraved Free of Charge.

6th Ave., 20th to 21st St.

Amusements.

Proctor's 23d St. / 5th Ave. / 58th St. / 125th St. — Continuous Performance. — 15, 25, 50c. Vaudeville.

Della Fox, J. W. Albaugh, Jr., & Co., George Evans, Review Comedy Four. JEAN MARCEL'S LIVING PICTURES an instant Hit and talk of town. Milton and Dollie Nobles, Alice Pierce, Chas. Coburn and RUSSELL BROS. McIntyre & Heath, Mark Sullivan, Ed Latell, Francis Keppler, etc. Le Roy & Clayton, Long & Cotton, Fisher & Carroll, 3 Lukens Bros.

THEATRE REPUBLIC 42d St., just west of B'way. Evgs., 8:20. Matinées Wednesday and Sat'y, 2:15. Tele., 3940-38.

"Marsac. . . is acted with gayety, high spirits, and infectious humor."—Herald.

A Comedy in 3 acts, by Molly Elliot Seawell and Wm. Young. THE SPRIGHTLY ROMANCE OF MARSAC. Introducing Maclyn Arbuckle.

BROADWAY Last 2 Weeks. Theatre, 41st St. & B'way. Evs. 8:10. Matinée Saturday at 2:10. "FOXY QUILLER" With JEROME SYKES.

CASINO B'way & 39th St. Evry Ev. at 8:15 Mat. Sat'y, 2. FLORODORA

THE NEW YORK B'way, 45th St. Mat. Wed. & Sat. BEST SEAT 50c. Ballet, Operetta, & 20 AMER. & EUROPEAN NOVELTIES. Concert Sunday Aft. and Eve.

MANHATTAN THEATRE. 33d & B'way. To-night 8:15. Mat. Sat. only. LULU GLASER OPERA COMPANY IN SWEET ANNE PAGE.

HUBER'S 14TH ST. MUSEUM. Female Sword Swallower. Corbett-McCoy Fight.

HARLEM OPERA HOUSE. Evgs. 8:15. Matinée Saturday 2:15. Empire Theatre Co. in LORD AND LADY ALGY

Amusements.

DALY'S B'way & 30. . . . . at 8:30 DANIEL FROHMAN, Manager. Matinées Wednesdays and Saturdays, 2:15. THE LONDON SUCCESS OF LAST YEAR. LOVE STORY IN 4 ACTS,

The Man of Forty

LYCEUM 4th Av. & 23. . . . . At 8:30 Daniel Frohman. . . . Manager Matinées Thurs. & Sat., 2:15 ANNIE RUSSELL in A ROYAL FAMILY. A ROYAL FAMILY. THIS MONDAY—100TH NIGHT. *.*Tuesday, Dec. 11, at 3:30 P. M. AMERICAN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA CONCERT. Sam Franko, Conductor—Mackenzie Gordon, Soloist

WALLACK'S B'way & 30th St. Evs. 8:30. Mats. Wed., Sat. & Xmas TO-NIGHT AT 8:30 MARY MANNERING In Paul Leicester Ford and Edward E. Rose's Dramatic Version of JANICE MEREDITH

WILLIAM C. CARL FREE ORGAN CONCERT To-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 4 o'clock, "Old First" Church, 5th Av., 12th St. Antonia Savage Sawyer, Contralto; H. Whitney Tew, Basso. No tickets required.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC 14th St. & Irving Pl. JAMES O'NEILL LAST WEEKS. Prices, 25, 50, 75, 1.00. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2. Ev. 8:15. MONTE CRISTO.

DEWEY E. 14th St. MATINEE TO-DAY. BONTON BURLESQUERS Ernest Roeber, Champion Wrestler of the World, will meet all comers.—The Original Oriental Dancers

"THE STROLLERS" TO-NIGHT In the Comic Opera, The Cruise of the Summer Girl. AT THE WALDORF-ASTORIA. Dec. 10-11-14-15. Matinées 11-15.

HERALD SQUARE Every Eve. 8:20. Theatre. Mat. 2:20. Wed. & Sat. Secure Xmas. & New Year's Day Seats Early. Augustus Thomas' Masterwork. ARIZONA

KEITH'S ROSSOW MIDGETS, JESS DANDY, HALLEN & FULLER. J. E. Dodson & Co. in "Richelieu's Strategem." McAvoy & May, Fred V. Bowers, Linton & McIntyre.

VICTORIA Hammerstein's Last 2 Weeks. 42d St. B'y & 7th Av. Evs. 8:30. Gen. Adm. 50c. Mat. Sat. p'cs, 50, 75, $1 No smoking or drinking at Mats. AGOUSTS—STAR AND GARTER

BIJOU B'way & 30th St. Tel. 2224 Mad. Mat. Sat. Ev. 8:20. TO-NIGHT. MADGE SMITH MAY IRWIN and New Song Hits.

IRVING PLACE THEATRE.—To-night & Tue. Last times, "ROSENMONTAG." Wed., 1st time and every Eve., "DAS GROBE HEMD," Comedy by Kariwels.

MURRAY HILL THEATRE, 42d St. & Lex. Av. Matinee Every Day, 25c. This Week—THE GREY MARE.

AMERICAN 42D ST. AND 8TH AV. Evgs. 8:15. 25c., 35c., 50c. Mat. daily (ex. Mon.) 25c. Hands Across the Sea

SAVOY B'way & 34th St. Evs. 8:20. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2:15. HENRIETTA CROSMAN MISTRESS NELL

Grand Op. House. Evs. 8:15. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2:15. POP. WED. MATINEE. 25c., 50c. ANDREW MACK "THE REBEL."

O'Neill's,

Great Dress Goods Selling!

Last week we inaugurated a sale of Dress Goods that has since been the talk of the town, people wondering how we could sell this season's most desirable Dress Fabrics for one-half the prices asked in other stores for goods of the same qualities, but we did it, nevertheless, and we will continue to do so this week, for we will offer

The Balance of That Big Purchase at the Same Startling Prices.

A Splendid Opportunity for Seekers of Useful Holiday Gifts Read!

CAMEL'S HAIR ZIBELINE PLAIDS! Several thousands of yards of the regular Fifty Cent Goods, 38 inches wide, in five color combinations, 25c yard

ALL WOOL ZIBELINE MIXED SUITINGS, in a great variety of mixtures, 50 inches wide,
ALL WOOL STORM SERGE, in a variety of colors, 44 inches wide,
LIGHT MOHAIR CREPONS, 42 inches wide, 39c yard
☞ Regular 75c to 1.00 Fabrics.

ALL WOOL SCOTCH HOMESPUNS, 50 inches wide, in five shades of Gray,
ALL WOOL FINE ENGLISH CHEVIOTS, 50 inches wide, in Royal and Navy Blue, 50c yard
☞ Regular 1.00 Fabrics.

ALL WOOL DOUBLE WARP STORM SERGE, 50 inches wide, in a variety of colors, and ROUGH TWILLED CHEVIOTS, 50 inches wide, black only, 59c yard
☞ Regular Selling Price 1.00 to 1.25.

We will also offer to-day One Thousand Dress Patterns,

Comprising Cashmeres, Serges, Prunellas, Cheviots, Soleils, Zibelines, Homespuns, Crepons, Covert Cloths and Plaids, in lengths of six to eight yards, at 1.50 to 5.00 each.

Sixth Avenue, 20th to 21st Street.

O'Neill's.

HOLIDAY BOOKS.

Our Holiday Stock of Books includes all the newest titles in Fiction, Poetry, Travel, Biography, History, etc. There are thousands of volumes to pick from, and all at a liberal discount from publisher's prices. Some very unusual opportunities:

DICKENS'S WORKS, 15 volumes, cloth bound; Publisher's Price, 7.50. . . . . 3.75

SCOTT'S WORKS, 12 volumes, Publisher's Price, 10.00. . . . . 6.50

"UNITED STATES HISTORY," by John Clark Ridpath; revised and enlarged; Publisher's Price, 2.00. . . . . 79c

"EMPIRE" EDITION OF GILT TOP BOOKS, such authors as Dickens, Hughes, Jane Porter, Mrs. Oliphant, Marie Corelli, Hall Caine and many others; Publisher's Price, 50c. 25c

BOYS' BOOKS, by G. A. Henty, J. Fenimore Cooper, Samuel Lover, R. L. Stevenson, Oliver Optic and other authors; Publisher's Price, 75c. 25c

BOOKS FOR GIRLS: cloth bound, with neat side stamp; such authors as L. T. Mead, Amanda Douglass Ewing, M. S. Cummins and others; Publisher's Price, 75c. 49c

"ALL ABOARD" Books, by Rev. D. C. Eddy; over three hundred pages and fancy board cover; Publisher's Price, 75c. 25c

WOOD'S NATURAL HISTORY, five volumes, cloth bound, 700 pages to each book; Publisher's Price, 7.50. . . . . 2.48

"CASSELL'S" MAGAZINE, bound, full of illustrations and articles by the best writers; Publisher's Price, 2.50. . . . . 98c

Three New Books Published at 1.50:

"MASTER CHRISTIAN," by Corelli,
"ELEANOR," by Ward,
"EBEN HOLDEN," by Bacheller.

Our Price, 79c Each.

Children's Books, all sizes and prices, from 5c. upward.

AN ELEGANT LINE OF BIBLES, PRAYER BOOKS AND HYMNALS AT EXCEPTIONALLY ATTRACTIVE PRICES.

☞ Ask for Our Catalogue of Standard and Popular Books.

Sixth Avenue, 20th to 21st Street.

Amusements.

KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE B'way & 38th. AL. HAYMAN & CO. . . . . PROPRIETORS EVENINGS at 8. MATINEE SATURDAY at 2. LAST 3 WEEKS.

. Seats now on sale for all remaining performances up to and including the farewell night, Saturday, Dec. 29.

CHARLES FROHMAN PRESENTS

MAUDE ADAMS

IN EDMOND ROSTAND'S MASTERPIECE.

L'AIGLON.

Adapted into English by Louis N. Parker.
"Miss Adams's great victory a riot of enthusiasm."—Sun.
"Miss Adams was stirred to a depth of emotion that almost triumphed over sex."—Herald.

EXTRA MATINEE XMAS.

MONDAY, DEC. 31ST, MISS ADA REHAN IN "SWEET NELL OF OLD DRURY."

Illinois Theatre, Chicago, Dec. 10th & 17th. Grand Opera House, Cincinnati, Dec. 24th. Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, Dec. 31st.
. Sale of Seats Begins Thurs., Dec. 27.

EMPIRE THEATRE, Broadway & 40th St. Evenings, 8:30. Matinee, 2:15. CHARLES FROHMAN. . . . . Manager. LAST 3 WEEKS. Matinées Wednesday and Saturday.

JOHN DREW'S GREATEST TRIUMPH. CHARLES FROHMAN PRESENTS

JOHN DREW In Edward E. Rose's dramatization of Winston Churchill's novel of RICHARD CARVEL.

"John Drew and the play have made a ripping success."—Herald.

XTRA MATINEE XMAS. SEATS READY.

CHARLES FROHMAN'S

CRITERION THEATRE Broadway & 44th St. Evenings, 8:00. FIFTH WEEK

CHARLES FROHMAN PRESENTS

JOHN HARE MISS IRENE VANBRUGH AND THE LONDON GLOBE THEATRE COMPANY In A. W. Pinero's original comedy, entitled

The Gay Lord Quex.

Evenings at 8. Matinee Saturday at 2.

MONDAY, JAN. 14—JULIA MARLOWE in "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

GARRICK THEATRE. 35th St., near B'way. Evenings, 8:15. Matinée, 2:15. CHARLES FROHMAN. . . . . Manager. 100th TIME DEC. 17TH. SOUVENIRS.

CHARLES FROHMAN PRESENTS

WILLIAM H. CRANE IN DAVID HARUM.

A STORY OF AMERICAN LIFE.

Dramatized by R. and M. W. Hitchcock from the novel of David Harum, by Edward Noyes Westcott, copyrighted 1898-1900 by D. Appleton & Co.

Matinees Wednesday and Saturday

GARDEN THEATRE. 27th St. & Madison Av. CHARLES FROHMAN. . . . . Manager. Evgs. at 8. Matinées Wednesday and Saturday. BERNHARDT & COQUELIN. THIS WEEK—CYRANO DE BERGERAC. Next Week—Mon., Wed., Sat. Evgs., Wed. Mat., La Tosca; Tues., Thurs., Fri. Evgs. and Sat. Mat., Camille. Tickets purchased for Frou Frou can be exchanged.

Amusements.

MADISON SQUARE Theatre, 24th St., nr. B'way. Evenings, 8:30; Matinees, 2:15. CHARLES FROHMAN. . . . . Manager

—LAST TWO WEEKS— 100TH TIME DEC. 21ST, SOUVENIRS. LAUGHSEEKERS' GREAT JOY

FRANK McKEE PRESENTS

PETER F. DAILEY IN THE BIG MUSICAL COMEDY Hodge, Podge & Co. PACKED FULL OF FUN LOVELY MUSIC—CHARMING WOMEN MATINEES WEDNESDAY & SATURDAY Dec. 24—Broadhurst's The House That Jack Built.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE. Grand Opera Season 1900-1901. Under the direction of Mr. MAURICE GRAU. Opening Night Tuesday, Dec. 18, at 8, ROMEO ET JULIETTE (in French.) Mme. Melba; MM. Ed de Reszke, Plançon, and Saleza. Conductor, Mancinelli.
Wed. Evg., Dec. 19, at 8—TANNHAUSER. (in German.) Mmes. Ternina and Susan Strong; MM. Van Dyck, Plançon, and Bispham. Conductor, Damrosch.
Fri. Evg., Dec. 21, at 8—LOHENGRIN. (in German.) Mmes. Nordica and Schumann-Heink; MM. Dippel, Bertram, and Ed de Reszke. Conductor, Damrosch.
Sat. Aft., Dec. 22, at 2—ROMEO ET JULIETTE. (in French.) Mme. Melba; Ed de Reszke, and Saleza. Conductor, Mancinelli.
Sat. Evg., Dec. 22, at 8, at Popular Prices—AIDA. (in Italian)—Mmes. Susan Strong and Homer; MM. Scotti, Journet, and Imbart de la Tour. Conductor, Flon.
Sun. Evg., Dec. 23. First Grand Popular Concert.
The box office for the sale of seats for the first week will be open THURSDAY MORNING, Dec. 13, at 9 o'clock. Tickets can also be purchased at box-office rates at Tyson & Co.'s and F. Rullman's, 111 Broadway.
WEBER PIANOS USED.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE. English Grand Opera Co. LAST WEEK OF ENGLISH OPERA. TO-NIGHT at 8. Last time of IL TROVATORE
Tuesday . . . . . Faust Sat. Mat. . . . . Mikado
Wed. Mat. . . . . Martha Sat. Night. . Double Bill.
Wed. Night. . . . . Carmen Pinafore & Cavalleria
Thurs. . . . Bohemian Girl Rusticana.
Friday . . . . . Aida
Every Evg., 25c. to $1.50. Box Seats, $1.00.
Wed. Mat., 25c. to $1.00. Sat. Mat., 25c. to $1.50.

CARNEGIE HALL

Only Evening Song Recital — MADAME Sembrich — To-morrow (Tues.) Evening, Dec. 11, at 8:30. An Entirely New Programme. Kindly Assisted by MR. LUDWIG BREITNER at the Piano.

Prices: $1, $1.50, $2, $2.50. Boxes, $15, $25. Tickets on sale at Schuberth's, 23 Union Square Direction. . . . . C. L. GRAFF

CARNEGIE HALL

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA Wilhelm Gericke, Conductor. Thurs. Evg., Dec. 13. GABRILOWITSCH. Sat. Aft., Dec. 15. KNEISEL.

Tickets, $1.50 to 75c. Now on sale at box office and Tyson's (5th Av. Hotel) at regular prices.

WORLD IN WAX. CINEMATOGRAPH. EDEN MUSEE Xtra attractions. Charming Concerts.

Koster & Bial's 25c Daily Mat. Evgs. 25c. up. Boxes, $1. Ezra Kendall, 5 Potter Family, Pauline Hall, Jenny Joyce, Genaro & Bailey, Gussie McKee, Julian Caicedo. 20 others

14th Street Theatre, nr. 6th Av. Mats. Wed. & Sat. Last 2 Weeks LOST RIVER "The season's hit."—Herald.

WEBER & FIELDS' MUSIC HALL. Mats. Tues. & Sat. FIDDLE-DEE-DEE AND BURLESQUE OF ARIZONA.

The New York Times.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW AND QUOTATION SUPPLEMENT.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

NEW YORK, MONDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1900. EIGHT PAGES.

STOCK EXCHANGE SUMMARY.

	Shares.
Stocks week ended Dec. 8....	3,689,271
Same week last year.....	3,500,592
To date this year.....	119,017,904
Corresponding date last year.	162,252,615
Bonds for the week.....	$24,260,500
Same week last year.....	$8,412,350
To date this year.....	$501,393,960
Corresponding date last year.	$799,327,640

Money rate range for week: Collateral loans on call, 3@6; at three months, 4½; at six months, 4½@5 per cent. Commercial paper, sixty to ninety days, 4¼@4¾ per cent.

THE WEEK'S CHANGES.

The following is a list of stocks in which there were last week net changes of 1 per cent. or more:

Stocks Advanced.

American Express	1¾	Lake Erie & W.	1
Am. S. & R.	1½	Md. Coal pf.	4
Am. Tel. & Cable	4½	Nat. Steel pf.	1
Am. Tin Plate	2¾	N. Y. C. & St. L.	1¼
Am. Tin Plate pf.	1	N. Y. C. & St. L. 1st pf.	1½
Ann Arbor	4	N. Y., C. & St. L. 2d pf.	4½
Ann Arbor pf.	1½	Pac. Coast 1st pf.	1¾
Chi. G. W. deb.	1	Peoria & East.	2¼
Chi., M. & St. P. pf.	2	Pere Marquette.	1¾
C., C., C. & St. L. pf.	1	Perc Marquette pf.	2
Del., L. & W.	1	St. J. & G. I. 1st	8½
Erie	1¾	St. J. & G. I. 2d	3
Erie 1st pf.	5⅝	St. L. & S. F. 2d	2
Erie 2d pf.	6¼	Third Avenue.	1¾
Federal Steel	1½	Twin City R. T. pf.	2
Ft. W. & R. G.	1¾	Wabash pf.	1
General Electric	1¾
Green Bay & West	7
Kanawha & Mich.	1½

Stocks Declined.

Amal. Copper	4⅜	Laclede Gas.	1½
American Ice	3	L. E. & W. pf.	2
Am. Ice pf.	½	Long Island.	5¾
Am. Steel & W. pf.	1¼	Louis. & Nash.	2
Am. Sugar Ref.	4¼	Manhattan	1
Am. Tobacco	1⅛	Met. Street Ry.	6
Anaconda Copper	2	Minn. & St. L.	1
At., T. & S. F.	2¼	M., St. P. & S. S. M.	2
Balt. & Ohio	2⅜	Mo. Pacific	1¾
Balt. & Ohio pf.	1	Nat. Lead pf.	2
Brooklyn R. T.	2¼	Nat. Salt	2⅞
Brooklyn Union Gas	⅝	Nat. Steel	2½
Can. Pacific	2⅜	N. J. Central	4¾
Ches. & Ohio	1¼	N. Y. Air Brake	1½
Chi. & Alton	8¼	N. Y. Central	1¼
Chi. & Alton pf.	1⅜	Norf & West	1¼
Chi., B. & Q.	1½	Nor. Pacific	1⅜
Chi. & E. Ill. pf.	1	Nor. Pac. pf.	1½
Chi., M. & St. P.	1½	Pacific Coast	5
Chi. & N. W.	1	People's Gas, Chi.	2⅜
Chi., R. I. & P.	1⅜	Pressed Steel Car	3½
Chi., St. P., M. & O.	1	Pressed S. Car pf.	2⅝
C., St. P., M. & O. pf.	2½	Rep. Iron & Steel.	1
Chi. Term. Tr. pf.	1	Rock-Sheff. S. & I. pf.	1½
Cleve., L. & W.	2	Southern Pacific.	1⅝
Consol. Gas	6½	Southern Ry. pf.	1½
Cont. Tobacco	3½	Tenn. C. & I.	1⅝
Cont. Tob. pf.	3½	Union Bag & P.	1⅝
Den. M. & Ft. D.	1½	Union Pacific	1⅝
Federal Steel pf.	1	Union Pacific pf.	1⅝
Gas & El., Ber. Co.	1⅝	U. S. Rubber.	2⅜
Great North. pf.	4½	U. S. Rubber pf.	7½
Hocking Valley	1½	Western Union	1½
Hocking Val. pf.	1½	Wheel. & Lake E. 2d	1
Iowa Central pf.	1½	Wis. Central pf.	1

Net changes in bonds of 1 per cent. or more were:

Bonds Advanced.

Ann Arbor 4s	2½	Ches. & Ohio 4½s	1½
Am. Sp. Mfg. 6s	1½	Chi., Ind. & L. ref. 6s	2½
Brooklyn Un. El. 1st	1	C., M. & St. P., Chi. & Mil. 7s	6
Brooklyn Ferry 5s	2½	Chi., Mil. & St. P. con. 7s	1¾
Cent. of Ga. 1st pf., Inc.	1⅞	Chi., M. & St. P., C., P. & W. 5s	1¼
Cent. of Ga. 2d pf., Inc.	1	Chi., Mil. & St. P. gen. 4s, Series A	2
Ches. & O. 6s, Series A	2½	Cons. Gas, Chi., 6s	1½
Ches. & O., R. & A. 1st con. 4s	1⅝	Denver & R. G. Imp. 5s	1
Chi., Bur. & Q. deb. 5s	2	Ed. El. Ill. of N. Y. conv. 5s	1
Chi. & Ind. Cent. Ry. 1st	3	Erie 1st con. 4s	2⅝
Erie general 4s	5⅝	Evans. & T. H. gen.	1¾
Flint & P. M. 6s	3½	Ft. W. & D. C. 1st	2½
Ft. W. & R. G. 1st	1½	Housatonic 5s	3
Ind., Ill. & Ia. ref. 6s	1½	Iowa Central 1st	1⅝
Kan. & Mich. 4s	1	Ksnsas City & Pac. 1st	2
Kings Co. Elev. 1st	3	Keokuk & D. M. 1st	1
Lake Erie & W. 2d	1⅞	Long Dock 6s	1
Long Island 5s	2¼	Louis. & Nashv. gen. 6s	4
L. & N., A. & Chi. 1st	1	Met. St. Ry. 5s	2½
Mo., K. & E. 1st	1	Mo., K. & T. ext. 5s	2½
Mo., K. & T. ext. 5s	2½	Mo. Pac. 3d 7s	1
Nash., C. & St. L. con. 5s	2⅝	N. Y. Cent. gen. 3½s	1
N. Y., L. & W. con. 5s	2½	N. Y., Sus. & West. gen.	4
Ore. R. & N. 6s	1	Ore. Sh. Line 6s	1½
Ore. Sh. Line 5s	1	Pacific Coast 1st	1½
Peoria & East. 1st	1¼	Peoria & East. inc.	5
Pitts., Ft. W. & C. 1st	1½	Rio Gr. South. 1st	1
Rich. & Dan. deb. 5s	3⅝	St. L. & S. F. 2d 6s, Class C	1½
St. L. & S. F. gen. 6s	1	St. L. & S. F. con. 4s	2¼
St. P. & Duluth 1st	1	St. P. & Duluth 2d	1⅞
St. P., M. & M. con. 6s	1⅞	Toledo, Peoria & W. 1st	1⅝
Va. Mid. gen.	1	Wabash 2d	2⅝
Wabash deb., A.	8	Wabash deb., B.	1⅛
West Shore 4s	1	Wheel. & L. E., W. Div. 5s	2½

Bonds Declined.

At., Top. & S. F. adj. 4s	1¾	Southern Pacific 4s	1⅛
Ches. & O. 6s, 1911	2½	Standard R. & T. 6s	2⅜
General Elec. deb. 5s	1	Standard R. & T. inc.	1½
Missouri Pac. tr. 5s	1	Toledo & O. C. 1st	1½
St. L. & I. M. 4s	1¼	U. S. Leather 6s	1

CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, Dec. 10.

American District Telegraph Company, Brooklyn—Dividend payable.
Butte & Boston Consolidated Mining Company—Dividend payable.
Iron Silver Mining Company—Books close.
New York Life Insurance and Trust Company—Dividend payable.

Tuesday, Dec. 11.

Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad—Special meeting.
Fisheries Company—Books close for dividend on preferred.
Havana-American Company—Books close for dividend on preferred.
New Central Coal Company—Annual meeting.
Union Square Bank—Annual meeting.

Wednesday, Dec. 12.

Continental Tobacco Company—Books close for dividend on preferred.
National Steel Company—Books close for dividend on preferred.
National Tube Company—Books close for dividend on preferred.
Portland Zinc and Lead Company—Annual meeting.

Thursday, Dec. 13.

Chicago Junction Railways and Union Stock Yards—Books close.
Consolidated Gas Company, (New York)—Dividend payable.
Henry Siebert Company—Annual meeting.

Friday, Dec. 14.

Celluloid Company—Books close.
Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad—Dividend payable.
International Paper Company—Books close for dividend on preferred.

Saturday, Dec. 15.

American Beet Sugar Company—Dividend payable Jan. 2 to holders of record this date.
American Railways Company—Dividend payable.
American Strawboard Company—Books close.
Amory Manufacturing Company—Dividend payable.
Chicago City Railway—Books close.
Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad—Books close for dividend on common and preferred.
Consolideted Lake Superior Company—Dividend payable on common and preferred.
Delaware and Hudson Railway—Dividend payable.
Eden Musée American Company, Limited—Dividend payable.
Empire State Idaho Mining and Development Company—Dividend payable.
Equitable Illuminating Gas Light Company of Philadelphia—Dividend payable on preferred.
Havana-American Company—Dividend payable on preferred.
Laclede Gas Light Company—Dividend payable on preferred.
Massachusetts Electric Companies—Dividend payable on preferred.
National Lead Company—Dividend payable on preferred.
New York and East River Ferry Company—Dividend payable.
New York and Harlem Railroad—Dividend payable Jan. 2 to holders of record this date.
New York and Honduras Rosario Mining Company—Dividend payable.
Ohio and Indiana Consolidated Natural and Illuminating Gas Company—Books close for annual meeting.
Republic Iron and Steel Company—Books close.
Rubber Goods Manufacturing Company—Dividend payable on preferred.
Southern Cotton Oil Company—Dividend payable.
Standard Oil Company—Dividend payable.
Stark Mills, Boston—Dividend payable.
United States Leather Company—Books close for dividend on preferred.
United States Regulation Fire Arms Company—Election.
Union Passenger Railway, (Philadelphia)—Dividend payable Jan. 1 to holders of record this date.
West Philadelphia Passenger Railway—Dividend payable Jan. 1 to holders of record this date.
William Cramp & Sons' Ship and Engine Building Company—Dividend payable.

THE WEEK'S TRANSACTIONS.

On the Stock Exchange for the week ended Saturday, Dec. 8, total transactions included 3,689,271 shares of stock, $24,260,500 bonds, including $147,500 Government and $48,500 State bonds.

In detail the week's dealings, compared with those of the corresponding week last year, show:

STOCKS.

	Dec. 9, '99.	Dec. 8, 1900.	Increase.
R. R. & M.	3,500,592	3,689,271	188,679
Mining	1,000	1,200	200

BONDS.

	Dec. 9, '99.	Dec. 8, 1900.	Increase.
R. R. & M.	$8,181,500	$24,064,500	$15,883,000
State	5,000	48,500	45,500
Government	225,850	147,500	*88,350

*Decrease.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call during the week loaned at 3@6 per cent., closing on Saturday at 4½ per cent.

Time money, 4¼ per cent. for sixty to ninety days, 4½@5 per cent. for four to six months. Commercial paper rates, 4¼@4½ per cent. for sixty to ninety days' indorsements, ½@5 per cent. for choice single names, and 5½ per cent. for others.

The Bank of England lost £648,896 bullion during the week, and the proportion of reserve to liabilities, which in the previous week was 42.76, became 41.60 per cent. The rate of discount remained unchanged at 4 per cent. The Bank of France lost 550,000f. gold and lost 2,075,000f. silver.

Foreign exchange market was easier. Posted rates were $4.82½ for sixty days and $4.86½ for demand. Actual rates on Saturday were $4.81½ for sixty days, $4.85½@$4.85¼ for demand, $4.85¾ for cable transfers, and $4.80½@$4.82 for commercial.

In Continental, Paris francs were quoted at 5.20@5.20, less 1-16 for long, and 5.17½ for short; reichsmarks at 94 5-16 and 94 15-16, and guilders at 40 and 40 3-16@40¼.

New York exchange was quoted as follows: Chicago—20c discount. Boston—par. San Francisco—Sight, 2½c premium; telegraphic, 5c premium. New Orleans—Commercial, $1 discount; bank, par.

OUR LONDON CABLE.

THE MONEY MARKET INACTIVE

Short Loans Plentiful at Three Per Cent.—French Exchange Ominous of Gold Withdrawals—Fears of New York Also—Chances of the Bank Rate Going to Five Per Cent.—A Small Drain of Gold Continues—The Business Situation.

Cable Correspondence.

Copyright, 1900, THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Once more to describe the state of our money market would be superfluous. We stand where we did, and every calculation as to what to-morrow is going to bring forth is falsified. All the early part of last week short loans were plentiful enough at 3 per cent., and the market paid off all the money it owed the Bank, but we were told to wait till Friday, when the £3,000,000 Exchequer bonds had to be paid, "for then you will have money tight enough." Friday came and went, and money was 3 per cent. for the week, just the same as before.

Some of the £3,000,000 had to be paid by public departments, but the bulk came from the open market, and all was found without ruffling the loan rates for an hour by more than one-quarter of 1 per cent. In the afternoon balances were offering for overnight at 2½ per cent. Yet discount does not go back, at least not more than one-sixteenth or one-eighth, and the week closed with the rate nervously close to 4 per cent., and the market fearful of many things.

French exchange keeps steadily down at a figure ominous of gold withdrawals from London to Paris. We note also that your market is stiffening up toward the end of the year and that the New York exchange is sympathetically moving adversely to us. Fears of a possible sweeping away of the gold by New York also have therefore revived, and not a day passes but hill brokers ask me, "Do you think we shall get through the year now without 5 per cent.?" My answer always is, "It is quite useless for the Bank to go to 5 per cent. while it is obliged by the Government so to flood the open market with short credits that call money would be only 2 to 3 per cent."

We ought to have had a 5 per cent. rate before now, looking at our commitments, at the increasing excess of our import values over export, at the slender amount of our stock of bullion, and the

Continued on Page 6.

Sales of Stocks on the New York Stock Exchange Week Ended Dec. 8, 1900.

Range for Year 1900. Highest.	Range for Year 1900. Lowest.	Closing Sat., Dec. 8. Bid.	Closing Sat., Dec. 8. Ask'd	Net Ch'nge Past Week.	STOCKS. Sales Week Ended Dec. 8, 3,689,271.	Amount Capi'l Stock Outstanding.	Last Dividend. Date.	Last Dividend. Per Cent.	Period.	Week Ended Dec. 8. First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Closing a Year Ago.	Sales Week Ended Dec. 8, '00.
140 November 12.	114 January 6.	140	148	..	Adams Express Company	$12,000,000	Dec. 1, 1900.	†4	SA	139	143	139	139	112	114
99½ November 23.	90¼ December 7.	91	91¼	— 4⅛	Amalgamated Copper Company	75,000,000	Oct. 29, 1900.	†2	Q	96	96	90¼	91	...	138,586
25½ November 12.	12½ January 15.	20¼	20⅝	— ⅝	American Car & Foundry Company	30,000,000	Nov. 1, 1900.	½	Q	20½	21¼	19⅞	20¼	14¼	9,091
69½ November 12.	57⅜ June 25.	67½	68	+ ½	American Car & Foundry Company pf.	30,000,000	Nov. 1, 1900.	1¾	Q	67	67⅞	66¼	67¼	59	12,514
37¾ April 7.	30 June 25.	30½	31	— ½	American Cotton Oil	20,237,100	Dec. 1, 1900.	3½	A	31½	31½	30½	30½	34½	1,425
100 April 5.	88¾ September 19.	90	91	..	American Cotton Oil pf.	10,198,600	Dec. 1, 1900.	3	SA	90	90	90	90	96	258
37 November 27.	24⅛ January 4.	32	37	— ⅝	American District Telegraph	3,845,000	Nov. 15, 1900.	1¼	SA	35¼	35¼	35¼	35¼	...	110
165⅜ November 16.	145 January 18.	160	165	+ 1⅝	American Express	18,000,000	July 2, 1900.	3	SA	164¾	164¾	164¾	164¾	145	124
49½ April 4.	27½ June 26.	39	40	— 3	American Ice Company	22,939,100	Nov. 15, 1900.	1	Q	41⅞	42	37½	39	32½	8,210
78½ February 3.	60½ June 19.	69	71	— 1½	American Ice Company pf.	12,440,000	Oct. 15, 1900.	1¼	Q	70	70	70	70	74½	200
16¼ February 6.	6 November 19.	7⅜	7⅞	+ ⅝	American Linseed Company	16,750,000	..	..	..	7½	8	7½	7⅞	11¼	4,548
60 February 5.	36 November 20.	38¼	39	+ ⅝	American Linseed Company pf.	16,750,000	Sept. 15, 1900.	1½	..	37½	41¼	37½	38⅝	51⅞	13,066
7¾ January 2.	3 June 12.	4½	5½	— ½	American Malting Company	14,600,000	..	..	..	5¼	5¼	5	5	8¼	800
31½ January 2.	18⅞ June 27.	25⅞	26	— ½	American Malting Company pf.	14,400,000	Oct. 15, '99.	1½	..	26	26½	25½	25½	40	350
54½ November 19.	34½ June 18.	53⅞	54	+ 1½	American Smelting & Refining Company	27,000,000	..	..	..	52½	54	50¾	54	35½	21,006
90 November 17.	85 June 25.	96½	96½	..	American Smelting & Refining Company pf.	27,000,000	Oct. 9, 1900.	1½	Q	96½	97	95	96¼	88	3,487
50½ February 6.	17 June 25.	27¾	28	— ⅝	American Steel Hoop Company	19,000,000	..	..	..	28½	28½	27	27¾	42	8,760
86 February 6.	64¼ September 28.	76	77	+ ½	American Steel Hoop Company pf.	14,000,000	Oct. 31, 1900.	1½	Q	76	76½	75	76½	78½	1,510
59⅞ April 2.	28½ June 25.	42¾	43	— ½	American Steel & Wire Company	50,000,000	Oct. 2, 1900.	1½	Q	43½	43¾	40½	42⅞	39⅞	92,775
95 February 1.	60½ June 25.	84¼	86	— 1¼	American Steel & Wire Company pf.	40,000,000	Oct. 2, 1900.	1½	Q	86⅞	86⅞	84	85	91	10,500
137½ January 4.	85¼ March 3.	123¾	123¾	— 4½	American Sugar Refining Company	24,968,000	Oct. 2, 1900.	1½	Q	130½	133½	122¾	123¾	139½	337,905
118 July 14.	107 March 2.	114¾	115	— ½	American Sugar Refining Company pf.	24,968,000	Oct. 2, 1900.	1½	Q	117	117½	114½	114½	118	1,210
96½ December 6.	89 October 3.	93	96	+ 4½	American Telegraph & Cable Company	9,400,000	Dec. 1, 1900.	1½	Q	95	96½	95	96½	97¾	636
45¼ November 19.	18 June 23.	44⅞	45	+ 2¾	American Tin Plate Company	23,000,000	..	..	..	42½	44⅞	41⅜	44⅞	25⅞	18,584
89⅞ November 21.	70¾ June 25.	87	87⅜	+ 1	American Tin Plate Company pf.	18,325,000	Oct. 31, 1900.	1¾	Q	87½	88	87½	88	75	633
113 November 21.	94½ June 25.	105½	105½	— 1⅞	American Tobacco Company	54,600,000	Nov. 1, 1900.	1½	Q	107	108	104¾	105¼	104	78,425
140 February 15.	128 May 17.	135	140	..	American Tobacco Company pf.	14,000,000	Nov. 1, 1900.	2	Q	137	137	137	137	...	60
54⅞ April 3.	37⅛ June 25.	47	47¼	— 2	Anaconda Copper Mining Company	30,000,000	Oct. 27, 1900.	†2	SA	49	49	46½	47	40½	11,630
23 December 5.	16 September 12.	20	23	+ 4	Ann Arbor	8,250,000	..	..	..	23	23	23	23	...	100
54½ December 5.	40¼ July 24.	53	54	+ 1½	Ann Arbor pf.	4,000,000	..	..	..	51	54½	51	53½	44	1,800
41 November 21.	18⅝ January 8.	38¾	38½	— 2⅛	Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe	102,000,000	..	..	..	38⅞	40⅜	37⅞	38⅞	21¼	98,855
86 November 21.	58¼ January 11.	83½	83¼	— ¾	Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe pf.	114,199,500	Aug. 1, 1900.	2½	SA	83⅝	84⅞	82½	83¼	64⅞	146,689
89⅞ April 19.	35¼ January 8.	78⅝	78⅞	— 2⅜	Baltimore & Ohio	45,000,000	Sept. 4, 1900.	2	SA	80	80¼	78⅝	78¼	55	26,897
90 April 16.	72⅜ January 9.	84¾	84½	— 1	Baltimore & Ohio pf.	59,227,000	Sept. 4, 1900.	2	SA	85½	86¾	84½	84⅝	79⅝	7,820
80½ April 10.	47⅛ September 25.	70¼	70½	— 2¼	Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company	45,000,000	..	..	..	72¾	73	69½	70⅝	31⅝	102,150
181 November 19.	140 January 2.	175	179	— 3½	Brooklyn Union Gas	15,000,000	Dec. 1, 1900.	4	SA	176	176	175	175	137½	238
16⅝ January 25.	6½ June 25.	8⅝	9	— ⅛	Brunswick City	5,000,000	..	..	..	8½	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝	14⅞	120
59¼ November 26.	47⅝ February 27.	58¼	58½	— ¼	Canada Southern	15,000,000	Aug. 1, 1900.	1	SA	58⅝	58⅝	58	58¼	52½	4,900
90¾ February 13.	84⅛ September 28.	85½	86½	— 2¾	Canadian Pacific	65,000,000	Oct. 1, 1900.	2½	SA	85½	85⅞	85¼	85¼	94½	140
39⅛ December 1.	24 June 25.	36⅞	37	— 1½	Chesapeake & Ohio	60,538,400	..	..	..	38½	38½	36¾	37	29⅝	76,715
42 December 1.	31 October 25.	38½	38¼	— 3½	Chicago & Alton	30,000,000	..	..	..	41½	41½	37⅝	38¼	...	48,159
77½ November 30.	68½ November 1.	75⅞	76⅞	— 1⅝	Chicago & Alton pf.	20,000,000	..	..	..	77¼	77½	75¾	75¾	...	12,467
139 November 21.	119⅝ January 10.	134⅞	135	— 1½	Chicago, Burlington & Quincy	98,624,500	Sept. 15, 1900.	1½	Q	136¾	137¾	134½	134½	136¼	30,736
109 March 27.	88 January 31.	96½	97½	— ¾	Chicago & Eastern Illinois	6,197,800	July 2, 1900.	†2	SA	97¾	97½	97½	97½	95	500
125 August 15.	120 January 17.	121	122	— 1	Chicago & Eastern Illinois pf.	5,830,700	Oct. 1, 1900.	1½	Q	122¾	122¾	121½	121½	...	600

Stock Transactions New York Stock Exchange Week Ended Dec. 8, 1900.—Continued.

Range for Year 1900. Highest.	Range for Year 1900. Lowest.	Closing Bid. Dec. 8	Closing Ask'd	Net Change Past Week.	STOCKS.	Amount Cap'l Stock Outstanding	Last Dividend. Date.	Last Dividend. Per Cent.	Period.	Week Ended Dec. 8. First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Closing a Year Ago	Sales Week Ended Dec. 8 '00.
15¼ Anril 2.	9⅝ September 25.	14⅝	14¾	..	Chicago Great Western	21,310,800
79¼ November 12.	68½ August 22.	78½	79	+ ½	Chicago Great Western pf. A	11,371,800	July 31, 1900.	3½	SA	78	78½	78	78½	80	850
42 March 31.	30 June 23.	38½	38¾	— ⅛	Chicago Great Western pf. B	7,499,100				38¾	39¾	38¾	39¾	40½	300
92 December 7.	81 June 19.	91½	92	+ 1	Chicago Great Western debentures	20,126,500	July 15, 1900.	2	SA	90¾	92	90¾	91½	91	4,400
29 April 18.	24 January 15.	23½	24	— ⅛	Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville	10,000,000				24	24	24	24	14½	1,600
63⅛ April 4.	45¼ January 24.	56½	57	— ⅛	Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville pf	5,000,000	Oct. 15, 1900.	2	SA	58	58	57	57	49	1,130
130 November 22.	108½ June 25.	125⅝	125⅞	— 1½	Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul	47,147,600	Oct. 22, 1900.	2½	SA	127¼	129⅝	125½	125¾	122	66,135
178 December 7.	169½ January 18.	177½	...	+ 2	Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul pf	42,688,900	Oct. 22, 1900.	2½	SA	176	178	176	178	173	1,508
170 November 21.	150¾ June 25.	166	167½	— 1	Chicago & Northwestern	39,116,300	July 6, 1900.	3	SA	167¼	169½	167	167	165	2,910
212 December 6.	195⅝ May 9.	...	...	+ ½	Chicago & Northwestern pf	22,398,600	Oct. 5, 1900.	1¾	Q	211¼	212	211½	212	201	600
117¾ November 23.	102 June 25.	113⅝	113¾	— 1⅜	Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific	80,000,000	Nov. 1, 1900.	1¼	Q	115¼	115¾	113½	113¾	111½	17,825
128 November 17.	110 October 9.	120	121	— 1	Chicago, St. Paul, Minn. & Omaha	21,403,200	Feb. 20, 1900.	5	A	121	121	121	121	123	100
175 March 3.	172 February 8.	170	180	— 2½	Chicago, St. Paul, Minn. & Omaha pf	12,640,800	Aug. 20, 1900.	3½	SA	172½	172½	172½	172½	175	160
13⅝ April 27.	8⅛ October 18.	9½	10½	+ ⅛	Chicago Terminal Transfer	18,666,666	.....	..	..	10½	10½	10½	10½	12	100
39¾ April 27.	26½ October 18.	28½	29	— 1	Chicago Terminal Transfer pf	17,666,000	.....	..	..	29½	29½	29	29	30	310
68¾ November 22.	55 June 19.	66½	67	— ⅛	Cleveland, Cin., Chicago & St. Louis	22,000,000	Sept. 1, 1900.	1½	SA	67½	67½	65¾	66¾	66⅝	6,100
115 October 3.	103¾ June 1.	113	114	+ 1	Cleveland, Cin., Chicago & St. Louis pf	10,000,000	Oct. 20, 1900.	1¾	Q	114	114	113¾	114	106	450
30 November 15.	14½ January 10.	23	27	— 2	Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling	8,000,000	.....	..	..	27	27	27	27	15¼	100
72 April 19.	46 January 2.	62	66	..	Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling pf	5,000,000	Oct. 2, '98.	1½	..	66	66	66	66	65	105
187 July 30.	*185½ July 3.	184	...	..	Cleveland & Pittsburg	11,242,700	Dec. 1, 1900.	1¾	Q	187¼	187½	187½	187¼	...	16
54⅝ November 22.	29¼ September 24.	51⅝	52	+ ⅜	Colorado Fuel & Iron	17,000,000	.....	..	..	51½	51⅝	49½	52	49	24,260
131¼ January 17.	117 October 19.	118	124	..	Colorado Fuel & Iron pf	2,000,000	Oct., 1900.	8	..	122	122	122	122	130	100
7⅝ March 22.	5 September 25.	7	7½	— ⅛	Colorado Southern	30,995,000	.....	..	..	7⅛	7⅛	6¾	7	5¾	1,650
47½ March 27.	36 September 22.	42¾	43¼	..	Colorado Southern 1st pf	8,500,000	Feb. 15, 1900.	2	..	42½	43	42¾	43	45½	657
20¼ March 21.	14 September 24.	17	17½	— ⅛	Colorado Southern 2d pf	8,500,000	.....	..	..	17¼	17¾	17½	17½	16¼	315
21 April 2.	11½ June 28.	15	16	— ½	Columbus & Hocking Coal & Iron	4,750,000	.....	..	..	15½	15½	15½	15½	17¾	100
201 November 17.	164 September 21.	187¾	187¾	— 6¼	Consolidated Gas	71,539,108	Sept. 15, 1900.	2	Q	193½	195½	186¾	187	180½	15,370
38¼ November 21.	21½ May 21.	32¾	33	— 3¼	Continental Tobacco Company	42,845,000	.....	..	..	33½	36¾	32½	32¾	33¾	31,640
95 November 20.	70 May 12.	85¼	86½	— 3⅜	Continental Tobacco Company pf	48,845,700	Oct. 1, 1900.	1¾	Q	82¼	82¾	82	86¼	86	7,711
119½ March 28.	106½ September 20.	115	116	+ ⅛	Delaware & Hudson	35,000,000	Sept. 15, 1900.	1½	Q	116	116	115½	115⅝	116¾	1,588
188 February 20.	171¼ September 19.	182	183½	+ 1	Delaware, Lackawanna & Western	28,200,000	Oct. 20, 1900.	1¾	Q	182	184½	182	183	183½	2,700
26½ December 7.	16¼ June 22.	25	25⅜	— ⅛	Denver & Rio Grande	38,000,000	.....	..	..	25	26¼	24⅜	25¼	20	27,020
80½ December 6.	64½ June 18.	78⅝	78½	— ⅛	Denver & Rio Grande pf	23,650,000	July 6, 1900.	2	SA	78⅝	80¼	78¼	78¾	72	48,287
19 March 26.	12 June 30.	16¾	17	— 1½	Des Moines & Fort Dodge	4,282,100	.....	..	..	15½	16¾	15¼	16¾	16¾	400
98¾ June 14.	89 September 25.	...	...	+ ¼	Detroit City Gas Company	2,944,300	Nov. 15, 1900.	2½	SA	90	90¼	90	90¼	97	400
6¼ March 5.	4 June 2.	4½	5¼	..	Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic	12,000,000	.....	..	..	5	5	5	5	6¾	100
17 December 6.	10½ September 26.	16¾	16¾	+ '	Erie	112,847,400	.....	..	..	14¾	17	14	16¾	12¼	78,300
46½ December 8.	30⅝ September 22.	46	46¾	+ 5⅝	Erie 1st pf	42,882,800	.....	..	..	40¼	46½	40¼	46¼	36¾	127,356
27½ December 8.	15 September 24.	27¼	27¾	+ 6¼	Erie 2d pf	16,080,000	.....	..	..	21	27½	20½	27¼	18	26,638
122⅜ February 23.	101 January 3.	104¾	105	— ½	Erie Tel. & Tel	10,000,000	Oct. 8, 1900.	1¾	Q	104¾	104¾	104¾	104¾	...	100
64⅝ March 15.	36½ October 9.	41	41¼	— ⅝	Evansville & Terre Haute	4,000,000	Nov. 1, 1900.	1½	SA	41¾	41¾	41¾	41¾	44½	300
94½ April 19.	74 October 9.	79	81	..	Evansville & Terre Haute pf	1,284,000	Oct. 16, 1900.	2½	SA	81	81	81	81	...	100
57⅝ February 6.	28¾ June 25.	51	51¼	+ 1⅞	Federal Steel Company	48,434,300	Mar. 20, 1900.	2½	..	48⅝	51⅝	48	51¼	56	106,285
77¾ November 21.	60¾ June 26.	76½	77	— 1	Federal Steel Company pf	53,261,000	Oct. 20, 1900.	1¾	Q	76½	76¾	75	75¾	78⅛	7,844
17 November 22.	14½ April 4.	...	...	..	Fort Worth & Denver City	2,555,000	Mar. 15, '98.	2	..	14¼	14½	14¼	14½	...	15
26½ December 8.	15 June 1.	26	26½	+ 1	Fort Worth & Rio Grande	3,103,100	.....	..	..	24	26½	24	26½	...	800
81 July 17.	64 May 17.	...	...	— 1⅞	Gas & Electric Co. of Bergen County	2,000,000	.....	..	..	68¾	68¾	68¾	68¾	...	200
171¼ November 19.	120 January 10.	169⅝	170	+ 1½	General Electric Company	10,369,500	Oct. 15, 1900.	2	Q	167¼	169¼	166½	169¼	124	4,220
60 November 12.	44 May 15.	52¼	54	— ¾	Glucose Sugar Refining Company	24,027,300	Dec. 1, 1900.	1½	Q	53	53	52¾	52¾	48¾	1,970
103 November 14.	98 January 2.	100	103	..	Glucose Sugar Refining Company pf	13,083,300	Dec. 1, 1900.	1½	Q	102	103¼	101	103½	99	100
183 November 19.	144¾ June 22.	177½	178	— 4¼	Great Northern pf	88,417,250	Nov. 1, 1900.	1½	Q	182	182	177½	177¼	174	2,552
47 December 6.	40 November 27.	...	...	+ 7	Green Bay & Western	2,500,000	Feb. 1, 1900.	2½	..	45½	47	45½	47	...	300
41½ April 21.	30 September 21.	38½	39	— 1¾	Hocking Valley	10,348,609	.....	..	..	40	40½	38½	38¾	33½	2,300
72¾ December 3.	58 January 8.	71½	72¼	— 1⅛	Hocking Valley pf	13,234,560	July 16, 1900.	2	SA	72½	72¾	70¾	71¼	63	6,988
126⅝ November 21.	110 June 25.	123	124	..	Illinois Central	60,000,000	Sept. 1, 1900.	3	SA	125	125	123½	125	113⅞	2,820
26½ November 9.	14½ March 6.	22½	23	— ⅛	International Paper Company	17,442,900	July 1, '00.	1	..	23	23⅝	22¾	22¾	19¾	2,970
75 November 12.	58 March 6.	73	73½	— ⅝	International Paper Company pf	22,569,700	Oct. 1, 1900.	1½	Q	73	73	72¾	73	67½	1,570
52¼ December 8.	24 June 30.	51	51¼	+ ½	International Power Company	6,400,000	.....	..	..	51⅜	52¼	50½	52	...	2,550
10⅞ June 25.	3¼ August 2.	4	5	— ⅛	International Silver Company	10,000,000	.....	..	..	4⅜	4⅝	4½	4½	12	710
21⅜ November 16.	11⅛ January 12.	19½	20	— ⅝	Iowa Central	8,512,900	.....	..	..	20¼	20⅝	19¾	19¾	13	900
58 March 30.	39 September 27.	44¾	45	— 1½	Iowa Central pf	5,671,600	Mar. 1, 1900.	1½	..	46	46¾	44½	44½	56½	545
20 November 27.	10 January 2.	18¾	19½	+ 1½	Kanawha & Michigan	9,000,000	.....	..	..	17	19⅝	17	19	11	2,581
17½ April 19.	7 September 10.	13	13½	..	Kansas City Southern	29,903,500	.....	..	..	12½	13¼	12⅝	13	...	900
43⅝ April 3.	27¼ September 10.	36⅞	37	— ⅝	Kansas City Southern pf	21,000,000	.....	..	..	36	37	36	37	...	1,000
80 January 5.	65 May 10.	69	71	— 1½	Laclede Gas	8,014,400	Sept. 15, 1900.	2	SA	73	73	70½	70½	83¾	1,000
39¾ November 10.	20¾ March 16.	35½	37¼	+ 1	Lake Erie & Western	11,840,000	.....	..	..	35	37	35	37	20	700
110 October 22.	83¼ February 2.	105	106	— 2	Lake Erie & Western pf	11,840,000	July 16, 1900.	2	..	108	108⅛	108	108	80	400
89 May 5.	47¼ January 4.	66	74	— 5¾	Long Island	12,000,000	Nov. 2, '96.	1	..	76	70	69	69	...	500
87⅜ April 2.	69¾ September 22.	82½	82¼	— 2	Louisville & Nashville	52,900,600	Aug. 10, 1900.	2	SA	83⅛	84¼	81⅝	82	82⅝	72,303
114½ November 22.	84 June 25.	107⅞	108	— 1	Manhattan Elevated	48,000,000	Oct. 1, 1900.	1	Q	106⅞	110¼	107½	108	101⅛	70,600
81 March 23.	74 September 18.	78	85	+ 4	Maryland Coal pf	1,876,000	June 30, 1900.	2	SA	79	79	79	79	...	195
182 February 13.	143¾ September 26.	164¾	165	— 6	Metropolitan Street Railway	45,000,000	Oct. 15, 1900.	1¾	Q	170¾	171⅝	163¼	165	183½	30,070
14¾ April 18.	10¼ January 8.	12⅝	13	— ½	Mexican Central	36,000,000	.....	..	..	13¼	13½	13	13	12	1,400
5 March 17.	2⅝ September 26.	3½	4	— ⅛	Mexican National certificates	83,350,000	.....	..	..	3⅝	3⅝	3¼	3½	4	325
*115 June 8.	105 July 23.	105	...	..	Michigan Central	18,738,000	July 28, 1900.	2	SA	105	105	105	105	...	20
69¾ March 28.	45¼ June 18.	64½	65	— 1	Minneapolis & St. Louis	6,000,000	July 16, 1900.	1½	..	65¼	65¼	64	64¾	64	2,450
104½ November 19.	87½ June 18.	99½	100½	— ¼	Minneapolis & St. Louis pf	4,000,000	July 16, 1900.	2½	SA	100¾	100¾	99¾	99¾	97½	490
21 April 24.	14 September 20.	16	18	— 2	Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie	14,000,000	.....	..	..	16¾	16¾	16¾	16¾	...	200
13½ December 6.	9 September 19.	13¼	13¼	+ ¼	Missouri, Kansas & Texas	55,181,000	.....	..	..	13¾	13¾	12⅝	13½	12	1,325
40¾ April 17.	25⅜ September 22.	37⅝	38	— ⅝	Missouri, Kansas & Texas pf	13,000,000	.....	..	..	38	38⅞	37	37⅝	36⅛	15,880
61½ April 16.	38⅝ January 11.	59¼	59⅝	— 1⅝	Missouri Pacific	50,432,150	July 1, '98.	1	..	60⅜	61¼	59	59¾	45½	81,670
48½ April 2.	35 June 25.	40¼	...	+ ¾	Mobile & Ohio	5,320,600	Feb. 28, '98.	1	..	42	42¾	41½	41¾	43	700
40¼ February 7.	27¾ June 18.	36½	37	— ⅝	National Biscuit Company	29,600,000	Oct. 15, 1900.	1	Q	37⅝	38¼	36¼	37	35	3,278
96 February 7.	79½ June 18.	90	92	— ¾	National Biscuit Company pf	23,000,000	Nov. 30, 1900.	1¾	Q	92¾	92¾	91	91	92¼	563
28¾ February 6.	15⅞ August 11.	18¾	19	— ¾	National Lead Company	14,905,400	Mar. 1, 1900.	1	A	19¼	19¼	18¾	18¾	26⅝	1,100
106½ February 20.	83 August 11.	92¼	95½	— 2	National Lead Company pf	14,304,000	Sept. 15, 1900.	1¾	Q	93½	93½	92½	92½	105	435
46 November 15.	32¼ October 19.	37¼	38	— 2⅞	National Salt Company	7,000,000	Dec. 1, 1900.	1½	Q	39¾	39¾	37¾	37¾	...	928
76¾ November 14.	69 November 5.	70	72	— ½	National Salt Company pf	5,000,000	Nov. 1, 1900.	1¾	Q	72	72	70	70½	...	560
53½ February 6.	20 June 23.	33	36	— 2½	National Steel Company	32,000,000	.....	..	..	36¾	36¾	33	34¾	40¾	11,840
97 February 6.	79¾ June 26.	93	94	+ 1	National Steel Company pf	27,000,000	Sept. 29, 1900.	1¾	Q	92½	96	92¼	93	90½	1,910
64¾ November 19.	40⅞ June 25.	60¼	61	— ¾	National Tube Company	40,000,000	Nov. 15, 1900.	1½	Q	61	61	60	60¼	...	10,292
106¼ November 17.	86¾ May 14.	*103	103½	— ⅜	National Tube Company pf	40,000,000	Oct. 1, 1900.	1¾	Q	104	104¼	103	103⅝	...	2,868
150½ December 1.	115 January 6.	144½	145	— 4¾	New Jersey Central	27,123,900	Nov. 1, 1900.	1¼	Q	150	150	144	145	117	3,900
175 November 30.	112 September 25.	164	168	— 1½	New York Air Brake	6,250,000	Oct. 15, 1900.	2	Q	170	172	164	167½	145	2,572
143¾ December 3.	125⅝ June 25.	141⅜	142	— 1¼	New York Central	115,000,000	Oct. 15, 1900.	1¼	Q	142⅝	143⅜	140⅞	141⅝	132¼	35,391
298 December 3.	298 December 3.	...	...	..	New York Mutual Gas	3,500,000	.....	..	..	298	298	298	298	...	130
17¾ December 8.	11 June 20.	17⅝	17½	+ 1½	New York, Chicago & St. Louis	14,000,000	.....	..	..	16¾	17⅝	15½	17⅝	13	8,700
99½ December 8.	75 June 20.	99¾	100	+ 1½	New York, Chicago & St. Louis 1st pf	5,000,000	Mar. 1, 1900.	5	..	98	99½	98	99½	80½	500
46¾ December 7.	29 June 20.	45⅞	46	+ 1⅞	New York, Chicago & St. Louis 2d pf	11,000,000	.....	..	..	41	46¾	41	45⅞	34½	10,620
134 February 28.	130 February 2.	133	135	..	New York, Lackawanna & Western	10,000,000	Oct. 1, 1900.	1¼	Q	134	134	134	134	132¼	50
26½ March 28.	18¼ June 20.	25	25½	..	New York, Ontario & Western	58,113,900	.....	..	..	25	25⅞	24⅝	25	24¼	19,300
45 November 21.	22¾ January 10.	41⅛	41⅜	— 1⅞	Norfolk & Western	66,000,000	.....	..	..	42¾	43	41	41¼	25⅞	16,750
82½ November 19.	67 January 8.	81	82	+ ⅞	Norfolk & Western pf	23,000,000	Aug. 24, 1900.	2	SA	81½	82	81¼	81½	63	640
21 November 21.	13¾ January 23.	18¾	19	— ½	North American	39,776,300	.....	..	..	20	20	18¾	19	14⅞	18,670
74¼ November 21.	45¾ September 29.	69⅜	69½	— 1⅝	Northern Pacific	80,000,000	Nov. 30, 1900.	1	..	70⅝	71¼	69¼	69⅝	54⅞	75,602
86⅝ November 20.	67 September 27.	81¾	82	— 1⅛	Northern Pacific pf	75,000,000	Sept. 1, 1900.	1	Q	82¾	83	81⅝	81¾	75¼	15,277
62 November 20.	46 May 12.	57	57½	— 5	Pacific Coast	6,800,600	Nov. 1, 1900.	1	Q	58	58	57	57	...	400
89⅝ December 3.	82¼ September 20.	85	91	+ 1⅝	Pacific Coast 1st pf	1,515,560	Nov. 1, 1900.	1¼	Q	89¾	89¾	89¾	89¾	84½	300
57 November 10.	25¾ June 11.	43	43½	+ ½	Pacific Mail	20,000,000	Dec. 1, '99.	1½	..	46	49½	43¼	43½	42⅝	15,072
144⅜ November 19.	124⅜ September 22.	141⅞	142	— ½	Pennsylvania Railroad	151,700,000	Nov. 30, 1900.	1¾	SA	142¾	143⅝	141½	141¾	133½	65,803
111½ April 2.	81¾ October 11.	97¾	98	— 2⅝	People's Gas, Chicago	28,668,800	Nov. 24, 1900.	1½	Q	100	101	96¾	98	108⅝	56,148
4 May 1.	1¼ September 28.	..	..	+ ¼	Peoria, Decatur & Evansville	8,400,000	.....	..	..	1¾	2½	1½	2⅜	4⅛	4,700
12⅜ December 6.	5 June 19.	10	11	+ 2¼	Peoria & Eastern	10,000,000	.....	..	..	8½	12⅜	8½	10¾	6	9,470
33⅞ December 7.	20 January 29.	33½	34	+ 1⅞	Pere Marquette	14,145,000	.....	..	..	31½	33⅞	31½	33⅞	...	2,000
67 December 7.	54¼ March 22.	66	67	+ 2	Pere Marquette pf	10,512,200	.....	..	..	65	67	65	67	...	500
94 January 8.	78 June 25.	85½	86½	+ ½	Pittsburg, Cin., Chi. & St. Louis pf	22,649,200	July 16, 1900.	2	SA	86	86½	85½	85½	88	300
58¾ January 17.	32¼ September 26.	48¾	49	— 3½	Pressed Steel Car	12,500,000	Nov. 19, 1900.	1½	Q	52¼	52¼	48⅛	48⅛	55	5,325
89½ November 10.	70¾ September 26.	82¾	83	— 2¾	Pressed Steel Car pf	12,500,000	Nov. 26, 1900.	1¾	Q	85¾	85¾	83	83	88½	1,750
204 December 3.	176 June 25.	200	202	..	Pullman Company	74,000,000	Nov. 15, 1900.	2	Q	202	204	199¼	200	190¼	5,202
21½ April 4.	15 September 22.	20	20¼	+ ⅜	Reading	69,900,000	.....	..	..	20	21	19½	20⅛	19	38,400
66¾ April 5.	49 January 9.	63⅜	63⅝	..	Reading 1st pf	28,000,000	Sept. 10, 1900.	1½	SA	63½	64⅜	62¾	63½	55⅞	122,094
35⅝ April 5.	23⅝ September 24.	31½	31⅔	..	Reading 2d pf	42,000,000	.....	..	..	31¾	32⅜	30¾	31½	29	12,660
27½ February 6.	8¾ June 25.	15¼	15⅜	— 1	Republic Iron & Steel	27,191,980	.....	..	..	16	16½	15	15¼	20¼	5,685
70¾ February 6.	49 August 1.	64½	65	— ⅛	Republic Iron & Steel pf	20,306,900	Oct. 1, 1900.	1¾	Q	65½	65½	64½	64⅝	67¼	4,683
94¾ November 22.	80 January 16.	91½	94½	— ⅝	Rio Grande Western pf	7,500,000	Nov. 1, 1900.	1½	Q	94¾	94¾	94	94	89	200
131¾ March 26.	131¾ March 26.	133	...	..	Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg	10,500,000	Nov. 15, 1900.	1¼	Q	134½	134½	134½	134½	134	20
8¾ December 6.	5 May 24.	8½	8¾	+ ⅛	St. Joseph & Grand Island	4,600,000	.....	..	..	8	8⅞	8	8¾	6¾	5,350
63½ December 7.	38¼ May 26.	62½	62¾	+ 9½	St. Joseph & Grand Island 1st pf	5,491,000	Aug. 15, 1900.	1	..	55	63½	55	62⅝	51¾	6,713
21½ December 6.	11⅝ June 26.	21	21¼	+ 3	St. Joseph & Grand Island 2d pf	3,500,000	.....	..	..	18½	21½	18½	21	16¾	5,183
20¾ November 27.	8¾ June 25.	19⅝	19⅞	+ ⅜	St. Louis & San Francisco	26,443,980	.....	..	..	18¾	20⅜	17⅜	19⅜	10⅜	22,438
76 November 28.	64 September 25.	75¾	76½	..	St. Louis & San Francisco 1st pf	5,000,000	July 6, 1900.	2	SA	76	76	76	76	71	600
50 December 7.	31½ June 23.	49	49½	+ 3	St. Louis & San Francisco 2d pf	14,335,700	Sept. 5, 1900.	1	SA	46½	50	45½	49½	35⅜	15,650
16½ December 3.	8⅜ June 30.	14¾	15¼	— ⅜	St. Louis Southwestern	16,500,000	.....	..	..	15⅞	16½	15¼	15¼	11¼	9,570
39 December 3.	21⅞ June 23.	37	37⅜	+ ⅛	St. Louis Southwestern pf	20,000,000	.....	..	..	37⅝	39	36¾	37¼	29⅜	37,727
26 November 21.	17¼ October 20.	22	25	..	Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Company	.....	.....	..	..	24	24	24	24	...	100
71 November 20.	59¼ June 25.	68	70	— 1½	Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Company pf	6,700,000	Oct. 2, 1900.	1¾	Q	69¼	69½	68	68	...	900
43¾ November 19.	30⅜ June 18.	40⅜	40¾	— 1⅝	Southern Pacific	197,832,100	.....	..	..	42¼	42⅞	40½	40⅝	40⅝	133,405
18⅝ December 3.	10⅝ June 25.	17⅜	17¾	— ⅝	Southern Railway	119,900,000	.....	..	..	18¼	18⅝	17⅜	17⅝	12½	112,561
69¼ December 3.	49½ June 25.	66⅜	66¼	— 1¼	Southern Railway pf	60,000,000	Oct. 16, 1900.	1½	SA	67¾	68½	66¼	66½	56⅞	53,382
10¼ January 4.	4½ March 6.	5	5¼	— ¼	Standard Rope & Twine	12,000,000	.....	..	..	5½	6	5¼	5¼	10½	250
104 February 2.	49 October 3.	57⅝	58	—14¼	Tennessee Coal & Iron	22,553,600	Nov. 1, 1900.	2	Q	71½	72¼	56½	58	104	118,160
21¼ December 5.	13¼ June 25.	20	20¼	+ ⅝	Texas Pacific	38,706,700	.....	..	..	19⅝	21¼	19⅜	20½	16¾	55,035
17⅜ October 22.	11¼ January 17.	16½	17	+ ⅛	Texas Pacific & Land Trust	8,840,000	.....	..	..	16	16¾	15¾	16½	13½	1,600
135¼ January 3.	45¼ March 2.	114½	115	+ 1¼	Third Avenue	16,000,000	Nov. 29, '99.	1¼	..	114¾	116¼	113	114¼	145	4,542
68½ January 24.	61¼ July 5.	66	67	+ ⅝	Twin City Rapid Transit	15,010,000	Aug. 15, 1900.	1½	SA	67	67	67	67	...	370
146 December 7.	136 January 2.	143	...	+ 2	Twin City Rapid Transit pf	3,000,000	Oct. 1, 1900.	1¾	Q	146	146	146	146	137	225
25 February 7.	10 June 18.	17	18	— 1⅜	Union Bag & Paper Company	16,000,000	.....	..	..	17½	17¾	16¼	17	22	3,000
77¾ February 2.	56½ May 9.	74½	76	..	Union Bag & Paper Company pf	11,000,000	Oct. 1, 1900.	1¾	Q	76½	76¼	76½	76½	79	25
71½ November 21.	44¾ January 10.	70¾	71	— 1⅝	Union Pacific	95,878,500	Oct. 1, 1900.	2	SA	72⅛	72½	70¼	71	49	109,644
83¼ November 21.	70½ June 23.	80¾	81	— 1⅝	Union Pacific pf	99,405,100	Oct. 1, 1900.	2	SA	82	82⅜	80¾	80½	75⅝	19,589
50 November 12.	45¼ August 23.	50	51½	+ ½	United States Express	10,000,000	Nov. 15, 1900.	1½	SA	49⅞	50	49¾	50	48	607
19 January 3.	7⅜ June 25.	12¾	12⅞	— ¾	United States Leather	61,509,900	.....	..	..	13⅜	14⅛	12¼	12⅜	12¼	46,225
79¼ November 12.	65 June 25.	74⅜	75	— ½	United States Leather pf	60,909,900	Oct. 1, 1900.	1½	Q	75½	75¾	74⅜	74⅞	77½	2,460
44 January 2.	21 July 6.	25½	25⅞	— 2¾	United States Rubber	23,686,000	Apl. 30, 1900.	1	..	29	30⅞	24½	25¾	41⅜	45,075
104¼ January 3.	77⅜ December 8.	78	78

Bond Transactions New York Stock Exchange Week Ended Dec. 8, 1900

BONDS.

Sales Week Ended Dec. 8. $24,260,500

	Week Ended Dec. 8.
	First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Sales.
Adams Express 4s	104½	104¾	104	104¾	16
Albany & Susquehanna 7s	116⅞	116⅞	116⅞	116⅞	2
Albany & Susquehanna 6s	112	112	112	112	2
American Cotton Oil 4½s	100	100	99⅝	99¾	63
American Dock & Improvement Co. 5s	115¼	115¼	115¼	115¼	2
American Spirits Mfg. Co. 6s	71	73	71	73	19
Ann Arbor 4s	94¾	97	94¾	97	35
Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé 4s	102½	102¾	102⅛	102⅛	517
Atchison, T. & S. F. adjustment 4s	90	90	88¼	88¼	618
Atlantic & Danville 4s	94¼	94¼	94¼	94¼	24
Atlanta, Knoxville & Northern 1st 5s	105	105	105	105	5
Baltimore & Ohio 3½s	97⅛	97⅝	97	97	316
Baltimore & Ohio 4s	101	101	100¾	100¾	100
Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Div. 3½s	90⅛	90½	90	90	280½
Balt. & Ohio, Pitts. Junc. & Mid. Div. 3½s	87¾	88⅝	87¾	88⅝	44½
Broadway & Seventh Avenue consol. 5s	122	122	122	122	10
Broadway & Seventh Av. consol. 5s, reg	119½	119½	110½	119½	5
Brooklyn City Railroad 1st 5s	113	113⅝	113	113⅝	3
Brooklyn Ferry 5s	86	88	88	88	20
Brooklyn, Queens County & Suburban 5s	99½	99½	99½	99½	2
Brooklyn Rapid Transit 5s	106	106½	106	106½	33
Brooklyn Union Elevated 1st 4-5s	96½	98½	96½	98	116
Brooklyn Union Gas 5s	115½	115½	115½	115½	22
Brooklyn W. & W. 5s, trust rects	72⅝	72½	72	72	25
Canada Southern 1st 5s	103¾	109	108½	109	28
Canada Southern 2d 5s	108¾	108¾	108¾	108¾	1
Central of Georgia consol. 5s	97⅞	98⅝	97⅛	97⅛	451
Central of Georgia 1st pref. income	52½	54	52½	53⅞	305
Central of Georgia 2d pref. income	16½	17½	16½	17½	50
Central of Georgia 3d pref. income	8	8	7½	7½	68
Central of New Jersey general 5s	127½	127½	127⅝	127⅝	43
Central of New Jersey general 5s, reg	125	125⅞	125	125⅞	37
Central of New Jersey consol. 7s	106¾	106¾	106¾	106¾	16
Cedar Rapids, Iowa Falls & Northern 5s	113½	113½	113½	113½	2
Central Pacific gtd. 3½s	83⅞	84⅛	83⅞	83⅞	1381⅛
Central Pacific gtd. 4s	100½	100½	100	100½	268
Chesapeake & Ohio 6s, 1911	117½	117½	117½	117½	5
Ches. & Ohio, Rich. & Alle. 1st con. 4s	106⅛	107	106⅛	107	18
Chesapeake & Ohio 6s, Series A	116	116	116	116	6
Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s	102¾	104	102¾	103⅞	495
Chesapeake & Ohio consol. 5s	120	120¾	120	120¾	22
Chicago & Alton 3½s	85¼	85¾	85	85	2,248
Chicago & Alton sinking fund 6s	104½	104½	104½	104½	1
Chicago & Alton 3s, certfs	92	92	91⅞	91⅞	533
Chi., Bur. & Quincy sinking fund 5s	101	101	101	101	1
Chicago, Burlington & Quincy deb. 5s	109¾	111½	109¾	110½	13
Chicago, Burlington & Quincy consol. 7s	111¾	111¾	111¾	111¾	3
Chi., Bur. & Quincy, Illinois Div. 3½s	105	105	105	105	13
Chi., Bur. & Quincy, Iowa Div. 4s	104⅝	104⅝	104⅝	104⅝	2
Chicago & Eastern Illinois general 5s	115	115½	115	115½	6
Chicago & Erie 1st 5s	116¼	116¼	116	116¼	22
Chicago Gas Light & Coke 1st 5s	109½	109½	109¼	109½	5
Chicago & Indiana Coal Railway 1st 5s	114	115	114	115	40
Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville ref. 6s	117½	118	117½	118	6
Chi., Mil. & St. P., Chi., Pac. & West. 5s	121⅝	122	121⅝	122	45
Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul consol. 7s	175½	176¾	175	176¼	31
Chi., Mil. & St. P., Chi. & Mil. 7s	175½	175½	175½	175½	10
Chi., Mil. & St. P., Chicago & Pacific 6s	119⅞	119⅞	119⅞	119⅞	11
Chi., Mil. & St. P. gen. 4s, Series A	114¼	114⅝	114¼	114⅝	24
Chi., Mil. & St. P., Dakota & Gt. So. 5s	115	115	115	115	5
Chi., Mil. & St. P., Southern Minn. Div. 6s	120½	120½	120½	120½	3
Chicago & Northwestern sinking fund 5s	116½	116½	116½	116½	7
Chicago & Northwestern gold 7s	106¼	106¾	106½	106¾	6
Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific gen. 4s	109½	109½	109	109¼	98
Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific 6s	131½	131¾	131	131¾	18
Chicago, St. Louis & Pittsburg 1st 5s	124	127	124	127	6
Chicago, St. Louis & New Orleans 5s	127	127	127	127	2
Chicago, St. Paul, Minn. & Omaha 6s	134½	134½	134½	134¼	8
Chicago Terminal Transfer 4s	94	94	93	93½	22
Cin. & Springfield 1st 7s, gtd. by C., C. & I.	101¾	101¾	101¾	101¾	3
Cleve., Cin., Chi. & St. Louis gen. 4s	101	102	101	101¼	9
C., C., C. & St. L., St. Louis Div. 4s	103¼	103½	103¼	103½	1
Colorado Fuel & Iron general 5s	96⅞	96⅞	96¼	96⅜	39
Colorado Midland 3-4s	78½	79¼	78¼	78¼	241
Colorado Midland 1st 4s	79	79	79	79	3
Colorado & Southern 4s	84¼	84¼	83½	83½	65
Columbus & Ninth Avenue 6s	123	123	123	123	2
Consumers' Gas, Chicago, 1st 5s	106¾	106¾	106½	106½	15
Denver & Rio Grande consol. 4s	101	101¾	100½	101¾	42
Denver & Rio Grande consol. 4½s	109	109	109	109	20
Denver & Rio Grande Improvement 5s	105	105¼	106	105	9
Detroit, Mackinac & Marquette land gr. 5½s	30	30	30	30	41
Detroit, Monroe & Toledo 1st 7s	119	119	119	119	1
East Tenn., Va. & Ga. 1st con. 5s	117¾	118	117½	117½	77
Edison Elec. Ill. Co. of N. Y. 1st conv. 5s	109	109	109	109	64
Edison Elec. Ill. Co. of Brooklyn con. 4s	96¼	96¼	96¼	96¼	1
Elgin, Joliet & Eastern 1st 5s	109½	109½	109¼	109¼	1
Elizabeth, Lexington & Big Sandy 5s	101¾	101¾	101¾	101¾	21
Erie 1st consol. 4s	92	94½	92	94½	1,104
Erie general 4s	75⅝	81	75	80¾	2,729
Evansville & Terre Haute general 5s	107¾	107¾	107¾	107¾	6
Evansville & Terre Haute consol. 6s	124	124	124	124	3
Flint & Pere Marquette 6s	125	125	125	125	5
Flint & Pere Marquette, Pt. Huron Div. 5s	107	107	107	107	3
Fort Worth & Denver City 1st 4-6s	75	77⅞	75	77½	112
Forth Worth & Rio Grande 1st 3-4s	66	68	66	67½	87
Gal., Har. & San An., Mex. & Pac. 5s	99¾	100½	99¾	100	72
General Electric debenture 5s	139½	139½	138	139½	14
Green Bay & Western deb. certfs, A	59⅛	60	59¾	60	16
Green Bay & Western deb. certfs, B	7⅞	8⅝	7½	7¾	1,468
Hocking Valley 4½s	104¾	104¾	104¾	104¾	50
Honsatonic consol. 5s	135	135	135	135	10
Houston & Texas general 4s	83½	84	83½	84	18
Houston & Texas 1st 5s	112⅛	112⅛	112⅛	112⅛	1
Indiana, Illinois & Iowa 1st 5s	108½	108½	108½	108½	1
International & Great Northern 2d 5s	91¼	91¾	91¼	91¾	23
International Paper Co. 6s	108½	108½	108	108	28
Iowa Central 1st 5s	114	115¼	114	115¼	24
Kanawha & Michigan 4s	92	92	92	92	1
Kansas City Southern 3s	68	68¼	68	68⅛	37
Kansas City & Pacific 1st 4s	85	85½	85	85½	15
Kentucky Central 4s	99¾	99¾	99¾	99¾	1
Keokuk & Des Moines 1st 5s	112	112	112	112	2
Kings County Elevated 4s	84⅝	88½	84⅝	88	411
Laclede Gas 1st 5s	108¼	108¼	107½	107½	26
Lake Erie & Western 2d 5s	119	110	118½	119	4
Lake Shore 3½s	109	109⅝	109	109⅝	15
Lake Shore 2d 7s	109⅝	109⅞	109⅝	109⅞	2
Lehigh Valley of New York 1st gtd. 4½s	110½	111	110¼	111	2
Lehigh & Wilkesbarre gtd. 4½s	102⅝	102¾	102⅝	102½	21
Lexington Avenue & Pavonia Ferry 5s	123	123	123	123	1
Long Island unified 4s	98¼	97	96½	97	186
Long Island con. 5s	122¼	122¼	122¼	122¼	1
Long Island general 4s	101¾	103	101¾	103	25
Long Dock 6s	138½	138½	138	138	8
Louisville & Nashville unified 4s	100⅝	101	100⅝	101	18
Louisville & Nashville, Pensacola 6s	115	115	115	115	1
Louisville & Nashville coll. trust 4s	99⅝	99⅝	99¼	99¼	150
Louis. & Nash., Pensacola Div. 6s	116	115	115	115	1
Louisville & Nashville general 6s	119	119	117	117	22
Louis. & Nash., Nash., Flor. & Shef. 5s	111½	111½	111¾	111⅝	2
Louisville & Nashville coll. trust 5s	100½	100½	100¼	100¼	4
Louisville, New Albany & Chicago 1st 6s	116	117	116	117	21
Manhattan Elevated consol. 4s	105	105	104¾	104¾	45
Metropolitan Elevated 1st 6s	117½	117½	117½	117½	2
Metropolitan Street Railway 5s	119½	122	119½	122	68
Metropolitan West Side Elev., Chi., 4s	98¼	98⅞	98¼	98⅞	12
Mexican Central 1st income	26⅛	26½	26⅛	26½	12
Mexican Central 2d income	13	13	13	13	15
Mexican International consol. 4s	84⅞	84⅞	84¾	84¾	27
Michigan Central consol. 7s	105¼	105¼	105¼	105¼	6
Midland of New Jersey 1st 6s	117	117	117	117	1½
Milwaukee & Northern, Main Line 6s	118½	118½	118½	118½	5
Minn. & St. Louis, Southwestern ext. 7s	123	123	123	123	10
Minn. & St. Louis 1st & refunding 4s	97	97¾	97	97¾	29
Missouri, Kansas & Eastern 1st 5s	108	107	108	107	9
Missouri, Kansas & Texas 1st 4s	94½	94⅝	93¼	93⅝	51½
Missouri, Kansas & Texas of Texas 5s	96	96	96	96	1
Missouri, Kansas & Texas ext. 5s	92	96	92	96	165
Missouri, Kansas & Texas 2d 4s	71⅞	72	71	71½	143½
Missouri Pacific 3d 7s	114½	114½	114½	114½	2
Missouri Pacific consol. 6s	118½	119	118¼	118	104
Missouri Pacific 1st collateral 5s	99¼	99¾	99¼	99¾	26
Missouri Pacific trust 5s	100	100	99¾	99⅞	151
Mobile & Ohio general 4s	86½	86¾	86⅝	86½	60½
Morris & Essex 1st 7s	137	137	137	137	1
Nash., Chat. & St. Louis consol. 5s	107¼	109½	107¾	109½	16
Nash., Chat. & St. Louis 1st 7s	130½	130½	130½	130½	3
National Starch 1st 6s	105	105	105	105	2
N. Y. Central, Lake Shore col. 3½s, coupon	97¼	97¾	97¼	97¾	108
N. Y. Central, Lake Shore col. 3½s, reg	96½	96½	95¼	95⅝	15
New York Central general 3½s	110¾	111	110⅝	111	27
New York Central 1st 7s	110	110	110	110	31
New York Central extended 4s	101¼	103¾	101	101	3
New York Central, Mich. Cent. col. 3½s	97½	97½	97½	97½	6

BONDS.

	Week Ended Dec. 8.
	First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Sales.
New York, Chicago & St. Louis 4s	107¼	107½	107¼	107½	19
New York, Chicago & St. Louis 4s, reg	105½	105½	105¼	105½	1
N. Y. Gas, El. L., H. & P. coll. trust 5s	109½	109¼	108½	108½	14
N. Y. Gas, El. L., H. & P. pur. money 4s	94⅞	94½	94⅝	94½	144
New York, Lack. & Western consig. 5s	122	122	122	122	1
New York, Sus. & Western gen. 5s	96	99⅜	96	99	169
New York, Sus. & Western 1st ref. 5s	110½	110½	110½	110½	2
Norfolk & Western, New River 6s	131½	131½	131½	131½	1
Norfolk & Western consol. 4s	99¾	100	99½	99½	119
Northern Pacific general 3s, coupon	70⅝	70⅞	70¼	70¼	195
Northern Pacific general 3s, registered	67⅛	70¾	67⅛	70¾	2½
Northern Pacific prior lien 4s, coupon	105	105¼	105	105	221½
Oregon Railroad & Navigation 4s	102½	102⅞	102½	102½	55
Oregon Railway & Navigation 1st 6s	111	111	111	111	2
Oregon Short Line consol. 5s	116½	117½	116½	117½	52½
Oregon Short Line income, A, 5s	106	106	106	106	1
Oregon Short Line 1st 6s	129½	129½	129½	129½	2
Pacific Coast 1st 5s	111	111	111	111	1
Peoria & Eastern 1st 4s	92½	94½	92½	93¾	194
Peoria & Eastern Income	34	42½	34	39	858
P., C., C. & St. L. 4½s, Series A	116½	116½	116½	116½	10
P., C., C. & St. L. 4½s, Series B	116½	116½	116½	116½	10
P., C., C. & St. L. 4½s, Series E	100½	100½	100½	100½	20
Pitts., Fort Wayne & Chicago 1st 7s	137⅝	137⅝	137⅝	137⅝	1
Pittsburg & Western 1st 4s, trust receipts	100¾	100¾	100¾	100⅜	2
Reading general 4s	91¼	92	91	91¼	784
Rensselaer & Saratoga 1st 7s	147	147	147	147	3
Richmond & Mecklenburg 4s	83	83¼	83	83¼	15
Richmond & Danville deb. 5s, stamped	109¼	109¼	109¼	109¼	2
Rio Grande Western 1st 4s	100⅛	100¾	100	100½	26
Rio Grande Southern 1st 4s	77	78	77	78	21
Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg consol. 5s	126⅝	126⅞	126⅝	126¾	9
St. Joseph & Grand Island 3-4s	90¼	90½	90¼	90½	15
St. Louis & Cairo gtd. 4s	96½	96½	96½	96½	1
St. Louis & Iron Mountain 4s	84¼	84½	82⅞	83	180
St. Louis & Iron Mountain gen. 5s	113¾	113¾	113½	113¾	84
St. Louis & San Francisco gen. 6s	128¾	129	128¾	129	19
St. Louis & San Fran. 2d 6s, Class B	111½	111½	111½	111½	10
St. Louis & San Fran. 2d 6s, Class C	111¼	111¼	111¼	111¼	3
St. Louis & San Francisco gen. 5s	114½	114⅝	114½	114⅝	10
St. Louis & San Francisco consol. 4s	88¾	90¾	88¾	90¾	81
St. Louis Southwestern 1st 4s	95	95	94	94	294
St. Louis Southwestern 2d 4s	71¾	72½	71⅛	71⅛	806½
St. Paul City Ry. Cable con. 5s	114¼	114¼	113½	113½	18
St. Paul & Duluth consol. 4s	101	101	101	101	4
St. Paul & Duluth 2d 5s	112	112	112	112	12
St. Paul, Minn. & Man. con. 4½s, coupon	116⅝	116⅝	116⅝	116⅝	5
St. Paul, Minn. & Man., Montana Cent. 5s	118	118	118	118	1
St. Paul, Minn. & Man. 1st consol. 6s	143⅛	143⅛	143⅛	143⅛	5
St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba 2d 6s	118¼	118¼	118¼	118¼	5
St. Paul & Sioux City 1st 6s	129¾	129¾	129¾	129¾	2
San Antonio & Aransas Pass 4s	79⅞	79⅞	79	79¼	47
Scioto Valley & New England 4s	102	102	101¾	101¾	20
Southern Pacific 4s	83	83	81¾	81¾	226
Southern Pacific of Cal. 6s, Series A	109½	109½	109½	109½	15
Southern Railway 5s	112¾	113	112½	113	247
Standard Rope & Twine income	11	11	11	11	2
Standard Rope & Twine 6s	70	70	70	70	8
Tenn. Coal & Iron, De Bard 6s	105	105	105	105	5
Tenn. Coal & Iron, Birm. Div. 6s	110	110	110	110	3
Texas & Pacific 1st 5s	113¾	114	113¼	114	68
Texas & New Orleans consol. 5s	104⅜	104⅞	104⅜	104½	76
Third Avenue 1st 5s	123¾	125	123¾	125	11
Toledo & Ohio Central 1st 5s	115	115	115	115	12
Toledo & Ohio Central general 5s	104½	105	104½	105	15
Toledo, Peoria & Western 1st 4s	85	86	85	86	6
Trenton Gas & Electric 5s	107	107	107	107	5
Ulster & Delaware 1st 5s	105	105	105	105	3
Union Pacific 1st 4s	107¼	109	107¼	107½	387½
United States Leather deb. 6s	112	112	112	112	2
Virginia Midland general 5s	112½	112½	112½	112½	6
Wabash 1st 5s	116¾	117	116½	116¾	41
Wabash 2d 5s	105	106¼	105	106¼	27
Wabash debenture, Series A	90	97	90	97	79
Wabash debenture, Series B	37⅛	40	37⅛	38⅝	1,510
Wabash 1st, Detroit & Chicago ext. 5s	110½	110¼	100¼	110½	1
West Shore guaranteed 4s	114⅞	115⅜	114⅞	115	44
West Shore guaranteed 4s, registered	113	114	113	114	86
West. New York & Pennsylvania 1st 5s	121¾	121¾	121¾	121¾	3
West. New York & Pennsylvania gen. 3-4s	94½	94½	94½	94½	16
Western Union collateral trust 5s	113¾	113¾	113¾	113¾	3
Western Union funding & real estate 4½s	105½	105½	105½	105½	14
Wheeling & Lake Erie consol. 4s	89½	90	89½	90	21
Wheeling & Lake Erie, Wheel. Div. 5s	112½	112½	112½	112½	8
Wisconsin Central general 4s	86½	87½	86½	87¼	222

Total sales.....$24,064,500

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

Bond Transactions New York Stock Exchange Week Ended Dec. 8, 1900.

	Week Ended Dec. 8.
	First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Sales.
United States of Mexico sinking fund 5s	97½	97½	97½	97½	½
United States 5s, coupon	113¾	113¾	113	113	16
United States 4s, 1925, coupon	138½	138½	138⅝	138¼	12
United States 4s, 1907, coupon	116	118	116	118	2½
United States 4s, 1907, registered	114¾	114¾	114¾	114¾	42
United States 2s, coupon	105½	105½	105	105	70
United States 3s, coupon	110	110	110	110	4
United States 5s, registered	109¾	109¾	109¾	109¾	½

Total sales.....$147,500

STATE BONDS.

Bond Transactions New York Stock Exchange Week Ended Dec. 8, 1900.

	Week Ended Dec. 8.
	First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Sales.
Virginia deferred 6s, trust receipts	6	6¼	6	6¼	35
Virginia funded debt 2-3s of 1991	93⅞	94	93⅞	94	13½

Total sales.....$48,500
Grand total.....$24,260,500
*In $100.

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

HIGHEST, LOWEST, AND LAST PRICES, YEAR 1900.

	Highest.		Lowest.		Last Sale.
United States 2s, registered	105	Nov. 8	104	Oct. 19	104¾	Nov. 14
United States 2s, coupon	105½	Dec. 7	103½	May 8	106	Dec. 8
United States 4s, 1907, registered	117½	Mar. 12	114	Jan. 3	114¾	Dec. 8
United States 4s, 1907, coupon	118½	Mar. 12	114	Jan. 2	116	Dec. 4
United States 4s, 1925, registered	138	Nov. 27	132⅝	Apr. 16	138	Nov. 27
United States 4s, 1925, coupon	138½	Dec. 8	131¾	Aug. 10	138⅛	Dec. 8
United States 5s, 1904, registered	116½	Mar. 12	112½	Apr. 24	113	Nov. 6
United States 5s, 1904, coupon	116¾	Mar. 7	112½	May 16	113	Dec. 5
United States 3s, 10-20, 1918, coupon	112¾	Mar. 9	108½	Aug. 21	110	Dec. 3
United States 3s, 10-20, 1918, small	111¾	Mar. 13	108½	May 11	110	Nov. 27
United States 3s, 10-20, 1918, reg	112	Feb. 27	108¾	Apr. 30	110	Nov. 26
District of Columbia 3-65s	121	Apr. 17	121	Apr. 17	121	Apr. 17
United States of Mexico s. f. 5s	99	June 5	96	Apr. 18	97½	Nov. 30

STATE BONDS.

HIGHEST, LOWEST, AND LAST PRICES, YEAR 1900.

	Highest.		Lowest.		Last Sale.
Alabama, Class A	116½	Mar. 8	108½	Jan. 8	110	Nov. 7
Alabama, Class B	109¼	Oct. 6	109¼	Oct. 6	109¼	Oct. 6
Alabama, Class C	102¾	Sept. 10	102	Jan. 16	102¾	Sept. 10
Louisiana consolidated 4s	108½	June 5	106½	July 6	108	Aug. 30
North Carolina consolidated 4s	106¾	May 21	104	Oct. 4	104	Oct. 4
South Carolina 4½s	120	Mar. 15	120	Mar. 15	120	Mar. 15
Tennessee settlement 3s	96¾	June 7	95⅝	Sept. 29	96½	Nov. 27
Tennessee settlement 3s, small	96⅝	June 7	90	Sept. 8	90¾	Oct. 18
Virginia deferred 6s, trust receipts	10	Mar. 15	6	Dec. 4	6¼	Dec. 7
Virginia funded debt 2-3s, 1991	94	Dec. 7	85	Jan. 5	94	Dec. 7

THE MANCHESTER MARKET.

MANCHESTER, Dec. 9.—Market conditions here last week were more quiet. Although there was an extensive inquiry, it was for the greater part on unworkable limits, despite the fact that the margin between buyers and sellers was frequently narrow. Producers were well supplied with orders from those in immediate need, and business generally was easier, but the volume of transactions was much below the average.

There was considerable miscellaneous inquiry for India lines, dhoties, bleaching fabrics, and prints. Orders were occasionally executed in this department. The recent demand for China appeared practically satisfied. There were a few sales of staples for Singapore, Penang, and the smaller Asiatic outlets, together with moderate purchases of printing and finishing goods for South America, the Levant, and Mediterranean ports, but the distribution was uneven.

Bank of Spain's Report.

MADRID, Dec. 9.—The report of the Bank of Spain for the week ended yesterday shows the following: Gold in hand, increase, 763,000 pesetas; silver in hand, decrease, 946,000 pesetas; notes in circulation, decrease, 96,000 pesetas.

Complete Bond Quotation List, New York Stock Exchange, for the Week Ended Dec. 8, 1900.

Where a bond does not appear in the following table in its proper place alphabetically, it can be found under the head of the system of which the road it is lien on is a part. On Page 8 is printed a "key to bond list," which gives such bonds in regular order and the name of the system under which they may be found.

	Range for Year 1900. Highest.		Lowest.		Last Sale.		Bid.	Ask'd.
Ann Arbor 1st g. 4s, July, 1995..Q J	97	Dec 7	90	Jan 3	97	Dec 8	96½	98
At., Top. & S. F. gen.g.4s,1995. A O	103	Mar 31	96½	Jan 4	102½	Dec 8	102	102½
Do registered. A O	100½	Sep 24	96½	Oct 3	99½	Oct 9	..	..
Do adjust. g. 4s, Jnly, 1995....Nov.	90	Nov 30	78½	Jan 10	85¼	Dec 8	85¼	86¼
Do do registered.....Nov.	..	....	..	....	78½	De 11,99	..	..
Do stamped.....	84½	Nov 22	84½	Nov 22	84½	Nov 22	..	..
Atl., Knox. & North. 1st g.5s,1946.J D	106	Apr 28	105	Dec 4	105	Dec 4	103	..
Baltimore & Ohio—
Do prior lien g. 3½s, 1925.....J J	97¾	Apr 4	92¾	Jan 10	97	Dec 6	97	97¼
Do g. 4s, 1948.....A O	102¾	Mar 27	97¼	Jan 9	100¾	Dec 8	100¾	100¾
Do do registered.....101		Apr 3	99¾	Oct 10	99¾	Nov 21	..	..
Do S. W. Div. 1st g. 3½s, 1925..*J J	91¾	Apr 5	85¼	Sep 25	90	Dec 8	90	91
Do P Jc.&M.Div.1st g.3½s,1925.M N	81	Apr 16	85	Sep 22	86¾	Dec 8	..	..
W. Va. & Pitts. 1st g. 5s, 1990..*A O	..	....	..	....	105½	Oct., 95	..	..
Mon. River 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1919..*F A	112	May 11	111	May 22	111	May 22	..	..
Cen. Ohio reor. 1st g. 4½s, 1930..M S	..	....	..	....	111	Jne 6, 99	..	..
Buff., R. & Pitts. gen. g. 5s, 1937.M S*	114½	Jun 1	109	Jan 18	113½	Nov 26	113½	..
Roch. & Pitts. 1st g. 6s, 1921....*F A	131	Apr 3	129	Jul 30	130	Nov 20	129	..
Do con. 1st g. 5s, 1922.....J D*	128	Nov 17	124	Jun 29	128	Nov 17	126½	..
Clearf. & Mah. 1st gtd.g.5s,1943.*J J	..	....	..	....	103	Ap 14,97	..	..
Buffalo & Sus. 1st g. 5s, 1913.....A O*	..	....	..	....	100	No 18,99	..	..
Bur., C. R. & N. 1st 5s, 1906.....*J D	109	Mar 2	103	Jun 20	108¾	Nov 21	108¾	..
Do con. 1st and col. tr. 5s,1934.*A O	118½	Aug 24	115	Jan 19	118	Nov 27	118	..
Do do registered.....*A O	117¼	Aug 20	115	May 26	117	Nov 20	..	..
M. & St. L. 1st gtd. g. 7s, 1927..*J D	..	....	..	....	140	Fe 14,97	..	..
C.R., I. F. & N.W. 1st g.5s,1921.A O*	113½	Dec	6	113½	Dec	6	113½	..
Can. South. 1st gtd. 5s, 1908....*J J	109	Nov 20	105	Jul 3	109	Dec 7	108¾	..
Do 2d 5s, 1913.....*M S	109¾	Jan 24	106	Jun 12	108¾	Dec 6	108½	108¾
Do do registered.....*M S	104	Apr 24	104	Apr 24	104	Apr 24	..	..
Cen. Br. U. P. 1st g. 4s, 1948.....J D	92	Nov 13	87½	Jan 5	92	Nov 24	..	..
Cen. R. & Bk.Co.Ga.col.g.5s,1937.*M N	95½	Nov 13	91	Jan 15	94	Dec 1	..	..
Cen. R. of Ga. 1st g. 5s, Nov.,1945.F A	120	Jan 13	117	Aug 16	120	Nov 20	118	..
Do con. g. 5s, 1945.....M N*	99¾	Dec 3	88½	Feb 23	97½	Dec 7	97¼	97¾
Do do reg., $1,000-$5,000.....M N*	96	Oct 30	96	Oct 30	96	Oct 30	..	..
Do 1st pf. inc. g.5s,Nov.,1945.Oct. 1	54	Dec 4	32½	Feb 24	53¾	Dec 8	53¼	54
Do 2d pf. inc. g. 5s,Nov.,1945.Oct 1	18¾	Nov 15	9¼	Jan 3	17½	Dec 6	17	17½
Do 3d pf. inc. g. 5s,Nov.,1945.Oct 1	8½	Nov 15	4½	Jan 5	7½	Dec 7	..	..
Do M. & N. Div. 1st 5s, 1946...*J J	..	....	..	....	95	De 27,99	..	..
Do Mid. Ga. & At. Div. 5s,1947.*J J	..	....	..	....	102	Jne 29,99	..	..
Do Mob. Div. 1st g. 5s, 1946....*J J	106	Oct 24	105	May 22	106	Oct 24	..	..
Cen. of N. J. 1st conv. 7s, 1902...M N*	111¼	Apr 10	106¾	Dec 4	106¾	Dec 4	106	..
Do conv. deb. 6s, 1908.....*M N	130	Jul 5	130	Jul 5	130	July 25	..	..
Do gen. g. 5s, 1987.....J J*	128	Nov 16	117½	Jan 3	127¾	Dec 8	127¼	..
Do do registered.....Q J	125½	Nov 20	116	Jan 10	125½	Dec 6	125¾	..
Leh. & Wilk. Coal 5s, 1912.....Q Mar.	105	Aug 30	100	Apr 16	105	Aug 30	..	..
Do consol 7s, ext. at 4½ to June 1, 1910.....Q March	103½	Nov 28	100	Sep 4	102½	Dec 6	102¼	..
Am. Dock & Imp. Co. 5s, 1921...J J*	115¾	Apr 18	112¼	Jul 10	115¼	Dec 5	114½	..
Ches. & O. g. 5s, Ser. A, July,1908.A O	118	Mar 30	113	Oct 2	116	Dec 8	114	116
Do g. 6s, Jan., 1911.....A O	120	Nov 23	115¼	May 18	117½	Dec 6	117¼	119½
Do 1st con. g. 5s, 1939.....*M N	121¾	Apr 16	115	Jan 5	120 ¾	Dec 6	120	..
Do do registered.....*M N	117	Jun 11	117	Jun 11	117	June 11	..	..
Do gen. g. 4½s, 1992.....*M S	104	Dec 5	95½	Jan 2	103¾	Dec 8	103¾	104
Do do registered.....*M S	96	May 10	93	May 4	94½	Aug 23	..	..
Do R. & A. Div. 1st g. 4s, 1989.*J J	107	Dec 5	101	Jan 8	107	Dec 5	106	..
Do do 2d g. 4s, 1989.....*J J	99¼	Apr 5	92	Jul 3	98	July 23	..	..
Do Craig Val. 1st g. 5s, 1940...J J*	103	Nov 26	100	Jul 5	103	Nov 26	103	..
Do Warm Sp.Val.1st g.5s,1941.*M S	..	....	..	....	101¼	Ap 29,99	105	..
Chi., Lex. & Big S. 5s, 1902.....*M S	103	Feb 14	100¼	Mar 5	101¾	Dec 6	101¼	..
Chi. & Alton s. f. g. 6s, 1903....*M N	106½	Sep 24	104½	Dec 7	104½	Dec 7	..	..
Miss. R. Bdge. 1st 6s, s. f., 1912.A O*	..	....	..	....	105¼	Oct., 95	..	..
Chi. & Alton ref. 3s, 1949.....A O*	93	Nov 15	92¾	Nov 15	93	Dec 1	..	..
Do certificates of interest.....	92	Dec 1	91¾	Dec 5	91¾	Dec 6	..	..
Chi. & Alton Ry g. 3½s, 1950.....J J*	85¾	Dec 3	81½	Oct 25	85	Dec 6	84¼	85
Chi., Bur. & Q. con. 7s, 1903.....J J*	113¼	May 28	109¾	Jul 2	111¾	Dec 4	111	..
Do s. f. 5s, 1901.....A O*	103	Aug 14	100¾	Oct 2	101	Dec 3	..	..
Do deb. 5s, 1913.....*M N	112	Mar 30	108½	Jan 10	110½	Dec 8	..	..
Do conv. 5s, 1903.....M S*	138	Nov 23	120½	Jan 18	138	Nov 28	..	..
Do Iowa Div. s. f. 5s, 1919.....A O*	117	Mar 28	113¾	Nov 9	113¾	Nov 30	114	..
Do 1st con. g. 5s, 1938.....*M N	117	Jun 11	117	Jun 11	117	June 11	..	..
Do do registered.....*M N	117	Jun 11	117	Jun 11	117	June 11	..	..
Do gen. g. 4½s, 1982.....*M S	104	Dec 5	95½	Jan 2	103¾	Dec 8	103¾	104
Do do registered.....*M S	96	May 10	93	May 4	94½	Aug 23	..	..
Do R. & A. Div. 1st g. 4s, 1989.*J J	107	Dec 5	101	Jan 8	107	Dec 5	106	..
Do do 2d g. 4s, 1989.....*J J	99¼	Apr 5	92	Jul 3	98	July 23	..	..
Do Craig Val. 1st g. 5s, 1940...J J*	103	Nov 26	100	Jul 5	103	Nov 26	103	..
Do Warm Sp.Val.1st g.5s,1941.*M S	..	....	..	....	101¼	Ap 29,99	105	..
Chi. & Alton s. f. g. 6s, 1903....*M N	106½	Sep 24	104½	Dec 7	104½	Dec 7	..	..
Miss. R. Bdge. 1st 6s, s. f., 1912.A O*	..	....	..	....	105¼	Oct., 95	..	..
Chi. & Alton ref. 3s, 1949.....A O*	93	Nov 15	92¾	Nov 15	93	Dec 1	..	..
Do certificates of interest.....	92	Dec 1	91¾	Dec 5	91¾	Dec 6	..	..
Chi. & Alton Ry g. 3½s, 1950.....J J*	85¾	Dec 3	81½	Oct 25	85	Dec 6	84¼	85
Chi., Bur. & Q. con. 7s, 1903.....J J*	113¼	May 28	109¾	Jul 2	111¾	Dec 4	111	..
Do s. f. 5s, 1901.....A O*	103	Aug 14	100¾	Oct 2	101	Dec 3	..	..
Do deb. 5s, 1913.....*M N	112	Mar 30	108½	Jan 10	110½	Dec 8	..	..
Do conv. 5s, 1903.....M S*	138	Nov 23	120½	Jan 18	138	Nov 28	..	..
Do Iowa Div. s. f. 5s, 1919.....A O*	117	Mar 28	113¾	Nov 9	113¾	Nov 30	114	..
Do do do 4s, 1919.....A O*	107	Mar 28	103	Jan 5	104¾	Dec 7	104¾	..
Do Denver Div. 4s, 1922.....*F A	103	Sep 10	100½	Feb 2	102¼	Nov 27	..	..
Do Southw. Div. 4s, 1921.....M S	102	Jan 31	100½	Oct 15	100½	Oct 15	..	..
Do Chi. & Iowa Div. 5s, 1905..*F A	104¾	Apr 11	104¾	Apr 11	104¾	Apr 11	..	..
Do Illinois Div. 3½s, 1949.....J J*	105¼	Nov 14	100¾	Jan 5	105	Dec 3	104½	..
Do Nebraska ext. 4s, 1927....*M N	113	Apr 23	108¾	Jan 2	111½	Nov 30	..	..
Do do registered.....*M N	..	....	..	....	111¼	Jne 2,99	..	..
Han. & St. Jo. con. 6s, 1911.....*M S	122	May 17	118½	Sep 27	120½	Nov 28	120¼	..
Chi. & E. Ill. 1st s. f. 6s, 1907.....J D*	116	Mar 21	112	Jun 2	114¾	Nov 24	111½	114
Do 1st con. g. 6s, 1934.....A O*	138	Jan 23	133½	Apr 10	134	Nov 15	134	..
Do gen. con. 1st 5s, 1937.....M N*	117	Apr 4	112	Jan 2	115½	Dec 6	115	..
Do do registered.....M N*	115	May 11	115	May 11	115	Aug 28	..	..
Chi. & Ind. Coal R. 1st 5s, 1936..*J J	115	Dec 8	105½	Apr 18	115	Dec 8	..	..
Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville—
L., New Alb. & Chi. 1st 6s, 1910. J J*	117	Dec 7	113	Jan 24	117	Dec 7	116	..
Chi., Ind. & L. ref. g. 5s, 1947....J J*	107	Apr 10	100	Jan 31	106	Nov 23	107	..
Do ref. g. 6s, 1947.....J J*	116	Dec 5	111½	Jan 12	118	Dec 5	117	..
Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul—
C.,M. & St.P. 7s,$ gold,R.D.,1902.J J*	169	May 16	166½	Jul 13	167¾	Aug 22	..	..
Do 7s, £, 1902.....J J*	172½	Apr 10	172½	Apr 10	172½	Apr 10	..	..
Do 1st C. & M. 7s, 1903.....*J J	175½	Dec 5	166¼	Jan 12	175½	Dec 5	..	..
Do con. 7s, 1905.....*J J	176½	Dec 7	166	Jul 11	176¼	Dec 8	..	..
Do 1st I. & D. ext. 7s, 1908....J J*	174½	Nov 26	166	Jan 17	174½	Nov 28	..	..
Do Southwest. Div. 6s, 1909....J J*	119½	May 2	116¾	Jul 12	118¼	Nov 14	119	..
Do 1st Lac. & Dav. 5s, 1919....J J*	119½	Apr 12	117¾	Feb 14	118¾	Nov 12	119¾	..
Do 1st So. Minn. 6s, 1910.....*J J	121½	Jun 18	117¾	Jan 6	120¼	Dec 5	120¼	..
Do 1st H. & D. Div. 7s, 1910....*J J	127½	Jan 29	124¼	Aug 15	126¾	Nov 13	127¼	..
Do do 5s, 1910.....*J J	111½	Apr 5	109	Jul 19	109¼	Aug 9	111¾	..
Do Chi. & Pac. Div. 6s, 1910...*J J	120¼	Apr 20	117	Jul 19	119¾	Dec 4	119¾	..
Do Chi. & Pac. W. g. 5s, 1921..*J J	122½	May 4	118	Jan 2	122¼	Dec 8	122	..
Do C. & M. Riv. Div. 5s, 1926..J J*	122½	Nov 23	120	Jul 25	122¼	Nov 23	124	..
Do Mineral Pt. Div. 5s, 1910....J J*	111½	Feb 16	110¾	Sep 10	110¾	Sept 10	112¼	..
Do C. & L. Sup. Div. g. 5s,1921.J J*	120¼	Nov 28	117¾	Jan 23	120¼	Nov 28	120¾	..
Do Wis., Min. Div. g. 5s, 1921. J J*	120¾	Mar 16	117	Jan 3	119	Oct 16	120¾	..
Do terminal g. 5s, 1914.....J J*	115½	Jun 20	112	Apr 2	114½	Nov 13	115¼	..
Do Far. & So. assu. g. 6s, 1924.*J J	..	....	..	....	137½	Jul 18,99	..	..
Do Dak. & Gt. So. g. 6s. 1916...*J J	115	Sep 4	110½	Jan 2	114¾	Dec 8	116¾	..
Do gen. g. 4s, Ser. A, May,1989. J J	114¼	Dec 3	109	Jan 10	114½	Dec 3	114	..
Do do registered.....Q J	..	....	..	....	105¾	Fe 19,98	..	..
Mil. & N. 1st, main line 6s, 1910.*J D	121	Sep 21	118	Jan 12	118½	Dec 3	117	..
Do 1st con. 6s, 1913.....*J D	122	Feb 8	120	Aug 9	120	Aug 9	120¾	..
Chicago & N. W. con. 7s, 1915.....Q F	144	Mar 14	137½	Nov 3	137½	Nov 3	139½	..
Do gold 7s, 1902.....J D*	112¼	May 17	106¼	Dec 3	106¾	Dec 6	106¾	..
Do do registered.....J D*	111¼	Apr 2	108¾	Jan 6	110	Nov 21	106	..
Do sink. fd. 6s, 1879-1929.....A O*	119½	May 10	114¼	Nov 15	116½	Dec 3	..	..
Do do registered.....A O*	117	Mar 7	111	Oct 18	111	Oct 18	..	..
Do sink. fd. 5s, 1879-1929.....A O*	110	Feb 10	107	Apr 26	108¼	Nov 28	..	..
Do do registered.....A O*	107¼	Nov 22	107½	Nov 22	107½	Nov 22	..	..
Do sink. fd. deb. 5s, 1933.....*M N	122	Apr 18	118	Nov 13	119½	Nov 28	..	..
Do do registered.....*M N	120	Nov 30	120	Nov 30	120	Nov 30	..	..
Do debenture 5s, 1909.....M N*	109¾	Oct 26	107	Jan 3	108	Nov 27	..	..
Do do registered.....M N*	..	....	..	....	105	De 26,99	..	..
Do deb. 5s, April, 1921.....A O 15	119	Apr 7	116	Nov 2	116¾	Nov 8	..	..
Do do registered.....A O 15	..	....	..	....	117¾	Fe 7, 98	..	..
Do ext. 4s, Aug., 1886-1926..F A 15	111¼	Mar 30	108½	Jan 23	108½	Sept 21	..	..
Do do registered.....F A 15	107	Mar 7	107	Mar 7	107	Mar 7	..	..
Do gen. g. 3½s, 1987.....M N*	110¾	Mar 21	105¼	Jan 9	107	Nov 9	..	..
Do do registered.....Q F	..	....	..	....	103	No 19,98	..	..
Escanaba & Lake Su. 1st 6s,1901. J J*	103½	Feb 28	103¼	Feb 28	103¼	Feb 28	..	..
Winona & St. Peters 2d 6s,1907.M N*	123½	Sep 21	120	Jan 4	120½	Nov 10	120	..
Mil. & Mad. 1st 5s, 1905.....M S*	112¾	Apr 24	112¾	Apr 24	112¾	Apr 24	111	..
Ottum.,C. F. & S. P. 1st 5s,1909.*M S	111¼	Apr 24	110	Mar 20	111¼	Apr 24	111	..
Northern Illinois 1st 5s, 1910....*M S	112¾	Apr 24	112¼	Apr 24	112¼	Apr 24	111	..
Mil., L. S. & W. 1st 6s, 1921....*M N	139½	Feb 10	133¾	Nov 14	136	Dec 1	135¾	..
Do conv. deb. g. 5s, 1907.....*F A	107¾	Nov 16	105	Jul 9	107½	Nov 16	107¾	..
Do ext. and imp. s. f. 5s, 1929. *F A	127¼	Jul 30	122¾	Feb 8	124½	Nov 9	125¾	..
Do Mich. Div. 1st g. 6s, 1924....J J*	137¼	Aug 13	137¼	Aug 13	137½	Aug 13	140	..
Do Ashland Div. 1st 6s, 1925..*M S	139½	Apr 5	139½	Apr 5	139½	Apr 17	139	..
Do incomes, 1911.....*M N	..	....	..	....	112	No 13,99	..	..
Chi., Rock Isl. & Pac. 6s, 1917....J J*	134	May 3	129	Jul 2	131¾	Dec 6	131½	133
Do registered.....J J*	132¾	May 4	127	Jan 3	130	Nov 7	130¾	..
Do gen. g. 4s, 1988.....*J J	109¾	Dec 1	103½	Jan 3	108½	Dec 8	109	109½
Do do registered.....*J J	107¾	Nov 8	105¾	Feb 1	107¾	Nov 8	..	..
Des Moines & Ft. D. 1st 4s, 1905.*J J	96	Mar 31	96	Mar 31	96	May 25	97	..
Do 1st 2½s, 1905.....*J J	86¾	Aug 2	86¼	Aug 25	86¼	Aug 25	..	..
Do extension 4s, 1905.....*J J	..	....	..	....	98½	My 18,99	..	..
Keo. & Des M. 1st 5s, 1923.....A O*	114	Feb 19	107	May 14	112	Dec 4	..	..
Do small bonds, 1923.....A O*	..	....	..	....	100	Ap 15,97	..	..
C., St. P., M. & O. con. 6s, 1930...*J D	136¾	Apr 16	131	Jan 8	134½	Dec 7	134	..
C., St. P. & M. 1st g. 6s, 1918...*M N	135	Feb 9	131	Oct 3	133	Nov 27	134	..
St. P. & Sioux C. 1st g. 6s, 1919..*J J	133½	Mar 21	127	Jan 10	129¾	Dec 6	129½	..
North. Wis. 1st 6s, 1930.....*J J	140	May 31	140	May 31	140	May 31	..	..
Chi. Term. Trans. g. 4s, 1947.....J J*	97½	Apr 17	91	Sep 29	93½	Dec 7	93¼	..
Chi. & W. Ind. 1st sk. fd. 6s,1919.M N*	..	....	..	....	106	Oct 4, 99	..	..
Do gen. g. 6s, Dec., 1932.....Q M	120	Feb 6	118	Jan 29	118½	Oct 2	118½	..
Chi. & W. Mich. 5s,1921, coup.off.J D*	..	....	..	....	100	Oc 28,99	105	..
Choc.,Okla. & G.gen.g.5s,Oct.1,1910.J J	103	Jan 17	103	Jan 17	103	Jan 17	..	..
C., H. & D. con. sk. fd. 7s, 1905...A O*	117	Sep 20	117	Sep 20	117	Sept 20	..	117½
Do 2d g. 4½s, 1937.....*J J	113½	Sep 7	112¼	Oct 6	112½	Oct 10	..	..
Cin., D. & Int. 1st gtd. 5s, 1941.*M N	114	Apr 24	111	Nov 23	111	Nov 23	111½	..
C., C., C. & St. L. gen. g. 4s, 1993.*J D	102	Dec 5	94	Jan 2	101¼	Dec 6	..	..
Do Cairo Div. 1st g. 4s, 1939...*J J	..	....	..	....	97	Jne 20,99	101	102
Do St L. Div. 1st col.g.4s,1990.M N*	104½	Apr 26	100½	Jun 13	103½	Dec 6	103½	..
Do do registered.....M N*	..	....	..	....	93	May 4,99	..	..
Spring. & Col. Div. 1st g.4s,1940.M S*	94	Oct 12	94	Oct 12	94	Oct 12	95	..
White W. Val. Div. 1st g.4s,1940.J J*	..	....	..	....	83	No 22,96	..	..
C., W. & M. Div. 1st g. 4s, 1991..J J*	98¼	Aug 17	93	Jan 18	98	Nov 15	100¼	..
C., I., S. L. & C.1st g.4s,Au.,1936.Q F	105½	Apr 5	105	Mar 24	105½	Apr 5	104	..
Do con. 6s, 1920.....*M N	..	....	..	....	100	Nov., 94	..	..
C., San. & Clev. cn. 1st g.5s,1928.*J J	115¾	Mar 21	114	Aug 17	114	Aug 17	115	..
Peo. & East. 1st con. 4s, 1940...*A O	94½	Dec 5	84½	Jan 4	93¾	Dec 8	93½	94½
Do income 4s, April, 1990.....A	42½	Dec 6	24	Jun 18	39	Dec 8	38½	40
C., C., C. & I. con. 7s, 1914.....*J D	136	May 29	135¾	Aug 3	135¾	Aug 3	132½	135½
Do gen. con. g. 6s, 1934.....*J J	137	Apr 18	128¾	Jul 24	134	Nov 21	134	137
Cin., Laf. & Chi. 7s, 1901.....M S*	..	....	..	....	106¾	No 24,99	..	..
C. & S. 1st gtd. C.C.C. & I.,1901.*A O	101¾	Dec 7	101¾	Oct 29	101¾	Dec 7	100¼	..
C., L. & W. 1st con. g. 5s, 1933...A O*	111	Sep 5	106	Jan 29	111	Sept 5	..	..
Clev. & Mah. Val. g. 5s, 1938.....*J J	130	Feb 16	123	Jan 5	130	May 8	..	..
Col. Mid. Ry 1st g. 3-4s, 1947.....J J*	79¼	Mar 28	63	Jan 4	78¾	Dec 8	..	..
Do 1st g. 4s, 1947.....J J*	80¼	Mar 28	71¼	Jan 2	79	Dec 6	..	..
Col. & Southern 1st g. 4s, 1929....*F A	87	May 31	78½	Sep 28	83½	Dec 8	83¾	84
Conn. & Pass. Riv. 1st g. 4s, 1943.*A O	..	....	..	....	102	Dec., 95	..	..

	Range for Year 1900. Highest.		Lowest.		Last Sale.		Bid.	Ask'd.
Del., Lack. & West. 7s, 1907..M S*	124¼	Aug 14	122¼	Nov 10	122¼	Nov 10	120	..
Syr., B. & N. Y. 1st 7s, 1906....A O*	122	Feb 8	118¼	Nov 15	118¼	Nov 15	118¼	..
Morris & Essex 1st 7s, 1914....*M N	142	Jan 20	138	Jan 4	137	Dec 5	137	..
Do 7s, 1871-1901.....A O*	101½	Feb 13	102¾	Oct 30	102¾	Nov 19	106	..
Do 1st con. gtd. 7s, 1915.....*J D	143¼	Apr 16	128	Jun 19	140	Oct 18	137½	..
Do do registered.....J D	..	....	..	....	140	Oc 26,99	..	..
N. Y., Lack. & W. 1st 6s, 1921...*J J	137½	Mar 26	133	Jul 18	136	Nov 3	136	138¾
Do registered.....*J J	135½	Sep 14	135½	Sep 14	135½	Sept 14	..	..
Do construction 5s, 1923.....F A*	122	Dec 6	119	May 1	122	Dec 6	122	..
Do term. and imp. 4s, 1923.....*M N	106	Mar 7	103½	Oct 15	103½	Oct 15	102	..
Del. & H., 1st Penn. Div. 7s, 1917.M S*	148	Feb 13	146¾	May 2	146¾	May 2	146	..
Do registered.....M S*	141	Oct 22	141	Oct 22	141	Oct 22	..	..
Alb. & Sus. 1st con. gtd.7s,1906.*A O	121	Sep 12	110¾	Dec 5	116¾	Dec 5	116¾	118
Do registered.....*A O	..	....	..	....	122	Jne 6,99	..	..
Do g. 6s, 1906.....*A O	115	Jan 12	111¾	Nov 22	112	Dec 6	112¼	..
Do do registered.....*A O	113½	Aug 27	112½	May 23	113½	Aug 27	..	..
Ren. & Saratoga 1st. 7s, 1921...*M N	148¾	Jul 16	147	Dec 4	147	Dec 4	149¼	..
Do registered.....*M N	148¾	Jul 16	148¾	Jul 16	148¾	July 16	..	..
Den. & Rio G. 1st con. g. 4s, 1936...*J J	101¾	Dec 7	96½	Jan 4	101¾	Dec 7	101¼	101¾
Do con. g. 4½s, 1936.....*J J	109	Nov 21	108	Aug 28	109	Dec 8	107	..
Do improvement g. 5s, 1928.....*J D	106½	Nov 26	101¼	Jne 18	105	Dec 6	106	..
Des Moines Un. Ry 1st g.5s,1917.M N*	109	Feb 20	108¼	May 7	108¼	May 7	105	..
Det. & Mack. 1st lien g. 4s, 1995..*J D	96½	Nov 20	98	Nov 19	96½	Nov 20	95	..
Det. & Mack. gold 4s, 1995.....*J D	90	Nov 24	76½	Jan 8	88	Dec 1	87	89
Dul. & Iron Range 1st 5s, 1937...A O*	110	Apr 19	107	Feb 27	108	Nov 16	108	..
Dul., Red W. & So. 1st g.5s,1928..*J J	..	....	..	....	92¼	Fe 11,98	..	..
Dul., So. Shore & Atl. g. 5s, 1937..*J J	115	Oct 22	110	Feb 16	115	Nov 1	..	..
Elgin, Jol. & E. 1st g. 5s, 1941.*M N	113	Apr 18	107¾	Jan 9	109¼	Dec 6	109	..
Erie 1st ext. g. 4s, 1947.....*M N	118	Jan 24	116½	May 22	117½	July 23	115	120
Do 2d ext. g. 5s, 1919.....M S*	119¼	Jan 4	119¼	Jan 4	119¼	Jan 4	120	..
Do 3d ext. g. 4½s, 1923.....*M S	116¾	Jun 25	113¾	Jan 5	116½	Nov 21	116	..
Do 4th ext. g. 5s, 1920.....A O*	123½	Mar 30	123½	Mar 30	123½	Mar 30	120½	..
Do 5th ext. g. 4s, 1928.....*J D	..	....	..	....	106½	Ap 14,99	107	..
Do 1st con. g. 7s, 1920.....M S*	142	Jan 22	134½	Sep 5	139	Nov 27	..	..
Do 1st con. g. fund. 7s, 1920...M S*	..	....	..	....	143	De 30,98	..	..
Long Dock con. g. 6s, 1935.....A O*	130¼	Feb 15	136¼	Jun 22	138	Dec 8	..	..
Buff., N. Y. & Erie 1st 7s, 1916..*J D	..	....	..	....	140	Fe 6, 99	..	..
Jefferson 1st gtd. g. 5s,Jan.,1906.A O	104½	Oct 22	104½	Oct 22	104½	Oct 22	103	..
Chicago & Erie 1st g. 5s, 1982..*M N	117½	Apr 26	114	Feb 5	116¾	Dec 6	..	..
N.Y.,L.E.& W.D.&1.1st c.6s,1913.J J*	118	Sep 27	118	Sep 27	118	Sept 27	116	..
N. Y. & Gwood L. gtd.g.5s,1946.*M N	..	....	..	....	109	Oc 27,98	108	..
Erie 1st con. g. 4s, pr. bds., 1996.*J J	94½	Dec	8	87	Sep	28	94½	94¾
Do registered.....J J	..	....	..	....	93¾	My 25,99	..	..
Do 1st con. gen. lien g. 4s,1996.*J J	81	Dec	8	67	Jan	3	81	80½
N.Y.,Sus. & W. 1

	Range for Year 1900. Highest.		Lowest.		Last Sale.	Bid.	As'd.
Do 2d ext. g. 5s, 1938 J*	115¼	Sep 8	112¾	Mar 12	115¼ Sept 8	115¼	..
St.L. & I.M. gn.con.l.g.g.5s,1931.*A O	113¾	Dec 1	108	Oct 13	113¾ Dec 7	112¾	113¼
Do do gtd. g. 5s, stamped,1931.*A O	113	Nov 28	109	Oct 18	113 Nov 28	..	..
Do do unified & ref. g. 4s,1929.J J*	84½	Dec 3	76	Sep 24	83 Dec 8	82¾	83
Mobile & Birm. prior lnc. 5s,1945..J J*	110¼	Feb 20	110¼	Feb 20	110¼ Feb 20	110	..
Mobile & Ohio new g. 6s, 1927....J D*	130	Nov 23	122¼	Jul 3	126¾ Dec 1	127	..
Do 1st ext. g. 6s, July, 1927....Q J	124	Apr 20	120¼	Jul 31	120¼ July 31	123	126¼
Do gen. g. 4s, 1938.....M S*	87	Feb 16	83	Jan 8	86½ Dec 8	86	86¼
Do Mont. Div. 1st g. 5s, 1947..*F A	109¼	Jun 11	106½	Aug 9	109 Nov 26	108½	109
St. L. & Cairo gtd. 4s, 1931.....*J J	96½	Dec 3	96½	Dec 3	96½ Dec 3	..	..
Nash., Chat. & St. L. 1st 7s,1913.J J*	130½	Nov 13	126	Jan 8	130½ Dec 8	129¾	..
Do 2d 6s 1901.....*J J	100¼	Jul 11	100½	Jul 11	100½ July 11	..	..
Do 1st con. g. 5s, 1928.....*A O	109½	Dec 6	104½	Apr 11	109½ Dec 6	108	109
Do T. & P. Bch. 6s, 1917.....*J J	..	....	..	....	111 De 20,99	..	..
Do 1st 6s, McM., M. W. & Alb..*J J	..	....	..	....	108 Mar., 96	..	..
Do 1st g. 6s, Jasper Bch., 1923..*J J	..	....	..	....	113 De 1, 99	..	..
N. O. & N. E. pr. lien 6s,Nov.,1915.A O	..	....	..	....	108½ Aug., 94	..	..
N. Y. Cen. & Hud. 1st 7s, 1903....*J J	112	Apr 6	108⅜	Oct 11	110 Dec 7	109	110
Do registered.....*J J	111	May 25	108½	Jul 25	109½ Nov 23	..	..
Do deb. 5s of 1884-1904.....M S*	108	Feb 21	104¾	Nov 14	105 Nov 28	105	..
Do do registered.....M S*	107¾	Feb 1	105	Oct 26	105 Nov 21	..	107
Do reg. deb. 5s, 1889-1904.....M S*	..	....	..	....	108½ Fe 21,98	..	..
Do deb. g. 4s, 1890-1905.....*J D	103¾	May 14	101⅞	Jun 6	103 Nov 7	101	..
Do do registered.....*J D	..	....	..	....	104¾ Fe 25,98	..	..
Do deb. certs., ext. g. 4s, 1905.*M N	103⅝	Apr 27	101	Jan 11	101 Dec 6	101	102
Do do registered.....*M N	..	....	..	....	102¾ Au 1, 99	..	..
Do g. mtge. 3½s, 1997.....J J*	111½	Jun 12	108¾	Jul 6	111 Dec 8	110	111
Do do registered.....J J*	..	....	..	....	112½ Ap 14,99	..	..
Do Mich. Cen. col. g.3½s,1998.*F A	98	Apr 9	95	Sep 6	97½ Dec 3	..	..
Do do registered.....*F A	96¾	Apr 7	94	Jun 5	96 Sept 13	..	..
Do Lake Shore col.g.3½s,1998.*F A	99	Jan 27	95½	Sep 28	97⅞ Dec 8	97½	98
Do do registered.....*F A	98	May 2	93	Oct 9	95⅞ Dec 6	..	..
West Shore 1st gtd. 4s, 2361.....*J J	115½	Jun 22	110	Jan 2	115 Dec 8	115	115¼
Do registered.....*J J	114	Mar 31	110	Jan 4	114 Dec 8	113¾	114½
Beech Creek 1st g. 4s, 1936.....J J*	110½	May 24	108	Jan 4	109¼ Aug 2	111¼	..
Do registered.....J J*	..	....	..	....	106 Jne 17,98	..	..
Clear.Bi.C. 1st s.f.gtd.4s,S.A.,1940.J J	..	....	..	....	95 Jul 28,98	..	..
Do do registered.....J J	..	....	..	....	104 Jul 24,97	..	..
N. Y. & Harlem 3½ per cent. 100-year g. n.; 2000.....*M N	115⅞	May 2	115⅞	May 2	115⅞ May 2	..	..
N. J. Junc. R. gtd. 1st 4s, 1986..*F A	102	Feb 3	102	Feb 3	102 Feb 3	104½	..
R., W.& O.cn.1st ext.5s,July,1922..A O	129½	Feb 13	125⅝	Oct 1	126¾ Dec 7	..	128
Do Ter. R. 1st g. 5s, 1918.....*M N	..	....	..	....	100 Jan., 97	..	..
Os. & Rome 2d gtd. g. 5s, 1915..*F A	..	....	..	....	113 Ap 13,99	112	..
Utica & R. Riv. gtd. g. 4s, 1922..J J*	110	Oct 15	108	Oct 1	110 Oct 15	110	..
Mo. & Mal. 1st gtd. g. 4s, 1991..M S*	107½	Jul 3	106¾	Feb 9	107½ July 6	..	..
N. Y. & North. 1st g. 5s, 1927...A O*	122½	Sep 28	121	Oct 25	121 Oct 25	120	..
Lake Shore & Michigan Southern—
Det., Mon. & Tol. 1st 7s, 1906...F A*	121	Jan 13	119	May 3	119 Dec 7	118	..
Lake Shore con. 2d 7s, 1903.....J D*	116¾	Apr 4	109⅝	Dec 8	109⅝ Dec 8	109⅝	..
Do do registered, 1903.....J D*	114¾	Apr 17	111¼	May 31	112⅝ Nov 7	..	..
Do g. 3½s, 1997.....*J D	111⅝	May 25	109	Dec 7	109⅛ Dec 8	109	110
Do do registered.....*J D	110½	Mar 17	110⅛	Mar 16	110½ Mar 17	..	..
C. & Sp. 1st gtd. L.S.&M.S.,1001.*A O	..	....	..	....	108¾ De 1, 97	..	..
Mahoning Coal R. 1st 5s, 1934...J J*	130	Nov 14	129	Sep 7	130 Nov 14	127	..
Pitts., McK. & Y. 1st gtd.6s,1932.J J*	..	....	..	....	117 Mar., 89	143	..
Michigan Cen. 1st con. 7s, 1902.*M N	109¾	Apr 19	104½	Nov 8	105¼ Dec 6	105	..
Do 1st con. 5s, 1902.....*M N	104¾	Apr 25	101⅞	Nov 22	102 Nov 30	101½	..
Do 5s, 1909.....M S*	121	Aug 1	119¼	Apr 16	121 Aug 1	..	..
Do 5s, 1931.....*M S	128	May 14	126	Oct 30	126 Oct 30	127	..
Do do registered, March, 1931..Q M	127½	Nov 8	127½	Nov 8	127½ Nov 8	..	..
Do 4s, 1940.....*J J	105	Jan 4	105	Jan 4	105 Jan 4	106½	..
Do registered.....J J	106½	Nov 26	106½	Nov 26	106½ Nov 26	..	..
N. Y., C. & St. L. 1st g. 4s, 1937..A O*	108½	Mar 28	104¼	Jan 3	107½ Dec 7	107½	..
Do registered.....A O*	105½	Dec 5	103½	Jan 3	105½ Dec 5	..	..
N. Y., N. H. & H. 1st reg. 4s,1903.*J D	..	....	..	....	104½ Oc 7, 97	..	..
Do con. deb. certs., $1,000.....A O*	195	Oct 27	185¾	Jan 5	194 Nov 22	..	..
Do registered.....J*	..	....	..	....	187 No 17,99	..	..
Do do small certs., $100.....J*	189¼	Jun 11	185	Feb 27	180 Aug 4	..	..
Housatonic R. con. g. 5s, 1937..M N*	135	Dec 4	132	Nov 7	135 Dec 4	132	..
N. H. & Derby con. 5s, 1918....*M N	..	....	..	....	125½ Fe 6, 97	113¼	..
N. Y. & N. E. 1st 7s, 1905.....J J*	114	Jan 5	114	Jan 5	114 Jan 5	114¼	..
Do 1st 6s, 1905.....J J	..	....	..	....	113 Jul 29,99	110⅝	..
N.Y.,O. & W.ref.1st g.4s,June,1992.M S	107⅜	Dec 1	102	Jan 10	107 Dec 6	107	107½
Do do registered, $5,000 only...M S	..	....	..	....	101½ No 30,98	..	..
Norfolk & South. 1st g. 5s, 1941..*M N	114¼	Jun 9	110	Jan 15	113 Nov 19	110½	..
Nor. & W. R. gen. g. 6s, 1931....*M N	136	Sep 8	120	Jan 2	133½ Oct 9	130	133
Do New River 1st g. 6s, 1932..*A O	133	Mar 23	130	May 18	131½ Dec 8	131	134
Do lmp. and ext. 6s, 1934....*F A	129¾	Oct 18	129	Oct 18	129 Oct 18	129	131
Col., C. & T. 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1922..*J J	107	Nov 26	107	Nov 26	107 Nov 26	106	..
Scl. V. & N.E. 1st gtd.g.4s,1989.M N*	103	Apr 16	95	Feb 14	101¾ Dec 6	..	..
Nor. & W. R. 1st con. g. 4s,1996.A O*	100	Dec 3	90¼	Jan 3	99¼ Dec 8	99	99½
Do registered.....J	97¾	Jul 18	97¾	Jul 18	97¾ July 18	..	..
N. P. Ry lp.ln.ry&l.g.g.4s,Jan.,1997.Q J	105½	Mar 27	102¼	Oct 1	105 Dec 8	104¾	105
Do registered.....Q J	105¼	Mar 13	101	Jun 22	104¾ Sept 18	..	..
Do gen. lien g. 3s, Jan., 2047...Q F	72½	Nov 21	64	Sep 29	70¼ Dec 8	70½	70½
Do do registered.....Q F	68	Apr 6	65½	Oct 18	70¾ Dec 5	..	..
St. Paul & N. P. gen. g. 6s, 1923..*A	132½	May 3	131½	Mar 22	131¾ Nov 23	130	..
Do registered certificates.....Q F	..	....	..	....	132 Jul 28,99	..	..
Wash. Cen. 1st g. 4s, Mar., 1048.Q M	88¾	May 31	88¾	May 31	88¾ May 31	88½	..
St. Paul & Dul. 1st 5s, 1931.....F A*	125	Nov 28	124	Oct 31	125 Nov 28	123	..
Do 2d 5s, 1917.....A O*	113	Aug 29	109	Apr 19	112 Dec 5	113¼	..
Do 1st con. g. 4s, 1968.....*J D	101	Dec 4	97½	Apr 10	101 Dec 4	101	..
Nor. Pac. Ter. Co. 1st g. 6s, 1933..J J*	120	Mar 12	113	Aug 27	115¼ Nov 12	115	..
Ohio Riv. R. R. 1st g. 5s, 1936...*J D	110	Jul 24	100	Apr 25	110 July 24	108	..
Do gen. g. 5s, 1937.....*A O	95½	Nov 22	90	Aug 18	95½ Nov 22	95	..
Omaha & St. L. 1st g. 4s, 1901.....J J*	77	Mar 12	60	Jan 5	75 Apr 4	..	..
Pac. Coast Co. 1st g. 5s, 1946...*J D	112	Nov 30	104¼	Jan 6	111 Dec 6	108¾	110
Panama sk. fd. sub. 6s, 1910...M N*	105	Jan 16	102	Apr 5	103½ May 11	104	..
Do do 4½s, 1017.....*A O	106	Oct 17	105	Oct 17	105 Oct 17	104	..
Penn. Co. gtd. 1st g. 4½s, 1921.....J J*	117	Sep 11	111¾	Jan 10	116¾ Nov 21	..	..
Do registered, 1921.....J J*	116	Oct 19	111½	Jan 19	116 Oct 19	..	..
Do gtd.3½s,col.tr.reg.cfs..1937.M S*	..	....	..	....	102 No 11,98	..	..
C., St. L. & P. 1st con. 5s, 1932..A O*	124	Dec 5	121	Jul 10	124 Dec 5	..	..
C. & P. con. sink. fd. 7s, 1900...M N*	103½	Mar 6	102	Jan 12	103½ Mar 6	..	..
Do gen. gtd. g. 4½s, Ser.A.,1942.*J J	121	Oct 22	117½	Feb 2	121 Oct 22	124	..
Erie & Pitts. gen. 3½s, 1940.....J J	102	Nov 7	101¼	Apr 11	102 Nov 7	..	..
P., C., C. & St. L. cn.g.gt.4½s,A.1940.A O*	117¾	Aug 31	114	Jan 9	116½ Dec 7	116¾	..
Do Series B, gtd., 1942.....*A O	117¾	Sep 10	113¾	Jan 12	116½ Dec 6	..	..
Do Series C, gtd., 1942.....M N*	..	....	..	....	113 No 23,98	..	..
Do Series D, 4s, gtd., 1945.....M N*	109	Apr 12	106½	Apr 3	109 Apr 12	..	..
Do g. 3½s, Series E, 1949.....F A	101¾	Jul 14	100	Apr 10	100½ Dec 5	..	..
P., Ft. W. & C. 1st 7s, 1912.....J J*	139½	May 5	133	Jan 12	137¾ Dec 6	..	..
Do 2d 7s, 1912.....J J*	137¾	Nov 27	135½	Aug 25	137¾ Nov 27	135	..
Do 3d 7s, July, 1912.....A O	134	Feb 15	131	Jul 9	131 July 9	131	..
Penn. R. R. Co. re. est. g.4s,1923.*M N	..	....	..	....	108 My 12,97	..	..
Un. N. J. R. & C. gen.4s,1944.*M S	117	May 1	117	May 1	117 May 1	116	..
Clev. & Marietta 1st gtd. 4½s, 1935.	112¾	Mar 7	109	Jan 12	112¾ Mar 7	..	..
Q.R. & I. ext. 1st gtd.g.4½s,1941.J J*	111	Jul 5	108	Jan 15	111 Aug 2	..	..
Alle. Val. gen. gtd. g. 4s, 1942..*M S	..	....	..	....	102 No 10,97	..	..
Peo. & P. Un. 1st g. 6s, Feb., 1921..Q F	130¾	Mar 10	130	Aug 28	130 Aug 28	131	133
Do 2d 4½s, Feb., 1921.....M N	101	Sep 19	98	Jun 6	101 Oct 31	..	..
Pine Creek reg. gtd. 6s, 1932.....J D*	..	....	..	....	137 No 17,97	..	..
Pitts., Clev. & T. 1st g. 6s, 1922...A O*	..	....	..	....	107½ Oc 26,98	..	..
Pitts. Junc. 1st g. 6s, 1922.....J J*	..	....	..	....	121 No 26,98	..	..
P. & L.E.2d g.5s,Ser.A&B,Ja.,1928.A O	..	....	..	....	114 Mar., 93	112	..
P., P. & F. 1st g. 5s, 1916.....J J*	..	....	..	....	90 Jne 24,99	..	..
P., S. & L. E. 1st g. 5s, 1940.....A O*	116½	Jul 28	113¼	Jan 16	116½ July 28	115	..
Do 1st con. g. 5s, 1943.....J J*	..	....	..	....	98 Jul 14,97	..	..
Pitts. & West. 1st g. 4s, 1917.....J J*	101	Jun 1	99⅝	Jan 18	100¼ Oct 24	..	..
Do J. P. M. & Co. certs.....	101½	Jun 12	99½	Jan 11	100¾ Dec 4	100	..
Reading Co. gen. g. 4s, 1997.....*J J	92	Dec 3	83	Jan 9	91¼ Dec 8	91¼	91½
Do registered.....*J J	88	Nov 15	87⅜	Aug 28	88 Nov 15	..	..
Rio Grande West. 1st g. 4s, 1939...J J*	100¾	Dec 3	94¼	Jan 4	100½ Dec 7	100	100½
Utah Cent. 1st gtd. g. l.g.4s,1917.A O	88¾	Sep 27	86	Feb 20	88¾ Sept 27	..	..
Rio Gr. June. 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1939..J D*	..	....	..	....	105 No 10,99	..	..
Rio Gr. South. 1st g. 4s, 1940.....J J*	81¼	Apr 25	71	Mar 9	78 Dec 3	78	..
Do guaranteed.....J J*	94	Nov 12	92¾	Jul 30	94 Nov 12	..	..
St. J. & G. I. 1st g. 3-4s, 1947..*J J	90½	Dec 6	81	Jul 5	90½ Dec 6	91	..
St. L. & S.F.2d g.6s,Cl.A,1906.M N*	..	....	..	....	110 No 15,99	110½	..
Do g. 6s, Class B, 1906.....M N*	113¼	Feb 15	110½	Nov 2	111½ Dec 6	110½	..
Do g. 6s, Class C, 1906.....M N*	113½	Oct 3	110⅜	Nov 7	111½ Dec 7	110½	..
Do 1st g. 6s, P., C. & O., 1919..F A*	..	....	..	....	113¼ July, 98	..	..
Do gen. g. 6s, 1931.....J J*	129	Dec 7	121¾	Aug 17	123 Dec 7	126	127
Do gen. g. 5s, 1931.....J J*	115¼	Nov 27	106	Jan 4	114½ Dec 7	114½	115
Do 1st g. 5s, 1987.....A O*	104	Apr 20	102½	Oct 17	102½ Oct 17	104	..
Ft. S. & V. B. 1st g. 6s, 1910.*A O	..	....	..	....	105 Oc 4, 97	..	..
St. L. & S. F. R. R. g. 4s, 1996...J J*	90¾	Dec 7	79	Jan 8	90¾ Dec 8	..	..
Do Southw. Div. g. 5s, 1947..A O*	100	Jun 7	98½	May 10	100 June 18	100	..
Do Cen. Div. 1st g. 4s, 1929...*A O	95	Feb 19	91	Apr 12	93 July 3	90	..
St. L. S. W. 1st g. 4s,bd.cts.,1989.M N*	95½	Nov 30	85	Jun 25	94 Dec 8	93½	94
Do 2d g. 4s,inc.bd.cts.,Nov.,1989.J J	72¼	Dec 5	53⅞	Jan 10	71½ Dec 8	71¾	71¾
St P., Min. & Man. 2d 6s, 1909....A O*	121	Mar 12	116¼	Nov 2	118¾ Dec 8	..	..
Do Dak. ext. g. 6s, 1910.....M N*	121¼	Apr 16	117¼	Nov 8	118¾ Nov 27	118	..
Do 1st con. g. 6s, 1933.....J J*	143½	Dec 7	137	Jan 3	143¼ Dec 7	143	..
Do do registered.....J J*	..	....	..	....	137¾ Fe 23,99	..	..
Do do reduced to 4½s.....J J*	116¾	Apr 21	112¼	Jan 2	116⅜ Dec 5	..	..
Do do do registered.....J J*	115¼	Nov 20	115¼	Nov 20	115¼ Nov 20	..	..
Do Mon. ext. 1st g. 4s, 1937....*J D	106	Apr 16	102¼	Jan 2	104¼ Nov 26	..	..
Do do registered.....*J D	..	....	..	....	104 Ja 24, 99	..	..
Minn. Union 1st g. 6s, 1922.....J J*	128	Apr 4	128	Apr 4	128 Apr 4	..	..
Mon. Cent. 1st gtd. g. 6s, 1937...J J*	134¼	Feb 28	129½	Jan 10	131¼ Nov 16	132	..
Do registered.....J J*	..	....	..	....	115 Ap 24,97	..	..
Do 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1937.....J J*	118¾	Jun 6	116⅞	Oct 2	118 Dec 7	118¼	..
East. Minn. 1st div. 1st 5s,1908..*A O	106⅝	Apr 19	106	Nov 30	106 Nov 30	108¾	..
Will. & Sioux F. 1st g. 5s, 1938...*J D	..	....	..	....	120 Ap 11,99	..	..
Do registered.....*J D	..	....	..	....	115 Ap 24,98	..	..
S. Fe, P. & P. R. 1st g. 5s, 1942...M S*	..	....	..	....	109¾ No 20,99	..	..
S. F. & N. P. 1st g. 5s, 1919.....*J J	112	Jun 9	112	Jun 9	112 June 9	..	..
Sa., Fla. & W. 1st con. g. 6s,1934.*A O	126½	Jan 13	125½	Jan 3	126¾ Jan 13	125	..
Do 1st g. 5s, 1934.....*A O	..	....	..	....	112 Mr 17,99	..	..
Ala. Midland 1st g. 5s, 1928....M N*	105	Mar 28	100	Nov 14	102 Nov 27	101½	102½
Bruns. & West. 1st g. 4s, 1938....*J J	85	May 2	82¾	Sep 15	83 Sept 17	..	..
Sea. & Roanoke 1st 5s, 1926.....J J*	..	....	..	....	104½ Fe 5, 97	..	..
Southern Pacific Co.—
Do g. 4s, Cen. P. col.,Aug.,1949.J D	85¾	Apr 5	76½	Sep 26	81¾ Dec 8	81¾	82
Do do registered.....J D	..	....	..	....	85 No 6, 99	..	..
Cen. P. 1st ref. gtd. g. 4s, 1949..F A*	100¾	Jan 23	97	Oct 10	100¾ Dec 7	100	100¼
Do registered.....*J J	99¾	Jun 1	99¾	Jun 1	99¾ June 1	..	..
Do mtge. gtd. g. 5½s,Aug.,1929.J D	86¾	May 10	80¾	Oct 5	84 Dec 7	83½	84
Gal., Har. & S. A. 1st 6s, 1910...F A*	110¾	Apr 27	110	May 28	110 May 28	..	..
Do 2d g. 7s, 1905.....*J D	104¾	Feb 28	104¼	Aug 9	105 Aug 15	107	110
Do M. & P. Div. 1st 5s, 1931..*M N	102¾	Jan 31	97½	Nov 1	100 Dec 3	..	..
Hous. & T. C. 1st W. & N.7s,1905.J J	..	....	..	....	118 Nov., 94	..	..
Do 1st g. 5s, int. gtd., 1937.....J J*	112¼	Dec 8	109	Jul 12	112¼ Dec 6	112	..

	Range for Year 1900. Highest.		Lowest.		Last Sale.	Bid.	As'd.
Do con. g. 6s int. gtd., 1912...A O*	113	Feb 21	110½	Nov 28	110½ Nov 28	110	..
Do gen. g. 4s int. gtd., 1921...*A O	87	Mar 28	81	Aug 21	84 Dec 9	83	..
Hous., E. & W. T. 1st g.5s,1933.*M N	105	Mar 28	100	Jan 24	105 Aug 20	106	..
Mor. La. & T. 1st g. 6s, 1920.....J J*	120½	Feb 28	120½	Feb 28	120½ Feb 28	..	..
Do 1st 7s, 1918.....*A O	..	....	..	....	134 No 22,99	..	..
Ore. & Cal. 1st 6s, 1927.....J J*	99	Jul 17	98½	Aug 8	98¼ Aug 8	..	..
San A. & A. P. 1st gtd. g.4s,1943.*J J	80¾	Mar 31	73	Jul 9	79¼ Dec 8	78¾	79¼
Texas & N. O. 1st 7s, 1905.....F A*	..	....	..	....	116 De 14,98	..	..
Do Sabine Div. 1st g. 6s, 1912.M S*	..	....	..	....	106¼ No 17,97	..	..
Do con. g. 5s, 1943.....J J*	104¾	Dec 3	101	Jan 2	104½ Dec 3	..	..
S.P.of Ar.gtd.1st g.6s,Mch,1900-10.J J	114½	Jun 11	110	Jan 2	110 Oct 1	..	..
S. P. of Cal. 1st g. 6s, Ser.A, 1905.*A O	110	Mar 26	107	Oct 20	109½ Dec 4	..	..
Do do Series B.....*A O	110¾	Aug 24	110¾	Aug 24	110¾ Aug 24	..	..
Do do Series C and D, 1906.....	112	May 28	110¾	Nov 24	110¾ Nov 24	..	..
Do 1st 6s, 1912.....A O	119	Jul 27	117¾	Jun 8	119 July 27	..	..
Do 1st con. gtd. g. 5s, 1937....M N*	107	Nov 27	105½	Jan 19	107 Nov 27	..	..
Do do stamped, 1905-37.....M N	109½	Mar 29	104½	Jan 10	107 Nov 13	..	..
Aus. & N. W. 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1941.J J*	99¾	Apr 5	94¾	Oct 20	94¾ Nov 15	..	..
So. Pac. of N. M. 1st g. 6s, 1911.*J J	116½	May 19	116	Aug 3	116 Aug 3	..	..
Gila V.,G. & N.1st gtd.g.5s,1924.M N*	106¼	Apr 5	100	May 8	103 Nov 28	103½	105
Nor. R. of Cal. 1st 6s, gtd., 1907.*J J	..	....	..	....	98 Au 6, 97	..	..
Do 50-year g. 5s, 1938.....A O*	..	....	..	....	106 Au 23,99	..	..
Southern R. 1st con. g. 5s, 1994...J J*	113¼	Apr 10	106	Jan 8	113 Dec 7	112½	112¾
Do registered.....J J	108¾	Jul 30	107¾	Jul 27	108 Aug 3	..	..
Do Mem. Div. 1st g.4-4½-5s,1996.J J	109¼	Apr 23	108	Nov 24	108 Nov 28	108	..
E. Tenn. reor. lien g. 4-5s, 1938.*M S	112	May 8	108½	Jan 10	110¾ Nov 28	..	..
Ala. Central 1st g. 6s, 1918.....J J*	..	....	..	....	112¼ Au 17,97	112½	..
Atl. & Dan. 1st g. 4s, 1948.....J J*	94¼	Oct 30	93¼	Sep 13	94¼ Dec 7	..	..
Col. & Green. 1st g. 6s, 1916.....J J*	115	Jan 31	115	Jan 31	115 Jan 31	..	..
E. T., Va. & Ga. divis.g.5s,1930..J J*	119	Nov 15	114¾	Feb 19	119 Dec 6	..	..
Do con. 1st 5s, 1956.....M N*	120½	Oct 19	114	Jan 2	117½ Dec 8	..	..
Georgia Pac. R. 1st g. 6s, 1922...*J J	125¼	Nov 15	119½	Jan 16	125 Nov 27	..	..
Knox. & Ohio 1st g. 6s, 1925.....J J*	124	Apr 23	118¾	Jan 2	124 Nov 23	123½	..
Rich. & Dan. con. g. 6s, 1915...*J J	126	Apr 20	118	Jan 3	123½ Nov 26	..	..
Do equip. s. f. g. 5s, 1909.....M S*	101¼	Jul 20	101	Jan 11	101¼ July 20	..	..
Do deb. 5s, stamped, 1927.....*A O	109½	Aug 25	104	Aug 14	109¾ Dec 7	..	110
Rich. & Mecklen. 1st g. 4s,1948.M N*	83¼	Dec 7	83	Dec 7	83¼ Dec 7	80	84
Va. Midland gen. 5s, 1936.....*M N	113	Nov 28	109	Jan 8	112½ Dec 5	..	..
Do do gtd., stamped, 1936....*M N	111	Jul 27	108	Jan 4	110 Aug 6	111	..
Do serial, Series D.....A O*	..	....	..	....	102 Oc 15,99	..	..
Do serial, Series E.....*A O	..	....	..	....	100 Ja 12, 99	..	..
W., O. & W. 1st cur.gtd.4s,1924.*F A	91½	Sep 14	87	Jul 9	91½ Sept 14	..	..
West. N. C. 1st con. g. 6s, 1914..J J*	119	Mar 31	114½	Jan 10	119 Nov 17	119	..
So. Car. & Ga. 1st g. 5s, 1919...*M N	109	Apr 19	102	Jan 15	105½ Nov 30	..	..
Spokane Falls & N. 1st g. 6s,1939.J J	117	Jul 25	117	Jul 25	117 July 25	..	..
Ter. Ass. of St. L. 1st 4½s,1939,A O*	..	....	..	....	113 Oc 2, 99	114	..
Do 1st con. g. 5s, 1894-1944....F A*	114½	Jul 2	113½	Sep 28	113½ Sept 28	114½	..
St. L. M. B. T. gtd. g. 5s, 1930...A O	111	Jan 19	111	Jan 19	111 Jan 19	..	..
Tex. & Pac., E. Div. 1st g.6s,1905.*M S	105	Aug 1	104⅞	Sep 28	104⅞ Oct 4	..	..
Do 1st g. 5s, 2000.....*J D	117	Nov 30	110¼	Jun 25	114 Dec 8	113½	115
Do 2d inc. g. 5s, Dec. 1, 2000...Mar.	82	Nov 16	53	Mar 8	82 Nov 16	..	..
Tol. & Ohio Cen. 1st g. 5s, 1935....J J*	116¼	Nov 28	105	Jan 8	115 Dec 6	112	..
Do gen. mtge. 5s, 1935.....*J D	106¾	Nov 24	92¼	Feb 26	105 Dec 4	105	..
Do West. Div. 1st g. 5s, 1935..A O*	114	Nov 27	105	Jan 29	114 Nov 27	111	..
Kan. & Mich. 1st gtd. g. 4s,1990.*A O	92	Dec 5	84½	Jan 2	92 Dec 5	..	100
Tol., Peo. & W. 1st g. 4s, 1917....J J*	86	Dec 5	78	Jan 3	86 Dec 5	..	..
Tol., St.L. & K.C. 1st g.6s,1916,lr.*J D	130¼	Jun 16	110	Jan 2	130¼ June 25	..	..
Tor., Ham. & Buf. 1st g. 4s, 1946.....J D	100	Sep 25	100	Sep 25	100 Sept 25	..	..
Ulster & Del. 1st con.g.5s,1928.*J D	107	Apr 18	103	Jan 3	105 Dec 5	105	..
Un. Pac. 1st & ld. grt.g.4s,1947.J J*	108	Dec 3	101¾	Jan 10	107½ Dec 8	107⅝	107¾
Do registered.....J J*	106½	Nov 20	103¼	Jan 29	106½ Nov 20	..	..
Ore. R. & N. 1st 6s, 1909.....J J*	111	Dec 3	110	Feb 3	111 Dec 3	..	..
Ore. R. & N. con. g. 4s, 1946....*J D	104¾	Mar 23	100½	Jan 3	102½ Dec 8	102¼	102¾
Ore. Short Line R. 1st g.6s,1922..*F A	130	Jan 6	125¾	Aug 14	129½ Dec 8

OUR LONDON CABLE

Continued from Page 1.

threatening aspect of foreign exchanges, but the Bank is powerless, and the market must look to itself. We might have a 5 per cent. bank rate any day, but it will not be effective until short credits are much more difficult to obtain than they are now, and the Bank will hardly be induced to move until exports of gold compel.

Will these occur in alarming bulk? I cannot say. It is possible to hope that they may not, because we are still able to ward off direct drafts upon our home supply by sweeping up all available amounts of metal in the colonies and sending them to our creditors, but, on the other hand, Germany and Scandinavia seem likely to want considerable amounts of the metal before their credit institutions can feel themselves in a position to aid industry with the necessary advances it has been deprived of for months back, and we steadily lose small amounts exported week after week. Let £500,000 go in a lump in one day, and the market's own nervousness might force up the bank rate, whether short money was cheap or not.

Really the greatest safeguard we have lies in our shrinking trade and falling prices. Business, where not stimulated by Government expenditure, is not good, and our trade figures for November unpleasantly exhibit a recoil. Take away the enormously increased price obtained for our coal exported, and the figures would have shown a large decrease on the November of last year, at the same time that our import values have risen by nearly £5,500,000; shrinking trade and prices release currency at the same time that excessive imports augment the pressure of our indebtedness abroad upon the London market. I can say no more.

A. J. W.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Net changes for the week of 1 point or more in the more active securities were:

Advances.

Distilling of Am.	1	Inter-State Oil	2¾
Dist. of Am. pf.	2¾	Mex. Nat. Cons. pf.	1
Electric Boat	7¾	Pitts., Bess. & L.E.	1½
Electric Boat pf.	5	Rubber Goods	1¼
Int. Pump pf.	1¼	Standard Oil	5

Declines.

Am. Hide & Leath.	1½	N. E. G. & C. 5s.	3½
Am. H & Leath. pf.	3	New Eng. G. & C.	2½
Am. Woolen pf.	1	Otis Elevator pf.	1
British Col. Cop.	1¾	Tenn. Copper	1
Cast Iron Pipe pf.	2	Vir. I. C. & C.	2
Compressed Air	1	Vir. I. C. & C. 5s.	2
General Carriage	1½

More irregularity appeared in the market for outside securities last week than during any week within the past month. In some cases prices showed decided strength, and final quotations marked net gains of some importance, but elsewhere in the list net losses appeared. On one or two days trading did show a good deal of life, but as a whole the market was much quieter, and transactions were carried on with less enthusiasm. There was not very much in the news developments of the week to affect outside stocks, but most of what did come to hand was favorable rather than otherwise.

Toward the close of the week some issues which had been for some time left much to themselves assumed places of prominence and advanced substantially. Several of the electric stocks were included in the number. The industrials furnished the most active issues, and prices in this group were probably better maintained than in other parts of the list. The copper stocks, for instance, were practically all at a lower level, and trading in them was on a much smaller scale than during preceding weeks.

Consolidated Equipment was throughout the week one of the most active stocks, but it followed a somewhat irregular course, and after advancing 1 point above the closing bid of the previous Saturday, dropped rather sharply about 3 points, closing for the week with a net loss of about 2½ points. The decline seemed due partly to manipulative pressure and partly to large realization on the advance. At 15 the volume of stock encountered was so large that the price quickly receded from that figure. Distilling of America, after having been neglected for some time, developed considerable strength on Friday, and on the following day sold at better prices than any recently recorded. The advance was particularly notable in the preferred, which sold up over 3 points, to 26½, on relatively light transactions. The common sold as high as 6¾, and made a net gain of 1 point. There was no news to account for the advances. American Woolen remained fairly active, but was strong and weak in turns, and ended the week with a slight net loss. In the preferred stock transactions were very small. Rubber Goods was active and strong, closing with substantial advances in both the common and preferred stock.

In the electric stocks more life appeared than during any recent week. Electric Boat was particularly strong, and though transactions in the stock were on no large scale, the common as well as the preferred showed net gains of 5 points or more. The belief that additional orders for submarine vessels will be given by the United States Government, as well as suggestions of other important developments in the affairs of the company, caused the sharp advances. Just what the nature of the negotiations under way are was not made public, but it was stated by officials of the company that they would in all probability result in very material advantage to the company. Electric Vehicle was much firmer and in better demand, although the transactions in the stock were not attended by any large advance. Late in the week it was announced that the company had secured absolute control of the Riker Company, and it was officially stated that this alliance would result most favorably for the Electric Vehicle Company. Moreover, progress in the Selden suit was officially stated to be favorable to the Electric Vehicle Company.

Standard Oil was not more active than usual, but it continued its upward course and advanced nearly 50 points above the previous high record, selling as high as 825. Later, however, the stock was offered down, and it closed with a net gain of only 5 points. Another stock that enjoyed a phenomenal advance was National City Bank, which sold openly as high as 495 and closed at 470 bid, a net gain of 60 points for the week.

Following are the latest quotations for securities not listed or inactive on the Stock Exchange. These quotations are compiled from reports made to THE NEW YORK TIMES by many of the most active and reputable commission brokers. Information is solicited from all persons interested. Address Financial Editor, THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Banks.

	Bid.	Asked.
America	475	485
American Exchange	195	200
Astor	500	..
Bowery	295	..
Broadway	240	250
Butchers & Drovers'	88	95
Central	175	180
Chase	475	..
Chatham	300	310
Chemical	3950	4050
Citizens'	145	150
City	470	480
Colonial	275	..
Columbia	190	..
Commerce	260	265
Continental	135	..
Corn Exchange	360	..
East River	140	..
Eleventh Ward	150	..
Fifth Avenue	2500	3000
Fifth National	225	..
First	3600	..
Fourteenth Street	150	175
Fourth	173	177
Gallatin	400	425
Gansevoort	60	..
German Exchange	260	..
Garfield	1725	..
German-American	120	..
Germania	500	..
Greenwich	165	..
Hamilton	145	..
Hanover	400	430
Hide & Leather	125	..
Importers & Traders'	515	525
Irving	180	185
Leather Manufacturers'	220	235
Liberty	310	..
Lincoln	300	..
Manhattan	270	285
Market & Fulton	230	240
Mechanics'	205	215
Mechanics & Traders'	95	105
Mercantile	215	..
Merchants'	170	175
Merchants' Exchange	126	..
Metropolis	600	..
Mount Morris	190	..
Mutual	150	..
Nassau	170	185
New Amsterdam	675	..
New York	300	..
New York County	1500	..
New York Nat. Exchange	130	..
New York Produce Exchange	125	130
Ninth	90	..
Nineteenth Ward	100	..
North America	200	..
Oriental	180	190
Pacific	165	180
Park	420	435
People's	225	..
Phenix	101	105
Plaza	475	..
Republic	220	230
Riverside	210	..
Seabord	310	..
Second	600	..
Seventh	180	..
Shoe & Leather	100	110
State	350	..
State of New York	135	..
Twelfth Ward	100	115

Banks—Continued.

	Bid.	Asked.
Union Square	225	..
Western National	400	410
West Side	375	..
Yorkville	225	..

Trust Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Atlantic	217½	230
Bankers'	195	204
Bowling Green	140	150
Brooklyn	410	425
Central	1900	2100
Central Realty Bond & Trust	250	300
City	300	315
Colonial	320	..
Continental	375	..
Farmers' Loan & Trust	1400	..
Fifth Avenue	425	..
Flatbush	165	..
Franklin	275	300
Guaranty	625	675
Hamilton	265	..
Kings County	360	..
Knickerbocker	400	..
Manhattan	350	..
Manufacturers'	300	320
Mercantile	800	..
Metropolitan	425	475
Morton	425	..
N. Y. Life Ins. & Trust	1300	1375
Nassau	185	195
N. Y. Security & Trust Fund	750	..
North American	215	225
People's Trust	290	310
Real Estate	300	..
Standard	220	..
Title Guarantee & Trust	410	420
Trust Company of America	205	210
Trust Company of New York	195	205
Union	1350	..
U. S. Mortgage & Trust	390	..
United States	1600	1650
Washington Trust	290	..
Williamsburg	195	205

Ferry Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Brooklyn Ferry	20	20½
Brooklyn Ferry bonds	86	87
East River Ferry	69	71
East River Ferry 5s	96	98
Hoboken Ferry 1st	110½	112½
N. Y. & Hoboken Ferry	80	81
N. Y. & Hoboken F. con. 5s	94½	95
Tenth & Twenty-third Street	65	80
Tenth & Twenty-third St. bds.	105	107
Union Ferry	30	32
Union Ferry bonds	92	94

Insurance Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Citizens'	163	..
Commonwealth	90	100
Continental	540	..
Eagle	225	..
Empire City	75	85
German-American	500	510
Germania	280	..
Globe & Rutgers	40	..
Greenwich	150	..
Hamilton	85	100
Hanover	130	140
Home	200	210
Kings County	140	..
Nassau	150	..
New York	80	95
Niagara	150	..
North River	150	..
Pacific	110	125
Peter Cooper	110	125
Phenix, Brooklyn	160	170
Stuyvesant	90	..
United States	110	120
Westchester	310	..
Williamsburg City	465	..

Street Railways.

	Bid.	Asked.
Atlantic Avenue con. m. 5s	114	115
Atlantic Avenue gen. m. 5s	107	110
Atlantic Avenue imp. 5s	100	101
Bleecker St. & F. Ferry stock	35	38
Bleecker St. & F. Ferry ext. 4s	100	102
Broadway & Seventh Avenue	230	235
Broadway & Seventh Av. 1st	102½	103½
Broadway & Seventh Av. 2d	110	113
Broadway Surface 1st 5s	115	116
Broadway Surface 2d	102½	103½
Brooklyn, Bath & W. E. 5s	100	102
Brooklyn City R. R. 1st m. 5s	113	114

Continued on Page 7

DECLARED DIVIDENDS.

STEAM RAILROAD STOCKS.

Company and Period.	Amount.	Payable.	B'ks Close.	B'ks Open.
Atch., Top. & S. F. pf. (semi-annual)	2½	Feb. 1	Jan. 10	Feb. 2
Boston & Lowell	$4	Jan. 2	Holders of record	Dec. 1
Boston & Maine common (quarter).	1¾	Jan. 1	Dec. 1	Dec. 7
Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn (semi-annual)	$1	Jan. 1	.....	.....
Chicago & Alton Railway pf.	2	Jan. 10	Dec. 20	Jan. 11
Chi., Bur. & Quincy (quarter)	1½	Dec. 14	Nov. 19	Nov. 26
Chi. & East. Ill. com. (semi-annual).	2	Jan. 2	Dec. 15	Jan. 2
Chi. & East. Ill. com. (extra)	½	Jan. 2	Dec. 15	Jan. 2
Chi. & East. Ill. pf. (quarter)	1½	Jan. 2	Dec. 15	Jan. 2
Chic., Rock Isl. & Pac. (quarter)	1¾	Feb. 1	Dec. 28	Jan. 7
Chic. & West. Indiana (quarter)	1½	Jan. 1	.....	.....
Delaware & Hudson (quarter)	1¾	Dec. 15	Nov. 28	Dec. 17
Denver & Rio Gr. pf. (semi-annual).	2½	Jan. 15	Jan. 2	Jan. 16
Gila Valley, Globe & Northern	4	Jan. 1	.....	.....
Hocking Valley pf. (semi-annual)	2	Jan. 16	Holders of record	Dec. 28
Little Miami (quarter)	2 1-5	Dec. 10	Nov. 30	Dec. 10
Maine Central (quarter)	1½	Jan. 1	.....	.....
New York & Harlem R. R.	5	Jan. 2	Holders of record	Dec. 15
Pennsylvania & Northwestern	2	Jan. 10	.....	.....
Phil., Wil. & Balt. (semi-annual)	4	Jan. 2	.....	.....
Rio Grande West. pf. (quarter)	1¼	Feb. 1	Holders of record	Dec. 31
St. Louis & San Francisco 1st pf.	2	Jan. 7	Dec. 22	Jan. 7

STREET RAILWAYS.

American Railway Co.	1	Dec. 15	Dec. 1	Dec. 16
Chicago City Railway	3	Dec. 31	Dec. 15	Dec. 21
South Side El., Chic. (quarter)	¾	Dec. 31	Dec. 15	Dec. 21
Union Pasenger Railway (Phil.)	$4.75	Dec. 31	Dec. 30	Jan. 2
West Phila. Passenger Ry. (Phil.)	$5	Jan. 1	Holders of record	Dec. 15

TRUST COMPANIES.

Mass. Electric Cos. pf.	2 1-3	Dec. 15	.....	.....
Manufacturers', (Brooklyn,) quarter.	2	Jan. 2	Dec. 22	Jan. 2
Manufacturers', (Brooklyn,) extra	2	Jan. 2	Dec. 22	Jan. 2
N. Y. Life Insurance & Trust	20	Dec. 10	Dec. 4	Dec. 10

MISCELLANEOUS COMPANIES.

American Beet Sugar pf. (quarter).	1½	Jan 2	Holders of record	Dec. 15
Am. Dist. Tel. (Brooklyn)	3	Dec. 10	Dec. 3	Dec. 11
American Express Co.	3	Jan. 2	Holders of record	Nov. 30
American Sheet Steel pf. (quarter).	1¾	Jan. 15	Dec. 23	Jan. 16
American Snuff Co. pf.	3	Jan. 2	Dec. 22	Jan. 3
Am. Steel Casting pf.	3½	Dec. 20	Dec. 8	Dec. 21
Americao Strawboard (quarter).	1	Dec. 27	Dec. 15	Dec. 28
American Sugar Ref. (quarter).	1¾	Jan. 2	Dec. 8	Jan. 3
American Sugar Ref. pf. (quarter).	1¾	Jan. 2	Dec. 8	Jan. 3
Am Thread pf. (semi-annual)	2½	Jan. 1	Nov. 28	Jan. 2
Amory Manufacturing Co.	$3	Dec. 15	Holders of record	Dec. 8
Booth Cotton Mills, Boston	$30	Dec. 20	Holders of record	Dec. 7
Butte & Boston Con. Mining	$5	Dec. 10	Dec. 1	Dec. 11
Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. (quarter)	$20	Dec. 28	Holders of record	Dec. 5
Celluloid Co. (quarter)	1½	Dec. 31	Dec. 14	Jan. 2
Celluloid Co. (extra)	1	Dec. 31	Dec. 14	Jan. 2
Chicago. Junc. Rwys. & Union Stock Yards (quarter)	1½	Jan. 2	Dec. 13	Jan. 3
Chicago. Junc. Rwys. & Union Stock Yards pf. (quarter)	2	Jan. 2	Dec. 13	Jan. 3
Chicago Telephone (quarter)	3	Jan. 2	Dec. 26	Jan. 5
Colorado Fuel & Iron pf.	8	Dec. 20	Nov. 30	Dec. 21
Columbus Edison Co. pf.	3	Jan. 2	Dec. 19	Jan. 22
Commercial Cable (quarter)	1¾	Jan. 2	Dec. 20	Jan. 2
Commercial Cable (extra)	1	Jan. 2	Dec. 17	Jan. 3
Consol. Gas Co., N. Y., (quarter)	2	Dec. 13	Dec. 4	Dec. 17
Cons. Lake Superior com.	1	Dec. 15	Holders of record	Nov. 30
Cons. Lake Superior pf. (quarter)	1¾	Dec. 15	Holders of record	Nov. 30
Continental Tobacco pf. (quarter)	1¾	Jan. 2	Dec. 12	Jan. 3
Dominion Coal pf. (semi-annual)	4	Jan. 1	Dec. 17	Jan. 1
Eden Musée American Co. (Limited) quarter	1½	Dec. 15	Dec. 6	Dec. 7
Electric Storage Battery pf.	6	Jan. 2	Dec. 20	Jan. 2
Empire State Idaho Mining & Development Co. (month)	3	Dec. 15	Holders of record	Dec. 4
Equitable Ill. Gas L. (Phila.) pf.	3	Dec. 15	Holders of record	Dec. 8
Fisheries Co. pf. (semi-annual)	3½	Jan. 1	Dec. 11	Jan. 2
Havana American Co. pf. (quarter).	1¾	Dec. 15	Dec. 11	Dec. 17
International Paper pf. (quarter)	1½	Dec. 31	Dec. 14	Jan. 2
Iron Silver Mining Co.	10c	Dec. 20	Dec. 10	Dec. 24
Laclede Gas Light pf.	2½	Dec. 15	Nov. 27	Dec. 16
Maryland Coal Co. (semi-annual)	2	Dec. 29	.....	.....
Maryland Coal Co. (extra)	1	Dec. 29	.....	.....
Mil. & Chic. Brewing pf.	2	Dec. 31	.....	.....
National Biscuit com. (quarter)	1	Jan. 15	Jan. 5	Jan. 16
National Lead pf. (quarter)	1¾	Dec. 15	Nov. 23	Dec. 17
National Steel Co. pf. (quarter)	1¾	Dec. 31	Dec. 12	Jan. 2
National Tube pf. (quarter)	1¾	Jan. 2	Dec. 12	Jan. 3
N. Y. & E. R. Ferry Co. (quarter)	1½	Dec. 15	Dec. 5	Dec. 16
N. Y. & H. R. Mining Co. (month)	10c	Dec. 15	Dec. 5	Dec. 16
N. Y. & H. R. Mining Co. (extra)	30c	Dec. 15	Dec. 5	Dec. 16
Niles-Bement-Pond	1½	Dec. 20	.....	.....
Osceola Mining Co. (semi-annual)	$3	Dec. 20	Nov. 26	Dec. 24
Pitts. Steve & Range pf. (quarter).	1¾	Dec. 20	Holders of record	Dec. 3
Quincy Railroad Bridge	5	Jan. 1	Dec. 21	Jan. 2
Republic Iron & Steel pf. (quarter).	1¾	Jan. 2	Dec. 15	Jan. 2
Rubber Goods Mfg. common	1	Jan. 15	Jan. 5	Jan. 15
Rubber Goods Mfg. pf. (quarter)	1¾	Dec. 15	Dec. 8	Dec. 17
Southern Cotton Oil	2	Dec. 15	Holders of record	Nov. 28
Standard Oil (quarter)	$10	Dec. 15	Nov. 15	Dec. 17
Stark Mills (Boston)	$30	Dec. 15	Holders of record	Nov. 30
Streets West Stabie Car Line pf. (semi-annual)	$3.50	Jan. 1	Dec. 24	Jan. 1
Tamarack Mining (semi-annual)	$10	Dec. 28	Dec. 7	Dec. 17
U. S. Leather pf. (quarter)	1½	Jan. 2	Dec. 15	Jan. 3
Wm. Cramp & Sons Ship & Engine Building Co. (quarter)	1¼	Dec. 15	Dec. 1	Dec. 17

MEETINGS.

	Books Close	Books Open.	Date.	Nature.
American Beer Cash Co.	.....	.....	Dec. 20	Annual
Bank of New York	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Annual
Cin., Hamilton & Dayton Ry.	.....	.....	Dec. 11	Special
Columbus Edison Co.	Dec. 31	Jan. 22	Jan. 21	Annual olumbus Railway Co.	Dec. 26	Jan. 11	Jan. 10	Annual
Continental National Bank	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Annual
Cosmopolitan Range Co.	Jan. 5	.....	Jan. 12	Annual
Dry Dock, E. B'way & Bat. R. R.	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Annual
Hanover National Bank	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Annual
Henderson Bridge Co.	Dec. 28	Jan. 8	Jan. 7	Annual
Henry Siebert Co.	.....	.....	Dec. 13	Annual
Hurley Water Co. of Hurley, Wis.	.....	.....	Dec. 20	Bondholders
Illinois Central Railroad	Dec. 20	.....	Jan. 26	Special
Leather Manufacturers' Bank	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Annual
Mechanics' National Bank	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Annual
Merchants' National Bank	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Annual
National Bank of the Republic	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Annual
Nat. Butchers & Drovers' Bank	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Annual
New Central Coal Co.	Dec. 6	Dec. 12	Dec. 11	Annual
N. Y. County National Bank	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Annual
N. Y. Iosn & Improvement Co.	.....	.....	Jan. 8	Special
Ohio & Ind. Con. Nat. & Ill Gas Co.	Dec. 15	Jan. 3	Jan. 2	Annual
Portland Zinc & Lead Co.	.....	.....	Dec. 12	Annual
Union Square Bank	.....	.....	Dec. 11	Annual
U. S. Regulation Firearms Co.	.....	.....	Dec. 15	Election
Wm. E. Uptegrove & Brother	.....	.....	Dec. 17	Annual

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Continued from Page 6.

Street Railways—Continued.

	Bid.	Asked.
Brooklyn City Railroad	230	231
Brooklyn City & New. 1st	115	117
B'klyn, Queens Co. & Sub. 5s	108	110
Buffalo Crosstown 5s	112	115
Central Crosstown	265	280
Central Crosstown 1st 6s	123	125
Central Park, N. & E. River	200	202
Central Park, N. & E. River 7s	104½	105½
Christopher & Tenth St	183	186
Cleveland Electric con. 5s	104	106
Coney Island & Brook. stock	328	332
Coney Island & Brook. 1st 5s	103	104
Consolidated Traction of N. J.	58	60
Con. Traction of N. J. 5s	108	109
Columbus Railway	32½	35
Columbus Railway pf	91	92¼
D. D., E. B. & B. stock	120	130
D. D., E. B. & B. 5s	115	118
D. D., E. B. & B. 5 p. c. scrip	100	102
Eighth Avenue Railroad	380	420
Eighth Ave. 6 per cent. scrip	106	100
42d St. & Grand St.	398	405
42d St., Man. & St. N. Av. 1st	113	114½
42d St., Man. & St. N. Av. 2d	99	101
Jersey City, Hoboken & Pat.	20	21¼
Nas. Elec. 1st 5s, Brooklyn	107	111
Nassau Electric 4s	86½	80
New Orleans Traction com.	22	..
New Orleans Traction pf.	94	98
Ninth Avenue	198	205
North Jersey Street Ry.	24½	25½
North Jersey Street Ry 4s	83	84
North Shore Traction com.	15	16
North Shore Traction pf.	84	86
Orange & Passaic Val. bonds	93	95
Rochester Railway	20	23
Rochester Railway con. 5s	100½	108
St. Louis Transit	17	18
Second Avenue stock	201	205
Second Avenue consol. 5s	118	119
Second Avenue 1st m. 5s	106½	107½
Sixth Avenue stock	200	210
Southern Boulevard 5s, 1945	110½	113½
South Ferry 1st 5s	108	108
Steinway R. R. Co. 6 p. c. 1st	117	118
Syracuse Rapid Transit	11	15
Syracuse Rapid Transit pf.	34	37
Twenty-third Street	395	410
Twenty-third Street deb. 5s	102¾	103½
28th & 29th St. 5s, 1996	114	115
Union Railway 1st 5s	113	114
United Rys. of St. Louis pf.	63½	65
United Rys. of St. Louis 4s	84½	84¾
United Traction, Providence	109	111
United Trac., Prov., bonds	113½	114½
Westchester Electric 5s, 1943	108	110
Worcester Traction common	34½	35½
Worcester Traction pf.	107	108

Industrial and Miscellaneous.

	Bid.	Asked.
Acker, Merrall & Condit	100	102
Am. Agricultural Chemical	25	28
Am. Agricultural Chem. pf.	78	79
American Bank Note	47	49
American Bicycle	6	7
American Bicycle pf.	27	..
American Bicycle bonds	75	77
American Chicle	77	..
American Chicle pf.	75	82
American Hide & Leather 6s	90⅜	91½
American Hide & Leather	9½	10½
American Hide & Leather pf.	37	40
American Press Association	60	70
American Thread pf.	4	4½
American Type Founders	57	62
American Woolen	21½	22
American Woolen pf.	..	76⅞
Barney & Smith Car	15	18
Barney & Smith Car pf.	103	106
Barney & Smith Car bonds	107½	..
British Columbia Copper	19	19½
British Exchequer 3s	98	99
California Copper	1½	1¾
Cast Iron Pipe	4¾	5¼
Cast Iron Pipe pf.	31	33
Central South Am. Tel.	102	104
Central Fireworks	22	25
Central Fireworks pf.	67	69
Chesebrough Mfg	350	380
Compressed Air	46	48
Consolidated Equipment	11⅜	11¾
Consolidated Fireworks	10	15
Consolidated Fireworks pf.	60	70
Consolidated Rubber Tire	2	5
Consolidated Rubber Tire pf.	25	32
Cramps' Ship & Engine Bldg.	71	75
Distilling Co. of America	6⅜	6⅝
Distilling Co. of America pf.	25⅞	26¼
Electric Boat	24¾	25½
Electric Boat pf.	45	50
Electric Vehicle	19½	20
Electric Vehicle pf.	35	45
Electro-Pneumatic	2½	3
Flemington Coal & Coke	..	19
General Carriage	4¾	5¼
General Chemical	58	60
General Chemical pf.	97½	99
Havana Commercial	8½	9½
Havana Commercial pf.	42	46
Hecker-Jones-Jewell bonds	75	80
Hudson River Telephone	115½	110
Illinois Transportation	1⅛	1
International Pump	27⅝	28
Interpational Pump pf.	74½	75
International Silver pf.	35	40
Inter-State Oil	74¾	74⅞
Iron Steamboat	2⅝	4
Iron Steamboat bonds	50	60
Kings El. L. & P.	135	141
Lorillard pf.	100	102
Markeen Copper	1	2½
Mexican Nat. Construction pf.	12½	14½
Mergenthaler Linotype	182	185
Nat. Enameling & Stamping	16½	18
Nat. Enameling & Stamp pf.	80	84
Nat. Cramophone	5	12
Nat. Sugar pf.	103	106
New England Transportation	3½	3¾
New York Transportation	7	7¼
N. Y. & N. J. Telephone	169	175
Otis Elevator	27	29
Otis Elevator pf.	88	80
Pitts., Bess. & Lake Erie	28	28¾
Procter & Gamble	490	510
Procter & Gamble pf.	205	210
Retsof	29	32
Retsof bonds	74	78
Royal Baking Powder pf.	94	95
Rubber Gooda	30	30¾
Rubber Gooda pf., ex div.	80¾	81½
Safety Car Heat. & Lighting	120	123
Seaboard Air Line 4s	72½	73
Seaboard Air Line com.	11	11½
Seaboard Air Line pf	29	29½
Singer Manufacturing	560	700
Southern Light & Traction	30	33
Standard Coupler	38	42
Standard Coupler pf	120	125½
Standard Oil	780	790
Storage Power	11	13
Swift & Co.	100	102
Swift & Co 5s	101	105
Tel., Tel. & C. A., $10 paid	3⅞	4¼
Tennessee Copper	17	19
Texas Pacific Coal	80	90
Trenton Potteries	4	6
Trenton Potteries pf	55	60
Union Copper	4¾	4⅞
Union Typewriter	35½	36½
Union Typewriter 1st pf.	108	110
Union Typewriter 2d pf.	110	112
Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke	5	6
Virginia L, C. & C. 5s, 1949	..	37
Westinghouse Air Brake	363	375
Worthington Pump pf.	110	113

Gas Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Bay State	1¼	1¾
Buffalo City	6	9

INACTIVE STOCKS—LAST TRANSACTIONS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

The following table gives the range of prices in 1900 for stocks in which there have been no dealings during the past week. Where no sale has occurred this year the date of the last transaction is given:

Closing Dec. 8. Bid.	Closing Dec. 8. Asked.	STOCKS.	Amount Outstanding.	Last Dividend.		Range in 1900 Highest.		Range in 1900 Lowest.		Last Sale.
195	..	Albany & Sus.	$3,500,000	July, 1900	3½	*204	July 6	*204	July 6	*204	July 6, 1900
..	..	American Beet Sugar	15,000,000	..	..	*23	Nov. 13	*23	Nov. 13	*23	Nov. 13, 1900
..	..	American Beet Sugar pf.	4,000,000	Oct. 1, 1900	1½	75	Nov. 17	75	Nov. 17	75	Nov. 17, 1900
156	170	American Coal	1,500,000	Sept. 1, 1900	4	160	Nov. 27	150	Sept. 24	160	Nov. 27, 1900
2	3	Am. Spirits Mfg.	27,983,300	..	..	4	Feb. 15	1½	Sept. 8	*3	Sept. 25, 1900
..	..	Am. Spirits Mfg. pf.	6,995,800	..	..	*14	Sept. 26	*14	Sept. 26	*14	Sept. 26, 1900
..	..	At. & Charlotte Air Line	1,700,000	Sept. 6, 1900	3	..	..	..	..	*121	Nov. 28, 1898
..	..	Beech Creek	5,665,000	Oct., 1900	1	..	..	..	..	100	Oct. 31, 1898
108	..	Boston & N. Y. Air Line pf.	1,426,000	July, 1900	2	..	..	..	..	106½	Nov. 14, 1899
..	..	B'lyn Wharf & W. pf., Series B.	5,000,000	..	..	..	..	..	..	21	Feb. 15, 1899
77	78	Buff., Roch. & Pitts.	6,000,000	..	..	80	Nov. 17	52	Feb. 27	77	Nov. 19, 1900
116	120	Buff., Roch. & Pitts. pf.	6,000,000	Aug. 15, 1900	3	120	Nov. 7	95¾	Mar. 31	119	Nov. 19, 1900
122	..	Bur., C. R. & Nor.	5,500,000	Aug. 1, 1900	4	137½	Nov. 16	137½	Nov. 14	137½	Nov. 14, 1900
102¾	..	Capital Traction	12,000,000	Oct. 1, 1900	1	*101⅞	Oct. 11	91¾	Feb. 26	*101⅞	Oct. 11, 1900
..	..	Central Coal & Coke	1,500,000	..	..	..	..	..	..	20¾	Oct. 13, 1898
..	..	Chi. Con. Traction	15,000,000	..	..	39⅝	Jan. 15	37	April 25	39	Apr. 28, 1900
..	..	Chicago Stock Yards	6,500,000	Oct. 1, 1900	2	..	..	..	..	102½	May 22, 1897
..	..	Chicago Stock Yards pf.	6,500,000	Oct. 1, 1900	1½	..	..	..	..	120	June 4, 1898
..	..	Col. Coal & I. Dev.	5,500,000	..	..	2¾	April 10	½	Nov. 20	1½	Nov. 21, 1900
..	..	Col. Coal & I. Dev. pf.	500,000	..	..	3¾	Mar. 26	¾	Sept. 24	¾	Oct. 31, 1900
..	..	Colorado Midland	3,420,200	..	..	12¾	May 3	9	Jan. 4	11½	June 12, 1900
..	..	Colorado Midland pf.	4,954,800	..	..	29¾	Mar. 21	21	Jan. 5	29	June 12, 1900
..	..	Col & Hock. Coal & Iron pf.	336,700	..	..	..	..	..	..	30	June 9, 1899
170	180	Commercial Cable	13,333,300	Oct. 1, 1900	1¾	*183	Jan. 17	*158	June 7	*175	Sept. 20, 1900
37	..	Consolidation Coal	10,500,000	Feb. 1, 1900	2	52	May 9	50	Feb. 16	*52	Aug. 31, 1900
100	115	Des Moines & Ft. D. pf.	763,000	Aug. 1, 1900	7	..	..	..	..	110	June 20, 1899
13	14	Dul., S. S. & At. pf.	10,000,000	..	..	17½	Mar. 5	12	July 16	14	Nov. 27, 1900
375	425	Eighth Avenue	1,000,000	Oct., 1900	3¾	*400	Jan. 20	*395	July 5	*395	July 5, 1900
..	..	Gold & Stock Tel.	5,000,000	Oct., 1900	1½	..	..	..	..	*108½	Dec. 14, 1897
109	112	H. B. Claflin Co.	3,829,100	Oct. 15, 1900	2	115½	Jan. 11	105	Oct. 29	110½	Dec. 1, 1900
..	..	H. B. Claflin 1st pf.	2,600,300	Nov. 1, 1900	1¼	*102½	July 17	*101	June 28	*102½	July 17, 1900
..	..	H. B. Claflin 2d pf.	2,570,600	Nov. 1, 1900	1½	*106	Sept. 12	*106	Sept. 12	*103	Sept. 12, 1900
..	..	Hawaiian Sugar	10,000,000	Nov. 26, 1900	50c	..	..	..	..	*105	May 20, 1899
70	80	Homestake Mining	21,000,000	Nov. 26, 1900	50c	70½	Nov. 30	65	Feb. 6	78	Nov. 30, 1900
101	..	Ill. Central leased line.	10,000,000	July, 1900	2	103¾	June 7	100¾	Sept. 25	*102	Nov. 7, 1900
4	4½	Keokuk & Des Moines	2,600,400	..	..	4	Nov. 12	3½	May 24	4	Nov. 27, 1900
16¼	17½	Keokuk & Des Moines pf.	1,524,600	July 2, 1900	50c	17½	Mar. 27	14½	Oct. 10	*14½	Nov. 10, 1900
..	..	Kcokuk & Western	4,000,000	Jan. 1, 1900	1	..	..	..	..	*32	Jan. 25, 1899
..	..	Kingston & Pembroke	2,500,000	..	..	..	..	..	..	7½	Nov. 9, 1899
..	..	Knickerbocker Ice (Chl.)	4,000,000	Jan. 1, 1900	1	40	Feb. 13	10	Nov. 20	15	Nov. 28, 1900
60	65	Knickerbocker Ice pf. (Chl.)	3,000,000	July 2, 1900	3	60	Feb. 6	50	Nov. 26	50	Nov. 26, 1900
95	100	Laclede Gas pf.	2,500,000	June 15, 1900	2¼	100	Jan. 4	96	Jan. 11	*100	Oct. 9, 1900
211	..	Lake Shore	49,466,500	July 28, 1900	3½	230	Nov. 1	206	April 26	230	Nov. 1, 1900
10	15	Manhattan Beach	5,000,000	..	..	19¾	May 26	26¼	June 30	12	Nov. 24, 1900
..	..	Mergenthaler Linotype	10,000,000	Sep. 29, 1900	5	..	..	..	..	*152	May 31, 1899
30	32	Met. W. S. El., Chl.	7,498,70	..	..	37½	April 5	24½	Jan. 29	31	Nov. 27, 1900
83	85	Met. W. S. El., Chl., pf.	9,000,000	Aug. 31, 1900	2	84⅛	Nov. 21	70	Feb. 27	83	Nov. 26, 1900
50	51	Minn., S. P. & S. S. M. pf.	7,000,000	..	..	60	April 24	47	Nov. 1	53	Nov. 20, 1900
186½	189	Morris & Essex	15,000,000	July 1, 1900	3½	189½	May 8	184	June 25	188½	Nov. 19, 1900
..	..	Nash., Chat. & St. L.	10,000,000	Nov. 1, 1898	1	45	June 29	43	June 27	45	June 29, 1900
..	..	National Linseed Oil	1,000,000	..	..	..	..	..	..	3½	June 9, 1899
30	34	New Central Coal	1,000,000	April 1, 1900	2	37	April 30	30	Nov. 30	30	Nov. 30, 1900
..	..	New Jersey & New York Tel.	5,000,000	Oct. 15, 1900	1½	..	..	..	..	*124	Jan. 28, 1897
..	..	New York & Harlem	8,638,650	Oct. 1, 1900	2	413	July 12	405	July 1	413	July 12, 1900
210	213	N. Y., N. H. & Hart.	53,684,600	Sep. 29, 1900	2	215½	May 1	210	Oct. 8	212½	Nov. 28, 1900
..	..	Norfolk & Southern	2,000,000	Oct. 10, 1900	1	..	..	..	..	88¾	Nov. 14, 1899
25	33	O. & Ind. Nat. & Ill. Gas.	9,000,000	Dec. 1, 1900	1	31⅞	May 15	25	May 21	25	Aug. 9, 1900
..	..	Omaha & St. Louis	621,900	..	..	..	..	..	..	7	Nov. 6, 1899
6	7	Ontario Mining	15,000,000	Apr. 20, 1900	30c	9	Feb. 2	6	Nov. 26	6	Nov. 26, 1900
..	..	Oregon R. R. & Navigation	16,357,500	July 2, 1898	1	..	..	..	..	*45	Nov. 13, 1899
..	..	Oregon R. R. & Navigation pf.	1,156,300	July 2, 1900	2	..	..	..	..	75½	Oct. 7, 1899
65	67	Pacific Coast 2d pf.	3,914,400	Nov. 1, 1900	1	69½	Oct. 15	57	May 10	69	Nov. 21, 1900
..	..	Panama	7,000,000	Jan. 3, 1896	2	..	..	..	..	*95	Sept. 22, 1897
..	..	Park Steel Co. pf.	5,000,000	Dec. 1, 1900	1¾	..	..	..	..	*110	June 26, 1899
475	..	Pennsylvania Coal	5,000,000	Nov. 1, 1900	4	*450½	Nov. 14	*420	June 11	*450½	Nov. 14, 1900
..	..	Philadelphia Company	14,719,950	Jan. 20, 1900	2½	74	Jan. 19	74	Jan. 19	74	Jan. 19, 1900
..	..	P. Lorillard pf.	2,000,000	Oct. 1, 1900	2	..	..	..	..	*117	May 16, 1899
..	..	Pitts., C., C. & St. L.	24,347,100	..	..	80½	Jan. 2	49¾	Sept. 29	56	Nov. 27, 1900
184	..	Pitts., Ft. W. & Chl.	19,714,200	Oct. 2, 1900	1¾	188	Feb. 16	186	Mar. 10	*185	Nov. 5, 1900
..	..	Pitts., McKeesport & Yough.	4,000,000	July, 1900	3	..	..	..	..	*137	Mar. 3, 1899
..	..	Quicksilver	5,708,700	..	..	2½	Mar. 29	1½	Aug. 1	1⅞	Sept. 5, 1900
..	..	Quicksilver pf.	4,291,300	July 16, 1900	½	10⅜	Mar. 28	7¾	Oct. 22	9	Nov. 30, 1900
192	200	Rens. & Saratoga	10,000,000	July 1, 1900	4	*193	Aug. 7	*193	Aug. 7	*193	Aug. 7, 1900
65	..	Rio Grande West	10,000,000	Sep. 1, 1900	5	65	Aug. 17	43¼	Jan. 27	65	Nov. 19, 1900
64	65	Silver Bullion Certs.	..	..	..	65½	Nov. 3	59½	Jan. 16	65½	Nov. 5, 1900
200	225	Sixth Avenue	2,000,000	July 1, 1900	3½	..	..	..	..	*200	Mar. 10, 1899
..	..	Southern & Atlantic Tel.	659,525	July, 1900	2½	..	..	..	..	100	Feb. 17, 1898
..	..	Texas Central	2,649,400	..	..	*14	April 11	*14	April 11	*14	Apr. 11, 1900
..	..	Texas Central pf.	1,324,500	Jan. 15, 1900	4	*60	April 9	*60	April 9	*60	Apr. 9, 1900
8½	..	Tol., Peo. & West.	4,076,900	..	..	10	Jan. 24	10	Jan. 24	10	Sept. 26, 1900
3,000,000	Oct. 1, 1900	½	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	64	July 13, 1897
..	..	Union Ferry	21,240,400	Oct. 10, 1900	2½	*272½	Jan. 17	*268¾	Oct. 9	*268¾	Oct. 9, 1900
..	..	United N. J. R. R. & Canal	3,000,000	..	..	½	May 23	⅛	May 22	⅛	Aug. 24, 1900
..	..	U. S. Flour Milling	5,000,000	..	..	13½	Feb. 23	4	Mar. 23	*1½	Aug. 9, 1900
..	..	U. S. Flour Milling pf.	2,223,000	Sep. 29, 1900	3½	..	..	..	..	105	Oct. 20, 1897
..	..	Utica & Black River	1,800,000	July, 1900	2½	..	..	..	..	*174	Nov. 11, 1898
133	136	Warren Railroad	8,000,000	July 16, 1900	3	137	Nov. 12	123	Feb. 21	*135	Nov. 28, 1900
..	..	Wells-Fargo Express	13,180,000	Nov. 15, 1900	1⅛	..	..	..	..	120	Aug. 8, 1899
..	..	West Chicago Street	4,000,000	July 20, 1900	3	..	..	..	..	*96	Mar. 15, 1899

*Sales of less than 100 shares. All stocks in this table par $100 except Beech Creek, New York and Harlem, Philadelphia Company, Pittsburg, McKeesport and Youghiogheny, Warren Railroad, Morris and Essex, Pennsylvania Coal, and Kingston and Pembroke, the par value of each of which is $50. Southern and Atlantic Telegraph and American Coal are $25 par. New Central Coal is $20 par.

Gas Companies—Continued.

	Bid.	Asked.
Buffalo City 5s, 1947	..	68
Central Union 5s, 1927	106½	107½
Consumers' Gas (J. C.) bonds	105¼	106
Denver Gas	20	22
Denver Gas bonds	63	65
Fort Wayne Gas bonds	58	62
Grand Rapids	103	107
Grand Rapids 1st 5s, 1915	103	105
Indianapolis	62	70
Indianapolis 1st 6s, 1920	97	100
Indiana Nat. & Ill. bonds	57	60
Lafayette Gas bonds	58	63
Logansport & W. Valley bonds	56	60
Madison (Wis.)	68	71
Madison (Wis.) 1st 6s, 1926	107	109
Mutual	298	305
New Amsterdam 5s, 1948	108½	100
N. E. Gas & Coke 5s, 1937	67	68
N. E. Gas & Coke	12½	14
N. Y. & E. R. 1st 5s, 1944	110	112
Ohio & Indiana Gas bonds	52	55
People's Gas & Elec., (Oswego)	25	30
Peo. G. & E. (Oswego) 5s, 1990	90	101
St. Joseph (Mo.)	31	38
St. Joseph (Mo.) 5s	91	93
St. Paul (Minn)	..	50
St. Paul bonds	75	80
Standard (New York)	130	135
Standard pf	150	155
Standard 1st 5s, 1030	115	117
Syracuse	9	10
Syracuse 1st 6s, 1946	88½	93
Western (Milwaukee)	96	100
Western col. tr. 1st 5s, 1933	106½	107½

ON THE LONDON EXCHANGE.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Changes on the Stock Exchange last week were mostly small and irregular. Gilt-edged securities generally were lower. Most foreign securities, however, including Chinese, went from 1⅛ to 1½ points higher.

The American department was still the most active in the market; in that department most of the stocks went lower, owing to realizations. Erie issues were a conspicuous exception, being largely bought and showing a gain on the week for the common stock of 1⅞, and for the first preferred of 4⅞. Wabash also was in request, and Denver and Rio Grande preferred. New York Central and Hudson River fell one point, Baltimore and Ohio ⅝, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul ⅛, Illinois Central ½, Norfolk and Western preferred ½, Union Pacific ⅛, others from ⅛ to ⅜ points.

Mining shares were very quiet, the general tendency being downward, but Rands were ⅛ point higher on the week.

CLEARING HOUSE COMPARISONS.

The following table gives the aggregate of the exchanges and balances at the New York Clearing House every week for a year past:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
Dec. 8	$1,419,986,290	$61,614,358
*Dec. 1	1,169,856,345	47,477,201
Nov. 24	1,589,539,179	56,616,100
Nov. 17	1,546,582,775	54,659,891
*Nov. 10	1,070,094,867	45,286,811
Nov. 3	1,072,840,098	53,389,010
Oct. 27	1,141,697,500	53,273,721
Oct. 20	1,023,592,101	51,766,598
Oct. 13	926,820,551	52,882,350
Oct. 6	989,961,743	54,859,111
Sept. 29	836,384,300	43,249,635
Sept. 22	812,622,414	47,270,376
Sept. 15	747,659,338	51,714,874
*Sept. 8	639,740,352	37,056,450
Sept. 1	659,777,454	44,471,078
Aug. 25	671,396,001	45,452,304
Aug. 18	786,760,296	49,880,774
Aug. 11	667,780,104	41,729,667
Aug. 4	782,061,788	55,583,359
July 28	753,779,500	45,311,780
July 21	785,578,094	46,704,063
July 14	865,929,961	51,162,188
*July 7	933,138,447	56,844,104
June 30	980,010,627	60,314,484
June 23	842,062,298	49,580,384
June 16	873,370,496	53,459,270
June 9	898,061,098	54,623,859
*June 2	820,976,658	48,240,800
May 26	965,215,839	55,921,961
May 19	1,006,863,479	51,864,225
May 12	995,720,273	54,586,513
May 5	1,158,701,051	72,806,331
April 28	1,064,446,657	48,974,241
April 21	1,196,364,641	76,001,061
April 14	1,080,414,173	60,447,858
April 7	1,270,596,366	66,745,393
March 31	1,116,124,633	52,429,219
March 24	1,070,865,960	47,864,796
March 17	1,048,052,741	54,830,142
March 10	963,389,761	56,596,191
March 3	1,080,735,849	55,318,914
*Feb. 24	878,186,580	46,839,547
*Feb. 17	985,315,975	48,246,141
Feb. 10	1,106,832,069	63,852,421
Feb. 3	1,026,052,632	58,007,580
Jan. 27	972,111,857	49,410,899
Jan. 20	1,005,176,662	50,996,585
Jan. 13	1,097,626,402	58,554,808
*Jan. 6	1,146,108,228	62,735,507
*Dec. 30	980,998,695	46,539,980
Dec. 23	1,428,305,943	58,302,736
Dec. 16	1,249,644,928	51,807,123
Dec. 9	1,114,064,436	46,117,036

*Five days.

FOREIGN TRADE FIGURES.

Following are the returns of foreign commerce at the Port of New York for the week ended Friday last, as compared with the corresponding week last year. In the case of the exports of general merchandise the returns are for the week ended Tuesday.

Imports of Dry Goods and General Merchandise.

Week ended Dec. 7, 1900	$7,694,002
Week ended Dec. 8, 1899	11,099,882
From Jan. 1, 1900	490,727,409
From Jan. 1, 1899	484,489,497

Exports of General Merchandise.

Week ended Dec. 4, 1900	$7,371,130
Week ended Dec. 5, 1899	5,905,578
From Jan. 1, 1900	537,865,623
From Jan. 1, 1899	427,943,672

Imports of Gold.

Week ended Dec. 7, 1900	$41,248
Week ended Dec. 8, 1899	25,401
From Jan. 1, 1900	10,568,505
From Jan. 1, 1899	14,037,099

Exports of Gold.

Week ended Dec. 7, 1900	$27,780
Week ended Dec. 8, 1899	84,839
From Jan. 1, 1900	47,511,504
From Jan. 1, 1899	26,116,455

Net Imports of Gold.

Week ended Dec. 7, 1900	$13,468

Net Exports of Gold.

Week ended Dec. 8, 1899	$59,438
From Jan. 1, 1900	36,942,909
From Jan. 1, 1899	12,081,456

Imports of Silver.

Week ended Dec. 7, 1900	$98,658
Week ended Dec. 8, 1899	93,851
From Jan. 1, 1900	4,451,280
From Jan. 1, 1899	3,736,873

Exports of Silver.

Week ended Dec. 7, 1900	$1,296,117
Week ended Dec. 8, 1899	1,016,129
From Jan. 1, 1900	49,627,504
From Jan. 1, 1899	43,643,264

Net Exports of Silver.

Week ended Dec. 7, 1900	$1,197,159
Week ended Dec. 8, 1899	922,278
From Jan. 1, 1900	45,178,224
From Jan. 1, 1899	39,906,411

Total Imports of Specie.

Week ended Dec. 7, 1900	$140,206
Week ended Dec. 8, 1899	119,252
From Jan. 1, 1900	15,019,986
From Jan. 1, 1899	17,774,872

Total Exports of Specie.

Week ended Dec. 7, 1900	$1,323,897
Week ended Dec. 8, 1899	1,100,968
From Jan. 1, 1900	97,139,008
From Jan. 1, 1899	69,782,739

Total Net Exports of Specie.

Week ended Dec. 7, 1900	$1,183,691
Week ended Dec. 8, 1899	981,716
From Jan. 1, 1900	82,019,142
From Jan. 1, 1899	51,967,867

CITY TRUST CO
OF NEW YORK.
36 WALL STREET.

CAPITAL..... $1,000,000
(Entirely invested in City of New York Bonds.)
SURPLUS..... $1,000,000

OFFICERS.
Jas. Ross Curran, President.
John D. Crimmins, Vice-President.
George R. Sheldon, 2d Vice-President.
Arthur Terry, Secretary.
Walter W. Lee, Asst. Secretary.

DIRECTORS.

John D. Crimmins,	Charles W. Morse,
Frank H. Platt,	Henry O. Havemeyer,
George R. Sheldon,	Homer E. Parsons,
Edward Eyre,	Albert O. Jennings,
Peter Doelger,	William H. Gelsbenen,
William Halls, Jr.,	Eugene Kelly,
James D. Layng,	Edwin Warfield,
William B. Grace,	Elverton R. Chapman,
James Roosevelt,	Charles V. Fornes,
Hugh Kelly,	Frank R. Lawrence,

Jas. Ross Curran

REAL ESTATE TRUST CO.
OF NEW YORK,
No. 30 Nassau Street.
Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits,
$900,000.
DESIGNATED LEGAL DEPOSITORY.
Allows interest on deposits.
Acts as Executor, Trustee, Guardian, Transfer Agent, Registrar, &c.

TRUSTEES:
HENRY C. SWORDS, President.
E. H. CAMMANN, Vice President.

James M. Varnum,	Douglas Robinson,
Charles C. Burke,	John Downey,
Horace S. Ely,	Charles S. Brown,
Lispenard Stewart,	George G. De Witt,
Ebenezer S. Mason,	Henry K. Pomroy,
Henry Lewis Morris,	Percy Chubb,
Edwin A. Cruikshank,	Franklin B. Lord,
Charles A. Peabody, Jr.,	J. Roosevelt Roosevelt,
Charles A. Schermerhorn,	Lansdale Boardman,
James L. Raymond,	Harrison E. Gawtry,
Joel F. Freeman,	Frank S. Witherbee.

HENRY W. REIGHLEY, Secretary.

William T. Floyd. Frederic P. Moore.

Floyd & Moore
BANKERS AND BROKERS,
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
71 Broadway.

I. F. MEAD. T. H. CURTIS.

I. F. MEAD & CO.,
44 & 46 BROADWAY, N. Y.
Twenty-five years' membership in N. Y. Stock Exchange.
STOCKS AND BONDS
Bought and Sold for Cash or on Margin.

P. J. Goodhart & Co.,
Dealers in
Bank & Trust Co. Stocks
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
28 WALL STREET.

WARNER & CO.
52 Broadway, Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.

High-Class Investment Netting 4½ and 5%.
Loans made on approved collateral.
Stock and bonds bought for cash or on margin.
TELEPHONE, 1515 BROAD.

FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY,
NEWARK, N. J.

Capital $1,000,000.00
Surplus and Undivided Profits, 1,331,285.98

ALLOWS INTEREST ON daily balances of $1,000 or over, subject to check at sight, and transacts a general banking business.
AUTHORIZED BY LAW to act as Executor, Trustee, Administrator, Guardian, Assignee, Receiver, and in all fiduciary capacities, both under court and personal appointment.
TAKES ENTIRE CHARGE of Real and Personal Estates.
RENTS SAFES AND stores valuables in well-guarded Burglar and Fireproof Vaults.
GUARANTEES TITLES of Real Estate throughout New Jersey.
Acts as Trustee under mortgage, Registrar and Transfer Agent of Stocks and Bonds of Corporations.

OFFICERS:
UZAL H. McCARTER.....President
JOHN F. DRYDEN.....Vice-President
JEROME TAYLOR,.....
2d Vice-President and Trust Officer
FREDERICK W. EONER.....
Secretary and Treasurer

DIRECTORS:

John F. Dryden,	Charles A. Felch,
James W. Alexander,	Jerome Taylor,
James H. Hyde,	J. Herbert Ballantine,
Leslie D. Ward,	William N. Coler, Jr.,
Thomas N. McCarter,	Thomas N. McCarter, Jr.
Ezer B. Ward,	William H. Starkey,
William Scherer,	Forrest F. Dryden.
Schuyler R. Jackson,	Henry S. Redmond,
Uzal H. McCarter.	Bernard Strauss.

MANHATTAN TRVST COMPANY.
WALL ST., cor. NASSAU, NEW YORK
Capital, Surplus & Undivided Profits, $2,000,000.

OFFICERS.
JOHN I. WATERBURY, President.
JOHN KEAN, } Vice-Presidents.
AMOS T. FRENCH, }
CHARLES H. SMITH, Sec. W. NORTH DUANE, Treas

DIRECTORS.

Francis R. Appleton,	John Kean,
August Belmont,	John Howard Latham,
H. W. Cannon,	E. D. Randolph,
A. J. Cassatt,	Orlet B. Schley,
R. J. Cross,	James O. Sheldon,
Rudolph Ellis,	Samuel Thomas,
Amos T. French,	Edward Tuck,
H. L. Higginson,	John I. Waterbury,
R. T. Wilson.

A. M. Kidder & Co
BANKERS, 18 WALL ST., N. Y.
Dealers in Investment Securities.
Members of the New York Stock Exchange.

Stoppani & Hotchkin
Members New York Consolidated Stock Exchange,
66 BROADWAY, N. Y.
Branch Office, N. E. cor. B'way & 30th St.
Orders executed for investment or on margin.
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.
Telephone, 3078 Cortlandt.

George Barclay Moffat. Alexander M. White, Jr.

Moffat & White,
BANKERS.
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange,
NO. 1 NASSAU STREET.

N. W. Harris & Co., Bankers.
31 Nassau St., (Bank of Commerce Bldg.,) N. Y.

Issue Travelers' Letters of Credit Available in all Parts of the World.

Deal in Bonds of Railroad, Street Railway, Gas and Electric Light Companies.
Government and Municipal Bonds Bought and Sold.

Quotations Furnished for Purchase, Sale or Exchange.

Spencer Trask & Co.,
BANKERS,
27 & 29 PINE ST., NEW YORK,
Transact a general banking business; act as fiscal agents for corporations, and negotiate security issues of railroads and other companies.
Execute commission orders and deal in
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.
Members of New York Stock Exchange.
BRANCH OFFICE: 67 STATE ST., ALBANY

VERMILYE & CO.,
BANKERS.
NASSAU AND PINE STREETS, NEW YORK CITY.
13 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON.
Dealers in U. S. Government Bonds and other Investment Securities.
Deposits Received and Interest Allowed on Balances Subject to draft at sight.

FOURTH STREET NATIONAL BANK OF PHILADELPHIA.

Capital	$1,500,000
Surplus and Profits	1,950,000
Deposits	29,000,000

HURLBUTT, HATCH & CO.,
BANKERS,
Members New York Stock Exchange. 71 Broadway, New York City.
Stocks and Bonds bought and sold for cash or on margin.
Interest allowed on deposits subject to check.
Cable address, Hutch, New York. Telephone No. 1289 Cortlandt.

BOODY, McLELLAN & CO.,
BANKERS.
MEMBERS OF THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.
Cable Address, "Goskite." 57 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
ALLOW INTEREST ON DEPOSITS SUBJECT TO CHECK.

KEY TO BOND LIST.

The following is a list of bonds which do not appear in their proper alphabetical order in the "Complete Bond Quotation List" on Pages 4 and 5, but are here so arranged. Opposite each is placed the name of the system under which they are given in the table referred to:

Railroad Bonds.

Road.	System.
Alabama Central—	Southern Ry.
Alabama Midland—	Sav., Fla. & Western
Albany & Susq.—	Delaware & Hudson
Allegheny Valley—	Penn. R. R.
Allegheny & Western—	Buff., Roch. & Pitts.
Am. Dock & Imp.—	Central of N. J.
Atlantic & Danville—	Southern Ry.
Atlantic & Yadkin—	Southern Railway
Austin & Northwestern—	Southern Pacific.
Battle Creek & Stur.—	Michigan Central.
Beach Creek—	N. Y. Central & Hud.
Belev. & Carondelet—	Illinois Central.
Booneville Bdg. Co.—	Mo., Kan. & Tex.
Brooklyn & Montauk—	Long Island.
Brunswick & Western—	Sav., Fla., & West.
Buffalo, New York & Erie—	Erie.
Buffalo & Southwestern—	Erie.
Carb. & Shawneetown—	Illinois Central.
Carolina Central—	Seaboard & Roanoke.
Carthage & Adirondack—	N. Y. Central & Hud.
Ced. Rap., Ia. F. & N.—	Bur., C. R. & N.
Central Ohio—	Baltimore & Ohio.
Central Pacific—	Southern Pacific Co.
Chicago & Erie—	Erie.
Chicago & St. Louis—	Atch., Top. & Santa Fé.
Chi., St. Louis & New Orleans—	Illinois Cent.
Chic., St. Louis & Pittsburg—	Penn. Co.
Cin., Ind., St. L. & C.—	C., C., C. & St. L.
Cin., Sandusky & Cleve.—	C., C., C. & St. L.
Clearfield & Mahoning—	Buff., Roch. & Pitts.
Cleveland & Marietta—	Penn. R. R.
Cleveland & Pittsburg—	Penn. Co.
Columbia & Greenville—	Southern Railway.
Col. & Hocking Valley—	Hocking Val. Ry.
Col. Connect. & Term.—	Norfolk & Western.
Dakota & Great Southern—	C., Mil. & St. P.
Dallas & Waco—	Mo., Kan. & Texas
Del. Riv. R. R. & Bdge Co.—	Penn. R. R.
Des Moines & Fort Dodge—	C., R. I. & Pac.
Des Moines & Minnespolis—	Chi. & N. W.
Detroit, Minn. & Toledo—	L. S. & M. S.
Eastern Railway of Minn—	St. P., M. & M.
East Tenn., Va. & Ga.—	Southern Ry.
Elizabeth, Lex. & Big Sandy—	C. & O.
Elmira, Cortland & Northern—	Lehigh Valley
Erie & Pittsburg—	Penn. Co.
Escanaba & Lake Superior—	Chi. & N. W.
Fargo & Southern—	Chi., M. & St. P.
Fort Smith & V. B. B.—	St. L. & S. F.
Gal., Harrisburg & S. A.—	South. Pac. Co.
Georgia Pacific—	Southern Railway
Gila Val., G. & Northern—	South. Pac. Co.
Gouverneur & Oswego 1st gtd. g. 5s—	N. W. C.
Grand Rapids & Ind—	Penn. Co.
Grey's Point Terminal —	St. L. Southwn
Hannibal & St. Joseph—	C., B. & Quincy
Housatonic R. R.—	N. Y., N. H. & H.
Houston, E. & W. Texas—	Southern Pacific
Houston & Texas Central—	Southern Pacific
Iowa Midland—	Chicago & Northwest
Jefferson R. R.—	Erie
Kalamazoo, All. & G. R.—	L. S. & M. S.
Kanawha & Michigan—	Toledo & Ohio Central
Kansas City & Pacific—	Missouri, Kan. & Texas
Kansas Midland—	St. Louis & San Francisco
Kentucky Central—	Louisville & Nashville
Keokuk & Des Moines—	C., R. I. & P.
Knoxville & Ohio—	Southern Railway
Lake Shore & Michigan Southern—	N. Y. C. & H.
Lehigh & Hudson River—	Central of New Jersey
Lehigh & Wilkesbarre—	Central of New Jersey
Leroy & Caney Valley—	Missouri Pacific
Long Dock—	Erie
La. & Mo. River—	Chicago & Alton
Lo., New Albany & Chicago—	Chicago, Ind. & Lo..
Mahoning Coal—	L. S. & M. Southern
McKeesport & R. Varnon—	N. Y. C. & Hudson
Metropolitan Elevated—	Manhattan Railway
Michigan Central—	New York Central & Hudson
Midland of New Jersey—	Erie.
Mil., Lake Shore & Western—	Chicago & N. W.
Mil. & Madison—	Chicago & N. W.
Mil. & Northern—	Chicago, Mil. & St. Paul.
Mil. & St. Paul—	Chicago, Mil. & St. Paul.
Minn & St. Louis gtd—	Bur., C. R. & N.
Minneapolis Union—	St. P. & M.
Mississippi River Bridge—	Chicago & Alton
Mohawk & Malone—	N. Y. C. & H.
Monongahela River—	Baltimore & Ohio
Montana Central—	St. P. & Man.
Morgan's Louisiana & Texas—	S. Pacific Co.
Morris & Essex—	Del., Lack. & W.
Nash., Flor. & Shef.—	Louisville & Nashville
New H. & Derby—	N. Y., N. H. & H.
N. J. Junction R. R.—	N. Y. C. & H.
Newport & Cincinnati Bridge Co.—	Penn. Co.
N. Y., B. & Man. Beach—	Long Island.
N. Y. & Greenwood Lake—	Erie.
N. Y. & Harlem—	N. Y. C. & H.
N. Y., Lack. & Western—	Del., L. & W.
N. Y., Lake Erie & Western—	Erie.
N. Y. & New England—	N. Y., N. H. & H.
N. Y. & Northern—	N. Y. C. & H.
N. Y. & Putnam—	N. Y. C. & H.
N. Y. & Rockaway Beach—	Long Island.
N. Y., Sus. & Western—	Erie.
N. Y., Texas & Mexico—	Southern Pacific Co.
Northern Illinois—	Chicago & Northwestern.
Northern Ohio—	Lake Erie & Western.
Northern Railway, Cal.—	South. Pacific.
North Wisconsin—	C., St. P., M. & O.
Northern & Montreal—	N. Y. C. & H.
Ohio, Ind. & W.—	C., C., C. & St. L.
Oregon Railway & Navigation—	Union Pac.
Oregon & Cal.—	Southern Pacific.
Oregon Short Line—	Union Pac.
Oswego & Rome—	N. Y. C. & H.
Ottumwa, C. F. & St. P.—	Chi. & N. W.
Pacific of Missouri—	Missouri Pacific.
Pensacola & Atlantic—	Louisville & Nash.
Peoria & Eastern—	C., C., C. & St. L.
Pitts., Cin., Chi. & St. L.—	Penn. Co.
Pitts., Fort W. & Chi.—	Penn. Co.
Pitts., McKeesp. & Yough.—	N. Y. C. & H.
Rensselaer & Saratoga—	Del. & Hudson.
Richmond & Danville—	Southern Railway.
Rochester & Pittsburg—	Buff., Roch. & Pitts.
Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg—	N. Y. C. & H.
St. Louis & Cairo—	Mobile & Ohio.
St. Louis & Iron Mount.—	Missouri Pac.
St. L., K. C. & N., St. Chas. Bge.—	Wabash.
St. L., Merch. Bge.—	Term. R. R. of St. L.
St. Louis Southern—	Illinois Central.
St. Paul & Duluth—	Northern Pacific.
St. Paul & North. Pac.—	Northern Pacific.
St. Paul & Sioux City—	C., St. P., M. & O.
San Antonio & Aransas Pass—	South. Pac. Co.
Scioto Val. & N. E.—	Norfolk & Western.
Sherman, Shreveport & South.—	Mo., K. & T.
Silver Springs, O. & G.—	Sav., Florida & W.
South Carolina & Ga.—	Southern Railway.
So. & No. Alabama—	Louisville & Nashville.
Sunbury & Lewistown—	Pennsylvania R. R.
Syracuse, Binghamton & N. Y.—	Del., L. & W.
Tebo & Neosho—	Missouri, Kansas & Texas.
Texas & New Orleans—	Southern Pacific Co.
United N. J. R. R & C. Co.—	Penn. R. R.
Utah Central—	Rio Grande Western.
Utah Northern—	Union Pacific.
Utica & Black River—	N. Y. Cent. & Hud.
Verdigris Val., Ind. & W.—	Missouri Pacific.
Virginia Midland—	Southern Railway.
Warren Railroad—	Del., Lack. & Western.
Wash., Ohio & Western—	Southern Railway.
Washington Central—	Northern Railway.
Western North Carolina—	Southern Railway.
West Shore—	N. Y. Central & Hudson.
West Virginia & Pittsburg—	Baltimore & Ohio.
Wilkesbarre & Eastern—	Erie R. R.
Wilmar & Sioux Falls—	St. P., M. & M.
Winona & St. Paul—	Chicago & N. W.

Miscellaneous Bonds.

Cahaba Ct. Min. Co.—	Tenn. Coal, Iron & R.
Chi. Gas Light & C. Co.—	People's G. & C. Co.
Clearfield Bitum. Coal—	N. Y., Central & Hud.
Consumers' Gas Co.—	Peo. G. & C. Co.
De Bardeleben C. & I. Co.—	Tenn. C. & I.
Edison El. Ill., N. Y.—	N. Y. G. & E. L. H. & P.
Edison Ill., Brook.—	Kings Co. El. L. & P.
Equit. G. & Fuel—	Peo. G. & C. Co.
Mutual Fuel Gas Co.—	Peo. G. & C. Co.
Mutual Union Tel. Co.—	Western Union.

Letters of Credit IN Pounds Sterling AND Francs ISSUED BY
BLAIR & CO.,
83 WALL ST., NEW YORK.

H. B. Hollins & Co.,
WALL & BROAD STS., NEW YORK.
Letters of Credit
FOR TRAVELLERS
Available in all parts of the world.
Draw Bills of Exchange and make Cable Transfers.

Dominick & Dominick,
100 BROADWAY.
Members of the N. Y. Stock Exchange.
Brokers in Stocks, Grain, Investment Securities.

Boston.	Louisville.	Cincinnati.
Curtis & Sanger, 53 State St.	Halsey & Halsey, 225 Fifth St.	Branch Office, 334 Walnut St.

PRIVATE WIRES.

HENRY CLEWS & CO.,
BANKERS,
11, 13, 15, and 17 Broad St.
MEMBERS N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.
Orders executed for investment or on margin. Interest allowed on deposits, subject to check at sight. Act as Financial Agents for Corporations and Investors. Industrial Combinations Organized.
Government and other Investment Bonds bought and sold.
BRANCH OFFICES:
22 W. 23d St., op. Waldorf. | 252 5th Av., cor. 28th St.
487 B'way, Silk Ex. Bldg | 56 Worth & 39 Thomas St.
97 Hudson St., Merc. Ex. | 19 Court St., Brooklyn.

KOUNTZE BROTHERS,
BANKERS,
Broadway & Cedar St., NEW YORK,
BUY AND SELL
Investment Securities.
Receive accounts of Corporations, Firms and Individuals on favorable terms.
Make loans against approved collateral.
LETTERS OF CREDIT.

Lincoln, Caswell & Co.,
SUCCESSORS TO
Chas. T. Wing & Co.
BONDS
18 Wall Street, New York.
2 KILBY ST., BOSTON, MASS.
Ezra Lincoln. Wm. W. Caswell. Wm. Henry Allen, Jr

A. A. HOUSMAN & CO.,
MEMBERS OF THE
NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE,
20 BROAD STREET,
Branch Office, No. 2 Astor Court,
NEW YORK.

DOUGLAS & JONES,
Members New York Stock Exchange.
ESTABLISHED 1886.
24 Broad St., New York City.
STOCKS AND BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD ON COMMISSION AT THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE AND CARRIED ON MARGIN.
Daily Market Letter on Application.
CORRESPONDENCE INVITED.

HAVEN & STOUT
BANKERS AND BROKERS,
1 Nassau Street, Cor. Wall St.,
Members of the New York Stock Exchange.
BONDS, STOCKS, COTTON, GRAIN.

SUNDAY, THREE CENTS. DAILY, ONE CENT.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER.
Generally fair, fresh westerly winds, becoming variable.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. L...NO. 15,889. NEW YORK, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1900.—SIXTEEN PAGES. ONE CENT In Greater New York, Jersey City, and Newark. Elsewhere. TWO CENTS.

TO SUPPORT GEN. CHAFFEE

War Department Likely to Approve Protest to von Waldersee.

HAS NO PARTICULARS YET

But, Judging by Press Dispatches, Official Says Chaffee Acted Rightly—Germans Still Looting.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The War Department has no official knowledge as yet of the clash between Gen. Chaffee and Count von Waldersee, but from what is known of it through the press dispatches Gen. Chaffee's attitude is approved.

The various commanders were charged with the duty of preserving order in the city of Peking, and a certain section was selected for each. Gen. Chaffee's is entirely under his control, and he has the right to take such steps as may be necessary, in his judgment, for the preservation of order. His conception of what is necessary may be different from that of commanders in other sections, but the difference apparently is that Chaffee considers it necessary to suppress looting.

The London dispatch announcing the clash says that "the Ministers are offended at this individual assumption of authority." Concerning this a War Department official said: "Gen. Chaffee is charged with the duty of preserving order, and he will preserve it."

If the offense of Gen. Chaffee is as stated in the dispatch from London, the War Department will support him.

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—Capt. Dannhauser, who is with Count von Waldersee, says in a private dispatch received in Berlin to-day:

"The French have abandoned their operations to remove astronomical instruments from the walls of Peking, presumably in order to impress the Chinese with their comparative clemency, but the Germans continue removing instruments under the protection of a company of engineers."

The German Government has not taken official notice of Gen. Chaffee's letter to Count von Waldersee complaining of the removal of the astronomical instruments from the wall of Peking and the return of the letter to the American commander, "on account of its tone."

Only a few of the papers print reports of the incident. The Vossische Zeitung remarks:

"Whatever the cause, Gen. Chaffee had in no case a right to use such rough language in a letter to the Commander in Chief."

The Berliner Tageblatt observes:

"We must, of course, reserve a definite judgment until reliable German reports have been received. Whoever knows, however, of the generally acknowledged diplomatic tact of Count von Waldersee will not doubt that he would not have employed such a brusque procedure without the strongest kind of provocation."

GERMANS REALIZE DEFEAT.

Just Dawning on Them that Mr. Hay Has Checkmated Them in China—Gen. Tung Losing His Power.

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—It is now dawning upon the German press and public that Mr. Hay, the American Secretary of State, has secured an out-and-out diplomatic victory in obliging the powers, Germany included, to yield to his arguments in favor of more moderate terms in the preliminary joint note to the Chinese peace plenipotentiaries.

This clearly defined defeat is especially bitter here, because Emperor William had set his heart on imposing the most humiliating conditions upon the Chinese, and thus emphasizing Germany's power in their eyes.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Great Britain is the only power which has not directed its Envoy at Peking to sign the agreement drawn up by the Ministers, according to the information of the State Department, there is no doubt that Great Britain will issue such orders to Sir Ernest Satow. The text of the agreement will probably be made public as soon as word has been received of this action.

Negotiations with Li-Hung-Chang and Prince Ching will be begun as soon as the Envoys have signed the agreement. The State Department is now hopeful that all the hard questions will be solved, and the attitude of the Chinese Government contributes largely to that belief.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—In the House of Commons yesterday, replying to a question on the subject, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, Lord Cranborne, said the replies of the Powers to the invitation to adhere to the Anglo-German agreement would be promptly presented to Parliament.

CHAFFEE'S STRICT ORDERS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—An idea of the strict discipline exacted of the United States troops in China is indicated by the following general order issued by Gen. Chaffee, commanding the China relief expedition, under date of Oct. 8, a copy of which was received at the War Department to-day:

"All officers will take measures to assure themselves that enlisted men of their commands are always in proper dress and present a neat and clean appearance when leaving their quarters to visit other parts.

"It has been noticed that many campaign hats are old and dirty. New hats, as well as other articles of dress, should be drawn, if necessary, and efforts made to preserve them in proper condition. The hat or cap will not be used to wear or carry any article or ornament not contemplated.

"The blouse, or coat, must at all times be buttoned throughout. If for satisfactory reason the blouse be not worn, the blue shirt must be buttoned throughout, collar turned down, underclothing concealed, and suspenders discarded.

"Especial attention should be paid to military courtesy, to preserve the good opinion the world now has for the American soldier. Officers and non-commissioned officers are depended upon to maintain a high standard of appearance, deportment, and efficiency at all times, and are reminded that the precept and example which they set is quickly reflected in their subordinates; and every member of this command who is proud of his country is expected so to bear himself at all times that the reason for his pride will be evident."

LI'S SECRETARY ARRESTED.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—A special dispatch from Shanghai announces that Li-Hung-Chang's Manchu Secretary, Yiko, has been arrested by order of Field Marshal Count von Waldersee on the charge of communicating with the Boxers.

INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION.

Being Formed at Peking to Establish Harmonious Civil Administration—Edict Advantageous to Gen. Tung.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The Peking correspondent of The Morning Post says:

"Count von Waldersee is forming an international commission, under a German President, to establish harmonious civil administration, and for the collection of taxes and customs, with other duties. The Chinese representative is Ching-Hin, Governor of Peking. This action is intended to prevent friction and to prepare the way for the transfer of the administration of the city on the return of the Chinese Court."

"An Imperial edict," says the Shanghai correspondent of The Morning Post, "orders an exchange of offices between the Viceroy of the Provinces of Shen-Si and Kan-Soo and the Viceroy of the Provinces of Yun-Nan and Kwei-Chou, the object being to get the Viceroy out of Kan-Soo, together with his Huanese troops, so as to give Gen. Tung-Fu-Siang a free hand in Kan-Soo.

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—The War Office has received the following from Count von Waldersee, dated Peking, Dec. 5:

"The International Committee for the Administration of Peking will meet to-morrow under the Presidency of Col. Baron Gayl.

"The Guendell column, which was left at Shan-hai-Kwan, reached the district of Yuen-tien-T'sien, five days' march east of Peking, Dec. 1, and is now on its way back to the capital."

REPLIES TO MINISTER WU.

Dr. Agnew of Philadelphia Says Chinaman Is Not Qualified to Sit in Judgment Upon Christianity.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—The ministers of this city are much wrought up over the lecture of the Chinese Minister to this country, delivered at New York last evening. Dr. B. L. Agnew, Corresponding Secretary of the National Presbyterian Board of Relief, expressed himself sharply in regard to it. He said:

"The Chinese Minister is a very able man. He was educated in this country, has studied our language, and knows the effect of a good stump speech. But he is not a Christian, and has not studied the tenets of Christianity, and therefore not qualified to sit in judgment upon it. But he understands Confucianism. There is no doubt about that. To requite kindness with kindness and injury with justice means to relegate private vengeance to every man. It is just this doctrine which has caused the trouble.

"Our missionaries, some of them from our own city, were ruthlessly butchered and tortured beyond belief, and this was done in the name of Confucius. Besides that, they violated treaties made with civilized nations. Now, when such a thing as this happens, there is only one thing to do, and that is to send an army.

"The doctrines of Christianity are immeasurably superior to those of Confucius," continued Dr. Agnew, "and I would ask nothing better than to write a refutation of Mr. Wu's lecture. It is true that outrages have been committed by the soldiers, but Christianity does not defend them. And there is one thing that I have not yet heard, and that is that any complaints have been made against American soldiers. But war is a dreadful thing, as I know from four years' experience in our own civil strife."

OPPOSES THE USE OF ABSINTHE

French Chamber Passes a Resolution to Prohibit Manufacture and Sale of the Liquor.

Special to The New York Times.

PARIS, Dec. 10.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day M. Marie Edouard Vaillant, Socialist, one of the Deputies for the Department of the Seine, moved a resolution calling upon the Government to prohibit the manufacture and sale of all alcoholic liquors pronounced "dangerous" by the Academy of Medicine. The resolution was aimed at absinthe, the consumption of which has nearly doubled in France since 1874, and now stands at 10,000,000 litres annually.

M. Vaillant and others denounced the spread of absinthe drinking and laid stress upon its ravages among the population.

"The increase of consumption of absinthe," said the mover of the resolution, "marches arm in arm with the increase of cases of driveling insanity, which will end by becoming a national malady."

The Chamber adopted the resolution unanimously.

CHICAGO RECTOR CAUSES STIR.

Declares Services at the Cathedral Violation of Church's Teachings.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Special services were held in Episcopal churches throughout Chicago yesterday, the second day of the commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the consecration of the Rev. W. E. McLaren as Bishop of the Diocese of Chicago.

The Rev. E. A. Larrabee, rector of the Church of the Ascension, caused a sensation by criticising the services carried out at the Cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul Saturday morning, the opening of the Bishop's silver jubilee. He said they were in violation of the teachings of the Church, as laymen and clergy partook of the holy sacrament after they had eaten their breakfasts, instead of fasting.

Alabama Miners in Session.

Special to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 10.—The State Convention of the Alabama Division of United Mineworkers of America is in session in this city, it being the third annual meeting. The election of officers, which will be the leading matter, takes place to-morrow. The principal candidates for President are George Young, the present incumbent; William Kirkpatrick, and Edward Flynn. The reports show that there are over 6,000 members of the order in Alabama, and that the Alabama miners are in a more prosperous condition than they have been for several years.

Judgment Sale of Furnace Postponed.

Special to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 10.—The sale of the Trussville Blast Furnace, to satisfy a judgment in favor of the Exchange National Bank and the Fourth National Bank of Nashville, set for to-day, did not take place. It was postponed until Jan. 14, by which time it is understood arrangements will have been made to settle matters in private so that the judgments will be satisfied and the operation of the furnace continued. The judgments amount altogether to about $30,000.

The "Pittsburg Limited." Via Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

Only $9.00 first class and $6.50 second class. New York to Pittsburg, via this train. Leave New York, South Ferry, 6:55 P. M. and Liberty Street 7:00 P. M., arrive Pittsburg 8:55 A. M. Pullman Buffet Drawing Room Sleeping Cars.—Adv.

INDEX TO DEPARTMENTS.

Stocks strong. Financial Affairs.—Pages 12 and 13.
Wheat, No. 2 red, 78c; Corn, No. 2 mixed, 47½c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 27c; cotton, middling, 9¾c; iron, November, No. 1 foundry, $16; butter, Western creamery, 26c. Commercial World.—Page 14.
Amusements.—Page 6.
Arrivals at Hotels and Out-of-Town Buyers.—Page 3.
Business Troubles.—Page 14.
Court Calendars.—Page 10.
Legal Notices.—Page 14.
Marine Intelligence and Foreign Mails.—Page 10.
New Corporations.—Page 12.
Railroads.—Page 13.
Real Estate.—Page 14.
Society.—Page 9.
United Service.—Page 5.
Weather Report.—Page 3.
Yesterday's Fires.—Page 2.

Clean, pure, bright—Ballantine's India Pale Ale looks its quality.—Adv.

COTTON BREAKS 50 POINTS

Government Crop Estimate Proves a Bear Document.

Almost a Panic When the Government Announces Probable Yield of 10,100,000 Bales.

There was almost a panic on the Cotton Exchange at noon yesterday, when the long-expected Government crop report was received. The report indicated a crop of 10,100,000 bales, against the expectations of traders that it would show not over 9,750,000, and within twenty minutes of the receipt of the report prices broke from 40 to 50 points.

The market has been sustained around 9⅝ to 9⅞ for some weeks, for the near-by options on the expectation that the bullish crop estimate would be sustained, and on this a considerable "long" interest has been created. As soon as the report was known the bulk of this was thrown on the market. The only support in consequence of the break came from some large shorts who were disposed to take some profits, and for half an hour pandemonium reigned in the pit.

There were heavy orders to buy if the report showed 9,500,000 bales, and even if it went as high as 9,750,000, while there were thousands of orders to sell if the report showed even as high as 10,000,000 bales.

The market opened peaceably enough. Then there was a pause, as if for bearings, by the room contingent, and following this came a drop of some 10 or 12 points under local and scattering outside selling, precipitated by surprisingly large receipts and gloomy market news. A sharp reaction, due to fresh rumors that the Government report was out through a "leak," carried prices to their high-water mark for the day, and at noon the figures were nearly even with the closing ones of Saturday.

Promptly on time the bureau report came over the wires, estimating the present crop at 10,100,000 bales. Almost unprecedented excitement followed. Everybody sold.

But the break proved too tempting for the shorts to resist taking their profits, and on this buying the market rallied about 10 points.

The lowest prices were: December, 9.30; January, 9.20; March, 9.04; May, 9.00; July, 9.00, and August, 8.78. There was also a break in the market at New Orleans almost equal to that here. The Liverpool markets closed before the report was published, but the tone was reactionary. Further excitement is expected to-day, when the Liverpool market opens, and there was much speculation as to the transactions on account of the crop report. The general expectation is that there will be a break in the market there.

Throughout the late afternoon the market ruled feverish, but showed some further recovery on covering of shorts and the subsidence of the early pressure to sell. It is the belief among many brokers that the Government report underestimates the crop, and, making this allowance, the trade here is inclined to raise the estimate to as high as 10,300,000 bales. This as partly based on the fact that when last year the Government report estimated a yield of 8,800,000 bales, the crrop proved to be about 9,100,000 bales.

It is believed that one effect of the crop estimate will be to increase receipts from plantations and cause spinners to further delay purchase of cotton.

The day's contract prices ranged as follows.

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
December	9.70	9.73	9.30	9.37@9.38
January	9.60	9.64	9.20	9.27@9.28
February	9.57	9.57	9.18	9.24@9.22
March	9.60	9.54	9.04	9.10@9.17
April	9.42	9.45	9.07	9.11@9.12
May	9.38	9.45	9.00	9.08@9.09
June	9.37	9.42	9.01	9.06@9.07
July	9.38	9.38	9.01	9.03@9.05
August	9.15	9.17	8.78	8.85@8.87
September	8.52	8.52	8.25	8.20@8.30

EXCITEMENT IN NEW ORLEANS.

Cotton Prices Drop at Once on Posting of Government Report—Wild Scenes on 'Change.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—Cotton prices crumbled rapidly to-day, and the operators on 'Change appeared as if they were going mad. The official session of the "future" market begins at 9 o'clock, New Orleans time, but the doors of the Exchange are opened at 8. At the latter hour members began to pour in, and visitors were also strongly in evidence.

All eyes were turned to the Liverpool board to see if, perchance, coming events had cast their shadows before. No light was, however, to be had from that quarter, for the record showed spot sales of 7,000 bales at a decline of one-thirty-second, while futures were lower by four-sixty-fourths. Moreover, the subsequent recovery of the decline in futures indicated a calm which was quite impossible, on the hypothesis that the cables had conveyed an intimation of the realities of the case. During the intervening minutes, the mass of brokers and operators about the "ring" steadily grew, until locomotion became impossible there, and the floor beyond was black with people. The visitors' gallery filled rapidly.

The Government report was posted, and in the briefest space of time prices had fallen off 50 points. The wildest scenes known for many a day prevailed. There seemed no bottom to the drop, but the reaction came at the fifty-two-point mark, and before the day had closed the slump recorded only 37 points.

Cotton operators are a mercurial class. In less than an hour after the terrific drop in cotton values the floor of the Exchange and the space immediately round the pit had assumed the normal appearance.

NO ADVANCE COTTON REPORT.

Supposed Attempt to Impose Upon a Credulous Broker in This City.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The story originating in New York that advance information on the Government cotton crop had been offered for sale on Saturday on the Cotton Exchange came to the ears to-day of John Hyde, statistician of the Department of Agriculture.

"The story was a pure 'fake'" said Mr. Hyde. "I have been occupied personally in getting the material for this report together, and I took care that it was not published prematurely. No one has assisted me in the work. The report has never been out of my possession. If anybody offered to sell what purported to be the Government report, he must have made it himself for commercial purposes."

Mr. Hyde spoke of the New York story as a simple effort to impose upon somebody, as the affairs of his bureau are so managed that it would be difficult, if not impossible, for anybody having access to any part of the statistical work of the bureau to make up a crop report without attracting attention and running the risk of a disgraceful exposure and dismissal. He says that the story should not have been regarded seriously, as he had emphatically denied it on Saturday to several persons who had asked him if it were true.

It is generally believed that the attempt to sell the Government cotton report in advance in this city was an effort on the part of some one to foist a "gold brick" on a broker who was supposed to be gullible. The fact that the report showed an enormous increase over the anticipated figures is pointed out as an evidence of this fact. For all that, the Cotton Exchange authorities are making an investigation which will be vigorously pushed. President Hubbard said yesterday that he had the matter in hand, but it was his opinion that the report offered was a "fake," based on a guess that might have been made by anybody. According to his views, it was simply a scheme on the part of some tipster to have a trade carried for him without capital.

GOVERNMENT COTTON REPORT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The statistician of the Agricultural Department reports 10,100,000 bales as the probable cotton production of the United States for 1900-1. In the making of this estimate the same methods and agencies have been used that were employed last year. Many thousands of ginners have, however, made reports for the first time.

The estimated yield in pounds of lint cotton per acre is as follows:

Virginia, 180; North Carolina, 199; South Carolina, 167; Georgia, 172; Florida, 133; Alabama, 151; Mississippi, 159; Louisiana, 234; Texas, 226; Arkansas, 223; Tennessee, 177; Missouri, 275; Oklahoma, 318, and Indian Territory, 289.

The acreage, after eliminating all land from which no crop whatever will be gathered, is estimated at 25,034,734.

Slump Anticipated at Fall River.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Dec. 10.—The slump in cotton prices caused by the favorable report from Washington to-day on the cotton crop outlook was not unlooked for by manufacturers in this city. Most of them refused to purchase cotton except for necessary uses until the bull movement began. So short of cotton had the local manufacturers become that the total estimated stock on hand to-day hardly exceeds 40,000 bales, an amount which would ride many corporations over but a short period of time. The cloth market is very firm despite the slump in cotton.

GREAT BATTLE WITH DE WET?

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The Evening Standard, which has special sources of information, said last evening that a great battle between the British forces under Gen. Knox and the Boers under Gen. De Wet was going on.

NO FIRE IN STREET CARS.

Metropolitan Company Forbids Conductors to Turn on Heat Without Special Orders.

In spite of the cold weather of Sunday and yesterday, the Metropolitan Street Railway Company is still running the cars on all of its lines without heating them. Conductors who were asked to turn on the heat said that they were not permitted to do this, and that it must be done through an order from the various powerhouses. Some of the men, who said they were themselves suffering from the cold, volunteered the information that the gates on the outer side of the front platform had been ordered closed so as to prevent passengers from boarding or leaving the car through the front door, the constant opening of which would keep the car from being heated by the passengers who were riding in it.

At the offices of the company no information could be had yesterday afternoon, as both President Vreeland and the General Manager had gone away unusually early.

SNATCHED PURSE IN PARK.

Mrs. Guggenheim Gave Chase and Assisted in Taking Thieves.

While taking her aged and blind mother for a walk in the Park yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Hattie Guggenheim, wife of Adolph Guggenheim, a diamond dealer at 65 Nassau Street, was attacked by two footpads, in West Seventy-eighth Street, near Fifth Avenue, and robbed of her pocketbook. The two highwaymen, after clutching the pocketbook, ran toward Central Park, and Mrs. Guggenheim, leaving her mother standing helplessly in the street, gave chase.

The robbery was seen by James Anderson, a colored butler, who happened to be looking out of the window of the residence of James Lawrence, at Seventy-eighth Street and Fifth Avenue. Anderson ran out and headed off the fugitives. The latter turned back, and one of them, running up to Mrs. Guggenheim, thrust the pocketbook back into her hand, saying:

"Here, take your purse, and stop your screaming."

"I don't want the purse; I want you," retorted Mrs. Guggenheim, as she made a grab for the thief.

Meantime, Policemen O'Brien and Dolan of the Park squad had joined in the case, and finally captured both men.

The two prisoners, when arraigned later in the Yorkville Court, gave the names of Arthur Brooks, twenty-five years old, valet, and Henry F. Hardy, twenty-six years old, a driver. Both gave the address 253 West Eleventh Street. Hardy was identified by Mrs. Guggenheim as the man who had snatched her purse. Both were well dressed, wearing kid gloves and patent leather shoes. They waived examination and were held for trial. This is the second time within a year that Mrs. Guggenheim has been attacked by highwaymen.

SUIT AGAINST GAS COMPANY.

A Chicagoan Wants to Pay No More than 72 Cents Per 1,000.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—A bill asking for an injunction restraining the People's Gas Company from charging the people of Hyde Park more than 72 cents a thousand feet for gas was filed this afternoon. The suit is the result of the notice sent out by the gas company notifying its patrons that the price of gas had been raised from 72 cents to $1 per thousand feet.

The suit is brought in the name of Frederick C. Hale and the petition asks that he be furnished gas at the rate of 72 cents and that the company be restrained from interfering with the supply of gas in any way. It is also asked that all users of gas may be allowed to become parties to the bill.

AUSTRALIA'S FEDERATION.

Belief that Sir Wilfrid Laurier Will Go to Sydney.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, Dec. 10.—It is stated here by The Herald, which is generally supposed to be in the confidence of the Government, that a change has been made in the plans with respect to the ceremonies inaugurating the Australian Commonwealth which renders it almost certain that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will go to Australia after all.

It is now settled that the Duke of York will open the newly Federated Parliament on May 1 and that all the pomp and pageantry arranged for the Duke's visit will take place about that time. This will permit the Premier to leave Canada early in April and arrive in Sydney by the appointed date.

Report In Booz Hazing Case To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The Secretary of War to-day informed the House of Representatives, in answer to the resolution of inquiry about the Booz case, that an investigation had been conducted by Col. Mills, Superintendent of the Military Academy, and that as soon as Col. Mills's report was received it would be forwarded to the House. The report was completed after the adjournment of the House this afternoon, and will probably be forwarded to-morrow.

President Opens Arizona Exposition.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The President this evening touched the button which formally opened the Territorial Exposition at Phoenix, Arizona.

California Excursions

in through tourist cars every day in the year. Two fast trains from Chicago via Chicago and Northwestern, Union, and Southern Pacific Railways. Best of everything. Tickets and information at Northwestern Line Office, 461 Broadway.—Adv.

CHICAGO PREPARING TO THROTTLE VICE

Judge Before Grand Jury Condemns Police Department.

MINISTERS ARE UP IN ARMS

Appoint Committees to Select a Vigilance Committee of Laymen to Deal with the Matter.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—In giving his instructions to the Grand Jury before the members were sworn in to-day, Judge Gibbons told the venire men that the officials of the City of Chicago were responsible for the epidemic of crime which has prevailed for the past two months. He followed up this statement by telling the jury to probe the cases thoroughly, and bring to justice, if possible, those who permit such evil to exist without taking the proper steps to stamp it out. He especially condemned the Police Department, but mentioned no names.

The statements of the Judge caused a slight sensation in the courtroom. Some declarations of that nature were expected, but it was not thought the members of the jury would be told in plain words that the officials are responsible. Judge Gibbons led up to the sensational part by giving the jurors some sound advice concerning their powers, and also what he thought of the Grand Jury.

"Some reforms ought to be made at once," he declared, "or it is useless for us to pay taxes. Now, gentlemen, in considering the various complaint cases which will be brought to your attention you must not permit yourselves to be carried away by the sensational statements which have been made throughout the city during the last few weeks. These were made simply to feed the morbid tastes of the members of the community. In your considerations such feelings should be cast aside.

"I also wish to say to you that you have no right to divide yourselves into committees to investigate the condition of the community. I regard the Grand Jury as one of the greatest bodies in the world. You can indict, if he commit a crime, the highest or the lowest man in the country. You can hold any official or public servant who is an offender of the community.

"Now, gentlemen, not one of you can close your eyes to the conditions which have prevailed in this city. You cannot say that crime is not rampant here. Evidently there must be something wrong. That wrong must be with the officials. If it were not, there would not be so many hold-ups, burglaries, robberies, &c., as are being perpetrated in this city nightly and daily.

"Unless there is something inherently wrong, we have the best police force in the world. The blame cannot be placed upon the policemen, so the wrong must be in the distribution of the force by the officials. But whatever is the cause, it is your solemn duty to indict such persons as are guilty of a criminal offense. Unless you do you cannot bring them to trial. If you do this we may be able to stamp out the crime which is common in this community."

Judge Gibbons also referred to the recommendations of the November Grand Jury concerning the dives and basement saloons and the loan shark investigation.

Concerning the charge of policeman Carey that Chief Kipley tried to extort $200 in connection with a robbery, State's Attorney Deneen is quoted as saying: "The developments arising out of it will be presented to the present Grand Jury. Nothing short of an absolute refusal to entertain them will prevent me in the discharge of my duty as State's Attorney from doing this. I think these matters will be presented Friday next, in accordance with the instructions of Judge Gibbons."

Crime has become so open and prevalent that the citizens are aroused to such a degree that they are ready to take matters into their own hands. The Methodist ministers' meeting this morning appointed the Revs. M. M. Parkhurst, J. P. Brushingham, C. S. Dudley, M. E. Cady, and M. W. Patton as a committee to confer with a similar committee appointed by the Congregationalists, the conferring committees to appoint a body of laymen which shall constitute a vigilance committee.

The first business to come before the Methodist ministers was the motion of Dr. J. P. Brushingham, who said:

"Inasmuch as my church, the First Methodist Episcopal, is in the centre of the infected region, I believe it my duty to make these suggestions. I believe the time has come when we must stamp out of this city its vice or be forever lost. We may well model our acts after the crusade now being made in New York. I believe it to be the duty of a minister to attend to his church, and that it is somewhat out of his line to execute the moves which will become necessary for those who would take the active part in closing the dives. Therefore, I move that the Chair appoint a committee of five ministers from this meeting to confer with a similar committee which will be appointed by the Congregationalists, who have taken the lead in this matter."

Chairman Tilroe then appointed the five ministers named. The Methodists and Congregationalists met at 1:30 o'clock in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, their object being to name a committee of citizens, laymen, who would pick up the work at the point where the ministers have brought it and push it on until the dens of iniquity shall have been closed.

The ministers were at some variance in their views as to how large this Citizens' Committee should be and as to the appointees. But the committee will include members of all denominations and in sufficient numbers to assure the success of the undertaking.

GOV. BECKHAM'S INAUGURATION

Special to The New York Times.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 10.—Democratic politicians and society people from all over Kentucky are flocking into the little State Capitol, and the present indications are that the inauguration of Gov. Beckham at noon to-morrow and the inaugural reception and ball in the evening will be the most successful affair of the kind in the history of the State.

For the first time in the memory of the oldest inhabitants of Frankfort the inauguration is not to be a non-partisan affair, but this will not in the least mar the splendor of the ceremonies and ball. When the Mayor of the city called, as is the custom, a meeting of the citizens to prepare for the inauguration, the leading Republican citizens and merchants refused to take part in it, and later when appointed on committees they declined to recognize the appointments and refused to assist in defraying the expenses. The Democratic citizens then determined to make the inauguration one of the grandest affairs of its kind without Republican assistance.

The ceremonies, which begin with an inaugural parade, are to start at 11 o'clock in the morning.

To Buy New Orleans Gas Works.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—A syndicate of Philadelphia capitalists is arranging to secure control of the Crescent City Gas Works, including the entire plant and franchise. H. H. Pearson of Philadelphia, who is the representative of the syndicate and one of the leaders of the enterprise, is here looking after the details. The par value of the capital stock of the company is $3,750,000. The market stock is $110. The dividend paid is five per cent.

C. R. Thorn's Country House Robbed.

ASSAPEQUA, L. I., Dec. 10.—C. R. Thorn's house was entered by burglars yesterday morning. Mr. Thorn, who was in New York for the Winter, was notified by wire. He came down, and found everything upside down. The burglars gained an entrance through a window in the second story by cutting the glass, and when leaving forced the front door. Mr. Thorn lost a [illegible] meerschaum pipe, valued at $85; clothing, &c.

Every bottle of Ballantine's India Pale Ale is put up at the brewery. Every drop of it is up to grade.—Adv.

CARNEGIE STEEL IN EUROPE.

In Spite of Freight Charges Price Is Below the English Figure.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Three thousand tons of steel plates and angles for shipbuilding from the works of the Carnegie Company reached the Clyde Sunday by the steamer Dunstan, from Philadelphia, Nov. 24. In spite of the railway freight to Philadelphia and the ocean freightage, the price is still 10 shillings per ton below English figures.

Norway Orders Rails in America.

CHRISTIANIA, Dec. 10.—The Norwegian Government has awarded the entire contract for steel rails for the State Railways this year, 11,800 tons, to the Pennsylvania and the Maryland Steel Companies. The contract last year was awarded to the United States and England, each taking half.

CANADA'S PARLIAMENT TO MEET

Proclamation Ordered Summoning That Body for Feb. 6.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Dec. 10.—At a meeting of the Cabinet to-day an order in Council was passed ordering a proclamation summoning Parliament for the dispatch of business on Feb. 6.

